INSIDE

www.kstatecollegian.com

Friday, February 23, 2007

Vol. 111, No. 109

SGA returns textbook legislation to committee

By Adrianne Deweese KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Student Senate members referred a resolution supporting an online textbook list proposal back to its standing committee with a vote of 26-18-0 at their meeting Thursday night.

Robert Swift, College of Arts and Sciences senator, made the motion to refer the resolution back to committee, and the motion resulted in more than 30 minutes of debate from Senate members.

"It just doesn't seem like everybody is sure if Varney's (Bookstore) is included or not," said Swift, sophomore in psychology. "I don't necessarily see the huge rush in passing it (Thursday night)."

During the meeting's first open speaking period and prior to the resolution's debate, Jeff Levin, co-owner of Varney's, gave a 45minute presentation about the effects of an online textbook list on Varney's.

"I think what we have is a lot of history," Levin said. "I've got 117 years of data, literally, that we go back to to help us make predictions about what we can and can't do. I don't know that the university could replicate that because they have no history."

According to a University Relations Committee report, the internal textbook-listing process would include three steps. First, professors would submit their textbook information to department heads. Second, department heads would give the textbook information to the registrar's office. Finally, the registrar's office would publish the information electronically.

The proposal also states potential benefits for Varney's Bookstore include easy access to the university's master list and a more complete order list, which could strengthen the buy-back cycle.

Varney's officials support a textbook list and are working with the provost's office regarding potential problems with a master list

See SENATE Page 11

Military matrimony

Photos by Catrina Rawson | COLLEGIAN

Kirbie Cornejo, senior in graphic design; Tyson Erdman, senior in mass communications and his wife, Ashley Erdman, senior in graphic design; talk Thursday afternoon during Cornejo and Ashley's senior walk-through project in Willard Hall. Ashley will become a military wife when Tyson is commissioned as an officer following his graduation from K-State.

Separation, constant travel affect army marriages

By Ben Hedges KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Soldiers sacrifice time, commitments, careers and even their lives for the sake of fighting for their country.

But what about the sacrifices the soldier's spouse makes? The spouse commits, not only to his or her partner, but also to the job.

This is the life awaiting Ashley Erdman when her husband, Tyson, a cadet in K-State's Army ROTC program, commissions and goes into active duty in the U.S. Army.

Erdman, a senior in graphic design, said she doesn't know what to expect when her husband's military career finally begins.

"I really don't have a lot of expectations since I really don't know much about the life," she said. "I'm just pretty much open to anything."

Despite being family-oriented. Erdman said she would have no problem leaving relatives behind to follow her husband around the country or overseas.

"I think it would be fun to travel for a while and see different parts of the world or even just the United States," she said. "It's probably an opportunity I normally wouldn't have. If it weren't for the military, we'd probably just move back to Wichita and have normal jobs."

Erdman said she would like to see her husband stationed in Italy or Germany, but there are places she hopes she won't have to live.

"I'm not planning on moving to Saudi Arabia with him," she said with a laugh.

The possibility of war awaits many new soldiers, and Erdman said she is prepared to see her husband off if he ever is called upon to

"We've had friends that have gone to Iraq, and they've prepared me for whenever he has to go," she

According to a study by the Office of Army Demographics, in 2005 approximately 54 percent of soldiers Tyson Erdman, ROTC cadet, talks in the Army were married.

"It takes a little bit of getting used to when realizing that when you send him off to work every day you aren't entirely for sure if he'll come back home," said Stacy Johnston, financial readiness supervisor for Army Morale, Welfare, and Recre-

Johnston's husband, a major, has been in the army for 17 years. Johnston has served in the army herself on his radio during an ROTC recondo training mission Wednesday evening on the K-State campus.

for four years and said she was fortunate to bypass the culture shock of the military when she married her husband.

"My first couple of years, I was transitioning from the military and getting used to being a military

See SPOUSE Page 11

Student plans campus bone marrow drive after transplant

By Dustin Sanborn KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A bone marrow transplant made it possible for Rachael Leisy to overcome her struggle with Myelodysplastic Syndrome. Now she said she wants to help other people with the same problem.

Leisy, sophomore in pre-professional elementary education, helped organize a bone marrow drive, which will be from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. today in the Powercat Conference Room in the K-State Alumni Center.

When you sign up to become a bone marrow donor, you sign up to save someone else's life," Leisy

Leisy worked with her transplant coordinator, the National Marrow Donor Program, Heart of America and Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority to bring the drive to K-State.

"Bringing a bone marrow drive to K-State is great because it makes people aware of something they may not know a lot about," said Lagail Chism, recruiting specialist.

Leisy said another drive will take place in May for those who can't make it to today's event but want to become donors.

"Students should allow at least 20 minutes to complete the process," Leisy said. "It is really easy, just a mouth swab and some paperwork, as well as a short informational video."

After completing the process participants will be placed on the National Marrow Donor Registry.

According to www.marrow.org, the registry includes more than 6.5 million people. Marrow and cord blood help more than 35,000 people with each year.

Members of Kappa, Leisy's sorority, have helped to make the drive a

"We have volunteered to help run the drive and are there to support Rachael," said Melissa Coultis, sophomore in elementary education.

Members also spoke at sorority houses and made posters to increase awareness about the donor program.

'Show K-State' highlights campus departments, students

By Salena Strate KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Behind the scenes of the production of "Show K-State," students and staff of the Educational Communications Center are working to create K-State's newest TV program.

Debuting Jan. 29, "Show K-State" is a half-hour block of programming that features different aspects of campus life.

"The title itself is pretty demonstrable of what the series is about," said Jim Mock, director of production for the Educational Communications Center. "It is about showing K-State all the different activities and individuals and the things they are doing."

"Show K-State"

Where: Cox Channel 8 When: Monday 6 p.m., Wednesday and Friday at 9 a.m. and 6 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday at 3 p.m. and 10 p.m. Saturday and Sunday 9 a.m., 3 p.m., and 6 p.m.

Mock said "Show K-State" started out as an arts show. Some of the programs included a jazz concert, interpretive readings and dance performances. On Feb. 22, the crew filmed a segment about furniture design from the Department of Interior Architecture.

"We kicked around our ideas and set a time for production," Mock said. "We went over to the location and got a sense of what was there. We will probably put this (segment) on the air within a week."

The crew filmed two segments about furniture design. The first was a general interview about the department, and the second filming promoted the interior architecture department's involvement with K-State Open House on April 14.

Mary Molina, video production specialist, helps the crew brainstorm ideas for feature guests.

"We are trying to branch out and make the show a lot more interesting for other people," Molina said. "We began looking around the different programs. Interior architecture is a pretty powerful program and we de-

See SHOW Page 11

Lyndsey Born | COLLEGIAN

David Brown, associate professor in interior architecture and product design, answers a question from Dianne Paukstelis, "Show K-State" interviewer, during "Show K-State" at Bob Dole Hall Thursday afternoon.

Today's forecast Scattered thunderstorms High: 56 Low: 47

INSIDE

The Academy Awards will be this Sunday. Test your reviewing skills or just keep track of the night's winners with our Oscars check list and picks for who will take home the title. Popcom not included

See story Page 8

CAMPUS NEWS HIGHLIGHTS

Coffee Hour to show Philippine culture

Philippines: A Reason to Celebrate will display various aspects of Philippine culture today from 4-5 p.m. at the International Student Center. It is part of the Coffee Hour, an informal forum for international students to discuss a variety of topics or to showcase the unique arts of their country.

Event to teach animal health practices

Girls in grades 6-8 will participate in the All 4 Animal Health Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m at various places on the K-State campus. The students will discover how scientists and engineers help keep animals healthy. The event is sponsored by the Women in Engineering and Science Program.

Clinton tickets still available at Bramlage

Tickets are available for Bill Clinton's Landon Lecture. The general public, students and faculty can pick up tickets on a first come, first served basis at 10 a.m. today at the northwest ticket windows at Bramlage Coliseum. At least 500 tickets remain for the lecture, which will take place at 3:30 p.m. March 2 in Bramlage.

Playing favorites | A recent Gallup poll asked Americans, what woman living today in any part of the world do you admire most? Hillary Clinton Oprah Winfrey Condoleezza Rice Margaret Thatcher Angelina Jolie

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

39 Ashen

45 Model-

41 Labyrinth goal airplane

wood

47 Compass

48 Pedes trian

tour

53 Wicker

work

willow

55 Make a modernist decision

liquids

57 Kreskin's claim degree

58 To the

52 Born

54 Ultra-

56 Milky

DOWN

1 Jennifer

Garner

series

3 Sent out

4 Courage

5 Sort of

6 Reliable

7 Rug type lotte's -"

9 UN agcy.

affliction

Wiggles

typically

8 "Char-

10 Winter

fan,

17 Radio

dial

21 Fasten

23 Blazing

24 Cranberry territory

invitations

2 Jargon

25 Spoon-bender

Geller

Rose's

sons

28 Slithery

fish

30 Historic worker

(Abbr.)

31 IRS

32 Drone

33 Mighty

Joe

e.g.

36 Clear the decks

word of the Dell"

"Farmer in

37 Follows

40 Last

42 Noble

43 Klutzy

45 Music

46 On

48 "Holy

49 Blond

shade

50 Whopper

51 Crucial

44 Choppers segments

mackerel!"

26 One of

A	CROS	ss
	1 Carl	e
	lead	l-in
	4 Joe	silk
	7 Rap	id
1	2 Fleu	ir-
	de-	-
1	3 Imp	ortant
	-

numero 14 Conver sation starter 15 Squid squirt 16 Discuss 18 Candle count 19 Good man's style 20 Pop 22 Fuss 23 Touch 27 "SNL" alum Tina 29 Up till now 31 Abrade 34 Not limp

35 Classgroup device 38 NYSE counter part

37 Listening

Solution time: 25 mins. Yesterday's answer 2-23

2-23

CRYPTOQUIP

BWDC EDREQHRLRN M UXD

LR YVDHLUM CWD EVMPFB FHDUXEQ

EMHFQROQHB: "PLMPL Yesterday's Cryptoquip: DRIVING RAPIDLY ON A MULTILANE HIGHWAY, I SUPPOSE YOU WOULD HAVE SOME PASSING THOUGHTS. Today's Cryptoquip Clue: C equals W

BEST BETS

Your social calendar for the weekend

Friday

Feature film: "Stranger Than Fiction"

Admission: $1

An IRS auditor suddenly finds himself the subject of narration only he can hear:

narration that begins to affect his entire life, from his work to his love-interest to his death.

*Movie also shows 7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. Saturday and 8 p.m. Sunday. Admission is $2.

UPC After Hours: "The Late Noir: Black History Variety Show"

8-11 p.m. K-State Student Union Courtyard

The variety show will feature Deborah Muhwezi, singer; Dr. Goins Band, jazz; and Nate Jackson, spoken word. Your best bet is to get there early, because there's free crafts and pizza for the first 200 people.

At the theater: "Proof"

7:30 p.m. Manhatan Arts Center* Admission: $13 for students

A mad mathematical genius, a daughter who might have *This play also will be performed Saturday and Sunday. For showtimes and further information, call (785) 537-4420. Or visit their Web site at www.manhattanarts.org.

Local musical performances

If you're feeling like some heavy metal jam sessions, see bands ClockTower Project, ZeroFixx, Vice & Virtue and From Brutality with Drucifer from the Pit 101.5 at 10 p.m. at P.J.'s Bar in Aggieville.

24 Saturday

K-State women's basketball vs. Iowa State

1 p.m. Bramlage Shown on Fox Sports Network

The Wildcats play the first of a two-game home stretch to round out the regular season, starting with the Cyclones Saturday in the annual senior game.

K-State men's basketball at Colorado

3 p.m. Coors Events Center; Boulder, Colo. Shown on ESPN Plus

Watch as the Wildcats take on the Buffaloes.

25 Sunday

K-State's College Rodeo

1 p.m. Weber Arena*

For this year's annual rodeo. fifteen schools will compete in events including calf-roping, barrel racing and bull riding.

Tickets for adults cost $11 at the doors or $10 in advance at various places across town. Weekend passes are available for $24.

*The rodeo will begin at 7:30 Friday night at Weber Arena and will continue at 1 p.m. Saturday. For more information, refer to Page 7 of this issue.

The planner

Campus bulletin board

■ Mortar Board applications are due today. They can be turned into the Office of Student Activities and Services.

■ The Graduate Students of Economics will be host to Dan Gronsbell from Koch Industries at 2:30 p.m. today in Waters 348.

■ The Japanese Appreciation Association will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Union 203.

■ The Student Homecoming Committee is seeking applicants. Pick up an application at the Alumni Center or complete one online at www.k-state.com/Students/Homecoming.aspx. Applications are due today.

Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at collegian@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

The blotter Arrests in Riley County

The Collegian takes reports directly from the Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor, traffic violations because of space constraints.

Wednesday, Feb. 21

■ Woodrow Austin Handshoe, 2500 Farm Bureau Road, Lot 164, at 1:55 p.m. for theft. Bond was $1,500.

■ Atory Latrell McMillan, Junction City, Kan., at 7:20 p.m. for battery, criminal damage to property and witness/victim intimidation. Bond was $1,000.

■ Phillip Sawyer, Minneapolis, Kan., at 8 p.m. for failure to appear. Bond was $750.

■ Tracie Lynn Karmann, 3100 Heritage Court. no. 85, at 8:50 p.m. for a worthless check. Bond was $199.

■ Curtis Alan Bolinger, no address given, at 10:45 p.m. for probation violations. Bond was $5,250.

Thursday, Feb. 22

■ Anthony Joseph Anguiano, 308 Moro St., at 12:56 a.m. for battery against a law enforcement officer and obstruction of the legal process. Bond was $1,000.

■ Lisandra Eve Brundidge, Washington, Kan., at 1:25 a.m. for possession of an opiate or narcotic, unlawful possession of a depressant and driving with a canceled or suspended license. Bond was $2,000.

Corrections and clarifications

There were two errors in Thursday's Collegian.
Former President Bill Clinton will present the Landon Lecture March 2. Stephanie Riniker is a former employee of Hair Experts Salon and Spa. The Collegian regrets these errors.

If you see something that should be corrected, call news editor Alex Peak at (785) 532-6556 or e-mail collegian@spub.ksu.edu.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291 020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167

© Kansas State Collegian, 2007

friday Specials pounders (1) jello shots O Bombs Booze Burgers & Philly Sandwich ACMEGIFT'S

second annual

GARAGE

537-770 I

Manhattan, KS 66502

1109 Hylton Heights

One Bedrooms 1022 - 1026 Sunset $395 - $425

1950 - 1960 Hunting $510 - $540 1212 Thurston $525 - $545

> Houses 1508 Hillcrest

722-B Osage

2005 College View

1837 College Heights $445

McCollum Townhouses $920 Showings 1825 College Heights $750 - Single Level by $800 - Two Story $875 - Three Story

Appointment Aggieville Penthouse Apts 617 N. 12th Street

Conversion Apts

1866 College Heights 2-bedroom - $530

1010 Sunset studio - $340 1 bedroom - $385

3&4 Bedrooms

1841 College Heights $920 - $1250

Two Bedrooms

All Apartments within Walking Distance to Campus

Become a Xerox Dealer Sales Representative and you'll be teaming with a world leader from the start.

As a Sales Representative working for a local, independent Xerox Authorized Dealer, you'll be backed by the world-class resources, products and solutions of The Document Company, Xerox. We support your career growth with ongoing sales training, qualified leads, advanced sales tools and an attractive, incentivebased compensation plan.

If you have a drive to succeed, we have the job that can take you as high as you want to go. Send your resume today to:

Digix, Inc Campus Interviews: 3/13/2007

Contact Career Services for more information

Xerox Authorized Dealer

EEKEND

Why Campus Phone Book

Only Phone Book with Students' Cell Phone Numbers

· Coupons with the Greatest Deals

· A Menu Guide with local restaurants' menus

Purchase Yours in Kedzie 103

Cadets compete in desert marathon

By Eric Davis KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Several ROTC cadets will travel to White Sands Missile Range in New Mexico to compete in a marathon to commemorate the Bataan Death March in the Philippines during World War II.

The cadets are training for the Bataan Memorial Death March, which will take place March 25 in New Mexico. Alex Balk, senior in civil engineering, is captain of the heavy team.

The heavy team will run the 26.2 miles of the marathon with at least a 35-pound rucksack. Balk said he works his team by increasing its road march distances every week.

"We started the training by doing an easy 10-mile road march," Balk said.

He said his team would be completing a 21-mile road march during the next three weeks

Balk also said there were several injuries in last year's run, and he has changed the training schedule this year to avoid those injuries.

Throughout the years, the run has gained popularity in the ROTC program.

Jerad Linder, senior in history, is the captain of another team and will be competing in his fourth march.

"The first year we did the run, we took five people, and that year we took fifth place in the military-light category," Linder said. "The following year we sent two teams. One team was military co-ed, and they did military-light and took third place."

He said 30 to 40 teams compete in each event.

Both Balk and Linder talked about how cometing in the run is a rewarding experience.

Along with the run, survivors of the actual Bataan Death March are invited to meet the competitors.

"The Bataan (Memorial) Death March is rewarding for all Americans," Balk said. "It is a way for us to say thank you and honor them for their services to America."

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

> First Amendment U.S. CONSTITUTION

Macaaki Tamura associate professor of anatomy and physiology, and Deryl Troyer, professor of anatomy and physiology, received a $100,000 grant from Joan's Legacy for gene-therapy research for fighting lung

Christopher Hanewinckel

Stem-cell research grant helps professors

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Masaaki Tamura and Deryl Troyer have spent a lot of time working together. They finish each other's sentences and seem to anticipate what the other is going to say.

Their years of work together are beginning to pay off.

Joan's Legacy, a lung cancer foundation, recently presented Tamura, associate professor of anatomy and physiology, and Troyer, professor of anatomy and physiology, with a $100,000 grant for their genetherapy research for fighting lung cancer.

The Joan Scarangello Foundation to Conquer Lung Cancer is committed to fighting the leading deadliest cancer by funding innovative research and increasing awareness, according to the organization's Web site, www.joanslegacy.org.

K-State's Terry C. Johnson Center for Basic Cancer Research was the first source of funding for the pair's research.

"We are very indebted to the Johnson center," Troyer said.

The pair's research utilizes a type of stem cell discovered at K-State called umbilical cord matrix stem cells, or UCMS cells. They are isolated from Wharten's jelly, the cushioning material of the umbilical cord.

Cancerous tumors send out signals that recruit other cells to help grow, Troyer said. The UCMS cells, engineered with tumorfighting chemicals, respond to that signal and travel to where the tumor is, but instead of helping the tumor grow, the cells begin to fight it.

"It's sort of like if you smell coffee somewhere, and you follow the smell, and the smell gets stronger as you move closer and soon you find yourself in front of the coffee pot," Troyer said.

The difference between this type of cancer therapy and other types is that gene therapy is cancer-targeted, Troyer said. Other types of therapy cause harmful effects to the rest of the body while fighting the cancer. Cancer-targeted gene therapy only fights the cancer.

Troyer and Tamura test the effectiveness of their research by weighing the lungs of treated and untreated mice. Cancerous lungs weigh about twice as much as healthy lungs, Tamura said. After they treat the cancerous lungs, the weight of the lung will return almost completely to normal.

The therapy is not 100-percent effective, but Tamura said the tumors almost completely disappear. Troyer said the change is significant.

Tamura and Troyer said their long-term goal is to use cancer-targeted gene therapy to cure cancer in humans. They already have had a strategic meeting with members of the University of Kansas Medical Center to plan what must be done before they are able to obtain their goal.

The researchers also hope to use the gene therapy for other types of cancer. They are focusing only on lung cancer because it has the highest mortality rate, Tamura said.

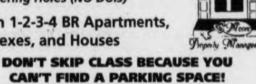

Other researchers involved in this project include Duane Davis, professor of animal science and industry; Mark Weiss, professor of anatomy and physiology; and David Grieger, associate professor of animal science and industry.

APARTMENT HUNTING 101 Most Locations Near KSU

You can WALK to:

Class . Library Aggieville • Banks Restaurants . Coffee Shops Watering Holes (NO DUIs)

Clean 1-2-3-4 BR Apartments, Duplexes, and Houses

SERIOUS STUDENTS RENT WITH: Moore Property Management view our property starting the 19th -28th www.moorepropertymanagement.com Lease signing begins Feb. 26th

785-537-0205

Christian Books & Gifts MANHATTAN JEWISH

•DVDs

•Computer

Association

OURNEY niversity Christian Church 2800 Claflin • 776.5440 (across from Taco Hut) 9:45 & 11:00 Contemporary Service 9:45 Breakfast and Bible Study Chris Herrington • www.uccks.org

Unitarian-Universalist Fellowship of Manhattan

481 Zeandale Road. (Where reason and intuition guide our personal journey) Program Sunday at 10:45 a.m. Religious education classes for youth. Child Care Provided.

A Welcoming Congregation. Rev. Michael Nelson For information call (785) 537-2349

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

2121 Blue Hills Road

539-8691

9:45 am Sunday School

11:00 am Sunday Worship

Praise Team Twice Each Month

Baptist Campus Center

2901 Dickens - 2 blks. E. of Seth Child

♦ Sunday Worship ♦

8:00, 9:30, 11:00 a.m.

Bible Classes 9:30 or 11:00 a.m.

Evening Service or Care Cells 6 p.m.

785-776-0424

www.gracebchurch.org

Come Worship

With Us

1st Church of the Nazaren

3031 Kimball Ave.

10:40 Sunday Worship 7:00 Wed. Bible Study, Tee outh & College ministry opportun Senior Pastor: Pat Weymuch

9:30 Sunday School

1801 Anderson Ave 539-3051

Grace

Baptist

Church

MENNONITE CHURCH 1000 Fremont 539-4079

Worship: 10:45 SS: 9:30 Richard & Barbara Gehring, Pastors

K-State Student Group

www.manhattan.ks.us.mennonite.net

Potluck 1st and 3rd Sunday after worship

Faith Evangelical Free Church Worship at 8:00, 10:30, 10:40

Sunday School at 9:15

Christian Science

Society

Sunday 10:30 a.m.

Danforth Chapel

KSU Campus

Wed. 7:30 in Reading Room

leading Room open Tues.-Thurs. 11-1

105 N. 4th St.

LUTHERAN CHURCH

5:30 p.m.

Sunday Worship 8:30 and 11 a.m.

Church School for all

9:45 a.m.

785-537-8532

Welcome

FIRST

10th & Poyntz

1921 Barnes Rd 1.6 Miles North of Kimball

776-2086

Center MASS SCHEDULE

Tuesday-Thursday 10:00 p.m. Friday 12:10 p.m. Saturday 5 p.m. Sunday 9:30 a.m., 11 a.m. Sun. 4:30 p.m., 6 p.m.

St. Isidore's

Catholic Student

Father Keith Weber, Chaplain 711 Denison 539-7496

First Presbyterian Church

9:15 a.m. Worship Service 9:15 a.m. Sunday School

10:30 a.m. Worship Service 11:15 a.m. Contemporary Worship Service

R.C. McConnell, Pastor 01 Leavenworth • 537-0518 www.firstpresmanhattan.com

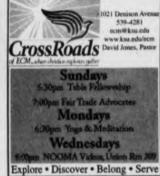

3905 Green Valley Rd.

JOIN THE DIRECTORY. YOUR CHURCH COULD BE HERE.

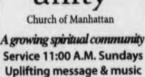

Call Tyler at 785-532-6560

CONGREGATION

Service 11:00 A.M. Sundays Uplifting message & music ECM Building 1021 Denison Contact Rev. Jennifer at ucm@gmail.com

Pastor Michael Ide 2500 Kimball www.peace-to-you.org

With Christ ... Gather ... Grow and Go Forth!

Traditional Worship: Sun 8:30 & 11am Sanctuary

Contemporary Worship: 8:45am - Harris Activity Center Casual dress, free donurs

Sunday School - 9:45am

Communion Service

5:30 pm Wed

Coming Soon to Manhattan Arts Center February 23-25, March 1-4

Proof By David Auburn Directed by David Smit

starring: Michael Donnelly, Allison Karnowski, Andrea Huckaba, and Brant Sizemore

sponsored by Philip and Jeune Kirmser

Military and Student discounts available

February 23 at 5-7 pm

Thursday 7:30 pm, Friday & Saturday 8 pm, Sunday 2 pm

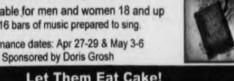

Opening reception: David Bartlett "Photogravures" and artists from Meadowlark Hills

Exhibit dates: February 24 - April 7 MAC galleries are free and open to the public

February 25 & 26 at 6 -10 pm

Auditions: Into the Woods Parts available for men and women 18 and up Have 16 bars of music prepared to sing. Performance dates: Apr 27-29 & May 3-6

Let Them Eat Cake!

Enter the first "Let Them Eat Cake" contest, tasting, and auction. Interested bakers and decorators should contact the Manhattan Arts Center at 537-4420.

For more information or to ORDER YOUR TICKETS ONLINE

www.manhattanarts.org Manhattan Arts Center 1520 Poyntz 537-4420

History of Mardi Gras

Since you have to live life anyway, you might as well get drunk for a week

In my home state of Louisiana, the Saint-cheering masses spent the last week in the throes of the greatest of all festivals, Mardi Gras, which, for the uncultured, loosely translates from French as "Fat Tuesday."

Fortunately, Louisianans are far manlier than the French (where the snooty French drink mostly sis-sifed red wines, any proper Louisiana native prefers a nice manly rowed the French language, they added their own dialect. As such, the Cajun translation of Mardi Gras is roughly, "the week everyone stays home, tourists get schlizted, 40 people are murdered and the 'Girls Gone Wild' crew shows up."

JONAS

HOGG

A long time ago, the delta country down south was where everyone went if they were quite sure they didn't want to be found. Runaway slaves, outlaw American Indians, pirates, people sneaking out of Mexico early hoping to beat the rush, and so forth.

Well, then more and more of the French came in, preachin' and cross, and the locals figured if they were going to be a city of hookers, cutthroats and thieves they might as well get them some Jesus if the church was going to dole it out for free anyway.

The French, being good Catholics, started handing out holidays until the next thing you know, every day was the Feast of Saint So-and-so, or the Mass of Saint Done-forgot. Everything rolled along fine until up popped Lent, during which everyone fasts and abstains and generally goes about making everyone else miserable for 40 days.

way around it, the Catholics told all the southern locals they was hell-bound if they didn't go along with the whole misery and penance thing. Figuring there's not much booze in hell and not too many brothels either, the locals decided to tag along with the whole plan. But, if there was going to be 40 days of praying and purifying they were going to make sure they earned every last second.

So before Lent began on Ash Wednesday, the residents of New Orleans (and most of the Caribbean for more-or-less the same reasons) decided they were going to spend a few days getting liquored up, beating the stuffing out of each other and doing the horizontal boogie until the bishop came down and told them all to knock it " off and get themselves to church. Fat Tuesday, they decided to call it."

The locals celebrated a little oldtimey godlessness, which is at least somehow more respectable than modern-day folk - singing praise day in and out before they slink off for more cheating and lying. At least New Orleans never put on airs to be anything but a den of infi-

Since then, the whole affair devolved into another marketing Ponzi scheme. Even that hotbed of wild culture, Bangor, Maine, has cut itself a little slice of the Mardi Gras pie.

Now, lots of the European nations, in a desperate attempt to prove they're not a bunch of uptight, middle-aged, white folks, have whipped out their party hats, even if they are dusty after a few good centuries in the closet.

So if New Orleans has taught us anything (other than don't build below sea level) it's that everybody needs a good heathening every now and again, and Mardi Gras seems like as good a time as any.

If nothing else, Mardi Gras is a good reminder to relax once in a while, because tomorrow you could be hungry, sober and miserable.

Jonas Hogg is senior in sociology, international studies and Russian. Please send comments to opinion@spub.ksu.edu.

Breach of gym etiquette can cause serious embarrassment

There's something about gyms that makes me squirm a bit. Maybe it's the attire (barely there) or the smell (sweaty, body-odor goodness). I can't help but be uncomfortable - I was raised Catholic, and it's what we Catholic girls do well.

Illustration by Nate Schmidt | COLLEGIAN

SAND

My awkwardness always is put at bay if I use proper manners, so I practice what I consider quality gym etiquette: I remain mute unless forced to speak and/or interact. Doing so helps keep my workout anxiety at bay. Yet somehow, despite best efforts and a positive attitude, I was shamed into oblivion last Tuesday

As I was bounding up the stairs, averting my eyes, someone crept into my personal space. I moved faster, hoping to abstain from any further interruption, and then I saw him in my peripheral vision. Behind me was this man, maybe 30 years old or so, who clearly had not graduated from "Gym Etiquette 101."

He wore a white, very tight men's undershirt (tighter than even I would wear, and I'm a chick) and running "shorts" wafting over his sinewy legs.

Most sane men at the gym or in the weight room wear those basketball-type shorts that hit at or below

Not this guy. He was going for a different look, a subtle look - he went for the light-green, almost white short shorts, sans built-in underwear. Fashionable, really.

Completely freaked out, I immediately snapped back to strict faceforward stance, eyes focused on my goal - avoiding this guy all together. I took a right, hoping my intuition would not fail - he totally would be going to the combative room with that snazzy outfit, right? "Of course I'm correct because I know everything," I almost said out loud.

Feeling this skirmish was behind me, I sought to concentrate on my pre-squat stretches. I had my headphones in, set my massive purse down along with my water bottle and Rockhurst sweatshirt and bent down to re-tie my shoe. At this point

I'd forgotten all about the peculiar man in the skimpy outfit and concentrated on doing the loop-deloop while listening to Missy Elliott. I danced a little and tied my shoes, bent over, derriere up in the air, oblivious to my surroundings. I finished tying and got into a side lunge position to stretch my inner thighs (I take squats seriously). I moved into this spread-legged stance and leaned to one side, eyes focused on the

Then something moved out of the corner of my eye: it was none other than the gentleman, in a half-squatting/half-sitting plié position, shorts gaping, balls swinging. Not just sitting there - swinging, like Muhammad Ali just used his scrotum as a punching bag.

This was an awkward circumstance, indeed. You know what I did? I screamed. Just a little bit, but I let out a yelp because I was put in such a foul situation. I squeezed my eyes shut, breathing hard, praying to have the image erased from my mind God please answer my prayers - and stood up straight.

My eyes were still closed as I turned around, gathered my things and proceeded to leave, because the traumatic event had grossed me out so much I was unconcerned about working my glutes.

As I drove home, I vowed never to use my peripheral vision again.

Leah Sand is a senior in interior architecture. Please send comments to opinion@spub.ksu.edu.

Collegian

Megan Moser | EDITOR IN CHIEF Heldi Paulson | MANAGING EDITOR Alex Peak | NEWS EDITOR Jacque Haag | CO-COPY CHIEF Jessi Hernandez | CO-COPY CHIEF Scott Girard | CAMPUS EDITOR Logan C. Adams | METRO EDITOR Lacey D. Mackey | FEATURES EDITOR Jonathan Garten | SPORTS EDITOR Cedrique Flemming | TIPOFF EDITOR Eileen Laux | THE EDGE EDITOR Jonas Hogg | OPINION EDITOR Christopher Hanewinckel | PHOTO EDITOR Brendan Praeger | PRESENTATION EDITOR Royce Haynes | ONLINE EDITOR Donnie Lee | PUBLIC EDITOR Courtney Sleypen | AD MANAGER Eddle Rogers | ASST. AD MANAGER

WRITE TO US

Letters can be submitted by e-mail to letters@ spub.ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters should be limited to 250 words. All submitted letters may be edited for length and

CONTACT US Kansas State Collegian Kedzie 103 Manhattan, KS 66502

Display ads.....(785) 532-6560 Classified ads....(785) 532-6555 ..(785) 532-6555 Newsroom.....(785) 532-6556 news@spub.ksu.edu

TO THE POINT

TO THE POINT is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. This is the Collegian's official opinion.

Opportunities exist to support fellow students

"There is nothing to do." "I'm bored."

These are lame excuses, because at any given time, dozens of events occur on our campus, and each is another chance to learn or experience something new.

This Friday, the K-State Rodeo begins at 7:30 p.m. Even at an agricultural school like ours, many students have not experienced rodeo. This is a great opportunity to learn about something that is important to many K-State students.

If one is unable to attend Friday, the rodeo lasts through the weekend, starting at 1 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday.

Also this weekend, K-State's Speech Unlimited forensics team will host the Kevin Heinemann Memorial Swing on Saturday and Sun-

Both events are worthwhile opportunities to support fellow students. These people work hard throughout the semester, if not their entire collegiate careers, and probably would be tickled to have your encouragement.

While the forensics team and the rodeo club caught our attention for this issue, there are always other events on campus and in the community to keep folks occupied.

Check the calendar on the K-State home page for events within your interests.

Those who enjoy music, dance or theater can check for what is going on at McCain Auditorium, Nichols Theatre or the Manhattan Arts Center.

Just because some varsity teams are away competing does not mean there are no athletics events going on. A plethora of club sports teams practice and play in Memorial Stadium, including lacrosse and rugby.

The options are endless. At 1 p.m. Saturday, there will be an International Potluck Dinner at Frith Community Center. Other multicultural and religious events occur throughout each week.

"Nothing is going on" is not acceptable. This is a college campus. More than 20,000 people are busy with events every day of every week.

Find one and attend. You could find a way to enrich your life.

THE FORUM

forum@spub.ksu.edu

The Forum is the Collegian's reader feedback system. The Forum is edited to eliminate vulgar racist, obscene and libelous comments. The comments are not the opinion of the Collegian nor are they endorsed by the editorial staff.

Does anybody understand "Tabernacle Woods?" I have to say that it is the worst comic strip I have ever read. Sorry, but how about a little "Far Side," or even "Garfield?"

> Josh Martin JUNIOR IN POLITICAL SCIENCE

Two muffins are baking in the oven. The first muffin turns to the second and says, "Wow, it's hot in here." The second muffin replies, "Holy crap, a talking muffin!"

Grant Damas SOPHOMORE IN ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING

Darwin's theory of evolution has never included the idea that "humans descended from apes." Apes are like our cousins, not our grandparents.

> Caroline Chapman SENIOR IN ANTHROPOLOGY

Please send submissions via K-State e-mail to forum@spub.ksu.edu. All comments must be sign

WORLD NEWS

4 GUATEMALAN OFFICERS ARRESTED IN PARLIAMENT MEMBERS'SLAYING

GUATEMALA CITY - A top police official and three other officers were arrested Thursday for the killings of three Central American Parliament members, including the son of the alleged founder of El Salvador's death squads.

Among those arrested was Luis Arturo Herrera, head of the Guatemalan National Police organized crime unit, said Interior Minister Carlos Viel-

The assailants repeatedly shot Eduardo D'Aubuisson, son of El Salvador's late right-wing leader Roberto D'Aubuisson, two other Salvadoran officials and their driver before setting them on fire while they were still alive, officials said.

Their charred bodies were found Monday along a road about 20 miles southeast of Guatemala City.

U.S. MILITARY DISCOVERS PROPANE AND CHLORINE CAR BOMB FACTORY

BAGHDAD, Iraq - The U.S. military warned Thursday insurgents are adopting new tactics in a campaign to spread panic after troops uncovered a car bomb factory with propane tanks and chlorine cylinders - possible ingredients for more chemical attacks following three explosions involving chlorine.

Those blasts and a recent spate of attacks against helicopters have raised fears that insurgents are trying to develop new ways to confront U.S. and Iraqi forces. Any increase in chemical bombings could complicate the Baghdad security crackdown, which is in its second week.

Lt. Gen. Ray Odierno, the No. 2 American commander in Iraq, said he did not think the attacks signaled a more capable insurgency. Instead, he said they merely were an attempt to provoke fear.

EUROPE, RUSSIA AGREE TO ENCOURAGE IRAN BACK TO 6-PARTY TALKS

BERLIN - U.S., European and Russian diplomats agree on encouraging Iran back to the bargaining table over its disputed nuclear program, Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice said Thursday.

Diplomats from the U.S. and its negotiating partners plan to meet next week to try drafting a new U.N. resolution on the standoff.

"We reconfirmed we will use available channels and the Security Council to try to achieve that goal" of restarting negotiations with Iran, the top U.S. diplomat said.

The group reviewed Iran's compliance with a U.N. Security Council demand that it stop enriching uranium, a key step toward producing either nuclear power or a nuclear weapon.

— The Associated Press

FROM THE PRESIDENT Students should listen carefully to candidates

The extended forecast for Manhattan says the weather will stay warm, but if it drops back down to zero, at least the trees will be warm and the sidewalk decorations will add a splash of color to campus.

That's right - it's election time.

Student Governing Association campaigns are in full swing.

Candidates have been and will be speaking at your student organization meetings, your living organizations and events around campus. There will be tables in the Union, chalk on the sidewalks and posters hugging trees for the next two weeks. Listen to what candidates say and vote according to your perceptions. SGA handles millions of your tuition dollars each year, allocating to student groups, creating new programs and supporting a proud K-State tradition.

LUCAS

MADDY

Take two minutes to vote next week and express your opinions. These indvidiuals represent the entire K-State community on a local, state and national stage, so take pride in helping to choose who your student leaders are next year.

If you have any comments or questions, please e-mail maddy@k-state.edu.

Proud to be a Wildcat.

Lucas Maddy

STUDENT BODY PRESIDENT

TO THE EDITOR Fans show cruelty in throwing dead poultry

It is remarkable that, in a university where so many people work so hard to improve the well-being of pets, farm animals and wildlife, some students feel the need to torture and kill a chicken and throw its remains on a basketball court.

Can somebody explain to me the need for such wicked behavior? I am disappointed that neither the administration nor the athletic department commented on an act so unbecoming of Wildcat fans.

> Claire L. Dehon PROFESSOR OF FRENCH

Wage gap exists regardless of what some say

Editor,

Ben Davis' letter to the editor reflects the standard Republican party position about the wage gap: it doesn't exist. However, studies show this is not the case.

In 2005, women overall made 77 cents to a man's dollar (National Committee on Pay Equity, studies full-time, year-round employees). In 1963, women made 58.9 cents to their dollar.

In those 42 years, the wage gap has narrowed by 18.1 cents. Clearly, the passing of the Equal Pay Act of 1963 does not mean women automatically are immune to gender discrimination. Studies such as these do take into account a person's education level. Davis argues millions of lawsuits would result if the wage gap did exist. The largest class-action sex discrimination lawsuit in history is now proceeding as more than 1.6 million women are challenging the unfair wages they are paid at Wal-Mart.

Similar recent lawsuits

Switching colors won't equal better basketball have been brought against Boeing, Costco, Merrill Lynch, Morgan Stanley and Goodyear Tire and Rubber.

I agree it is vital to move beyond "stage one when addressing the problems of our society;" unfortunately, Davis failed to do so. Did he propose any solutions to inequality in his letter beyond pretending it didn't exist?

If so, I missed it.

Stefani Schrader SENIOR IN ENGLISH LITERATURE AND WOMEN'S STUDIES

Editor,

As a former K-State faculty member and proud supporter of K-State, I was disappointed and upset to see the black at the University of Kansas vs. K-State ballgame.

It has taken years to bring back "Purple Pride" at K-State thanks to a great football program under former coach Bill Snyder and alumni and student support. Switching colors is not going to build a better basketball program.

It will take the same ingredients mentioned above to continue "Purple Pride," and support from alumni and friends of K-State will not happen by wearing black

Clarene Goodheart

USDA to change to meat, poultry inspection process By Mike Kelly now, the new system will be make sure a budget shortfall

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The first significant changes to the inspection of meat and poultry plants in a decade will take effect this year, the Department of Agriculture announced last week.

These new policies will target factories where the danger for germs is high and where past visits have found unsafe practices.

"There are certain food products that carry a higher inherent risk than others," said Richard Raymond, the USDA's top food safety official in an Associated Press interview. "And there are certain plants that do a better job of controlling risk than oth-

The USDA will evaluate both slaughter and processing plants on a risk-based system, considering both the type of product and the plant's record of food safety violations.

This risk-based system will be the first significant overhaul of food safety inspection since 1993, when hundreds of people became ill and four children died after eating undercooked hamburgers from Jack in the Box restaurants.

The USDA has not set a timetable for the shift to the new system, but is expected to release one soon. As of implemented in processing plants, with future endeavors in slaughtering plants.

"There's been a lot of foodborne disease and recalls associated with lysteriosis at processing plants, and there's a major push by the federal government to reduce the cases in the United States," said James Marsden, distinguished professor in animal sciences and industry.

K-State has both slaughter and processing capabilities but stays mostly in processing, Marsden said.

"We process not only for research and teaching, but also there is processing that provides ground beef to the dorms, for example," Marsden said. "There's a fair amount of processing that goes on here."

Due to its stellar track record, K-state's facilities will have fewer inspections, allowing the USDA to spend its resources where they are most needed.

However, some critics argue the department is rushing into a complex system in an effort to loosen its budget.

"One of the concerns is that this is simply an effort to save money in a tight business year," said Caroline Smith De-Waal, food safety director at the Center for Science in the Public Interest. "We want to is not what's driving these important inspection decisions." Marsden said the USDA is not driven by the budget but instead is trying to bring all of its plants to a high level of accountability.

"They want to bring all plants up to the level in compliance with regulations," Marsden said. "It really makes a lot of sense and I agree with what the USDA is doing by putting their limited resources on plants that rely on systems that aren't as reliable."

More than 7,000 inspectors conduct nearly nine million inspections per year, according to the USDA.

Daily inspections of meat and poultry plants are required by federal law and have been since unsanitary conditions in Chicago's meat packing institute were portrayed in Upton Sinclair's 1906 novel, "The Jungle." Although the industry is well-funded and expansive, Marsden said increasing accountability and safety is an integral issue. "We have thousands of people in the United States that die yearly of a food-borne disease," Marsden said. "All of those deaths are preventable, and the technologies are there to control this hazard, so it's a good public health endeavor for our country."

Mondays

A LOT CAN BE SAID ABOUT A LITTLE BIT OF SPACE..... WORKS

To give it a try, call or stop by Collegian advertising 103 Kedzie 532-6560

WORTH ITS PRICE

The Collegian is available at 112 locations near you. Collegian

NOW LEASING FOR FALL 2007

Founders Hill Apartments 1401 College Avenue (785) 539-4600

Chase Manhattan Apartments 1409 Chase Place (785) 776-3663

STUDIOS, 1, 2, 3, 4 BEDROOM UNITS

Campus East

Woodway Apartments 2420 Greenbriar Drive (785) 537-7007

Apartments 1422 McCain Lane (785) 539-5911

www.firstmanagementinc.com

wite the following men to Formal:

Kappa Alpha Theta

Every Monday look in the Collegian

Every Monday from the hottest restaurants hottest deals To advertise in Menu Mania, Call 785-632-6560

Hill's presence helps attract top recruits

Assistant coach Dalonte Hill, right, watches the team during a 78-59 victory over Colorado Feb. 10 with coach Bob Huggins, center, and assistant coach Frank Martin. Hill came to K-State from Charlotte, where he worked as an assistant for Bobby Lutz.

Assistant coach has ties with potential players throughout East Coast area

By Jeffrey Rake KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

When Dalonte Hill signed with K-State last April to be an assistant on coach Bob Huggins' staff, speculation began that he would bring with him a special talent.

Through the years, Hill developed a strong relationship with Michael Beasley, considered by some scouting agencies to be the No. 1 high school player in the class of 2007.

Beasley originally made a verba commitment to Charlotte, where Hill spent four seasons as an assistant under coach Bobby Lutz from 2003 to

When Hill bolted for K-State, Beasley wasn't far behind.

Beasley decided to back out of his verbal commitment to Charlotte and publicly reopened his recruitment.

Suddenly, K-State entered the picture, and the rest is history. Beasley signed a national letter of intent Nov. 8 and will be a Wildcat next season.

So without his connection to Beasley, would Huggins still have been interested in adding Hill to his staff?

"I've known coach Huggins for a while. I've played against him and coached against him, so I've known him a long time," said Hill, who also played at Charlotte from 1998 to 2000. "With that said, I think I've already expressed that I've wanted to coach with him, and he said when he had an opportunity that he'd hire me."

Though Hill admitted Huggins knew signing Beasley was a possibility. he also knew it wasn't certain.

"He knew it was doable," Hill said. "I told him I couldn't guarantee it. I hadn't spoken with Mike. It wasn't in stone that Mike was coming with me,

All-American Shootout

What: Two of the nation's elite prep schools, Notre Dame Prep and The Pendleton School at IMG Academy will match-up.

When: 2 p.m. Sunday

Where: Bramlage Coliseum How much: $20 for chairbacks, $10 for adult bench seats, $5 for youth bench seats and that's why he opened up his recruitment?

Now that Beasley is coming to K-State, it's possible Hill could be Huggins' pipeline to players from the East Coast. He spent time as an Amateur Athletic Union coach for the D.C. Assault and has contacts all along the eastern seaboard.

"I think we'll get it rolling and keep it rolling," Hill said of recruiting. "I think we're pretty strong in the East Coast with Frank (Martin) in Miami, Huggins in Cincinnati and me in Washington, D.C., Virginia and North Carolina."

His recruiting ties aside, Hill also can coach. He mostly works with the guards and has developed close bonds with the players similar to the one he has with Beasley.

"Whenever you are a young coach, you can relate to the players," said senior Akeem Wright. "His experience, coaching at Charlotte, he's really shown some promise here. He's played college ball and knows what we're going through when we're struggling."

Hill, only 28 years old, acknowledged his goal is to become a head coach. Still, he said he's in no hurry. He wants to learn under Huggins and help K-State get back on track.

The Wildcats, coming off a 71-62 home loss to No. 6 Kansas Monday, play next at Colorado at 3 p.m. Saturday in Boulder, Colo.

1-MINUTE DRILL

Staff Reports

RUN | K-State prepares for Big 12 Indoor championships

Just before the Big 12 Conference Indoor Championship meet, sophomore weight thrower Loren Groves received the Big 12 female athlete of the week because of her first-place toss of 68-3 3/4 at the KSU Open last week.

This weekend she and the rest of the K-State track and field team are traveling to Arnes, lowa, for the Big 12 Indoor Championships.

Coach Cliff Rovelto said he is looking forward to the big meet.

"If you got a pulse, you're going to be ready," Rovelto said. Groves owns the longest throw in the Big 12 this year, while teammate Laci Heller is in third with a toss of 65-1/2. Sophomore Kaylene Wagner will compete in the women's high jump and has the second-highest jump in the conference with a mark of Sophomore Scott Sellers also ranks second in the Big 12 with a mark of 7-5 3/4 in the men's high jump.

"The two kids that are leading the country in those events are in our conference," Rovelto said. "It doesn't mean that they can't win, but it does mean that they have to jump very very well to win."

- Ryne Witt

BBC | Baseball team to play 4 games at Buckeye Classic

Baseball coach Brad Hill wasn't fully satisfied after going 3-1 last weekend.

That's why he wants more than just improved play this weekend at the Buckeye Classic in Tampa, Fla.

"It is a developmental stage for us, but we are going to win," Hill said. "We're going down to win and hope our guys learn how to win in those situations.

This is the second trip of an 11-game road swing for K-State.

"I think it is good to put our guys out on the road," Hill said. "I think it is good from the standpoint of learning how to play on the road and I also think there are fewer distractions sometimes when you go on the road."

The bullpen was one of the keys to last weekend's victories. K-State's relievers are 1-0 with a 1.46 ERA. They have three saves in three opportunities, holding opponents to a .200 batting average.

The Wildcats will play Seton Hall Friday, a double-header against Ohio State Saturday and James Madison Sunday. They will play all of their games in the New York Yankees' spring training complex.

"It'll be fun," senior Eli Rumler said. "You're playing on a big league field. You're playing on the same field that Derek Jeter (Yankee's shortstop) and all those guys are playing on."

- Ryne Witt

TEN | Wildcats to face 2 teams without Kvaratskhelia

The K-State tennis team will travel to face two opponents this weekend without its No. 2 singles player.

Junior Tamar Kvaratskhelia, who was sidelined from singles competition last weekend with an injury, will not participate

"After talking it over with her medical staff, we decided the best thing for her was for her not to play this week," coach Steve Bietau said.

K-State (2-2, 0-0 Big 12 Conference) will face No. 67 Boise State (4-1, 2-0 Western Athletic Conference) Saturday in Albuquerque, N.M. The Wildcats will take on No. 38 New Mexico (4-0, 0-0 Mountain West Conference) Sunday.

Last weekend, sophomore Fernanda Da Valle was the only K-State player to win, beating Brigham Young in both singles and doubles. This week, she said she has been working on a different aspect of her game.

"I'm trying to keep mentally focused," she said. "I just want to play good as a team. We want to have a good start in doubles."

- Wendy Haun

WEQ | Equestrian starts spring season at Baylor, Texas A&M

The K-State equestrian team will begin the spring regular season this weekend in two head-to-head competitions at Baylor Saturday and at Texas A&M Sunday.

K-State will send a total of 33 riders to compete in the two varsity shows. Some riders will show several times over the weekend and others will ride as alternates.

BBK | Former K-State athlete, student dies at 72

Juan 'Pachin' Vicens, a Latin American basketball star and former student-athlete at K-State, died at his home Sunday in Puerto Rico at the Vicens, a point guard from Ponce, Puerto Rico, starred at K-State for two seasons from 1954-1956 under legendary head coach Tex Winter. He averaged 12.3 points in 1956 and guided the Wildcats to the NCAA Regional semifinals and a first-place finish in the Big Seven. For his career, he averaged 11.6 points and over three rebounds per game.

K-State looks to even series with lowa State for senior day

By Dayne Logan KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The K-State women's basketball team will close out the regular season with a two-game homestand at Bramlage Coliseum. The first game takes place Saturday at 1 p.m. when the Wildcats (16-11, 4-10 Big 12 Conference) play Iowa State (20-7, 8-6).

The No. 25 Cyclones are led by sophomore Nicky Wieben. Wieben averages more than 12 points per game, which has helped Iowa State pick up momentum as the postseason approaches. Iowa State has won three games in a row, including a victory against then-No. 13 Texas A&M.

The Wildcats, on the other hand, have nose-dived for the last five weeks and, apart from the Big 12 Tournament, might not see the postseason at all. Coach Deb Patterson said she thought some of the Wildcats' struggles could be attributed to playing the wrong teams at the wrong times.

"We have tended to bump up against teams when they are on a run," Patterson said. "We have tended to bump up against them when they're playing their very best basketball and when they've strung together a couple of wins."

Unfortunately for K-State, it won't get any easier this weekend against an Iowa State squad that is hitting its "Iowa State's a good team," said junior Shana Wheeler. "We feel like we

K-State vs. Iowa State

When: 1 p.m. Saturday Where: Bramlage Coliseum Television: Fox Sports Network Radio: KMAN-AM 1350 Internet: Live stats on k-statesports.com have a good chance, but we just have to play two halves of good basketball."

Putting together two good halves has been something the Wildcat women have talked about all season, but has been easier said than done. K-State has had its share of good spells in recent games, but inconsistency caused the team to drop many of those games.

With all the heartbreak the team has experienced this season, it's hard to tell what is left to play for.

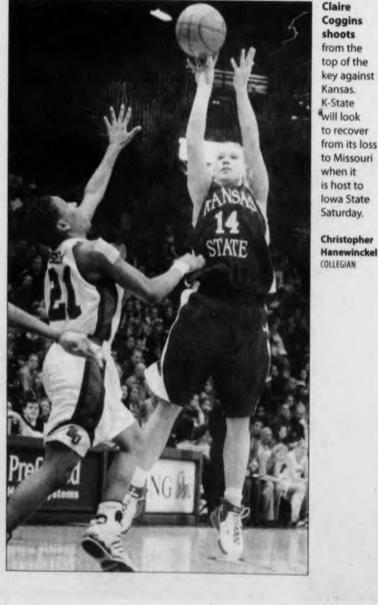

Freshman Ashley Sweat said the disappointing season has left her playing with a "nothing left to lose" attitude. "You might as well come out and give it your best every day," Sweat said. Two other Wildcats likely will play with a similar attitude this weekend. Seniors Claire Coggins and Naytanda Smith will be recognized for their years of service to the Wildcat program as part of senior day and will undoubtedly be looking to leave the fans with something to remember.

"I'm hoping we can get a great crowd in the house for senior afternoon and send off Claire Coggins and Naytanda Smith in a big way," Patterson said.

Catrina Rawson | COLLEGIAN Rusty Dandridge of Bacone College works to stay on a horse during the bareback competition at the 2006 K-State rodeo at Weber Arena.

Annual rodeo to feature 15 schools

Team members hope to qualify for national competition

By Kristin Hodges KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Calf-roping, barrel racing, bull riding and other rodeo events will be featured entertainment at Weber Arena this weekend for K-State's College Rodeo.

Matt McKinstry, K-State rodeo coach, said 15 teams will compete at the annual K-State rodeo.

He said the teams are from community colleges and universities from the Central Plains region in Oklahoma and Kansas.

"We've made a few changes with how we're running things, but it's pretty much the same rodeo as the last 20 years, except different contestants," he said.

McKinstry said the rodeo begins at 7:30 p.m. Friday, and will continue at 1 and 7:30 p.m. Saturday and 1 p.m. Sunday at Weber Arena. He said adult tickets $10 in advance at specific locations or $11 at the event, and children's tickets are $5 in advance or $6 at the event.

The tickets can be purchased in advance at RB Outpost, Orscheln Farm and Home, the K-State Union Bookstore, Varney's Bookstore and Vanderbilts.

Russell Gottlob, K-State rodeo team adviser, said the other rodeo events include team roping, breakaway roping, steer wrestling, saddle bronc riding, bareback riding and goat-tying.

"Something kind of unique about K-State's rodeo is that it's the first collegiate rodeo for the spring semester," he said.

Gottlob said K-State's team competed in several rodeos last semester, and the team hopes to qualify some of its members for the College National Finals Rodeo like it has in the past.

One thing that is different for the rodeo this year is the variety of national anthem singers, he said.

Gottlob said one of the singers is the mother of a former team member who was killed in a rodeo accident. The K-State Singers and a local country musician also will sing the anthem.

He said a dance will follow the rodeo Friday and Saturday evenings at R.C. McGraw's.

Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN

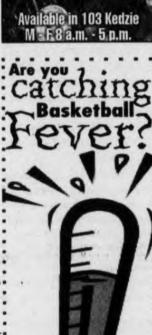

Brooke Inlow, Colby Community College rider, races to tie a goat during the final round of last year's K-State rodeo.

Campus Phone Books

Buy A Book WORTH ITS PRICE

in Kedzie 103 NOW 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri.

Cure it!
Follow your new
Kansas State
Wildcats and your Champion Lady Cats In the Tipoff Section!

Car Clinic

Don't Horse Around with Car Repairs

Car Clinic, Inc for Car maintenance and service.

To know more, call 539-1040.

209 Sarber Lane

kstatecollegian.com

Alorica INC.

FLEXIBLE SCHEDULES FUN ENVIRONMENT FANTASTIC WAGES

GAIN WORK EXPERIENCE BUILD YOUR RESUME START YOUR CAREER

NOW HIRING

www.aloricajobs.com

5970 SYKES BLVD MANHATTAN, KS 66502

PH: (785) 564-4413

Forensics student earns spot in national competition

By Kristen Roderick KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Julia Debes decided to use the military's Survivor Benefits Plan as the subject of a persuasive speech.

Debes, senior in agricultural communications and journalism, was a new military wife at the time and said she knew the plan was flawed.

Little did she know her knowledge of those flaws would land her a spot in the oldest national forensics tournament in the country.

"Being able to pull my concerns about my future and have it being recognized as one of the best speeches in Kansas, I shake when I get done with it," Debes said. "Seeing it get rewarded is amazing."

Debes is one of two students in Kansas who won the honor of attending the Interstate Oratory Association National Tournament, April 26-28 in Santa Fe, N.M. Jessy Ohl, junior in political science, who placed second at the tournament last year, also will attend.

Debes said she was honored to join the number of students who have made it to the tournament.

"I am incredibly excited to qualify," she said. "The previous people who have gone to K-State have been people that I really, really respect and thought were the best representation of K-State. To be included in those ranks makes me feel proud of what I've accomplished. It's the cherry on top of my career that I get to go my senior year.'

The beginning of the year wasn't so sweet, Debes said. There was skepticism regarding this year's team after three seniors graduated.

"A lot of people were worried that we wouldn't be a good team," she said. "We have surpassed expectations. We have made up all of the ground we lost."

The Speech Unlimited forensics team finished first last weekend at the Kansas Association State Individual Events Tournament Feb. 17-18 in Hutchinson, Kan.

K-State students won four individual events. Keenan Ramos, senior in theater, won prose interpretation, and Clare Feeley, sophomore in speech, won communication analysis. Debes also won persuasion and after-dinner speaking.

The goal for this weekend's tournament in Manhattan is for team members to qualify for nationals, said Bobby Imbody, forensics coach.

"This is the time where people from different teams are trying to get qualified," he said. "We're running everything we've got left of stuff that isn't qualified."

Right now 44 members have qualified for the national tournament, said Craig Brown, director of Speech Unlimited.

The students can use the next two tournaments to qual-

"If things go well this weekend, we could reasonably qualify another seven or eight entries for nationals," Brown

Students' support is one aspect that possibly could help the team qualify this weekend, Imbody said. He said he encourages students to support the team in the main auditorium at Bluemont Hall this weekend.

National tournaments are a tradition for Speech Unlimited, and K-State has finished no lower than 12th in the country since 1993, Imbody

"We're hoping to finish out and have a strong showing at nationals," Imbody said. "Hopefully we can move up from last year."

Last year the team finished sixth at nationals.

"Our program has always been pretty good," Brown said. "The thing that has really made the difference is the support the college has given us through the years."

Upcoming Forensics Tournaments

Feb. 24-25

The Kevin Heinemann Memorial Swing, Hastings College/K-State,

March 2-3

AFA-NIET District III Qualifying Tournament, Norman, Okla.

April 7-9

American Forensics Association-National Individual Events Tournament, Minnesota State University-Mankato, Mankato,

- www.ksu.edu/forensics

K-State opens recruiting offices abroad

By Allison Voris KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Students in other countries now will have better opportunities to see what K-State has to offer.

In the past five months, K-State opened recruiting offices in Beijing and Turkey, and there are plans for two other international offices.

"We're interested in getting students from all over the world," said Jim Lewis, director of international preadmissions and recruiting. "The world is a big market, but you need to focus on specific markets to begin with."

The office in Beijing has shown success since its November opening. Staff members of the office attend recruitment fairs in China, which saves K-State the travel costs of sending a representative from Kansas. The office staff also created a K-State Web site and made informational handouts printed in Chinese, Lewis said.

"Now, students in China can go to a fair and get a local phone number they can call for information," Lewis said. "I'm very pleased because I think the office is doing a good job of getting information to potential students and their parents."

The recruitment office in Turkey opened earlier this month and also is expected to be successful, Lewis said.

The opening of these offices is part of a two-year plan for K-State to expand its international enrollment. There also are plans to open an office in New Delhi, India, sometime this year, said Kenneth Holland, associate provost for international pro-

Much of K-State's effort to increase enrollment from foreign countries was modeled after universities in Australia, which have used this type of program for almost 10 years, Holland said.

"It's been very successful for them because the economies of those regions of the world are growing very rapidly, and more people can afford studying abroad," Holland said.

In addition to booming economies, the placement of recruitment offices is based on the amount of students in each region.

Areas like China have more students than seats in universities, Lewis said

Overcrowding is not a problem in the United States, which could be a reason international students are attracted to the idea of studying here, Holland said.

"The population of the U.S. isn't growing that fast," he said. "We have a lot of seats and spaces in our universities. Also, higher education in the U.S. is considered the best in the world."

International students not only bring financial benefits to K-State, but also bring opportunities for students to learn about other cultures, said Beth Unger, vice provost for academic services and technology.

"When it boils down to it, the international students we will recruit here will provide excellent opportunities for our current students," Unger

Conservationist to speak at City Hall

By Willow Williamson KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A biologist for the federal government will speak about working to preserve Kansas wildlife Monday evening.

Michele McNulty, biologist with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, will deliver a presentation, "Kansas Conservation Efforts through the Fish and Wildlife Service," at 7 p.m. Monday in City Hall. It will follow the annual meeting of Friends of Sunset Zoo, which starts at 6:30 p.m.

This presentation is one of a series that Sunset Zoological Park gives every winter, said Rachel Soash, curator of education at the zoo.

Soash said the goal is to "inform people on what's going on in their backyards."

She said McNulty's presentation will cover issues like the reintroduction of the black-footed ferret in western Kansas, and the monitoring program for bald eagles in this state, especially around Milford Lake. She will also cover broader conservation issues such as energy development and its impact on wildlife, Soash said.

McNulty graduated from K-State in 1990 with a degree in parks and natural resource management and has worked for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Natural Resource Conservation Service.

Soash said members of Friends of the Sunset Zoo try to bring in presenters that focus both on local and national conservation issues.

Students can join Friends of the Sunset Zoo by paying $30, Soash said. Members receive free admission to the zoo, free or discounted entry to more than 150 other accredited zoos across the nation and admission to "members only" events, she said.

Soldier gets 100 years in prison for rape, killing of Iraqi girl

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky. - A military judge sentenced a U.S. soldier to 100 years in prison Thursday for the gang rape and murder of an Iraqi girl and the killing of her family last year.

The judge also gave Sgt. Paul E. Cortez, 24, a dishonorable discharge. He will be eligible for parole in 10 years.

Cortez, of Barstow, Calif., pleaded guilty this week to four counts of felony murder, rape and conspiracy to rape in a case considered by many to be among the worst atrocities by U.S. military personnel in Iraq.

In his plea agreement, Cortez said he conspired with three other soldiers from the Fort Campbell-based 101st Airborne Division to rape 14-year-old Abeer Qassim al-Janabi. The men killed the girl, her parents and her younger sister.

Early yesterday, tears rolled He said he could not explain why he took part.

"I still don't have an answer," Cortez told the judge. "I don't know why. I wish I hadn't. The lives of four innocent people were taken. I want to apologize for all of the pain and suffering I have caused the al-Janabi fam-

The military judge hearing the case, Col. Stephen R. Henley, issued a sentence of life in prison without parole, the maximum for the charges. Under military law, the defendant must be given the lesser sentence unless he violates terms of the plea agreement, which requires Cortez to testify against others charged in the case.

Psychologist Charles Figley testified Cortez and others suffered stress brought on by fatigue and trauma.

"It eats you up," Figley said.

Five soldiers who served with Cortez in Iraq testified that his actions were out of character and described the hardships of war including sleep deprivation and the lack of running water.

"I just never would have seen it coming," said Staff Sgt. Tim Briggs, who has known Cortez for five years and served with Prosecutors said the stress was no excuse for the actions of Cortez and the other soldiers from the 101st Airborne Divi-

On Wednesday, Cortez described raping the girl in her family's home in Mahmoudiya last March, along with Spc. James Barker, 24. Barker pleaded guilty in November to rape and murder and was sentenced to 90 years in military prison.

Barker has said in a sworn down Cortez's face as he apolo- "It's a horrible thing. This is not statement the soldiers drank gized for the rape and murders. unique. We've seen this in other whiskey and played cards while plotting the assault.

> Cortez said this week former private Steven D. Green raped the girl before he did. Then Green shot her father, mother and sister before shooting the teen in the head, Cortez said. He also testified the soldiers > tried to burn the girl's body. They burned their own clothes and threw the murder weapon, an AK-47, into a canal in an effort to dispose of the evidence.

> A jury found Cortez not guilty of more serious charges of premeditated murder and conspiracy to commit.

Pfcs. Jesse Spielman, 22, and Bryan Howard, 19, await courts-martial. Green, who is accused of being the ringleader but was discharged from the military before being charged, will be prosecuted in a federal court in Kentucky.

NOW LEASING FOR FALL 2007

Check out our model showings now!

With 900 apartments in the Manhattan area, we can find a place for you!

BEDROOMS 1119 Laramie #5

Mon, Wed, Thurs 5:30-7:00 5:00-7:00

> 1722 Laramie #9 Mon 10:00-12:00 4:00-6:00 12:00-2:00 Thurs 11:30-1:00

1941 College Heights #4 Mon-Thurs 3:00-5:00

1854 Claflin #14 Mon, Wed, Fri 2:00-4:00 4:00-6:00 Tues, Thurs 2:00-4:00

 Wareham - 418 Poyntz #603 3:00-5:30 Fri 1:30 - 5:00 10:00-2:00

Aggie Village - 1215 Laramie Mon-Fri 1:00-5:00 10:00-2:00 925 Denison #4

1803-1807 College Heights View at 925 Denison #4 Mon, Wed, Fri 6:00-8:00pm Tues, Thurs 5:00-7:00 12:00-2:00

Royal Towers 1700 N. Manhattan #203 Mon, Wed, Fri 1:00-3:00 Tues, Thurs Sat 12:00-2:00

BEDROOMS 1026 Osage #22 4:30-6:30 Thurs 3:30-5:30

2:00-4:00 1524 McCain #8 Mon, Wed, Fri 5:00-7:00 Tues, Thurs 4:00-6:00

12:30-2:30

Fri

12:00-2:00 1419 Leavenworth #2

5:30-7:30 12:00-2:00

BEDROOMS

1611 Laramie #2 Mon, Wed, Fri 8:00-11:00am 3:30-6:00 Tues, Thurs 2:00-5:00

BEDROOMS

Royal Towers 1700 N. Manhattan #402 2:00-4:00

12:00-2:00

STUDIOS

Wareham 418 Poyntz #316 Mon, Wed, Frl 12:00-4:00 1:00-3:00

785.776.3804 mdiproperties.com Saturday Office Hours: 10am-2pm

ACCULLOUGH DEVELOPMENT

Collegian Advertising 118 Kedzie 785-532-6560

Two ways to get a ride home!

(Calling for cab from Aggieville not necessary)

 Aggieville Pick-up Station at the 12th & Bluemont Willie's Car Wash

Call 539-0480 if not in the Aggieville area

Every Weekend! Thursday, Friday, and Saturday 11pm - 3am

A free service provided by the K-State SGA.

15:42

i n

UFM to begin new courses on playing poker, ukeleles

By Hannah Blick KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

This spring, the UFM Community Learning Center will offer credit and noncredit courses from all areas of interest. The center added several new spring courses this semester, said Marcia Hornung, UFM education coordinator.

Though many opt to take one of the more popular classes, like community CPR and first aid or ballroom dancing, students also can choose from a few, slightly obscure upcoming sessions designed to improve lives and add some distinction to the daily routine of college, Hornung said.

UFM classes can help people fill an extra credit hour for their transcripts or just spend a few hours bonding with a roommate. Course descriptions, as well as date, location and cost information, are available on the UFM Web site, www.k-state.edu/ufm.

"All K-state students should take a look at the Web site and find one that fits their interests," Hornung said.

The following list contains just a few of the classes the center offers this semester.

CLUTTER CLEARING

7 to 9 p.m. Mondays April 9 through April 23 $35

Description: In this class, students will examine the energetics of clutter and discuss ideas that empower them to let go of their excess baggage.

According to the site, "clutter holds us in the past, preventing us from living fully." A variety of organizing strategies and principles of feng shui will be utilized, and homework assignments will be important to the learning process. Students are advised to "come prepared to liberate (themselves)," and recognize that "clearing our environment is a dynamic tool for change."

POKER: TEXAS HOLD'EM FOR BEGINNERS

7 to 8:30 p.m. Tuesdays April 24

Description: For students tired of losing money to friends in late-night poker matches, UFM offers a little-known secret called "Texas Hold 'Em for Beginners." Students enrolled in the class can critique their betting and playing strategies and 'table' manners. Bring a friend, but leave the stogie, sunglasses and visor at home. After all, "luck will get you so far, but skill will get you farther."

EMOTIONAL EATING

6:30 to 8 p.m. Wednesdays April 11 through April 25 $39 Description: For people who spent an hour trying to park on campus, failed an economy test, went home to find the dog tearing up the sofa or any other stressful activity, UFM might have a solution.

This course is designed for anyone who wishes to deal with their food issues without dieting. According to the UFM Web site, "diets are about restricting and policing one's self, and furthering mistrust of our ability to make nurturing choices." Students enrolled will be "examining and reinterpreting their thoughts and attitudes about eating and eating behaviors."

CAR BUYING 101

6:30 to 7:30 p.m. Thursdays April 19 $12

Description: Many college students deal with the pressures of real-world car shopping, which can be time-consuming and complicated.

This seminar "takes participants step-by-step through every phase of a vehicle purchase, providing information on conducting research on vehicles, buying a new or used vehicle, trading in a vehicle versus selling it privately, and full explanations of how to save the most money in financing your purchase."

UKELELE NIGHT

6:30 to 8 p.m. Wednesdays April 25

Description: There will be opportunities not only to play a ukelele, but also to watch a professional demonstrate their abilities. According to the UFM Web site, students will "learn strums and chords for Tin Pan Alley and Roaring '20s-style songs in the key of C."

Students who own his or her own ukelele are encouraged to bring them, however, there also will be five loaner ukeleles available for use.

DIGITAL SCRAP-BOOKING FOR THE 21ST CENTURY

7 to 9 p.m. April 27

Description: This one-night course will show students how to "organize, enhance, and store your digital photos from a digital camera, CD, or scanner onto a laptop."

From there, entrants in the class will use their photos to create a hard-bound 20-or-more-page storybook. According to the site, "the software is specially created for the album maker who loves to take pictures."

Students are encouraged to bring their laptops to learn how to send and receive pictures via wireless Internet, but laptops are not required to take the class.

Boys & Girls Club of Manhattan to raise funds with community casino night, auction

By Elise Podhajsky

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIÁN

Members of a local youth organization are planning to raise money this weekend with a little harmless gambling.

The Boys & Girls Club of Manhattan will be host to its eighth-annual Casino Night and Auction from 7 to 11 p.m. Saturday in the Houston Street Ballroom, 427 Houston St.

The event is a fundraiser that executive director Joyce Glasscock said provides a significant portion of operating funds to run the program.

Glasscock said the night consists of casino-style games like blackjack, craps, roulette and slot machines. She said anyone 21 and older can attend, but there is an entry fee of $45.

Glasscock said players will receive a voucher at the door, which they use as "money" for the games.

Each time a player wins, he or she qualifies for an additional chance at winning a prize from the drawing at the end of the night.

The prizes include a oneweek stay at Cabo San Lucas, Mexico, a basketball signed by K-State men's basketball coach Bob Huggins, tickets to K-State sports events and a full set of tools, Glasscock said.

In addition to the drawing.

she said there will be live and silent auctions, a Texas Hold 'Em tournament, dancing and a disc jockey.

"There's just so much going on," Glasscock said. "It's not a static event – there's something for everyone."

The Casino Night and Auction theme is Mardi Gras, and a K-State student designed most of the materials, Glasscock said.

Deanna Bauman, senior in fine arts, said she won the opportunity through her Matrix Business Practices class.

Bauman said the instructor, Tom Bookwalter, brings in four clients to his design class each semester, whom students compete to work with. The clients choose which student's designs they like best and have the individual students work on one of their projects.

The Boys and Girls Club of Manhattan was one of the clients for Bauman's class. She said members of the organization wanted a student to create the design for various materials for Casino Night.

"I designed a poster, flyer, program cover, invitation, RSVP, the save-the-date and the ticket to the event," Bauman said. "(The Boys and Girls Club members) were really easy to get along with and really, really nice."

Program Development Director Casey Kimmel said it was difficult to decide which design to use, but in the end the club's board of directors chose Bauman's. Kimmel said every year Casino Night breaks its record for money raised. The event netted $40,000 last year and she said she is hoping for $45,000.

"I think that people come because they enjoy the organization and they believe in the mission," Kimmel said.

Cleric at center of alleged CIA kidnapping case says he was tortured in Egyptian prison

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt –
An Egyptian cleric, speaking publicly for the first time, said Thursday Egyptian officials tortured him in prison after he was kidnapped in Italy – allegedly by CIA agents – and sent here for interrogation.
The claims by Osama

Hassan Mustafa Nasr sharpened the controversy over the CIA's "extraordinary rendition" program, just days after Italy indicted 26 Americans and five Italian agents case is the first criminal trial connected to the rendition policy, in which U.S. agents secretly transferred terror suspects for interrogation to third countries where critics say they faced torture.

Italy has signaled it won't accused of seizing him. The seek the extradition of the 25 CIA agents and one U.S. Air Force lieutenant colonel. However, it will likely try them in absentia. From the outset, U.S. officials have declined comment on the case.

CHECK LOCAL LISTINGS FOR THEATRES AND SHOWTIMES

MOBILE USERS: FOR SHOWTIMES - TEXT RENO WITH YOUR ZIP CODE TO 43KIX (43549)!

PEOPLE IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD

Jenna Kennedy, senior in microbiology, has a full schedule with classes extracurricular activities.

> Joslyn Brown COLLEGIAN

Truman finalist stays busy with clubs

By Mike Kelly KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

For some students, one extracurricular activity is all it takes to whet the appetite for experience and service.

However, some students dedicate nearly every waking hour to a plethora of organizations, clubs and societies. Jenna Kennedy is one of those students.

A native of Hoxie, Kan., Kennedy, senior in microbiology, graduated from Wheatland High School and came to K-State on what she calls a relatively late decision. Yet, Kennedy said she has loved her time as a Wildcat and is glad to be a part of the K-State community.

Kennedy recently was named K-State's finalist for the Harry S. Truman scholarship, which provides funding for college juniors who are pursuing graduate degrees in public service. With her intellectual fortitude, a world of opportunity is available at Kennedy's hands.

Q: Why do you choose to be so involved?

A: There's a lot of things on campus that mean a lot to me. I love what I do, and that's why I stay so busy.

Like today, I'm going to work in my immunology lab in Chalmers, and I'm getting to do some really cool things in there for a project I am working on.

After class, I'm going to the Flint Hills Community Clinic, which is a clinic downtown that provides care for people without medical or health insurance.

After that, I help lead a Bible study at St. Isidore's. It's kind of crazy, but I love it.

Q: What organizations do you serve?

A: Well, we just finished up the PROUD campaign, and I was really involved with that as cochair of the advisory board. Another thing I am involved with is my sorority. I hang out there a lot and I love it. I've been on exec (executive board), and now I'm involved with recruitment.

I'm involved with Chimes Junior Honorary, and I'm the president of that organization, which is focused a lot on service. I'm involved with Rotaract, kind of a rotary for college students. I think it's fun because we have cool guest speakers, and I feel like I can increase my global perspective, which is why I'm here. It's the other part of my college education. There's the knowledge side and the side that I'm trying to build so that I can go into the field that I want to.

Q: What field do you want to go into?

A: I want to be a physician in tropical medicine, learning about other countries and cultures and ways of the world.

Definitely based on service. I have a lot of options at this point because there's so many organizations that I could go through. So it's really hard for me to say, 'This is the one I want to work for,' but they're all doing great work, and a lot of them are specific to my interest in malaria.

Q: What graduate school(s) are you interested in attending?

A: I'm looking at two schools with programs in tropical medicine that have a public health component. One is Emory and the other is Tulane.

As a part of studying, the two degrees I hope to have are a (master's in public health) and an M.D. to be a physician. The programs where I can combine the degrees and cut some time off is what I'm looking at.

Q: Is there any particular place you'd like to visit?

A: Not anything more specific than Africa. I think that I'm fascinated by all of the different parasites and diseases that occur there just by virtue of the climate, geography and landscape.

Q: Is there one particular memory at K-State that sticks out to you?

A: Most recently, just seeing everyone in black at the big game last Monday. It was really cool to see how students would unite around that cause.

It was great since we had been so involved in the PROUD campaign, to see everyone expressing their support and coming out to support the team.

Web site showcases Manhattan bar scene

By Eric Brown KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

For K-State students who want to keep up to date on Aggieville activity, the Manhattan nightlife or any other useful college-life tidbits, a new information outlet might be helpful.

Today marks the introduction of www.theprebar.com to the K-State community.

Mike Kelly, junior in electronic journalism and marketing intern for the Web site, said theprebar.com serves as a one-stop source for all of the information about college bar scenes, including recipes, coupons, specials, photos, stories and everything in between.

"We want to use this Web site to promote everything that's going on in Aggieville and the other bars in Manhattan," Kelly said. "We plan for this to be a good combination of information and entertainment."

The Web site is a branch of OneCityMedia, which also produces The Collegiate magazine and gocollegiate.com.

The Web site started about one year ago in Madison, Wisc., and covered about 30 cities.

According to the site's CEO and director, Aaron Hutchins, theprebar.com quickly became popular, with nearly 120,000 hits in its first two months.

"It was too big for us to handle," Hutchins said. "So we revamped the Web site to what it is today, letting students from different colleges update their own Web pages about what's going on around their bar scene."

With the updated system,

Manhattan is one of 17 college towns that were selected to have their own Web page at theprebar.com.

"The Aggieville district really drew us to Manhattan," Hutchins said. "We've heard nothing but good things about Aggieville from people who have had the experience. And Aggieville has enough bars in its area to where a source of information would be necessary to keep students up to date on all the activity."

Eric Davis, junior in psychology and marketing intern for theprebar.com, said he predicts the site will be a success in Manhattan.

"There's no reason it shouldn't work," Davis said. "It's worked very well in Madison and other places, and I think we definitely have the opportunity to provide the students with something they will enjoy and something that will also be useful."

Hutchins also noted theprebar.com is focused mainly on college towns in the Midwest.

Along with K-State, the Web site also includes universities like the University of Kansas in Lawrence and the University of Missouri in Columbia, Mo.

To celebrate the new Web site, Tanks Tavern will host a launch party Saturday evening.

Hutchins said the event will feature good times, drink specials and more information about the new collegelife media outlet.

"The main goal here is for everyone to come out, have a blast, and let Mike (Kelly) and Eric (Davis) get the word out about the Web site," Hutchins said.

THANK YOU!

Your support of the K-State Proud Student Campaign raised

$62,572

for Student Opportunity Awards at K-State

Paid for by sponsors of the K-State Proud Student Campaign

CONGRATULATIONS DRAWING PRIZE WINNERS:

Amber Larson:

2 courtside seats for the K-State/Oklahoma basketball game (north baseline)

Jennifer Phillips:

4 passes to Colbert Hills

Amelia Arperin: Autographed football

Traci King:

Autographed basketball

William David Rittgers:

Coach Snyder limited edition autographed commemorative ticket for Game 1 in Bill Snyder Family Stadium

Mohammad Al Yami:

K-State class ring

Meghan Newman:

Tailgate gift basket

Rebecca Bush:

2 Country Stampede passes

Prizes sponsored by K-State Athletics, K-State Alumni Association, KSU Foundation and Country Stampede

SPOUSE | Wife offers advice for soon-to-be military

continued from page 1

spouse and not a soldier anymore," she said. "So there wasn't really that break-in period of getting used to the fhilitary, since I was already an it."

Johnston said it can be difficult for spouses who are new to the military. She said the spouse should be prepared for 'military language.

"You realize that your Spouse is speaking in what you determine to be code," Johnston said. "Very few sentences are ever put together that don't include either acronyms or abbreviations."

A spouse's time away is what Johnston said can be the most difficult facet of a military relationship. When asked the hardest part of being married to a soldier, tears filled Johnston's eyes. Her husband will be deploying to Iraq for his second tour of duty.

"You'd think I'd be used to it by now," she said. "But you never are."

Johnston said the best parts of military life come from the people you meet and the friendships formed.

"The military family that you make can sometimes hold a stronger bond than your own family," Johnston said. "And a lot of that is due to what you go through."

She said every wife should realize many families are in the same situation and should take advantage of knowing they support one another.

Johnston offered advice to spouses preparing for the military lifestyle. She said people should be involved, not just with events in the military, but with other interests and hobbies outside of the military, like a job or school.

"I've always worked the entire time we've been married," Johnston said. "And that has just been a lifesaver, having something that takes you out of the house instead of sitting around saying to yourself, 'I wish he were here."

SENATE | Resolution requires majority vote

continued from page 1

as drafted in the University Relations Committee's proposal, said Steve Levin, manager of the K-State Student Union Bookstore, in a Collegian article Thursday.

University Relations Committee members have worked since September 2006 in drafting their online textbook-listing proposal.

"We know that what we've created can be modified and changed, but at the same time, we support what the committee is doing," said Melissa Hildebrand, University Relations Committee chair and senior in agricultural communications and journalism. "We support the issue, and we want to keep pressure on where pressure needs to

To reach the Senate level again, a majority of University Relations Committee members must vote the resolution out of committee. Their vote could include a recommendation to reject or approve the resolution or no recommendation.

If the resolution passes the Senate level, Senate members will speak with upper administration and Faculty Senate members to modify the proposal as needed, Hildebrand said in a Collegian article Thursday.

If the resolution does not pass, Hildebrand said she is confident it will remain a prominent issue among stu-

Democrats drafting plan to take authority from Bush

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON - Four years ago, Congress passed leg-'fslation authorizing President "Bush to go to war in Iraq. Now Senate Democrats want to take

Key lawmakers, backed by party leaders, are drafting legislation that would effectively revoke the broad authority granted to the president in the days Saddam Hussein was in power, and leave U.S. troops with a limited mission as they prepare to withdraw.

Officials said Thursday the precise wording of the measure 'remains unsettled. One version Would restrict American troops in Iraq to fighting al-Qaida, training Iraqi army and police forces, maintaining Iraq's territorial integrity and otherwise proceeding with the withdrawal of combat forces.

Majority Leader Harry Reid, proposal to fellow Democrats ext week, and he is expected to Try to add the measure to antiterrorism legislation scheduled to be debated later this month. Officials who described the Strategy spoke only on condiion of anonymity, noting that Tank-and-file senators had not et been briefed on the details. Republicans recently thwarted two Democratic attempts to pass a nonbinding measure through the Senate that was critical of Bush's decision to deploy an additional 21,500 combat troops.

After failing on his second attempt last Saturday, Reid said he would turn his attention to passing binding legislation.

Jim Manley, a spokesman for Reid, declined to discuss the deliberations, saying only, "No final decisions have been made on how to proceed."

Any attempt to limit Bush's powers as commander in chief would likely face strong opposition from Republican allies of the administration in the Senate. Additionally, unlike earlier, nonbinding measures, the legislation now under consideration could also face a veto threat.

Still, it marks a quickening of the challenge Democrats are mounting to Bush's war policies following midterm elections in which war-weary voters swept Republicans from power in both the House and Senate.

The emerging Senate plan differs markedly from an approach favored by critics of the war in the House, where a nonbinding measure passed last

House Speaker Nancy Pelosi has said she expects the next challenge to Bush's war policies to come in the form of legislation requiring the Pentagon to adhere to strict training and readiness standards in the case of troops ticketed for the war

Rep. John Murtha, D-Pa., the leading advocate of that approach, has said it would effectively deny Bush the ability to proceed with the troop buildup that has been partially implemented since he announced it in January.

Some Senate Democrats have been privately critical of that approach, saying it would have virtually no chance of passing and could easily backfire politically in the face of Republican arguments that it would deny reinforcements to troops already in the war zone.

Several Senate Democrats have called in recent days for revoking the original authorization that Bush sought and won from Congress in the months before the U.S.-led invasion that toppled Saddam Hussein.

That measure authorized the president to use the armed forces "as he determines to be necessary and appropriate ... to defend the national security of the United States against the continuing threat posed by Iraq and to enforce relevant United Nations Security Council reso-

SHOW | Production poses challenges, 1 of crew says

continued from page 1

will be featuring the English department."

The production crew is composed of eight students and 12 employees of the Educational Communications

Brandon Cummins, senior in electronic journalism, works on the set performing a variety of jobs. Cummins said technical aspects like running the video switcher were the biggest challenges.

"I ran camera for our first training session, and last week I recorded and ran tapes," Cummins said. "So far, everything is so new for me that it's challenging. It really interests me because this is what I plan on going into."

"Show K-State" is shown on KST8 and Cox Cable Channel 8. The show is available to Cox Cable subscribers in the Manhattan, Ogden and Junction City areas.

Obama, Clinton rivally flares up over campaign contributor

THE ASSOICATED PRESS

WASHINGTON - The rival presidential campaigns of Hillary Rodham Clinton and Barack Obama traded accusations of nasty politics Wednesday over Hollywood donor David Geffen, who once backed Bill Clinton but now supports his wife's top rival.

The Clinton campaign demanded that Obama denounce comments made by the DreamWorks movie studio founder, who told New York Times columnist Maureen Dowd in Wednesday's editions that while "everybody in politics lies," the former president and his wife "do it with such ease, it's troubling."

The Clinton camp also called on Obama to give back Geffen's $2,300 contributton. in Iowa, Campaigning

Obama refused. "It's not clear to me why

I'd be apologizing for someone else's remark," the Illinois senator said.

For her part, New York Sen. Clinton sidestepped questions, leaving the issue to her aides to discuss.

"I'm just going to stay focused on my campaign and I'm going to run a positive campaign about the issues that affect the people in our country," she told The Associated Press in an interview in Nevada. She was participating a candidate forum in Carson City.

The Clinton team seemed eager to continue the attack. With Obama in Iowa, aides arranged for former Iowa attorney general Bonnie Campbell to criticize him in a conference call with re-

In the newspaper interview, Geffen also said Bill Clinton is "a reckless guy" and he does not think Hillary Clinton can bring the country together during a time of war, no matter how smart or ambitious she is.

Obama spokesman Robert Gibbs added another criticism of Clinton.

"It is also ironic that Senator Clinton lavished praise on Monday and is fully willing to accept today the support of South Carolina state Sen. Robert Ford, who said if Barack Obama were to win the nomination, he would drag down the rest of the Democratic Party because 'he's black," Gibbs' statement said.

Ford later apologized. The Clinton campaign said it disagreed with Ford, but the senator has embraced his support.

Another Democratic presidential candidate, New Mexico Gov. Bill Richardson, said at the candidate forum that Obama should denounce Geffen's comments "We Democrats should all sign a pledge that we all be positive," Richardson said.

United States to relax rules for children travelling overseas; critis say rules discourage tourism

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON - U.S. hildren will not need pass-WASHINGTON - U.S. orts to come into the country by land or sea, the Homeland Security Department an-Sounced Thursday.

The decision was praised y tourism groups and Cana-lian government officials who ad fought the requirement. Under new passport rules

That could take effect as early s January 2008, all adults -Including U.S. citizens - will e required to show passports o cross the nation's borders.

We can print from your

Zip Disk. CD-Rom. or

But the government reversed a decision requiring children to have passports as well.

Forcing families to buy passports for their children, at a cost of $82 each, was "one of the items most onerous" about the new passport rules, said Luke Rich of the Buffalo Niagara Partnership, a regional chamber of commerce group. "This is an important step. It's good to see the administration's listening."

Homeland Security Secretary Michael Chertoff said the change was "specifically designed to make it cheaper for

The decision means that children age 15 or younger who are U.S. or Canadian citizens and have parental consent will be able to enter the USA with just a birth certifi-

Children ages 16 to 18 also will be allowed to cross with birth certificates if they are part of an adult-supervised school, religious, cultural or athletic group, according to Homeland Security.

Sen. Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., praised the department for changing the rule and "recognizing the low security risk of borders. travel by children."

There will be no change to the new rules for those who fly. Everyone coming into the USA by plane, no matter the age, must show a passport under a portion of the passport rules that took effect Jan. 23.

The passport rules affecting those entering the USA from Canada, Mexico, Bermuda, the Caribbean, and Central and South America have been controversial since they were announced in 2005 as part of a post-9/11 effort to tighten security along the nation's Critics said the rules would be too costly for families, would discourage cross-border travel and tourism and would damage the economy in border communities.

That criticism softened Thursday. "We are very pleased" with the exemption for children, said Melisa Leclerc, spokeswoman for Canadian Public Safety Minister Stockwell Day. "We want to ensure there will still be a smooth flow of legitimate trade and travel on the bor-

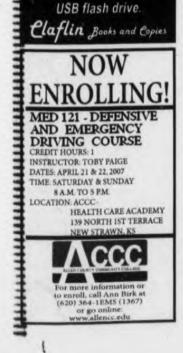

The Homeland Security and State departments are working on other modifications to the rules, including developing a border-crossing high-tech card that would be less expensive and easier to obtain than a passport. The new ID would be called a Passport Card.

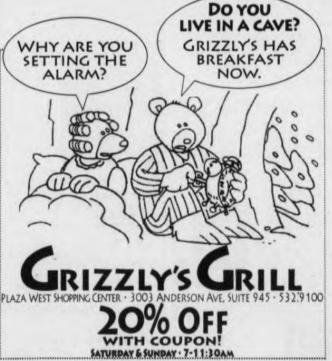

Agents must now examine hundreds of variations of driver's licenses and birth certificates, which are often easy to fake and don't prove national-

About 12 million Americans were issued passports in the last fiscal year.

Campus Phone Books

Buy A Book WORTH ITS PRICE  on sale NOW in Kedzie 103 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri.

MANHATTAN

Evolution flip-flops make Kansans 'look like bunch of idiots'

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA, Kan. - Lisa Volland and her biology classroom at Topeka West High School are in the center of a political debate that's left Kansas with five sets of science standards for its public schools in eight vears

Each time, changes in the guidelines have focused on evolution and resulted from a shift in power among political factions on the State Board of Education. They've made Kansas the target of late-night jokes and international scorn by adopting standards skeptical of evolution, but earlier this month, a new board majority switched back to evolutionfriendly guidelines.

But educators and parents believe how Volland and her fellow teachers respond is what counts, regardless of what the standards say. The board's back-and-forth has raised questions about whether the "policy churn" will result in burnout or self-censorship by teachers.

Volland hasn't changed lessons conveying evolution is well-supported by evidence and central to understanding her subject. But she acknowledged being sensitive to what people think outside her classroom.

"I am not trying to make science the villain," said Volland, who supports the latest standards. "I know that you have to handle some things with kid

And one thing is sure: The ongoing conflict has undercut the board's credibility among teachers, parents and even students like Courtney Mitchell, a 17-year-old junior in Volland's advanced-placement biology

"It's like a really bad teenage relationship," she said. "Two people get together, they break up, they get back together

Science guidelines came up for review in 1999 and 2005, when conservative Republicans controlled the board. But moderate Republicans won key elections in 2000 and 2006, giving a majority to a coalition of Democrats and moderate Republicans.

The result: evolution-friendly standards through 1998; standards deleting most references to the theory in 1999; evolution-friendly ones again in 2001; standards incorporating criticisms of evolution cribbed from "intelligent design" advocates in November 2005; and the latest, evolution-friendly

And, the board must review the latest standards again by

"This back-and-forth game they're playing with the kids in Kansas makes us look like bunch of idiots," said Mike Ford, who teaches astronomy and physical sciences at Holton High School, about 30 miles north of Topeka. "Just leave it

Decisions about what's taught are left to local boards of education, and the state standards are used to develop tests that measure how well students learn science.

Parties on both sides of the debate contend the standards could have influence as teachers try to ensure that students test well.

And the board's last antievolution turn led some students to worry that their applications to elite universities would get extra scrutiny, if not rejected. It didn't help that, only months before, the University of California, Berkeley made headlines for refusing to approve courses at a Christian school because its textbook challenged evolution.

But as Brenda Welburn, executive director of the National Association of State Boards of Education noted, "Everyone' says that when a teacher is in a classroom, when they close the door, what happens, happens."

So far, there's no indication that over the past eight years, teachers have altered what they've done in the classroom.

"I haven't changed anything that I've taught," Ford said.

Call 776-5577 CHUTTLE

Getting Married?

Announce your Big Day

no charge!

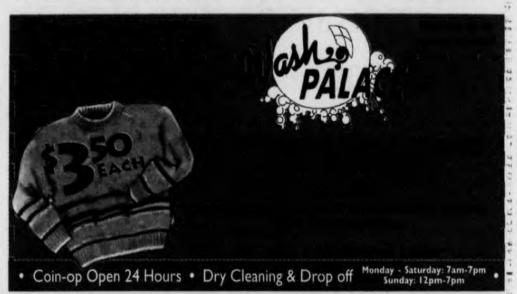

To place your free announcement, pick up a form in 103 Kedzie or request a form through e-mail at classifieds@spub.ksu.edu

Once In A Lifetime runs the first Friday of every month. Announcements must be submitted by noo two days prior

MCCULLOUGH DEVELOPMENT says

Don't move!

Stay with McCullough and save money, time and all the headaches of moving.

mdiproperties.com 785.776.3804

1420

New Apartment

110 Baths

Washer/Dryer

Energy Efficient

On a Wooded

Secluded 2 Acre Lot

with Creek

$740 & $885

NOW LEASING

Beechwood Terrace

Lg. 2 & 3 Bedrooms

CLASSIFI

Classifieds continue on the next page

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five air-Call 785-776-1744, www.

020-Lost and Found

be placed free for three

Lost and found ads can

Housing/Real Estate

Rent-Apt. Furnished

Manhattan CITY Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status. military status, disability religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

Need a Subleaser

Advertise 785-532-6555

Announcements

MANHATTAN CITY Ordi nance 4814 assures every person equal opportu-nity in housing without dis-tinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, tional origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of nan Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

1117 VATTIER. New all appliances furnished, no to campus 785-539-1975

ADJACENT TO campus. One-bedroom, central heat and air. All bills paid, except electricity. possession. $475. 785-532-8771 785-537-0460

ALLIANCE PROPERTY MANAGEMENT. One-bedroom. June, July, August. 785-539-4357. www.rentapm.com

AVAILABLE JUNE 1, one bedroom, large, clean Only pay electricity. Small pets allowed. Balcony location month. 785-341-7289.

NEW FOUR-BEDROOM. 928 Moro, laundry and all amenities, $1300, June o c c u p a n c y 785-539-4283 785-539-8401

ONE BEDROOM 624 Bluemont. Off street park ing, $350.00/month Available June 1. 308-882-6803

ONE TO two-bedroom apartment/ sublease avail able as soon as possible One block from Aggleville, two blocks from campus. month. Contact

ONE, TWO, four, five-bed room apartments/ for June and August leases. 785-564-0857.

ONE, TWO, three, and four-bedroom apartments. Close to campus and aggieville. Parking and laun-

ONE, TWO, three, four, ment/ houses next to cam-Washer/ dryer, cenair. No Pets. 785-537-7050.

ONE-BEDROOM APART-MENTS in quiet six-plex at 1811 Platt. Available June 1st. Unfurnished, central air, parking, water and trash paid. No pets. $375 per month. Call KSU Foundation 785-532-7569 785-532-7541.

PARK PLACE Apartments. One- Bedrooms. Summer/ fall leasing. Pets welcome. One- half mile and Claffin. 785-539-2951.

PLACE Apartments. Two- bedrooms Pets welcome. Summer Fall leasing. One- half mile from KSU at Seth Claflin.

785-539-2951. THREE AND four-bedroom apartments available in August. Close to campus. Water and trash

785-537-7810, THREE-BEDROOM NICE houses available west of No smoking, pets or parties. June or August leases. $855. 785-776-6318. Responsi-TWO AND three-bedroom

No pets.

lease.

785-341-5070.

TWO. THREE and four bedrooms, close to camcentral air, dishwasher, laundry facilities. No pets, available February 1. 785-539-0866.

TWO-BEDROOM apartment. Newly renovated two blocks to campus and Aggieville. Dishwasher, central air, laundry facility.

TWO-BEDROOM APART MENTS at 901 Moro, The Paragon, exceptional, all amenities. $810. June 1 occupancy or sooner. 7 8 5 - 5 3 9 - 4 2 8 3 785-539-8401

CIAL at Park Place Apartments. $495 rent plus free through July '07. 785-539-2951.

TWO-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus. sonal washer/ dryer, $645-$675/ 785-341-4496.

TWO-BEDROOM, many August, 785-341-0686.

TWO-BEDROOMS. ALL bills paid. 785-341-4496

VERY NICE three-bed-Three blocks to Aggieville. 822 Fremont. Affordable utilities August

WHY RENT WHEN YOU sale. Two and three-bed-room starting at $112,650. collegiatevilla.com 785-537-2096.

able June or August fourbedroom, two dryer room, $1400. Cable paid. 785-776-2425 785-565-3760

Pre-lease Today for Spring! Only A few homes remain

Washer/Drvers or hookups available On-Site Management · Garages Available Private Fitness Center Storm Center Peaceful Garden

Setting Enormous Closets

776-8080 www.GeorgetownApts.ne

Preleasing Spacious 1 & 2 Bedroom Apts

Few Spaces Remain for Graduate Students
 Upper Classmen

Quiet Park-Like Setting On-Site Laundry • Enormous Closets
• Private Fitness Center
• Abundant Parking/Garages
• Common Com Starm Cent

Customer Service

* Three-Time winner of the Multifamily CEL Award for the #1 in Customer Service in America! On Site Management Office Full-time Maintenance Personnel WESTCHESTER PARK

ADVERTISE

776-1118

Help Wanted Section

Spacious Duplexes Custom built with the K-State student

Each duplex features walk-in closets, all kitchen appliances, washer/dryer, off street parking, phone and cable connections in every room, security lighting, trash and lawn care

Security deposit is the same as one month's rent. The lease period begins August 1 for one year.

4 Bedrooms, 2 Baths 1,600 Sq. Ft. 2 Levels Study office. ONLY $1,150/mo

4 Bedrooms, 2 Baths 1,300 Sq. Ft. ONLY $1,150/mo

Sorry, No Pets! Quiet Neighborhood Convenient and Close to Campus. Day: 313-0751 Night: 537-4682

Campust Campust

2000 College Hts •519 Osage•

785-564-0372. WALK TO class. One, two, three, four-bedroom No smoking, no drinking, no pets. 785-539-1554.

LET'S HELP OUR LOCAL CHARITIES.

Please consider a contribution to support our local charities.

THINK GLOBALLY.
ACT LOCALLY.

120

DUPLEX AVAILABLE for

FOUR-BEDROOM

FOUR-BEDROOM three

ing, great location pets/

room.

hardwood floors,

floor coverings,

kitchen cabinets and appli

ances (even washer and dryer). Trash and lawn care included. No pets

new 785-532-8256.

study

785-410-2916

two-bedroom,

twelve month lease. Sparoom, June lease. No close to campus. bath. Appliances include 785-539-1975 washer/ dryer. Close to campus, 785-456-8835, 785-313-8292 502 FREMONT, three-bedroom, one bath, no pets.

1310 N. 11th. Two-bed

plex. 500 Laramie. $285 Available June Or 785-313-8292. ATTRACTIVE THREE-BEDROOM

(August) $1280, Washer/ Dryer homes. Available -Dryer Locations: hookups, offstreet park-2078 College View, 2505 Winne, 1841 Platte, $950/ smoking. month. No pets. Contact Ryan Rentals. FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath duplex for rent plus 785-313-0455

One-half FIVE-BEDROOM, CLOSE block from KSU. Everything new, completely re-modeled including new lease. 785-341-5070.

FIVE-BEDROOM, THREE blocks south of campus. Nice condition, no pets. 785-313-7473.

$1400/ month. June pos-FIVE-BEDROOM. TWO session. Call Regina at bath house for rent. 931 Emerald Property Management 785-587-9000. June Washer/ dryer, window airconditioning. Fenced back-THREE-BEDROOM yard, pets allowed. Off-UNIT, located at 8/ 802 street parking. $1500/ month. 785-539-4949. North 5th. No pets, $975/

> FIVE-BEDROOM. June, August. Alliance rty Management. 785-539-4357. www.rentapm.com

FOR RENT. Newer fourcation with dishwasher. washer and dryer. No

$1160 785-537-7597. FOUR LARGE bedroom, two bath, quiet location near KSU. Washer/ dryer, A/C. No smoking/ pets. June. 785-539-8553.

LET'S REN

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

ment in modern complex Central air, dishwasher, two blocks east of cam- coin operated laundry fastreet, quality stuliving . Large L-ed kitchen, dishwasher, air conditioning, sound proofed, well insulated, low utilities, laundry room, no pets. June 1-$580. Call

785-539-2536. 1203 THURSTON, one block to campus. New construction. One and twoapartments bedroom dryer, washer/ washer, balcony, private parking, security lighting. No pets. June 2007 lease. 785-539-5508 10 785-564-0857

1628 FAIRVIEW. Quiet Studio ($375) near KSU trash Water, paid. No pets, no smok-530-342-1121.

1832 CLAFLIN. Across from Marlatt Hall, Twobedroom apartments. Clean, quiet, private park-$560. August leases. 785-564-0857

350 N. 16th. Two blocks to K-State and Aggieville two-bedroom apartments ing. No smoking, no pets. $580. June and August 785-539-5508 or

JUNE LEASE two-bedroom apartment. Walk to campus. Excellent condirentkstate.com

PRE-LEASING JUNE and August. Some units brand washer/ dryer included. details 785-776-2102. youngwilks@yahoo.com, www.wilk

120 central air, dishwasher. campus. 785-532-9564 FOUR-BEDROOM AND six-bedroom

FOUR TO five-bedrooms

gieville. Parking and laun- PLUS BEDROOMS. Lookdry. 785-539-5800. HOUSE. Close to cam-

tral air/ heat. No smoking or pets. Wired for hot tub. August lease. $1100/ 1520 Hartford month. Road. 785-759-3520. FOUR-BEDROOM, ONE bath house for rent, 900

June Washer/ dryer, central airconditioning. Fenced back yard, pets allowed. $1200/ month. Party shack and included. 785-539-4949. FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO and one-half bath, study. August 1, $975 tate. Call 785-539-5394 FOUR-BEDROOM

JUNE, July, August. Al-liance Property Manage-ment, 785-539-4357, www.rent-apm.com FOLIB-BED-GREAT

ROOM houses with central air and washer/ dryer furnished. June leases No pets. Call today for your 785-313-4812. showing. GREAT FOUR-BED-

ROOM house. June 1 four blocks from Fireplace, private union. Nonsmoking, off-parking. $1300, street HOUSE FOR rent, two from Aggieville, close to campus. Fivethree bedroom, washer/ dryer included. Available August 1, $1325/ month Call Nick 785-282-0799.

ONE TO five-bedroom apartments and houses. 785-539-1975 or

RENTAL HOUSE. $800. One year lease. June 2007 to May 2008. Excellent distance to walk to campus. Call Mrs. Kim

SEVEN TO eight-bedroom (two kitchen). June, July, August. Alliance Property Management 785-539-4357. www.rentapm.com

SIX-BEDROOM (TWO kitchen). June, July, August. Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rentapm.com

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

AND three-bed TWO room. Close to campus. at 1010 Kearney. cility. Available June No pets. 785-537-1746 785-539-1545.

> TWO-BEDROOM, rooms, very clean, June lease, no 785-770-0062.

> > 1117 Rent-Duplexes

1111 WHARTON Manor Road, four-bedroom lower level duplex with neutral colors, two baths, washer dryer furnished. 817 Vattier, three-bedroom lower level duplex with new carpet, neutral colors and Very reasonable rent with great space in both du olexes. June lease. No pets. Call 785-313-4812.

NICE DUPLEX 606 bath includes all appliances, washer/ dryer. No pets. Available August 1.

785-293-5197. 120 Rent-Houses

1001 KEARNEY Four-Five. Six and Seven-Bedroom houses. All JUNE 1 rentals. Pets

OK. 785-317-7713. Central heat and Washer/ dryer, June 1st lease No pets. Also have three

120

Rent-Houses

SPACIOUS

FOUR-BED-

Washer/ dryer, nice kitchen. Near City Available May 1, $1100/ 785-313-1886 Close to campus and Ag- THREE, FOUR, FIVE, SIX

ing for that perfect home FOUR-BEDROOM to rent? Great selection and prices. Capstone pus. Large backyard. Cen- M a n a g e m e n t 785-341-0686 THREE-BEDROOM HOUSE at 1721 Anderson. Available June 1. Unfurnished, off-street parking. $750 per month. Call KSU Foundation 785-532-7569 785-532-7541 THREE-BEDROOM

TWO bath, one mile west of campus. Washer and dryer provided, $1000 per month. 785-313-7473. THREE-BEDROOM.

JUNE, July, August. Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rent-apm.com TWO-BEDROOMS

JUNE, July, August. Al-liance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.rent-apm.com

Sale-Houses

CONDOS FOR SALE. Two and starting at $112,650, colleatevilla.com g i a t e v i i 785-537-2096.

FABULOUS UPDATED four-bedroom. one-half bath, brick ranch home located west $149,900. Call 785-539-6751

Roommate Wanted

AUGUST- DECEMBER lease. Male roommate wanted. Studious, smoking. Four blocks from campus. Off-street parking. Free w dryer. 785-341-7171. washer/

CHRISTIAN seeks two female room mates starting fall 2007. August to May lease. New three-bedroom, two bath house with washer/ dryer. $350 plus one-third ties. Call 847-975-1484

FEBRUARY AND March paid. Female wanted now! Nice threebedroom apartment, one block from campus. $270/ month, one-third utilities. 785-317-9021.

Rent-Houses

200 N. 11th. On City Park. Two large, sunny three bedroom ($750). Laundry. Water, trash paid. No pets, no smoking. 1 JUNE AUGUST. leases. 785-336-1124. and 530-342-1121.

AUGUST LEASE, 1305 lerre, 420 Laramie. four-bedroom, two Washer/ dryer, central air conditioning. Large bedrooms. 785-313-3976, 785-313-5573.

AVAILABLE JUNE 1. four-bedroom house. 1541 Hillcrest. No smoking, no pets. $1035. 785-456-3021.

AVAILABLE JUNE 1st. Three-bedroom, one block dryer, and dishwasher included. $870 per month. Jim, 785-565-1748.

AVAILABLE JUNE, fourbedroom, two bath Washer/ dryer, bath dishwasher, central conditioning. 824 Fre-mont, 1022 Humboldt, Jeff 824 Fre-Doug 785-313-5573

BEAUTIFUL ELED homes. 1612, 1614 Pierre, four- five-bedroom, paint. New kitchen, bath, modern appliances. Close to campus. Move in June;

August. 785-304-0387. BRITTNAY RIDGE town house four/ five-bedroom two and one-half baths, includes appliances washer/ dryer. No pets Available August

785-293-5197. FIVE-BEDROOM Two kitchens, fireplaces, central air, neutral colors, washer/ dryer furnished. garage, lawn mainte pets. Call 785-313-4812. FIVE-BEDROOM. bath, washer/ dryer, dish-spacious. 1017 Claffin, No. 785-770-0062 145

Roommate Wanted

HOUSEMATE month. One-third $295/ utilities, washer/ dryer, Aulease. ca313@ksu.edu. 785-537-1464 FEMALE wanted through July. Two-bedroom duplex. Washer/ dryer, and storage. $350 per month plus one-half Amanda 913-226-4838. MALE, WALK to class, all furnished, lower washer dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, pets, 785-539-1554. ROOMMATES NEEDED for two bedrooms in fivebedroom house. Next fall.

Close to campus. Outdoor welcome 620-382-7241. TWO ROOMS available in four-bedroom house, fe male roommates wanted. $290 $290 plus 316-461-2317 utilities. 913-206-5785.

150 Sublease

SUBLEASERS FEMALE available summer lease $260 plus utilities/ month one block from campus 785-632-0606.

SUBLEASER NEEDED for Spring 2007 semeste $315/ month. Four-bedapartment. room month's rent paid, cheap utilities. 913-495-2558 or 913-406-1034

SUBLEASER Available now, two-bed-room apartment. Newly renovated. $570/ month. Call 785-488-8443.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT two blocks to campus, close to Ag-Rent $300/ per son. Call 785-221-6680.

TWO-BEDROOM APART-MENT, walk to campus, $620/ month includes utilities. 785-275-1409 leave

Service Directory

Pet/Livestock Services

ENGLISH male and females 785-539-0227.

INTAKE AND ASSESS-MENT OFFICER. Riley Community Corrections is accepting applineeded, on-call juvenile in-Minimum require s include a high school diploma. Hourly rate for call-out duty is $10. On-call reimburse-ment is $30/ day. On-call officers work a rotating on-call schedule, with the usual schedule being one FOUR-BEDROOM. TWO week of on-call duty every 8- 10 weeks. Law enforcement experience or direct experience working with juveniles is preferred. Valid driver's license and June 1. Four to five-bedability to work flexible hours is mandatory. Applications can be obtained from Riley County Clerk's washer/ dryer, dish-washer, central air. Lease bath, close to campus.

Two living rooms. Washer/ dryer, central air

NEW LISTING,

of Aggieville at Laramie. Two plus

NEXT TO campus, one

Available now or fall. No

and apartments.

houses, and apartme Washer/ dryer, central pets. 785-537-7050.

ONE-BEDROOMS

$390. 785-712-7257.

ment apartment. Washer

785-868-3471 call after

7p.m.

785-776-9260.

utilities

washer/

deposit

through

785-539-3672.

opportunity BARTENDING! $300 a day potential. No experi-ence necessary. Training choose from. Available June or August 1st. $325, $330, $360, $370, and noted for THREE-BEDROOM MAIN August. Counselor basketball, ases, available August 1211 Thurston. THREE-BEDROOM. TWO bath duplex, two car garage, washer/ dryer, very well maintained.

Available June 1, $930/ month, 821 Mission. AND three-bedrooms. Two blocks to campus. June and August eases. No pets, laundry hook-ups, central air. at 866-356-2267. Submit bedroom.

785-336-1124. TWO-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus. Large bedrooms, available June first. $590. 785-712-7257.

two bath. Available June $1500 785-712-7257.

Employment/Careers B10 Help Wanted

THE COLLEGIAN cannot verify the financial poten tial of advertisements in classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opporwith tion. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

Phone Get it

Campus

n Kedzie 103

lan fri. 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

Sick of your

in the classifieds.

COLLEGIAN

Call 785-532-6555.

four

HAY COMPANY in search AS NEEDED JUVENILE of summer workers, farm experience needed. Excel-lent wages. 785-564-2590. HORTICULTURAL SER-VICES, Inc. is seeking reli able, motivated individu-als for full-time or parttime seasonal positions in our retail garden center. Above average wages commensurate with expe-rience and abilities. Apply in person at 11524 Landscape Lane, St. George, Kansas 785-494-2418 or HOWE LANDSCAPE Inc has several positions available for our landscaping, irrigation and mowing, maintenance crews. This is for full time and part time help, with flexible schedules for students, preferably 110 Courthous blocks of time. Applicants Plaza. Manhattan, KS must be 18 years or age and have a valid drivers liwww.rileycountyks.-Riley County is an

1-800-965-6520 ext. 144. CAMP TAKAJO Naples JOIN THE K-State Online tion, exceptional facilities Mid- June through mid tribute to a variety of imand applications. Canditions in tennis, baseball capable of learning new skills quickly, self-disoccer lacrosse, golf, flag foot ball, roller hockey, swim-ming, sailing, water skiing, and willing to devote at least a year to the posiriding, archery, tion. Working with web technologies in an office per, photography, video, woodworking, ceramics/ woodworking, ceramics/ pottery, crafts, fine arts, that values its students provides a fun yet chal copper enamel, nature study, ra-Starting wages begin at dio/ electronics, theater, $7.00. For more info costumer, piano accompa tion email us at omeofnist, music instrumenta backpacking, climbing, canoeing/ kayak-LOOKING FOR part-time ing, ropes course, secre-tarial, nanny. Call Takajo help in Scrapbook store Monday- Wednesday- Fri-

EVENING CARETAKER Position: Part-time taker position. First United Methodist Church, Manhattan, Kansas. Responsible for cleaning, custodial up for the church in the 5:00 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. Monday through Thurs-

online

Position description and employment applicaavailable the church office, 612 Poyntz by calling 785-776-8821. HARVEST HELP wanted. Late May through August. Pays well. 785-587-1956.

evenings.

Poyntz Avenue, Manhat-785-587-2000. Equal Opportunity Employer.

Applications

rina 785-410-3177

Elementary

enue.

NOW HIRING!

Management

Are you confident, positive, fast paced,

Burger King's of Manhattan and Junction City are looking for result oriented individuals to grow with our company.

Monthly & Annual Bonus Program

Roommates?

Find a subleaser by advertising

No restaurant experience? No Problem. We will train the right individual from the ground floor up.

We offer a competitive salary and benefit package based on career

401K Savings plan with our company contributions Liberal paid vacation plan 5 Day Work Week for meage information concerning this existing career opportunity please corract formation speed, District Manager, Burger King Office, PO Bins BSs., Ogifies, KS 66517, 407-421-6400 etc. 220, Senbeyer@horizonholding.com, EOE and life experience. We are willing to pay the most for the bes and enthusiastic?

teacher.

NOW HIRING. Wholesale Liquor. hours per week. Apply

sales associate need

Tuttle Creek Blvd. PLAY SPORTS! Have fun! Save money! Maine camp needs fun loving counselors to teach. All land, adventure and water cense. Starting wage is $8.00/ hour. Apply three ways, in person Monday through Friday at 12780 Great summer! sports. Call 888-844-8080, apply:

Madison Rd in Riley; call 785-485-2857 to obtain PROGRAMMER- CIVICan application; or e-mail PLUS is the nations leading provider of us at howeland@kansas.-County, and School web-sites. Full-time position in Manhattan. Microsoft ASP and SQL experience required. $15.50/ hour plus ated Education, and contime and a half for overtime. Benefits include Health, Dental, Paid Holiportant K-State web sites dates must be motivated, 401K matching. Email reskills quickly, self-di-rected, able to work at sume in Microsoft Word or text format to jobs@civiclenging work environment. entails managing multiple website redesign projects day daytime. Experience preferred. Please call Sabholidays, 401(k)

GROUND SUPERVI-SORS. Immediate open-SUPERVIjobs@civicplus.com. ings- Manhattan- Ogder Schools $6.50 per hour one and a half- two hours per day 11:00 a.m.- 1:00 p.m. Ap plication available at www. usd383.org/District/Hu manResources/ or apply at Human Resources Department, 2031 Poyntz Avcepted until positions are filled. Apply to Manhattan-USD 383, 2031

MATH TEACHER: USD 378 is accepting applica-tions for a high school Contact bpultz@usd378.com 785-485-4000.

OWN YOUR own business! Make some extra money! Low start up cost! Call 785-341-7201 or go PART-TIME cashier and Must be available evenings and weekends. Apply at Midwest Ace Hardware. 800 Tuttle

campcedar.com

plus.com. PROJECT MANAGER CivicPlus has an opening in our Manhattan head quarters office for a full manager. time project manager. This challenging position tion requires attention to age multiple tasks, priori-ties and deadlines and a cheerful attitude. Training is provided. Benefits inde health, dental, paid paid vacation matching Email resume in text or

MANAGER. PROJECT CivicPlus has an opening in our Manhattan head-quarters office for a fulltime Project Manager.
This Challenging position entails managing multiple website redesign projects from start to finish. Position requires attention to detail, the ability to manage multiple task, priori-ties and deadlines and a cheerful attitude. Training clude Health, Dental, Paid Holidays, Paid and 401(k) matching. Email resume in text of

Word format to jobs@civicplus.com. VILLAGE INN, join team! Now hiring full-time and part-time servers and hosts and part-time cooks restaurant. Competitive wages, friendly environ-ment, great benefits and opportunities for advancement. Apply in person at the Manhattan Village Inn, 204 Tuttle Creek Blvd. Equal Opportunity Em-

WILDCATSNEEDJOBS. COM. PAID survey takers needed in Manhattan. 100% free to join. Click on surveys. tions Available. Earn up to $150 per day. Experience shoppers needed to judge ments. Call 800-722-4791

Open Market

410 Items for Sale COACH BOB Huggins

bobblehead dolls. Limited edition, in original box two available, make offer trade. Call Dallas at 513-522-1048. HIDE A bed couch. $100 or best offer. Table four chairs, $225 or best offer. Stove $100 or best offer, 785-539-0227 KING SIZE complete setup includes frame sheets, liner, mat-and pad.

POOL TABLE for condition. 785-564-1465.

785-587-5720.

$200

Burger King is se y people to join our restaurant family. If you are seeking a position that can offer a growth ladder leading to management and a solid benefit package, please come complete an application. We are taking applications for all shifts.

Competitive starting wages

· Paid vacation program for all staff members

■ 1/2 price on/off duty meals · Free uniforms

■ Frequent performance/salary evaluations · Flexible scheduling

· Tuition reimbursement program

· Savings bond purchase program

· Retirement program

Please apply in Manhattan at: 1328 Laramie Or 3002 Ande Please Apply in Junction City at: 821 Chestrut Or 1802 N Washington

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

su do ku

Fill in the grid so that every row, every column, and every 3 x 3 box contains the digits 1 through 9 with no repeats.

> Solution and tips at www.sudoku.com

Real Hope, Real Help, Real Options Free pregnancy testing Totally confidential service Same day results • Call for appointment Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Deadlines

placed by noon the day efore you want your ac o run. Classified display ads must be placed by p.m. two working day prior to the date you CALL 785-532-6555

Classified Rates

1 DAY 20 words or less $10.50 20€ per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less $12.95 each word over 20

3 DAYS 20 words or less $15.65 each word over 20 30¢ per word 4 DAYS

20 words or less $17.90 35¢ per word 5 DAYS 20 words or less $20.00 each word over 20 40¢ per word (consecutive day rate)

To Place An Ad

from the K-State Student Union.) Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

How To Pay

All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $25 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad

Free Found Ads As a service to you, we run found ads for three

Corrections If you find an error in your ad, please call us.

days free of charge.

only for the first wrong insertion. Cancellations

if you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

Headlines

For an extra charge we'll put a headline above your ad to catch

Categories

Bulletin Board

Housing/Real Estate

Service Directory

Employment/Careers

Open Market

Transportation

THE EDGE

Friday, Feb. 23, 2007

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Page 14

OUMAKETHECALI The Oscars are upon us. This Sunday, the best of the best will co to mark your predictions or keep track of the winners. Make your llegian editorial voted for its favorit BEST MOTION PERFORMANCE BY AN PICTURE OF THE ACTOR IN A SUPPORTING YEAR ☐ "Babel" ☐ Alan Arkin - "Little Miss Sunshine" s who we think □ -*"The Departed" ☐ Jackie Earle Haley - "Little Children" ☐ Djimon Hounsou - "Blood Diamond" ☐ - "Eddie Murphy - "Dreamgirls" s our predictions of ☐ "Letters from Iwo Jima" ☐ "Little Miss Sunshine" ☐ Mark Wahlberg - "The Departed ☐ "The Queen" ACHIEVEMENT IN CINEMATOGRAPHY The Black Dahlia* Children of Men* The Muslonist* Pan's Labyrinth* CHIEVEMENT IN The Good Shepho "Pan's Labyrinth" ACHIEVEMENT IN VISUAL EFFECTS "The Prestige" "Pirates of the Caribbean: Dead Man's Chest" "Superman Returns" PERFORMANCE BY AN ACTOR IN A LEADING ROLE BEST LIVE ACTION SHORT FILM ACHIEVEMENT ☐ Leonardo DiCaprio - "Blood Diamond" "Binta y la Gran Idea" (Binta and the Grand Idea) "Eramos Pocos" (One Too Many) IN DIRECTING Ryan Gosling - "Half Nelson" Trielmer & Son" ☐ Peter O'Toole - "Venus" The Savior The Departed" ☐ *Will Smith - "The Pursuit of Happyness" West Bank Story Letters from Iwo Jima* ☐ -Forest Whitaker - "The Last King of Scotland" "The Opeen" ORIGINAL SCREENPLAY United 93" ACHIEVEMENT IN MUSIC "Letters from Iwo Jima" PERFORMANCE BY AN WRITTEN FOR MOTION PICTURES (ORIGINAL SONS) "Little Miss Sunshine ACTRESS IN A LEADING ROLE ACHIEVEMENT IN MUSIC WRITTEN FOR MOTION "Pan's Labyrinth" ☐ Penélope Cruz - "Volver" ☐ The Queen' ☐ Judi Dench - "Notes on a Scandal" - Love You! Do" - "Once IGINAL SCORE ☐ -Helen Mirren - "The Queen" Or Town - CAIS BEST *Meryl Streep - "The Devil Wears Prada" Transmer's Director ANIMATED ☐ Kate Winslet - "Little Children" FEATURE "Notes on a Scandal" FILM OF "Fan's Labyrinth" The Queen' THE YEAR □ -*"Cars" ☐ "Happy Feet" PERFORMANCE BY "Monster House" AN ACTRESS IN A SUPPORTING ROLE BEST DOCUMENTARY FEATURE ☐ Cate Blanchett - "Notes on a Scandal" eliver Us from Evil" *Abigail Breslin - "Little Miss Sunshine" "An Inconvenient Truth" ☐ -Jennifer Hudson - "Dreamgirls" "Iraq in Fragments" "Jesus Camp" Rinko Kikuchi - "Babel" "My Country, My Country"

Academy needs to add more categories

The Academy Awards supposedly represent the highest honor in acting and filmmaking. But I don't get to vote on them, so they're definitely not as cool as they could be.

Each year, actors, actresses and films get the shaft from the academy. As a jaded fan of the film industry, I'll set the record straight by giving my own awards and introducing a couple of categories to include films the Oscars tend to neglect.

PRAEGER

BEST PICTURE: "THE DEPARTED"

Martin Scorsese finally returns to the top of his game with the best movie of the year. The entire cast was incredible, from powerful lead performances from Matt Damon, Leonardo DiCaprio and Jack Nicholson to top-notch supporting turns from Mark Wahlberg, Alec Baldwin and Martin Sheen. The rumors that Scorcese might turn the film into a trilogy are intriguing, despite the shortage of living characters at the end of the film. It's his best film since "Goodfellas," and it's a welcome return to form. Honorable mention goes to "Pan's Labyrinth" and "Children of Men."

BEST ACTOR: MATT DAMON, "THE DEPARTED"

Almost anyone who appeared in "The Departed" deserves an award, but Damon's performance went above and beyond. Just watch the elevator scene at the end of the movie. From now on, it should be mandatory for Damon to use his Boston accent in every role.

BEST ACTRESS: IVANA BAQUERO, "PAN'S LABYRINTH"

Helen Mirren probably will win for her role in "The Queen," but I didn't see it, so she gets nothing. Baquero's performance was the most memorable one I saw this year, even though I couldn't understand what she was saying (the film is in Spanish). Honorable mention goes to Natalie Portman for "V for Vendetta." It's a shame critics forget movies simply because they aren't released in November or December.

BEST ANIMATED FILM: "A SCANNER DARKLY"

Richard Linklater's flick proves animated films don't have to aim toward the younger audience. Anyone who thinks "Happy Feet" deserves this award should be beaten with sticks. Just because a movie is pretty doesn't mean it's good.

BEST COMEDIC PERFORMANCE: WILL FERRELL, "STRANGER THAN FICTION"

The Academy needs to adopt this category, because comedies traditionally get no respect. Steve Martin could have been rewarded for "The Jerk," Jack Black for "School of Rock" and Jeff Bridges for "The Big Lebowski." Will Ferrell delivered the the best performance of his career, save for maybe "Old School." Honorable mention goes to Jeff Anderson for "Clerks 2," Garrison Keillor for "A Prairie Home Companion" and, of course, Sacha Baron Cohen for "Borat."

BEST SEQUEL: "CLERKS 2"

It's rare to see a sequel that isn't an obvious attempt to capitalize on the box-office revenue of its predecessor. "Clerks 2" checks in on Kevin Smith's foul-mouthed Quick Stop cashiers 10 years later, and the result is not only the funniest film of the year but also one of the few sequels that doesn't seem unnecessary. It sets the stage for the triumphant return of Jay and Silent Bob. Honorable mention goes to "Pirates of the Caribbean: Dead Man's Chest." It wasn't spectacular, but it was entertaining, and Johnny Depp is at the top of his game. With a big-budget sequel, it's hard to ask for much more.

BEST ACTION MOVIE: "CASINO ROYALE"

The Bond franchise went through its hair-metal stage with the last few films, but Daniel Craig's first attempt put the series back in the right direction. Like "Batman Begine" oved in 2005, sometimes a series to beyond saving, and the best thing to do is to start over from the beginning.

MOST DISAPPOINTING MOVIE: "SUPERMAN RETURNS"

Bryan Singer made one of the best comic book adaptations ever with "X-Men 2." Why did a director capable of making an awesome action movie turn Superman's triumphant return into a chick flick? I hope this doesn't start a trend, because if "Transformers" or "Live Free and Die Hard" forget they're supposed to be action movies, I might riot.

WORST MOVIE: "HAPPY FEET"

I'm a fairly happy person, so when an animated penguin movie forces me to contemplate suicide for two hours, you know it's bad. Honorable mention goes to "The Break-Up." Vince Vaughn always walks the line between amusing and jerk. This time he walked on the wrong side of the line.

MOVIE TIMES

- Times for today through Sunday.
- () denotes times playing Saturday and Sunday only.
- ★ New movies at Seth Childs Cinema this week.
- ★ "The Number 23," R, 95 min. (2:15), 4:50, 7:05, 10:00

Walter Sparrow (Jim Carrey) becomes obsessed with a book that appears to be based on his life but ends with a murder that has yet to happen in real life.

★ "The Astronaut Farmer," PG, 104 min. (2:10), 4:55, 7:20, 9:50

NASA astronaut Charles Farmer (Billy Bob Thornton) is forced to retire in order to save his family farm. But he can't give up his dream of space travel and looks to build his own rocket, despite the government's threats to stop him.

★ "Reno 911!: Miami," R, 81 min. (2:30), 4:30, 7:15, 9:35

A ragtag team of Reno cops is called in to save the day after a terrorist attack disrupts a national police convention in Miami Beach during spring break. Based on the Comedy Central series.

"Bridge to Terabithia," PG, 96 min. (1:50), 4:25, 7:20, 9:45

"Ghost Rider," PG-13, 110 min. (1:15, 2), 4, 4:45, 7, 7:45, 9:30, 10:10

"Breach," PG-13, 110 min. (1:45), 4:45, 7:30, 10:05

"Music and Lyrics," R, 104 min. (1), 4, 7, 9:45

"Tyler Perry's Daddy's Little Girls," PG-13, 95 min. (2:20), 4:55, 7:10, 9:40

"Norbit," PG-13, 102 min. (1:30), 4:20, 7:25, 10

(1:30), 4:20, 7:25, 10

"The Messengers," PG-13, 91 min. (2:20), 4:30, 9:55

"Because I Said So," PG-13, 102 min. (2:05), 4:40, 7:05, 9:40

"Night at the Museum," PG, 109 min. 7:30

— www.carmike.com. Call (785) 776-9886 for show times.

MOST POPULAR MOVIE RENTALS

These are the most popular rented DVDs sent to Manhattan through Netflix.com.

Top movie rentals this week

- "Carlos Mencia: Not for the Easily Offended Live in San Jose"
- 2. "Save the Last Dance 2"
- 3. "Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire"
  4. "Beerfest"
- 5. "Shark Tale"
  6. "My Super Ex-Girlfriend"

- 7. "Broken Bridges"
- 8. "Open Season"
- 9. "Employee of the Month" (2006)
- 10. "National Lampoon's Pledge This!"

www.kstatecollegian.com

Monday, February 26, 2007

Vol. 111, No. 110

Meredith Holland, junior in women's studies. crowns Kendra Smith. sophomore in psychology, Miss Rodeo K-State Saturday evening at the K-State Rodeo.

> Christopher COLLEGIAN

Rodeo queen promotes K-State

By Allison Voris KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The new face of K-State rodeo received her crown and belt buckle Saturday night at the K-State Rodeo in Weber Arena.

Kendra Smith, sophomore in psychology, became Miss Rodeo K-State after competing against two other women in the pageant.

"It was a big rush to get the crown, buckle and sash," said Smith. "My little brother is already jealous of my belt buckle."

The women competed in five events including horsemanship, which last year's pageant winner, Meredith Holland, junior in women's studies, said is an important part of being Miss Rodeo

"You can't really go into a rodeo queen pageant and not know how to

See MISS RODEO Page 11

Roping in the rain

Rodeo goes 'smoothly' despite weather

By Scott Girard, Kristen Roderick and Eric Davis KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Even the horses were riled up and trying to break free of the gates before the start of the annual K-State Rodeo last weekend in Weber Arena.

Although the event officially started Priday morning, the general public came to watch at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Contestants from 15 different colleges in Kansas and Oklahoma competed in a variety of events including different types of bullriding, calf roping, barrel racing and steer wrestling.

"The first night was pretty darn smooth," said Matt McKinstry, K-State rodeo coach. "We were trying to shoot for a three-hour performance, and we got it in about two hours and 50 minutes."

Several competitors also said they were pleased with the management and organization of the event.

"I really like the team here and how they have it set up," said Cody Taylor, freshman member of the rodeo team at Southwesten Oklahoma State University. "They ran it pretty quick and got everybody in and out smoothly."

McKinstry said approximately 1,500 people attended Friday night. Saturday night, the arena was nearly full with about 3,000 people. The crowd was a blend of K-State students, area residents and family and friends of the competitors. "I was surprised at how many people other than college kids came to this event," said Sammi Lawrence, freshman in animal sciences and industry.

Taylor said he enjoyed the atmosphere and the venue at Weber Hall.

"I love the arena," Taylor said. "It's so small, which is real good for most of the events."

The rodeo was the first event of this semester for the K-State rodeo team and several of the other colleges. McKinstry said everything went well and there were no major problems.

"Being the first rodeo coming out, people still are trying to get back in the groove of things with what they're doing," he said. "But it's not going too bad."

Though Friday was the first day of the event, some competitors - including Taylor were knocked out of the competition ear-

Taylor, who competed on the bareback bull-riding competition Friday, said he was hoping to win the event, but he got bucked off the bull just before the timer ran out and spent the next two days helping his team with whatever they needed.

Rodeo-goers endured cool, rainy weather and a leaky ceiling Saturday night during the second evening of K-State's annual rodeo.

Temperatures were in the mid-30s when the rodeo began at 7:30 p.m., according to weather.com. It was about 25 degrees and lightly snowing when the night was over. While the rodeo was at an indoor arena, an open door kept the arena chilly.

"We were in and out a lot," said Beth Mc-Quade, junior in animal sciences and industry. "We were freezing ... it's a part of rodeo."

The weather did not seem to faze spectators, as those in the nearly-crowded arena watched events ranging from bareback brone riding to barrel racing.

Seth Daly, graduate student in animal science, helped with the roping chute and said even though the cooler temperatures made the crowd a little quieter, he was impressed.

"I thought it was a decent crowd despite the weather and the ticket prices," he said.

McQuade said the weather didn't stop participants and animals from being full of energy. Especially in the back alleyway of the rodeo.

"There were horses everywhere," she said. "But it was high energy, and everyone was feeling great. It was a lot of fun."

The evening began at Weber Arena with Meredith Holland, junior in women's studies, handing the rodeo queen crown to Kendra Smith, sophomore in psychology. Hol-

See RODEO Page 11

Catrina Rawson | COLLEGIAN Scotty Harmon, Coffeyville (Kan.) Community College, participates in

Joslyn Brown | COLLEGIAN

During the Sunday matinee, Keigan McNulty, 4, watches in awe as participants prepare for the saddle bronc event. McNulty said his favorite events Saturday evening were the bullriding and calf roping.

K-State jazz combo to perform in South America

By Scott Girard KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A group at K-State will tour across South America, performing for ambassadors, speaking with local residents and learning the different cultures.

The K-State Jazz Combo, a group of five hand-picked student musicians from the jazz department at K-State, will make the trip from July 3-26 and visit four countries throughout South Ameri-

Wayne Goins, adviser for the group, picked the five students and said the trip will be one of the biggest endeavors of the music department.

"I would say it's one of the biggest adventures this music department has ever seen," he said.

Goins, who will accompany the group, said it is a privilege for the students to take the trip and represent K-State's jazz program.

"I think it is a really rare opportunity for these students to go overseas and spend an extended amount of time representing the university," he said. "I think, for most of them, whether they realize it or not, it's probably a once in a lifetime opportunity."

The members of the group also were

See JAZZ Page 11

Candidates spend most on T-shirts

By Logan C. Adams
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Candidates have spent more than $5,000 thus far in the race for student body president and vice president.

Filings from the four pairs of candidates Friday revealed how much each pair has spent so far, what candidates spent the money on, and in the case of the two biggest spenders, who paid for it all.

Jim Mosimann, senior in political science and economics, and Nick Piper, junior in finance, have spent the most with $2,767.93, according to their expense reports.

Matt Wagner, senior in information management systems, and Lydia Peele, junior in secondary education, have spent the secondmost with $2,527.31.

Derek Ogan, senior in secondary education, and Aaron Blush, sophomore in architectural engineering, have spent $326.59. Steven Hilburn, junior in chemistry and psychology, and Clare Feeley, sophomore in speech, have spent $180.36.

Labor and goods donated to the pairs counted toward expenses.

T-shirts, including the costs of the shirts and printing, are responsible for more spending than any other item for all four pairs. The candidates have spent $3,420.74 combined to clothe about 900 people.

Hilburn and Feeley's filing included $81.24 for future T-shirt purchases, which would bring the total to more than $3,500.

"It's about getting the logo and the names out there in order for the people to know who the candidates are," Wagner said.

The second-largest expense was creating the signs the Mosimann-Piper and Wagner-Peele campaigns have attached to trees around campus. The two pairs bought 250 signs each and spent $954.78 on them, combined.

Hilburn-Feeley and Ogan-Blush did not purchase tree signs, according to their filings.

Banners were another significant expense used to advertise the campaigns. Hilburn and Feeley had a banner worth $12 donated to their campaign, Mosimann and Piper spent $240.35 on two banners and Wagner and Peele spent $139.49 on two banners.

Operating Web sites also has cost the two largest campaigns. Mosimann and Piper received a $100 donation to work on their Web site, www.ksu.edu/jimandnick, and Wagner and Peele spent $9.24 to register the domain www.ksyou.org and designed it themselves.

Some sizeable expenses showed up on only one pair's filings.

Mosimann and Piper spent $132.04 on business cards and $150.00 for a campaign video that had been viewed more than 1,700 times on Youtube.com as of press time. Wagner and Peele paid $144.20 for 400 cups to give to students.

Contributions from students and local businesses pay for most of the candidates' campaign materials.

See CANDIDATES Page 11

Today's forecast Partly doudy, morning snow High: 49 Low: 25

INSIDE

At the 79th annual Academy Awards Sunday night, what the celebrities wore was as important and interesting as who was nominated for which honor. Turn for a look at the latest designers' creations and the stars who wore them.

See story Page 5

CAMPUS NEWS HIGHLIGHTS

Costa Rican pianist to perform at library

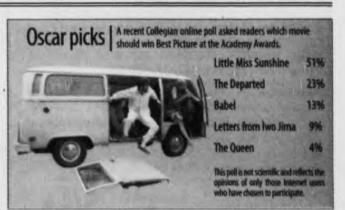

Manuel Matarrita, a pianist from Costa Rica will perform at 7:15 p.m. in the Hale Library Hemisphere Room. He has performed in several venues throughout Latin America and in orchestras like the Costa Rican National Symphony Orchestra. The Costa Rican Student Association is sponsoring the event.

SGA primary elections start Tuesday

The primary elections for the 2007-08 Student Governing Association elections begin tomorrow at 8 a.m. Students can vote at http://www. k-state.edu/elections/. The primary elections are open until 6 p.m. Wednesday. The general elections will run during the same times and dates next week.

Eating disorder awareness begins

Sensible Nutrition and Body Image Choices is host to a week of events for Eating Disorders Awareness Week. SNAC events are scheduled today through Friday, including Belly dance your way to a better body image," today from 7-8 p.m. in Union 213. All events are free to the public.

Claflin Books and Copies

Fax: (785) 776-1009 www.claflinbooks.com

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

		- 71
-	CROSS	36		xed a		58 S			11	Acto
	1 Take up			natur		SE	auce			Sear weapons	38	Crit	bag	e f	59 W	fireta	p	16	Chia	ng -
	4 Barton o		sco					*		-she	k
	Bow	40	9 m	m	ı	NOC	/N		20	Andy	's
	9 Fast-for-		sub			1 Fi	re			pal
	ward pas	st	mad	chine		re	sidu	e	21	Calif	ornia
	the ads		gun			2 P	ato's	3		city
1	2 The girl	41	Fer	mi's		P			22	Unsi	gned
	3 Storms		bit			3 F	wolle	18		(Abb	r.)
1	4 Bullring	43	Ger	nie's		4 La	achn	1-	23	Artifi	cial
	bravo		wisl	h-		m	ose			vanil	la
1	5 Ragtime		mal	ker		5 P	ttsb	urgh		sour	ce
	piano	45	Trin	idad		SL	hud	0,	27	Pote	ntial style		and	-		bi	rthpl	ace		syru	D
1	7 A	47	Mat	ter-		of			29	Leak
	Bobbsey		hon	n, e.	g.	A	mole	1		slow	ly
	twin	48	Sto	ut		P	alme	r.	30	Mix
1	8 Atmo-		rela	tive		6 P			32
	sphere	49	Hall	an		7 K	dne	/-		prec	eden
1	9 "Revenge	е	aph	orisi	n	re	lated	1	34	Old of the		ге п	nimic	ry	8 SI	art c	ofa		movi	es in Sith"	54	U.S	. spy	1	JF	K			new role		org.			qu	ote		37	Doct	rines
2	1 Hispanic	55	Ext	ater		9 In	a			Lead
2	4 Capital o		rest				upor		42	Simo	)-
	Togo			II too		0 Ja	li			leons
2	5 Lennon's	57	-	-Tiki		fo	llow	er 16	44	007,	for lady	S	oluti	on t	ime	: 27	min	8.		one
2	6 "Pygma-	_	LA	G			VIII		45	Bulle	tin-lion"		IS		VO		LI			boar	d
	writer's		NK	T	L	KAE	301	ĪT		item
	mono-		3 E	SV	VIII	NG				Hode
	gram	S			IDI	0 /	BU	41		podg
	8 Fusses	real r	AH	E	4		G			Zero
3	1 Dresses			ide	3 1	EAF		I		Wee in	A					X	117		loud
3	3 Listening			B	N L E	SA	EN		52	Pert
	device			KAE			NE			label
3	5 Santa's			ER			OF			word laundry	- Name of	HE	_	_	SP	N	_	53	Work	(
	woe	-	rid	ay's	ans	wer	2-2	3		unit
1	2 3		4	5	6	7	8		9	10	11
									10

2-26

CRYPTOQUIP

PNTMZ OUZ WONQNPU

TPZODXQNDZ IAOBZJ WXTB MEZOB, IAKEJ SAK

UZ'P X QAOS QZEEZO? Friday's Cryptoquip: TV SHOW CONCERNINGE DUO OF COPS IN FLORIDA WHO PRODUCED CLAMPS FOR CARPENTERS: "MIAMI VISE.

Today's Cryptoquip Clue: G equals T

WEIRD NEWS

Bizarre, funny and unusual stories from around the world

PROFESSOR FINDS WORLD'S HOTTEST CHILI PEPPER

LAS CRUCES, N.M. - Paul Bosland recalls taking a bite of a chili pepper and feeling like he was breathing fire.

He gulped down a soda, thinking, "That chili has got to be some kind of record."

The Guinness World Records agreed, confirming recently that Bosland, a regents professor at New Mexico State University, had discovered the world's hottest chili pepper, Bhut Jolokia, which is a naturally occurring hybrid native to the Assam region of northeastern India.

The name translates as "ghost chili," Bosland said.

"We're not sure why they call it that, but I think it's because the chili is so hot, you give up the ghost when you eat it," he said.

Bhut Jolokia comes in at 1,001,304 Scoville heat units, a measure of hotness for a chili. It is nearly twice as hot as Red Savina, the variety it replaces as the hottest. By comparison, a New Mexico green chili contains about 1,500 Scoville units; an average jalapeño measures at about 10,000.

'HANNIBAL' OFFERS FEAST FOR LITHUANIAN TOURISM

VILNIUS, Lithuania - If you want to meet Hannibal "The Cannibal" Lecter, a Lithuanian tour firm can help.

In "Hannibal Rising," the novel by Thomas Harris now made into a movie, the childhood and youth of the fictional man-eating serialkiller are set in the Baltic state, and the firm is offering a themed visit to the Lithuanian capital.

"We hope to attract tourists who would be interested in visiting Lecter's native land," Aurimas Jukna, director of tourism agency Saules Kelias, said Thursday.

The tour includes a trip around Vilnius, a visit to a nearby estate for a "Hannibal feast" and a meeting with "Lecter." The cost is $131, or 100 euros.

In "Hannibal Rising," a prequel to "Silence of the Lambs," Lecter is born into a noble Lithuanian family. He sees his sister killed and eaten by militiamen during World War II, a trauma that later turns him to murder and cannibalism.

MUMMIFIED BODY FOUND IN FRONT OF BLARING TV

NEW YORK - Police called to a Long Island man's house discovered the mummified remains of the resident, dead for more than a year, sitting in front of a blaring television set.

The 70-year-old resident of Hampton Bays, N.Y., identified as Vincenzo Ricardo, appeared to have died of natural causes. Police said his body was discovered Thursday when they went to the house to investigate a report of a burst water pipe.

"You could see his face. He still had hair on his head," Newsday quoted morgue assistant Jeff Bacchus as saying.

The house's low humidity preserved the body.

Officials could not explain why the electricity had not been turned off, as Ricardo had not been heard from since December

Neighbors said when they had not seen Ricardo, who was diabetic and had been blind for years, they assumed he was in the hospital or a long-term care unit.

LOST RING COMES FULL CIRCLE 20 YEARS LATER

SOUTH EUCLID, Ohio - A college ring lost more than 20 years ago by a former undercover officer for the CIA was found in an underwater cave off the coast of Africa.

Steve Ruic, a writer on staff at Notre Dame College, received an e-mail about two weeks ago from a professional diver from Germany. Wilfried Thiesen wrote that he had found a class ring bearing the college's name and the year 1976 while diving off Mauritius.

Ruic publicized the discovery in both an e-mail to college staff and a newsletter to alumni, but no one came forward to claim it.

Then, while interviewing a member of the class of 1976 for an unrelated alumni magazine story, Ruic asked Dr. Maryellen Amato Stratmann if she'd ever been to Mauritius.

"I couldn't believe it," Ruic said. "She said, 'No, but Clare Cavoli Lopez has."

Lopez, a 1976 Notre Dame College graduate and former CIA undercover officer, was stationed at Port Louis, Mauritius, from 1983-85. During a dive, the ring slipped from her finger.

Ruic sent Thiesen's address to Lopez. They are arranging for him to mail the ring.

MAN BREAKS SQUAT-THRUST RECORD ATOP AN ELEPHANT

CHIANG MAI, Thailand - New Yorker Ashrita Furman looked around for a record he could break and settled on doing the most squat thrusts in one minute. Then he decided on a place - the back of an elephant in northern Thailand.

He achieved both goals Thursday as he climbed onto a platform on the back of an obliging pachyderm in blazing heat and powered through 40 of the vigorous kicks in a minute. The previous squatthrust record - achieved on level ground in Britain without an elephant in sight - was 30.

Furman, 52, is accustomed to setting bizarre records. By his own count, he has 54, and has held 144 in total.

Furman's new claim for a record will be forwarded, along with witness statements, to the Guinness World Records.

- www.cnn.com

The planner | Campus bulletin board

■ The Japanese Appreciation Association will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Union 203.

Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at collegian@spub.ksu. edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

The blotter

Arrests in Riley County

Reports are taken directly from the Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space

Thursday, Feb. 22

■ Dusty Emone Ellis, 3302 Fairman Circle, at 6:45 a.m. for theft. Bond was $1,000.

■ Brian Steven Johnson, 730 Allen Road, No. 68, at 2:23 p.m. for failure to appear. Bond was $158.

Stacie Lashell Sayles, Atchinson, Kan., at 4:38 p.m. for failure to appear. No bond, Crystal Marie Leos, 826 Dondee Drive, at 4:50 p.m. for failure to appear and no proof of liability insurance. Bond was $2,000.

Thomas Lee Watt Jr., 825 Mission Ave., at 10:51 p.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $1,500.

Friday, Feb. 23

Spencer James Unruh, 2105 Blaker Drive, at 12:35 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $1,500. ■ Evan Andrew Cox, 2215 College Ave.,

E-119, at 1 a.m. for obstruction of the legal process and disorderly conduct. Bond was ■ Jarod Clayton Cearley, 821 Osage St., ... Apt. 6, at 2:58 a.m. for criminal trespass. Bond was $750.

■ Lauren Vanarsdale Jackson, 2046 College Heights Road, at 3:29 a.m. for domestic battery. Bond was $1,000. ■ Emma Louise Hall, 614 Yuma St., at 4:10 a.m. for a suspended or cancelled driver's license. Bond was $500.

Corrections and clarifications

-14

There was an error in the Feb. 19 Collegian. In 1945, the U.S. Marine Corps raised a flag at Iwo Jima. The Collegian regrets the error.

If you see something that should be corrected, call news editor Alex Peak at (785) 532-6556 or e-mail collegian@spub. ksu.edu.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291 020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167.

© Kansas State Collegian, 2007

Donate plasma and earn CASH

ZLB Plasma Services

1130 Gardenway

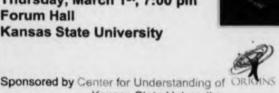

Manhattan, KS 66502 785-776-9177

"The Making of the Fittest"

DNA and the Ultimate Forensic Record of Evolution (Free and open to public)

Sean B. Carroll University of Wisconsin

Thursday, March 1st, 7:00 pm Forum Hall

Sponsored by Center for Understanding of Kansas State University

EXPLORING SRI LANKA

"An insight to the culture and exotic beauty of Sri Lanka"

Organized by Sri Lankan Students' Association

A talk by Dr. Stephen C. Berkwitz (Department of Religious Studies Missouri State University) Buddhism and Poetry in Early Modern Sri Lanka

Date: 26th Feb, 2007

Time: 4:30pm Venue: Room 212 K-State Students' Union

Golden Island: A Documentary on the Country known as the Pearl of the Indian Ocean

Date: 27th Feb, 2007

Time: 5:00pm

Venue: Little Theater K-State Students' Union

Sponsored by

ACMEGIFT's

GARAGE SALE

1:30 pm - 3:00 pm Tuesday, February 27 Hemisphere Room 5th Floor, Hale Library

Chaos Breeds Life: Imperatives Defining the Future Relevance and Impact of the Academic Research Library

Dr. James Neal

Vice President for Information Technology & University Librarian Columbia University

> Hosted by Provost M. Duane Nellis

Presentations followed by Q & A For more information, visit the Provost's web site: http://www.ksu.edu/provost/academic/lecture/index.htm Students Welcome

TUBBY Sports Bar $2 Shots & Wells Bud & Bud Lite Pitchers

$4 Basket of Mountain Oysters $5°Tubby Yee-Haw

MARCH 1, 2 & 3

McCain Auditorium 8 pm

Tkts: 532-6428 11am to 5pm McCain Box Office or 11:30 am to 1:30 pm K-State Union - Little Theatre Box Office

$10 students $13 military $15 public

Presented by KSU Opera Theatre KSU Theatre and the Dept. of Music

Officials discuss new e-mail system

By Ben Hedges KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The campus e-mail system might have a different appearance next semester.

Some Student Governing Association members have been discussing retiring K-State's current provider, Webmail, and replacing it with a different e-mail application.

Several university officials are looking at a number of e-mail providers, but the one harboring the most interest is Google's e-mail system, Gmail, said Nickolas Zimmerman, student representative for Faculty Senate's Committee on Technology.

"We are trying to find a more efficient way for managing our e-mail system," said Zimmerman, senior in information systems.

Zimmerman said the change is focused more toward the student e-mail system to make sure students are getting all the messages they need.

Part of the motivation for switching e-mail providers is the amount of "spam," or junk mail flooding the system, Zimmerman said.

"Spam is an issue we are working on combating," he said. "It's a big problem when forwarding e-mail to Webmail."

Elizabeth Unger, vice provost of academic ser-

The Collegian is available at vices and technology, said the discussion also spurred from a general interest in the providers.

"Part of the motivation is students' comments," Unger said. "So we are just looking into it and asking students what they think about it."

Ben Whitney, senior in clinical laboratory science, said he uses Gmail and thinks it would be great if K-State switched.

"It's a convenience to me," Whitney said. "There's a lot of flexibility in the program, and its sorting system is real nice."

In addition to filtering out junk mail, Gmail also features a number of other benefits, including the ability to search for lost messages and a large storage

Users also can chat while on Gmail, making instant communication easier.

"As a Web-based application, it's very user-friendly," Zimmerman said. "It does a very good job of managing e-mail."

The prospect of a new e-mail provider still is in discussion, but Zimmerman said the idea could very well become a reality.

"Right now we are doing a lot of looking and talking," Zimmerman said.

"Everybody wants to take the proper precautions in making sure it's in the university's best interest."

Potluck unites international groups

By Austin Apple KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Two international student groups sponsored a potluck lunch for international and American students Saturday in the Frith Community Center in the Jardine Apartment Complex.

The potluck featured foods from a variety of cultures.

We put out an invitation to anybody who wanted to come," said Stanley Badger, graduate student in electrical engineering and Webmaster for Mentors for International Experiences and the International Association for the Exchange of Students for Technical Experience.

MIE and IAESTE are campus groups designed to help international students find jobs, internships and study opportunities in other countries

"MIE primarily promotes study abroad while IAESTE sends students on internships abroad," said Olga Lease, adviser for both organizations.

Giving students more opportunities is one goal of IAESTE, said Brian Nicely, organization president and junior in manage-

"We wanted to invite students because a lot do not know about study-abroad opportunities, internships abroad and everything to be able to come out and share with people," he said.

According to the IAESTE Web site, for every internship the group promotes in the United States, it is able to send a student for an internship in another country.

Nicely said he helped set up the potluck to inform students about engineering and technical studies abroad.

Karolyn Stoerzinger, graduate student in grain science, said she heard about the event through an advertisement in the Collegian.

"I thought it would be an interesting way to try different foods, meet new people and learn about different cultures," she said.

Karolyn Stoerzinger, graduate student in grain science, eats a brownie during a potluck dinner Saturday that promoted two international student programs.

We've got the stories you've got to read.

The Royal Purple yearbook is available in Kedzie 103 or call 532-6555.

Chinese Restaurant and Mongolian BBQ Best New Asian | Style and All You Can Mongolian BBO i Eat Buffet Mongolian BBQ

112 locations near you. COLLEGIAN

What's better than just sitting in lecture? Sitting in lecture thinking about what to eat for lunch!

Check out Menu Mania for some good inspiration.

BEST CHINESE FOOD FASTEST DELIVERY LONGEST HOURS Free Delivery: 537-0886 Fax: 539-9111

Advertise Your 785-532-6560

HIT OR MISS | The editorial board selects Hit or Miss topics and writes them after a majority vote. This is the Collegian's official opinion.

Hit | Possible e-mail upgrades

After wading through a few hundred questions regarding our breast and/or penis sizes each day, students should welcome the possibility of a e-mail upgrade from Webmail with open arms. G-mail seems to have emerged as the leading contender, so with any luck, SGA will finalize things in time for next semester.

Miss | K-State women's basketball

After bringing back virtually the same team that won the vomen's NIT last year, to call K-State's season a disappointment would be an understatement. Losing the lead in the final seconds against lowa State on Saturday was another low point in K-State's frustrating struggle to regain national

Hit | Presidential debates heating up

The race between Sen. Hillary Clinton and Sen. Barack Obama finally got interesting last week. As journalists, nothing excites us more than the possibility of a knockdown, drag-out political mud-wrestling contest. We'll see if Obama's promise to change the tone of politics holds up if Clinton starts throwing punches below the belt.

Miss | Mosimann-Piper video

John F. Kennedy, Martin Luther King Jr., Neil Armstrong Jim Mosimann? We think not. While the cheese-tastic intro of Jim Mosimann's and Nick Piper's campaign video is amusing, the awkward interviews that follow seem contrived. However, it's nice to see candidates trying something new. We hope to see the emergence of similar entries from other candidates on YouTube.com in the near future.

Hit | Jazz world tour

The members of K-State's jazz program traveling this summer to South America have the opportunity to represent the university on an international level. Adviser Wayne Goins called it "one of the biggest adventures this music department has ever seen." A successful trip should encourage other university programs to leave the cozy confines of the United States more often.

Miss | Dropping temperatures, potholes

Last week it looked almost as if spring had arrived as Punxsutawney Phil had predicted. Unfortunately, it was all a cruel joke. This week, we reluctantly will pull our coats and hats out of the closet and face the harsh reality of Kansas' schizophrenic weather patterns, which have caused numerous problems, from the decreased availability of parking spots to the plethora of potholes on Manhattan

Use of sarcasm in comedies, pop culture results in loss of meaning

Irony is everywhere today, and we breathe it like air. Everyone talks about "irony" so much the definition has blurred somewhat.

For example, in 1995 Alanis Morissette wrote the song "Ironic," in which she described irony as "rain on your wedding day" or "a no-smoking sign on your cigarette break." As many commentators have noted, she actually just described situations that suck.

But in her defense, that might be the entire point. After all, wouldn't you call it ironic if she wrote a song about irony that was not actually about ironic events?

GREG

BROWN

If it was intentional, then there was a gap between what she said (these events are ironic) and what she actually meant (this song is ironic). This particular variety is called "verbal irony," and it has a long pedigree.

Socrates was the first famous verbal ironist. His favorite activity was to go around ancient Greece pretending to be ignorant to trip others up when they tried to justify their opinions to him. Today's philosophers call this "Socratic irony." Most everyone in ancient Greece called it "being a jerk."

Sadly, Socrates couldn't stop being a jerk even at his own trial, and he drank poison for it. But the tradition continues.

"The Daily Show" became famous for its correspondent reports, on which actor/comedians like Steve Carell and Stephen Colbert ask questions that trip up unwitting local folk. Colbert since has gone on to star in his own spin-off, "The Colbert Report," in which his entire persona is one giant wink to the audience.

But the downside to verbal irony is it sometimes goes unrecognized. with disastrous results. For example, if you tried answering the rhetorical question earlier in this column about irony, you probably looked pretty stupid, talking to your newspaper

Another instance took place on the "Late Show with David Letterman," which aired Michael Richards' apology via satellite after a racialepithet-filled rant a few days earlier.

Many in the audience had not seen the video and misinterpreted the apology as a joke, forcing Richards and Jerry Seinfeld (another guest that night) to stop several times to insist they were serious.

We live in an era in which we've learned to defuse commercials asking sympathy for the caveman's plight or jokes riffing on popular films. Expecting irony has become almost our default stance, one that is initially skeptical things are as presented.

Though this is healthy in small amounts, the ironic stance is becoming more and more pervasive. Eventually, we might always expect irony and be unable to accept anything as sincere no matter what.

While the possibility is a tad absurd, some find it to also be debilitating in smaller doses. Author David Foster Wallace wrote in an essay about television, "Today's irony ends up saying: 'How totally banal of you to ask what I really mean."

Irony is an inherently destructive behavior, used to rip apart all sorts of ideas without having to propose a better choice. There's no silver bullet to stop its debilitating effects, but we can combat them through taking care to mean something when we Join a social movement, have a heart-to-heart talk with someone else, be something. As Pink Floyd began in its most famous album. "Breathe, breathe in the air.

"Don't be afraid to care."

Greg Brown is a junior in philosophy. Please send your comments to opinion@spub.ksu.edu.

15 minutes of shame

I have a confession to make. I don't care who Anna Nicole

Smith's baby's daddy is. I don't care who she was in a relationship with at any time in her life. I don't care that she apparently was a complete wacko. I don't even care where she eventually will be buried.

I don't care about

RYAN SPENCER

Britney Spears. I don't want to know why she shaved her head. I don't care how many times she goes into rehab. I don't care about K-Fed's "blossoming" career.

I don't care about Lindsay Lohan and her screwed-up life. I don't care what name a "Grey's Anatomy" cast member calls another.

Having seen all of these huge news stories play out over the past few weeks, I began to ponder why the news stations have given these people this kind of coverage. All they're doing is covering the train wreck of these peoples' lives and their slow decline into Trivial Pursuit pop culture. Why do we, as Americans, continue to either intently follow these events or be subjected to countless hours of Howard Stern's sobbing testimony?

The answer came to me in, of all places, a Maxim article. In an interview, Christina Aguilera talked about the decline of talent and the idea that entertainment no longer drives the entertainment business - tabloids do.

Anna Nicole Smith hadn't done anything, aside from her brain-numbing reality show, since 1999.

Many would say we are obsessed and fascinated by celebrities' lives and we wish we were as interesting, popular and beautiful as they are. Remember, we weren't quite as obsessed with them when they were being talented and productive members of society.

But my guess is that we are just gawkers - you know, people who come to a complete stop on the highway to watch paramedics pull an accident victim from a burning car. We don't watch people because they're entertaining. We watch them because it is like seeing a train wreck.

Human beings are obsessed with watching the self-destruction and downfall of others. Anna Nicole died more than two weeks ago. Meanwhile, the media and its audiences still are having a field day watching family and friends squabble about a lost legacy.

This isn't a new trait for the human race. The Romans loved watching people torn limb from limb at the Colosseum. It's almost natural for us to want to see people fail.

The problem comes when we as a society become obsessed with it, when we start to ignore the real problems of the world. There are real dangers in the world out there, real situations we have to face every day.

So go ahead and slow down and look at the accident. Don't forget though, the car behind you can snap you back into reality very quickly if you're not careful.

Ryan Spencer is a senior in hotel and restaurant gement. Please send comments to opinion

OLLEGIAN

Heldi Paulson | MANAGING EDITOR Alex Peak | NEWS EDITOR Jacque Haag | CO-COPY CHIEF Jessi Hernandez | CO-COPY CHIEF Scott Girard | CAMPUS EDITOR Logan C. Adams | METRO EDITOR Lacey D. Mackey | FEATURES EDITOR Jonathan Garten | SPORTS EDITOR Cedrique Flemming | TIPOFF EDITOR Elleen Laux | THE EDGE EDITOR Jonas Hogg | OPINION EDITOR Christopher Hanewinckel | PHOTO EDITOR Brendan Praeger | PRESENTATION EDITOR Donnie Lee | PUBLIC EDITOR Courtney Sleypen | AD MANAGER Eddie Rogers | ASST. AD MANAGER

WRITE TO US

Letters can be submitted by e-mail to letters@spub. ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters should be limited to 250 words. All submitted letters may be edited for length and clarity.

CONTACT US Kansas State Collegian Kedzie 103 Manhattan, KS 66502

Display ads.....(785) 532-6560 Classified ads....(785) 532-6555 ...(785) 532-6555 Delivery ..... Newsroom.....(785) 532-6556 news@spub.ksu.edu

OPINION EXCERPTS | Columns from newspapers around the world

THE TRUTH ABOUT COAL

BY THE EDITORIAL STAFF AT THE NEW YORK TIMES

Last Wednesday, members of the Rainforest Action Network, a scrappy little advocacy group, assembled in New York outside the Citigroup Center, where Merrill Lynch has a branch office. Dressed in top hats, carrying bags of coal and calling themselves "Billionaires for Coal," the group was protesting what it felt was the hypocrisy of a giant investment bank that proclaims a devout commitment to "environmental excellence," even as it provides financing for dirty power plants.

Merrill is a lead underwriter for TXU, a Dallas-based utility planning to build a dozen coal-fired power plants in Texas that will add significantly to atmospheric concentrations of carbon dioxide, the main global-warming gas. Though Merrill was the protesters' target, Citigroup must have been feeling queasy. It also has trumpeted its environmental virtues and is among TXU's lead underwriters.

There is a difference between talk and reality.

BAD NEWS, GOOD PHOTOS

CHINA DAILY

As the night editor on Feb. 14 two years ago, my colleagues and I had racked our brains to choose the lead photo for the front page the next day.

At about 8:30 p.m., news broke that former Lebanese Prime Minister Rafik Hariri had been assassinated in Lebanon.

Despite sympathy my colleagues and I had for the prominent Lebanese politician, we sighed with relief that we had the most newsworthy photo at hand - wreckage of his motorcade on Beirut's seafront with rescuers carrying an injured man.

In a way, that response is common to newsrooms worldwide, as testified to by this year's World Press Photo Contest winners.

While praise for the awardwinning photos abounds, I've discovered there are people who question the jury's values in making their choices. I think the criticism offers food for second thoughts about photojournalism and journalism as well.

DEBATE IS OVER — OR IS IT?

KANSAS CITY STAR

Too bad it's over.

While it lasted, the globalwarming debate was an entertaining free-for-all. Then this month the U.N. Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change came out with its latest report. It was if someone had pounded a gavel.

Those of you still skeptical that human activity is the prime cause of global warming, well, we've put up with your annoying behavior long enough. Be quiet. What's the matter with you anyway?

People began comparing misguided skeptics to Holocaust deniers. Al Gore was a bit less direct. His choice of words: "global-warming deniers."

A San Diego Union-Tribune media columnist, Carol Goodhue, said the controversy no longer deserved balanced coverage in the newspaper.

"Sometimes the facts are so overwhelming on one side that it's unfair and inaccurate to give equal weight to both sides," she wrote last week. "This is one of those times."

WORLD NEWS

SUICIDE BOMBER STRIKES BAGHDAD COLLEGE

BAGHDAD, Iraq – A suicide bomber triggered a ball bearing-packed charge Sunday, killing at least 41 people at a mostly Shiite college. The main gate was left littered with blood-soaked student note-books and papers amid the bodies.

Witnesses said a woman carried out the attack at the business-school annex to Mustansiriyah University, but Interior Ministry officials said they were investigating the reports. Bombings at the school's main campus last month killed 70 people.

SENEGALESE VOTE FOR PRESIDENT

DAKAR, Senegal – The president of one of Africa's most stable democracies sought another five-year term Sunday, jostling with 14 contenders in a race that may hinge on the votes of young people hungry for jobs.

President Abdoulaye Wade has presided over an era of peace rare in a tumultuous part of the continent, and the economy – though struggling by Western standards – is stronger than in many African nations. Still, thousands of desperate youth already have voted with their feet, risking their lives to slip illegally into Europe by sea.

PIRATES HIJACK FOOD AID SHIP OFF SOMALI COAST

NAIROBI, Kenya – Pirates hijacked a cargo ship delivering U.N. food aid to northeastern Somalia on Sunday. It was at least the third time since 2005 a vessel contracted to the United Nations has been hijacked off the country's dangerous coast.

The ship, MV Rozen, had just dropped off more than 1,800 tons of food aid in the semiautonomous region of Puntland when the pirates struck, said Stephanie Savariaud, a spokeswoman for the U.N.'s World Food Program.

It was not immediately known if any of the 12 crew members aboard — six from Sri Lanka and six from Kenya — were injured in the attack.

CLERIC CLAIMS HE WAS TORTURED BY AMERICANS

CAIRO, Egypt – An Egyptian cleric allegedly kidnapped off the streets of Italy by CIA agents in 2003 claimed Sunday the Americans who abducted him "savagely" tortured him while deporting him to Egypt for interrogation.

The allegations by Osama Hassan Mustafa Nasr, who also is known as Abu Omar, are likely to intensify criticism of the United States' rendition program. Italy has indicted 26 Americans and five Italian agents accused of seizing the cleric in 2003.

Nasr's case is the first criminal trial connected to the rendition policy, in which U.S. agents secretly transferred terror suspects for interrogation to third countries. Nasr was released on Feb. 11 after four years in Egyptian custody.

Nasr said he was innocent and wanted to return to Italy, where he was granted political asylum in 2001, four years after entering illegally.

— The Associated Press

FROM THE ARCHIVES

Student from the 1920s writes about racial equality of the time

By F. Marshall Davis
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Editor's note: The K-State Collegian published this column on March 22, 1927. This piece by Frank Marshall Davis is the fifth in a series published this month to honor Davis' memory.

When Davis came to K-State in 1924, he was one of only 26 black students enrolled. He wrote a weekly column called "A Diplomat in Black" in which he discussed politics, history and campus life with humor and candor.

We ask readers to enjoy this piece of history.

This morning, while getting ready to make my eight o'clock class in American Lit, I picked up an old copy of Crisis magazine in which was announced the winning poem in the annual poetry contest. This particular work had heretofore escaped my notice. I read and thought of other black poets of both before and after the Civil war. Phyllis Wheatly wrote stuff that was considered to be the best in her time. Paul Laurence Dunbar wrote stuff that caused the great John Drinkwater to say he was the best writer the South ever produced.

Food Colors

This brings to mind quite a few things which I don't understand: if these two were of the best, why aren't they mentioned in my textbook out of which I am supposed to study the writings of the best American authors? Maybe I don't understand that it, too, draws a color line; maybe a printer was in a hurry and overlooked the writers' work; or maybe the author could not spell their names.

I wonder why the girl who asked me questions the whole period during my botany quiz, and the boy who borrowed a pencil from me in both of the last sessions of our class in economics, failed to see me when we passed on campus today. Both are members of the frats and sororities.

Perhaps some of my profs are not yet acquainted with the 26 letters of the alphabet. At the beginning of the semester one of my instructors announced his intention of seating the class alphabetically for the purpose of taking the roll with greater ease. My last name begins with "D" but I was not seated until after the "Ws."

Not that there was any especial virtue in sitting between two white students. But a brown face in a sea of white

Vern's Wedding Cake Shop

408 S. 6th St. , 785-776-7637 Largest selection of cake decorating supplies in Manhattan.

Cake Boards

faces is always conspicuous, and it is quite embarrassing to take one's seat to the music of suppressed giggles of another race.

There is a basketball game tonight, and I shall surely go. But some of my colored college group will not go. Why pay, they say, $5 each semester to see games played in which Negro lads are barred from competing? We have men capable of playing upon some of the athletic teams if they were only given a chance.

But though these things weigh heavily on my mind, I still have much over which to rejoice and be happy. In winter, gray Kansas hills are covered with snow, a few evergreens, and they are beautiful; in the spring they are covered with grass that fits like a green dress, and this is also beautiful. I wear a jeweled fraternity pin, and my organization ranks second or third in scholars among all social fraternities of the college.

If I were to change this brown skin for one tinted in light pink, I would gain nothing but a few conveniences. But the pioneers, makers of these United States, forsook ease and convenience and went into life rough-and-tumble and made history.

Presented by: The College of Business Administration and Students in Free Enterprise

What's your BIG idea? take it on!

EntrepreneurshipWeek USA Feb. 24-March 3, 2007 www.cba.k-state.edu

K-State

prevails

after poor shooting

By Jonathan Garten

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Big 12 Conference play, K-State continues to add to the list of reasons it deserves an NCAA Tournament bid.

Conference) beat Colorado (6-18, 2-12 Big 12) 87-71 Saturday at the Coors Events Center, giving the men's basketball team 20 wins for the first time since 1998. The win also secured the team a winning conference second-half surge to ensure the win after trailing 30-29 at halftime. The Buffs shot better than 60 percent from the field in the first half, while

K-State struggled to find good looks, converting on less than 35 percent of turned as the Wildcats began knocking down shots and Colorado went cold. The second-half shooting percentages nearly flipped, as the Wildcats made more than 66 percent of their shots and the Buffs shot less

K-State's 58 second-half points were a season high. The Wildcats used a 13-0 run in the second period to break a tie and pull away from against the Buffs Feb. 10, the Wildcats held Colorado's leading scorer, junior Richard Roby, to five points on 1-of-9 shooting. However, this time K-State could not contain Roby, who led all players with 26 points on finished in double figures, scoring 17.

He also turned the ball over only one time, which was much better than the 10 giveaways he had the last time he Wildcats in both points and rebounds with 21 and five, respectively. In the second half, he excited the K-State bench by pump-faking a shot on the perimeter, driving the lane and finishing the play with a one-handed

Senior Cartier Martin had 19 points, nine of which he scored from the free-throw line. Junior Clent

Stewart and senior Blake Young had

The win gave K-State its first season sweep against the Buffs since 1992. The Wildcats also have swept Championship tournament about three weeks away, K-State is sitting in fourth place in conference standings.

The Wildcats never have finished better than seventh since the formation

NCAA Tournament berth with Big 12 foe Texas Tech (18-11, 7-7), which is ranked one spot behind the Wildcats in fifth place. The Red Raiders, who own three victories over top-10 teams, defeated K-State, 62-52, Jan. 8

K-State could be vying for a

With the Big 12 Conference

Iowa State and Missouri this year.

16 and 13, respectively.

of the Big 12 in 1996.

at Bramlage Coliseum.

Junior David Hoskins led the Colorado freshman Xavier Silas

During K-State's 78-59 victory

In the second half, the tables its attempts.

than 40 percent.

8-of-17 shooting.

played K-State.

However, the Wildcats needed a record for the first time since 1988.

The Wildcats (20-9, 9-5 Big 12

With only two games remaining in

Bright future

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Beasley's destiny looks to include K-State success, NBA

Michael Beasley is a sharp guy. It's tough to catch him off guard, whether you're asking a question or driving to the basket.

Beasley was nearly flawless in his first appearance at Bramlage Coliseum, scoring 30 points and leading Notre Dame Prep to a 107-80 victory over IMG

MEEK

Academy in Sunday's All-American Shootout.

The top-rated recruit was equally impressive off the court. He said the right things ("Today was just another game"). He made witty, off-the-cuff comments ("You could put me in a room with 50 midgets, and I'm just going to blend in with the crowd"). He exuded the charisma that separates good players from superstars.

There was only one slip, hardly noticeable to the casual observer. It came when a reporter asked Beasley what he planned to study at K-State.

The question was followed by four solid seconds of dead air.

He recovered quickly, saying he planned to major in business man-

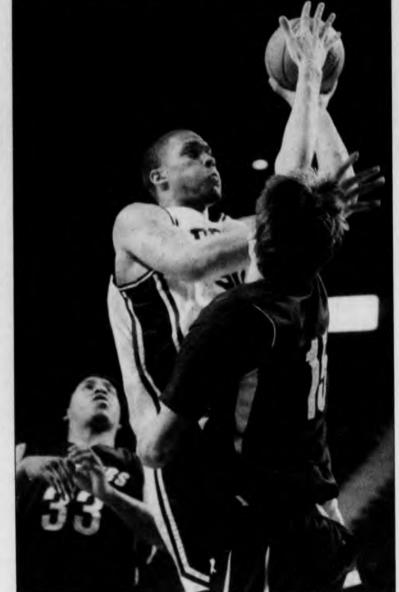

"If I'm not the great basketball player everyone is hyping me up to be, I've got to make some money somewhere," he joked.

After watching him play, it became clear the only business Beasley will be managing involves the zeroes on his NBA contract.

Beasley said he plans to stay in school for four years, and maybe he will. Still, K-State fans would be wise to enjoy the show while they can.

"If he's not ready, we're not going to push him, but no one's going to be a fool and turn down millions of dollars," said Beasley's mother, Fatima Smith.

This certainly suggests Beasley would be NBA-bound if not for a league rule prohibiting players from

Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN

K-State signee Michael Beasley puts up a shot over an IMG Academy defender Sunday at Bramlage Coliseum. Beasley was named the game's most valuable player with 30 points and 17 rebounds.

going pro straight out of high school. Texas Tech coach Bob Knight blasted the rule a week ago.

He said the rule was "the worst thing to happen to college basketball since I've been coaching."

"Now you can have a kid come to school for a year and play basketball, and he doesn't have to go to

The rule isn't going anywhere.

And for at least a year, neither is Beasley.

"Can you imagine next year, with Bill (Walker) and Michael coming in?" Smith said. "Oh, we're going to have a good time. There's more to come."

Austin Meek is a senior in journalism. Please send comments to sports@spub.ksu.edu.

Sweat posts career high in Iowa State loss

By Jessi Hernandez

It doesn't get much closer.

The Wildcats managed to hold Iowa State at bay for much of the game Saturday at Bramlage Coliseum, but a 3-pointer from senior Megan Ronhovde gave the Cyclones their first lead with 28 seconds to go, and they held on for a 64-61 victory.

K-State (16-12, 4-11 Big 12 Conference) led by six with 3:10 remaining in the second, but Iowa State (21-7, 9-6 Big 12) went on an 11-2 run to close the half. The Widcats were down by one with 28 seconds on the clock when senior Claire Coggins lobbed a pass across the lane straight into the hands of Iowa State sophomore Toccara Ross, who handed the ball off to senior Lyndsey Medders. Sophomore Shalee Lehning fouled Medders, earning her fifth foul of the game.

Medders sank both free throws. In the final seconds, Coggins attempted a shot from behind the arc to push the game into overtime but missed.

"Iowa State stepped up and made the big plays," said coach Deb Patterson. "We had either a breakdown on the offensive or defensive end of the floor that they capitalized on, and quite frankly, down the stretch in a close game, whether you're home or on the road, in this league, that's what I think separates you."

Patterson said despite K-State's struggles in the end, she was pleased with the team's performance defensively, especially the start of the second half, when K-State held the Cyclones scoreless for a 7-minute stretch.

"But, when the game was on the line, to give that open three look - that was the play that breaks your back," she said.

Medders led Iowa State with 16 points and seven assists, and Ronhovde, the only other Cyclone to reach double figures, had 12.

Left: Ashley Sweat stumbles past Iowa State defenders on her way to two of her careerhigh 25 points Saturday. The Cyclones outlasted the Wildcats with a 64-61 comefrom-behind victory.

Below: Shalee Lehning covers her face after fouling out of Saturday's game.

Photos by Christopher COLLEGIAN

"Lyndsey's a great point guard she's the best in the Big 12," Lehning said. "She definitely came out and made the plays when she needed to, and that's something that's a sign of a great point guard."

Lehning finished just three assists shy of recording her second tripledouble with 15 points, 11 rebounds and seven assists.

Junior Shana Wheeler finished with 10 points and nine rebounds, and freshman Ashley Sweat scored a game and career high of 25 points, including connecting on 4-of-4 from 3-point range.

Next, K-State will face Oklahoma State at 6 p.m. Wednesday at Bram-

1-MINUTE DRILL

Staff Reports

RUN | K-State wins 3 events at Big 12 Championships

Senior Morgan Bonds and sophomore Tevan Everett ran the same distance during the Big 12 Indoor Track and Field Championships, and both ended up at the same spot: the first-place podium.

Bonds won the women's 600-yard run with a time of 1:20.05, a K-State record for an oversized track. It was her second Big 12 Conference title in the event.

Bonds provisionally qualified for the NCAA Indoor Championships in the 800-meter run with a time of 2:06.20 in the lowa State Classic earlier this year. Everett's winning time of 1:08.56 in the 600-yard run broke a 10-year-old Big 12 record. The previous record was 1:08.71 by Oklahoma's Ryan Kite. This was Everett's first Big 12 indoor title.

Sophomore Loren Groves won the weight throw with a toss of 67-10 3/4. It was her third-best throw of the 2007 indoor season.

In the same event, sophomore Laci Heller placed third with a throw of 63-7 1/2. It was her second-best throw of the Other standouts were sophomore Scott Sellers and junior Marianne Schlachter.

Sellers placed second in the men's high jump with a clearance of 7-5 1/4. He will jump in the NCAA championship meet.

Schalchter placed third in the women's triple jump with a jump of 43-3. It was the third-best jump in school history.

BBC | Wildcat baseball goes 4-0 over weekend

Before the weekend started, K-State baseball coach Brad Hill said he was not satisfied when his team went to Shreveport, La., Feb. 16-18 and only won three of four games.

After the Wildcats won all four of their games last weekend. Hill shouldn't have much to complain

They started off with a 4-2 win Friday against Seton Hall at the Yankee Player Development Complex, in Junior pitcher Brad Hutt gave up six hits and two runs over seven innings of work. Sophomore Byton Wiley went 1-for-3 with

The Wildcats played a doubleheader with Ohio State on Saturday. K-State swept the two games by a combined score of 10-6.

The Wildcats won the first game 5-4 with freshman J.J. Muse getting his first college

The hit came in the eighth inning when the Wildcats were down 4-3. It scored sophomore Drew Biery, who went 2-for-3. Muse scored later that inning on a double by junior Brett Scott to take the lead for good. The second game ended 5-2 with K-State separating itself in the seventh with four hits. Senior Eli Rumler hit a double in that inning to score two.

The last game of the weekend was an 11-4 blowout over James Madison. The Wildcats had 16 hits. Wiley smacked two home runs and had three RBI

The Wildcats are 7-1 and have three more games on their 11-game road swing to begin the year.

GLF | Wildcats look to bounce back at Fresno State

After a tough first tournament, the K-State women's golf team will look to bounce back at the Fresno State Invitational, teeing off at 9:30 a.m. today in Fresno, Calif.

The field is far from average with five teams ranked in the Top 50 and 14 in the Top 100, according the Golfweek/Sagarin women's team rankings. Opponents include No. 12 Denver and Big 12 Conference opponent No. 66 Colorado.

The Wildcats will look to the play of freshman Abbi Sunner, who finished tied for second at the Baja Classic earlier this month after shooting 76-74—150 (+6), claiming her second collegiate Top-10 finish.

The Wildcats have had a strong Top-20 presence, with at least one Wildcat in the Top 20 in the last 10 tournaments and will look to continue their streak at Fresno State.

WEQ | Equestrian team splits matches with Baylor, A&M

The K-State women's equestrian team plit its weekend matches with Baylor and

The Wildcats defeated Baylor for the first time this season, 11-8, in the first of two varsity shows for the Wildcats this weekend.

K-State faced the Bears twice in the fall season falling both times. The first was an 8-7 loss at the Bulldog Invitational in Athens, Ga., on Sept. 24 and the second a 12-8 loss at Fox Creek Stables in Manhattan

K-State dropped its head-to-head match to Texas A&M, 14-8, Sunday in the final show of the weekend.

THE EDGE

Monday, Feb. 26, 2007

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Page 7

BEST PICTURE

"The Departed" came away with the Academy's top honor this year, beating out competitors "Babel,""Letters from Iwo Jima," "Little Miss Sunshine" and "The Queen."

BEST

SUPPORTING

ACTRESS

Jennifer

Hudson

Adriana

Barraza

In the Oscar spotlight

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The stars shone brightly at the 79th Annual Academy Awards Sunday night. Hundreds of actors, directors and industry elite came out for the biggest night in Hollywood.

Host Ellen Degeneres made the evening fun and lighthearted, staying clear of political or insulting humor. Jack Black, John C. Reilly and Will Ferrell performed a satirical musical number in which they pretended to be angry about how comedians get no respect from the Academy. No one movie took home all the awards and there were only a few upsets, as when Alan Arkin took home the Best Supporting Actor award instead of favorite Eddie Murphy.

All in all, though, Degeneres led a jovial, feel-good awards show.

BEST SUPPORTING ACTOR*

"LITTLE MISS SUNSHINE"

Whitaker "THE LAST KING OF SCOTLAND"

Martin Scorsese THE DEPARTED'

Eastwood

BEST

ACTRESS

Mirren

Penélope

Dench "NOTES ON A SCANDAL"

Jackie

Earle Haley

"LITTLE CHILDREN"

Hounsou "BLOOD DIAMOND"

Eddie

Murphy

Wahlberg

Leonardo

DiCaprio

Gosling HALF NELSON

O'Toole

"VENUS"

Will

Smith

"THE PURSUIT OF

Greengrass

Alejandro Gonázalez lñárritu

Streep "THE DEVIL WEARS PRADA"

Winslet "LITTLE CHILDREN"

Abigail Breslin "LITTLE MISS SUNSHINE

Rinko Kikuchi

* Category winners are at the top, with their fellow nominees below them

Reese Witherspoon shone the brightest in a purple Nina Ricci frock showing off her slim frame and sleek look with straight

"THE DEPARTED" HAPPYNESS" RED CARPET FASHION | The stars who shined, burned out

Kirsten Dunst may have needed to consult a different stylist when she donned a sparkly, feathery light blue gown.

Anne Hathaway didn't use her "Devil Wears Prada" fashion sense in her choice of an off-white Valentino gown with a giant black bow on the upper half of the dress.

Although Penelope Cruz had the right idea, her frilly Versace gown just missed the mark, presenting too much of a good thing.

Cameron Diaz came in third in a white Valentino gown, including a hint of color with green earrings.

Jessica Biel stood out with a hot-pink Oscar de la Renta A-line gown with a backless design.

Pudding Man of the Year CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Ben Stiller had to Stiller named Hasty

CELEB NEWS

put on pink shoes, a blond wig and silver headband and strut against an Owen Wilson impersonator before claiming Harvard's Hasty Pudding Man of the Year award. "Just like at home, honey," Stiller said to his wife, actress Christine Taylor, on Friday as he put on the female attire. STILLER The event was organized by the Hasty Pudding Theatricals, the nation's oldest undergraduate drama troupe Stiller, 41, played along with the good-na-tured traditional Hasty Pudding roast, which lampooned his career. He won the award decades after dropping out of film school at the University of California, Los Angeles.

"For somebody who never could have ever got close to getting into Harvard, I think that this was even better, so I thank you very much," Stiller said. The awards are given to performers who have made a "lasting and impressive contribution to the world of entertainment," according to the drama troupe. "Ben Stiller has really pioneered in many ways, news forms of comedy," Joshua Lachter, the press and publicity manager for the Hasty Pudding Theatricals, said in a telephone interview with The Associated Press.

Scarlett Johansson received the Hasty Pudding Woman of the Year award last week. Last year's honorees were Halle Berry and Richard Gere.

— The Associated Press

American Idol contestant photos surface

LOS ANGELES — The Internet was abuzz Friday over a series of racy photos linked to an "American Idol" contestant. The pictures, posted on several Web sites, included one with four women posing topless at the beach, their hands covering their breasts, and others with a woman engaged in a sex act. The anonymous postings alleged that Antonella Barba, 20, of Point Pleasant, N.J., was depicted in the photos and did not indicate how they were obtained. Alex Gillespie, a Fox publicist in New York for the top-rated show, said the network would have no comment on the incident or whether it might affect Barba's participation in the contest. This week, Barba survived the first round of viewer voting and was scheduled to compete again next week. Nigel Lythgoe, an "American Idol" producer, was quoted on Entertainment Weekly's Web site on Friday as saying he was unaware of the photographs. "We have really good background checks on everybody, and we deal with that every season," he told EW.com. "It's sad, isn't it, that your best friends are the ones that come forward with information that will go to Smoking Gun or put your photographs on the Web? In the past, "American Idol" has dropped contestants for actions unrelated to the show. Frenchie Davis was disqualified in 2003 because of her appearance on an adult Web site, but she bounced back with a role in the Broadway production of "Rent."

— The Associated Press

WEEKEND BOX OFFICE

■ The weekend totals listed are measured in millions of dollars.

To	p movies	Total
1.	"Ghost Rider" Sony	19.7
2.	"The Number 23" New Line Cinema	15.1
3.	"Bridge to Terebithia" Buena Vista	13.6

4. "Reno 911!: Miami" 10.4

5.		9.7
6.	Paramount Pictures "Music and Lyrics" Warner Bros.	8.0
7.	"Breach" Universal	6.2
0	"Tuler Perry's Daddy's Lie	Hla Girle"5 2

Lionsgate

9. "The Astronaut Farmer'

Warner Brothers

10. "Amazing Grace" Samuel Goldwyn Films 4.3

- www.boxofficemojo.com

4.5

Right: Blake Williams, cowboy from Northeastern Oklahoma A&M College, waits in a group of horses for the team roping competition Saturday evening. Rain forced competitors to move their horses inside.

Below: Mike Murphy, Oklahoma Panhandle State University student, adjusts his belt while putting on his chaps Sunday afternoon.

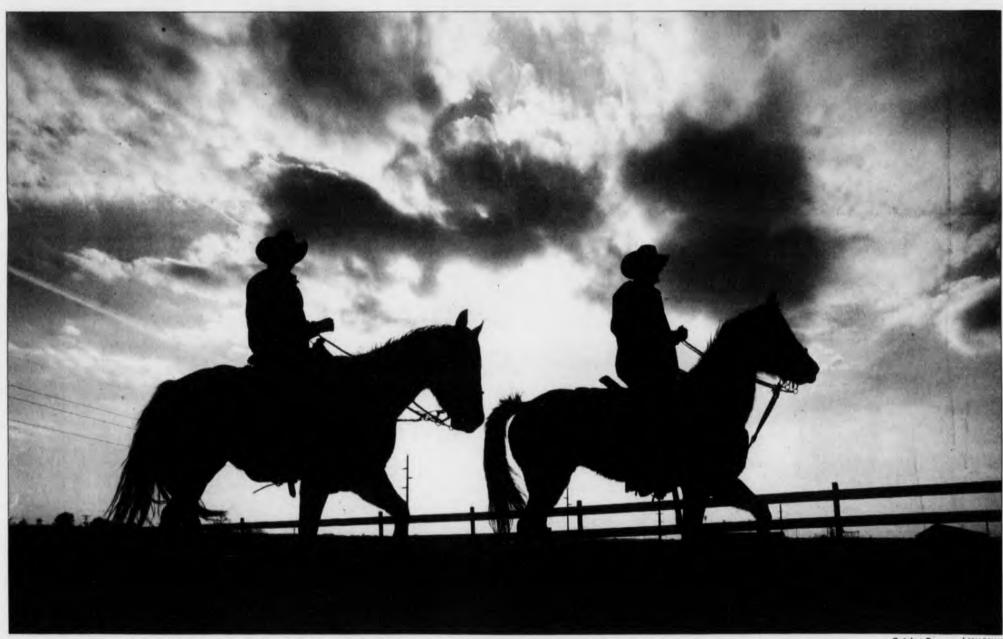

Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN

SADDLE 'EM UP,

Thousands come to watch 15 teams compete

Catrina Rawson | COLLEGIAN

Lance Heaton and James Hajek of Northwest Oklahoma State University ride their horses to their trailers Friday afternoon during the opening day of the K-State College Rodeo. Competitors from 15 different colleges participated in the weekend events.

Amy Wilson, of Colby (Kan.) Community College, cleans her horse, Sammie, Friday afternoon before the evening's events.

Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN

Trailers are parked in the field in the northwest corner of the intersection at Kimball and Denison avenues Saturday morning. Competitors traveled from all across the Midwest to compete in the

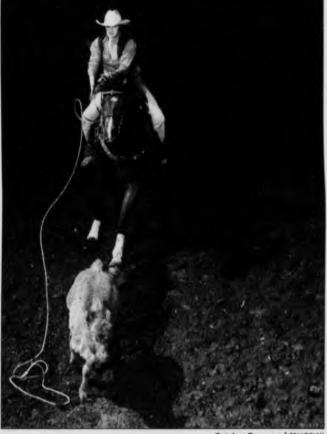

Christopher Hanewinckel COLLEGIAN

TIE EM DOWN

in 9 events at the 51st annual K-State College Rodeo

Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN

Catrina Rawson | COLLEGIAN

Top: Bailey Blackburn, Fort Scott, Kan., Community College student, attempts to lasso a calf Friday night in the breakaway roping competition. Breakaway roping is one of nine events that were part of the K-State College Rodeo.

Above: D.J. Shield of Coffeyville (Kan.) Community College straps spurs onto his boots before the start of the bull-riding event Friday night.

Left: James Carter, Fort Scott (Kan.) Community College cowboy, competes during the bareback competition Friday evening. Carter was one of eight competitors in the bareback competition Friday.

Manhattan Arts Center displays specially processed photography

By Brie Handgraaf KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Digital photography has made it rare for people to hand-process photographs, but David Bartlett still does it the old-fashioned way.

The Manhattan Arts Center featured Bartlett's images Friday night when an exhibition of his work opened to the public. The display also featured work from residents of Meadowlark Hills Retirement Community.

"It was a wonderful opening," said Tess Purvis, director of marketing and programs for the arts center. "It was well-attended, and we were very pleased to have the Meadowlark artists. We very much enjoy featuring local artists."

Bartlett, an art professor at Morehead State University in Morehead, Ky., said he has been working on his photographs for 13 years using a technique called photogravure, a process that gives photos a more artistic and painted look.

"I had a brief exposure to photogravure when I was a graduate student and actually made a few plates but did not really achieve any mastery of the process at that time," he said. "After many years working with traditional, largeformat black and white photography, I decided to tackle photogravure again, partly to broaden my artistic horizons and partly just for the challenge of it.

Monday, February 26

"In very general terms, it is a combination of photography and intaglio printmaking," he said. "The final product is a print in the traditional sense — an image consisting of ink on fine paper made by passing the paper through an intaglio press in contact with an etched and inked copper plate."

Intaglio printmaking is a process through which a design or image is incised onto a plate to which ink is applied. The plate is used to make an image on a smooth surface, often paper.

The final product of photogravures is a sepia-colored image with subtle lines and hues. Many of the images still retain details of the original

"It still amazes me," Bartlett said. "It helps that the original images for most of them were made with a large-format camera, which produces negatives that are eight by 10 inches. A negative that large has a lot of detail. Nevertheless, it is impressive that so much of it is retained throughout the process."

Bartlett said much of his work focuses on American landscapes.

"Many of these images were shot in northern parts of the country, to which I have been greatly attracted since my childhood in Wisconsin," Bartlett said. "I have made quite a few extended trips expressly for the purpose of photographing."

Dorothy Currence, another artist featured in the exhibit, said she admired Bartlett's

"What I really like the most, I think, are these scenery ones," Currence, Manhattan resident, said. "They really look more like paintings than photographs. It's almost unbelievable. He really is a marvel."

The free exhibit, "Photogravures," will be on display to the public until April 7. The arts center, 1520 Poyntz Ave., is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 1 to 4 p.m Saturday.

su do ku

Chase Manhattan

Apartments

Above: Analyzing photogravure works by David Bartlett, Joe Souther, Maple Hill resident, and his son Kaleb, age 9, and friend Isaac-Houston, age 8, peruse the gallery before going out to take their own photographs.

Left: Bartlett's photogravure pieces line the walls of Manhattan Arts Center. They are a combination of photography and intaglio printmaking.

Classified

Founders Hill

Apartments

1401 College Avenue

(785) 539-4600

Photos by Josyln Brown (OLLEGIAN

NOW LEASING FOR FALL 2007

Got a PorStory Call 532-6556 or e-mail: Collegian@spub.ksu.edu

785-532-6506

SUMMERTIME...SIT DOWN

OR STAND OUT?

Looking for summer employment? Find out how the benefits of working can help you stand out to future employers.

Guiding You from College to Career

www.k-state.edu/ces

· Only Phone Book with Students' Cell Phone Numbers

Purchase Yours in Kedzie 103

· A Menu Guide with local restaurants' menus

Coupons with the Greatest Deals

7 p.m. • Derby Academic Resource Center

cory Idea

Now Leasing for Fall 2007

Check out our model showings now!

With 900 apartments in the Manhattan area, we can find a place for youl

We can find a place for you!

BEDROOMS
BEDR
1119 Laramle #5
1026 Osage

Mon.Wed.Thurs 5:30-7:00 Fri 4:00-7:00 Sun 5:00-7:00 1722 Lararnie #9

1722 Lararnie #9 Mon 10:00-12:00 Tues 4:00-6:00 Wed 12:00-2:00 Thurs 11:30-1:00

1941 College Heights #4 Mon-Thurs 3:00-5:00

1854 Claflin #14 Mon,Wed,Fri 2:00-4:00 Tues, Thurs 4:00-6:00

Sat 2:00-4:00 Wareham - 418 Poyntz #603 Tues 3:00-5:30

Fri 1:30 - 5:00 Sun 10:00-2:00 Aggie Village - 1215 Laramie

Mon-Fri 1:00-5:00 Sat 10:00-2:00 925 Denison #4

925 Denison #4
1803-1807 College Heights
View at 925 Denison #4

Mor.Wed.Fri 6:00-8:00pm Tues. Thurs 5:00-7:00 Sat 12:00-2:00 Royal Towers

1700 N. Manhattan #203 Mon.Wed.Fri 4:00-6:00 Tues. Thurs 1:00-3:00 Sat 12:00-2:00

12:00-2:00 Mon, Wed, Fri 12: Sat 1: 785.776.3804 mdlproperties.com

Saturday Office Hours: 10am-2pm

MCCULLOUGH DEVELOPMENT

showings now! ne Manhattan area,

BEDROOMS

1026 Osage #22

Mon 4:30-6:30
Thurs 3:30-5:30

ri 12:30-2:30 sat 2:00-4:00 1524 McCain #8 .Wed.Fri 5:00-7:00 .Thurs 4:00-6:00

n.Wed.Frl 5:00-7:00 es, Thurs 4:00-6:00 12:00-2:00 (785) 776-3663

BEDROOMS

STUDIOS, 1, 2, 3, 4 BEDROOM UNITS

1611 Laramle #2
Mon. Wed. Frl 8:00-11:00am
3:30-6:00
Tues, Thurs 2:00-5:00

Royal Towers
1700 N. Manhattan #402
Mon- Fri 2:00-4:00
Sun 12:00-2:00

STUDIOS

Mon,Wed,Fri 12:00-4:00 Sat 1:00-3:00

www.firstmanagementinc.com

First Management

Campaign for Real Beauty
Be healthy. Be sensible. Be YOU!

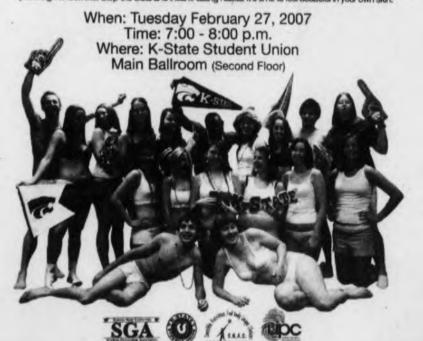

should get a

Phone Book

Campus

Meet Stroy Nadow - one of the brave Dove 'Real Women' who stood proudly with five other women in her underwear as part of the Dove Campaign for Real Beauty.

Stacy will share her experience as a Dove model and encourage you to feel great about yourself no matter what you weigh or look like. Stop the diets and insane eating habits! It's time to feel beautiful in your own skin.

CANDIDATES | Most funds go to shirts, signs

Continued from Page 1

Candidates are required to file reports listing all donors to their campaigns.

Wagner and Peele have raised the most money with $3,203.75. Wagner he expected there to be a significant sum left over after the elections, and he and Peele plan to donate it to a foundation scholarship.

Mosimann and received $2,805 in total. Mosimann's parents donated $52.16, just enough to bring The pair up to the limit on donations not from students.

"We weren't going to ask them for contributions, but they really wanted to," Mosimann said.

Candidates for student body president and vice president are allowed to use as much as $800 from their own money and outside contributors. The rest must come from K-State students who can vote in the election. Candidates may accept as much as $20 from

Expenses by candidates for student body president and vice president

	Signs*	T-shirts	Chalk
Hilburn-Feeley	None	$162.48 80 shirts	None
Mosimann-Piper	$603.58 250 signs	$1,414.67 400 shirts	$52
Ogan-Blush	None	$300 40 shirts	$6.47
Wagner-Peele	$351.20	$1,624.83	$34.60

* Signs represented in this cost-expense category are only tree-mounted signs. ** Hilburn and Feeley's filings included 40 shirts they said they planned to purchase in the near future.

each student.

Nick Levendofsky, Student Governing. Association elections commissioner and junior in agricultural communications and journalism, said Hilburn and Feeley and Ogan and Blush did not file contribution reports because they received less than $800. He said Ogan and Blush will receive late contributions and will have to report them next week.

Blush said the pair is late because their T-shirts, which they will be giving to contributors for money, are not yet in. The pair will turn in a contribution report Friday.

Hilburn and Feeley could not be reached for this story.

MISS RODEO | Position teaches time management skills

Continued from Page 1

ride," Holland said. "It's so much of the competition and so much of what it takes to do well on the road - 80 percent of the time people saw me as Miss Rodeo K-State I was on horseback."

Holland said Smith stood out in the competition.

"She did amazing," Holland said. "She won every single category. I'm proud of all the girls because they all have improved so much, but she just took this pageant and ran with it."

The pageant was not easy to win, Smith said.

"I studied as hard as I would for a final in a class," Smith said. "And I was riding everyday."

As Miss Rodeo K-State, Smith will travel and represent the K-State rodeo club. Holland said she has traveled to many rodeos, parades and even a cancer ride.

"I was on the road for three months out of the summer," Holland said. "As Miss Rodeo K-State you have to want to be around people and be a public person."

Smith said she is looking forward to traveling.

"This will bring many brand new experiences to me," Smith said.

Miss Rodeo K-State also is in charge of planning the next year's pageant. Holland said working on the pageant helped her gain many skills she will use in the future.

"It's definitely taught me patience and organization. It's all about time management," she said.

Holland said the best way for Smith to represent K-State as Miss K-State Rodeo is just to be friendly.

"It's important that we're getting the spirit of rodeo out there and making it something that is on people's minds," she said.

RODEO | Many fill arena to support rodeo participants

Continued from Page 1

land had reigned as the K-State rodeo queen since last year's ro-

The main event followed the crowning ceremony, with men splitting their pants after falling off the bucking horses, and barrel-racing horses kicking up

In all, Daly said Saturday evening's rodeo went well.

McQuade, who was a nominee for rodeo queen, said she was impressed by the number of people who came to the rodeo.

"There really weren't any open seats in the house," she said. "It was amazing."

She said she was especially impressed with the number of students who attended.

"I hope every year we get that many more students coming," she said. "Our rodeo is one of the largest rodeos around. It's great to have the student body supporting us."

During the three days, Doug Munsell and his son Wacey served as the rodeo entertainment and performed various humorous routines.

Shonda Wilson, K-State alumna and former K-State Rodeo team member, said she comes back to offer support even though she now is an assistant coach at another college.

After the events on Friday and Saturday, participants and the crowd were invited to a rodeo after party at RC McGraw's.

The three-day event culminated Sunday with the finals of several events, including bronc riding, steer wrestling and breakaway roping.

McKinstry said the overall rodeo went smoothly.

"It was probably the best one we've had in the past few years."

JAZZ | Group to take cultural classes; South American tour will fulfill course requirements

Continued from Page 1

excited about the opportunity to learn about other cultures and music genres.

"Most of these cultures actually have had a very drastic impact on American jazz in the last 50 years," said Matt Leifer, drummer for the group and ju-Dior in music. "It will be a good apportunity to go and actually see it from the source."

To prepare for the trip, the five members will take two courses about the music and cultures of the South American countries. Goins will teach a course on South American music, and Bradley Shaw, associate professor of modern languages, will teach language, politics and other aspects of South American societies.

Crum's

"It's not only an opportunity to learn cool stuff that I'm interested in anyway, but I also think it's a great opportunity provided by the university," Leifer said. "We will be able to present ourselves as well-informed citizens not just stupid American tourists."

Though Goins has traveled across the world with various jazz groups, most of the members have not performed overseas. Phil Ward, brass player and graduate student in music, said he played in Europe for three weeks, but the trip to South America will be a totally different experience for the whole group.

Goins said he also received a large amount of support from several college administration members.

"President Wefald has been our biggest supporter from day one," he said.

The band will perform at several different venues in Manhattan and Kansas before the trip. The members said they thought they were musically ready for the trip.

"I don't think I've ever had a group of students that play on the level that these students do and I felt confident enough to take out of the country," Goins

Although the group has been together since the beginning of last semester, they said they have all performed with each other over the past four or

During this time period, Kelly McCarty, bass player and senior in applied music, said they have learned what to expect from each other.

"The four of us have played so much over the past three or four years that none of us necessarily have to lead on the bandstand just because we know what each other kind of wants," he said.

Much of the group's performances focus on the performers' ability to improvise, said Rick Smith, guitar player and senior in music education.

"It's kind of a chance to show who I am and show what my influences are, based on what I play," he said. "But it's also very technically demand-Leifer said they have practiced enough to know their strengths and when members like to improvise solos.

"It's hard to learn but it almost makes your job easier in the long run," he said. "There's always new stuff to learn about it, but in a certain sense, we can all just pick up our instruments and play right now."

Smith said he could not pick a better group of performers.

"This trip would awesome even if we were going with people we necessarily didn't like, but we are brothers here," he said.

This is the last semester in the jazz program for most of the members of the group.

Goins said the members will write an essay and discuss what they learned from the trip to fulfill course requirements. After that, some will remain in the program, and others will leave and find work elsewhere.

REPAIRING SHOES · BOOTS · PURSES LUGGAGE . HARNESS . BACK PACKS · LEATHERCOATS BIRKENSTOCKS

Be Smooo Now's the time to start waxing for Spring Break! Manscaping Bikini Wax $20 azillian Wax $40

MANHATTAN SHOE REPAIR

Now $37.50

Hours: M-F 8-5:30 • Saturday 8-12 216 S. 4th St. (4th & Pierre) • 776-1193

Need a New Wardrobe for your trip? Check out the Suit up for Spring Break The hottest swimwear available exclusively

110 S. 4th St. Downtown Manhattan

Advice for world travelers.

If you're planning a trip overseas, contact your credit card company and let them know. That way. when foreign charges begin showing up on your card, they won't hesitate to process the transactions quickly. Visit our Web site for additional tips.

INTRUST has the currencles you need to travel anywhere!

- . Major and most minor currencies available daily other currencies available upon request
- · Rates set daily
- · Non-customer transactions welcome
- · Travel Tip Pack provided with purchase · Traveler's Checks denominated in foreign currencies
- · Currency packets in Euros or British pounds available at select INTRUST locations
- ($100 minimum trade required) · No transaction fee
- · Buy-back guarantee

yes you can.

call the experts at 316-383-1287

For questions

about our foreign currency and other

Banking services

INTRUST

LET'S REN'

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

block to campus. New con-struction. One and twoapartments, dishwasher, balcony, private parking, security lighting. No pets. June 2007 lease. 785-539-5508 785-564-0857

1215 POYNTZ, across from city park with off-street parking. Central air, washer/ dryer. Neutral col-Water and trash paid. June lease. No pets. 785-313-4812.

1628 FAIRVIEW. Quiet droom ($400) and Studio ($375) near KSU. trash Water, paid. No pets, no smoking. 1 530-342-1121.

1832 CLAFLIN. Across from Marlatt Hall. Twoapartments. bedroom ing. No smoking, no pets. $560. August leases. 785-539-5508 or

350 N. 16th. Two blocks to K-State and Aggieville two-bedroom apartments. Clean, quiet, private parking. No smoking, no pets. $580. June and August 785-539-5508 785-564-0857.

JUNE LEASE two-bedroom apartment. Walk to campus. Excellent condition/ location. http://www.rentkstate.com 785-410-2814

PRE-LEASING JUNE and August. Some units brand to washer/ dryer included. 785-776-2102. youngwilks@yahoo.com, www.wilksapts.com ment. Newly renovated.

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

Available June 1. $600,

two blocks to campus and central air, laundry facility.

TWO-BEDROOM SPE

CIAL at Park Place Apart ments. $495 rent plus free

cable through July '07.

TWO-BEDROOMS. ALL

VERY NICE three-bed

room, two bath apartment

Three blocks to Aggieville. 822 Fremont. Affordable

WHY RENT WHEN YOU CAN BUY? Condos for room starting at $112,650. collegiatevilla.com 785-537-2096.

WILDCAT VILLAGE. Available June or August four

dryer,

room, $1400. Cable paid.

1420

Beechwood Terrace

Lg. 2 & 3 Bedroom

New Apartment

11/2 Baths

Washer/Dryer

Energy Efficient

On a Wooded

Secluded 2 Acre Lot

with Creek

$740 & $885

341-4024

Preleasing!

Spacious 1 & 2 Bedroom Apts

Few Spaces Remain for

Graduate Students
 Upper Classmen

Storm Center
 Customer Service
 Three-Time witner of the National Multifamily CEL Award for the #1 in
 Customer Service in Americal

On-Site Management Office Full-time Maintenance Personnel

WESTCHESTER PARK

776-1118

24-hour Emergency Staf

Quiet Park Like Setting

Storm Cente

785-776-2425

lage-rentals.com

storm

Two and three-b utilities, August 785-313-1807.

bills paid. 785-341-4496

785-539-2951.

Dishwasher,

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

room. Close to campus. Central air, dishwasher, coin operated laundry fa-No 785-537-1746 785-539-1545.

level duplex with neutra dryer furnished. 817 Vatthree-bedroom lower level duplex with new carwasher/ dryer hook-ups. Very reasonable rent with great space in both du No pets. Call 785-313-4812

ICE DUPLEX 606 Vatbath includes all applipets. Available August 1 785-293-5197

> 120 Rent-Houses

1001 KEARNEY Four-Bedroom, Five, Six Seven-Bedroom houses. All JUNE 1 rentals. Pets OK. 785-317-7713.

1535 CAMPUS Road Four-bedroom, two baths. furnished. Neutral colors nice, new Large bedrooms for an afprice. 785-313-4812.

1865 PLATT. Four-bed-Central Washer/ dryer, June 1st lease. No pets. Also have threeavailable. 785-565-1748.

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

TWO-REDROOM

CLOSE to campus. Personal washer/ dryer. $645-

TWO-BEDROOM, many

Pre-lease

Today for Spring!

Only A few homes remain

Washer/Dryers or

hookups available

· Garages Available

Peaceful Garden

Enormous Closets

GEORGETOWN

776-8080

www.GeorgetownApts.net

Spacious

Duplexes

K-State student

closets, all kitchen street parking, phone and cable connections in every oom, security lighting, trash

Security deposit is the same as one month's rent. The lease period begins August 1

4 Bedrooms, 2 Baths

2 Levels Study office.

4 Bedrooms, 2 Baths

Sorry, No Pets!

Quiet Neighborhood,

Convenient and Close to Campus. Day: 313-0751 Night: 537-4682

Need a

Subleaser

Advertise

785-532-6555

ONLY $1,150/mo

1,600 Sq. Ft.

1,300 Sq. Ft.

ONLY $1,150/mo

for one year.

Storm Center

Setting

On-Site Management

Private Fitness Center

August. 785-341-0686.

month.

$675/

200 N. 11th. On City Park. Two large, sunny three-bedroom ($750). Laundry. Water, trash paid. pets, no smoking, 1 JUNE Laramle and 1 AUGUST. washer/ 530-342-1121.

NEW LISTING, ava room house located of Aggieville at Laramle. Two

June 1. Four to five-bed

dryer,

plus

NEXT TO campus, one

houses, and apartments.

June or August 1st. $325, $330, $360, $370, and

THREE-BEDROOM MAIN

dryer in both. Separate leases, available August

785-868-3471 call after

THREE-BEDROOM

TWO bath duplex, two car

well mainta

rooms. Two blocks to cam-

leases. No pets, laundry

TWO-BEDROOM.

CLOSE to campus. Large bedrooms, available June washer/ dryer. No pets

August, $730 7 8 5 - 5 3 7 - 8 4 2 0

VERY NICE five-bedroom

two bath. Available June

roommates in four-bed-

Laramie. $285 per room.

THREE-BEDROOM

UNIT, located at 8/ 802

North 5th. No pets, $975/ month, available June 1.

WALK TO class. One,

120

Rent-Houses

1310 N. 11th. Two-bed

1417 NICHOLS, four-bedrooms, family room. 1909

Kenmar, three-bedrooms.

washer/ dryer, garage game room, fenced yard/

ATTRACTIVE

THREE-BEDROOMhomesAvalable June 1. Locations: 2078 College View, 2505 Winne, 1841 Platte. $950/ month. No pets. Contact

bath house for rent. 931

Washer/ dryer, window air-conditioning. Fenced back-yard, pets allowed. Off-street parking. $1500/ month. 785-539-4949.

FIVE-BEDROOM. June,

Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rent-

bedroom duplex. Good lo-cation with dishwasher, washer and dryer. No

FOUR LARGE bedroom,

two bath, quiet location near KSU. Washer/ dryer, gieville. Parking and laun-dry. 785-539-5800.

785-537-7597.

785-532-9564.

$1160.

August. Alliance

-776-7706.

June lease

Rentals.

patio. 785-539-1177.

Available 785-539-1975

785-313-8292

785-313-0455.

Vattier.

FIVE-BEDROOM,

no

smoking.

One-half

785-539-1975

785-313-8292

June lease. No

close to campus.

two bathrooms,

June

500

TWO-BEDROOMS.

785-341-5346

785-712-7257.

LOOKING

785-410-2916

785-564-0372.

central

hook-ups,

$295/

garage, washer/

very well Available June 1, Available June 1,

7p.m.

Washer/ dryer, central

pets. 785-537-7050.

ONE-BEDROOMS

$390. 785-712-7257.

AUGUST LEASE, ierre, 420 Laramie. four-bedroom, two Washer/ dryer, central air conditioning. Large bedrooms. 785-313-3976, 785-313-5573.

AVAILABLE JUNE Three to four-bedroom house, 1541 Hillcrest, No. smoking, no pets. $1035. 785-456-3021.

AVAILABLE JUNE 1st. Three-bedroom, one block vest of campus. Washer, dryer, and dishwasher included. $870 per month. Jim, 785-565-1748.

AVAILABLE JUNE, four-Washer/ dryer, dishwasher, central conditioning. mont, 1022 Humboldt. Jeff Doug 785-313-5573

BEAUTIFUL REMOD-ELED homes. 1612, 1614 Pierre, four- five-bedroom paint. New kitchen, bath, modern appliances. Close to campus. Move in June; August. 785-304-0387. BRITTNAY RIDGE town house four/ five-bedroom two and one-half baths, in appliances, vasher/ dryer. No pets August 785-293-5197

FIVE-BEDROOM HOUSE. Walk to campus Two kitchens, fireplaces central air, neutral colors, washer/ dryer furnished, lawn mainte garage, No pets. Call 785-313-4812. FOUR-BEDROOM. TWO bath, close to campus. living Washer/ dryer, central air. No pets. June and August leases, 785-336-1124.

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

NOW LEASING

Pebblebrook

537-9064

Close to Campus!

•2000 College Hts• •1114 Fremont• •519 Osage•

1117

Rent-Duplexes

FOUR-BEDROOM three (August) $1280, Washer/ Dryer hookups, offstreet park-

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO

bath duplex for rent plus study room. One-half block from KSU. Everything new, completely re-modeled including new hardwood floors, new coverings,

kitchen cabinets and appliances (even washer and $1400/ month. June possession. Call Regina at

Need Some Help?

Advertise

it in the

Collegian.

Emerald Property Ma agement 785-587-9000.

r). Trash and lawn included. No pets

ing, great location,

785-532-8256

120.

FOUR-BEDROOM pus. Large backyard. Cen-tral air/ heat. No smoking or pets. Wired for hot tub. August lease. $1100. month. 1520 Hartford $1100/ Road, 785-759-3520.

FOUR-BEDROOM, ONE bath house for rent. 900 Washer/ dryer, central air-conditioning. Fenced back-yard, pets allowed. $1200/ month. Party shack and

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO and one-half bath, study August 1. $975 per month. Knight Real Estate. Call 785-539-5394

FOUR-BEDROOM JUNE, July, August. Al-liance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.: rent-apm.com Available now or fall. No

ONE TO five-bedroom apartments and houses. 785-539-1975 785-313-8292.

ONE-BEDROOM TO five bedrooms. Apartments Most close to campus or August leases. Check emeraldpropertymanag-ment.com or call Emerald 785-587-9000 for more in-

RENTAL HOUSE, $800. One year lease. June 2007 to May 2008. Excel lent distance to walk to . Call Mrs. Kim 913-681-9959.

SEVEN TO eight-bedroom (two kitchen). June, July, August. Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rent-SIX-BEDROOM kitchen). June, July, Au gust. Alliance Propert Management Alliance Property apm.com bath, attached garage. ROOM. bath. Washer/ dryer, Available May 1. $1100/ month plus utilities. 785-313-1886

THREE, FOUR, FIVE, SIX PLUS BEDROOMS. Looking for that perfect home rent? Great and prices. Capstone agement 785-341-0686

ROOMS, near campus. August lease, pets ok. 785-776-2051

THREE-BEDROOM HOUSE at 1721 son. Available June 1. Un-furnished, off-street parking. $750 per month. Call KSU Foundation at 785-532-7569

THREE-BEDROOM TWO bath, one mile west of campus. Washer and dryer provided, $1000 per month. 785-313-7473. THREE-BEDROOM.

two, three, four-bedroom JUNE, July, August. Al-liance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.-No smoking, no drinking, no pets. 785-539-1554. rent-apm.com TWO-BEDROOMS.

JUNE, July, August. Al-liance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.rent-apm.com

1245 Sale-Houses

CONDOS FOR SALE. Two and three-bedroom starting at $112,650. collegiatevilla.com 785-537-2096. FABULOUS UPDATED

Call

502 FREMONT, three-bedfour-bedroom, one and one-half bath, brick ranch room, one bath, no pets. home located west $149,900. 785-539-6751

> 245 Roommate Wanted CHRISTIAN

seeks two female room mates starting fall 2007. August to May lease. New three-bedroom, two bath house with washer/ dryer. $350 plus one-third utilities. Call 847-975-1484 FEMALE HOUSEMATE.

No drinking/ smoking. $295/ month. One-third utilities, washer/ dryer, Auca313@ksu.edu, 785-537-1464 MALE, WALK to class, all washer dryer without mepets, 785-539-1554. ROOMMATE NEEDED until May 31. Rent $275/ month plus one-fourth utilities. Washer/ dryer, dish in house. Call 785-537-3737.

A/C. No smoking/ pets. June. 785-539-8553. ROOMMATES NEEDED for two bedrooms in five-FOUR TO five-bedrooms, Close to campus. Outdoor central air, dishwasher. 620-382-7241.

TWO ROOMS available in FOUR-BEDROOM AND four-bedroom house, fesix-bedroom houses. Close to campus and Agmale roommates wanted 316-461-2317 913-206-5785.

BARTENDING! $300

-800-965-6520 ext. 144

CAMP TAKAJO Naples,

Maine, noted for pic-turesque lakefront loca-

Mid- June through mid-

August. Counselor positions in tennis, baseball, photography.

takalo.com.

evenings.

ent wages. 785-564-2590.

HORTICULTURAL SER-

VICES, Inc. is seeking reliable, motivated individu-time seasonal positions in our retail garden center.

commensurate with experience and abilities. Apply in person at 11524 Landscape Lane, St. George, Kansas 785-494-2418 or

HOWE LANDSCAPE Inc.

available for our landscaping, irrigation and mowing/ntenance crews. is for full time and part time help, with flexible schedules for students, blocks of time. Applicants must be 18 years or age

us at howeland@kansas.-

Got old stuff?

four preferably

Above average

BANK TELLER. HOUSE SEVEN minutes from campus. $200.00 per opening for full-time front line and/ or drive-up teller. Looking for outgoing, energetic, profes-sional, service oriented SUBLEASER Prior bank or cash handling experience for Spring 2007 $315/ month. month. Four-bed-Forty hour work week. Great hours. Great benemonth's rent paid, cheap utilities. 913-495-2558 or 913-406-1034. THREE-BEDROOM

150

APARTMENT two blocks to campus, close to Ag-gleville. Rent $300/ person. Call 785-221-6680. TWO-BEDROOM APART-

MENT, walk to campus, $620/ month includes utili-785-275-1409 leave

Pet/Livestock Services

Service Directory

785-539-0227.

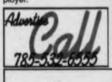

Employment/Careers

THE COLLEGIAN cannot are advised to approach any such business opportion. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, Topeka, KS 66 (785)232- 0454. KS 66607-1190.

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSIS-TANT- Networks Plus, the eader in providing business computer services, has a full-time position in Manhattan, KS. This challenging position requires the ability to and have a valid drivers lihandle multiple tasks and priorities while maintain- $8.00/ hour. Apply three ing a positive and ener- ways, in person Monday getic attitude. $12/ hour, through Friday at 12780 full-time only, opportunities for advancement. E- 785-485-2857 to obtain mail resume in Microsoft an application; or e-mail Word or text format to: jobs@civicplus.com.

AS NEEDED JUVENILE INTAKE AND ASSESS-MENT OFFICER. Biley County Community Corrections is accepting appli-cations for several as take and assessment officers. Minimum requirements include a school diploma. rate for call-out duty is $10. On-call reimbursement is $30/ day. On-call officers work a rotating oncall schedule, with the usual schedule being one week of on-call duty every 8- 10 weeks. Law enforce-ment experience or direct experience working with juveniles is preferred. Valid driver's license and ability to work flexible hours is mandatory. Applications can be obtained from Riley County Clerk's Office, 110 Courthouse 66502, or visit our webwww.rileycountyks,-Riley County is an opportunity emequal

Network Support Technician

in the

KANSAS STATE

COLLEGIAN

532-6555

Salina Public Schools is seeking a professional to join the Information Technology team in delivering services to 1700+ certified and classified employees. 3-5 Years experience with Windows operating systems, A+ and Network Certifications. Ability to lift and deliver 40 pounds. Salary commensurate with qualifications and experience. Applications accepted until filled. For more information or to apply, go to www.usd305.com. EOE

JOIN THE K-State Online ated Education, and conportant K-State web sites and applications. Candidates must be motivated, capable of learning new skills quickly, self-di-rected, able to work at is a plus but not required. least 15 hours a week, fits. Apply at Kansas State and willing to devote at least a year to the posi-tion. Working with web 1010 Westloop, Manhattan. Equal Opporthat values its students lenging work environment. ence necessary. Training rting wages begin at $7.00. For more information email us at omeof-fice@ksu.edu help in Scrapbook store. Monday- Wednesday- Friday daytime. Experience preferred. Please call Sabrina 785-410-3177.

lacrosse, golf, flag foot-ball, roller hockey, swim-ming, salling, water skling, LUNCHROOM GROUND SUPERVI-SORS. Immediate open-ings- Manhattan- Ogden gymnastics, dance, horseback riding, archery, weight training, newspa-Elementary Schools. $6.50 per hour one and a half- two hours per day woodworking, ceramics/ pottery, crafts, fine arts, 11:00 a.m.- 1:00 p.m. Apsilver jewelry, copper enamel, nature study, rausd383.org/District/Hucopper manResources/ or apply at Human Resources Dedio/ electronics, theater, costumer, piano accompa nist, music instrumental-ist, backpacking, rock Applications climbing, canoeing/ kayakfilled. Apply to Manhattan-Ogden USD 383, 2031 ing, ropes course, secre-tarial, nanny. Call Takajo at 866-356-2267. Submit yntz Avenue, Manhat-785-587-2000. Equal Oponline portunity Employer.

COMPLETE OUTDOORS MATH TEACHER: USD Inc. seeking all positions in landscape, irrigation, 378 is accepting applica-tions for a high school maintenance Contact math teacher. boultz@usd378.com HARVEST HELP wanted. 785-485-4000.

Late May through August. NOW HIRING. Fridge Wholesale Liquor. 10- 20 NOW HIRING. Pays well. 785-587-1956, HAY COMPANY in search of summer workers, farm experience needed. Excel-

PART-TIME cashier and associate needed. evenings and weekends Apply at 800 Creek Blvd.

PLAY SPORTS! Have fun! Save money! Maine counselors to teach. Al land, adventure and water Great summer! Call 888-844-8080, apply:

PROGRAMMER- CIVIC-PLUS is the nations City. provider of County, and School web sites. Full-time position in and SQL experience retime and a half for over Health Dental Paid Holi-401K matching. Email resume in Microsoft Word or text format to jobs@civic-PROJECT

CivicPlus has an opening quarters office for a fullproject manager This challenging position entails managing multiple website redesign projects from start to finish. Position requires attention to detail, the ability to manage multiple tasks, priorities and deadlines and a cheerful attitude. Training is provided. Benefits in clude health, dental, paid holidays, paid vacation and 401(k) matching. Email resume in text or Word format to jobs@civicplus.com.

MANAGER PROJECT quarters office for a fulltime Project Manager. This Challenging position entails managing multiple age multiple task, priori-ties and deadlines and a cheerful attitude. Training is provided. Benefits in-clude Health, Dental, Paid Holidays, Paid Vacation matching and 401(k) Email resume in text of Word format to jobs@civicplus.com.

SEVERAL POSITIONS available for field technichickens are ideal for anyone interfor wildlife biology. Will be hours per starting imm Pay is $6.25 sons please send resume and cover letter via e-mail to grego1aj@ksu.edu or call 785-532-6413.

TAPS LANDSCAPING is looking for dependable self motivated full and part by e-mail tapsirrigation@s 785-539-8675, 9am-4pm.

VILLAGE INN, join our team! Now hiring full-time hosts and part-time cooks at our Manhattan, KS Competitive restaurant. wages, friendly environopportunities for advance-Equal Opportunity Em-

WILDCATSNEEDJOBS .-COM. PAID survey takers needed in Manhattan. surveys.

tions Available. Earn up to $150 per day. Experience not required. Undercover shoppers needed to judge retail and dining ments. Call 800-722-4791.

Open Market

Items for Sale

COACH BOB Huggin edition, in original box, two available, make offer trade. Call Dallas 513-522-1048.

HIDE A bed couch. $100 or best offer. Table and four chairs. $225 or best offer. 785-539-0227.

KING SIZE waterbed complete setup includes frame sheets, liner, matpad. $200. 785-587-5720.

POOL TABLE for sale Good condition. 785-564-1465.

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

su do ku

Fill in the grid so that every row, every column, and every 3 x 3 box contains the digits 1 through 9 with no repeats.

			4			3
	9	1			3	6	2
5	5			1	8		9
	5	7		9				3
		2	5		6	9
8				7		1	6
	3		9	6			7	2
	7	6	1			4	3
		4			7

Solution and tips at www.sudoku.com

Real Hope, Real Help, Real Options Free pregnancy testing Totally confidential service Same day results • Call for appointment

FICTION Earbud Evil | The alarm clock was the first to go

By Logan C. Adams KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Editor's note: This is the first segment of "Earbud Evil," a fictional story the Collegian will publish daily for the next three weeks. This story follows Alex, a fictional K-State student, as he deals with a campus-wide crisis that threatens the university.

Though the names of real people will accompany made-up characters, all events are fictional. This is intended for entertainment and is not factually based.

I had a nice alarm clock once, but I broke it.

It was this little plastic box the same size and shape as most digital alarm clocks: four inches wide, three inches deep and two inches high with a big snooze button and the red, glaring numbers they all come with. I sometimes wonder if clock designers suffer from peer crushing pressure.

This alarm was special, though, because I never had to set the time. It simply found the right time when I plugged it in. The clock would turn off during overnight power outages, then pop back on just in time to set off the alarm. It remembered its set alarm time, too, through some mechanism I doubt I'll ever understand.

Most people like dependable things, but I came to dislike this alarm clock on mornings when the will to face the day was particularly elusive. I'd wish it would fail from time to time like a normal, cheap, imported electronic device is supposed to do.

But this one didn't. It rang every morning and pulled my sorry self from my scarce slumber and ordered me to face the world.

I hated this timepiece for operating, forgive the pun, like clockwork. It was not an aid that kept me from missing the classes I'd paid so much to attend, but an evil, inanimate little demon that ruined what often was the best part of my day. So I killed it, in a manner of speaking.

This clock had seen plenty of falls since I bought it freshman year. Its first, as far as I know, was the five feet between the shelf my left arm knocked it from and the dirty tile floor of the hardware store that made me buy it. The second was the three feet between my car's trunk and the concrete parking lot in front of the same store. Three, four, five and six came before I ever plugged it in, and dozens more came during its lifetime.

Perhaps it was a suicidal alarm clock.

The final drop, not two feet from my nightstand to a waddedup coat at my bedside, came a few days ago when I took a swipe at the darned squealing that never stopped. I woke up two hours later, realized what I'd done and jolted out of bed. After a quick

Eyebrow Wax

Haircut & HiLite

Men's Haircuts

Pedicure w/ Any Service

785.539.3626 MANHATTAN, KS 66503 EXPIRES 3.31.07

Transmission Filter and Fluid always a good

Manhattan, KS

Massage w/ KSU ID

shower and shave, I tossed a stack of books into my pack and left. My precious 20 GB iPod, with the 895 songs I normally need to have with me, staved behind. I might have been humming

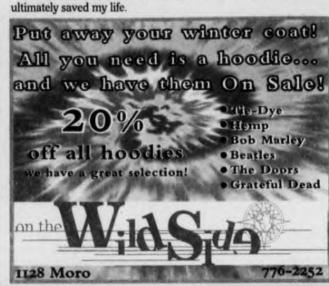

"Flight of the Bumblebee" throughout my hurried morning routine, but music was not a priority this day.

I cursed myself for ruining one of my few dependable pieces of property as I made my way north along 17th Street to campus, where I hoped to make it to the end of my second morning class, Mass Communication in Society. Sneaking into class wasn't a problem because it's in Umberger 105, one of the largest rooms on

I walked fast, but not fast enough. I got in the doors just before the professor made his last remark about radio and something called an "Audion Tube." I heard the roar of countless backpacks zipping closed as a few hundred students got up to leave, and I went right back out before the human tidal wave overcame me.

I felt lousy for breaking the clock and missing two classes while

I moped my way west to Botany lab in Ackert Hall. I hadn't the slightest idea that my alarm clock's unlikely demise

Get your body bikini ready! tillian wax only $45

Mention this ad when you book your appointment for a cut and highlite and receive a FREE giftt ESSENTIALS

HAVE A SAFE SPRING BREAK

We Specialize in Automatic

Transmissions and Clutches Domestic & Most Foreign Cars
 Certified Technicians
 ERVINGTHE MANHATTAN AREA FOR OVER 22 YEARS

Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m.-5 p.m. 2333 Sky-Vue Ln.

785-539-2900

Alorica INC.

FLEXIBLE SCHEDULES FUN ENVIRONMENT FANTASTIC WAGES

GAIN WORK EXPERIENCE BUILD YOUR RESUME START YOUR CAREER

NOW HIRING

www.aloricajobs.com

5970 SYKES BLVD MANHATTAN, KS 66502

PH: (785) 564-4413

or

LASSIFIEDS

Classifieds continue on the next page

LET'S HELP OUR LOCAL CHARITIES.

Please consider a contribution to support our local charities.

THINK GLOBALLY. ACT LOCALLY.

Bulletin Board

010

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes and lowest rates. Call 785-776-1744, www.-

020 Lost and Found

Housing/Real Estate

Manhattan CITY Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity inhousing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, na-tional origin or ancestry. ported to the Director of pets Human Resources at City great

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

ery person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, na-tional origin or ancestry Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

AVAILABLE JUNE 1, onetional origin or ancestry. bedroom, large, clean. Violations should be re- Only pay electricity. Small $570/

Call 785-532-6555 to

210 Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

MANHATTAN CITY Ordipets. Close to campus. 785-539-1975 785-313-8292. ADJACENT TO campus.

One-bedroom, central heat and air. All bills paid, except electricity. June 1st possession. $475. 785-532-8771 785-537-0460.

ALLIANCE PROPERTY MANAGEMENT, One-bedroom. June, July, August. 785-539-4357. www.rent-

ONE, TWO, four, five-bedroom apartments/ houses June and August leases. 785-564-0857.

ONE, TWO, three, and four-bedroom apartments. Close to campus and ag-gieville. Parking and laundry. 785-539-5800 five, six bedroom apartappliances furnished, no ment/ houses next to campus. Washer/ dryer, cen-tral air. No Pets. 785-537-7050.

> ONE-BEDROOM APART-MENTS in quiet six-plex at 1811 Platt. Available June 1st. Unfurnished, central air, parking, water and trash paid. No pets. $375 per month. Call KSU Foundation 785-532-7569 785-532-7541.

ONE-BEDROOM TO five-

bedrooms. Apartments, duplexes and homes. Most close to campus. Some farther away. June or August leases. Check out our website www.emeraldpropertymanagment.com or call Emerald Property Management 785-587-9000 for more in-

PLACE Apart ments. One- Bedrooms Summer/ fall leasing. Pets welcome. One- half mile from KSU at Seth Child and Claffin. 785-539-2951. PARK PLACE Apartments. Two- bedrooms. Pets welcome. Summer/ Fall leasing. One- half-mile from KSU at Seth Child and Claffin. 785-539-2951.

THREE AND four-bed room apartments available in August. Close tocampus. Water and trash paid. Coin operated laun-785-537-7810.

TWO, THREE and fourbedrooms, close to campus, central air, dishwasher, laundry facilities. No pets, available February 1, 785-539-0866.

785-537-2255.

ONE-THREE-BED-Management ROOMS, near campus.

August lease, pets ok. 785-776-2051.

Operation in India helps student regain use of his arm

By Willow Williamson KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Levi Flory has not been able to use his arm since a motorcycle wreck in July 2001.

Flory, senior in horticulture, landed on his shoulder so hard he severed three of the five nerves in his spinal cord that controlled his right arm. Doctors said there was no chance to correct the injury and that he would never be able to move his arm again.

"You've screwed something up we can't fix, so live with it," Flory said the doctors told him.

Flory said he did not give up, though.

He kept talking to doctors and tried to find different opinions. He was referred to Dr. Rahul Nath in Houston, who took some nerves from the back of Flory's calves and put them into his arms.

"Not as much came back as I had hoped," Flory said. "I got a little bit of function and a little bit of feeling."

About three years later, Nath recommended a procedure that could restore more movement and feeling to Flory's arm.

Flory had a choice to make: he could have Nath, who had very little experience with the surgery, perform the operation at a cost of $250,000 or he could travel to India, where doctors had done the surgery numerous times with a 98-percent success rate. In India, the surgery would cost $3,750.

"There was no question in our mind," said Iulie Darrah. Flory's mother.

Flory and Darrah traveled to India in December 2006, where doctors performed an intensive surgery on him for 11 hours.

"They live their job," Darrah said. "They breathe it. Its phenomenal."

The entire trip, including airplane tickets, surgery, housing, food and hospital fees for both Flory and his mother, cost

"They took such good care of me over there," Flory said. "They were so dedicated to their work."

Flory said his medical experience in India exceeded the standards in the United States.

"Here in the States you'd see a doctor the day before you go in and have a surgery, and then you'd see him the day before your release," Flory said. "They (the doctors in India) came and checked on me twice a day, every day for two weeks."

Family friend John Bechtel started a fund to help Flory and Darrah while they were in In-

Bechtel said he had known the family for a long time and though someone should start a fund, so he and Jerry Wark, another friend, took it upon them-

Betchel and Wark organized a raffle and put advertisements in the newspapers and on the radio stations. They also set up an account with Community First Bank to which donors could send money.

The project raised a good amount of money for Flory, Bechtel said, although it did not cover everything. He would not say how much money was

Flory still has his arm in a sling and has not fully regained movement and feeling, but he said he hopes for continued improvement in the coming

"In the next three years, I

Catrina Rawson | COLLEGIAN

Jeremy Flory, senior in horticulture, traveled to India for surgery in December 2006. He said he opted for surgery outside of the United States because it cost $3,750 in India, as opposed to $250,000 in Houston.

should be in some condition to work and slowing down on surgeries," he said.

Flory said he wants to raise awareness for getting alternative medical help. "I just want to get the word out there, if you have something similar, to contact me, and I will help you go down the right path," Flory said.

Darrah said the reason she and Flory found the doctors in India is because they never wanted to give up.

"We just kept running into a brick wall," she said, but they

Flory said it took his will and determination to find all of his options.

"It's changed my way of life." Flory said. "It has changed the way I look at life."

Ceremony to celebrate low-income housing development opening

By Logan C. Adams KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A ribbon-cutting ceremony will celebrate a new low-income housing development in northwest Manhattan Tuesday.

The celebration for "The Gardens at the Flint Hills" is set to start at 11 a.m. Tuesday at 1400 Flint Hills Place.

The Manhattan Area Housing Partnership and the Manhattan Housing Authority own the development, near the intersection of Kimball and Manhattan avenues.

JoAnn Sutton, executive director for the housing authority, said workers broke ground for the 48-unit development at the end of 2005.

"I believe it was the coldest day in December," Sutton said.

She said the buildings mostly more finished last month, and only a few minor details require completion. Half the units already are rented out, she said.

The development's units are two- and three-bedroom apartments that people who meet certain eligibility requirements can rent. The requirements include income and citizenship restrictions, she said.

The person or people in each household must make less than 60 percent of median area income to rent a unit, Sutton said, and the rent varies depending on income and unit size. She said it ranges between $400 and $590 per month.

About $3.6 million in tax credit funds and a $200,000 loan paid for the development, Sutton said. She said there are funds left over, which will be kept in reserve.

"The property is self-sustaining," Sutton said. "The

from taxpayers who donate

Once in a Lifetime

rents will pay the bills." The tax credit funds come cial uses to get a larger amount taken off of their tax liability, she said.

money toward a fund for spe-

The two-bedroom units have 960 square feet of space, Sutton said. She added that the three-bedroom units have 1,145 square feet of space, Sut-

She said the housing authority and the partnership combined efforts to build the development.

The housing authority contributed the land, and the partnership worked with a developer to get it built, Sutton said.

The housing authority is managing the development, she said, in addition to more than 200 units it operates around Manhattan.

Invitations to the ceremony indicated drivers should go north on Manhattan Avenue past K-State campus and turn left into Flint Hills Place.

Everyone's doing it.

su do ku

the

Classified

Friday, March 2, 2007 At K-State Student Union

Oral Presentations: 10:00 am to Noon

(Undergraduate session) 1:00 pm to 4:00 pm (Concurrent graduate sessions) Poster Display: 10:00 am to 4:00 pm

Poster Q&A: 11:30 am to 1:30 pm Award Ceremony: 4:30pm

Come listen to students talk about their research! Sponsored by The Graduate School and Graduate Student Council.

Drinks are provided!

strike a pose

these k-staters did

we'll be in aggieville thursday, march 1. 9:00 - 11:00 p.m. under varney's marquee and saturday, march 3 at bramlage for the oklahoma state game. so bring your friends and strike a pose!

> it's free and the best shots will be in the 2007 royal purple yearbook.

to see other students who got their pictures taken go to royalpurple.ksu.edu

www.kstatecollegian.com

Tuesday, February 27, 2007

Vol. 111, No.111

Belly dancing promotes 'good body image'

By Willow Williamson KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Dancers swayed their hips and undulated their torsos at a program last night in the K-State Student Union.

* The program, "Belly Dance Your Way to a Better Body Image," featured performers from the Maya Zahira School of Belly Dance.

The five dancers, wearing brightly colored costumes, performed three pieces. The first was to a traditional belly dancing song, the second to a modern song and the third was to a drum solo. The dancers said they consider belly dancing to be positive for female body image.

Mika Selm, sophomore in education, said she loved the belly dancing community.

community.
"There is always an aura of acceptance," Selm said.

Amanda Ratzlaff, junior in apparel and textiles, said one of the main reasons she was drawn to belly dancing was the pictures she saw on the Zahira School's Web site.

"Our school promotes not only healthy body image but also cultural awareness and education," said Gaitri, assistant director to the Maya Zahira School and K-State graduate.

Belly dancing has a long history,

"It emphasized the the movement of the womb," she said. "They were moves that were practiced to help prepare a women for giving birth," she said. "Keep in mind they didn't have epidurals back then."

The program was sponsored by Sensible Nutrition and Body Image Choices, or SNAC. It is the first of a series of events for Eating Disorders Awareness Week.

"With all the negative images people see in the news and media daily,

Joslyn Brown | COLLEGIAN

Teaching belly dancing exercises, Gaitri, assistant director of the Maya Zahira School of Belly Dance, wraps up a presentation by teaching the audience basic steps. The presentation began with three dances from Gaitri and students in her Advanced Belly Dancing class taught at UFM Community Learning Center.

its refreshing to get a reality check on what's really important," said Zoe Gill, vice president of SNAC and senior in dietetics.

Other events include "Real Women, Real Curves," a presentation by a model from the Dove Campaign for Real Beauty, the Food and Mood Workshop and Fearless Friday: A Day Without Dieting.

Primary polls open today

By Logan C. Adams
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Voting begins at 8 a.m. today in the Student Governing Association's primary election. Voters will choose which two pairs of candidates for student body president will advance to the general election next week.

Students must log on to sgaelections.k-state.edu with their K-State eID and password and choose one of the four pairs of candidates. The polls will close Wednesday at 6 p.m.

Nick Levendofsky, SGA elections commissioner, said students can use any computer connected to the Internet to vote. He said computers would not be set up just for voting as there had been in previous years.

Candidates are forbidden from setting up places to vote by SGA elections regulations.

Levendofsky, junior in agricultural communications and journalism, said he expected the results to be tabulated and ready for announcement 15 to 20 minutes after the polls close. That could be delayed, he said.

"I don't want to come out and say there will be a problem, but anything could happen with a computer system," Levendofsky said.

Commitee conducts survey about rec expansion

By Hannah Blick KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Last Friday, all full-time K-State students received a survey request via e-mail from the Student Governing Association regarding the possible expansion of the Peters Recreation Complex.

Lucas Maddy, student body president and co-chair of the expansion proposal committee, along with his co-chair, Jason Topp, junior in agricultural business, put together a committee to investigate student interest in the future of the rec center.

They visited several other university rec complexes for ideas and inspiration, traveling most recently to the University of Missouri-Columbia, home of the recently updated, No. 1 rec complex in the nation, Maddy said.

"I was really impressed with how professionally everything was run there," Maddy said. "Every employee followed a strict dress code, from their matching polos to just an overall neat appearance. It was very well organized."

Maddy and the rest of the committee were impressed with more than just the dress code of the Miz-

See REC Page 10

*

Partly cloudy High: 53 Low: 38

INSIDE

Just in time for shorts and bathing suit weather, turn for an informational look at leaving porcelain skin behind through modern advances in tanning including tanning beds, lotions, pills and airbrush tanning.

See story Page 12

CAMPUS NEWS HIGHLIGHTS

Columbia University leader to speak

James Neal, vice president for information technology and university librarian at Columbia University, will present a lecture on the current and future trends of the academic research library 1:30-3 p.m. in the Hemisphere Room of Hale Library. It is part of K-State's Provost's Lecture Series.

Film to show battles of soldiers after Iraq

"The Ground Truth," a film about U.S. soldiers who served the military in Iraq and returned home to face new battles with family and friends will show at 7 p.m. in Room 213 of the K-State Student Union. It is one of many films shown during K-State's A Season for Nonviolence: 64 Days 64 Ways to Practice Nonviolence.

Photography exhibit displays student work

An exhibit of the 32nd Annual Student Photography Contest will feature student work today through Feb. 28 in the Kemper Art Gallery, located in the K-State Student Union Student work will be displayed from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays. The contest and exhibit is sponsored by the Union Program Council.

Claflin Books and Copies

1814 Claflin Rd. www.claflinbooks.com Fax: (785) 776-1009

(785) 776-3771

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

					,
AC	ROS	S	33	Cou	intry		OW			21	Une	s-
1 With 5-			sing		4		liers			corte	5.77
	Acro	SS,		Wils	son			.H.M	.S.			some
1	non-			Des			2 R	ight		23	Pinn	acle
-	eater	s of	36	Hel	pa			ngle			Trap
	quich	ne?		hoo	d		3 C	andle	9		shoo	oting
5	See		37	Hor	ne o	f	C	ount			varia	ation
-3	1-Ac	ross		the		- 3	4 M	ost		26	Long	gtime
8	Viva	city		bra	ve?		u	odate	be		spor	ts-
	Plani		38	Fall			5 C	ome	dian		cast	er
	comp		41	Fix	the		Ja	VE			Chri	S
	nent			sou	nd-			omp	ass	27	Pile
13	Sear			trac			di			28	Sea
	Lenn		42	Daz			7 B	orea	1	-	eagl	е
	mom			Grip			8 1	717		29	Fill t
	Pear				you		~ ~,	emb	er		full
	Harb		7.7		ond			and	-	31	222	Wa
	site			win		-		eser	ve	-	wea
	"Mur	dor	49	We				arpe	7/2		(Abt
	She	JU1,	40		ggler			pe		34	Moc
	Wrot	0"	50	Car				ooth-		-	Onli
	heroi				nales			aste		33	-	rans
	Colo			Gra				older			mitte
	less		32	-	inter			eely		37	Hist	-
				777	111141	,				31
	Corn			par				ocke	У	20	boy
	spike		53		gan's			me		30	Ven	om-
	Pang	}		no-	no	4	0 0	ouse	s		ous
21			•	alut	inn t	ima	. 21	min		-	vipe
-	Wha	70	-	Solution time: 21 mins.						39 Beehive
	Citi F	ield		R M		A		OL			Stat will		9	HE	KY	GI	A K	N A			Mel
	repla		ш.,		AIF			AKI		41	Take Diplo		L L	AT	INC		0	ME			out (
	macy	1	0	N O	GI	3 8	T	ODC			cont
26	Revi	ie.	D	ON	S	A	R	SOC			Victo
	segn		S	NK	T O		EG	STE	11		sign
	Inten		171	OR	AGG	3	AL		ILA		Sha
31	Bake	ery		LE	M	N		YSE	E	46	Gree	7
	work			1 A		10		OA			vow
	Histo	ric	K	ON	S	AL	SA	BL	) G	47	Mor
	time			Yes	sterd	ay's	ans	wer	7		mon	sel
1	2	3	4		5	6	7		8	9	10	11
	-	-	-		40	-	-	-		-	+	-
12					13		1		14			1
15	-	-	-	16	-		1		17	1	+	+
10				10					"
			18				19	20
21	22	23				24		+	-
							1
25					26					27	28	29
30	1			31			-	-		32	+	+
			0.1				-		25		-	-
no.			34						35
33								37
33			36
	39	40	36				41
33	39	40	36		40		41				40	47
	39	40	36		43	44	41			45	46	47
38	39	40	36		43	44	41		50	45	46	47
38	39	40	36			44	41		50	45	46	47

CRYPTOQUIP

XEOJ PTKQDFUL OMJXUAVTMX DMWK F XEDAJFMI QANPJ, JD RTDRWT VOIEX

OX F IUFML Yesterday's Cryptoquip: SINCE THE BRITISH CONSERVATIVE WORKED AS A BANK CLERK WOULD YOU SAY HE'S A TORY TELLER? Today's Cryptoquip Clue: R equals P

acoTuesdav

Margaritas

NOW LEASING FOR FALL 2007

Check out our model showings now!

With 900 apartments in the Manhattan area, we can find a place for you!

BEDROOMS

3:30-5:30

12:30-2:30 2:00-4:00

5:00-7:00

4:00-6:00

12:00-2:00

5:30-7:30

12:00-2:00

1026 Osage #22

1524 McCain #8

1419 Leavenworth #2

BEDROOMS

3:30-6:00

2:00-5:00

2:00-4:00

12:00-2:00

12:00-4:00

1:00-3:00

BEDROOMS

Royal Towers 1700 N. Manhattan #402

Wareham 418 Poyntz #316

Mon-Fri

STUDIOS

1611 Laramie #2

Mon. Wed, Frl 8:00-11:00am

Thurs

Mon, Wed, Fri

Tues, Thurs

Fri

Sat

BEDROOMS

1119 Laramie #5

1722 Laramie #9 10:00-12:00

Thurs 11:30-1:00

1941 College Heights #4

1854 Claflin #14

Wareham - 418 Poyntz #603

Aggie Village - 1215 Laramie

925 Denison #4

1803-1807 College Heights View at 925 Denison #4

Royal Towers

1700 N. Manhattan #203

3:00-5:30

1:30 - 5:00

10:00-2:00

1:00-5:00 10:00-2:00

4:00-6:00

12:00-2:00

5:30-7:00 4:00-7:00

5:00-7:00

2:00-4:00

4:00-6:00

2:00-4:00

6:00-8:00pm

4:00-6:00

1:00-3:00

12:00-2:00

5:00-7:00

12:00-2:00

Mon, Wed, Thurs

Mon

Mon.Wed,Fri

Tues, Thurs

Tues

Mon-Fri

Mon, Wed, Fri

Mon, Wed, Fri

Tues, Thurs

Tues, Thurs

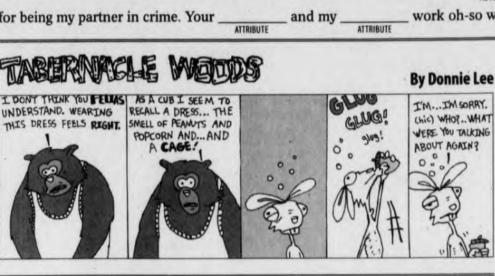

Fri

Sun

FILL IN THE BLANK

Your take on an Academy Awards acceptance speech

What an honor. What an honor. I feel so ______ to be receiving this award. This film was a/an ____ forward for mankind. I just want to thank everyone who helped get me here: my mother, my friends - everyone. Ha, and so many said it couldn't be done. They were _ work oh-so well together. and my _ for being my partner in crime. Your _

The blotter | Arrests in Riley County

Reports are taken directly from the Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space con-

Friday, Feb. 23

■ Curtis Alan Bolinger, no address given, at 8:25 a.m. for worthless check. Bond was $178.28. ■ Irina Leonidorna Frew, Clay Center, Kan., at 8:45 a.m. for driving with a suspended or cancelled license. Bond was $500.

Aaron Keith Cooper, Milford, Kan., at 9:38

a.m. for driving with a suspended or cancelled license. Bond was $500.

■ Jamie Ray McInteer, 614 Kearney St., at 2 p.m. for failure to appear. No bond was set.
■ Paul Garcia Villarreal Jr., Fort Riley, at 4:40 p.m. for failure to appear. Bond was $2000.
■ Eddy Dean McDowell, Frankfort, Kan., at 6 p.m. for criminal use of a weapon and driving with a suspended or cancelled license. Bond was ■ Joy Lynn Presley, St. George, Kan., at 10 p.m. for worthless check. Bond was $368. ■ Matthew Joseph Rodriguez, 8636 Josie Lane, at 11:50 p.m. for purchase of alcohol by a minor, reckless driving and driving under the influence. Bond was $750.

Saturday, Feb. 24

■ William Lee Grimm, 2114 Northview Drive, at 12:09 a.m. for driving with a suspended or cancelled license. Bond was $500.

■ Adam Wayne Morris, Douglass, Kan., at 12:10 a.m. for battery. Bond was $500. ■ Jonathon Richard Seay, 1026 Osage St., Apt. 6, at 1:45 a.m. for disorderly conduct. Bond was $750.

■ Amanda R. Love, Durant, Okla., at 1:57 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $500. ■ Shawn Manteo Dixson, Fort Riley, at 2 a.m. for lewd and lascivious behavior, obstruction of the legal process and disorderly conduct. Bond was $1,500.

■ Michael Scott Struble, Mulvane, Kan., at 2 a.m. for aggravated battery. Bond was $2,000.

Justin Lee Merritt, Onaga, Kan., at 3 a.m. for failure to appear. No bond was set.

Joshua Lawrence Liotta, 2401 Woodway

Drive, Apt. J, at 3:18 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $750.

Fredrick Derell Swinson, 730 Allen Rd., Apt. 70, at 8 a.m. for failure to appear. Bond was $750.

David Lee Huffman, Ogden, Kan., at 5 p.m. for battery. Bond was $500.

■ Tyson Dean Ratts, 2305 Butternut Lane, at 7:10 p.m. for battery and intimidation of a witness. Bond was $1,000.

Sunday, Feb. 25

■ Michael Paul Soderlund, 415 N. 16th St., Apt. 5, at 12:17 a.m. for resisting arrest and criminal trespass. Bond was $1,500.

■ Hui Suk Jacobs, Junction City, at 12:37 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $500. ■ Jeremey Allan Meyer, Bellvue, Neb., at 1:58 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was

■ Daniel Harold Harrison, Fort Myers, Fla., at 2 a.m. for battery, criminal damage to property, aggravated false impersonation, and six charges of failure to appear. Bond was $36,000.

Joshua Edward Campa, 1026 Bertrand St., Apt. A, at 2:30 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $750.

Jennifer Nicole Vanschoelandt, 1220 Centensial Drive. Apt. 3, at 3:27 a.m. for driving under nial Drive, Apt. 3, at 3:27 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $750. ■ David William Ramlow, 2912 Karen Terrace, at 4:20 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $1,500.

■ Jamie Ray McInteer, 614 Kearney St., at 10:20 a.m. for worthless check. Bond was $315.67. ■ Eddie Evans Lafayette Pittman, 727 Griffith Drive, at 2:45 p.m. for two counts of failure to appear. Bond was $2,000. ■ Melvin Tyrece Kirk, Lexington, Neb., at 11:40 p.m. for driving with a suspended or cancelled license. Bond was $2,250.

The planner

Campus bulletin board

■ The Japanese Appreciation Association will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Union 203.

Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at collegian@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

Corrections and clarifications

There was an error in Monday's Collegian. Terry Wark is a friend of Levi Flory. The Collegian regrets the error. If you see something that should be corrected, call news editor Alex Peak at (785) 532-6556 or e-mail collegian@spub.ksu.edu.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291 020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167.

© Kansas State Collegian, 2007

RESPONSIBLE

"The Making of the Fittest"

DNA and the Ultimate Forensic Record of Evolution (Free and open to public)

Sean B. Carroll University of Wisconsin

Thursday, March 1st, 7:00 pm Forum Hall Kansas State University

Sponsored by Center for Understanding of Ch Kansas State University

The Office of Student Activities and Services offers. Free Consumer & Tenant Advice

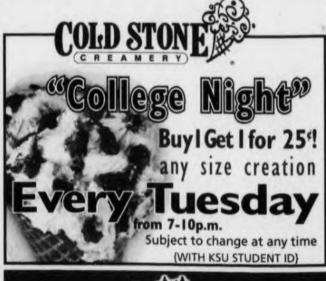

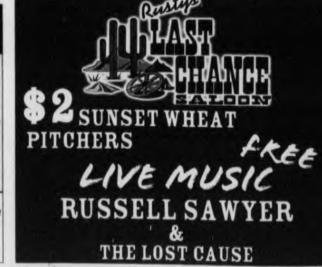

The Consumer and Tenant Affairs Office provides information on landlord/tenant rights and responsibilities and aids in the resolution of consumer complaints regarding products and/or services. Brochures regarding landlord/tenant and consumer issues are also available.

Consumer and Tenant Affairs Office Appointments Available Daily

Call 532-6541 to make an appointment.

785.776.3804 mdiproperties.com Saturday Office Hours: 10am-2pm

CCULLOUGH DEVELOPMENT

http://www.ksu.edu/osas/cta.htm

Documentaries, publications showcase teacher's knowledge

By Kristin Hodges KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The Dutch have an ongoing joke they say divides the people in their villages: there are those who never travel anywhere, and a small number of people who can be found around the world.

Harald E.L. Prins, distinguished professor of anthropology, falls into the latter catego-

Born and raised in the Netherlands, Prins teaches anthropology at K-State. However, his journey to Kansas was no onestop trip.

In Prins' office, a number of artifacts tell the stories of his world-wide journeys; a rug made in Guatemala covers his desk, a mask from Nepal hangs on the wall, and reels of film line his shelves.

"If you really start searching, you can find more," he said, "but it's nothing compared to my home."

Prins has worked in numerous countries and has studied anthropology, archaeology, comparative history and 16 mm filmmaking.

In addition to his adventures, Prins has more than 100 publications, an international filmmaking award, and numerous documentaries. He has won a number of teaching awards, including University Distinguished Professor at K-State in 2005 and Kansas Professor of the Year in 2006.

Betsy Cauble, head of the Department of Sociology, Anthropology and Social Work, said members of the department nominated Prins to be a distinguished professor because of his scholarship and teaching.

"He's a very special person to have here, and he is also consistently bringing an international perspective to K-State," she said. "He has made K-State visible in places where we would not have normally been well known."

Prins said he enjoyed encouraging students from small towns to travel if that's what they want to do.

"It's a real joy to make that dream and then put reality into their dream and say, 'OK what's stopping you? Stop dreaming, and put your dream into action," he said.

Sarah Kruse, sophomore in hotel and restaurant management, said she took Prins' introduction to cultural anthropol-

"You can tell that he is passionate about his work," she said. "He knows a lot about certain areas from his personal experiences."

Prins said he considers his greatest accomplishment to be his involvement with the Aroostook Band of Mi'kmaqs in Maine, a regional culture that was once poverty-stricken and landless.

Prins said he became the director of research and development for the group and helped it form the Aroostook Mi'kmaq Council. With the help of his research, documentary and publications, the federal government later recognized the council as an Indian tribe, making the group eligible for federal services and assistance. The government also granted them 5,000 acres of reservation land.

Throughout the process, Prins also served as an expert witness for the tribe in front of the U.S. Senate.

"I look back on my work, and, yes, there are good big books," he said, "but what I really believe is that to have been able to be an instrumental factor in improving the lives of an entire community is something that I really think, when I go to my grave, that will be the best contribution I've made."

Prins also has worked in the Middle East on banana plantations and archeological excavations, and has spent much of his time doing fieldwork in North and South America.

"Much of what has driven me, I guess, is really a sense of adventure and a sense of getting off of the beaten trail," he said. "If I knew other people were going there as a tourist destination, I would probably stay away. So, no Cancun, (Mex.), for me."

Harald E.L. Prins, distinguished professor of anthropology, has traveled to numerous countries studying anthropology, archaeology, comparative history and 16 mm filmmaking.

Throughout his studies, Prins has created documentaries showcasing his knowledge. He said he was trained to use 16 mm film cameras when he attended film school in New York.

"In my mind, it was really to learn another language, a visual language, and how to tell a story," he said. "If I could translate my knowledge in a form of a film, then I could reach so many more people who would never pick up a book or never pick up a journal article."

New York also is where Prins met his wife, Bunny McBride, a writer, author and an adjunct faculty member at K-State. "I'm very lucky that I ran into her in 1979," he said. "It was, as they say, love at first sight."

Prins said he and his wife have been partners and co-authors for different publications and projects.

Most of Prins' work surrounds indigenous people, and he said his passion started when he was 8 years old and fascinated with American Indians.

"I didn't know the different tribes spoke different languages, but every time I saw statements made in books, I wrote it down and memorized it, and then I would speak the language when playing with friends," he said.

Prins said he grew up admiring people who were always traveling, including his father, A.H.J. Prins, a Dutch anthropologist; his godfather

Harold E. Lambert, a British anthropologist after whom he is named; and his neighbor Johan Fabricius, a well-known Dutch

"There have been people that I have admired, not so much as role models but beacons, showing me what they had done and what they had not done," he

Next fall, Prins will be on sabbatical. He said he wants to visit the research sites where his father and godfather worked.

Prins also is a co-principal investigator with McBride in a National Parks Service ethnographic research project and a guest co-curator for an exhibit at the Smithsonian Institution National Museum of Natural

Accomplished concert pianist from Costa Rica performs at Hale Library

Costa Rican planist Manuel Matarrita performs to a crowd gathered in the Hale Library Hemisphere room Monday evening. The Costa Rican Student Association sponsored Matarrita's performance.

By Scott Girard KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

All available seats were filled for a performance Monday night by a renowned Costa Rican pianist.

Manuel Matarrita played several piano pieces from Spain and Latin America in the Hemisphere Room at Hale Library. He said he tried to present a different style of piano performance to the crowd because most people do not know the music unless they are raised in that culture.

"I'm offering them music they don't know," he said. "I'm bringing Latin American music from Latin America."

The Costa Rican Student Association sponsored the event. Lorena Barboza, president of the association and Spanish professor, said this is the biggest event the group has sponsored in several years.

The Costa Ricans are very pleased to have a distinguished pianist like Dr. Matarrita because he has a good reputation as a pianist," she said. "We are very pleased, very honored to have him here."

Barboza said the idea of Matarrita performing at K-State arose when Norman-Armando Gamboa, director of orchestras at Washburn University, contacted her a few months ago. Matarrita was visiting Washburn to perform and teach with the orchestra and Gamboa said he called Barboza so other areas in Kansas could view Matarrita's abilities

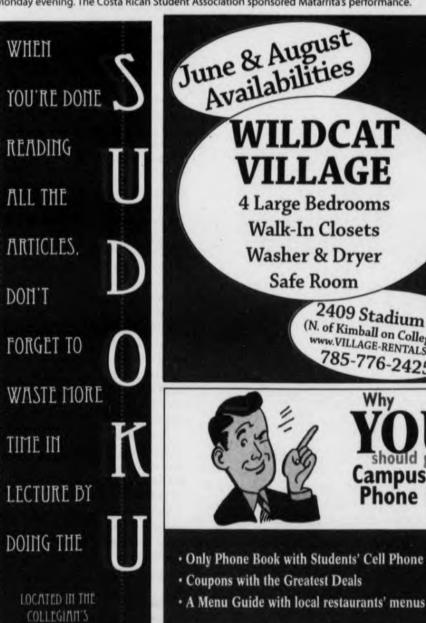

"It gives great exposure to the students," he said. "They never get this type of musical

More people than expected showed up to the event, and the association had to bring in extra chairs to accomodate the extra viewers. The packed crowd applauded after every piece and gave Matarrita a standing ovation after his final piece from his home country of Costa Rica.

"I enjoyed it," said Brian Geiger, senior in civil engineering. "It's nice to hear live music for once and it's not music you hear around campus all the time."

Barboza said the Costa Rican students are lucky to have the opportunity to have a performer like Matarrita come to K-State.

"We would like to do more events like this in the future because we want to show our talent with special guests like Dr. Matarrita," she said.

CLASSIFIEDS SESCTION

Purchase Yours in Kedzie 103

Area leaders

should see

PFLAG play

Imagine, if you will, being com-

Online voting technology leaves would-be-voters out of excuses

You have no excuse not to vote in the Student Body Presidential and Vice presidential

TO THE POINT is an

primary election, which starts at 8

editorial selected and debated by the editorial board a.m. today. and written after a majority opinion is formed. This is the For start-Collegian's official opinion. ers, you have a 36-hour window in which to cast your ballot. That's more than two weeks' worth of class periods for the average student, so it shouldn't be a challenge to find a few spare minutes.

Second, you don't have to go anywhere special or wait in a line to do it. Just direct your Web browser to sgaelections. ksu.edu and log in with the same eID and password you use to enroll or check your K-State Webmail.

Third, you just click the box next to the pair you want to see run in the general election. You've seen their signs, T-shirts, banners, cards, cups and tables in the Union, right? It's not like they've been in hiding the past few weeks.

Just pick the one you want. It's so simple, a Jayhawk could do it.

On top of all that, remember this election affects your future, and it is your responsibility as a student to make a good choice for the university's sake. The pair that wins the presidency will set the course for the student body and represent the university to the state, not to mention the nation.

So hurry up and vote. What are you waiting for?

Every year on April 15, Americans are required to give a large portion of their income, which will be spent on liberal, bleeding-heart social programs, back to the government. Since the implementation of the Bush tax cuts in 2001, we have had to give less, which bothers those who feel we should be

Tax cuts help

BRETT KING

These tax cuts have spurred economic growth for this country and increased government revenue. But voices from the left, sounding like a broken record, make statements that tax cuts are only for the wealthiest one percent and neglect the lower class and working poor.

While Americans are burning the midnight oil to stay awake, those who believe in large government have images of W-2s, W-4, 1040s, 1099s and 4868s dancing in their heads.

Those who believe the nation cannot function without the income tax should understand the tax was not instilled until 1913, with the 16th Amendment.

Since then, Americans have been subject to a progressive in-

The 2001 tax-cut package, which democrats are opposed to extending, has increased the Earned Income Tax Credit. This tax credit allows working poor families to receive a larger refund from the government when Uncle Sam comes knocking.

The amount received from the tax credit is a function of a person's "earned income," which consist of wages, tips, salaries and net earnings from a self-employed business.

A family with two kids, making less than $36,348, could be eligible for up to $4,536.

Kansas even has its own EITC tax credit program, which the administration of former Republican Gov. Bill Graves started in 1998.

Former Attorney General Phill Kline led the charge for the creation of the EITC in Kansas when a he served as a representative in the Kansas House and chairman of the taxation committee.

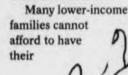

Illustration by Donnie Lee | COLLEGIAN

taxes done professionally, so they miss important deductions and refunds.

According to the general accounting office of the Internal Revenue Service, 15 to 25 percent of those qualifying for the EITC do not claim the credit on their tax forms. On average, 3.5 to 7 million American households are neglecting to claim at least $6.5 to $12 billion in refunds, which would be an average refund of $1,766 per household.

For lower-income families struggling to figure out our monstrous tax code while living paycheck to paycheck, organizations such as the United Way can help by providing tax preparation services.

Those who qualify for the EITC have the opportunity to receive money quicker than ever.

The IRS has enacted a new program allowing Americans to receive income tax returns through direct deposit.

The new direct deposit system is very similar to the Social Security program, saving money on both the printing and mailing of checks.

For those receiving a tax return, the money is accessible in their account within 10 to 14 days after being processed. The turnaround for this new system can be up to two months quicker.

The call to repeal Bush's tax cuts will not just be a repeal on tax cuts for the rich. Withdraw of these tax cuts will hurt struggling families.

Two to four thousand dollars can be extremely helpful to lowerincome families struggling to make ends meet. These tax cuts are not just beneficial to the wealthy, but even those who struggle to get by.

Brett King is a junior in political science. Please send comments to opinion@spub.ksu.edu.

COLLEGIAN

Megan Moser | EDITOR IN CHIEF Heidi Paulson | MANAGING EDITOR Alex Peak | NEWS EDITOR Jacque Haag | CO-COPY CHIEF Jessi Hernandez | CO-COPY CHIEF Scott Girard | CAMPUS EDITOR Logan C. Adams | METRO EDITOR Lacey D. Mackey | FEATURES EDITOR Jonathan Garten | SPORTS EDITOR Cedrique Flemming | TIPOFF EDITOR Eileen Laux | THE EDGE EDITOR Jonas Hogg | DPINION EDITOR Christopher Hanewinckel | PHOTO EDITOR Brendan Praeger | PRESENTATION EDITOR Royce Haynes | ONLINE EDITOR Donnie Lee | PUBLIC EDITOR Courtney Sleypen | AD MANAGER Eddle Rogers | ASST. AD MANAGER

WRITE TO US

Letters can be submitted by e-mail to letters@spub. ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters should be limited to 250 words. All submitted letters may be edited for length and clarity.

CONTACT US Kansas State Collegian Kedzie 103 Manhattan, KS 66502

Display ads.....(785) 532-6560 Classified ads....(785) 532-6555 Delivery ......(785) 532-6555 Newsroom.....(785) 532-6556 news@spub.ksu.edu

ONLINE:

In the campus presidental election, which issues matter to you? Weigh in at kstatecollegian.com.

STREET TALK

What do you think of your handwriting?

"Kind of like I emptied an ink bottle and put it on paper."

Harini Sarangapani GRADUATE STUDENT IN ARCHITECTURE

"Very good."

The quick brown for jumped our the lary day

Sandra Agudelo GRADUATE STUDENT IN

CHEMICAL ENGINEERING

The guick brown fox jumped over the lary dag

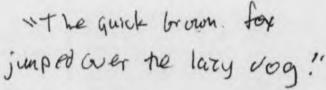

"It's terrible."

Andrew Stormer JUNIOR IN FOOD SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY

The guick brown fox jurged over the large day.

pletely removed from everyone you know and love because you tell them you are gay. Personally, I can't imagine it, because although I am bisexual, my mother and father still love me unconditionally. Sometimes I think I confuse

my father, but that's another matter altogether.

My family life supportive. I am convinced my grandmother would defend me to the end, even if I went on a murder spree down Poyntz Avenue.

She would say I had a reason. And Larry Fry, pastor of College Avenue United Methodist Church, would come visit me in jail.

Yet, there are people who risk everything when they tell their families and churches they are homosexual, bisexual or transgendered.

That issue will be addressed on the stage at 7 p.m. March 9 and 10 and 2 p.m. March 10 and 11 at the Manahttan Arts Center.

The play "You Belong To Us" . presents first-hand dialogue from parents of lesbian, bisexual, gay and transgendered people who discuss the struggle some parents have with the knowledge their children are not heterosexual.

Coming out to your parents is hard, and dealing with children who admit they are LGBT would be just as difficult.

Luckily, the Flint Hills Chapter of Parents, Family and Friends of Lesbians and Gays brought this dialogue to Manhattan.

The group facilitated a discussion' with area pastors at a luncheon last week, and Fry said those who went were very supportive.

Those attending were allowed to hear part of the play, and Fry said he felt it was beneficial for not only religious leaders to see, but also for the public.

"I think it would be a very helpful play for anyone to see," Fry said.

Leaders from the campus ministry, Ogden Friendship House, the First Congregational church and the Manhattan Jewish Congregation attended the luncheon in addition to his own church, Fry said.

No one there dissented or had questions about the play. That's sad.

This play is supposed to foster discussion and support a healing atmosphere for people who need it most. While Manhattan has a plethora of churches, only a few reach out to embrace people in crisis and who face discrimination.

I understand some churches disagree with homosexuality on moral grounds, but I would think the need for Christ's forgiveness and love would take precedence over unreasoning bias.

It doesn't surprise me that Larry Fry and a few other pastors attended. the luncheon.

College Avenue United Methodist Church and Ogden Friendship House apparently preach inclusion of everyone, as do the Manhattan Jewish Congregation and First Congregational Church.

But something this important, something that talks about an event that could change someone's life so completely, should be attended by more than just a few pastors and religious leaders.

This is an important play, not just for those who are struggling with the issue of coming out to their family, or their family's struggle to cope with the knowledge.

Those church leaders who didn't take advantage of the opportunity to attend the luncheon should attend the play itself.

Lola Shrimplin is a senior in journalism and mass communications. Please send your comments to opinion@spub.ksu.edu.

WORLD NEWS

CANADA ANNOUNCES NEW AID PACKAGE FOR AFGHANISTAN

TORONTO - Prime Minister Stephen Harper announced a new $172 million reconstruction aid package for Afghanistan on Monday, heeding opposition lawmakers' calls for Canada to focus more on development projects in the country.

The new funding, to be disbursed this year and next, will go toward five different areas: governance and development, counter-narcotics, policing, de-mining and road construction.

The funding is in addition to $860 million Canada has already pledged for reconstruction.

BOMB ALMOST HITS IRAQI VICE PRESIDENT IN SECURITY LAPSE

BAGHDAD, Iraq - He came to praise workers who believe better days are ahead for Iraq. Then he watched helplessly as some people he knew lay mortally wounded and others staggered about in agony and disbelief.

Somehow a bomb was smuggled into a place where the security should be airtight: a government building ringed by Iraqi police for a visit by the Shiite Vice President Adel Abdul-Mahdi.

But the message was still chilling: that suspected Sunni militants can strike anywhere despite a major security crackdown across Baghdad.

BOOK LOOKS AT SECRET POLICE PENETRATION OF POLISH CHURCH

WARSAW, Poland – A book titled "Priests In The Face Of The Security Services," released Monday, dredged up more painful allegations from Poland's Communist era, naming some 30 Roman Catholic priests, including several bishops, as registered informants with the secret police.

The author, the Rev. Tadeusz Isakowicz-Zaleski, was twice brutally beaten by the secret police and is one of the leaders of a drive to expose clergy who supplied information to authorities. The church, he says, must confess and repent to heal wounds.

— The Associated Press

Challenge course set to open near beginning of June

By Eric Davis KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A new challenge course in the works might include wire zip lines and cargo nets that allow participants to climb and act through various sce-

For the past few months, many people have worked to bring such a course to K-State students and Manhattan residents.

The course will be north of the K-State Child Development Center, which is located in the Jardine Complex, and is set to open near the beginning of June this year.

Tim Stoecklein, interim challenge course coordinator and assistant director of recreational services at Peters Recreation Complex, said the project still is in the planning phase at this point. Stoecklein also said one of the most difficult parts of the planning process is deciding what elements to put in the course.

"We want to offer something in our challenge course that other courses in the area cannot offer," Stoecklein

A typical challenge course offers both high and low areas for the participants to climb, Stoecklein said.

He also said the planning group wants to find different ways to approach familiar elements of the course as well as introduce new and different elements.

The planning process already has begun, and organizers are waiting for a contractor to accept the bid to build the course.

Once the groundwork is done, Stoecklein said the installation will not take very long, relative to other construction projects.

Emily Lehning, assistant

Emily Lehning, assistant dean of new student services, also is working on the project. She said the planning group received approximately $200,000 to build the course.

Lehning said the planning group initially requested $115,000, which the university allocated. The Student Governing Association contributed $85,000 to help keep the operating cost of the course down.

There will be a fixed fee to use the course, with discounts for students and campus-related groups.

"We have a community meeting scheduled for March 28 from 3 to 5 p.m. where we will have a formal presentation, and after that we will have the plans the consultants gave us," Lehning said.

The goal of the meeting will be for people from the community to come in and see the progress, Lehning said.

Students around campus expressed mixed reactions to the introduction of a challenge course. While some were excited about the course, other students were more reserved, including Kent Burnham, graduate student in landscape architecture.

"I would have to say it sounds like a lot of fun," he said, "but I would need to see more of a purpose for having one at Kansas State."

South Korean author says he will change 'anti-Semitic' comic

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SEOUL, South Korea

- The author of a best-selling comic book series intended to teach children about other countries said Monday he would change a chapter on Jews that has been called anti-Semitic and similar to Nazi propaganda.

Rhie Won-bok maintained, however, that his depiction of Jewish control of American media and politics was based on fact and "commonly believed."

"The Jews are the invisible force that controls the U.S.," Rhie, a professor of visual arts at Duksung Women's University in Seoul, told The Associated Press. "I wrote the chapter to let people know that you can't understand the U.S. without knowing the Jewish community."

More than 10 million copies from the 12-book series titled "Meon Nara, Yiwoot Nara," or "Far Countries, Near Countries," have been sold since it was first published in 1987

The comics, with playfully drawn figures have sought to explain European countries, the U.S., Japan and even Korea itself.

The first volume of three focusing on the United States

Once in a Lifetime

Collegian,

the first friday of the month.

in the

was published in 2004. In a chapter titled "You have to know the Jews to see the U.S.," Rhie takes a wide-ranging look at Jewish history.

Although noting that Jews have faced prejudice for many centuries, the book takes a more sinister view of their role in the United States.

Rhie said the Sept. 11 attacks occurred because of Arab terrorists' hatred for the United States he blamed on Jews, who "move the U.S. in the way they want using money and the media as their weapon."

The book also says Korean-Americans are diligent and successful in the U.S. "but in the end, always run into the wall called the Jews."

Images from the book "echo classic Nazi canards," Rabbi Abraham Cooper of the Los Angeles-based Simon Wiesenthal Center said in a statement earlier this month. In a letter sent to the publishers, Cooper urged them to review "the slanders in this book."

Rhie asserted he is "not at all anti-Semitic" and that he would remove the parts that have drawn offense or write them differently. "The last thing I want is a conflict between the Koreans and the Jews because of my book," he said.

Facebook.com founder faced with option to sell

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

PALO ALTO, California – As Facebook.com's mastermind, Mark Zuckerberg is sitting on a potential gold mine that could make him the next Silicon Valley whiz kid to strike it rich.

But the 22-year-old founder of the Internet's second largest social-networking site also could turn into the next poster boy for missed opportunities if he waits too long to cash in on Facebook Inc., which is expected to generate revenue of more than $100 million this year.

The bright outlook is one reason Zuckerberg felt justified spurning several takeover bids last year, including a $1 billion offer from Yahoo Inc.

"We clearly have a bias toward building than selling," Zuckerberg said in a recent interview. "We think there is a lot more to unlock here."

The build-or-sell dilemma Zuckerberg faces is becoming more common among the precocious entrepreneurs immersed in the latest Internet craze, a communal concept of content-sharing that has been dubbed "Web 2.0."

Besides Facebook, other Web 2.0 startups frequently mentioned as prime takeover targets include online video site Metacafe Inc. and Photobucket Inc., which has emerged as one of the Internet's busiest destinations by hosting personal videos and photos that routinely are linked to top social-networking sites like MySpace.com and Facebook.

These sites' operators find themselves at a critical juncture reached several years ago by the Internet's first big social-networking site, Friendster.com, which chose to stay independent instead of selling. That decision is now regarded as one of Silicon Valley's biggest blunders.

Web 2.0 startups have emerged as hot commodities because they are drawing more people away from television, newspapers and other media traditionally used for advertising. Online video channels and social networks, a catch-all phrase attached to sites that enable people with common interests to connect and deepen their bonds, are particularly hot.

Deep-pocketed companies are now angling for a piece of the Web 2.0 action -- a quest that already has yielded a couple big jackpots, helping to propel the sales prices of startups to their highest levels since the dot-com boom.

News Corp. paid $580 million in 2005 to buy MySpace, the largest social-networking site, and Google Inc. snapped up video-sharing pioneer YouTube Inc. for $1.76 billion late last year.

"I'm surprised a lot more companies haven't already been bought," said Reid Hoffman, a veteran Silicon Valley executive who has invested in many startups, including Facebook. "My hunch is the deals are only going to get more expensive in 2008 and 2009."

In 2006, the average price paid for a startup funded by venture capitalists rose 19 percent to $114 million. That was the highest amount since the dot-com frenzy of 2000 when the average price of venture-backed startups peaked at $337 million, according to data from Thomson Financial and the National Venture Capital Association.

If the dealmaking market continues to heat up, Zuckerberg will end up looking smart for rebuffing Yahoo and other suitors that included Microsoft Corp. and Viacom Inc.

Assuming Facebook hits its financial targets, the Palo Alto-based company should be able to command a sales price well above $1 billion or pursue an even more lucrative initial public offering of stock in the tradition of Google, Yahoo Inc., eBay Inc. and Amazon.com Inc. — a group of Internet icons now worth a combined $250 billion.

A Facebook sale or IPO is bound to happen eventually so the startup's early investors, consisting mostly of venture capitalists, can realize some profits. Facebook has raised about $38.5 million since Zuckerberg started the site in 2004 while he was still a sophomore at Harvard University. Zuckerberg has some flexibility in deciding when to cash out, because Facebook already is profitable.

An IPO or sale will "make sense at some point for the company, but I never think that's the goal," said Zuckerberg, who is believed to control nearly one-third of Facebook's stock. "The goal is to ... continue introducing certain revolutionary products that push us to the next level."

Marc Andreessen, who made a fortune during his 20s as co-founder of Web browser pioneer Netscape Communications, is among those who believe Facebook is going to become even more valuable during the next year or two.

"Facebook is doing the smart thing. If you are in a big market like social networking, you are usually better off waiting (to sell)," said Andreessen, who is now chief technology officer for another social-networking startup, Ning Inc. Had MySpace remained independent, it would probably be worth $5 billion now, Andreessen estimated.

Should Facebook stumble, it may some day be suffering the same pangs of regret tormenting Friendster Inc., which turned down a takeover bid from Google in 2003 when it reigned as Internet's hottest social-networking site.

Had that offer been accepted, Friendster founder Jonathan Abrams and a small group of early investors reportedly would have received $30 million in Google stock that would have been worth about $1 billion today.

uptoming events

Campus Phone Books -

On sale in Kedzie 103 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri.

Notice-

Car Clinic

is moving to

EKART'S

Motor Onn. Onc.

At 209 Sarber Lane

After 42 years of faithful service, our community's friend Dave Ekart is retiring. Under this new merge, the businesses will be jointly named Car Clinic, Inc.

Due to downtown redevelopment, the business will be closed on March 1-2 and relocate to: 209 Sarber Lane.

Car Clinic, Inc. will re-open Monday, March 5th at 7:30 AM. To know more, call 539-1040.

Union Program Council

Tuesday, February 27

Real Women, Real Curves

Co-sponsored with SNAC.

Main Ballroom, second floor • 7 - 8 pm

Friday, March 2

Film: Inherit the Wind - Little Theatre, first floor • 8 pm, $1
Also showing: Saturday, March 3 • 7 & 9:30 pm, $1
Sunday, March 4 • 8 pm, $1
After Hours: Comedian Arvin Mitchell

Union Courtyard, ground floor • 10-11 pm, free!!

Want to get involved with UPC?

Applications for UPC Executive Board available online or in the UPC office. Due March 7.

How much would you pay to see Dane Cook?

Take an online survey at www.k-state.edu/upc.

William T. Kemper Art Gallery

Student photography contest exhibit, February 19 - 27.

C

301 K-State Student Union UPC phone 532-6571 www.k.state.edu.up

Weiser better than we give him credit for

If you were like me, you probably weren't amused by the way Athletics Director Tim Weiser handled the firing of former coach

Jim Wooldridge last

Maybe you questioned his character, wondering how he could fire Wooldridge - the ultimate Mr. Nice Guy - just minutes after his team's season ended in the first round of the Big 12 Conference Tournament. Shouldn't Weiser have mulled it over and given the decision some extra thought? The Wildcats had done all right for themselves, winning 15 games and coming oh-so-close in several others. K-State lost nine games by five points or less. The team was improving. Problem is, Weiser is all about hanging banners, and in six years with Wooldridge as coach, there weren't any. Though Wooldridge's teams progressed each season during his tenure, he hit a brick wall and couldn't make the next jump. He never finished higher than seventh in the Big 12, and never won more than six conference games.

RAKE

Had Wooldridge been afforded the opportunity to stick around another year, the "next jump" would have been an appearance in the National Invitation Tournament. But what's the fun in that?

Weiser wanted to skip a step. So he moved quickly, firing Wooldridge (this is a "bottom-line profession," he said at the time) and conducting a national coaching

He needed to find a coach who could come in and take the mediocre roster Wooldridge left behind and sculpt it into an NCAA Tournament-caliber team. He needed a coach who could somehow turn all those close losses into victories. He ed a coach who could destroy a losing culture and add instant credibility to a dying program that hadn't sniffed the postseason since

A magician would have been the ideal candidate. Instead, he hired Bob Huggins. And it's amazing what Huggins has done in just one year.

Twenty wins for the first time since 1998-99; the No. 1-ranked recruiting class for 2007; a whole bunch of celebrities on the pre-game video board and "Big Monday" games on ESPN.

Yes, K-State basketball matters once again, and Weiser deserves all the credit in the world for making it

He could have played it safe by sticking with Wooldridge for another year, as many fans had hoped for, or by making the low-risk hire. There were plenty of deserving candidates with squeaky clean records and nice-looking résumés.

Yet, those candidates didn't have a chance in hell of getting K-State's program turned around in one year. Most coaches are slow movers. They like to build programs from the ground up, weeding out the left-behinds while bringing in new talent each year until it's time to get fired and start looking for a new job.

Huggins is different. He doesn't make excuses. Rather, he just uses the players he has and finds a way to win with them. At 20-9 overall, the Wildcats are on the cusp of making the NCAA Tournament.

Weiser won't have to hire another men's basketball coach for quite some time, and his decision to fire the previous coach without a second thought could teach us all a valuable lesson. What is popular is not always right; what is right is not always popular.

Not until we see the results, any-

Jeffrey Rake is a junior in print journalism. Please send comments to sports@spub.ksu.edu.

Nearly there

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Martin talks with coach Bob Huggins during the first half against Kansas. Martin and the Wildcats will travel to Oklahoma State tonight to play the Cowboys.

Christopher Hanewinckel COLLEGIAN

NCAA Tournament watch

With two games left in the season, K-State has a chance at being anywhere between No. 3 and No. 5 seeds in next week's Big 12 Conference Tourname

The Wildcats are ranked fourth in he Big 12, between Texas (3rd) and Texas Tech (5th) Here's a look at potential sce-narios for the Wildcats:

■ Two wins (at Oklahoma St., vs. Oklahoma) and two Texas losses (vs. Texas A&M, at Kansas) would give K-State the No. 3 seed.

■ One win and one loss would give K-State the No. 4 seed.

■ Two losses and two Texas Tech wins (vs. Baylor, at lowa St.) would give K-State the No. 5 seed.

K-State looks for crucial road win at Oklahoma State

Staff reports
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The NCAA Tournament might not start until next month, but tonight's matchup between K-State and Oklahoma State could be an early elimination game.

The Wildcats (20-9, 9-5 Big 12 Conference) and Cowboys (19-9, 5-8), two teams seemingly going in opposite directions, both are on the tournament bubble and need a few more wins to pad their records.

K-State enters the game having seven of its last 10 games, whil Oklahoma State has lost seven of 10, including four straight.

Once an apparent tournament fixture, the Cowboys have stumbled since Big 12 play began Jan. 6. They have lost all six of their road games after playing no true road games in their non-conference schedule.

Luckily, they'll play K-State at Gallagher-Iba Arena, a venue that's treated them well so far this season (the Cowboys are 14-2 at home).

But even that comes with a dose

K-State at Oklahoma State

When: 8 tonight Where: Gallagher-Iba Arena Stillwater, Okla. Television: ESPN plus Radio: K-State sports radio network Live stats available at k-statesports.com of negativity. Oklahoma State has lost back-to-back home games - first a 75-64 loss to Missouri, then a 66-46 loss to Texas A&M on Feb. 21 - and will look to put an end to the In order to do that, it will rely (20.2 ppg) and junior JamesOn Curry (17.3 ppg), both of whom rank in the top 10 in the conference in scor-K-State has not beaten the Cowboys at Gallagher-Iba since a 75-62 win on Jan. 9, 1993. However, the Wildcats have been a solid road team, winning eight games away from Bramlage Coliseum this sea-

A win over the Cowboys would give K-State plenty of reason for 2nd player leaves tennis team roster optimism in terms of making the NCAA Tournament. According to noted statistician Ken Pomeroy, no team with 20 wins overall and 10 conference wins from the six major conferences has been denied a tournament spot since 1999.

The Wildcats also could secure fourth place in the Big 12 with a win, which would be the highest finish in school history. K-State has not finished better than seventh in the Big 12 since its inception in 1996.

Senior Cartier Martin leads the team in scoring with 16.2 points per game, and the Wildcats will look build off their strong offensive performance against Colorado Saturday. K-State scored 87 points in their win against the Buffaloes, its highest total since scoring 93 points against Cleveland State Dec. 5. Oklahoma State averages 76 points per game.

The game will mark the first time K-State coach Bob Huggins and firstyear Cowboys coach Sean Sutton have met. Sutton was previously an assistant coach under his father, Eddie Sutton, for 13 years since 1993.

1-MINUTE DRILL

Staff Reports

KSU | K-State receives high marks in diversity study

The Laboratory for Diversity in Sport at Texas A&M University recently recognized the K-State Department of Intercollegiate Athletics for its efforts in the area of diversity. K-State received

Diversity in Athletics awards for both diversity strategy and Title IX compliance. The athletics department was one of eight in the nation to be lauded for its diversity strategy and one of nine to be singled out for its compliance with Title IX. The award announcement proceeds athletics director Tim Weiser's scheduled testimony before the congressional Committee on Energy and Commerce Subcommittee on Commerce, in Washington, D.C. Weiser will represent both K-State University and the Division I Athletics Director Association at the hearing, which will focus on the lack of diversity in leadership positions in collegiate

Weiser

Trade and Consumer Protection on Wednesday

Diversity in Athletics awards are presented on an annual basis to recognize NCAA Division I-A athletic departments that excel in the area of diversity. The awards are based on data collected from all NCAA Division I-A university athletic departments.

KSU | Athletics administration issues open letter to fans

K-State's athletics administration released a letter on kstatesports.com Monday, condemning several instances of animal mistreatment at the K-State/Kansas men's basketball game Feb. 19 at Bramlage Coliseum.

K-State has a policy that considers live animals (except guide animals) at athletics events to be contraband. K-State also forbids throwing objects on the playing surface at

"Failure to comply with these policies subjects offenders to ejection from the facility and possible prosecution under applicable penalty of law," according to the letter.

GLF | Wildcats look to improve scores after day one

After playing just 18-of-36 holes due to inclement weather Monday at the Fresno State Invitational in Fresno, Calif., the K-State women's golf team is 11th of 18 teams, 17 strokes behind the lead.

Leading the Wildcats is freshman Abbi Sunner, who shot a 77 (+5), closely followed and junior Michelle Regan, who shot a 78

Coach Kristi Knight said she is looking forward to the final round today with just seven stokes between the Wildcats and fourth-place team, Long Beach State.

"Michelle shot a six over par today, but was five over on two holes," Knight said. "Our consistency needs to improve."

The Associated Press

BBO | Royals need Berroa to return to rookie form

SURPRISE, Ariz. — The Kansas City Royals need their shortstop to be more like his younger self this year, not the whiffing, frustrated player he was in 2006.

"I'm going to expect Angel Berroa to come back to be the Angel of 2003," general manager Dayton Moore said Monday. "For us to be a winning team, we've got to have consistent play from our shortstop. Angel realizes this is a defining year for him."

Berroa, 29, is signed to a multi-year contract that expires in 2008 with an option for 2009. But his job could be on the line if he doesn't reverse his downward trend.

The Royals have two young promising shortstops, Andres Blanco and Angel Sanchez, waiting in the high minors. They also brought in veteran Alex Gonzalez as a non-roster invite.

Berroa edged out New York Yankees outfielder Hideki Matsui by four votes in 2003 to win the American League Rookie of the Year award. That year, he hit .287 with 17 home runs, 73 RBIs, 21 stolen bases and 92 runs.

Last year, he hit .234, with a .259 on-base percentage, and had only 28 extra-base hits and three stolen bases.

His plate discipline was horrible — he had 14 walks and 88 strikeouts in 474 at-bats and he hit a puny .190 on the road.

"Last year was no good, and I am working 110 percent to get it right," Berroa said. "This year I want to get back to (2003) and show eople the real Angel Berroa. I want to put 2006 behind me and start new.

Can Berroa be as good as he was in 2003? "That's an interesting question," Moore said. 'We've asked ourselves that a lot."

Instead of returning in the offseason to the Dominican Republic, Berroa remained in Kansas City and worked on his flexibility with Royals strength and conditioning coordinator Ty Hill.

bles," Bietau said. "The singles were improved, but the highlights were Tereza getting back in there and playing competitively and the quality

By Wendy Haun KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The K-State tennis team expected to play without junior Tamar Kvaratskhelia. However, the Wildcats didn't expect to play without sophomore Maria Perevoshchikova.

Perevoshchikova decided to leave K-State and return to her hometown of Izhevsk, Russia, because of homesickness, coach Steve Bietau said.

With Kvaratskhelia out with an injury, Bietau moved junior Tereza Prochazkova, who had been sidelined since December with a knee injury, into the lineup.

"Tereza has been training the whole time," Bietau said. "She was hoping to work her way up to earn a spot. With the situation we had this weekend, her process accelerated, and she was close enough to be ready."

On Saturday, K-State (2-4, 0-0 Big 12 Conference) lost to Boise State (6-1, 2-0 Western Athletic Conference), 5-2.

The bright spots were juniors Viviana Yrureta and Fernanda Da Valle's victories at No. 1 and No. 2 singles, respectively. Yrureta defeated Polina Kokoulina (7-5, 7-6) and Da Valle defeated Bianca Jochimsen (6-3, 6-

"We were pretty flat in the douof the play at No. 1 and No. 2 singles. Both Viviana (Yrureta) and Fernanda (Da Valle) played well."

Sunday it was the doubles teams that excelled against No. 38 New Mexico (5-1, 0-0 Mountain West Conference). Junior Olga Klimova and sophomore Katerina Kudlackova defeated Sandra Zmak and Jennifer Ryba (8-3). Freshman Natasha Vieira and Prochezkova won their first doubles match as a team, defeating Maria Sotirchos and Nora Quintal (8-3).

"Tereza (Prochezkova) and Natasha (Vieira) winning their match to secure the doubles point was a better start to Sunday," Bietau said.

However, New Mexico swept the singles matches and won the dual match, 6-1. Yrureta and Da Valle both forced tie-breaking sets by winning their second sets. Yrureta lost her battle to Ola Abou-Zekry (6-1, 6-7, 10-0) and Zmak defeated Da Valle

(6-4, 3-6, 10-7). Bietau said the overall attitude of the team improved in Sunday's matches

"I thought the effort was great,"

Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN Maria Perevoshchikova serves during K-State's match against Drake earlier this semester. She left the team last week to be closer to her family in Russia.

he said. "We fought great, and we had good team spirit going into the matches on Sunday. We played extremely hard, but we just weren't good enough."

Preparing pets for homes

Until adopted, animals live with foster 'parents'

By Natasha Meyers KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Foster parenting no longer is limited to children.

People of all ages, including a handful of K-State students, have volunteered to shelter animals during the adoption process.

In order to take in animals, those looking to foster must be evaluated and obtain a Kansas Foster License.

The Riley County Humane Society helps find a place for animals needing a temporary home, and foster coordinators Madelyn Short and Lisa Bryant work to find foster families for cats and dogs.

The state limits foster parents to 19 animals, Short said, including animals the owners might already have.

"That's pretty ridiculous," she said. "Of course, if you have a mama cat or dog with a litter, the numbers can run up pretty quickly."

If an abandoned puppy is found, the Humane Society tries to find a home with a mother to nurture the animal. If the mother will not accept the baby animal, it will be bottle fed, although Short said this is rare.

Julia Paul, junior in animal science and industry, said she heard about becoming an animal foster parent from a co-worker, and she and her roommates now act as a foster family.

Paul's roommate, Erin Kolarik, senior in mass communications, said she enjoys being a foster parent because she wanted a dog but never got one because of cost and housing.

Kolarik and Paul have fostered three dogs, one for one week and the others for two weeks each.

Both women said it is hard not to become attached to a foster pet.

"Every time you come home from class, there's someone excited to see you, but there's a lot of responsibility with it, too," Kolarik said. "There's messes on the carpet and whining at night."

During a dog's stay, Paul said foster families work to correct its problematic characteristics.

"Every animal you're going to have is going to be hard because the point is to make them an adoptable pet,"

Julia Paul, junior in animal science and industry, and Erin Kolarik, senior in mass communications, play fetch with Hulk Tuesday afternoon in their backyard. Hulk is a foster pet awaiting adoption.

The Humane Society pro- have to find a way to get the vides foster parents with food and other necessities for the animals including veterinary appointments, but parents animals to the scheduled appointments.

"It's just a really, really great thing to do," Kolarik said. "It's a great way to volunteer, and the Humane Society provides you with everything so you just have to

Biologist discusses conservation projects, pitfalls to community

By Mike Kelly KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A biologist from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife service spoke Monday about the agency's conservation efforts in Kansas as part of the Friends of Sunset Zoo winter education series.

Michele McNulty, biologist for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's Manhattan field office, presented "Kansas Conservation Efforts through the Fish and Wildlife Service" to an audience of almost 50 at City Hall.

"Our mission is to provide biological advice to other federal and state agencies, industry and the public concerning the conservation of fish and wildlife that may be affected by development," McNulty said.

Habitat loss is the largest factor in the decline of all fish and wildlife species in Kansas, she said.

Twelve species are listed as threatened or endangered in Kansas on the U.S. Fish and Wildlife service's Web site. These species include the dinosaur fish, whooping crane and piping clover.

The bald eagle is one species making a return in Kansas, she said. Originally listed as threatened in 1967, it recently was proposed for de-listing due to its thriving population.

"We've been conducting research on this growing nesting population in Kansas since the '80s," McNulty said. "We use purple bands to distinguish Kansas' bald eagles in an effort to collect data and track the

Kansas has 23 bald eagle nests resulting in 35 fledglings,

However, not all of Kansas' species share the same success. The neosho madtom, a stream fish common to Kansas, has been monitored since 1991, McNulty said. She said large businesses have hurt their hab-

"In the areas where they occur, gravel dredging is big business, and Kansas does not regulate it," McNulty said.

As well as protecting species native to Kansas, McNulty said the introduction of new species or reintroduction of species is another endeavor of her branch. One example is the black-footed ferret reintroduction program.

"We want to begin possibly next fall. All the ferrets would be microchipped so we could monitor them," McNulty said. "We have talked about capturing natural ferrets from South Dakota and Wyoming, possibly as many as 40 if we could."

The black-footed ferret was listed as endangered in 1967, and was last seen naturally in Kansas in 1957. A potential reintroduction site is Logan County, which McNulty said would be a good opportunity.

"We don't have plague in Kansas, and ferrets are susceptible to plague," she said. "Also, since there (is) a large prairie dog population, Kansas is a good fit."

The ferret's natural food source is the prairie dog, Mc-Nulty said. A ferret eats about 100 of them per year, but the plan has met some resistance.

"Farm Bureau is one of our biggest opponents due to land owner rights," McNulty said.

Preservation of the Flint Hills' native tall grass is one of the efforts being the service is conducting in partnership with the Partners for Fish and Wildlife program. According to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the Flint Hills area has the largest remaining area of native tall grass prairie in North America. Only three percent of the original tall grass eco-region remains in North America, and the remaining tall grass faces continued threats.

"They work with land owners directly, through wildlife extension agreements," Mc-Nulty said. "At times, they will pay for up to 90 percent of the land cost for enhancement and restoration."

Michele McNulty, biologist with the US Fish and Wildlife Service, gives a presentation about animal conservation efforts in Kansas the Manhattan City Hall Tuesday evening.

So far, 147,500 acres have interest, particularly those that port the zoo through member-been restored. The winter education series is an attempt to inform citizens about the natural world that surrounds them, from their own backyard to issues on a national scale. Earlier this year, the series featured a wildlife photographer from National Geographic magazine.

"The idea is to talk on various subjects of natural resource people interested on those issues during the winter months, when they're not going to the zoo per say," said Curt Loupe, director of Parks and Recre-

Loupe said he regularly attends the series.

Friends of the Sunset Zoo is a membership-based organization whose mission is to sup-affect animals, and also to keep ship services, donations and fund raising. Along with hearing presentations similar to McNulty's, members of Friends of the Zoo receive free admission to Sunset Zoological Park, along with discounted or free admission to nearly 100 zoos around the nation. Members also receive special invitations to zoo events and previews as well as a quarterly magazine.

> Founders Hill Apartments 1401 College Avenue (785) 539-4600

Sale Coming to an End

Everything 25~75% off

Modern Amusement*

New Merchandise Spring Line is Here

BCBGIRLS

Mon-Wed 11-6 Thurs-Sat 11-8 Sun 12-6 785.539.2880 710 N. Manhattan Ave

NOW LEASING FOR FALL 2007

(785) 776-3663

STUDIOS, 1, 2, 3, 4 BEDROOM UNITS

1422 McCain Lane (785) 539-5911

www.firstmanagementinc.com

House bill targets 'obscene' materials in Kansas schools

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA, Kan. - Legislators are taking aim at a legal protection for teachers, saying it allows obscene materials in the classroom under the guise of academic value.

Supporters of the bill said there is potential harm to minors in being exposed to obscenity or pornography in novels, plays, books and films.

The bill would strip the protection from criminal charges from elementary and secondary teachers, but retain it for college and university instructors and professors.

"The practical effect of this defense is that materials that would be illegal if sold at a porn shop may be legal if displayed to a kindergarten class," said Rep. Lance Kinzer, R-Olathe, who sought the leg-

The bill, expected to be debated in the coming weeks, was endorsed by all but one member of the House Federal and State Affairs Committee.

"This bill is not about stopping nefarious teachers," said the lone dissenter, Rep. Ann Mah, D-Topeka. "This bill is about giving nefarious district attorneys a tool to bring charges against English teachers."

Mah was referring to Johnson County District Attorney Phill Kline, the conservative former state attorney general. She said there was a test case for the obscenity bill in the Blue Valley school district, also in Johnson County.

The parent group Citizens for Literary Standards in Schools has sought for two years to get the school district to remove 14 books from its curriculum.

Rep. Benjamin Hodge, R-Overland Park, said state law regarding promotion of obscenity, gives school boards too much authority over classroom behavior.

Kinzer's bill, Hodge said, would "at least give parents in Blue Valley a voice."

Kinzer, however, said the bill's intent goes beyond a lone group of angry parents in a single district.

John Burford, who lives in Mission and serves as pastor of Ward Parkway Presbyterian Church in Kansas City, Mo., said school employees shouldn't have leeway to present obscene materials to mi-

"The last place that should be immune from prosecution for distributing obscenity to children is the schools we charge to teach them the truth," Burford said. "Obscenity is all about lies. Its lies include that sex is acceptable with anyone, at any time, in any place. Obscenity teaches that women will eventually enjoy rape if the rapist persists."

David Schauner, general counsel for the Kansas-National Education Association, said the bill would have a chilling effect, prompting teachers to self-censor lessons to avoid potential lawsuits.

Mark Tallman, lobbyist for the Kansas Association of School Boards, said curriculum disputes were best left to voters to decide when choosing school board members.

"We have elections every two years," he said. "This is not a legislative issue."

Regulators approve sale of Aquila utilities

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

KANSAS CITY, Mo. -Kansas regulators signed off on Aquila Inc's plan to sell its electric utilities in the state for $249 million, the company said Monday.

The Kansas Corporation Commission late Friday approved the sale, the final piece of a plan announced in 2005 to sell the company's natural gas utilities in Michigan, Minnesota and Missouri and other assets to three companies for $896.7 million.

It's not connected to the company's announcement earlier this month that it plans to sell the rest of its assets to utilities Great Plains Energy Inc. and Black Hills Corp. for more than $2.6 billion.

The Mid-Kansas Electric Co., a coalition of six consumer-owned cooperatives that also owns the Sunflower Electric Power Corp., is expected to close the Kansas electric deal by April 1, acquiring 69,000 customers. Aquila announced the three-company deal in September 2005 as a way to streamline operations and generate needed revenue to pay off high levels of debt incurred over the years from illfated forays into energy trad- ages ing and other nonregulated businesses.

The Kansas electric deal was originally to bring in $255 million, but the price was scaled back because of existing contracts with Mid-Kansas and Westar Energy

Despite assurances it would not sell the company, Aquila officials said on Feb. 7 that its cross-town rival, Great Plains Energy, would acquire all of the company's outstanding shares for $1.7 billion in cash and stock and assume about $1 billion in Aquila's debt.

Before the sale, Black Hills would purchase Aquila's electric utility in Colorado and its gas utilities in Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa. Black Hills, based in Rapid City, S.D., would pay about $940 million in cash for the Officials said it could take up to a year for regulators and shareholders to approve the Norwalk, Conn.-based hedge fund Pirate Capital LLC has led a chorus of investors lobbying shareholders to shoot down the sale. They say the price is too low and Aquila executives will receive exorbitant severance nack.

Giuliani, now a Republican, addresses his Democratic past

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON - Republican presidential hopeful Rudy Giuliani addressed his Democratic past on Monday and offered one reason for his political conversion - taxes.

"I don't think anything separates us more right now between Republicans and Democrats than how we look at taxes," the former New York mayor said. "What we understand as Republicans is that, sure, the government is an important player in this, but we are essentially a private economy. What Democrats really believe ... is that it is essentially a agovernment economy."

In the days of President Kennedy, Giuliani said, Democrats understood the concept of the private economy and cutting taxes. But, he said, Democrats have "kind of lost that."

"It's one of the reasons

Congress shall make no or prohibiting the free

the right of the people and to petition the

of grievances.

peaceably to assemble,

Government for a redress exercise thereof; or establishment of religion, abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or law respecting an

that I used to be a Democrat and I'm now a Republican," Giuliani said before quoting Winston Churchill as saying: "If you're not a liberal when you're 20, you have no heart, but if you're not a conservative by the time you're 40, you have no brain."

The line prompted laughter from Giuliani's audience, a few hundred people affiliated with the Hoover Institution, a public policy center.

As he seeks the Republican nomination, Giuliani faces the challenge of winning over conservatives who make up the GOP's base and view him skeptically because of his moderate views on social issues and his past allegiance to the Democratic Party.

In 1994, Giuliani endorsed Democratic Gov. Mario Cuomo over Republican challenger George Pataki.

Addressing his political about-face, Giuliani said he once was a Democrat, then spent five years as an independent before finding a home with the Republican

"Ronald Reagan made only two changes. I was like Churchill, I made three," he quipped.

Turning serious, he said he struggled with his political identity while he was an independent.

"I would say to myself Democrats care about the poor and Republicans don't, and how can I join the party that doesn't care about the poor," Giuliani said. "I finally came to the conclusion that we care about the poor

Later, when questioned on whether he had the foreign policy credentials to be president, Giuliani sought to diffuse another potential stumbling block to the nomination.

"What makes you think that the mayor of New York City doesn't need a foreign policy?" Giuliani asked, as the crowd laughed and applauded.

Defending his record, he said he's traveled the world extensively since being out of office and grasped foreign policy issues while mayor in the 1990s.

"It's something that I think I know, I think I know as well as anybody else who's running for president, probably better than a lot," Giuliani said.

At an evening event in northern Virginia, the exmayor sought to buck up activists at a state Republican Party dinner a few months after the GOP sustained severe electoral losses at all levels of government.

"You learn more from defeat than you do from victory," Giuliani said. "Our party has to be and should be the party of the future."

Royal Purple yearbook we've got the stories you've got to read.

Buy your copy in Kedzie 103 or call 532-6555.

2007-2008 SGA Elections

ote now U.S. CONSTITUTION Primary Election

http://sgaelections.ksu.edu

Tuesday

February 27

8:00 a.m.

until Wednesday

February 28

6:00 p.m.

Select the two president/vice president tickets that will be placed on the general election ballot.

KSU STUDENT GOVERNING ASSOCIATION ELECTIONS WWW.K-STATE.EDU/ELECTIONS

Alorica INC.

FLEXIBLE SCHEDULES FUN ENVIRONMENT FANTASTIC WAGES

GAIN WORK EXPERIENCE BUILD YOUR RESUME START YOUR CAREER

NOW HIRING

www.aloricajobs.com

5970 SYKES BLVD MANHATTAN, KS 66502

PH: (785) 564-4413

WANNA BE ALREADY THEN E-MAIL YOUR THOUGHTS TO speak@spub.ksu.edu

Earbud Evil | A song worth fighting for

By Logan C. Adams KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Editor's note: This is the second segment of "Earbud Evil," a fictional story the Collegian will publish daily for the next three weeks. This story follows Alex, a fictional K-State student, as he deals with a campus-wide crisis that threatens the university.

Though the names of real people will accompany madeup characters, all events are fictional. This is intended for entertainment and is not factually based.

I wouldn't have cared much for botany lab if not for Lycopodium.

Bill, my lab partner, and I learned the spores from this fern-like plant can be fun when Chip, the wacky grad student in charge of our lab, sprayed some on a lit Bunsen burner.

Poof!

The airborne spores burst into flame as Chip's face went all plant-pyromaniac. He explained that Lycopodium makes great organic fireworks. Bill and I looked forward to lab from then on.

But Bill didn't seem so upbeat this time. He wouldn't speak or look at me when I walked in the door and didn't return my salutations when I sat down beside him.

Bill would only stare at the front of the room and listen to whatever was playing on his iPod. Class began and he took out his pen and notepad, but all he wrote were little squig-

"You all right, there, Bill?" I asked, but he didn't hear me. I reached to pull out the nearest earbud. Bill grabbed my wrist with one hand and my neck with the other. He shook his head slowly and mouthed the word "no."

"Bill, Alex, is there a problem?" Chip demanded from up front. My partner relaxed his grip and returned to his senseless doodles.

I figured it was one hell of a song he had playing and left it at that. Far be it from me to worry about him getting his five daily points. I'm not his tutor.

Class ended early, and Bill quickly shoved his notepad into his bag and showed little care for other students as he bumped into every single person between his seat and the door. Chip stopped me on the way out.

"What was the deal with your partner?" he asked. "Did someone run over his dog or his cat or - I dunno, his ham-

I paused, pushed aside my lousy day and managed an answer.

"Am I my partner's keeper, now?" I asked with the best grin I could manage, which wasn't much. "I bet it was just

I said goodbye, but the last word stuck in my head, and my gut.

Ate. Eat. Food.

It was now early afternoon, and my stomach was adamantly reminding me I hadn't eaten anything since the night before. I took the south exit out of Ackert Hall and made my way south to the Union.

A large man slammed into me near Ward Hall and nearly knocked me into the grass. I only caught a glimpse of his face, but I noticed little white wires going out of his ears and into his chest pocket.

Brownback seeks attention in crowded field

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SPARTANBURG, S.C. - Sen. Sam Brownback said Monday he is calling every Republican in this county he can before a presidential straw poll later in the week.

It's that kind of personal attention the Kansas senator hopes can take him from obscurity to the front of a crowded field for the GOP's 2008 presidential nomination.

The straw poll will be one of the first tests in Spartanburg County, which is at the center of the contest in

The county will run its 93 precinct meetings Thursday as if they were a caucus.

People will show up at their local polling places and choose from among 11 Republican candidates listed on a paper ballot, county Republican chairman Rick Beltram said.

Brownback is working for the vote harder than most candidates by calling voters, sending them mail and spending time here. But he isn't alone.

"We see five or six campaigns actively working the crowd," Beltram said.

and former Massachusetts Gov. Mitt Romney, who have made several visits to Spartanburg in the past year. Former New York Mayor Rudy Giuliani made a trip to the area last week to talk to firefighters.

Brownback stopped by The Beacon Restaurant on Monday, to the applause of about two dozen supporters.

The restaurant specializes in greasy burgers and fries and has become a popular spot on the campaign trail.

"How many votes do I get for eating a chili-cheeseburger?" he asked.

Brownback tried to appeal to the conservative crowd by decrying same-sex unions

"We've got to rebuild the family, not tear it down," he

It was the same message Brownback delivered earlier in the day as he stopped by U.S. Rep. Bob Inglis' regular monthly meeting with constituents only a few blocks

Brownback also stopped at a Spartanburg crisis pregnancy center.

"For the life of me, I don't understand what's controversial in standing for life. And yet for some reason that's become controversial," Brownback said.

Sebelius won't back candidate until next year

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON - Democratic presidential candidates hoping to get an endorsement from Kansas Gov. Kathleen Sebelius will have to wait until next year.

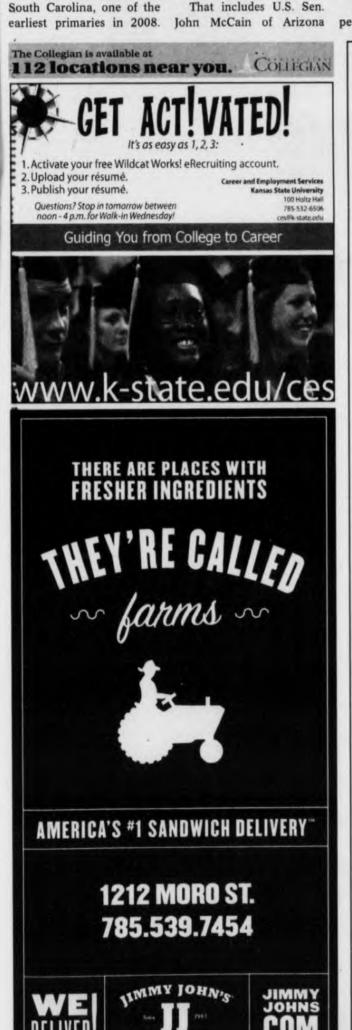

Sebelius said Monday she won't back anyone until 2008 at the earliest because she is focused on helping her party elect governors this year in Louisiana, Mississippi and Kentucky.

"I think it's appropriate that my political focus remain on those three governor's races,"

Sebelius said in an interview between forums at the winter meeting of the National Governors Association.

Seven other governors already have endorsed presidential hopefuls who want to tap into established networks for fundraising and party support.

"The candidates are very wise to seek governors' support," Sebelius said. "Clearly governors have already demonstrated they know how to put together a majority of the votes in their state border and know how to talk to their constituents."

OODEMET TENDWICE

RED MOTORAZR™ V3m Motorola and Sprint are collaborating with (PRODUCT)*** to help eliminate AIDS in Africa. JOINRED.COM

This feature-packed phone is the only RED MOTORAZR that lets you download music wirelessly from the Sprint Music Store."

$109.99 2-year price Plus $50 mail-in rebate With new line activation and 2-year agreen

(Sprint >+ 4)

Sprint POWER UP

Sprint stores

Hablamos Españo

JUNCTION CITY 701 N. Washington St 785-762-34344

100 Manhattan Tower Center

new extended hours 9a-9p M-Sat, 10a-6p Sun 785-537-3500

PREFERRED DEALERS Wireless Lifestyle - Sprint 1511 E. 17th St.

2146 Planet Ave.

Coverage not available everywhere. Available features and services will vary by phone and retwork. The Nationwide Sprint PCS Network reaches over 250 million people. Voice calling area reaches over 165 million people in the U.S., Puerto Rico, U.S. Virgin islands and Guam. Offers not available in all markets. Additional terms and restrictions apply. Subject to credit approval. See store or sprint.com for details. Service Man: Up to $36 activation and $200 early termination fees apply per line. Deposit may be required. Instant Savings: Activation at time of purchase required. No cash back, Mail-In Rebate. Requires purchase by 02/17/07 and activation by 03/03/07. Rebates cannot exceed purchase price. Taxes excluded. Line must be active 30 consecutive days. Allow 8 to 12 weeks for rebate. Free Ret Messaging: Rext message overage is $0.00 per message. To avoid charges, you must contact us prior to the billing end date of the 12th plan month. Risk-Free Guarantee: Call us to deactivate and return (to place of purchase) complete, undamaged phone with receipt within 30 days of activation. You are responsible for all charges based on actual usage (partial monthly service charges, sprint Fees, etc.). Project RED: Motorola and Sprint will collectively make a $17 contribution on the sale of each RED. Motorola and Sprint will collectively make a $17 contribution on the sale of each RED. Motorola and Sprint Nextel is eligible to receive support from the federal universal service fund, Sprint Nextel must meet all reasonable requests for service. Unresolved questions concerning service availability can be directed to the Kansas Corporation Commission Office of Public Affairs and Consumer Protection at 800-662-0027. @2007 Sprint Nextel. All rights reserved. SPRINT, the logo and other trademarks of Sprint Nextel. All third-party product or service names are property of their respective owners. All rights reserved.

REC | Committee uses Mizzou Complex example

continued from Page 1

Mizzou Rec Complex. Maddy explained everything inside its complex was "branded," meaning there were many displays of Tiger pride.

The Missouri mascot was depicted on the end of every dumbbell, large "M" logos were displayed on every door, even the building's color scheme involved strictly school colors.

"School pride is definitely something I would like to see more of at K-State's rec complex," Maddy said. "We don't want the rec to be just a nameless, shapeless place that students go to."

Another innovative move Missouri made was to invite outside vendors into its rec complex to open small service venues for students, like a spa complete with tanning beds, massages and a supplemental drink "mini bar."

These also are several possibilities the committee is considering for its expansion proposal, Maddy said.

While the purpose of the committee is to assist in orga-

1/2 Price Dribbs

Aggieville

nizing a Rec Complex expansion proposal, it made it clear its mission is to represent the students of K-State.

"Our mission is to ascertain whether or not the students are in favor or whether or not there is a perceived need for expansion," Topp said.

This is where the student survey comes in. The committee will know the results of the survey in several weeks and will be able to put together a more complete proposal for the possible expansion after reviewing students' responses. This also would include an overall cost analysis.

If the committee feels students are, by majority, in favor of updating the rec, it will propose the expansion to the Student Govering Association, which in turn will vote. If the resolutoin passes, SGA will assign separate committees to continue the project, Topp

Many students offered strong opinions about the possible expansion of the rec cen-

Melissa Slack, sophomore

in advertising, said updating the rec complex is a good idea and would help cut back on the crowding issues.

However, not everyone is in favor of the updates.

"I'm happy with the rec just how it is," said Andrew Maness, freshman in secondary education and mathematics. "I've never had a problem with it, and I'm not sure why they're even considering updating it."

Both Slack and Maness said they frequent the K-State Rec Complex about five times a week, using multiple areas of the facilities.

While the committee puts the finishing touches on its Rec Complex expansion proposal over the next few weeks, members encourage students to take the survey sent in an email last week.

"It's only a few simple questions, and we would really appreciate student input," Maddy said. "We just want to do this as a representation of the K-State student body."

√5¢ self-serve copies Claflin Books and Copies lects old books with handwritten inscriptions by the author at the beginning. "Many of my books have wonderful inscriptions in for teachers of English, col-

continued from Page 1

them," she said. "I like them in linguistic value of how sentence structure was then and now." Sentence structure is no longer what it used to be,

she said. Students are in a hurry, and use shorthand in their writing often utilized in text messaging. Students learn to write when they are in preschool, said Kasey Kile, preschool and school-age program development coordinator at the K-State Child Development Center. "Our goal is to make them use their finger and thumb, building their muscles and working from there," she said. "We don't focus primarily on specific ways of writing techniques. We'll help guide them through letters and letter recognition."

HANDWRITING | Shorthand affects grammar

Handwriting is emphasized in middle school, but by the time a student reaches high school, it is almost nonexistent, according to the New York Times article.

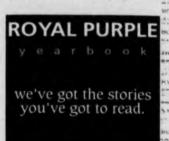

In fact, only a handful of universities have classes that emphasize handwriting, the article said. These universities include Brigham Young, the University of Nebraska at Kearney and St. Ambrose in Davenport, Iowa.

Steve Graham, a professor at Vanderbilt University, told The New York Times some might not think it matters, but there is a link between lack of handwriting skills and poor grammar.

But Susan G. Harris, the headmistress at Harford Day School in Bel Air, Md., told The New York Times handwriting skills stick with= students for life.

"We don't do the glamorous makeover here," she said. "We believe that skills and habits of the mind take years to develop. We just know that there aren't quick

"With handwriting or anything else, you need the = firm foundation there. Once you learn to walk, you won't go back to crawling again."

Royal Purple yearbook we've got the stories you've got to read.

Buy your copy in Kedzie 103 or call 532-6555

APARTMENT HUNTING 101 Most Locations Near KSU

Class . Library Aggieville • Banks

Clean 1-2-3-4 BR Apartments, Duplexes, and Houses

SERIOUS STUDENTS RENT WITH: Moore Property Management

www.moorepropertymanagement.com

785-537-0205

You can WALK to:

Restaurants . Coffee Shops Watering Holes (NO DUIs)

DON'T SKIP CLASS BECAUSE YOU CAN'T FIND A PARKING SPACE!

SINCE 1974 view our property starting the 19th -28th

Lease signing begins Feb. 26th

rakaranan s

LAST SPOTTED DISPLAYING GREAT ATTENTION

strike a pose

these k-staters

we'll be in aggieville thursday, march 1, 9:00 - 11:00 p.m. under varney's marquee and saturday, march 3 at bramlage for the oklahoma state game. so bring your friends and strike a pose!

it's free and the best shots will be in the 2007 royal purple yearbook.

to see other students who got their pictures taken go to royalpurple.ksu.edu

CLASSIFIEDS

Classifieds continue on the next page

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition ADVERTISE the Government for a redress of grievances.

First Amendment

U.S. CONSTITUTION

planes and lowest range Call 785-776-1744, www.

Lost and Found

rted to the Director

Rent-Apt. Furnished

Apply At: uman Resources at City all, (785)587-2440.

POSITIONS

available for field techni-

are ideal for anyone inter-for wildlife biology. Will be fifteen to thirty hours per sons please send resume and cover letter via e-mail to grego1aj@ksu.edu or call 785-532-6413.

Help me run my business

Open to all majors. Five

TAPS LANDSCAPING IS self motivated full and part time help. Competitive

Must be 18 with DL. Apply

785-539-8675, 9am-4pm.

VILLAGE INN, join our team! Now hiring full-time and part-time servers and hosts and part-time cooks wages, friendly environ ment, great benefits and opportunities for advancement. Apply in person at the Manhattan Village Inn,

204 Tuttle Creek Blvd

Equal Opportunity Em-

WILDCATSNEEDJOBS.

100% free to join. Click on

Competitive

looking for dependal

week

cal

positions available,

age earns $800/

bcglobal.net

restaurant.

Pay is $6.25

All interested per-starting chickens

Classifieds continue from the previous page

CLASSIFIEDS

To place an advertisement call 785-532-6555

SEVERAL

prairie

LET'S REN

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished 1203 THURSTON, one block to campus. New conapartments washer, balcony, private parking, security lighting. No pets. June 2007 lease.

785-539-5508 785-564-0857 1215 POYNTZ, two-bedpark with off-street park dryer. Neutral colors with total re-model. Water and trash paid. June lease. No 1628 FAIRVIEW. Quiet one-bedroom ($400) and Studio ($375) near KSU. Laundry. Water, trash paid. No pets, no smok trash

JUNE. 530-342-1121. 1832 CLAFLIN. Across from Marlatt Hall. Twoapartments Clean, quiet, private parking. No smoking, no pets.

$560. August leases. 785-539-5508 or 785-564-0857 350 N. 16th. Two blocks two-bedroom apartments. Clean, quiet, private parking. No smoking, no pets. 785-539-5508 or JUNE LEASE two-bedroom apartment. Walk to us. Excellent condition/ location. http://www.-

rentkstate.com

785-410-2814

1110 Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

MANHATTAN CITY Ordiery person equal opportu-nity inhousing without distinction on account of military status, disability religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reorted to the Director of sources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

1117 VATTIER. New all Two-bedrooms appliances furnished, no Close to campus. 785-539-1975 or 785-313-8292

1219 KEARNEY. June. bedroom. lease. Water/ trash paid. Next to campus, off street parking. No pets. $350. 785-539-5136.

1219 KEARNEY. TWO-BEDROOMS. BEDROOMS. August, year lease. Water/ trash paid. Next to campus, off street parking. No pets. $660. 785-539-5136.

ALLIANCE PROPERTY MANAGEMENT. One-bed room. June, July, August. 785-539-4357. www.rentapm.com

AVAILABLE JUNE 1, onebedroom, large, clean. Only pay electricity. Small allowed. Balcony location. $570 pets great $570 month. 785-341-7289.

ONE, TWO, four, five-bedroom apartments/ houses for June and August leases. 785-564-0857.

ONE, TWO, three, and four-bedroom apartments Close to campus and ag gieville. Parking and laun dry. 785-539-5800.

ONE, TWO, three, four five, six bedroom apartment/ houses next to cam-pus. Washer/ dryer, cen-tral air. No Pets. tral air. No 785-537-7050.

THREE-BED-ROOMS, near campus.

August lease, pets ok 785-776-2051.

ONE-BEDROOM APART-MENTS in quiet six-plex at 1811 Platt. Available June 1st. Unfurnished, central air, parking, water and trash paid. No pets. $375 per month. Call KSU Foundation 785-532-7569 785-532-7541

ONE-BEDROOM TO fivebedrooms. Apartments, duplexes and homes. Most close to campus. Some farther away. June or August leases. Check website www. emeraldpropertymanagment.com or call Emerald

Property Management 785-587-9000 for more information. PARK PLACE Apart ments. One- Bedrooms. Summer/ fall leasing. Pets welcome. One- half mile from KSU at Seth Child and Claflin, 785-539-2951.

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished PRE-LEASING JUNE and August. Some units brand to washer/ dryer included. details 785-776-2102. youngwilks@yahoo.com, www.wilksapts.com THREE-BEDROOM WITH porch and sunroom, 511 Bluemont, August 1 lease, laundry included, no pets, $945 plus utilities, 785-313-0462, leave mes-

AND room. Close to campus. coin operated laundry facility. Available June August. N 785-537-1746 No pets.

785-539-1545.

Rent-Duplexes WHARTON Manor Road, four-bedroom lower level duplex with neutral colors, two baths, washer furnished. 817 Vattier, three-bedroom lower duplex with new car pet, neutral colors and washer/ dryer hook-ups. Very reasonable rent with great space in both du-June lease No pets. Call 785-313-4812. NICE DUPLEX 606 Vattier. Four-bedroom, two includes all appliances, washer/ dryer. No

1.10. Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

$1080/

785-293-5197.

PLACE Apart-Two- bedrooms. Pets welcome. Summer/ Fall leasing. One- half mile from KSU at Seth Claflin 785-539-2951.

THREE AND four-bedapartments able in August. Close to campus. Water and trash paid. Coin operated laun-785-537-7810, 785-537-2255

Spacious Duplexes

Custom built with the K-State student in mind.

Each duplex features walk-in closets, all kitchen appliances, washer/dryer, off street parking, phone and cable connections in every oom, security lighting, trash and lawn care.

Security deposit is the same as one month's rent. The lease period begins August 1

> 4 Bedrooms, 2 Baths 1,300 Sq. Ft. ONLY $1,150/mo

Sorry, No Pets! Quiet Neighborhood, Convenient and Close Day: 313-0751 Night: 537-4682

NOW LEASING

arge 2 Bedroom Apts Cambridge Square Sandstone.

Open Saturday 10-3

537-9064

Close to Campus! 2000 College Hts

•1114 Fremont •
•519 Osage • Pre-lease Today for Spring! Only A few homes remain Amenities:

·Washer/Dryers or hookups available On-Site Management · Garages Available Private Fitness Center Storm Center Peaceful Garden Setting Enormous Closets

GEORGETOWN

776-8080 www.GeorgetownApts.net

1001 KEARNEY have June 1. Four to five-bed-Five, Six and room house located Seven-Bedroom houses.

OK. 785-317-7713. CAMPUS Road. Four-bedroom, two baths Central air, washer/ dryer furnished. Neutral colors Large bedrooms for an afprice. No pets.

785-313-4812. 200 N. 11th. On City Park. Two large, sunny three-bedroom ($750). Laundry. Water, trash paid. No pets, no smoking. 1 JUNE

AUGUST. 530-342-1121. BEAUTIFUL REMOD-ELED homes. 1612, 1614 rre, four- five-bedroom two bath, fresh carpet paint. New kitchen, bath modern appliances. Close

August. 785-304-0387. BRITTNAY RIDGE town house four/ five-bedroom. two and one-half baths, includes appliances, washer/ dryer. No pets.

August

785-293-5197. FIVE-BEDROOM HOUSE. Walk to campus. Two kitchens, fireplaces, central air, neutral colors, washer/ dryer furnished, pets. Available August 1. garage, lawn mainte-

110 Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

pets. Call 785-313-4812.

bedrooms, close to cam-pus, central air, dishwasher, laundry facilities. No pets, available February 1. 785-539-0866.

TWO-BEDROOM apart-Newly renova Available June 1, $600 two blocks to campus and Aggieville. Dishwasher, central air, laundry facility. 443-867-7527.

TWO-BEDROOM CIAL at Park Place Apartments. $495 rent plus free cable through July '07.

TWO-BEDROOM. CLOSE to campus. Personal washer/ dryer. $645month. 785-341-4496

TWO-BEDROOM, many sizes and prices. June or August. 785-341-0686.

TWO-BEDROOMS, ALL bills paid. 785-341-4496

VERY NICE three-bedroom, two bath apartment. Three blocks to Aggieville. 822 Fremont. Affordable utilities, August 785-313-1807.

WHY RENT WHEN YOU CAN BUY? Condos for sale. Two and three-bedroom starting at $112,650. collegiatevilla.com

WILDCAT VILLAGE. Available June or August fourbedroom, two bath washer/ dryer, storm room, $1400. Cable paid. 785-565-3760. www.village-rentals.com.

Preleasing! spacious 1 & 2 Bedroom Ap

Few Spaces Remain for Graduate Students • Upper Classmen Amenities

Juliet Park Like Setting In-Site Laundry • Enormous Closets

rivate Fitness Center Abundant Parking/Garages

Customer Service

Three-Time winner of the National Multifamily CEL Award for the #1 in Full-time Maintenance Personn 24-hour Emergency Staff
 Testav for Surreys and

WESTCHESTER PARK 776-1118

1420 Beechwood Terrace New Apartment Lg. 2 & 3 Bedrooms 112 Baths Washer/Drver

Energy Efficient On a Wooded Secluded 2 Acre Lot with Creek

$740 & $885 341-4024

CLEAN, QUIET basement two bath, full kitchen, patio. $385 per month per person. All utilities included. emilyf@ksu.edu.

FIVE-BEDROOM, TWO bath house for rent. 931 June lease Washer/ dryer, window air conditioning. Fenced back-yard, pets allowed. Offstreet parking. $1 month. 785-539-4949. $1500/

FIVE-BEDROOM. June, August. Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rent-

NEW LISTING, availab

dryer,

NEXT TO campus, one

pets. 785-537-7050.

785-776-9260

hook-ups,

dryer.

call after

Central

washer/

785-341-5346.

7p.m

785-336-1124.

TWO-BEDROOM

AND three-bed

central air

bedroom.

rooms. Two blocks to car

pus. June and August eases. No pets, laundry

ment apartment. Washer

month. Cheap utilities. Available August 1. 1211

TWO-BEDROOMS, one

August, $730. 7 8 5 - 5 3 7 - 8 4 2 0

1115

Rooms Available

THREE FEMALE room

2007. Close to campus,

washer/ dryer, no pets $280 plus utilities. Cal

117

Rent-Duplexes

(August) Washer/

ing, great location,

785-532-8256.

hardwood floors,

coverings,

kitchen cabinets and appliances (even washer and dryer). Trash and lawn care included. No pets

Emerald Property Ma agement 785-587-9000.

roommates in four-bed-

WALK TO class. One,

two, three, four-bedroom

No smoking, no drinking,

120

Rent-Houses

1015 PIERRE. Very nice, four-bedroom. Fenced in July or August lease. All pets considered. Chris,

1310 N. 11th. Two-bedroom, June lease. No pets, close to campus.

1417 NICHOLS, four-bed

rooms, family room. 1909

Kenmar, three-bedrooms

502 FREMONT, three-bedroom, one bath, no pets.

June

patio. 785-539-1177.

Available

785-539-1975

785-313-8292.

AVAILABLE JUNE

yard. 785-539-3672.

Three-bedroom house located at 1501 Harry

Road. Two blocks west of campus, cert.

central

two bathrooms. washer/ dryer, garage game room, fenced yard/back rooms.

785-770-2161.

785-539-1975

785-313-8292

yard. Spacious s. Washer/ dryer.

no pets. 785-539-1554.

room

Washer/

785-410-2916

785-447-0852.

785-564-0372.

duplex.

$1280, smoking.

new

Man-

Dryer.

offstreet park-including

Jenna 785-479-1430.

FOUR-BEDROOM

baths

hookups.

needed for fall

No pets. $600/

air, appliances

dryer. No pets

785-868-3471

dish

of Aggieville

deposit plus 785-539-3672.

through

apm.com washer, central air. Lease pedroom duplex. Good lo-cation with dishwasher, washer and dryer $1160.

pets. 785-537-7597. and apartments FOUR LARGE bedroom Washer/ dryer, central air bath, quiet location KSU. Washer/ dryer, two bath,

A/C. No smoking/ pets. June. 785-539-8553. AND three-bed rooms, utilities paid, washer/ dryer. Near cam-FOUR TO five-bedrooms pus and city park. August 1. 785-532-9564. two bath, washer/ dryer, central air, dishwash THREE-BEDROOM. TWO bath duplex, two ca

785-532-9564 garage, washer/ dryer, very well maintained FOUR-BEDROOM AND Available June 1, $930/ month, 821 Mission. six-bedroom houses. Close to campus and Ag-

dry. 785-539-5800.

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE. Close to camtral air/ heat. No smoking August lease. $1100/ Hartford Road, 785-759-3520.

FOUR-BEDROOM, bath house for rent. 900 June lease conditioning. Fenced backyard, pets allowed. $1200/ month. Party shack and attached garage. included. 785-539-4949.

> FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO and one-half bath, study. August 1. $975 per August tate. Call 785-539-5394

JUNE, July, August. Al-liance Property Manageent. 785-539-4357. www.rent-apm.com

HOUSE: Tecumseh. Four-bedroom, two bath, June 1 Two, half-duplexes four-bedroom, washer/ dryer included, $1200/ month, no 785-539-2357 785-341-8576.

ONE TO five-bedroom apartments and houses campus 785-539-1975 785-313-8292

ONE-BEDROOM TO five Apartments. bedrooms. FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO Most close to campus. bath duplex for rent plus Some farther away. June study room. One-half or August leases. Check washer block from KSU. Every- out our website www.- 785-537 emeraldpropertymanagment.com or call Emerald for two bedrooms in five-Property Management bedroom house. Next fall. 785-587-9000 for more in- Close to campus. Outdoor RENTAL HOUSE. $800, 620-382-7241. June year lease. 2007 to May 2008. Excel-$1400/ month. June pos-session. Call Regina at lent distance to walk to campus. Call Mrs. Kim 913-681-9959.

SEVEN TO eight-bedroom LOOKING FOR three (two kitchen). June, July, August. Alliance Property Management. 913-961-5929. 785-539-4357. www.rent- SUBLEASER 500 Laramie. $285 per room. apm.com

SIX-BEDROOM kitchen). June, July, August. Alliance Property THREE-BEDROOM Management. utilities. 913-4 785-539-4357. www.rent- 913-406-1034. UNIT, located at 8/ 802 North 5th. No pets, $975/ apm.com available June 1

WILDCAT PROPERTY MANAGEMENT 537-2332

8th & Moro 2BR - $850

3BR - $1,300 4BR - $1,700

14th & Fremont 4BR - 21/2 Bath $1,650

Anderson Village 1BR- $525 2BR - $700-725

1501 Poyntz House - $750 3BR - 2 Bath

1BR - 1Bath 315 Poyntz

1509 Poyntz

House - $600

1BR - $650 Fall Leasing

FOUR-BED-ROOM, Washer/ two dryer, kitchen. Near City Park. Available May 1. $1100/ month plus utilities. 785-313-1886

THREE, FOUR, FIVE, SIX PLUS BEDROOMS. Looking for that perfect home prices. Capstone Management

785-341-0686. THREE-FIVE-BED-ROOMS, near campus.

August lease, pets ok. 785-776-2051. THREE-BEDROOM HOUSE at 1721 Ander-son, Available June 1, Unfurnished, off-street park-ing. $750 per month. Call KSU Foundation at 785-532-7569

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO bath, one mile west of campus. Washer and dryer provided, $1000 per goy. month. 785-313-7473. THREE-BEDROOM.

JUNE, July, August. Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rent-apm.com TWO-BEDROOMS. JUNE, July, August. Al- person. llance Property Manage- cash h ment.785-539-4357.www.- is a plu

> 1245 Sale-Houses

rent-apm.com

CONDOS FOR SALE. BARTENDING! $300 a Two and three-bedroom starting at $112,650. colle giate villa.com 785-537-2096.

FABULOUS Maine, one-half bath, brick ranch west $149,900. Call KSU.

Roommate Wanted

CHRISTIAN seeks two female room mates starting fall 2007 August to May lease. New three-bedroom, two bath house with washer/ dryer. $350 plus one-third utilities. Call 847-975-1484

FEMALE HOUSEMATE. drinking/ month. smoking. One-third $295/ utilities, washer/ dryer, August lease. ami-785-537-1464

MALE. WALK to class, all furnished, lower level, washer dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, pets, 785-539-1554.

ROOMMATE NEEDED until May 31. Rent $275/ month plus one-fourth utilities. Washer/ dryer, dish-Call 785-537-3737. ROOMMATES NEEDED

150 Sublease

HOUSE SEVEN minutes from campus. $200.00 per for Spring 2007 semester. month. Four-bed room apartment. First month's rent paid, cheap utilities. 913-495-2558 or THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT two blocks to campus, close to Ag-gieville. Rent $300/ person. Call 785-221-6680.

TWO-BEDROOM APART-MENT, walk to campus, ties. 785-275-1409 leave message

Employment/Careers

Help Wanted

THE COLLEGIAN cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opporwith

tion. The Collegian urges

our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. ADMINISTRATIVE ASSIS-TANT- Networks Plus, the leader in providing business computer services, has a full-time position available in Manhattan KS. This challenging position requires the ability to handle multiple tasks and priorities while maintaining a positive and ener-getic attitude. $12/ hour, full-time only, opportuni-ties for advancement. Es@networksplus.com.

AS NEEDED JUVENILE bath. INTAKE AND ASSESS nice MENT OFFICER. Riley rections is accepting applineeded, on-call juvenile in cers. Minimum require school diploma. for call-out duty is $10. On-call reimburse ment is $30/ day. On-call officers work a rotating on-call schedule, with the usual schedule being one week of on-call duty every 8- 10 weeks, Law enforce ment experience or direct preferred. Valid driver's license and ability to work flexible hours is mandatory. Applications can be obtained from Riley County Clerk's Office, 110 Courthouse or Office, Plaza, 66502, or visit our webwww.rileycountyks.site, Riley County is an opportunity em-

> BANK TELLER, Immediate opening for full-time front line and/ or drive-up teller. Looking for outgosional, service oriented cash handling experience is a plus but not required. Forty hour work week. Great hours. Great benefits. Apply at Kansas State Bank, 1010 Westloop, Manhattan. Equal Opportunity Employer.

day potential. No experience necessary. Training 1-800-965-6520 ext. 144. CAMP TAKAJO Naples noted for pic-

time

jobs@civicplus.com.

entails managing multiple from start to finish. Position requires attention to detail. the ability to manage multiple task, priorities and deadlines and a cheerful attitude. Training is provided. Benefits in clude Health, Dental, Paid

Word format to jobs@-

Paid Vacation

401(k) matching.

Holidays,

and turesque lakefront locaexceptional facilities. Mid- June through mid-August. Counselor positions in tennis, baseball, soccer, lacrosse, golf, flag foot-ball, roller hockey, swimming, sailing, water skiing, gymnastics, dance, horseriding, archery. weight training, newspaphotography, woodworking, ceramics, pottery, crafts, fine arts, silver jewelry, copper dio/ electronics, theater, costumer, piano accompanist, music instrumentalbackpacking, climbing, canoeing/ kayaking, ropes course, secrenanny. Call Takajo at 866-356-2267. Submit online at takajo.com.

COMPLETE OUTDOORS Inc. seeking all positions landscape, irrigation, maintenance. 785-776-1930.

EASTER HELP needed a Manhattan Town Center Manager location. $455/ week, Easter Bunny $8.50/ hour. Call Becky 1-800-422-8967 HARVEST HELP wanted.

Late May through August Pays well. 785-587-1956. evenings. HAY COMPANY in search of summer workers, farm experience needed. Excellent wages, 785-564-2590. HORTICULTURAL SER-VICES, Inc. is seeking reliable, motivated individuals for full-time or parttime seasonal positions in our retail garden center. Above average wages commensurate with experience and abilities. Apply in person at 11524 Landscape Lane, St. George, Kansas 785-494-2418 or 785-776-0397.

HOWE LANDSCAPE Inc. several positions available for our landscaping, irrigation and mowing intenance crews. This is for full time and part time help, with flexible schedules for students, preferably four hour blocks of time. Applicants must be 18 years or age and have a valid drivers li-cense. Starting wage is $8.00/ hour. Apply three ways, in person Monday through Friday at 12780 Madison Rd in Riley; call 785-485-2857 to obtain an application; or e-mail us at howeland@kansas.-

JOIN THE K-State Online team at the Office of Mediated Education, and contribute to a variety of important K-State web sites and applications. Candidates must be motivated. capable of learning new quickly, rected, able to work at least 15 hours a week and willing to devote at least a year to the position. Working with technologies in an office that values its students provides a fun yet challenging work environment. Starting wages begin at $7.00. For more information email us at omeoffice@ksu.edu. KSU STUDENT help needed for working in greenhouse and tree packing. Four hour block time required. 8:00a.m. to 12: 00p.m. or 1:00p.m. to 5:-00p.m. Monday through mail resume in Microsoft Word or text format to: job-Friday. $6.00/ hour. Apply at Kansas Forest Service. 2610 Claffin Rd.

LOOKING FOR part-time help in Scrapbook store. Monday- Wednesday- Friday daytime. Experie

rina 785-410-3177.

LUNCHROOM SUPERVI-GROUND SORS. Immediate openmentary Schools. $6.50 per hour one and a half- two hours per day. 11:00 a.m.- 1:00 p.m. Ap plication available at www. usd383.org/District/HumanResources/ or apply at Human Resources Department, 2031 Poyntz Av Applications cepted until positions are filled. Apply to Manhattan-USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Avenue, Manhat-KS 66502 785-587-2000. Equal Opportunity Employer.

MATH TEACHER: USD 378 is accepting applica tions for a high Contact math teacher. Pultz bpultz@usd378.com 785-485-4000

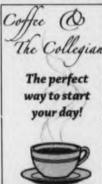

PART-TIME cashier and sales associate needed Must be evenings and weekends. Apply at Midwest Hardware. 800 Tuttle PLAY SPORTS!

fun! Save money! Maine camp needs fun loving counselors to teach. All COM. PAID survey takers land, adventure and water sports. Great summer! Call 888-844-8080, apply:

WINTER/ SPRING Posi PROGRAMMER- CIVIC tions Available. Earn up to $150 per day. Experience ing provider of City, County, and School webnot required. Undercove shoppers needed to judge sites. Full-time position in retail and dining establish Manhattan, Microsoft ASP ments. Call 800-722-4791 and SQL experience required. $15.50/ hour plus time and a half for over-Benefits time. include Health, Dental, Paid Holi-Open Market days, Paid Vacation, and 401K matching. Email resume in Microsoft Word or text format to jobs@civicplus.com

Items for Sale MANAGER PROJECT CivicPlus has an opening POOL TABLE for in our Manhattan head quarters office for a full-785-564-1465. project manager This challenging position entails managing multiple website redesign from start to finish. Position requires attention to detail, the ability to man-Transportation age multiple tasks, priorities and deadlines and a cheerful attitude. Training is provided. Benefits in clude health, dental, paid

Automobiles holidays, paid vacation and 401(k) matching. SET OF off road wheel Email resume in text or Mickey Thompson Classic Lock Wheels-Tires are Good Year Wrangler MT/R 31x10.50 MANAGER. CivicPlus has an opening $500 OBO 316-304-5852 in our Manhattan head quarters office for a full-time Project Manager. Coffee (0) This Challenging position

civicplus.com Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

su do ku

Fill in the grid so that every row, every column, and every 3 x 3 box contains the digits 1 through 9

3		5		6			2
					5	8
1	8		9				6
8	9	1		3
			8	4
			6		8	9	7
2				8		9	9
	7	3
5			3		1		4

Solution and tips at www.sudoku.com

"Real Hope, Real Help, Real Options Free pregnancy testing Totally confidential service Same day results • Call for appointment Mon. Fri. 9 a.m. 5 p.m.

with no repeats.

SEX ED

Sexual health advice from the experts at SHAPE

Toilet seats not good STD transmitters

By Matt Combes with Lindsay Gallon SEXUAL HEALTH AWARENESS PEER EDUCATORS

The panic sets in.

You usually wouldn't resort to such a disgusting choice, but it's a dire emergency. This moment could make a break in the Hoover Dam look like spilled milk. You stumble into the putrid stall, bluefaced and knees crossed.

You take a deep breath, count to three and sit down on the public toilet. Your mind is racing with thoughts of what diseases you could contract.

One of the most common myths about sexually transmitted diseases is that they can be contracted from toilet seats. But could that really happen? Are gonorrhea and chlamydia lurking on the porcelain thrones of public restrooms?

This myth has been around for awhile. A young lady sits down on a public toilet to do her business, and a week later needs penicillin to clear up a case of venereal disease.

While one-in-two sexually active college students contract an STD, it is highly improbable any of those will come from a toilet seat.

Think back to the last time you used a toilet. Just how intimate were you getting with that seat? I'd hope you would see the point without further explanation.

One must consider the weaknesses of STD-causing agents.
According to the Mayo Clinic
Web site, "The microorganisms – bacteria and viruses – that cause STDs tend to be highly sensitive to environmental conditions and can't survive outside the human body for very long." This means when it comes to chilling out on a toilet seat, these li'l buddies die.

Many might wonder if there are exceptions to this. A study by Trudy Larson of the UCLA school of medicine found the herpes virus can survive up to 72 hours on a toilet seat. Although, Larson had to physically place the virus there. This goes back to how intimate you are getting with the toilet seat.

Another common response to the issue of toilet seat transmission might be, "What about crabs?"

Crabs can survive away from their host longer; however, they enjoy nestling up with our warmness and die without it.

Also, unlike most STDs, a crab infestation does not only come from sex. Nonsexual transmission of crabs also is possible in rare cases, according to the Centers for Disease Control.

A person can get crabs from sleeping in an infested bed, using infested towels or wearing infested clothing.

Another common misconception is that crabs, or genital lice, can "crawl" or "jump" into your genitals. The CDC states crabs don't have the proper feet to walk on slick a toilet seat. So unless your toilet seat is far different from what most of us are used to, this too is highly improbable.

It is unlikely to get an STD from a toilet seat, but other bacteria and germs do breed there. Never sit on one that is obviously soiled or wet, and always wash your hands after doing your business.

Sex Ed is a weekly column written by the members of Sexual Health Awareness Peer Educators and edited by Carol Kennedy, director of health promotions at Lafene Health Center. If you would like SHAPE to answer your sexual health question, please contact SHAPE at shape@issu.edu.

Half baked

Photo illustrations by Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN

Artificial, natural tanning present skin cancer risks

By Kristin Hodges
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The cold of winter and lack of sunshine bring white, pasty bodies to campus and leave many searching for ways to get a bronzed tan.

Besides basking in the sun, other ways to tan include tanning beds, airbrush tanning, tanning lotions — even tanning pills. While the options vary in popularity and price, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration warns against some of the products.

The FDA encourages people to avoid using tanning beds because the beds emit ultraviolet rays that often are "much more intense than those produced by the sun," according to the FDA Web site, www.fda.gov.

The FDA warns UV radiation risks from the sun are the same for tanning beds. The rays can cause skin cancer, damage the immune system and cause premature aging of the skin. These effects might not appear immediately, and damage to the skin can accumulate over a period of years.

However, these warnings do not keep customers away from the numerous salons surrounding campus.

Jessica Heuback, sophomore in open option, said she doesn't tan regularly but likes to do it in the winter.

"I just do it every once in a while, because I don't want to get in the routine of doing it," she said. "But I like to have color."

For people who choose to visit tanning salons, the FDA suggests using short exposure times to build up the tan, and to tan no more than twice a week.

Riki Darrah, Sun Connections Inc. employee, said the salon has three different tanning bed options: the super bed, mega bed and ultra bronzer.

Darrah said the ultra bronzer has the strongest bulb wattage of the beds and filters out 95 percent of the UV rays that cause sunburn.

She said moisturizing the skin and not burning are the best ways to maintain a tan. If the skin does burn, it's best to use Aloe vera so the skin does not peel.

She said the salon recommends customers use the super and mega beds every other day at most, because skin needs to be able to rest and absorb the tan.

The salon encourages customers to use the ultra bronzer bed three to four times in a 7- to 10-day period, and then twice a month to maintain the tan, she said.

Darrah said the salon does not sell self-tanning lotions that don't require tanning beds.

"I don't like them because they're uneven and orange," she said.

People should not use tanning beds if:

They sunburn easily and don't tan.
 They get frequent cold sores, because the UV radiation might cause them to occur more frequently.

■ They're taking medicines that can make them more sensitive to UV rays.

rays. — www.fda.gov

Jenny Olsen, junior in psychology and employee at Bronze Image Tanning Salon, said the salon has four different levels of tanning beds that differ in the amount of wattage the beds use.

Olsen said the salon sells different types of lotions that can be used in the tanning beds, as well as some that can be used outdoors without sunscreen.

She said some of the lotions have ingredients designed to help raise the levels of melanin in the skin for a better tan.

"Those are my favorite, especially if you have paler skin," she said. "They don't streak your skin at all."

While many tanning salons like Bronze Image and Sun Connections only offer tanning beds, others have the option of airbrush tanning.

Mandy Claeys, senior in marketing and employee of Salon Essentials, said the salon offers airbrush tanning along with tanning beds as an alternative for people who don't want to expose themselves to the UV radiation.

Claeys said airbrush tanning is instant, while the tanning beds take time to build the tan.

"It's something they can actually get on the spot, like if they're going to an event like a wedding or prom," she said.

She said airbrush tanning takes less than 10 minutes and can last for a week to 10 days with use of the right products.

Claeys said the salon sells extenders and body wash that help maintain the airbrush tan.

According to the FDA Web site, the spray-on tan uses the chemical dihydroxyacetone, or DHA. "The chemical DHA interacts with the dead surface cells in the epidermis to darken skin color and simulate a tan, and the result usually last for several days," according to the site.

The site restricts the use of DHA and warns that it should not be inhaled, ingested or exposed to the eyes.

Another option for tanning is taking tanning pills. The FDA has not approved these pills and warns against their use because some contain the color additive canthaxanthin, which can turn the skin orange and brown and cause serious health problems if ingested in large amounts, according to the Web site.

NEW RELEASES

Music

David Bromberg, "Try Me One More Time"
M.F. Horn 4 & 5, "Live at Jimmy's"
John Denver, "The Essential John Denver"
Do Make Say Think, "You You're a History in Rust"
Maynard Ferguson, "Wow: Formative Years"
Bill Engvall, "15" Off Cool"
Rev. Timothy Wright, "Jesus, Jesus, Jesus"

Dean & Britta, "Back Numbers"

Paul Brown, "White Sand" Matt Wertz, "Everything in Between" The Feeling, "Twelve Stops & Home"

DVDs

"Stranger than Fiction"

Karen Effiel (Emma Thompson) is an author writing her latest novel about an isolated man named Harold Crick (Will Ferrell). What she doesn't know is that her fictionalized character is real. The real Harold Crick is an IRS agent who has lived a dull existence and one day begins to hear Karen's voice as she narrates what she puts on paper to what Harold has and is doing. Harold finds trouble when he hears that Karen plans to kill him.

"Bob Dylan: Don't Look Back" In spring 1965, Bob Dylan, 23, a pixyish

In spring 1965, Bob Dylan, 23, a pixyish troubador, spent three weeks in England. D.A. Pennebaker's camera followed him from airport to hall, from hotel room to public house, from conversation to concert. Joan Baez and Donovan, among others, are were hand. It's the period when Dylan shifted from acoustic to electric, a transition that not all fans, including Baez, applauded. From the opening sequence of Dylan holding up words to the soundtrack's "Subterranean Homesick Blues," Dylan is playful and enigmatic.

"A Good Year" A British inv

A British investment broker (Russell Crowe) inherits his uncle's chateau (Albert Finney) and vineyard in Provence, where he spent much of his childhood. He discovers a new, laid-back lifestyle as he tries to renovate the estate to be sold.

"Tenacious D in The Pick of Destiny"
In Venice Beach, naive Midwesterner JB (Jack Black) bonds with local slacker KG (Kyle Gass), and they form the rock band Tenacious D. Setting out to become the world's greatest band is no easy feat, so they set out to steal what could be the answer to their prayers — a magical guitar pick.

"Conversations with God"

The true story of Neale Donald Walsch (Henry Czerny) inspired and changed the lives of millions worldwide. The journey begins after he unexpectedly breaks his neck in a car accident and loses his job. Soon after, we witness his transformation from everyday guy to homeless burn struggling just to stay alive. The movie follows Neale's eye-opening roller coaster ride through his battle to get enough food, make friends and regain his life.

"The Heart of the Game"
The documentary captures

The documentary captures the passion and energy of a Seattle high school girls' basketball team, the Roosevelt Roughriders, the eccentricity of their unorthodox coach, and the incredible true story of one player's fight to play the game she loves.

TV on DVD

"Girlfriends — The Complete First Season"
"Magnum P.I. — The Complete Sixth Season"

"NFL Super Bowl XLI — Indianapolis Colts. Championship"

— www.amazon.com

'Saints' offers dark, gritty look at life of troubled teen

"A Guide to Recognizing Your Saints"

★★★☆ DVD review by Eileen Laux

Dito Montiel's "A Guide to Recognizing Your Saints" delves into the life of an adolescent boy in 1986 in Astoria, a neighborhood in Queens, N.Y. Flashing between present day and the 1980s, we see a young Dito (Shia LaBeouf) watching his friends end up dead, on drugs or in prison.

In 2005, Dito (Robert Downey Jr.) is called home by his mother (Dianne Wiest) to take his dying father (Chazz Palminteri) to the hospital. The relationship between father and son is tumultuous at best. The scenes that follow are heartfelt and gritty interactions between Dito and his so-called "saints," people who never left him even though he left them years before.

The film gives an edgy, tenacious portrayal of the characters.

Dito's best friend, Antonio (portrayed brilliantly by Channing Tatum), would take a bullet for him, and his girlfriend, Laurie, a wonderfully fresh performance by Melonie Diaz, loves him with all her heart.

Flash forward to Antonio paying for sins committed in his past and Laurie still living in Queens and telling Dito exactly how it is.

Downey Jr. gives a great perfor-

Downey Jr. gives a great performance as he deals with the inner turmoil of being thrust back into his old life. Montiel's first effort as a director is brilliant. He portrays Dito's life in a dark and troubled way, but leaves you rooting for him in the

The dark, dingy film is a fantastic account of these characters and it draws the viewer into their world.

See Sports Page 6

www.kstatecollegian.com

Wednesday, February 28, 2007

Vol. 111, No. 112

Blazing a trail

Former K-State football player shares memories of integration

By Sheila Ellis KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

When Ron Prince, K-State's head football coach, searched for the words to describe Veryl Switzer, he found two: "a pioneer."

Switzer was the first black scholarship football player to graduate from K-State, and the Green Bay Packers selected him with the NFL's fourth-draft pick in 1954.

Prince said Switzer and other black athletes contributed tremendously to enable him to be in the position he is today.

"They are truly pioneers," Prince said. "The experiences they had are some that some of us will not be able to comprehend."

RURAL UPBRINGINGS

Coming from the tight-knit community of Nicodemus, Kan., Switzer said his first class at K-State had more people than his entire town's population.

"There were over 200 students in my freshman lecture class," he said. "The numbers were just overwhelming."

Nicodemus was the first primarily black rural settlement west of the Mississippi River. Located in Graham County, Switzer said it served as a place for former slaves to improve their quality of life, raise their families and have a chance to. own farmland.

He said he explored his passion for competition in a one-room schoolhouse, where rows of desks divided kindergarten through eighth grade.

"Everyone was in one room.

Everyone was in your business," he said. "You couldn't get away with anything - we were always competing."

He said resources were limited, and in elementary school, there was not even a football to play with, forcing children to use a round ball

"We just had to make use of what we had," he said.

He said these experiences contributed to making him a humble

Five miles from Nicodemus, Switzer attended Bogue High School, where he played both offensive and defensive positions for the football team.

After an outstanding high school football career, Switzer was offered a full scholarship to play football at K-State in 1950.

"Nicodemus was my world," he said. "I didn't know too much about any place outside of the area."

ON A MISSION

Before coming to college, the people of Switzer's community held him accountable to behave, he said.

"My preacher told me, 'Don't you come back until you've got a degree," he said.

He said he had to present himself in a "certain light" because of the role he had integrating the Big 7 Conference football teams.

"I had to be competitive in both academics and athletics because all my teammates were white," he said.

See SWITZER Page 7

Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN

Veryl Switzer was the first black football player on scholarship to graduate from K-State and make it to the NFL. Switzer was the fourth player selected by the Green Bay Packers in the 1954 draft.

Former "mic man" set higher standards for K-State students and fans

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State fans could not wait for the men's basketball team to take the court at Ahearn Field House during the late 1960s. Minutes before tipoff, fans would chant a demand to "Bring on the Cats."

"It was always really nice," said Larry Dixon, former K-State "mic man.

"Most of the time, the Cats came out second, so therefore, the visiting team was coming out when we were hollering, 'Bring on the Cats.' And then when the Cats came out, the fieldhouse would just erupt."

Dixon was the first and only "mic man" in the Big 8 Conference. He took on the role in 1968.

The "Bring on the Cats" chant began during his tenure at K-State, and he did his part to spread it.

During football and basketball games, Dixon would assist the cheerleading squad in getting the crowd active. While most yell leaders had a megaphone, he was handed a microphone.

"Now we have the video board during timeouts," said David Yoder, residence life coordinator of Marlatt Hall and 1973 K-State graduate. "We used to have Larry Dixon."

Yoder has been a men's basketball season ticket holder since his freshman year.

"It was like church in those days,"

Yoder said. "Everyone was working together. He was very charismatic, and he really made a difference."

But Dixon said the excitement

during games was a joint effort. "The fans cooperated so well," Dixon said. "You could hear a pin drop, and then all of a sudden, when I said when to, the place would just explode."

While part of his job was to join in with cheers, he also motivated fans when the team was losing.

"Sometimes I had to sit and talk to them when things weren't going well," Dixon said. "I'd tell them, 'You can't sit on your hands. You've got to get up and help the ball team to become motivated."

Dixon also was one of the first black pep squad members

"It was an important breakthrough for the time," said Lodis Rhodes, a founding member and president of K-State's Black Student Union. "But very quickly, it was just routine operation, in part because they were so good at it."

Rhodes, who also was on the football team, was involved in an effort to start a black pep squads with males and females

"It was black athletes giving voice to an issue that was important for not only them but for other students," Rhodes said.

But when Rhodes approached Dixon about being a yell leader, Dixon said he had no interest.

Steven Doll | COLLEGIAN

Larry Dixon used to be known as the "mic man" from 1968 to 1974 while he attended K-State. During football and basketball games, Dixon assisted cheerleaders to get the crowd active.

"When he first asked, I said no way," Dixon said. "They had tryouts during a weekend when a lot of the people that were interested were going home, so they wanted me to show up so it didn't look bad.

"So I went, and they, for some reason, decided they maybe wanted to try this 'mic man' thing, and they had a few of us try out for that."

Dixon said he made his debut at a football game against the University of Kansas in 1968.

"There weren't any blacks on the field cheerleading or anything like that, and then all of a sudden, at the next home game, there were three," he said. "I think that the fans had such a good time that nobody noticed."

Dixon offers advice for the reintroduction of older traditions to K-State fans.

"It's just not cheering when a basket is scored," he said. "When we're down by 15 and need a defensive stop to get back in the game, the fans have to be the ones to start pumping ourselves up.

"When we were in Ahearn Field House, we could be down by 25, but we felt like we could come back and win the game. The fans felt like we were going to come back and win the game, and they'd be very disappointed if we didn't."

Gas prices to rise before spring break

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Driving around Manhattan will continue to cost more for drivers as gasoline prices are projected to increase.

According to kansasgasprices. com, the average unleaded gasoline price in Manhattan was $2.35 per gallon at press time, a 39-cent increase from a month ago.

Michael Babcock, economics professor, said he believes the increase in gasoline prices stems from the weather conditions in the northeast part of the country.

"The northeast depends on fuel oil for a lot of their heat," Babcock said. "They had some really bad winter storms up there in New York, buried under six feet of snow, so the demand for oil has increased while there were a few refinery shut downs.

The increase in demand and the decline of production of gasoline has forced the price increase in recent weeks.

According to The Foundation's Web site, after adding taxes to the price, the price of a gallon is $2.24 prior to markup.

Increases in gasoline prices have forced many students to change their spring break plans.

Tom Grund, junior in prearchitectural engineering, said he has chosen to spend spring break in Manhattan rather than driving back to Minnesota.

"It is a long drive back home for me so it makes sense for me to stay in Manhattan instead of spending the money to go back home for a week," Grund said.

Panel answers race questions from students

By Austin Apple KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A panel of five black women answered a variety of questions from students Tuesday in the K-State Student Union Courtyard.

"Students asked questions about what made us proud about our heritage and if that made us the person that we are," said Letitia Tajuba, senior in political science.

Students also asked questions about racial stereotypes and black influence in politics.

"We are very distinct and different women who have our own different attitudes and views towards life," Tajuba said.

Tajuba said she believed it is important to get the word out.

"Some people do not believe that some of the things are going on," she said. "Just last month there was a racially-themed party where people wore saggy clothing and stuffed their pants with pillows to make their butts look big."

See QUESTIONS Page 9

Today's forecast Afternoon showers High: 58 Low: 34

INSIDE

Take a stroll around campus and you will encounter buildings and murals you've probably never seen before. Flip inside and read about four such places.

See story Page 8

CAMPUS NEWS HIGHLIGHTS

Lecture to cover daylight-saving time

K-State information technology experts will discuss the changes of this year's daylight-saving time at 1:30 p.m. today in Room 212 of the K-State Student Union. Daylightsavings time is being extended in the United States by four weeks, starting March 11.

Workshop to inform students interactively

The Psychology of Ordinary Prejudice by Anthony Greenwald will be from 4 to 6 p.m. at the Beach Museum of Art. Participants can build multi-cultural understanding and learn to use the Implicit Association Tests in classroom settings.

SGA primary vote ends tonight

Polls close at 6 p.m. today in the SGA primary election. The vote will determine which two of the four candidate pairs for student body president and vice president will go on to the general election. Students can vote by logging on to sgaelections.k-state.edu.

A recent Gallup poll asked Americans which forms of media they receive information from on a daily basis. Media intake Local newspaper National newspaper Local television news Public television news Network television news 31% Cable television news National Public Radio Internet news

Claflin Books and Copies

1814 Claffin Rd.

Jltra-

nodernist

(785) 776-3771 www.claflinbooks.com Fax: (785) 776-1009

16 Retire-

20 Tears

22 Con job

23 Oppres

sively

damp

25 Director

26 Exist

27 Writer

Howard

of brief

29 Antitoxins

bios

31 Eggs

34 Barber-

call

shop

38 Sturgeon caviar

40 Foolish partner

e-mail

picture

48 Astute

49 Gaelic

city

53 Peculiar

52 Carnival

44 Medley

45 Un-

47 PC

42 Crazy

fall asleep 43 Circum-

ment fund

acronym

zles | Eugene Sheffer

59 Mrs.

DOWN

Shake

speare

1 Snakes

3 Part of

4 Arrival

the loop

5 Clampett

6 Time of

7 Informa-

8 Dieter's

entree

9 Don King,

10 Taj Mahal

11 Starts to city

tion

patriarch

your life?

Teasdale

2 Poet

P	uzz
ACROSS	36 (
1 Europe's	r
neighbor	37 E
5 Mandible	k
8 Bridge	38 /
12 Hourglass
filler	39 F
13 ld	41 H
counter-	٧
part	43 5
14 Jason's	1
ship	46 5
15 Bread-	50 -
winner	F
17 Upper	51 1
House	E
member	( 18 More	54 (
logical	55 h
19 Daytime	56 1
soaps,	57 5
e.g.	(
21 Dogger-	58 5
elist	i
Ogden	-
24 Altar
affirma-	So
tive	RE
25 En-	AL
grossed	FL
28 Edge	SP
20 444	TA

Eastern potentate Actor Pitt Repair Knighted voman Score inits Similarly odrida Bialystock, Carriage Help eaves pening Stylish. n the 1960s

30 AAA 33 Hockey's

Bobby 34 Aliases 35 Leading lady?

lution time: 21 mins

2-28

CRYPTOQUIP

MWBK PWWQCT INGJJGTU SDIC GI HBGLC XWP GT HBDXGLM, MWB VGUNL

GL'I ICSWTQ-SKDLC Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THIS KEYBOARD INSTRUMENT COSTS ONLY A THOUSAND BUCKS, SO PEOPLE MIGHT CALL IT A GRAND PIANO. Today's Cryptoquip Clue: M equals Y

DIVERSIONS

A waste of time — but you might learn something

Take a hint from history, watch your picking

ample toothpick usage. Communal picking between courses is not uncommon, as the Chinese believe that the flavors of one course should not be permitted to spoil the next. Many restaurants even provide mint-tipped toothpicks as part of their table

Non-Chinese tooth pickers are forced to select a more furtive method to remove food fragments from teeth when in company without causing of-

The "playing the harmonica" technique, for example, involves covering the mouth with one hand, holding the toothpick with the other, and quickly removing the offending piece of gristle or salad leaf.

setting.

fense.

"Do not pick your teeth at thetable, except in an emergency; as however satisfactory a practice it may be to yourself, to witness it is not at all pleasant." (Henry Willis, "Etiquette, and the Usages of Society," 1866).

Unfortunately, many fail to heed the sound advice of Wills and continue to revolt their dining companions.

WAY BACK WHEN

Unsurprisingly, this habit is not a phenomenon unique to modern man. Anthropologists have found grooves on the teeth of ancient humans that suggest some type of rudimentary toothpick was in use over 1.8 million

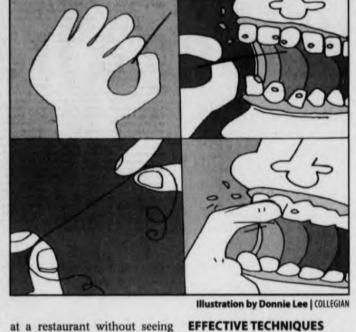

This primitive toothpick most likely evolved into the chewstick used in Babylon and ancient China. About the size of a pencil and fashioned from the twig of an aromatic tree, the chewstick had two separate functions.

These humans chewed one end of the stick until the fibers became loose enough to form a rough brush for rubbing the teeth and fashioned the other end into a point and used it as a toothpick. Some traditional Australian and African tribal people still clean their teeth with such tools.

CULTURAL EXPECTATIONS

Public tooth picking is a definite no-no in Western society, but it is perfectly acceptable in

In fact, it is impossible to dine

EFFECTIVE TECHNIQUES

It is polite to exit the room to dislodge any food. Efficient removal is best done with dental floss. People have used this handy little aid to dental cleaning and removing the buildup of bacteria since the early 19th century, when Levi Spear Parmly (1790-1859), a New Orleans dentist, promoted flossing with a piece of silk thread.

During World War II, Dr. Charles C. Bass advocated regular flossing as an important part of teeth cleaning. Bass also was responsible for developing nylon dental floss and so may have had a vested interest.

 Excerpt from the book, "Habitus Disgustica: The Encyclopedia of Annoying, Rude, and Unpleasant Behavior," by Ian Whitelaw

The planner

Campus bulletin board

■ The Japanese Appreciation Association will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Union 203.

Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at collegian@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

The blotter Arrests in Riley County

Reports are taken directly from the Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Monday, Feb. 26

- Darren James Janssen, Topeka, at 7:05 a.m. for failure to appear. No bond was set. ■ Laurie Mae Farnham, Ogden, Kan., at 7:30 a.m. for a worthless check. Bond was
- Jacquelyn Lee Casteel-Hussain, 1732 Ranser Road, at 9:30 a.m. for failure to appear. Bond was $100.
- Bronson Thomas Camero-n, 3000 Tuttle Creek Blvd., Lot 505, at 12:29 p.m. for probation violation. Bond was $1500.
- Safiyyah Hassannah Muraad, 1366 Flint Hills Place, at 2:15 p.m. for failure to appear. Bond was $500.
- Synica Devon Pevy, Junction City, at 3:51 p.m. for a worthless check. Bond was
- Shane Michael Sleeper, Shawnee, Kan., at 10:03 p.m. for driving on a cancelled or suspended license. Bond was $750.

Corrections and clarifications

Corrections and clarifications run in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call news editor Alex Peak at (785) 532-6556 or e-mail collegian@spub.ksu.edu.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291 020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167. © Kansas State Collegian, 2007

IT'S GOTTA BE

BALTHAZAR SAYS HE WANTS TO WEAR THAT DRESS BECAUSE HE, UM, REMEMBERS POPCORN AND PEANUTS.

YEAH ... THERE'S SOMETHING WRONG WITH THAT BEAR

STRANGE TO

By Donnie Lee

MHEN JA'UOY I1100 RENDING ALL THE MRTICLES, DOU.1 FORGET TO MUZIT MORE TIME IN LECTURE BY DOING

THE

LOCATED IN THE

ENSSIFIEDS SESCTION

tependable, quality service Visit us at www.claflinbooks.com Claflin Books and Copies

WILDCAT PROPERTY MANAGEMENT

537-2332 8th & Moro 2BR - $850 3BR - $1,300 4BR - $1,700

14th & Fremont 4BR - 21/2 Bath $1,650

Anderson Village 1BR- $525 2BR - $700-725

1501 Poyntz House - $750 3BR - 2 Bath

1509 Poyntz House - $600 1BR - 1Bath

315 Poyntz 1BR - $650

Fall Leasing

The Office of Student Activities and Services offers:

FREE LEGAL SERVICES FOR STUDENTS

Student Legal Services Attorney:

SARAH BARR 785-532-6541

for more information visit the website at

Call now for an appointment office hours

Monday - Friday 9:00 - 11:00 am & 1:00 - 4:00 pm

537-770 I

1109 Hylton Heights Manhattan, KS 66502

OPERTY MANAGEMENT

Two Bedrooms McCollum Townhouses $920

1825 College Heights $750 - Single Level

$800 - Two Story

$875 - Three Story

Aggieville Penthouse Apts 617 N. 12th Street

Showings

by Appointment

One Bedrooms

1022 - 1026 Sunset $395 - $425

1950 - 1960 Hunting $510 - $540

1212 Thurston $525 - $545

1837 College Heights

Houses

1508 Hillcrest

722-B Osage

2005 College View

Conversion Apts 1866 College Heights 2-bedroom - $530

1010 Sunset studio - $340

All Apartments within Walking Distance to Campus

3&4 Bedrooms 1841 College Heights $920 - $1250

1 bedroom - $385

SPONSORS AVALON

BALLARD'S SPORTING GOODS

CARLOS O' KELLY'S FOX BUSINESS SYSTEMS GOLF USA HB STEREO K-STATE UNION BOOKSTORE PET'S 'N' STUFF

PIZZA HUT VARNEY'S WATER'S TRUE VALUE WENDY'S ANIMAL HOUSE PETS PITA PIT

DOMINOS PIZZA PLANET SUB BOWINKLE'S VALENTINO'S KAUP FURNITURE

Purchase Q-BUCKS for 69°

Spend them for $1.00 at sponsor locations. Q-Bucks brought to you by KQLA/Q103.5 FM

AND KANSAS STATE BANK

PURCHASE Q-BUCKS AT:

K-STATE UNION BOOK STORE MARCH 2, 12 NOON - 2 PM VARNEY'S BOOK STORE

MARCH 3, 12 NOON - 2 PM PITA PIT

MARCH 10, 11 AM - 1 PM

The Gardens provide 'safer, more affordable' housing

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Mayor Bruce Snead did the honors with a smile and golden scissors at the ribbon-cutting ceremony for the Gardens at Flint Hills low-income housing development Tuesday.

The Gardens, located at the intersection of Kimball and Manhattan avenues, is a 48unit low-income housing development funded by tax credit funding from the Kansas Housing Resources Corporation.

"There is clearly a well-established need for low-cost range of housing based off growth associated with Fort Riley," Snead said.

He said The Gardens is significant because of the long waiting lists associated with Section 8 and public housing.

JoAnn Sutton, executive director of the Manhattan Housing Authority, said the difference between public housing and Section 8 is that public housing is tenants' rent based on income

She said Section 8 consists of private homes in which tenants receive vouchers that pay 30 percent of their rent.

Tiffany Kellum, sophomore in psychology, said she hopes to move into such a low-income housing unit.

Kellum, who has a 4-monthold daughter, said many issues contribute to the housing problem in Manhattan.

One problem is that it might be cheaper to stay off-campus and further away, but if students do not have a vehicle, it is difficult to get on and off campus without public transportation, she said.

Kellum said it is cheaper for her to have a two-bedroom apartment, share the room with her daughter, and have a roommate.

"Rent is high when you don't have good credit," she said. "Especially when you are looking for two people."

The Gardens use different funding mechanisms other than public housing and Sec-

Steven Doll | COLLEGIAN

Chris Bailey, president of Manhattan Area Housing Partnership, and mayor Bruce Snead, chair for Manhattan Housing Authority, cut the ribbon at the ceremony for the Gardens at Flint Hills low-income housing development Tuesday. JoAnn Sutton, left, executive director of MHA, Jill Jacoby, executive director of the MAHP, and Karen McCulloh, board member of MAHP help hold the ribbon during the ceremony.

The Gardens was built with $3.6 million in tax credit

The public was free to view the housing after a few remarks from Snead and Chris Bailey, president of the Manhattan Area Housing Partnership.

All apartments have washers, dryers, dishwashers, garbage disposals, and central heating and air, Sutton said.

Relay for Life needs participants for '60s-, '70s-themed event

By Lola Shrimplin KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Kayla Horsky said she understands the need for Relay for Life better than most people.

The sophomore in agricultural economics lost one grandfather to a brain tumor and another to lung cancer and cancer of the esophagus.

Horsky also was born with skin cancer and recently had to have an operation to remove more of it, she said.

"Its not just something that happens to grandma and grandpa," she said.

Horsky is a team leader for a K-State Relay for Life team, and she had enough people sign up to be members of her team, she had to recruit team leaders, she said.

"I hope that it gets the word out, especially for young adults, that cancer can affect you and not someone else," she said.

The K-State Relay for Life program is the signature fundraiser for the American Cancer Society, said Emily Fredrick, senior in food science and industry and co-chair of the Relay for Life planning committee.

The campaign assists with funding for free wigs, cancer research, legislation and advocacy for cancer-based studies, as well as other cancer-related studies, she said.

Each person who participates in the Relay For Life must raise $100, she said, and approximately 40 or 50 teams have signed up.

She said she is hoping for about 80 teams. There is a need for more teams so K-State can reach the goal Relay for Life set, she said.

"K-State in particular has a goal to raise $75,000," Fredrick

Chris Kovarik, junior in business management and cancer survivor, said the event is a good way to give back to the community

There are 12 people on Kovarik's team. Each team can have a maximum of 15 members before they have to split up into separate teams, he said.

Each member of Kovarik's team has raised the required $100, he said, but they still are talking to members of the business community to raise more

Those interested in participating in the campaign can sign up with a paper registration, which can be filled out at a team captain's meeting, at 6:30 p.m. March 6 in the Manhattan Firehouse, 2000 Denison Ave.

Those who are unable to attend the meeting but wish to participate also can sign up online at www.acsevents.org/ ksu/rfl, she said.

On that page, people can sign up to participate or pledge donations.

The event will be 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. April 20-21 at Memorial Stadium. This year's event is titled Relay Stock and will be themed around the 1960s and 1970s, Horsky said

"Everything we do there is a celebration of life and a celebration of hope," she said.

Conference center details in the works

By Willow Williamson KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The city commission discussed details of a new conference center for Manhattan during their work session Tuesday evening at City Hall.

If built, the conference center will be part of the south redevelopment project.

Jason Hilgers, assistant city manager, presented several layouts for the building.

The session's purpose was not to vote on an action but discuss the issue and give city staff instructions for future action. The commissioners expressed unanimous approval of a 30,000 square-foot area for the building with an estimated cost of $9.3 million.

The center should bring in approximately $408,000 in community revenue from what visitors would spend, $5,324 in city sales tax, and $5,488 in transient guest tax from conferences in its first year, according to city staff

After 10 years, the center should bring in about $13.8 million in revenue, $180,000 in city sales tax, and $185,000 in transient guest tax, according to staff. It also should provide about 76 new full-time jobs.

The commissioners also discussed the Final Development Agreement and the Economic Development Agreement for the redevelopment project.

Both are financial agreements between the city and Dial Realty, the other major player within the redevelopment project.

The FDA is a broad agreement that encompasses the entire project. The EDA focuses on the hotel and conference center.

strike a pose

these k-staters did

we'll be in aggieville thursday, march 1, 9:00 - 11:00 p.m. under varney's marquee and saturday, march 3 at bramlage for the oklahoma state game. so bring your friends and strike a pose!

it's free and the best shots will be in the 2007 royal purple yearbook.

to see other students who got their pictures taken go to royalpurple.ksu.edu

Abusing animals not becoming of university

Respect for animals is something upon which all civilized people can agree. Inflicting unnecessary suffering and harm on living things is damaging to us all and not becoming to

TO THE POINT is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a formed. This is the Collegian's official the image of our university.

The events that occurred at the University of Kansas game, Feb. 19, have triggered anger and frustration from many animal rights groups. When some of K-State's supporters heaved chickens onto the floor of Bramlage Coliseum, reportedly killing one of the birds, fans crossed a line between good-natured school spirit and cruel displays.

We realize that some people do not respond well to these criticisms. But we do not think "it's just a chicken," is a valid defense of these actions. If Kansas fans responded in kind by chucking cats from the rafters, some would honestly be upset. We have no reason to feel differently about any other animal.

Any such action is not only cruel to the animal, but it is dehumanizing to ourselves. There is good reason to feel revulsion at the kid who used to tear the wings off of flies. In these actions we feel that something living is being tormented unnec-

As the editorial board, we hope our readers will exhibit a greater degree of intelligence and exhibit a greater sense of humanity in the future.

Though we don't advocate throwing fowl of any kind, tossing pieces of KFC would be less trouble than chucking live birds. Pluss, as long as you got it off the floor within five seconds, you still could chow down on that bad boy.

Besides, after another year under coach Bob Huggins, we fully expect to turn the Jayhawks into a bunch of dead ducks, and that's something of which we can all be proud.

One's upbringing vital in how the future turns out

Tank of gas: $32.50. Sunglasses for the road: $17.99.

Mug of beer when I arrive: $1.25. Feeling good about where I grew up: priceless. For the past two weekends, I scampered off to my not-quiteso-metropolitan hometown of Wellington, Kan.

of glamorous big-time cities, I have learned to appreciate the values my hometown instilled in me Like many K-State students, I grew up in what I'd call "the simple life," minus the blonde-and-pink frou-frou reality TV antics of Paris Hilton and Nicole Richie. The black hole of small-town traditions sucked me into a mediocre lifestyle - or so I thought. Teenagers around me boozed until dawn, procreated like fluffy bunnies, and somehow, I stayed a good girl among their illegitimate ways.

But I wanted out.

Wellington, the wheat capital of the world, had nothing more to offer me than a backseat-of-the-car pregnancy, followed by a Hee-Haw marriage, topped off with an oursex-life-kicked-the-can divorce.

This beat out any overly dramatic Lifetime Original Movie I'd ever seen, and I believed I could do better. This pile-of-cow-dung lifestyle was not for me.

Beyond Wellington, I have trotted across the country, achieving success as a K-State resident assistant, Washington, D.C. intern, student senator and one-time editor in chief of the ever-spectacular K-State Collegian.

I've lived a good life. No matter how much I deny it, however, I need to give my small-town upbringing some credit. Wellington molded me into the successful woman I've become. I was taught to work hard for anything I wanted in life and that kindness will get you far - nobody can deny the power of good ol' Kansas hospitality. I am proud of that. The past couple weeks I have had this realization.

As I walked into the cloudy, hoedown bars at home, I realized, as I have evolved, others around me have as well. The girl who got pregnant at 16 is living a reasonable life on her own. The guys who were flopping drunk after the football games finally have sobered up - some are even somewhat attractive. These people had matured into decent human beings.

And then it hit me. My problem with my small-town life wasn't in the town itself. It was among small blemishes within - the few people with college educations and those who had little motivation to move beyond Wellington. While these imperfections truly bothered me at the time, people grow up and change for the better. Just because my peers didn't choose K-State or embrace the life I sought, it didn't make me any better than them. If people choose to live in a tight-knit community like Wellington, kudos to them. Besides, for $1.25 in most bars back home, you can get the best 16-ounce mug of Coors Light in the world.

Through my 22 years, I have come across a lot of strange people and even stranger life opportunities. As I embrace even more of them, I will hold Wellington close to my heart. I realize that I don't need a major metro system to make me happy or even crazed foul-mouthed New Yorkers to greet me on the street. I need kind-hearted people who understand the value of hard work - people right here in Oz. Dorothy had it right. There is no place like home. And I'm proud to call Wellington mine.

Annette Lawless is a senior in electronic journalism, political science, print journalism and public relations. Please send comments to opinion@spub.ksu.edu.

Black leaders offer new opportunities

Barack Obama might be the first viable black candidate for president in the nation's history, but this is only the tip of the iceberg. It seems there has been no other time in history where the black community has had more leverage and has been in a better political position.

If anyone thinks KELLY Obama is not legitimate, it only takes one look at CNN to see that his rock-star status has been cemented in the political scene. Recent polls have him beating both Rudy Giuliani and Jon McCain in head-to-head contests.

Even if Obama were to lose this time around, he is young enough to run again, and again after that, and he has a relatively good chance at being selected as a running mate if he doesn't win the full-bore nomination. But this is just the start.

As of January, New York congressman Charles Rangel, head of the House Ways and Means Committee, became arguably the most powerful committee chair in the House. Overall, Congress now shows a larger black cadre, as the 43 congressional seats occupied by blacks include five committee chairs and 14 subcommittee chairs. James Clyburn of South Carolina is now the third-ranking Democrat in the house as majority whip.

Even the Republican Party has tried to gain popularity in the black community. George Bush has appointed two black Secretaries of State, including Colin Powell, the first black Secretary of State in our nation's history. In November, the GOP fielded three black politicians in major races: a vital Senate seat in Maryland and governors in Ohio and Pennsylvania.

That is not to say the Democratic Party, the political home of the black community since the Civil Rights Movement, is not courting like never before. Bill Clinton was once called "The first black president" by Toni Morrison, and his wife Hillary - who in an ABC News/Washington Post poll holds 60 percent of the black vote is taking a note from her husband's playbook by recruiting many black community leaders into her coalition. One such man is South Carolina senator Darrell Jackson, whose support was courted publicly by Democrats Bill Richardson and John Edwards, as well as Obama.

It is important for the black community to realize this political clout does not come along on a day-today basis. Now is an opportunity to shift not only focus, but government resources on issues that are important, to the black community.

When choosing issues, it is important not to sit on the classic but relatively secondary issues from the civil rights era, but instead to go beyond and bring forward challenging issues that affect today's Americans.

One suggestion would be to reform affirmative action to include school vouchers and charter schools, thus giving individuals more responsibility. It would end the mislabeling of affirmative action as being targeted to the black community as an underprivileged group. Another is to help in the rebuilding effort in New Orleans, a city whose population before Hurricane Katrina was 67 percent black.

These are only two suggestions of issues that the black community can tackle in the next political year. Whichever issues the people choose, the only way anything will be accomplished is if the community comes to the polls on election day. In the 2004 election, only 14.6 million of the nation's 34.9 million black voters cast ballots. A larger voting force will result in an even larger amount of political clout in the future.

Mike Kelly is a junior in pre-law. Please send co

Megan Moser | EDITOR IN CHIEF Heldi Paulson | MANAGING EDITOR Alex Peak | NEWS EDITOR Jacque Haag | CO-COPY CHIEF Jessi Hernandez | CO-COPY CHIEF Scott Girard | CAMPUS EDITOR

Collegian

Logan C. Adams | METRO EDITOR Lacey D. Mackey | FEATURES EDITOR Jonathan Garten | SPORTS EDITOR Cedrique Flemming | TIPOFF EDITOR Elleen Laux | THE EDGE EDITOR Jonas Hogg | OPINION EDITOR Christopher Hanewinckel | PHOTO EDITOR endan Praeger | PRESENTATION EDITOR Royce Haynes | ONLINE EDITOR Courtney Sleypen | AD MANAGER Eddie Rogers | ASST. AD MANAGER

WRITE TO US

Letters can be submitted by e-mail to letters@spub ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters should be limited to 250 words. All submitted letters may be edited for length and clarity.

CONTACT US Kansas State Collegian Kedzie 103 Manhattan, KS 66502

Display ads.....(785) 532-6560 Classified ads....(785) 532-6555 .(785) 532-6555 Newsroom.....(785) 532-6556 news@spub.ksu.edu

WORLD NEWS

WORLD MARKETS FALL AFTER CHINESE STOCKS PLUNGE 9 PERCENT

SHANGHAI, China -Like an explosion that starts an avalanche, a plunge in Chinese stocks on Tuesday et off a cascade of losses in exchanges around the globe, culminating in Wall Street's most dismal trading day since the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks.

By the end of the trading day in New York, about $632 billion of market value had been lost in the United States alone, according to Standard and Poor's.

Chinese stocks fell almost 9 percent, their biggest drop in a decade. The Dow Jones Industrial Average lost 416.02, or 3.3 percent, to 12,216.24. The main indexes on European exchanges also fell about 3 percent.

NORTH, SOUTH KOREA RESUME TALKS AFTER BREAKTHROUGH

SEOUL, South Korea - North and South Korea held high-level reconciliation talks Tuesday for the first time since the communist nation's nuclear test in October, paving the way for a resumption of aid to the impoverished country.

The meetings came as North Korea showed strong signs of commitment to its Feb. 13 pledge at international arms talks to shut down its main nuclear reactor within 60 days in exchange for energy aid.

It has already invited the chief U.N. nuclear inspector to visit to discuss verification of a shutdown.

AMBASSADORS'SLIGHTLY INJURED' IN MORTAR ATTACK IN SRI LANKA

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka Rebels fired on Sri Lankan military helicopters carrying six foreign envoys Tuesday, slightly wounding the U.S. and Italian ambassadors and sending the group screaming and running for cover.

The Sri Lankan government said this was a deliberate attack, but the rebels said they did not know there were diplomats on board the aircraft.

Seven Sri Lankan security personnel also were hurt, but the envoys from Canada, France, Germany and Japan escaped without injury.

The U.S. Embassy issued a statement saying Blake was "all right" but did not elabo-

Sri Lankan doctors said the Italian ambassador was treated for a shrapnel injury to the head and discharged less than two hours later.

YEMEN'S ISLAMIC PARTY LEADER SUSPECTED OF SUPPORTING AL-QAIDA

SAN'A, Yemen - Yemen's powerful Islamic political party replaced a top leader Tuesday whom Washington suspects of funding terrorism and supporting al-Qaida.

Islah voted out Sheik Abdulmajid al-Zindani, the spiritual leader of the party, and replaced him with Mohammed Ali Ajilan, a Yemeni parliament member.

Last February, President Bush asked Yemeni President Ali Abdullah Saleh to arrest al-Zindani because of suspected links to terrorism.

— The Associated Press

Mall stores close, relocate to make space for restaurant

By Kristin Hodges KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The Manhattan Town Center will see changes as several stores leave or relocate to make room for a new restau-

The Aladdin's Castle arcade and Vista restaurant will leave the mall, and Street Corner News will relocate in order to bring in HuHot Mongolian Barbeque restaurant, said Sara Van Allen, the mall's marketing manager.

Van Allen said plans to bring in a new restaurant have been in the works for more than two years.

The mall's restaurants, including Carlos O'Kelly's and Applebee's Bar and Grill, made $12 million in sales last year, she said.

"It's a profitable business, and that area had been deemed as a good location," Van Allen said.

She said the mall had not been working to oust any of the stores, but the location of the other stores was the best possible area for a sit-down restaurant.

"They are looking to mirror what they have at Carlos (O'Kelly's)," she said.

Van Allen said HuHot Mongolian Barbeque has a restaurant in Topeka and is looking to expand to the Manhattan market.

The owner of Street Corner News could not be reached for comment.

Brad Streeter, owner of Vista Drive-In Inc., said after 10 years, the store in the mall is leaving because there is no other option.

"We've basically been kicked out," he said.

He said the store's lease said if the mall wanted to move the location of the store, it would give Vista 60 days notice and move it to a mutually agreeable location unless no location could be agreed upon.

"There was no location offered to us that they would remodel," he said. "They did say we could have where Clarie's (Accessories) used to be. but we'd have to remodel it ourselves, and it's not in the food court."

While the Vista location in the mall now is closed, the original Vista Drive-In restaurant still is open.

Although she was not involved in the negotiation, Van Allen said other possibilities were proposed to Vista and the arcade, but the mall could not come to an agreement with them.

"The lease agreements were prepared for such a situation to occur and were written knowing that this could be a possibility down the road," she said.

Streeter said there will be some problems with the changes because customers have said there will not be a place for kids to eat or play after Vista and the arcade

He said local people of the mall were supportive, but the decision was not up to them.

"The local people have done everything they can to work to support it," he said. "It's the absentee owners that don't live here that are the ones that do not seem to want a local business there."

Streeter said the company still has a location on Tuttle Creek Boulevard.

"It will be 43 years this summer," he said, "and I own the building. So nobody can kick me out."

Streeter said the reason the mall owners are adding a new restaurant is because they want to increase the value as they prepare to sell the mall.

"This has been in the works for over two years now," Van Allen said. "The sale of the mall has just come up last fall. It has nothing to do with raising the value."

But Van Allen said bringing in a new restaurant most likely will increase the value.

"It's actually not necessarily a sale," she said, "but more of a sale in management."

The Manhattan Town Development has managed the mall since June 2004, Van Allen said, and the changes in the management are not a sale but a change in

She said five individuals form the Manhattan Town Center Development. She said the changes to the mall are due to the mall's leasing representatives and are not connected to Manhattan's downtown redevelopment.

Van Allen said Vista has been a consistent community partner for years.

She said people are going to miss it, and the mall wishes it could have worked out an agreement for a new loca-

The introduction of HuHot Mongolian Barbeque to Manhattan has just been made public, and people have not had an opportunity to comment on its arrival, Van Allen

"It's all just new," she said. "Vista leaving has kind of overshadowed the arrival."

New diet pill requires no prescription

By Sarah Rasmussen KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Dieters received a new tool to help shed extra pounds - the first government-approved diet pill that can be bought without a prescription.

The drug, Alli, was develqped for people 18 and older. It is a reduced-strength version of prescription diet aid Orlistat.

The Food and Drug Administration approved the sale of Alli (pronounced ALeye) without a prescription on Feb. 7, but it stressed that the drug should be paired with a healthy diet and exercise routine.

Dr. Charles Ganley, the FDA's director of nonprescription products, said the pill alone is unlikely to produce the results dieters want.

In trials, Ganley said people taking Orlistat lost 2-3 pounds more than those using only diet and exercise.

Orlistat trials show it blocks the absorption of about one-quarter (about 150-200 calories) of the fat

Dr. Sanjay Gupta, CNN's chief medical correspondent, named the fol-lowing items one should remember when considering the use of Alli:

■ Diet and exercise still are the most effective methods of weight loss.

GSK and the FDA stress that Alli will not work alone. ■ There are negative side effects.

A low-fat diet will reduce side effects, but a high-fat diet

Alli is not a miracle drug. Dieters still have to work for weight loss.

Do not take Alli if you have had an organ transplant. There could be a reaction with an anti-rejection medication.

If you are diabetic, have a thyroid condition or are on blood thinners, talk to ur doctor before taking this medication. Weight loss plateaus after six months, so expect only modest weight loss.

consumed in a meal. The fat then passes out of the body by stools. However, almost half of the patients who participated in the trials experienced gastrointestinal side

Alli is said to produce similar results as full-strength Orlistat, but results will be less significant and take place over a longer period of time.

GlaxoSmithKline will sell the drug, which is expected to be in stores by summer. The final price has not been set, but estimates put the cost at $1-$2 per day.

GSK Consumer Healthcare, which will market the editions on MON. MARCH 5th · MON. MARCH 12th

FOR SPECIAL SAVINGS

- www.cnn.com name Alli to demonstrate its partnership with consumers in their weight-loss efforts. Ashley Jones, junior in elementary education, said she thinks diet pills are a joke, but also said she took Trimspa during her first two years at college because of a suggestion by her dance coach to the entire dance squad.

"If you plan out your meals and exercise, then you'll lose the weight," she said. "Diet pills aren't going to make or break you."

The pharmacy department staff at Walgreens, 325 Bluemont Ave., said the store probably will sell Alli when it is released this summer.

WORKS

To give it a try, call or stop by Collegian advertising 103 Kedzie 532-6560

new pill, said it chose the VIDEOTAPED MOCK INTERVIEWS check out our Wonder how you come across in an interview? Practice with CES and take home a DVD! Friday, March 2 9 a.m. - noon • Holtz Hall Call 532-6506 to schedule your interview time.

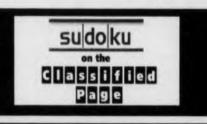

WALK-IN WEDNESDAY

Questions? Need help with your résumé? Stop in today between noon - 4 p.m for Walk-in Wednesday.

Career and Employment Services Kansas State University 100 Holtz Hall • 785-532-6506 • ces@k-state.edu

Guiding You from College to Career

NOW LEASING FOR FALL 2007

Check out our model showings now!

With 900 apartments in the Manhattan area, we can find a place for you! BEDROOMS BEDROOMS 1119 Laramie #5 1026 Osage #22

Mon

Thurs

Mon, Wed, Fri

Tues. Thurs

Fri

4:30-6:30

3:30-5:30

12:30-2:30

2:00-4:00

4:00-6:00

12:00-2:00

5:30-7:30 12:00-2:00

1524 McCain #8

1419 Leavenworth #2

BEDROOMS

3:30-6:00

1611 Laramie #2

Mon, Wed, Fri 8:00-11:00am

4:00-7:00 5:00-7:00 1722 Laramie #9 4:00-6:00 Wed 12:00-2:00

Mon, Wed, Thurs 5:30-7:00

Thurs 11:30-1:00 1941 College Heights #4 Mon-Thurs 3:00-5:00

1854 Claffin #14 Mon, Wed, Fri 2:00-4:00 4:00-6:00 Tues, Thurs 2:00-4:00 Wareham - 418 Poyntz #603

3:00-5:30 Tues 1:30 - 5:00 10:00-2:00 Aggie Village - 1215 Laramie

Mon-Fri

925 Denison #4 1803-1807 College Heights View at 925 Denison #4 Mon, Wed, Fri 6:00-8:00pm Tues, Thurs 5:00-7:00 12:00-2:00 Sat

1:00-5:00

10:00-2:00

Royal Towers 1700 N. Manhattan #203 Mon,Wed,Fri Tues, Thurs 1:00-3:00 12:00-2:00

2:00-5:00 BEDROOMS

Royal Towers 1700 N. Manhattan #402 Mon- Fri 2:00-4:00 12:00-2:00

STUDIOS

Wareham 418 Poyntz #316 12:00-4:00 Mon, Wed, Fri 1:00-3:00

785.776.3804 mdiproperties.com Saturday Office Hours: 10am-2pm

MCCULLOUGH DEVELOPMENT

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Diet plans include snacks, too

If you have cut snacks from your daily eating routine and are ignoring those hunger pangs in hopes of dropping a few extra pounds, boy are you going about it all wrong.

The Food Guide Pyramid suggests eating five to six times a day, which makes snacking an absolute must.

HAUG

Jumping rope

The idea that people are consuming more calories by snacking shouldn't give snacks a bad wrap. It is the uncontrolled portion sizes and unhealthy snack choices that are to blame for unplanned weight gain.

Snacking on small amounts of nutritious foods throughout the day can help keep your energy level high and your mind alert.

The key to healthy snacking is choosing a nutrient-dense snack, while being aware of the portion size.

Consuming your meals and snacks every three to four hours throughout the day will help keep your body fueled and prevent overeating at the next meal, which often occurs due to excessive hunger sensations that develop by skipping meals or snacks.

The time of day you eat the snacks is not the culprit of weight gain. Consuming snacks late at night is fine if you're hungry, but make sure it is low-calorie and low-fat. For instance, vegetables are a great choice.

It is wise to limit calories to 100 to 200 per snack. Food labels can help you determine the number of calories in a serving

Remember to enjoy foods from all five food groups and keep total daily calories within the recommended limits for your body. All food groups can fit into your daily eating plan when you balance feeding times and calories within smaller portion sizes.

Here are some healthy snack ideas that are 100 calories or less. 1 cup of powdered hot cocoa 1/2 cup of fat-free ice cream 15 chocolate-covered raisins 6 saltine crackers and 2 tablespoons peanut butter 8-ounce carton low-fat yogurt 1/2 cup of applesauce and 1 slice of toast

1/2 cup of frozen orange juice - eat with a spoon as sorbet 1 small baked potato with 1/2 cup of salsa and 2 tablespoons nonfat

sour cream 2-inch slice of angel food cake 1 hard-boiled egg Half an apple cut into slices with 2 tablespoons peanut butter 1 cup raw vegetables dipped in 1/2 cup of fat-free Ranch dressing 2 tablespoons hummus with 12 grape tomatoes

Here are some more snack ideas (not necessarily less than 100

Instant hot cereal with raisins Whole-grain crackers topped with flavored cream cheese Popcorn with taco seasoning Tortilla filled with veggies, salsa and low-fat cheese Berries mixed with graham crackers and a splash of skim milk 1/2 cup of homemade trail mix Pita pockets filled with cottage cheese and shredded carrots

If you still are concerned with your weight, remember that being physically active aids in burning excess calories along with maintaining the health of your body.

Melissa Haug is a senior in public health nutrition and dietetics and a nutrition consultant and an American Council on Exercise certified personal trainer at Peters Recreation Complex. Please send comments to sports@spub.ksu.edu.

Quick fix

Smart diet, cardiovascular exercise can help achieve spring break body

OK. You've waited long enough. You have all your other plans in order. You know where you are going. You reserved a hotel room. You have even acquired a cute little gas-friendly car to make your trip that much more affordable. So what have you neglected?

into shape.

SCOTT You know exactly what I'm talking about. A body worthy of wearing the swimming suit you have had hanging on your door for the last month that will not just magically appear. You have 17 days left to get your rear in gear and

TRENT

But who has time, right? You're busy going to class and work and checking your Facebook every 15 minutes. Snap out of it.

It's crunch time, baby, and if you're going to get that spring break body, you have to start now. But don't fret, because I have a quick and effective workout that will get your body toned and your spirit feeling great.

Complete this workout three days a week. Make sensible diet choices, and do cardiovascular exercise whenever possible. That means take the stairs instead of the elevator, and if you can brave the cold, walk to class instead of driving. You have more than three weeks to turn it around and accomplish your goals. I know you can do it.

Trent Scott is a junior in nutritional sciences/ pre-med and American Council on Exercise certified personal trainer at Peters Recreation Complex. Please send comments to sports@ spub.ksu.edu

There's not much time left to get your body into shape for spring break. Here's a workout to help get you started.

Note: Go through each exercise once, resting only 30 seconds between lifts. Then repeat each strength-training exercise again before moving on to your cool-down. This should get you in and out of Peters Recreation Complex in about an hour, giving you a great resistance and cardiovascular

Also remember to warm up and cool down with exercises like jumping rope, jumping jacks, jogging and stretching.

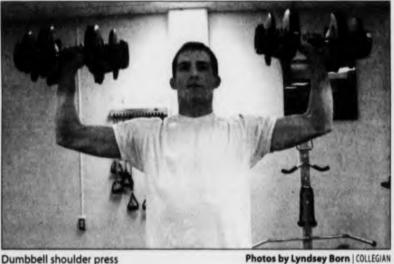

- Trent Scott

Lying leg lifts

Dumbbell lunges

Photos by Lyndsey Born | COLLEGIAN

Harris scores 22, K-State falls to OSU

By Jeffrey Rake KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

STILLWATER, Okla. - It might have been senior night, but that did not prevent a sophomore from stealing the show.

Oklahoma State guard Terrel Harris scored 16 of his team-high 22 points in the second half, leading the Cowboys to an 84-70 win over K-State on Tuesday night in front of 11,266 at Gallagher-Iba Arena.

After K-State (20-10, 9-6 Big 12 Conference) cut the lead to 53-43 with 11:53 left, Harris went on a serious tear to put the game out of

He scored nine-straight points in a two-minute stretch, helping the Cowboys (20-9, 6-8) to a 62-43 lead, their largest of the game.

"We were just hungry," Harris said. "We had our backs against the wall, and we needed to get back to the way we played earlier in the season. We went out there and tried to be the best."

After the Cowboys dominated from start to finish, it would be hard to argue otherwise. Oklahoma State shot 28-of-51 (54 percent) and made 9-of-17 3-point attempts.

The 84 points were the most K-State allowed since giving up 97 points in a loss to Kansas on Feb. 7.

"We can't give up 84 points and win," said coach Bob Huggins. "We've got to keep it in the 60s and the 70s.

Seniors Mario Boggan and David Monds scored 17 and 10, respectively, in their final game at Gallagher-Iba.

Boggan, however, didn't get a proper sendoff.

Cowboys coach Sean Sutton planned on replacing Boggan with 38 seconds left, but by then, he already had been ejected. Boggan picked up a flagrant foul - his fifth of the game - after head-butting K-State senior Cartier Martin. He left to a standing ovation and scattered boos.

"The game was over, and it was just a stupid move by him," junior

David Hoskins said. K-State made just 3-of-10 shots to open the game and fell behind 20-10 midway through the first half. Then Hoskins caught fire, making fourstraight baskets and pacing an 8-0 Wildcat run to pull within 20-18.

Twice the Cowboys stretched the lead to five points before closing with a 12-3 run, capped off by a dunk by Monds with one second left to take a 41-30 advantage into the break.

"We started the game kind of lackadaisical, and guys weren't really playing like we needed them to play," said Hoskins, who scored 20. "We weren't playing defense like we need to play defense. Our last four games, our defense has been terrible."

Things got uglier for K-State after halftime. The Cowboys opened up a 53-37 lead just seven minutes into the second half. With 14:03 left, Hoskins picked up his fourth foul and did not return until eight minutes later. By that time, it was too late, as Harris already had done his damage.

"We only have three guys who can score," Huggins said. "We have to keep those guys out of foul trouble, and we have to shorten the game."

Catrina Rawson | COLLEGIAN K-State basketball coach Bob Huggins yells during the Wildcat's last home game against Kansas. The Wildcats traveled to Stillwater, Okla. to play Oklahoma State only to lose 84-70.

Martin led the Wildcats with a team-high 25 points. Senior Lance Harris and junior Clent Stewart each added 10. With just one game left on the schedule, Huggins said he still likes his team's chances of making the NCAA Tournament. A win against Oklahoma on Saturday would give K-State a first-round bye in the Big 12 Tournament.

No fourth-place team in Big 12 history ever has finished with 20 wins overall and 10 in conference and not received an NCAA Tournament bid.

"Why should we be the first?" Huggins asked.

1-MINUTE DRILL

Staff Reports

GLF | Wildcats improve scores to finish 5th at Fresno State

The K-State women's golf team finished in sole possession of fifth place at the Fresno State Invitational in Fresno, Calif., climbing six spots in the rankings after Monday. Top-20 finishers 78-74-152 (+8) and freshman Abbi Sunner 77-75-152 (+8) led the Wildcats.

junior Michelle Regan

"The girls were having some trouble adjusting to the green speed but made it through and finished well," coach Kristi Knight said

The team's fifth-place finish was enough to beat No. 12 Denver, No. 44 Oregon and No. 47 New Mexico State.

"It's easy in this game to get frustrated and shoot a really big number," said Knight. 'We didn't do that, and I think that's something to be proud of." Junior Katy Heffel jumped up the leader board after Monday, moving from 61st to 21st, closing the tournament with a round

"Katy started off badly, but the good news is she finished strong," Knight said.

The Wildcats move into their next event, the Texas A&M Mo'morial in Bryan, Texas, with momentum, knowing what they need

"We're moving in the right direction," Knight said. "But we're not there yet."

The Associated Press

FBN | Kansas City signs QB Huard to 3-year contract

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Quarterback Damon Huard agreed to a three-year contract with the Kansas City Chiefs.

Chiefs general manager Carl Peterson announced the deal Tuesday, but details were not released. A phone message left with Huard's agent, Mike Sullivan, was not immediately

Huard, 34, was paid $710,000 last season. He would have become an unrestricted free agent

The journeyman proved to be an indis-pensable backup last season when starter Trent Green sustained a severe concussion in the season-opener against Cincinnati. After spending most of his career as a second- and third-stringer, Huard was thrust into the starting lineup for eight games and led the Chiefs into the playoff hunt.

He went 5-3 as a starter, completing 148-of-244 passes for 1,878 yards with 11 touchdowns and one interception. His 98.0 passer rating was second only to Peyton Manning.

"Damon had an excellent year in 2006 and contributed directly to getting our team to the playoffs," Peterson said in a release. "Damon is an excellent veteran player and an outstanding person. We're delighted to have him under

Many fans believe coach Herm Edwards made a mistake in benching Huard after Green was cleared to play. After his return, the twotime Pro Bowler never looked like the quarterback who made 80-straight starts and threw for more yards in the previous five seasons than any quarterback except Manning.

With Green under center, the Chiefs struggled down the stretch. A series of improbable upsets on the final day of the regular season allowed Kansas City to slip into the playoffs, where Green threw for 107 yards and two interceptions in a 23-8 first-round loss at Indianapolis.

Huard's signing calls Green's future as a starting quarterback in Kansas City into question. He is signed through 2009 and is set to earn $7.2 million next season.

Green will be 37 by the start of training camp. His agent, Jim Steiner, was not available for comment Tuesday.

BBO | Veterans Committee admits no new candidates

NEW YORK - The Hall of Fame pitched another shutout.

Ron Santo, Jim Kaat, Marvin Miller and all the other candidates were left out Tuesday when the Veterans Committee admitted no new members for the third-straight election.

The blank slate could lead to changes before the next vote in 2009.

"We're being blamed because something hasn't happened," Hall member and vice chair Joe Morgan said. "If you're asking me, 'Do we lower our standards to get more people in?" my answer would be no."

Santo came the closest to the required 75 percent. A nine-time All-Star, the former Cubs third baseman was picked on 57 of 82 ballots (70 percent). Players needed 62 for election.

Kaat, a 283-game winner and strongly backed by Hall member Mike Schmidt, drew 52 votes. Gil Hodges, who hit 370 home runs, got 50 votes and three-time AL batting champion Tony Oliva had 47.

Umpire Doug Harvey received 52 of the necessary 61 votes on the ballot for managers umpires and executives. Miller, the union head who led players to free-agent riches, showed a strong increase in getting 51 of the potential 81 votes.

Wine event to benefit hospice

By Kristin Hodges KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The eighth-annual Flint Hills Festival of Wines will be March 2-3 and will include a dinner and wine-tasting event to benefit the Homecare & Hospice Foundation.

Christina Nolte, director of development for Homecare & Hospice, said the event will start with a Winemaker Dinner on March 2 at Man-

She said the multi-course dinner will be paired with different wines for each course. A live auction will follow. when customers can bid on a variety of items.

at 6:30 p.m. March 3 at the Clarion Hotel for the Grand Tasting event, where customers can try 250 different wines and spirits from around the

"Ticket purchasers just and sample any different

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

OVERLAND PARK, Kan.

Federal transportation officials said a 2005 plane crash that killed five people in an affluent suburban Kansas City neighborhood was caused by the pilot's failure to maintain

The National Transportation Safety Board said Tuesday a Cessna 421C Golden

Eagle III that departed from

Johnson County Executive

Airport bound for Florida was about 600 pounds overweight when it took off on Jan. 21,

The NTSB report does not say why the plane was too low, but it does mention that altitude and low cloud cover that morning contributed to Witnesses reported see-adequate altitude.

2005.

the crash.

wine and spirits that they want," Nolte said.

Appetizers also will be available from nine restaurants, most of them from the Manhattan area, she said.

Nolte said people can purchase the $40 tickets by calling or stopping by the Homecare & Hospice office, 323 Poyntz Ave.

She said tickets also can be purchased at the door before the event, though there are a limited number available.

Nolte said the Standard Beverage Corporation founded the event and provides all the wine and spirits.

"That way we are able to raise funds so that we can provide charitable care to the community," she said.

The event is the largest fundraiser of the year for the foundation, Nolte said.

Pat Pesci, director of the hotel and restaurant management program, is on the festival committee and said two groups of K-State students are helping with the benefit.

One of the groups consists of students 21 years of age and older who have taken the eight-week wine tasting class offered at K-State.

"The students pour the wines and talk intelligently about the wines and where they are from," Pesci said.

He said the other group one consisting of students under 21 years of age - greet customers. Members of this group also help with the check-in and check-out pro-

"It's a nice blend to help the community," he said.

Betsy Barrett, associate professor of hotel, restaurant, institution management and dietetics, instructs the winetasting class.

Barrett said the students who help with the event and have taken her class learn to evaluate wines based on their color, smell, taste and finish.

"There's lots of words to describe all that," she said. "and they can describe it to the person tasting the wine."

SWITZER | Involvement continues past retirement

continued from Page 1

Before he came K-State, the Wildcats had gone through 37 years without a winning season, and Switzer said teachers were not fond of the football program at the time.

'We were a little nervous about who we let know we were athletes in an academic environment," he said. "It was like a double whammy for me because I was an athlete, and I am black."

He said during his sophomore year he was the only black athlete on the team, and during his junior year he was the only black athlete in the Big 7 Conference, and things changed as the season progressed.

"Things became better change came along with the wins." he said.

During the offseason of Switzer's freshman year, Bill Meeks, who was the new head coach, pulled him into an office and confronted rumors of Switzer transfer-

Switzer said coach Meeks, who had never coached a black person before, told him if he stayed he would not regret it.

LIFE AFTER COLLEGE FOOTBALL

Meeks kept his promise, and before graduation, Switzer was the first-round pick for the NFL draft in 1954.

Switzer said he was the first to make it big from Nicodemus, making everyone back home proud.

He played for the Green Bay Packers from 1954 to 1955.

However, his NFL career ended prematurely because he had to fulfill obligations he previously made to the ROTC.

In the U.S. Air Force and was a first lieutenant engineer supply officer. Switzer also attended pilot school.

He said it was hard for him to leave the NFL.

"Sometimes, I would sit in front of the television and couldn't stand to watch a football game without tears coming down my cheeks," he said.

After the air force, where he played on a military football team, he moved to Chicago to work as a human relations coordinator for the Chicago Public School sys-

COMING BACK TO K-STATE

In 1968, K-State recruited Switzer to serve as a liaison between black students and the administration, which Switzer said was a hard decision.

1960s and 1970s, black students at K-State protested and attempted to disrupt the administration and gain equal rights on campus.

"Nationally, the term diprograms for diversity."

Switzer helped organize whites, he said.

While he still is commit-

James Butler, Manhattan resident, attended K-State when black students were not allowed to live on cam-

Butler said he has the utmost respect for Switzer.

"He was an outstanding football player in college and professionally." Butler said. "He is an all-around good man and a good friend."

Butler said black people have to work twice as hard as whites to gain the same amount of recognition.

"You have to outdo your competitor, be consistent, persistent and keep a good reputation," he said.

In his opinion, he said that was how Switzer mastered his role at K-State.

"Veryl broke many racial barriers at K-State," he said. Switzer said black athletes have been to break the scenes. Switzer said he is proud of the steps black athletes have taken, especially at K-State with the arrival of racial lines pushing behind coach Ron Prince. "They used to say blacks couldn't be quarterbacks definitely couldn't coach," he said.

Prince said he admires the professionalism trailblazers like Switzer had in their role of opening doors for blacks when many institutions were not allowing racial integration.

He said football is diverse not only in race but also in the type of talent sought.

"The game of football allowed children from sharecroppers the deep South, coal miners from West Virginia, people from the Great Plains and immigrants from all over to experience an education," he said.

"That kind of diversity what the American experience is all about," Prince said.

He said during the late versity started being developed," he said. "We were on the front lines, developing the Office of Minority Affairs and assisted the black student groups in creating change in campus interactions between blacks and ted to and involved in diversity programming at K-State, he retired in 2005 as the administrative assistant to the athletic director and coordinator of minority and cultural programs.

REFLECTION

2007-2008 SGA Elections

Primary Election

http://sgaelections.ksu.edu

Tuesday February 27

8:00 a.m. until

Wednesday February 28

6:00 p.m.

Select the two president/vice president tickets that will be placed on the general election ballot.

KSU STUDENT GOVERNING ASSOCIATION ELECTIONS

WWW.K-STATE.EDU/ELECTIONS

hattan Country Club.

The event will continue world show up, and they get their wine glass and walk around

> Then its nose and right wing dipped, sending the plane hurtling through a street lamp and several trees. The wreckage ended up in the yard of former Kansas City Royals pitcher Jason Grimsley.

Inadequate altitude blamed for plane crash

The crash left a 600-yard trail of debris, which included body parts of the five victims.

Killed in the crash were Armour D. Stephenson Jr., 49, of Lee's Summit; his wife, Shirley F. Stephenson, 46, of Lee's Summit; Lewis Bradley Smith, 73, of Kansas City; pilot James L. Kingston, 60, of Stilwell, Kan.; and Kevin W. Holzer, 50, also of Stilwell.

The Stephensons, a husband-and-wife ministry team. were on vacation to Florida and hitched a ride on the flight. The other passengers were on a golfing trip to Florida. Kingston was celebrating his first day of retirement.

when five people were killed in a crash near Greensburg, according to NTSB records. Kingston had about 30

liest in Kansas since 1983, years of flying experience at the time of the crash, but records from the NTSB show that he had been involved in two other incidents.

In 1996 near St. Petersburg, Fla., an engine on the same model Cessna failed, sending the plane into the ground. Kingston and both passengers left the scene with minor injuries.

The second crash happened in 1999 at the Lee's Summit Airport, when the right brake locked on a plane, causing it to leave the runway. The plane's landing gear struck a raised portion of the concrete taxiway, damaging an engine and propeller. No injuries were reported in that accident.

ing the plane climb to about 2,000 feet after takeoff. The crash was the dead-Check Out su do ku

in the Classi

GREAT BEND HIGH GRADUATES

WE WANT TO BUY YOU LUNCH!

MEET WITH COMMUNITY REPRESENTATIVES WEDNESDAY, MARCH 2ND 11:00AM - 1:00PM (COME & GO) IN THE STATE ROOMS (SOUTH END OF FOOD COURT IN STUDENT UNION)

RSVP IS APPRECIATED 620,793,4111

REGISTER FOR DOOR PRIZES & GIFTS BRING A FRIEND!

12th Annual Graduate Research Forum

K-State Student Union Friday, March 2, 2007

Oral Presentations 10:00 am to noon - Undergraduate session

1:00 pm to 4:00 pm - Graduate session. Poster Display

11:30 am and 1:30 pm - Question and Answer Session

10:00 am to 4:00 pm

Award Ceremony 4:30 pm

Wonderful opportunity to discover research conducted at KSU!

Drinks are provided!

Above: East Stadium is the location of the Purple Masque Theater. Upper right: Cardwell Hall is the location of an observatory with an 18-inch Cassegrainian telescope. Lower right: In the west wing of the Memorial Stadium is an 8-by-17 foot, war-themed mural. Far right: A large glass-blown chandelier hangs in the main window of Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art. The sculpture is by Dale Chihuly.

Little-known places on campus offer history, culture

By Elise Podhajsky KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Rumors of ghosts, a grim and ghastly mural, custom-blown glass and a retired stargazer. These are just some of the areas and traditions of which many students are not aware.

All over campus, students come across buildings and artwork they have not seen but seldom bother to find out more.

CARDWELL HALL

Numerous students have visited Cardwell Hall for a general-education math class, but many do not know why it has a large white dome atop the building.

The dome is an old observatory where six or seven telescopes, including an 18-inch Cassegrainian telescope, once were housed.

Cardwell Hall was erected in 1963, and the observatory was constructed within it.

Bharat Ratra, physics professor, said the observatory was closed about four or five years ago by the fire marshal because the room only has one exit. Ratra said the department does not have the resources to build another exit.

The Department of Physics has been restoring the telescopes in hopes of relocating the observatory.

He said, mechanically, the observatory was designed poorly. It was placed on the same "slab" as freight elevators, causing the high-powered telescopes to bounce around and unable to hold a target.

Also, he said there is a problem with light pollution on campus due to parking lots, making it almost impossible to see dim stars at night.

"We're kind of hoping we can get a nicer place on the Konza Prairie to move to. There's less light pollution from Manhattan there, and you would be able to see much fainter objects in the sky," he said.

MEMORIAL STADIUM

Memorial Stadium has two relatively unknown places that display a more macabre, or ghastly, history.

Memorial Stadium was built in 1923 to honor students who fought and gave their lives during World War I. It was K-State's football stadium until 1967.

During the summer of 1985, an 8-by-17-foot war-themed mural was painted in the breezeway of the west wing of the stadium.

The mural is a fresco - a painting on a moist, plaster surface with colors ground up in water or limewater mixture - and depicts various aspects of

A group of K-State students and high school teachers completed the mural in two weeks.

It includes the names of K-State students who died in the war as well as poppies, large gas masks with mosaic eyes, a floating skull on the battle fields, a rat gnawing on an injured horse's leg and a dead soldier in a trench or mine.

But perhaps the most eerie part of the mural is the Grim Reaper, clad in a black robe and carrying a scythe. He is painted in the same archway of the stadium where people must stand in to view the mural, giving the feeling it is hovering right next to the person.

PURPLE MASQUE THEATRE

The Purple Masque Theatre on the other side of Memorial Stadium offers a possibly haunting experience for students.

The theater is located inside Gate II on the north end of East Stadium where its legendary ghost, Nick, allegedly resides.

In 1946, athletic dormitory facilities were constructed in East and West stadiums for 266 students. The Masque opened in 1964 in what had been the cafeteria for the dorms.

The legend begins when a football player for K-State named Nick was injured during a game in the 1950s and carried off field to rest in the cafeteria.

Nick's parents, on their way to see the game, died tragically in a car accident. Nick died from the intuitive shock he felt when his parents passed. The legend claims he haunts the Masque, walking up and down its halls, banging on pipes and playing tricks on students, still searching for his parents.

The 100-seat theater, despite its supposed paranormal activity, hosts full-length productions and one-act plays.

BEACH MUSEUM OF ART

The Beach Museum of Art currently is under construction but still offers several services.

The addition is a gallery wing, set to open in October.

Martha Scott, business and marketing manager for the museum, said there are two galleries open and also there is permanent artwork.

One of these permanent pieces is Chandelier, a large blown-glass sculpture by Dale Chihuly. The bright orange piece hangs from the ceiling in the main window and was made specifically for the space.

"It's my understanding that (Chihuly) was here in the spring when they were doing the prairie burns," she said. "The orange flames were his inspiration for the color."

Scott said Chandelier is something many students tend to overlook because it is on permanent display.

There are several areas on campus for students to learn more about K-State tradition. They can ask for a tour of the Cardwell observatory or head to the Purple Masque for a good show and maybe even a good scare.

All non-attributed historical information courtesy of University Archives and Special Col-

GET ANTIBIOTICS FROM YOUR DOCTOR, NOT YOUR PORK.

We're serving naturally raised pork that doesn't require a prescription.

The pork we serve in Manhattan is free of antibiotics and added growth hormones, fed a vegetarian diet and raised humanely. We think meat raised this way, naturally, tastes better.

> Serving naturally raised pork is another step in our ongoing Food With Integrity journey - bringing you the best ingredients from the best sources.

- SERVING NATURALLY RAISED PORK IN MANHATTAN -

AGGIEVILLE

FICTION

Earbud Evil A lunchtime retrospective

By Logan C. Adams KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Editor's note: This is the third segment of "Earbud Evil," a fictional story the Collegian is publishing daily for the next three weeks. This story follows Alex, a fictional K-State student, as he deals with a campus-wide crisis that threatens the university.

Though the names of real people will accompany made-up characters, all events are fictional. This is intended for entertainment and is not factually based.

Katie spotted me while I was making long, hungry strides toward the food court in the Union and beckoned me to come her way. I signaled with my index finger that I'd be there in a minute. I had waited long enough to get my lunch.

I made my way to her table a moment later with fresh Panda Express and some iced tea to see what she wanted.

To my dismay, Katie's friend Rhett joined her while I acquired sustenance. I usually try to turn friends' friends into mutual friends, but I made an exception for Rhett.

His parents had given him that name, we believed, with hope he would have the same debonair, refined characteristics as the actor from "Gone with the Wind." It hadn't worked.

"How are you?" Katie asked, giddy from a sugar high. "I haven't heard from you in weeks."

I sat down at her right-hand side to keep my distance from Rhett, who was sitting across the table, looking straight through me and listening to some music.

"I'm alive and kicking, so I suppose I can't complain," I told her, forcing a small smile. "At least life isn't boring."

Katie took another hit off of whatever corn-syrupy elixir was in her cup, looked me straight in the eye and sighed a youscrewed-up sort of sigh. I tried to maintain my innocence and waited for her next move. Rhett grunted.

"Alex, is there something you wanted to tell me?" she asked, purring like a tiger does before dismembering a baby gazelle. I paused and tilted my head.

"No," I answered, picked up my tray and exited table right. Truthfully, I had no idea what she was getting at and didn't really care to find out.

I picked a table in the Union's courtyard and sat down to dig into my chow mein and a few newspapers. The noodles were a little cold, but that's to be expected from a mid-afternoon order.

My day's course started filtering through my stress-addled mind as I strained to make sense of it. Three people had acted rather bizarre to me while clinging to their music no matter how socially or academically inappropriate.

Bill, my usually-friendly lab partner, had tried to choke me. Even more, it was the first time I ever saw him without his prized K-State baseball cap, the one he autographed by Bill Snyder, Ron Prince and Bob Huggins. He called it the triple-threat hat, but he had left it behind today.

The guy who had nearly put me on the ground by Ward Ha had not make the slightest effort to miss me, but he had not seemed to try to get me, either. I figured he had problems with his sight and maybe his attitude, as well. Rhett was surprisingly quiet. Normally, I couldn't get him to stop blabbing about problems with his job or his circle of equally-unpleasant friends. All I had to put up with today was his 1,000-yard stare and the occasional "ugh." To be honest, I liked this new version of him.

I finished my meal and read my paper for a while. The courtyard where I was sitting is under an opening in the first and second floors, so people on those floors can look over a railing and see who is below. After a few minutes of rest, I felt someon was watching me.

I looked up. Katie was glaring at me from the first floor. She turned and sulked away, like she was going for the stairs that would bring her to my floor. I didn't feel like being grilled, so I quickly trashed the newspapers and garbage from my meal as I made my escape through the hallway with the row of ATMs.

My eyes squinted in the bright sunlight as my thoughts shifted to the basketball game that night against KU. I walked north to do some studying at Hale.

I didn't make it very far.

QUESTIONS | Women seek to break stereotypes with honest answers

continued from Page 1

Black people are not all like that, Tajuba said.

"We are different. We are individuals, and there is something that makes it unique for all of us," she said.

Rayonna Thomas, junior in apparel marketing, said the session was an opportunity for students to come out of their shells and ask the women questions they have been thinking about and wanted to have answered.

"Even though you may not talk to us, we do have a lot to offer to society," she said.

The only way to break a stereotype is to get to know people, said LaToya Farris, assistant director of Career and Employment Services.

"It's important for people to come because we can only talk about being black women," Farris said. "I think it's important to listen to someone else's story so that you can figure out for yourself and not go by with what society and stereotypes have told you to think."

Coming and talking to someone can help with breaking those stereotypes and keeping from just going with the flow, Farris said.

for yourself once you have actually heard something and you can actually make your own judgment," Farris said.

"You can actually think

Stereotypes are disturbing, said Gini Conkle, junior in open option.

"My best friend is half black, and it really bothers me when people are really racist," she said. "Some of my best friends that I have met in college are really racist, and I tell them not to talk about it around me."

Conkle said she wished there had been a wider variety of races at the event so more people could hear what the women had to say.

"I think that there will be more people at the Ask a Black Man one tomorrow," she said.

The Ask A Black Man panel will take place from 12 to 1 p.m. today in the Union Courtyard.

Steven Doll | COLLEGIAN

Rayonna Thomas, junior in apparel and textiles, answers audience members' questions during a panel discussion with four other black women Tuesday afternoon in the K-State Student Union Courtyard.

Kansas State University

McCain Performance

Series 2006-2007

www.k-state.edu/mccain

DINING ETIQUETTE WORKSHOP

Registration deadline: March 7 • Call 532-6506 to sign up.

Tuesday, March 13 5:30 p.m. • Derby Dining Center

785-532-6506

"The Making of the Fittest"

DNA and the Ultimate Forensic Record of Evolution (Free and open to public)

Sean B. Carroll University of Wisconsin

Thursday, March 1st, 7:00 pm Forum Hall Kansas State University

Sponsored by Center for Understanding of Oli Kansas State University

Sponsored by Holiday Inn at the Campus SUNDAY MARCH 4 @ 7:30PM

New Traditions in Celtic Music!

Sale Coming to an End

Ben Sherman

Everything 25~75% off

Modern Amusement*

New Merchandise Spring Line is Here

BCBGIRLS"

Mon-Wed 11-6 Thurs-Sat 11-8 785.539.2880 710 N. Manhattan Ave.

McCain Auditorium 2006-2007 Performance Series

Tickets: Call the McCain Box Office 785-532-6428 and charge your tickets to VISA, Mastercard, AMEX or Discover weekdays 11am - 5pm For more information or to buy online go to www.k-state.edu/mccain Leahy is presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission,a state agency the National Endowment for the Arts, a Federal agency, the K-State Fine Arts fee and the Friends of McCain.

ROYAL PURPLE

we've got the stories you've got to read.

Get your Royal Purple yearbook in Kedzie 103.

APARTMENT HUNTING 101 Most Locations Near KSU

You can WALK to:

Class . Library Aggieville • Banks Restaurants • Coffee Shops Watering Holes (NO DUIs)

Clean 1-2-3-4 BR Apartments, Duplexes, and Houses

Property Managemen DON'T SKIP CLASS BECAUSE YOU CAN'T FIND A PARKING SPACE!

SERIOUS STUDENTS RENT WITH: Moore Property Management

SINCE 1974 view our property starting the 19th -28th www.moorepropertymanagement.com

Lease signing begins Feb. 26th 785-537-0205

AVAILABLE FOR ORDER AT BORDERS. BARNES & NOBLES, AND AMAZON.COM.

LEARN THE FACTS ABOUT THE MOST POWERFUL TOOL IN THE U.S. WAR ON TERROR.

- Only Phone Book with Students' Cell Phone Numbers
- · Coupons with the Greatest Deals
- · A Menu Guide with local restaurants' menus

Purchase Yours in Kedzie 103

Presented by:

The College of Business Administration and Students in Free Enterprise

What's your BIG idea? TAKHITI

EntrepreneurshipWeek Feb. 24-March 3, 2007 www.cba.k-state.edu

Entrepreneurship Week USA Events The schedule of events is as follows, both events are set for Thursday, March 1, 2007:

Entrepreneur's Product Fair 9:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. Courtyard Area K-State Student Union

Come meet successful entrepreneurs and discuss their product and company ideas.

Panel Discussion 1-2:15 p.m. Little Theatre, K-State Student Union Take part in a discussion with experts from a variety of areas dealing with innovation and new technology commercialization! Panel members will discuss topics relevant to entrepreneurship today., followed by an audience question and answer session. Click here for a list of panel discussion participants.

Both events are free and open to K-State students and faculty and the general public.

CLASSIFII

Classifieds continue on the next page

Few Spaces Remain for

Graduate Students
 Upper Classmen

Amenities
Great Location • Two Swimming Pool
Quiet Park Like Setting
On-Site Laundry • Enormous Closets

Three Time winner of the National Multifamily CEL. Award for the #1 is Customer Service in America!

WESTCHESTER PARK

776-1118

NOW LEASING

n-Site Management Office

Full-time Maintenance Pers

Private Fitness Center

Abundant Parking/Garages

Customer Service

Reach more readers

www.kstatecollegian.com

Ads scheduled to be printed in the Collegian can be published online for an additional dollar.

Place your classified ad online. Get more bang for your buck.

Announcements

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five air-Call 785-776-1744, www.

> 020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

Housing/Real Estate

105

Rent-Apt. Furnished

Manhattan CITY Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity inhousing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, na-tional origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

3, 4 Bedroom All-New for Fall 2007

Apply At: 532-3790

1.10 Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

MANHATTAN CITY Ordinance 4814 assures ev ery person equal opportunityinhousing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, na-tional origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

1117 VATTIER. New all Two-bedrooms, appliances furnished, no pets. Close to campus. 785-539-1975 or 785-313-8292

1219 KEARNEY. Onebedroom. June, Water/ trash Next to campus, off street parking. No pets. $350. 785-539-5136.

1219 KEARNEY. TWO-BEDROOMS. lease. Water/ trash paid. Next to campus, off street parking. No pets. $660, 785-539-5136.

MANAGEMENT. One-bedroom. June, July, August. 785-539-4357. www.rentapm.com

AVAILABLE JUNE 1, onebedroom, large, clean. Only pay electricity. Small allowed. Balcony, $570/ location.

month. 785-341-7289. CLEAN TWO-BEDROOM in four plex with washer/ dryer in unit. Water and month. 785-539-2356

ONE, TWO, four, five-bedroom apartments/ houses for June and August leases. 785-564-0857.

> KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN 103 Kedzie 785,532,6555

ONE, TWO, three, and four-bedroom apartments. Close to campus and aggieville. Parking and laun-dry. 785-539-5800.

> ONE, TWO, three, four, five, six bedroom apartment/ houses next to campus. Washer/ dryer, cen-Pets. No 785-537-7050.

> ROOMS, near campus. August lease, pets ok. 785-776-2051

ONE-BEDROOM APART-MENTS in quiet six-plex at 1811 Platt. Available June 1st. Unfurnished. central air, parking, water and trash paid. No pets. $375 per month. Call KSU 785-532-7569

ONE-BEDROOM TO fivebedrooms. Apartments duplexes and homes Some farther away. June or August leases. Check out our website www.emeraldpropertymanagment.com or call Emerald Property Management 785-587-9000 for more information.

785-532-7541

PARK PLACE Apart-ments. One- Bedrooms. Summer/ fall leasing. Pets welcome. One- half mile from KSU at Seth Child and Claffin, 785-539-2951.

PLACE Apartments. Two- bedrooms. Pets welcome. Summer/ Fall leasing. One- half mile from KSU at Seth Child and 785-539-2951. Claffin.

THREE AND four-bed room apartments available in August. Close to campus. Water and trash paid. Coin operated laun-785-537-7810. 785-537-2255.

TWO, THREE and fourbedrooms, close to cam-pus, central air, dishwasher, laundry facilities. No pets, available February 1. 785-539-0866.

TWO-BEDROOM CIAL at Park Place Apartments. $495 rent plus free cable through July '07. 785-539-2951.

TWO-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus. Personal washer/ dryer. $645-$675/ month. 785-341-4496

TWO-BEDROOM, many sizes and prices. June or August. 785-341-0686.

VERY NICE three-bedroom, two bath apartment. Three blocks to Aggieville 822 Fremont. Affordable utilities, August 785-313-1807.

WHY RENT WHEN YOU CAN BUY? Condos for Two and three-bedroom starting at $112,650. collegiatevilla.com 785-537-2096.

WILDCAT VILLAGE, Available June or August fourbedroom, bath two dryer, washer/ room, $1400. Cable paid. 785-776-2425 or 785-565-3760. lage-rentals.com.

Preleasing! Spacious Spacious 1 & 2 Bedroom A

Duplexes Custom built with the K-State student in mind.

Each duplex features walk-in closets, all kitchen appliances, washer/dryer, of reet parking, phone and cable connections in every oom, security lighting, trash and lawn care.

Security deposit is the same as one month's rent. The lease period begins August 1

> 4 Bedrooms, 2 Baths 1,300 Sq. Ft. ONLY $1,150/mo.

Sorry, No Pets! Quiet Neighborhood, Convenient and Close to Campus. Day: 313-0751

Night: 537-4682

Beechwood Terrace

New Apartment Lg. 2 & 3 Bedrooms 112 Baths Washer/Dryer Energy Efficient

On a Wooded Secluded 2 Acre Lot with Creek

$740 & $885

arge 2 Bedroom Apt

Hosa to Campus *1114 Fremont* *519 Osage*

LET'S REN'

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

10K APARTMENTS spacious two-bedroom apart-ment in modern complex two blocks east of cam-pus at 1010 Kearney. Quiet street, quality stu-dent living. Large L-shaped kitchen, dish-L washer, air conditioning, sound proofed, well insuated, low utilities, laundry oom, no pets. June 1-May lease, 785-539-2536. $580. Call 1215 POYNTZ, two-bedfooms, across from city ark with off-street park ing. Central air, washer/ dryer. Neutral colors with total re-model. Water and pets. 785-313-4812.

1628 FAIRVIEW. Quiet one-bedroom ($400) and Studio ($375) near KSU. Water, trash Laundry paid. No pets, no smol JUNE.

350 N. 16th. Two blocks to K-State and Aggieville two-bedroom apartments Clean, quiet, private parking. No smoking, no pets $580. June and August leases. 785-539-5508 or

JUNE LEASE two-bedroom apartment. Walk to campus. Excellent condition/ location. http://www.rentkstate.com 785-410-2814

LARGE TWO-BED-ROOM, available June. fireplace dishwasher. Very close to 785-317-3780 Leave

Need to sublease?

Advertise before it's too late

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

Pre-lease Today for Spring! Only A few nomes remain

Amenities: Washer/Dryers or hookups available On-Site Management Garages Available Private Fitness Center Storm Center Peaceful Garden Setting Enormous Closets

GEORGETOWN

776-8080 ww.GeorgetownApts.net orgetown#CurtinPropertyCa.com

115

Rooms Available

THREE FEMALE room mates needed for fall 2007. Close to campus, washer/ dryer, no pets. $280 plus utilities. Call Jenna 785-479-1430.

Rent-Duplexes

FOUR-BEDROOM (August) $1280, Washer/ Dryer baths nice, offstreet parking, great location, pets/ smol 785-532-8256. smoking

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath duplex for rent plus study room. One-half from KSU. Everything new, completely remodeled including new hardwood floors, new coverings kitchen cabinets and appli ances (even washer and dryer). Trash and lawn included. No pets $1400/ month. Begins at Broperty Man-Emerald Property Ma agement 785-587-9000.

Need a New Place to Live? Check the Classifieds!

110 Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

PRE-LEASING JUNE and close to KSU. washer/ dryer included. Call details 785-776-2102. youngwilks@yahoo.com, sapts.com

THREE-BEDROOM WITH porch and sunroom, 511 uemont, August 1 lease, laundry included, no pets, 785-313-0462, leave mes-

TWO AND three-bedroom. Close to campus. Central air, dishwasher, coin operated laundry fa-Available June No pets. 785-537-1746 785-539-1545.

Rent-Duplexes

1111 WHARTON Manor Road, four-bedroom lower level duplex with neutral colors, two baths, washer/ dryer furnished. 817 Vattier, three-bedroom lower pet, neutral colors and washer/ dryer hook-ups. Very reasonable rent with great space in both duplexes. June lease. pets. Call 785-313-4812. No

NICE DUPLEX 606 Vattier. Four-bedroom, two includes all appliances, washer/ dryer. No pets. Available August 1. $1080/ 785-293-5197.

120

1001 KEARNEY also have Five, Six houses. Seven-Bedroom OK. 785-317-7713.

Rent-Duplexes

Rent-Houses

roommates in four-bed-500 duplex. Laramie. $285 per room. Dryer. 785-410-2916

THREE-BEDROOM UNIT, located at 8/ 802 North 5th. No pets, $975/ available June 1. 785-564-0372.

WALK TO class. One, vo, three, four-bedroom No smoking, no drinking, no pets. 785-539-1554.

120 Rent-Houses

1015 PIERRE. Very nice, lour-bedroom. Fenced in yard. Spacious Washer/ dryer July or August lease. All considered. Chris, 785-770-2161.

1310 N. 11th. Two-bedroom, June lease. No pets, close to campus. 785-539-1975 785-313-8292

1417 NICHOLS, four-bedrooms, family room. 1909 Kenmar, three-bedrooms. Both two bathrooms, washer/ dryer, garage game room, fenced yard/ patio. 785-539-1177.

502 FREMONT, three-bedroom, one bath, no pets. June 785-539-1975 10 785-313-8292

AVAILABLE JUNE Three-bedroom house lo-1501 Harry Road. Two blocks west of campus, central washer/ dryer, 1 yard. 785-539-3672. central fenced

CLEAN, QUIET basement apartment. Two-bedroom, two bath, full kitchen, patio. $385 per month per person. All utilities in-cluded. emilyl@ksu.edu.

FIVE-BEDROOM. TWO bath house for rent. 931 Vattier. June lease. Washer/ dryer, window airconditioning. Fenced back-yard, pets allowed. Off-street parking. $1500/ month. 785-539-4949.

FIVE-BEDROOM. June, July August. Alliance July, August. Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rentapm.com

1022 HUMBOLT, 824 four-bedroom, two bath, dryer, $1300. Doug. 785-313-5573

meroy, $1100 - $1200. Four-bedroom, two bath washer/ dryer, dish-washer, central air. Au-1535 CAMPUS Four-bedroom, two baths furnished. Neutral colors nice, new baths Large bedrooms for an affordable price. 785-313-4812.

BEAUTIFUL REMOD-ELED homes. 1612, 1614 two bath, fresh carpet modern appliances. Close August. 785-304-0387.

BRITTNAY RIDGE town two and one-half baths, inwasher/ dryer. No pets. August 785-293-5197.

FIVE-BEDROOM HOUSE. Walk to campus Two kitchens, fireplaces, washer/ dryer furnished, No

FIVE-BEDROOM TWO bath. June lease, washer, dryer, dishwasher, central month. 785-313-5573 Doug.

1. Four to five-bedhouse located east Aggieville at 824 Two bath, washer/ dryer, dish-washer, central air. Lease 785-539-3672 bedroom duplex. Good lodishwasher, gust. Alliance Property dryer. No M a n a g e m e n t . $1160. 785-539-4357. www.rentcation with washer and dryer. 785-537-7597.

FOUR TO five-bedrooms, two bath, washer/ dryer, central air, dishwasher. campus. 785-532-9564.

FOUR-BEDROOM AND six-bedroom houses Close to campus and Aggleville. Parking and laundry. 785-539-5800.

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE. Close to cam-pus. Large backyard. Central air/ heat. No smoking or pets. Wired for hot tub lease. $1100/ 1520 Hartford August month. Road. 785-759-3520. FOUR-BEDROOM, ONE bath house for rent. 900 Vattier. June lease. Washer/ dryer, central airconditioning. Fenced back-yard, pets allowed. $1200/month. Party shack and included. garage 785-539-4949. FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO and one-half bath, study. August 1. $975 per month. Knight Real Es-tate. Call 785-539-5394

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO nice sized bedrooms. Central air, two car garage, washer/ dryer. No pets/ smoking. $1400/ month, available in Au-1420 Vista Lane, two and one half blocks campus.

FOUR-BEDROOM. JUNE, July, August. Al-llance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.rent-apm.com

ONE HOUSE: 2031 Four-bedroom, two bath, June 1 lease. Two, half-duplexes, four-bedroom, washer/ dryer included. $1200/ mo $1200/ month, no 785-539-2357 or 785-341-8576.

ONE TO five-bedroom nents and campus Close 785-313-8292

ONE-BEDROOM TO fivebedrooms. Apartments, duplexes and homes. Most close to campus. Some farther away. June or August leases. Check out our website www. emeraldpropertymanagment.com or call Emerald Property Management 785-587-9000 for more information.

SEVEN TO eight-bedroom (two kitchen). June, July, August. Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rentapm.com

1245 Sale-Houses

Two and three-bedroom starting at $112,650. colle-785-537-2096.

FABULOUS UPDATED one and KSU. $149,900. 785-539-6751

Roommate Wanted

NEXT TO campus, one through six-bedroom houses, and apartments. Washer/ dryer, central air.

Available now or fall. No

rooms, utilities paid, washer/ dryer. Near campus and city park. August 1. 785-532-9564.

515

$340 plus utilities. August

$825 plus utilities. Augus lease. Call Monday - Fri

1205-

June

month.

dryer,

THREE-BEDROOM,

TWO bath duplex, two car

very well Available June 1, $930/ 821 Mission.

TWO AND three-bed

rooms. Two blocks to cam-

leases. No pets, laundry

TWO-BEDROOM base

ment apartment. Washer/

month. Cheap utilities. Available August 1, 1211

TWO-BEDROOMS,

washer/ dryer.

785-341-5346.

apm.com

ROOM,

Washer/

month

785-313-1886.

785-341-0686.

785-532-7569

rent-apm.com

rent-apm.com

THREE-

bath, attached garage

Rent-Houses

kitchen), June, July, Au-

SPACIOUS FOUR-BED-

kitchen. Near City Park

Available May 1. $1100/

plus

PLUS BEDROOMS. Look-

August lease, pets ok 785-776-2051.

son. Available June 1. Unfurnished, off-street park-full bath, $810, 917 Blue mont, year lease, June 2007 - May 2008. Close to campus. Pets allowed.

TWO bath, one mile west

Mrs. Kim, 913-681-9959.

two

dryer,

bath.

nice

utilities

FIVE-BED-

June and August

bedroom.

$600/

785-868-3471

washer/ dryer, no

pets. 785-537-7050.

ONE-BEDROOM

day, 785-776-4805.

day, 785-776-4805.

THREE-BEDROOM

785-313-5573 Doug.

785-776-9260.

785-336-1124.

Thurston.

7p.m.

Central

August,

$295/

washer, $1050.00/

seeks two female gradstu-dents starting fall 2007. August to May lease. New three-bedroom, two bath house with washer/ dryer. $350 plus one-third utili-

FEMALE HOUSEMATE. drinking/ smoking. 5/ month. One-third ties, washer/ dryer, Auca313@ksu.edu,

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted through July. Two-bedroom duplex. Washer/ dryer, and storage. Rent 1207

> MALE, WALK to class, all furnished, lower level, washer dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, pets, 785-539-1554.

ROOMMATE NEEDED until May 31. Rent $275/ ties. Washer/ dryer, dishin house. Call 785-537-3737.

ROOMMATES NEEDED for two bedrooms in five Close to campus. Outdoor 620-382-7241.

150 Sublease

HOUSE SEVEN minutes from campus. $200.00 per

SUBLEASER NEEDED for Spring 2007 semester $315/ month. Four-bed month. Four-bedmonth's rent paid, cheap s. 913-495-2558 or 913-406-1034.

SUMMER SUBLEASE One-bedroom, $390 plus Close pets allowed.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT two blocks se to Aq-Rent $300/ per son. Call 785-221-6680.

TWO-BEDROOM APART-MENT, walk to campus. $620/ month includes utilities. 785-275-1409 leave THREE, FOUR, FIVE, SIX message

ing for that perfect home rent? Great selection and prices. Capstone Management Employment/Careers ROOMS, near campus.

310 Help Wanted

THREE-BEDROOM THE COLLEGIAN cannot verify the financial potenthe Employment/Career classification. Readers ing. $750 per month. Call KSU Foundation at are advised to approach any such business opporwith THREE-BEDROOM, ONE tion. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, SE 501 Topeka, KS 66607-1190 (785)232- 0454.

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSIS-

TANT- Networks Plus, the of campus. Washer leader in providing busidryer provided, $1000 per ness computer services, has a full-time position month. 785-313-7473. available in Manhattan, KS. This challenging posi-THREE-BEDROOM. JUNE, July, August. Al-llance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.-

tion requires the ability to handle multiple tasks and priorities while maintain-ing a positive and energetic attitude. $12/ hour, full-time only, opportuni-ties for advancement. E-TWO-BEDROOMS. JUNE, July, August. Al-llance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.mail resume in Microsoft Word or text format to: jobs@networksplus.com.

Burger King is seeking high-energy people to join our restaurant family. If you are seeking a position that can offer a growth ladder leading to management and a solid benefit package, please come complete an application. We are taking applications for all shifts.

 Competitive starting wages Paid vacation program for all staff members ■ 1/2 price on/off duty meals

 Frequent performance/salary evaluations · Flexible scheduling · Tuition reimbursement program Retirement program

· Free uniforms

Please Apply in Junction City at: Please apply in Manhattan at: B21 Cheetnut Or 1802 N Washington 1326 Laramie Or 3002 Andel

Savings bond purchase program

AS NEEDED JUVENILE MENT OFFICER. County Community Corrections is accepting applineeded, on-call juvenile in-take and assessment offi-cers. Minimum requirecers. ments include a school diploma. Hourty rate for call-out duty is $10. On-call reimburse-ment is $30/ day. On-call officers work a rotating on-call schedule, with the usual schedule being one week of on-call duty every ment experience or direct experience working with juveniles is preferred. Valid driver's license and ability to work flexible hours is mandatory. Appli-cations can be obtained from Riley County Clerk's Office, 110 Courthouse Plaza, Manhattan, KS www.rileycountyks.-Riley County is an opportunity BANK TELLER. Immedi ate opening for full-time front line and/ or drive-up Looking for outgoing, energetic, profes-sional, service oriented person. Prior bank or is a plus but not required. Forty hour work week. Great hours. Great benefits. Apply at Kansas State 1010 Westloop Manhattan, Equal Opportunity Employer.

BARTENDING! $300 ence necessary. Training 1-800-965-6520 ext. 144.

CAMP TAKAJO Naples, Maine, noted for pic-turesque lakefront locaexceptional facilities. June through mid-August. Counselor positions in tennis, baseball, lacrosse, golf, flag foot-ball, roller hockey, swimming, sailing, water skiing, gymnastics, dance, horsearchery riding, weight training, newspaphotography, video, woodworking, ceramics, pottery, crafts, fine arts, jewelry, copper dio/ electronics, theater, mer, piano accompa music instrumentalbackpacking, climbing, canoeing/ kayaking, ropes course, secre-tarial, nanny. Call Takajo at 866-356-2267. Submit application takajo.com. online

COMPLETE OUTDOORS seeking all positions landscape, irrigation, maintenance. in 785-776-1930.

DISC JOCKEY. Are you a people person? Do you want to earn extra money while actually having fun? www.kansasdiscjockey.-

EASTER HELP needed at Manhattan Town Center location. Manager pay $455/ week, Easter Bunny $8.50/ hour. Call Becky 1-800-422-8967.

HARVEST HELP wanted. Late May through August. Pays well. 785-587-1956, evenings.

HAY COMPANY in search of summer workers, farm experience needed. Excellent wages. 785-564-2590. HORTICULTURAL SER-VICES, Inc. is seeking reli-able, motivated individu-als for full-time or part-time seasonal positions in our retail garden center Above average commensurate with experience and abilities. Appl rience and abilities. Apply in person at 11524 Landscape Lane, St. George, Kansas 785-494-2418 or 785-776-0397.

> HOWE LANDSCAPE Inc. has several positions available for our landscap ing, irrigation and mow maintenance crews. is for full time and part time help, with flexible schedules for students preferably four hour blocks of time. Applicants must be 18 years or age and have a valid drivers license. Starting wage $8.00/ hour. Apply three ways, in person Monday through Friday at 12780 Madison Rd in Riley; call 785-485-2857 to obtain us at howeland@kansas.-

> JOIN THE K-State Online team at the Office of Medi ated Education, and contribute to a variety of imand applications. Candi capable of learning nev quickly, rected, able to work at least 15 hours a week and willing to devote at least a year to the position. Working with web technologies in an office that values its students provides a fun yet chal enging work environment Starting wages begin at $7.00. For more informa> tion email us at omeof-fice@ksu.edu. KSU STUDENT needed for working in enhouse and tree packing. Four hour block time uired. 8:00a.m. to 12:-00p.m. or 1:00p.m. to 5:-Friday, $6.00/ hour, Apply at Kansas Forest Service, 2610 Claffin Rd. LOOKING FOR part-time help in Scrapbook store. Monday- Wednesday- Friday daytime. Experience preferred. Please call Sabrina 785-410-3177 SUPERVI-GROUND SORS. Immediate open-Manhattan- Ogden Schools. mentary

$6.50 per hour one and a half- two hours per day 11:00 a.m.- 1:00 p.m. Application available at www usd383.org/District/HumanResources/ or apply at Human Resources Department, 2031 Poyntz Avenue. Applications cepted until positions are filled. Apply to Manhattan-USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Avenue, Manhat-785-587-2000. Equal Opportunity Employer. MANHATTAN COUNTRY Club is seeking part-time bag room/ cart staff. Will work with your class schedule. Must be available most weekends. Call 785-539-6221 ask Jacque or Jeff.

MATH TEACHER: USD 378 is accepting applica-tions for a high school math teacher. Contact bpultz@usd378.com 785-485-4000.

Network Support Technician

Salina Public Schools is seeking a professional to join the Information Technology team in delivering services to 1700+ certified and classified employees. 3-5 Years experience with Windows operating systems, A+ and Network Certifications. Ability to lift and deliver 40 pounds. Salary commensurate with qualifications and experience. Applications accepted until filled. For more information or to apply, go to www.usd305.com. EOE

NOW HIRING! Management

Are you confident, positive, fast paced, and enthusiastic?

Burger King's of Manhattan and Junction City are looking for result oriented individuals to grow with our company.

No restaurant experience? No Problem. We will train the right individual from the ground floor up. We offer a competitive salary and benefit package based on career and life experience. We are willing to pay the most for the best.

401K Savings plan with our company contributions Liberal paid vacation plan 5 Day Work Week

Monthly & Annual Bonus Program Free Meals

for more information concerning this exciting career opportunity please conta Kim Beyer, District Manager, Burger King, Office, PO Box 856, Ogden, KS 66517, 402-421-6400 exz. 220, kimbayer@horizonholding.com, EOE

PLAY SPORTSI camp needs fun loving land, adventure and water sports. Great summer! Call 888-844-8080, apply: campcedar.com

PROGRAMMER- CIVICprovider of ing provider of City. County, and School websites. Full-time position in Manhattan. Microsoft ASP and SQL experience required. $15.50/ hour plus ne and a half for overtime. Benefits include Health, Dental, Paid Holi-days, Paid Vacation, and 401K matching. Email resume in Microsoft Word or text format to jobs@civicplus.com. PROJECT MANAGER* CivicPlus has an opening quarters office for a full-This challenging position entails managing multiple website redesign projects website redesign projects from start to finish. Position requires attention to detail, the ability to manage multiple tasks, priori-ties and deadlines and a cheerful attitude. Training is provided. Benefits inde health, dental, paid paid vacation holidays, 401(k) Email resume in text or jobs@civicplus.com.

PROJECT CivicPlus has an opening in our Manhattan head quarters office for a fulltime Project Manager. This Challenging position entails managing multiple website redesign projects from start to finish. Position requires attention to age multiple task, priori-ties and deadlines and a cheerful attitude. Training clude Health, Dental, Paid Holidays, Paid Vacation and 401(k) matching. Email resume in text of Word civicplus.com.

POSITIONS SEVERAL available for field technicians working with greater chickens Kansas. These positions are ideal for anyone interested in graduate school for wildlife biology. Will be fifteen to thirty hours per week starting immediately. Pay is $6.25 per sons please send resume and cover letter via e-mail to grego1aj@ksu.edu or call 785-532-6413.

To place an advertisement call

785-532-6555

SO LONG Saloon now hir ing wa person, 1130 Moro.

SUMMER INTERNSHIP Help me run my business. Open to all majors. Five positions available, average earns $800/ Call 785-317-0455.

TAPS LANDSCAPING is looking for dependable self motivated full and par time help. wages, flex Compe wages, flexable hours. Must be 18 with DL. Apply by e-mail tapsirrigation@s boglobal.net or ca 785-539-8675, 9am-4pm.

THE CITY of Westmore land is taking applica for a pool manager for the 2007 season. Life guard Salary based on experi ence and is negoti Job description and appli Hall, P.O. Box 7, KS moreland, 785-457-3361. for applications is March Employer.

VILLAGE INN, join out team! Now hiring full-time hosts and part-time cooks Competitive restaurant. wages, friendly environ ment, great benefits and opportunities for advancethe Manhattan Village Inn. 204 Tuttle Creek Equal Opportunity Employer

WILDCATSNEEDJOBS. COM. PAID survey takers needed in Manhattan. 100% free to join. Click on surveys.

WINTER/ SPRING Posi $150 per day. Experience not required. Undercove shoppers needed to judge retail and dining esta ments. Call 800-722-4791

Transportation 510 Automobiles

SET OF off road wheels and tires for Toyota truck. Mickey Thompson Classic Good Tires are Wrangler MT/R 31x10.50 $500 OBO 316-304-5852

NOW HIRING - TWO LOCATIONS

ALL SHIFTS, DAYS, NIGHTS & WEEKENDS

ABOVE AVERAGE COMPENSATION Discounted Meals

 Flexible Schedule Crew Incentive Programs Medical Insurance

• Retirement Plan

APPLY TODAY • WORK TODAY 421 N. 3rd Street 3006 Anderson Ave EOE/Drug Free Workplace

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

su do ku

Fill in the grid so that every row, every column, and every 3 x 3 box contains the digits 1 through 9 with no repeats.

> Solution and tips at www.sudoku.com

Free pregnancy testing Totally confidential service Same day results • Call for appointment

Stacy Nadeau, a model for the Dove "Real Beauty" campaign, shows a photo of an ad displayed at a bus stop in Chicago during a presentation Tuesday night in the Little Theatre in the K-State Student Union. Dove featured Nadeau in the ad during its "Real Women, Real Curves" campaign.

Former Dove model speaks about positive body image, self confidence

By Eileen Laux KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Six women, in their underwear on a billboard, braved criticism two years ago to break stereotypes and promote a healthy body image.

People need to discuss positive self-body image, said Stacy Nadeau, senior at DePaul University and a model for the Dove "Real Beauty"

Nadeau, an industrial organizational psychology major, shared her experiences in the "Real Women, Real Curves" presentation Tuesday night in the Little Theatre in the K-State Student Union presented by Sensible Nutrition And body image Choices. The presentation was a part of the Eating Disorders Awareness Week which SNAC is sponsoring.

The campaign began when a psychologist from Harvard performed a global study on what woman thought was beautiful. She said only 2 percent of women felt comfortable calling themselves beautiful. She said Dove decided that statistic had to change.

"The Dove mission is to make more women feel beautiful everyday by widening the stereotypical theme of beauty and by inspiring women to take great care of themselves," she

Nadeau said she has days when she is not happy with certain parts of her body, but she is thankful for what

"I've absolutely had those days, but I was lucky enough to grow up with a very healthy image that was instilled by my parents," she said.

She said she does not think it is an issue that is in everyday conversation, though people need to talk about it. Nadeau said a negative body image is something that is taught by society, mainly by mainstream media.

She said the public reaction of the campaign was 95 percent positive. But there was some negative feedback, including a newspaper columnist who made negative comments about her body. However, he received more than 2,000 responses from women in the area and later issued an apology.

"It took our picture for these women to say, "No, she's fine, she looks like me," she said.

Nadeau said being a good role model and opening conversation can help to change negative body images.

"If showing me in my underwear is going to help one woman say, These thighs are OK - at least they work," she said. "I would have done it a million times over."

She said the real change starts with the inner self.

"Start with yourself because you can't really help other people if you don't truly believe it first," she said. "Start to change your own mind, and even if you have to fake it for one day, try it and see what happens."

Stephanie Davis, co-coordinator of the Eating Disorders Awareness Week and an executive board member of SNAC, said she thought Nadeau did a great job.

"In general, it's good to have anything that is going to promote a positive body image, because no one is the cookie-cutter shape," she said.

Davis, junior in family studies and human services, said since eating disorders and negative body image are so rampant across the United States, it is important to raise awareness.

Lori Sanders, fifth-year senior in nutrition and kinesiology, also said she enjoyed presentation.

"I see people everyday who have bad body images," she said. "I think it's important to show that it's not just the way we look but about the way we feel."

She agreed with Nadeau that to make a change, it starts with individuals.

"It starts with us," she said. "It's our choice what we are going to do and how we are going to do it."

HOROSCOPES

Your weekly digest for Feb. 28 - Mar. 6

Aquarius

You can make financial deals that will bring you extra cash. Keep a look out for any individuals eager to confront you. You can anger others quickly this

Aries

Take time to do something nice for yourself. Romantic opportunities will be plentiful if you get, out and mingle. Uncertainty about your relationship is prevalent. Saturday will be your lucky day.

Cancer

You can expect to have a passionate time if you go out with someone. You may find yourself in an uncomfortable situation. Friday will be your lucky day.

Capricorn

Find a quiet spot where you can work diligently and stay out of the way. Don't play on your partner's emotions. Do not avoid situations that may deteriorate. Sunday will be your lucky day.

Gemini Your dynamic, determined

approach will win favors as well as a helping hand. Recognition will be yours if you meet your deadline. Monday will be your lucky day.

members sort out unfortunate difficulties. Your efforts will not

Libra You will have to help family

You are best to stick to yourself this week. Get together with those you find stimulating. Your boss could make it hard to do your work effectively. Monday will be your lucky day.

Pisces

Insincere gestures of friendliness are likely to occur. Secret love affairs may be enticing; however, you must be prepared for the restraints that will follow. Sunday will be your lucky day.

Scorpio

You must not lead someone on or show interest in them for the wrong reasons. Spend the day on responsibilities that need to be taken care of. Friday will be your lucky day.

Sagittarius

You will accomplish the most in your work environment. Make sure all of your travel and driver's documents are in order. You will be able to get your way if you use your charm and know-how. Friday will be your lucky day.

Taurus

Listening can be more valuable than being a chatterbox. Your mate will appreciate your honesty. Do not rely on others to do your work. Take the time to help those less fortunate. Saturday will be your lucky day.

Virgo

Difficulties will result if you have to deal with controversial groups this week. You will feel tired and rundown if you have allowed yourself to get into. a financial mess. Throw yourself into your work. Thursday will be your lucky day.

www.astrology-online.com

Facebook, Ziddio to offer do-it-yourself reality show

By Sheila Ellis

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

"Facebook Diaries" is a reality show that will allow students to share their personal stories with the world, said Kate Disston, spokesperson for Comcast Interactive Media.

Facebook.com and Ziddio.com a multi-platform Web site allowing share-user video owned by Comcast - are encouraging students to submit video segments in contests that will select the content of the television series, "Facebook Diaries."

The first contest will launch in late March, and the first "Facebook Diaries" episode shortly thereafter, Disston said.

Facebook users will be able to upload, view and rate the videos displayed on Ziddio.

"The marriage between the two companies (Ziddio and Facebook) is a nice creative outlet for students to have the chance to share their lives," Disston said.

Disston said Comcast will be selecting videos based on quality and professionalism.

"We are hoping for all types of stories such as real-life stories like heartbreak and war time," she said.

R.J. Cutler will produce the 10-episode (30 minutes each) TV series. He has produced Emmy-Award winning reality shows such as "Black and White," "American High" and "30 Days."

Disston said Cutler will make the final decision on what video segments will be chosen for the se-

"We want people to express themselves in an artistic way," she said. "We are confident that people will submit thought-provoking material while remaining dignified."

She said the series will be broadcast through Comcast On Demand cable providers, and Comcast also is discussing options of additional cable operations.

"This marriage is for the first time bringing this kind of unique dimension to entertainment," she Caroline Marks, general manager of Comcast Interactive Media, said video sharing is popular among Facebook's nearly 18 million users.

Naomi Moka-Moliki, senior in electronic journalism and Facebook user, said the "Facebook Diaries" is not any different from YouTube. com as far as people being able to put anything on the Web.

She said she hopes the "Facebook Diaries" will maintain a straightforward.

If she were to send in a video, she said, she hoped she could express her views on Christianity. "If very specific topics are expressed such as a show specifically about Christian faith then I think it is OK," she said. "But if not, I wouldn't have time to let my voice be in vain."

BUTTERED I goned to colledge.

Yeah, I know. It doesn't have pictures either.

How should I know, Orion? I

TIPOFF GUDE

www.kstatecollegian.com | Wednesday, Feb., 28, 2007 | Vol. 111, No. 112

painst top-10 teams, sweeping Texas A&M and ing Kansas. Twenty wins should be the magic inber to ensure a spot.

Oklahoma State (18-9, 5-8 Big 12) RPI: 51 | SOS: 38 | Last 10: 3-7

Alabama (19-9, 6-8 SEC) RPI: 41 | SOS: 51 | Last 10: 4-6

g games: vs. Ole Miss, at Mississippi State After a 13-1 start, the Crimson Tide were ly ranked. It all has been downhill since. have gone 6-8 since a 70-55 win over dahoma on Jan. 1 and probably need to win their final two games and do some damage in the SEC

K-State (20-9, 9-5 Big 12) RPI: 55 | SOS: 94 | Last 10: 7-3

Remaining games: at Oklahoma State (late), vs. Oklahoma Outlook: If the Wildcats can get to 22 wins, it would be tough to keep them out of the tournament. Double digit wins in the Big 12 plus a top-four conference finish is nothing to be ashamed of, and coach Bob Huggins has reiterated all week the strength of the conference.

Remaining games: at No.12 Pittsburgh, vs. Cincinnati Outlook: The Mountaineers can play their way into the "Big Dance" with a win over No. 12 Pittsburgh.
A loss, however, and they'll have some work to do in the Big East Tournament.

San Diego State (18-8, 9-5 MWC) RPI: 46 | SOS: 61 | Last 10: 7-3

emaining games: at Utah (late), vs. TCU
Outlook: The Aztecs have a quality win over Air Force, but outside of that, there is not much to win the last two games and make it deep into the Mountain West Tournament.

By Jeffrey Rake KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The NCAA Tournament field is far from being set, even with the majority of spots already being accounted for. Tucked behind all of the teams that punched their tournament tickets long ago are a deep field of hopefuls. These are the teams considered to be on the "bubble," those teams with an incomplete résumé and work left to be done.

K-State is among the teams on the bubble and will be one of several teams that need to finish strong in order to advance to the "Big Dance." Late-season losses and poor showings in conference tournaments could shatter a team's chances. On the opposite end of the spectrum, a late push and a few quality wins might be just enough.

Remaining games: vs. Minnesota, vs. Northwestern

Outlook: Common belief is that 20 wins and a winning conference record is good enough to make the tournament. The Boilermakers might end up being proof that it naining games: none rtiook: The Bears played a fairly difficult schedule and beat Wisconsin 66-64 on Nov. 24. Isn't that

RP1: 35 | SOS: 43 | Last 10: 7-3

RPI: 23 | SOS: 21 | Last 10: 5-5

Remaining games: at Northwestern, vs. Penn State Outlook: First-year Indiana coach Kelvin Sampson has his team on the verge of making the tournament, barring a total collapse. One more win should be enough for the Hoosiers, who have played a competitive schedule from start to finish.

Gonzaga (21-10, 11-3 West Coast)

RPI: 66 | SOS: 90 | Last 10: 7-3

Remaining games: none
Outlook: The strength of teams from major conferences might force Gonzaga to win the WCC tournament.
Losses to St. Mary's and Loyola Marymount do not look good, but there still is hope for an at-large bid if things fall the Bulldogs' way.

Illinois (21/9, 9-6 Big 10)

RPI: 32 | SOS: 25 | Last 10: 7-3

Remaining games: at lowa
Outlook: Nothing Illinois has done screams for a tournament bid, but their total body of work against a solid Big 10 schedule should be enough to get them in. Their best wins are against unranked Indiana and Michigan State.

DePaul (16-12, 8-7 Big East) RPI: 61 | SOS: 20 | Last 10: 5-5

Remaining games: vs. South Florida Outlook: It will be a close call, but surviving the Big East with a winning record, plus a win over No. 3 Kansas earlier in the season, should do the trick. They still might need some luck in the Big East Tournament.

Mississippi (18-10, 7-7 SEC) RPI: 63 | SOS: 73 | Last 10: 6-4

Remaining games: at Alabama, vs. Auburn Outlook: Every game is a must-win for the surging Rebels. Tonight's clash with Alabama could be an elimination

Old Dominion (23-7, 15-3 CAA)

RPI: 34 | SOS: 93 | Last 10: 10-0

Remaining games: none
Outlook: There could be as many as three teams to make it from the CAA. An impressive 13-point win over Georgetown, and a strong finish to the season might be the extra shove Old Dominion needed to earn a spot in the field.

Player to watch

Senior forward Cartier Martin will play his last game as a Wildcat Saturday at Bramlage Coliseum. He ranks sixth on K-State's all-time scoring list with 1,417 points.

K-State women vs. Oklahoma State 6 tonight

K-State men vs. Oklahoma 2:30 p.m. Saturday

Player to watch

Senior guard Claire Coggins will play her final game at Bramlage tonight. Saturday, Coggins scored only four points so she will want to finish her K-State career on a high note.

the Court with Ashley Sweat

By Jonathan Potter

McDonald's All-American Ashley Sweat has never asked for a discount at the golden arches. The 6-foot-2 freshman from McPherson, Kan., loves to meet new people. Sweat said the most eligible guy on the K-State men's basketball team is junior Ryan Patzwald. She recently answered questions ranging from her best spring break trip to her favorite music star.

Q. What was the best spring break trip you've ever been on?

A. I had a lot of fun in Miami with the team this year. We went to a lot of nice restaurants, but the beach was the highlight. I loved being on the beach.

Q. What is your favorite action movie?

A. Probably "Ocean's Eleven," but I don't really like action movies that much. I like the thinking side of movies.

Q. How close of friends are you and sophomore Marlies Gibson, being from the same high school?

A. We're really close. We were best friends all through high school, and I knew I wanted to go to the same college as her. We both wanted to come to K-State.

Q. Do you get discounts at McDonald's for being a McDonald's All-American?

A. No, but I wish I did though because I go there all the time. I would only ask for free food there if I knew someone that worked there.

Q. What is something about you that few people would know?

A. I can talk to anyone. I am extremely outgoing and also I love using big words. Two of my favorite vocabulary words are ubiquitous and juxtapose.

Q. Are you more of a book worm or a movie buff? A. I like to read books for leisure, but would say I am in to movies more. I like to quote movie lines.

Q. If you could date any music star who would it be?

A. Justin Timberlake, I love his new CD. I think he's awesome, and I'm in love with him.

Q. Who is the most eligible guy on the men's basketball team?

A. I would go with Ryan Patzwald. We're pretty good friends, so he is probably my favorite. I am partial to Bill Walker though because he's Bill Walker, and I love him.

Q. What is it like being so tall?

A. People always start talking about my height at the grocery store. They'll ask how tall my parents are and if I play basketball. It's pretty funny.

Q. What is your favorite restaurant to eat at in Manhattan?

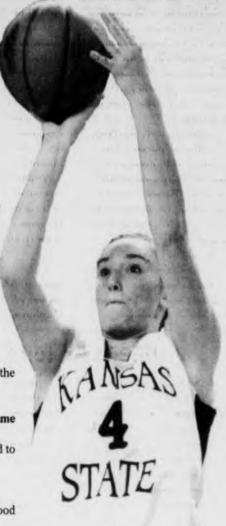

Photo by Chris Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN

CASH FOR THE

Pawn Loans • Payday Loans

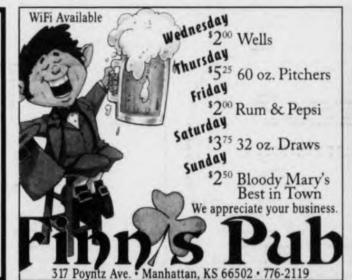

Also a wide selection of:

 Guns
 Music Equipment Used Games • Electronics

AMERICAN CASH

EXCHANGE

501A Fort Riley Blvd. 785-537-1803

Customized coverage. Quick claims response.

Call today for a free, no-obligation quote.

Chan Stowell

Manhattan (785)537-0339

chan.stowell@fbfs.com

Auto Home Life College Retirement

FRIDAY MARCH · 2ND · NO JUSTICE.

WITH BOBBY DALE BAND

TICKETS $7 IN ADVANCE

TICKETS $8 @ THE DOOR

We Deliver • We Cater 785.537.8782 • 708 N. Manhattan Ave. ocation. Not valid with other others. One coupon per visit. No copies accepted. Expires May 31, 2007.

GUARDS

While the Wildcats don't have a superstar guard, they do have a versatile, experienced backcourt. At point guard, Clent Stewart plays solid defense, takes care of the ball and hits timely shots. Lance Harris provides athleticism and explosiveness, and Akeem Wright plays shut-down defense and grabs key rebounds.

Michael Neal leads the Oklahoma backcourt in scoring at 10.2 points per game, but his accuracy from behind the 3-point arc is down more than 12 percent from last season (30.4 percent compared to 42.8 a year ago). Against a K-State squad that leads the Big 12 Conference in 3-point defense, he could be in for a rough afternoon.

FORWARDS

K-State is a completely different team when Hoskins brings his offensive game. After a subpar outing against Kansas, the junior forward exploded for 21 points against Colorado on Saturday. When Hoskins is on, he can score in a variety of ways perimeter jumpers, drives to the basket and shots in the paint. K-State will need plenty of scoring from him against OU.

Senior Nate Carter has come on strong in Big 12 Conference play, averaging more than 16 points and seven rebounds per game. He also shoots nearly 87 percent from the foul line. At 6-foot-6, 220 pounds, Carter has the ability to play small or power forward, much like Hoskins. The Carter vs. Hoskins could be the marquee matchup in this contest.

For the most part, K-State has won by playing a small lineup. However, the Wildcats could need solid minutes from Jason Bennett, Serge Afeli and Luis Colon against OU. K-State's defense has been vulnerable on the interior (Aleks Maric, anyone?), so slowing Oklahoma's Longar Longar will be a top priority.

In case you missed it, Oklahoma's 6-foot-11 center, Longar Longar, elbowed Texas Tech's Esmir Rizvic, earning him a twogame suspension and put Rizvic out for the season. We mention this only because K-State's post players must be ready to stand toe-to-toe with Longar, a physical player who also poses a threat offensively.

COACHING/X FACTOR

With senior day and an NCAA Tournament berth on the line, expect coach Bob Huggins to have his team ready to play.

If K-State struggles early, look for Oklahoma to hang close. Still, it's tough to imagine K-State losing this crucial game.

Prediction: K-State 68, Oklahoma 59

Few K-State players have NBA potential

Fans who look at the K-State roster would almost unanimously agree Bill Walker has the potential to make an NBA roster once he decides to declare for the draft.

There are other Wildcats, albeit not many, who also have the potential to reach the NBA, and here are a few who might have a chance.

Senior Akeem Wright could make an NBA roster because of his defensive pres-

One of the few things Bob Huggins and Jim Woolridge had in common is they both used Wright on the other team's best scoring threat.

Another of Wright's talents is his rebounding ability and what I like to call is his "extendo" arms.

Plus, he has an underestimated jumping ability. His equivalent in the NBA is Bruce Bowen, minus the outside shooting.

It breaks my heart to say this, but senior Cartier Martin does not have much of a chance to make it to the NBA. We all know he can score and shoot the ball really well, but he is not the type of athlete wanted at the NBA

He would have to play wing because of his lack of an inside game. At that spot, he has to create his own shot, which he struggles to do at the college level. He also would need to extend his 3-point shot to NBA range. If so, he could be a nice addition to a team in need of a spot-up shooter.

The next player might be best on the gridiron, and that is junior David Hoskins.

I don't know if he could make it in the NBA. If you watched the Kansas game at Bramlage Coliseum, KU sophomore Julian Wright guarded him, who is quicker and longer than him.

Hoskins ended up shooting 2-of-15 from the field. The position Hoskins is most likely to play at the next level would match him up with guys like Wright every game. His best bet for a professional sports career might be in the NFL. He has a body like San Diego Chargers tight end Antonio Gates and is just as good of an athlete.

Another player who has a legitimate chance is Luis Colon. One of his obvious qualities is his passion for the game. He will improve because of that passion and become a force inside at the college level.

He already is pretty talented defensively (not counting the game at Nebraska) and only will improve under Huggins' leadership.

The player on K-State's roster with the best chance of making an NBA roster is none of other than the giant himself, freshman Jason Ben-

He is 7-foot-3 and 265 pounds, but before he leaves he probably will add 20 to 30 pounds to his frame and improve his coordination. His offensive game might never be pretty, but it will be efficient.

People have been overly critical of him this season, saying he was a bust, but they need to remember he is a freshman, and freshmen under Huggins' tutelage usually improve significantly.

Things are going to start changing during the next few years with Huggins. He will continue bringing in players NBA scouts want Ryne Witt is a senior in English and print journalism. Please send comments to sports@spub.ksu.edu.

League leaders (as of Monday)

	M	en	1
Scoring		Rebounds
	PPG		RPG
1. K. Durant (UT)	24.7	1. K. Durant (UT)	11.3
2. M. Boggan (OSU)	20.2	2. A. Maric (NU)	8.1
3. J. Jackson (TTU)	19.9	3. W. Johnson (ISU)	8.1
4. A. Maric (NU)	17.8	4. M. Boggan (OSU)	8.0
5. A. Law (TAMU)	17.6	5. J. Wright (KU)	8.0
Assists		Field-goal sho	oting
	APG		FGP
1. D. J. Augustin (UT)	6.61	1. A. Maric (NU)	.573
2. C. Richardson (NU)	5.74	2. M. Boggan (OSU)	.549
3. A. Law (TAMU)	5.39	3. K. Rogers (BU)	.526
4. S. Hannah (MU)	4.59	4. A. Law (TAMU)	.518
5. R. Robinson (KU)	4.59	5. M. Zeno (TTU)	.492

THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF	1101	Mary III St. France
Scoring	PPG	Rebounds	RPG
1, C. Paris (0U)	23.8	1. C. Paris (OU)	15.9
2. B. Mosby (BU)	18.1	2. J. McFarland (CU)	10.9
3. J. McFarland (CU)	17.5	3. B. Mosby (BU)	9.5
4. T. Jackson (UT)	16.9	4. T. Jackson (UT)	8.9
5. E. Riddle (MU)	16.3	5. A. Robertson (TTU)	8.6
Assists		Field-goal shoo	ting
	APG		FGP
1. L. Medders (ISU)	6.54	1. J. McFarland (CU)	.611
2. S. Lehning (KSU)	5.14	2. C. Paris (OU)	.585
3. A. Riley (OSU)	5.00	3. D. Gant (TAMU)	.569
4. C. Cortijo (UT)	4.85	4. K. Griffin (NU)	.557
5. A. Franklin (TAMU)	4.81	5. P. Edwards (TTU)	.551

RYNE

WITT

W	omer	is AP lop 2	5
1. Duke (49)	1,249	15. Purdue	578
2. Tennessee (1)	1,200	16. Baylor	498
3. Connecticut	1,142	17. Middle Tenn. St.	494
. 4. North Carolina	1,085	18. Rutgers	367
,5. Ohio State	1,020	19. Bowling Green	222
6. Maryland	993	20. Louisville	218
7. Stanford	919	21. Wisc. Green Bay	206
8. George Washington	852	22. Michigan State	194
9. Arizona State	849	23. Marquette	191
10. Georgia	802	24. N.C. State	183
- 11. Louisiana State	740	25. California	87
12. Oklahoma	697	Other Big 12 teams	receiving
13. Vanderbilt	670	votes: Iowa State 2	6, Nebras
14. Texas A&M	590

Men's AP Top 25

1,000
1. Ohio State (62)	1,786	15. Texas	708
2. UCLA (10)	1,729	16. Louisville	653
3. Kansas	1,580	17. Oregon	466
4. Wisconsin	1,503	18. Butler	457
5. Florida	1,488	19. Vanderbilt	317
6. Memphis	1,422	20. Marquette	299
7. Texas A&M	1,408	21. Virginia Tech	293
8. North Carolina	1,381	22. Notre Dame	279
9. Georgetown	1,225	23. Southern California	254
10. Nevada	1,160	24. Maryland	247
11. Southern Illinois	1,057	25. Air Force	236
12. Pittsburgh	984	Other Big 12 teams	receivin
13. Washington State	974	votes: K-State 11
14. Duke	775	,

Games to watch

Big 12 Conference standings (as of Monday)

Standings	Confe	rence	Overal	1	Standings	Confe	rence	Over	all
Men's	W	L	W	ı	Women's	W	ı	W	L
Kansas	13	2	26	4	Oklahoma	12	3	22	4
Texas A&M	12	2	24	4	Texas A&M	12	3	22	5
Texas	11	3	21	7	Baylor	11	4	24	5
K-State	9	5	20	9	Iowa State	9	6	21	17
Texas Tech	7	7	18	11	Nebraska	9	6	21	8
Missouri	6	8	17	10	Oklahoma State	7	8	19	9
Oklahoma	6	9	15	13	Texas	6	9	17	12
Oklahoma State	5	8	19	9	Texas Tech	6	9	15	14
Nebraska	5	- 8	16	11	Colorado	6	9	12	15
Iowa State	5	9	14	14	Missouri	5	10	17	11
Baylor	3	11	13	14	K-State	4	11	16	12
Colorado	2	12	6	18	Kansas	3	12	9	19

Sick of your Roommates?

Find a subleaser by advertising in the classifieds. Call 532-6555.

Talk with one of our advertising sales representatives by calling...

532-6560

Dine at the finest Italian restaurant in town!

WALLES THE PARTY OF THE PARTY O

COLLEGIAN

Now Leasing for Spring 2007 ALSO LEASING FOR THE 2007-2008 ACADEMIC YEAR

Now Offering FREE TANNING!

University Crossing 2215 College Avenue | Manhattan KS 66502

785.539.0500 tel 1 www.collegeparkweb.com

Lunch Buffet | Lunch Buffet | Lunch Buffet | Dinner Buffe

3003 Anderson Ave.

Plaza West

Over 100 Items!

539-6444

Forget: Kids eat FREE Buffet***

Tuesday!

Carrena Urdilu It.

Women's update

1. No. 12 Oklahoma (22-4, 12-3) — Sophomore Courtney Paris set Oklahoma's career mark for offensive rebounds when she grabbed her 314th against Missouri on Sunday.
Last game: 72-57 win vs. Missouri
Next game: Tonight vs. Baylor

2. No. 14 Texas A&M (22-5, 12-3) — Sophomore Danielle Gant came off the bench and scored a game-high 22 points and grabbed six rebounds against Baylor on Sunday. Last game: 63-58 win at Baylor Next game: Tonight vs. Texas

3. No. 16 Baylor (24-5, 11-4) — Texas A&M held Baylor, the second-place team in the conference in scoring offense, 17 points below its season average of 75.1.

Last game: 63-58 loss vs. Texas A&M
Next game: Tonight at Oklahoma

Wieben, the Big 12 Player of the Week for the week of Feb. 12-18, to just two shots and five points Saturday.

Last game: 64-61 win at K-State

Next game: Thursday at Texas Tech

5. Nebraska (21-8, 9-6) — Senior Kiera Hardy made a season-

Last game: 63-60 loss at Oklahoma State

Next game: Tuesday vs. Colorado

Last game: 63-60 win vs. Nebraska

Next game: Tonight at K-State high six 3-pointers Saturday in the Huskers' fourth-straight defeat.

4. lowa State (21-7, 9-6) — K-State held sophomore Nicky

6. Oklahoma State (19-9, 7-8) — Freshman Andrea Riley scored 17 points in the Cowgirls' first victory over a ranked opponent under head coach Kurt Budke.

7. Texas (17-12, 6-9) — Texas earned coach Jody Conradt her 899th career win Saturday against Texas Tech. Only one other collegiate coach — Tennessee's Pat Summit — has surpassed 900 wins. Last game: 59-47 win vs. Texas Tech Next game: Tonight at Texas A&M

8. Texas Tech (15-14, 6-9) — After defeating then-No. 19 Nebraska on Feb. 14, the Lady Raiders have gone on a three-game losing skid.

Last game: 59-47 loss at Texas Next game: Thursday vs. Iowa State

 Colorado (12-15, 6-9) — Junior Jackie McFarland, the conference's third-leading scorer, had just six points against the Jayhawks on Saturday.

Last game: Tuesday at Nebraska (late) Next game: Big 12 Conference Tournament

10. Missouri (17-11, 5-10) — Senior Carlynn Savant went just 2-of-7 from the field at Oklahoma on Saturday and finished with eight points.

Last game: 72-57 loss at Oklahoma Next game: Thursday vs. Kansas

K-State (16-12, 4-11) — Freshman Ashley Sweat has averaged 19.4 points over the Wildcats' last five games.
 Last game: 64-61 win vs. Iowa State
 Next game: Tonight vs. Oklahoma State

12. Kansas (9-19, 3-12) — Freshman Danielle McCray scored a game-high 20 points against Colorado Saturday. Last game: 59-50 loss at Colorado Next game: Thursday vs. Kansas

— Compiled by Jessi Hernandez

Wildcats to face Oklahoma State in final regular season game

By Jessi Hernandez
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

This season, it seems like the K-State women have been on a roller-coaster ride of sorts. After opening the season with a stunning 64-59 loss to less-than-formidible Emporia State in an exhibition on Nov. 5, the Wildcats won 12 of their next 13, including a 72-67 home victory over current-No. 21 Wisconsin-Green Bay.

After opening Big 12 Conference play with a 78-58 defeat at the hands of reigning conference champs and then-No. 8 Oklahoma on Jan. 3, K-State appeared to be in for another loss to a top conference opponent when then-No. 17 Texas A&M came to town Jan. 6.

Instead, the Wildcats pulled off a 48-45 upset, sparking hopes that this team could make the NCAA Tournament.

The roller coaster took a downward turn following the Wildcats' crushing 81-66 defeat of Missouri on Jan. 13 – sophomore Marlies Gipson was injured during practice. Since then, Gipson has spent every game on the bench, and K-State has gone 2-10, often managing just one solid half of play. Only one of those wins, a narrow 59-55 decision over Kansas, came at home. Since Gipson's injury, the Wildcats have gone 1-4 at Bramlage Coliseum.

The team came close to finally pulling off that elusive home win Saturday against Iowa State. K-State led throughout the game – once by as much as 14 – but in the final minutes of the second half, the Cyclones managed to overcome the deficit and snagged a 64-61 win.

K-State experienced a similar slump during the 2005-06 season, dropping its last four regular-season home games.

The Wildcats (16-12, 4-11 Big 12) will take the floor at Bramlage tonight – for the seniors, it could be the last time they play at home – to face Oklahoma State in the final game of the regular season. If the Wildcats come out on top, it could help their chances at securing a Women's National Invitation Tournament bid – but considering Oklahoma State's.

The players said though it is unlikely, a win certainly is possible.

"You've got to understand that it's an unpredictable game, and being in such a tough conference like the Big 12, any given night anybody can beat anybody, so no game is guaranteed," said sophomore Shalee Lehning. "Everybody is going to fight 'til the end, and that's something that – when we've put one or two halves together – it's amazing to see that we've stayed in those games."

Oklahoma State (19-9, 7-8) is in sixth place in the Big 12. Though the Cowgirls got off to a slow start, they since have secured wins over Iowa State and then-No. 25 Nebraska and swept Texas for the first time since the 1997-98 season.

Senior Rashidat Sadiq is 11th in the conference in scoring, averaging a teamhigh 13 points per game, as well as 6.1 rebounds. Freshman Andrea Riley has averaged 12.3 points, five assists and 2.11 steals per game. She was named Rookie of the Week by the Big 12 for games including team-high 18- and 17-point performances against Texas and Nebraska, respectively.

"Andrea's just really played terrific as a Big 12 rookie," said coach Deb Patterson. "She's just played very good basketball – (Oklahoma State is) a very confident team, and they don't get rattled, and I think she's been a big part of that."

The Cowgirls sit near the top of the Big 12 in scoring offense (71.7 points per game) and scoring defense (57.1 points per game) and rebounding margin (+8.1 rebounds per game) but lack a strong perimeter game.

Cowgirl freshman Andrea Riley earned her third Big 12 Conference Rookie of the Week honor for games played Feb. 19-25.

K-State is one of the top defending teams from behind the arc; however, its inside game defensively has been hit or miss – but Patterson said it's something the team has improved in recent weeks.

"I think our post players are very highquality defenders," Patterson said, "and significantly better – significantly better – than we were you know, the first third of the season in Big 12 play."

Women's 5 Keys to Victory

Wildcats to face the Oklahoma State Cowgirls

By Dayne Logan KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

1. QUEENS OF KANSAS

K-State and Kansas will have some added motivation this week. If the Wildcats win, they will finish in 11th place in the Big 12 Conference but will be ahead of the Jayhawks. A Wildcat loss and a Jayhawk win would mean the two teams share the title of best in Kansas and worst in the Big 12.

2. THE BIG FOUR

Oklahoma State has four players averaging double-digit points this season. The Wildcats will have to play physical early and try to get the Cowgirls out of rhythm and off their games.

3. GET EXTRA HELP

In K-State's 64-61 loss to Iowa State on Saturday, only six Wildcats scored. K-State needs to use its bench more effectively this week so the starters can conserve their energy for the late stages of the game.

4. AWARD ASHLEY

Freshman Ashley Sweat has scored 16 or more points in each of K-State's last five games and has been the team's leading scorer in four. Sweat's performances have earned her the right to run the offense, and her teammates need to reward her by getting her the ball as often as possible.

5. MAKE FREE THROWS

Against Iowa State, the Wildcats were a frustrating 6-of-16 from the foul line. In the end, it was this statistic more than any other that separated the two teams. If the Wildcats don't improve their shooting this week, fans can expect a similar result against Oklahoma State.

food and drink specials

Where are they now?

By Ryne Witt KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A K-State men's basketball player has not been drafted into the NBA since Steve Henson went to the Milwaukee Bucks in the second round of the 1990 NBA draft. NBA teams have drafted 34 players in the Wildcats' history, beginning with Jim Iverson, who was selected by the Boston Celtics

Not many Wildcat players lately have even made it onto an NBA roster. The last K-State player to sign with an NBA squad was Askia Jones in 1994. when he signed a contract with the Minnesota Timberwolves.

The last Wildcat to come close to the NBA was fan favorite Jeremiah Massey. Massey averaged 17.9 points per game and 6.9 rebounds per game during his senior year, and averaged 14.7 and 7.8 during his junior year.

He signed with the Boston Celtics' summer league team in 2005 and played in two of six games, in which he scored a total of four points.

He didn't make the team, and instead looked for playing time elsewhere. He traveled overseas and is playing for Aris TT Bank in Greece, where he is averaging 13.4 points and 8.4 rebounds per game.

He played in the Greek All-Star Game this year and scored a season-high 25 points.

Most players who want to continue their basketball careers after graduating from K-State usually must find opportunities overseas.

After finishing his K-State career last year, forward Dramane Diarra went to France, where he plays for a squad called the Reims.

Perhaps the most surprising Wildcat playing overseas is Pervis Pasco, who is known for the "Pasco Fiasco."

He famously traveled in celebration during the final seconds of the 2003 Big 12 tournament game against Col-

The Buffaloes, trailing 76-74, in-bounded the ball and banked in a 3-pointer to win the game at the buzzer.

Pasco next traveled to South Korea to play professionally.

With the arrival of coach Bob Huggins, all of K-State's future NBA prospects could change.

He began coaching at Cincinnati in 1989, and during his tenure, 13 Bearcat players were selected in the NBA Draft.

Three Top-10 picks and one player, Kenyon Martin, who was drafted No. 1 overall in the 2000 NBA Draft, played for Huggins at Cincinnati.

Last year during the transition from coach Jim Woolridge to Bob Huggins, K-State lost three players.

Here are the updates on those players:

Curtis Alien — When Jim Woolridge was fired, junior to-be Curtis Alien was the first to jump ship. The Long Beach, Calif., product transferred to Oral Roberts, where he sat out this year because of NCAA transfer rules.

While at K-State, Alien averaged 2.4 points and 1.8 rebounds per game as a sophomore and 1.5 points and 0.8 rebounds as a freshman.

Tyler Hughes — Hughes was going to be part of Bob Huggins' inaugural team at K-State but was dismissed for being in the state's sex offender database.

Hughes plays at Henderson State in Arkadelphia, Ark. He is averaging 5.9 points and 4.6 rebounds per game, and has started 24 of 27 games this year for the Reddles

During his last season at K-State he averaged 1.7 points and two rebounds per game.

Mario Taybron — The senior to-be guard was kicked off the team at the same time senior Cartier Martin was suspended. Taybron was dismissed for violating the university's substance abuse policy.

He averaged 4.8 points and 2.8 assists per game last year for the Wildcats.

Needless to say, Huggins has the ability to recruit players with NBA talent, and the players he is bringing in to join the Wildcats already are considered potential Top-10 picks in the 2008 draft.

According to nbadraft.net, Micheal Beasley, who will be a freshman for the Wildcats next year, is slated to go second overall to the Memphis Grizzlies - and he has yet to play a minute of NCAA basketball.

Men's update

1. Kansas (26-4, 13-2) — The Jayhawks are on a sixgame winning streak and have outscored their last six opponents by a combined 143 points. Last game: 67-65 win at Oklahoma

2. Texas A&M (24-4, 12-2) — The Aggies are undefeated in the Big 12 Conference this season against teams that are not coached by Bob Knight. Last game: 97-87 win vs. Baylor Next game: Tonight at Texas

3. Texas (21-7, 11-3) — Freshman Kevin Durant leads the Big 12 in scoring, averaging 24.7 points per game, putting Texas in position to make a possible run at the Big 12 regular-season title.

Last game: 68-58 win at Oklahoma Next game: Tonight vs. Texas A&M

Next game: Saturday vs. Texas

4. K-State (20-9, 9-5) — The Wildcats have not won two games in a row in more than three weeks. Last game: Tuesday at Oklahoma State (late) Next game: Saturday vs. Oklahoma

5. Texas Tech (18-11, 7-7) — The Red Raiders are 3-0 against Texas A&M and Kansas, and those wins will be crucial when the NCAA Tournament selection committee begins picking teams for the tournament. Last game: 59-57 win vs. Oklahoma State Next game: Tonight vs. Baylor

6. Missouri (17-10, 6-8) - Stefhon Hannah is second in the Big 12 with 2.6 steals per game and is part of a Tiger squad that has won three of their last four games. Last game: 82-77 loss at Nebraska Next game: Tonight vs. Colorado

7. Oklahoma (15-13, 6-9) - The Sooners have lost five games in a row and need a big win Saturday. Last game: 67-65 loss vs. Kansas Next game: Saturday at K-State

8. Oklahoma State (19-9, 5-8) — The Cowboys are 0-6 on the road in Big 12 play and find themselves on the outside looking in for the NCAA Tournament. Last game: Tuesday vs. K-State (late) Next game: Saturday at Baylor

9. Nebraska (16-11, 5-8) — Junior Aleks Maric is averaging more than 17 points per game and is first in the Big 12 with a 58.3 field-goal percentage. Last game: 82-77 win vs. Missouri Next game: Tonight vs. Iowa State

10. Iowa State (14-14, 5-9) — Since winning at Missouri in their first game of the Big 12 season, the Cyclones are 0-6 on the road Last game: 89-52 loss at Kansas

Next game: Tonight at Nebraska

11. Baylor (13-14, 3-11) - The Bears are tied for second in the Big 12 in 3-pointers, making 218 attempts. Last game: 97-87 loss at Texas A&M Next game: Tonight at Texas Tech

12. Colorado (6-18, 2-12) - It's hard to find something positive to say about a Buffalo squad that has a lame-duck Patton has lost their last five names ar have only won two conference games so far this year. Last game: 87-71 loss vs. K-State Next game: Tonight at Missouri

— Compiled by Trenton Clifton

Oklahoma inconsistent in Capel's 1st year

By Nick Dunn KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

In the world of college basketball, it's probably best never to get too comfortable. There's no need to look too far for a perfect example.

Just two weeks ago, Oklahoma was one of the hottest teams in the Big 12 Conference and looked like a legitimate NCAA Tournament hopeful. The Sooners were riding a four-game win streak, including victories over Texas Tech and Oklahoma State, and began to skyrocket up the Big 12 standings.

How quickly things change. Oklahoma followed its fourgame spurt with a five-game

PURTS MASSAGE

Check the BODY FIRST

in back of the Campus Phone Bool

587-8300

skid to put itself out of Tourney talks and instead looking forward to a tournament of the three-letter variety (the National Invitation Tournament).

To say the Sooners' season thus far has been up-and-down could be viewed as a an understatement. Oklahoma has gone through three four-game winning streaks and four losing streaks of two or more games.

"It's going kind of how we thought it would go," said firstyear Sooner coach Jeff Capel. "When you're leaning on a lot of inexperience, I think at times you have to expect inconsistency."

The inconsistency has spread even to individual performances, most notably senior Nate Carter.

After not being much of a factor in the non-conference season - he scored 4.4 points per game and never led the team in scoring - Carter's production has seen an increase with the jump in competition.

He is averaging 16.4 points in Big 12 games and has led the Sooners in scoring seven times, including a season-high 24 in a 75-61 win over Texas Tech.

Carter's offensive explosion has been nice, but the Sooners still are lacking, Capel said.

"We've been playing without a guy that can create opportunities for other guys," he ways, Oklahoma has endured a season similar to K-State's.

seven games, but have been unable to put it together night in and night out. Nearly every first-year coach is forced to rely on is defense, and both teams are near the top of the league in almost

The Wildcats have had separate winning streaks of six and every defensive statistic. That, Capel said, gives him hope for the future, as does his players' effort.

"We've had (good times and bad times), but for the most part, we've played pretty hard," he said. "Our defense for the most part has been pretty good, and that's a good foundation to start with. But I'll tell you what, this league is very, very good. I think it's the most underrated league in college basketball, and I feel fortunate to be a part of it."

NOW OFFERING BIOLAGE!

Available in 103 Kedzie 612 N. 12th St * 539-2277 Call 776-5577 Anderson Village • 1441 Anderson Manhattan, KS 66502 Dr. Bullock SUPERIOR & Most Insurances Accepted Dr. Stanley • Convenient Appointment Times Available Doctors of Optometry • In-Office Eyewear Gallery (785) 776-9461 • 1-800-432-0036 98% Of Contact Lenses Fit Same Day

WHERE ARE THEY NOW?

Top left: Megan Mahoney is the all-time leader in assists at K-State with 589. Top right: Kendra Wecker scored the most points (2,333) in school history. Bottom left: Nicole Ohlde had her jersey retired on March 3, 2004. Bottom right: Laurie Koehn is all-time NCAA leader in 3's made with 392.

Former Wildcats have successful careers

By Dayne Logan KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

It's no secret the K-State women's basketball team is struggling this season. The injury to sophomore Marlies Gipson more than two months ago left the Wildcats with a void yet to be filled, but Gipson is not the only one whose departure from the starting lineup has affected the team.

In the last three seasons, there has been a mass exodus of talent from the Wildcat roster. Several star players were lost due to graduation and pursued careers in the WNBA. Others left K-State early and joined different NCAA programs. Here's what the Wildcats are missing this season:

KENDRA WECKER

Wecker was drafted fourth overall by the San Antonio Silver Stars.

In 2006, Wecker started 11 games for the Silver Stars and averaged 16.8 minutes per game in only second season

Recently, Wecker represented the Silver Stars in Hamlin a shooting stars competition at the 2006 NBA All-Star Game. Wecker, along with San Antonio Spurs guard Tony Parker and Spurs legend Steve Kerr, won the competition.

NICOLE OHLDE

The original K-State crossover to the WNBA, Nicole Ohlde perhaps is the most decorated Wildcat woman in the school's basketball history.

Her accomplishments are reason for her No. 3 jersey to hang from the rafters of Bramlage Coliseum.

The Minnesota Lynx selected Ohlde with the sixth overall pick in the 2004 draft. After just one season in the pros, Ohlde worked her way into the starting lineup and never looked back. In 2005 and 2006, Ohlde

LAURIE KOEHN

Koehn, much like Mahoney, was somewhat overshadowed by big names like Wecker and Nicole Ohlde during her career

Her numbers though, were enough to attract the attention of WNBA scouts.

Koehn is a member of the Washington Mystics. She has yet to start a game but has come off the bench when the team needed a shooter. Last season, she shot 52 percent from 3point range.

MEGAN MAHONEY

Mahoney was 34th overall in the 2005 WNBA draft - the same draft as Wecker - by the Connecticut Sun. She is still with the Sun where she saw limited playing time last season.

TWIGGY MCINTYRE

One of two K-State starters to leave at the conclusion of the 2005-06 season, Twiggy Mc-Intyre now plays her basketball at the University of Houston.

This season McIntyre is complying with NCAA transfer regulations by taking a one-year layoff, but she is expected to start for the Cougars next season.

JOANN HAMLIN

Best in Town

After just one season with the team, center JoAnn Hamlin is another player who left Manhattan last summer to join a different NCAA program. Hamlin now attends the University of Iowa where she too is sitting out for a year.

Michael Beasley — 6'9 | 235 lbs. | PF_ Notre Dame Prep School | Fitchburg, Mass.

Beasley made his first appearance as a player in Manhattan on Sunday, and he was better than advertised, if that was even possible The highly-rated recruit had 30 points, 17 rebounds and four blocks in just 26 minutes during the 107-80 rout of IMG Academy in the All-American Shootout. The MVP of the game showed his versatility, scoring on a variety of 3-pointers, post moves and

As impressive as he was on the court, Beasley perhaps made the most noise after the game, when he said he was coming to K-State with the plan of staying for all four years.

Fred Brown - 6'3 | 185 lbs: | 5G - - -William T. Dwyer High School | West Palm Beach, Fla.

The Panthers suffered a shocking end to their season on Feb. 16 when Sebastian River upset them 61-58 in the Class 5A regional quarterfinals. It came as a such a surprise because Sebastian River was playing in its first regional tournament in school history and Dwyer was state champions in two of the past

Brown scored 14 points in the loss, including a 3pointer with 11 seconds left to cut the Sharks' lead to 59-58. After two free throws made it 61-58, Brown's 3-pointer rolled off the rim as time expired. Dwyer finished the season 18-9.

The Palm Beach Post contributed.

Jacob Pullen — 6'1 | 175 lbs. | PG Proviso East High School | Maywood, III.

fourth quarter. The game ended after Proviso East's Nathan Fuqua missed two free throws with 1.6 seconds left that could've tied or won the game. Proviso East sits at 14-3 with a 5-0 record in the Pullen's No. 4-ranked Pirates lost to Marshall the No. 8 team in the Chicago area - 50-49 on Monday. The point guard had been fighting the flu all week, and his play reflected that. He went 4-of-15 from the field and fouled out with 1:13 left in the West Suburban Gold Conference.

The Chicago Tribune contributed.

Dominique Sutton - 6'4 195 lbs | SF The Patterson School | Lenoir, N.C.

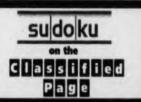

Sutton

The Bulldogs played five games in six days ending with a game Monday night against Charis Prep. The Bulldogs are No. 3 in the latest rankings on hoopsusa.

Phone calls to the school went unreturned, and no other information is availabe at this time.

Photos contributed by Rivals.com

ix, 2-Liter of 8

oin-op Open 24 Hours . Dry Cleaning & Drop off Monday - Saturday Tam-Tom

www.kstatecollegian.com

Thursday, March 1, 2007

Vol. 111, No. 113

3,349 students participate in primary election; 17 votes separate top 2 candidate pairs

By Logan C. Adams
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

It was close, yet not so close.

Polls for the Student Governing Association primary elections closed at 6 p.m. Wednesday, and the preliminary voting totals revealed that 17 votes separated the top two pairs of candidates for student body president and vice president.

Matt Wagner, senior in information management systems, and Lydia Peele, junior in secondary education, were in the lead with 1,514 votes. Jim Mosimann, senior in political science and economics, and Nick Piper, junior in finance, received 1,497 votes.

The two pairs will advance to next week's SGA general election.

Nick Levendofsky, SGA elections commissioner, said the results were preliminary. He said final tallies will be announced Thursday.

Derek Ogan, senior in secondary education, and Aaron Blush, sophomore in architectural engineering, were far behind the leading pairs with 167 votes and will not advance. Steven Hilburn, junior in chemistry and psychology, and Clare Feeley, sophomore in speech, also will not advance, as they received 135 votes

2007 primary election proves

EVERY VOTE COUNTS

MOSIMANN-PIPER: 1,497 VOTES

Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN

President and vice presidential candidates Jim Mosimann, right, and Nick Piper respond after hearing the results of the primary elections. The pair advanced to the general elections next week.

Mosimann, Piper advance in second place

By Austin Apple
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Kite's Bar & Grill went quiet as KSDB-FM-91.9 announced Jim Mosimann, senior in political science and economics, and Nick Piper, junior in finance, had made it past the student body presidential and vice-presidential primary elections.

"I think our campaign team and all of our supporters have done everything possible to put us in the best possible position to be successful," Piper said.

The pair had no regrets going into the primaries, Mosimann said.

Mosimann and Piper earned 1,497 votes - 44.7 percent of the overall votes counted.

Before the results were announced, Mosimann stood up and gave a short speech to those clad in the pair's green campaign shirts. During his speech, he thanked all of those who supported him during the campaign.

"I think people like our message," Mosimann said.

Mosimann and Piper's platform includes four main issues: expanding Peters Recreation Complex, making Thanksgiving break last one week, lobbying for more student parking in the proposed garage and creating an online textbook list.

"These issues are starting to resonate with students, and I think we are running a friendly campaign, and the people are starting to like that," Mosimann

The close final count shows the strength of the two sets of candidates, Piper said.

"I think for this voting turnout there has been more than last year, so it shows that the students are caring about the issues that the candidates are putting forth," he said.

Mosimann and Piper have almost a week before the general election ends.

"The key here in this week leading up to general elections would be to just continue to spread our message for all the students on campus," Piper

During that time, the pair will continue to meet with student groups on campus.

"We have met with 80 student groups so far, and our goal at the beginning of the campaign was 100," Mosimann said. "I think we will be able to hit that number. I really do."

See MOSIMANN Page 12

WAGNER-PEELE: 1,514 VOTES

Joslyn Brown | COLLEGIA

Presidential candidate Matt Wagner and vice-presidential candidate Lydia Peele, celebrate at hearing they received the most votes. The duo won the primary election by just a few votes.

Wagner, Peele win primary by 17 votes

By Joanna Rubick
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

As soon as supporters heard "Matt Wagner," the rest of the results were lost to cheers Wednesday night at Tubby's

Sports Bar.

Matt Wagner, student body presidential candidate, and Lydia Peele, vice presidential candidate, won the primary elections, but it was close.

Wagner and Peele thanked the crowd members for supporting them and asked for their help in the coming week.

"With only 17 votes separating us from second place, we are going to have to push really, really hard," said Wagner, senior in information management systems.

"Tell your friends to vote," said Peele, junior in secondary education. "Get the word out."

Crowd members supported the pair before and after the results with cheers, including the K-S-U chant, mimicking the pair's slogan, "KSYou."

Wagner said he and Peele expected the race to be close, and they plan to campaign aggressively for the general elections.

"Seventeen is really close," Peele said. "I would consider us being at square one."

us being at square one."

The two said their main goal is to show students they care, something they plan to

"We are going to campaign this very evening," Wagner said.

start immediately

Before the primary, Wagner and Peele spent $2,527.31, mainly on T-shirts, signs and chalk. Both said they probably will not spend much more.

"I don't think buying signs and more chalk will let students know we care about them," Peele said.

"We have funds to work with, but our interests need to be talking to students, getting their feedback," Wagner said.

Wagner and Peele are running on a three-pillar platform: academic accountability, studyabroad fee elimination and a financial planning center.

Academic accountability has two parts. The first would require professors to submit textbook orders the semester before to allow students a chance to search for the best price. The second is to put a more structured policy in place for dead week, the week before

See WAGNER Page 12

Clinton to speak after long-time efforts to bring him to K-State

Former U.S. president Bill Clinton will not receive an honorarium, a fee for services rendered by a professional, for his Landon Lecture Friday.

Charles Reagan, chair of the Landon Lecture Series, said universities typically cannot afford lecture costs.

It will cost K-State about $25,000 to set up Bramlage and about $24,000 in shared chartered jet costs to bring Clinton to K-State, Reagan said.

Clinton reportedly has made more than $40 million since 2001 delivering speeches, according to a Feb. 22 Washington Post article.

In 2006, Clinton made between $9 and $10 million in 352 lectures for the year. About 20 percent of his speeches were for personal income, and the others were given for no fee or for donations to the William J. Clinton Foundation, according to the Post article.

Gov. Kathleen Sebelius was a key player in bringing Clinton to K-State, Reagan said. University officials have known for about six weeks that Clinton would present the lecture.

Clinton also will present the keynote address Friday night at the Kansas Democratic Party's annual Washington Days celebration. Past speakers at Washington Days include Sen. Barack Obama, D-Ill., retired Gen. Wesley Clark and former Sen. John Edwards, D-N.C.

The event is open to the public and weekend tickets were available for $125, said Jenny Davidson, communications director for the Kansas Democratic Party. While she was unable to provide exact dollar amounts, Davidson said the party is expecting typical expenses involved with bringing a president to Washington Days.

"We make it a habit at the party to invite prestigious Democratic speakers, but we don't have specific reasons for asking speakers each year," Davidson said. "We have a tradition of bringing prestigious speakers, so we like to continue that."

According to the Post article, Clinton receives thousands of speaking requests each year and accepts only a few hundred. Since 1993, K-State has sent at least one invitation a year to Clinton's administration, Reagan said

"We never give up," Reagan said.

Originally, Clinton was scheduled to present an evening Landon Lecture in either 1997 or 1998 after an appearance in Wichita, Reagan said. However, Former Sen. Nancy

See CLINTON Page 10

Morning showers High: 39 Low: 28

INSIDE

Read the fourth installment of the K-State-based mystery "Earbud Evil" by Logan C. Adams. The fictional story follows Alex as he begins to notice other students on campus acting strangely.

See story Page 8

CAMPUS NEWS HIGHLIGHTS

Event to explain fair trade movement

The Fair Trade Social will take place from 6 to 8 p.m. today in the Equine Medical Center, 1021 Denison. Students and faculty can learn about the fair trade movement and how to browse the market place. The co-owners of "Two Hands World Shop" will give the presentation.

Entrepreneur fair to display area work

The Entrepreneur's Product Fair will display products created by area entrepreneurs from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. today in the K-State Student Union Courtyard. Exhibitors will discuss the process of securing intellectual property, developing products and marketing new products.

Speaker to address effects of uprising

Onesimo Hidalgo of the Center for Economic and Political Research in Chiapas, Mexico, will present "The Politics of Migration After the 1994 EZLN Uprising and the Ongoing Effects of NAFTA on the People of Chiapas," at 2:30 p.m. today in the Big 12 Room of the K-State Student Union.

Baby names | The Social Security Administration recently released the list of most popular baby names from 2005. Male Female 1. Jacob 1. Emily 2. Michael 2. Emma 3. Joshua 3. Madison 4. Matthew 4. Abigail 5. Ethan 5. Olivia

Claflin Books and Copies

1814 Claffin Rd.

(785) 776-3771 Fax: (785) 776-1009

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS	40 Ostrich's	DOWN	11 Not
1 Rue the	kin	1 "Dead	single-run	42 Two-	man's	gender
5 Tucker's	edged	hand"	19 While partner	sword	pair	21 William
8 Detail, for	45 Sailor's	2 Caesar	Tell's
short	assent	co-star	home
12 Wheedle	49 Pumps	3 Chemist	24 Cygnet's
13 Lubricant	up the	Otto	dad
14 Advertis-	volume	4 Mass	25 Rushing	50 Lummox	departure	more fac
award	52 Cereal	5 Hall of	26 New Yor
15 Rever-	selection	Fame	City
berate	53 Awful	pitcher	28 French
16 Story	54 Foreman	6 XX	"a"
of a	foe	percent of	29 Have the lifetime?	55 Impart	XV	slightest
17 Aesopian	tempo-	7 Amor-	interest
also-ran	rarily	phous	30 Moo -
18 Strappy	56 Mid-	mass	gai pan
shoe	month	8 Educate	31 A billion
20 Kept	date	9 Tots'	years
afloat	57 Fuel	scheduled	36 Van Gog
22 Exploit	stat	time	subject
23 Scepter	58 Squirrels'	together	37 Born
24 Urban	hang-	10 Green	38 Colorado fleet	outs	land	city
27 Sticky	Solution tin	ne: 25 mins.	41 "Grastuff		AWESPAN	cious!"
32 Kyoto		GOARGO	42 Sitarist
cummer-	PROVID	ERLORD	Shankar
bund	SANER	DRAMAS	43 Sur-
33 —	RAPTC	USP TOW	rounded budget		MESEVE	by
34 Also	NEOEM	IRBRAD	44 Wander
35 Novice		DAME	46 Vicinity
38 Humble	POINTS	ALIKE	47 Tun

1	2	3	4		5	6	7		8	9	10	11
12					13	$\vdash$			14	T		1
15	T	$\vdash$			16	T	T		17			T
18		T	T	19			20	21		$^{\dagger}$		T
			22					23	t
24	25	26			27	28	29		t	$\vdash$	30	31
32		$^{\dagger}$			33	T	$\vdash$			34	1	t
35	t	t	36	37		$\vdash$	$\vdash$		38		T	t
		39					40	41				h
42	43		+		44		45		1	46	47	48
49	t	t	+		50	51			52	+	1	t
53	+	+	-		54	-	-	ı	55	-	-	+
56	-	+	+		57	+	+	п	58	+	+	+

CRYPTOOUIP 3-1

1204 Moro • 537-8910

$2.00 Bottles

(Bud, Bud Light, Bud Select)

$1.75 Bud Light Pints

3.00 180 Bombs

1/2 Price Margaritas

<sup>5</sup>2.00 Imports and Micros

1/2 Price Salsas

PARTY PIC NIGHT

Now Hiring

labore

"to be'

39 Part of

US EGR ULYPOJJ YGIA SOKULB QRUJTULB DUPM YGIAQGTE AJYA. KGRJT

EGR QA YUTULB DUPM MUI? Yesterday's Cryptoquip: WHEN YOUR WOODEN SHIPPING CASE IS QUITE LOW IN QUALITY, YOU MIGHT CLAIM IT'S SECOND-CRATE. Today's Cryptoquip Clue: R equals U

QUIZZES

Test your knowledge of trivia, entertainment and yourself

The truth: Hollywood's hottest religions

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Celebrities from Madonna to Tom Cruise have made otherwise little-known world religions fashionable and exotic in the United

Unfortunately, the reputations and understanding of many religions have been tainted by celebs' bad behavior and superficial knowl-

Can you distinguish between these religions' true tenets and their Hollywood portrayals?

1. For many years, Madonna was the celebrity face of Kabbalah. Celebrities like Britney Spears, Ashton Kutcher and Demi Moore still practice the religion, a mystical school of thought based on which world religion?

Buddhism Hinduism Judaism

2. Richard Gere brought Tibetan Buddhism to popular culture. Which is not one of the four schools of Tibetan Buddhism?

Nyingma (The ancient ones) Kagyü (Sacred word) Sakya (Grey earth) Dan tien (Center line)

3. Stars from Tom Cruise to Jenna Elfman to Beck practice Scientology. According to "the study of truth," which is not a part of every human?

Mind Heart Thetan (spirit)

MAYBE THEY'RE RIGHT ...

MAYBE A BEAR SHOULDN'T

BE WEARING A DRESS OA

ANYKIND OF CLOTHING ...

4. The founder of Scientology also created the practice of Dianetics — what the soul does to the body through the mind. Who is the founder of both of these schools of thought?

L. Ron Hubbard Ted Haggard Heber Jentzsch David Miscavige

5. Vedism, practiced by celebrities like Mia Farrow, Elizabeth Taylor and Calvin Klein, is based on four Vedas, books claimed to be the oldest scriptures in the world. Vedism was the predecessor to which principal world religion?

Buddhism Hinduism Judaism Taoism

0-1 correct: Try not to base your opinions of world religions on what Britney Spears has to say. Do some research on your own to gain deeper understanding.

2-4 correct: You know the basics of Hollywood's en-vogue religions. Now try expanding your knowledge to religions that have not made Hollywood headlines in the last year.

5 correct: You obviously have put some time into religious studies. Congratulations on having an open mind toward

Vuswers: 1-C.2-d; 3-b; 4-a; 5-b

By Donnie Lee

The planner Campus bulletin board

To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or email the news editor at collegian@spub.ksu. edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

The blotter Arrests in Riley County

The Collegian takes reports directly from the Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Tuesday, Feb. 27

Kristi Ralynn Widener, Ogden, at 8:15 a.m. for failure to appear. Bond was Kristopher Joe Kirkendall, 1020 Houston St. Apt. 9, at 9:23 a.m. for driving with a suspended or cancelled license. Bond was $750.

■ Staci Lynn Clanton, Ogden, at 9:40 a.m. for worthless check. Bond was $339.92.

Antonio Garcia Leonor, Ogden, at 4:55 p.m. for failure to appear. Bond was $1,500.

■ Paul Jesse Sweet, 421 N. 16th St. Apt. 1, at 5:35 p.m. for failure to appear. Bond

■ Mark D. Pretzer, 5705 Elbo Bluff Road, at 10:08 p.m. for disorderly conduct. Bond was $750.

■ Vernon Michael Boltz, 3505 Claffin Road, at 10:45 p.m. for disorderly conduct. Bond was $750.

Corrections and clarifications

Corrections and clarifications run in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call news editor Alex Peak at (785) 532-6556 or e-mail collegian@spub.ksu.edu.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291 020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167.

© Kansas State Collegian, 2007

Clear Creek Independent School District, is part of the Bay Area Houston waterfront community located 30 minutes from Galveston with over 36,000 students and key programs through our partnership with NASA has NUMEROUS OPENINGS:

Secondary level - all certification fields (Openings due to Extensive growth) (New high school opening 2007/2008 school year, Elementary level - all certification fields

CCISD is the only large school district in state to have earned the Texas

Education Agency's "Recognized" rating for 9 out of 10 years (of which, 11 schools in 20052006 earned "Exemplary"). Anticipated sterting salaries are $41,500/yr, with a Bachelors and $42,500/yr, with a Masters. Sign-on bonuses are being offered for specialty positions (mentioned below), if you are hired and able to start by Fall semester (August 16, 2007).

Math (Certified) $ 3,000 sign-on bonus * Science (Certified) $ 3,000 sign-on bonus * Bilingual (Certified) $2,000 sign-on bonus + $3,000 annual stipend

Interested individuals should call (281) 284-0150 www.ccisd.net

Come see us at the Education On-Campus Interview on Monday, March 5" in Bramlage Coliseum.

MAYBE WOODLAND

CREATURES SHOULDN'T

WEAR ANY TYPE OF

HEY! HEY! SMURF-UP!

WE WEAR CLOTHES.

"The Making of the Fittest" DNA and the Ultimate Forensic Record of Evolution (Free and open to public)

Sean B. Carroll University of Wisconsin

Thursday, March 1st, 7:00 pm Forum Hall Kansas State University

Sponsored by Center for Understanding of Kansas State University

No Cover Charge THURSDAY SPECIALS · NO COVER CHARGE 50 DRINKS FRI · MARCH · 250

$1.50 Any Pint

.00 Imports, Bottles & Micros

Red Bull & Vodka

$3.00 Any Sandwich Ham-2pm

aprice Martinis

766 N. Manhattan Ave.

.00 Jager Bombs, UV Bombs & 180 Bombs

Hard & Soft Tacos

ACMEGIFT's

GARAGE SALE

ROYAL PURPLE

we've got the stories you've got to read.

Get your Royal Purple yearbook in Kedzie 103, or call 785-532-6555

GREAT BEND HIGH GRADUATES WE WANT TO BUY YOU LUNCH!

MEET WITH COMMUNITY REPRESENTATIVES

FRIDAY, MARCH 2ND 11:00AM - 1:00PM (COME & GO) IN THE STATE ROOMS (SOUTH END OF FOOD COURT IN STUDENT UNION)

RSVP IS APPRECIATED 620.793.4111

REGISTER FOR DOOR PRIZES & GIFTS BRING A FRIEND!

K-State students attend black student government conference

By Heather Hickerson KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

One might be a small number, but people can bring change to themselves and their communities.

"The Power of One" was the theme for the 30th Annual Big 12 Conference on Black Student Government at the University of Nebraska.

"We can create change ourselves," said Akilah Mahon, president of K-State's Black Student Union and senior in business finance. "One person can change things, but one person can also bring together and create unity in a community." Mahon said the conference consisted of workshops, guest speakers, a career fair, entertainment and an awards presentation. The workshops and guest speakers were educational and motivational, and students also visited the career and graduate/professional school fair. Mahon said nearly 60 employers and graduate and professional schools attended the fair.

K-State student AbdulRasak Yahaya, senior in civil engineering, is the 2006-07 chair of the Big 12 Council on Black Student Government.

"I serve as the voice for Black Student Government and communities in the Big 12 region," he said. "The council serves as a catalyst for our physical, intellectual and spiritual development, also as proactive support for the self-evident right of all people for cultural expression and participation."

Even though Yahaya works with all of the Big 12 universities, he said he understands his role also benefits K-State specifically.

"I represent K-State by utilizing the tools and ideas generated by the K-State BSU and try to share strategies and implement positive change throughout the Big 12," he said.

Mahon said 23 K-State students attended the conference this year, and had to pay or raise the money for the $110 registration fee.

To attend the conference, students had to participate in at least one BSU-sponsored fundraiser, attend dining etiquette and resume building workshops and have at least a 2.5 GPA.

The conference was Feb. 15-18 in Lincoln, Neb. Mahon emphasized the conference was open to Big 12 schools as well as other private and public universities in the Midwest region.

Brandon Clark, graduate student in college student personnel and a conference adviser to all schools in the Big 12, advises the black student government members about how to host a conference.

"It's very important for our students to go, because it gets our students off our campus," he said. "It helps them to network and gives our students ideas from other schools' programs that we can bring back and implement at K-State.

"Plus, the conference serves as a reward to students who are active in fundraising and events that BSU puts on. It recharges their battery and gives them fresh ideas." K-State did not win any awards at the conference this year, but did win Most Outstanding Council in the Big 12 in 2006 in 2006.

"Winning most outstanding council showed our hard work paid off, that we were doing something people were receptive of," Mahon said.

Students are busy all year planning events, organizing activities and arranging fundraisers. Clark said the conference allows students to get recharged, refreshed and ready to tackle the rest of the year.

Mahon said going to the Big 12 conference was a rewarding experience.

Male, female students donate hair to Locks of Love, help cancer patients

By Kristin Hodges KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Dave Hoffman's long tresses are a new look for him. His hair has been relatively short his entire life, and the decision to grow it out went beyond style appeal.

Hoffman, sophomore in mass communications, decided to grow out his hair to donate it to the Locks of Love organization after a family friend was diagnosed with cancer.

He said he has not cut his hair since November 2005.

"It's given me a new perspective and a way to look different," Hoffman said.

According to the Locks of Love Web site, www.lockso-flove.org, the organization "provides hairpieces to financially disadvantaged children under age 18 suffering from long-term medical hair loss from any diagnosis."

The organization asks for at least 10 inches of hair. The minimum length is required because most recipients are females, many of whom prefer long hair.

Because there multiple lengths within each ponytail, it takes six to 10 donated ponytails to make one hairpiece.

Through the organization, children receive hairpieces free of charge. According to the site, if a family had to purchase a hairpiece, it would cost at least $3,500.

According to the site, anyone can cut hair as a donation to the organization.

Brenda Rowe, stylist at Great Clips, 100 E. Bluemont Ave., said the salon is registered with the Locks of Love organization.

She said the salon provides haircuts free of charge when a customer comes in to donate his or her hair to the organization, although there are requirements for the hair donated.

"It has to be virgin hair," she said. "It can't be color-treated or chemically processed."

Hoffman said he first heard about the program through a high-school friend who donated her hair several times. He said he has known people who have gone through cancer treatments and lost full heads of hair. All four of his grandparents have died from some type of cancer.

"It's a really good program that's real easy to do," he said. "I fully support anyone that does it, male or female."

He said this is the longest his hair has ever been, and he plans to cut and donate his hair the first day of spring break.

"Having long hair is quite a burden," he said.

Hoffman said his new 'do hasn't kept him from doing anything he did when he had short hair, but he does have to wear a headband to play sports.

Long hair has taught him the effort it takes to maintain a longer mane, he said.

Hoffman's friends and family have been supportive of his decision and told him it is a noble cause, he said, although people sometimes remind him of what he looked like with short hair.

He supports the cause, but said he doesn't see himself growing out his hair again, because he will want to keep a professional look when entering the workplace.

Kendra Murry, freshman in horticulture, donated her hair in fall 2005 after growing it out

Catrina Rawson | COLLEGIAN

Dave Hoffman, sophomore in mass communications, has not cut his hair since November 2005. Hoffman decided to grow out his hair to donate to the Locks of Love organization after a family friend was diagnosed with cancer.

for five years.

"I heard about it on 'Oprah," she said. "So I thought 'Why not just donate to a good cause?" She said her hair was down to her waist when her hairstylist cut 10 inches off to donate.

Although it was hard to lose 10 inches of her hair, Murry said she would do it again.

"I don't think it would be as traumatizing this time," she said. "In fact, I'm growing out my hair again. I'll probably get sick of it, cut it and donate it again.

strike a pose

these k-staters did

We'll be in Aggieville Thursday, March 1, 9:00 - 11:00 p.m. under Varney's marquee and Saturday, March 3 at Bramlage for the Oklahom game. So bring your friends and strike a pose!

It's free and the best shots will be in the 2007 Royal Purple yearbook.

o see other students who got their pictures taken go to royalpurple.ksu.edu

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

'Proof' of Jesus' existence negates purpose of faith

All you doubting Thomases out there had better re-evaluate your way of thinking. Hollywood bigwigs have done the unthinkable: proven the existence of Jesus Christ.

Or have they?
A documentary set to air March 4 on the Discovery
Channel claims
10 small caskets found in Jerusalem

MEGAN

held the bones of Jesus and his family, according to Fox News.

The documentary is produced by James Cameron and directed by Simcha Jacobovici, who said the fact that one of the containers bears the name of Mary Magdalene is proof this is the real deal. Good Lord.

I grew up a good Lutheran girl, and I'm all for making believers out of doubters, but give me a break.

The very idea that Jesus had a casket, complete with bones, goes against the very belief of his resurrection and ascension into heaven.

Most Christians believe Christ's three days in a tomb were spent in Jerusalem's Old City. The site in the documentary is nowhere near there. Still not convinced?

These "findings" are not even recent — in fact, they were made in the '80s, but nobody cared enough to make any claims then. Only now that American filmmakers have sunk their claws into the subject is anyone taking a second look at them.

Many archaeologists dispute this discovery – even those who first found the remains. The first archaeologist who examined the site, Amos Kloner, said it didn't come close to holding up to archaeological standards.

What I don't understand is why people are so hungry to prove the existence of Jesus and everything that goes along with him. Sure, proof possibly could provide hope and comfort for millions of people, but isn't that why it's called "faith"?

This isn't a new thing. On almost every tabloid cover you can see images of "real" sightings of Jesus, but in the end, isn't this just a cry for help from a world craving knowledge of what happens when you take your final breath?

Faith and religion are not about artifacts or remains. They are about pulling something out of your soul that nobody can touch, no matter what "proof" exists to support or oppose them. That's why it's called a belief, not a fact.

About a decade ago, everyone wore those "What would Jesus do?" bracelets. The answer is, nobody knows, and that's the way it's supposed to be.

Megan Molitor is a junior in mass communications.
Please send your comments to opinion@spub.ksu.

Megan Moser | EDITOR IN CHIEF
Heldi Paulson | MANAGING EDITOR
Alex Peak | NEWS EDITOR
Jacque Haag | CO-COPY CHIEF
Jessi Hernandez | CO-COPY CHIEF
Scott Girard | CAMPUS EDITOR
Logan C. Adams | METRO EDITOR
Lacey D. Mackey | FEATURES EDITOR
Jonathan Garten | SPORTS EDITOR
Cedrique Flemming | IMPOF EDITOR
Effeen Laux | THE EDGE EDITOR
Jonas Hogg | OPHION EDITOR
hristopher Hanewinckel | PHOTO EDITOR

Brendan Praeger | PRESENTATION EDITOR Royce Haynes | ONLINE EDITOR Courtney Sleypen | AD MANAGER Eddle Rogers | ASST. AD MANAGER

WRITE TO US

Letters can be submitted by e-mail to letters@spub.ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters should be limited to 250 words. All submitted letters may be edited for length and clarity.

> CONTACT US Kansas State Collegian Kedzie 103 Manhattan, KS 66502

Display ads.....(785) 532-6560 Classified ads....(785) 532-6555 Delivery .......(785) 532-6556 Newsroom......(785) 532-6556 news@spub.ksu.edu

The feminine critique

Portrayals of activists as radical are inaccurate

On any given day last week, upon opening your Collegian, you likely noticed the f-word splashed across the inside.

No, not that f-word – the more controversial one. Starting with an innocent enough opinion column about the new, female president of Harvard, feminism suddenly became the center of a heated debate.

People wrote letters either to defend feminism or snort at it, and as is inevitable when this word crops up, broad generalizations and wild inaccuracies were tossed around and paraded as fact.

I will not pretend I know everything about feminism. Even with two women's studies classes under my belt and one more in progress, I do not claim to be an expert on this multi-faceted topic. But I do know the radical, man-hating, razor-shunning feminist stereotype exists solely in the minds of the ignorant.

Feminists are not some oversensitive, fanatical group who believe a set of uniform and unyielding ideas. Feminism constantly is evolving, and it is a word that encompasses a vast amount of people and a dizzying array of ideas. To lump all of them together does the movement a great disservice.

Let us take Christianity as an example. Claiming all Christians are the same obviously is inaccurate and unfair. There are a wide variety of beliefs to be found within this one concept. While they share a name, there are many diverse practices, levels of adherence and interpretation of experiences to be found in Christianity.

Just as it would be ridiculous to mistake all Christians for religious zealots, it is likewise a mistake to toss all feminists in with the most extreme members of their group.

The women's studies classes
I have taken at K-State do not promote blind hatred and pettiness, as critics would have you believe. In fact, all have made repeated references to the huge steps this country already has taken towards equality.

But neither are they content to teach students of past successes to encourage our complacency. They push us to constantly question gender roles, personal identity and accepted norms. My classes did not tell students our society is inherently wrong, but demanded we not assume it is inherently right. Since when are skepticism and critical thinking radical ideas?

Contrary to popular belief, not all feminism is concerned solely with women. In the Department of Women's Studies, an emphasis is placed on the equal treatment of all people. Students learn about issues typically linked to feminism like rights for the disabled, welfare and ending racism. There also much time spent educating students about the gay and transgendered communities.

I am continually saddened to see such ignorance and disdain directed toward feminism. As with all movements that encourage people to question societal norms, there has been much opposition to the thoughts feminism puts forth for us to consider. I wonder why so many people seem too threatened to look into feminism and reflect on what the movement is trying to say. You certainly do not have to agree with everything a feminist argues, but listen to the overall message and select which points you think are

That is the whole point – to question and come up with your own opinion. But please, stop portraying feminists as dissatisfied housewives and angry zealots – it vastly underestimates us, and makes you look hopelessly ignorant.

Robin Nelson is a junior in creative writing and literature. Please send your comments to opinion@spub.ksu.edu.

TO THE POINT

An editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. This is the Collegian's official opinion.

Financial gifts not only way to help those in need

Albert Einstein once said, "It is every man's obligation to put back into the world at least the equivalent of what he takes out of it."

We are blessed, not only financially, but with gifts and abilities. Einstein compels us to return a portion of what we receive back to the common good.

In other words, give back. But to what?

Several charitable events are happening around the K-State campus – everything from the American Cancer Society's Relay for Life to fundraisers for the "Invisible Children" documentary.

But a constant onslaught of fundraisers, bake sales and door-to-door-knocking ventures might have made some people wary to give financially to organizations. Some people are zealous for one particular cause and pour all of their resources into that venture. Other people cannot afford to financially give to a cause, no matter how honorable it is.

A host of nonprofit and charitable organizations exist, eager to find ways to garner support among the public. And though you might feel guilty for having to say no to the kind voice asking over the phone for a chunk of your paycheck, there are other ways to give.

Organizations constantly look for volunteers – people willing to sacrifice their time and abilities for any amount of time. Although your pocketbook might not be bursting with bucks, you can offer a few hours of the week to help.

The ways to give are endless. Some people have found other options to give, including the Locks of Love organization's work to collect donated hair to make wigs for cancer patients.

Think of new ways to give back. Refrain from your coffee vice for a week and donate the money to a local charity. Have a yard sale and give the proceeds to someone in need. Take time to think of how you can put something back into the world.

U-COLUMNS

The best opinion columns from campus newspapers across the nation

Wikipedia doesn't get enough respect

Staff Editorial
DAILY FORTY-NINER (CAL STATE-LONG BEACH)

Among the many under-appreciated and misunderstood resources in our world, Wikipedia.com rankshigh on the list.

It is abused by college students.

It is abused by college students,; damned by professors and generally shunned among the 30-and-older intellectual crowd. Now, according to an article in the Feb. 21 issue of The New York Times, it has been banned altogether from a history department at Middlebury College in Vermont. This move, while, shocking, is disappointing for the wrong reasons – students should mover use this Web site as their sole source.

It is a bit embarrassing that college students would even dare to use Wikipedia as their only source.
For those readers who are not yet up to speed on the hotly debated Web site, Wikipedia is an online voluntary encyclopedia that allows readers to submit their own entries and alter others, usually without restriction. The "voluntary" aspect, is what doesn't jibe with many academics who believe the openness of Wikipedia can cause incorrect information to seep into the site, corrupting its validity.

In the case of Middlebury College, the misinformation already has infiltrated the Web site and, consequentially, students' papers. According to the article, six students allowed an egregious historical error into their papers by using Wikipedia for their papers on the Shimabara Rebellion of 17th-century Japan.

The mistake these students made was not their use of the Web site, but that they used it as their only source. Wikipedia is a fantastic resource for primary information and a great starting place for research.

If users need a brief overview of an issue, they often can find it on Wikipedia and get a very basic and superficial understanding of a topic which can help when doing further research. Some entries, however, go into greater detail than some Wikipedia skeptics might give them credit for.

Also, many of Wikipedia's entries are sourced from other, incredibly useful links to credible Web sites that could be used in essays as valid sources. Some event copy information from reliable sources and paste it onto Wikipedia pages. Both Wikipedia's fatal flaw and its charm are rooted in the same characteristic: the ease with which readers can change the content of the Web site.

According to a July 31, 2006, article in The New Yorker, Wikipedia's millionth entry was one sentence on Jordanhill, an obscure train station in Glasgow, Scotland. According to the article, within 24 hours, the entry was edited more than 400 times by dozens of people who knew obscure information, like the fact Jordanhill train station is the "1,029th busiest train station in the United Kingdom" and that it "no longer has a staffed ticket counter."

One aspect of Wikipedia that might be hard to change is that certain subjects are not well-known, and people with expertise probably aren't devoting much time to updating a Wikipedia entry, as was the case with Middlebury College, and 17th century Japanese history.

But, according to the entry on Wikipedia, "An investigation by Nature (a scholarly journal) compared Wikipedia to the Encyclopaedia Britannica and suggested a similar level of accuracy."

The only solution to the poor editing and lack of content for which Wikipedia is criticized is for more people to use it. The more people use the Web site, the more people may feel compelled to improve its content and coverage of an issue.

WORLD NEWS

IRAQ ANNOUNCES SECURITY MEETING WITH IRAN, SYRIA, U.S.

BAGHDAD, Iraq – Iraq's neighbors, including Iran and Syria, agreed to join U.S. and British representatives to discuss the Iraqi security crisis at a regional conference March 10 in Baghdad, the government said Wednesday.

Iraqi Foreign Minister Hoshyar Zebari said he soon will be issuing formal invitations to the neighboring countries and the five permanent U.N. Security Council members – the U.S., Britain, France, Russia and China – to send deputy foreign ministers or senior officials to the conference.

Zebari, in a telephone interview with The Associated Press from Sweden, said the Iranians agreed to participate in a meeting with the other neighbors but "they have some questions" about a separate session that would be held the same day with the five permanent council members.

PRESCRIPTION DRUG ABUSE WILL SOON EXCEED USE OF ILLICIT NARCOTICS

VIENNA, Austria – Abuse of prescription drugs is about to exceed the use of illicit street narcotics worldwide, and the shift has spawned a lethal new trade in counterfeit painkillers, sedatives and other medicines potent enough to kill, a global watchdog warned Wednesday.

Prescription drug abuse already has outstripped traditional illegal drugs such as heroin, cocaine and Ecstasy in parts of Europe, Africa and South Asia, the U.N.-affiliated International Narcotics Control Board said in its annual report for 2006.

In the United States alone, the abuse of painkillers, stimulants, tranquilizers and other prescription medications has surpassed "practically all illicit drugs with the exception of cannabis," with users increasingly turning to them first, the Vienna-based group said.

Vienna-based group said.

Up to 50 percent of all drugs taken in developing countries are believed to be counterfeit, the board said.

AIRBUS TO SHED 10,000 JOBS, SELL PLANTS IN BID TO HALT SLIDE

PARIS – Airbus, steadily losing its market lead to Boeing Co., unveiled drastic plans Wednesday to follow in its U.S. rival's footsteps by cutting thousands of jobs, selling off manufacturing sites and outsourcing more work.

Strikes and protests greeted the European planemaker's long-awaited announcement that it intends to shed 10,000 staff and sell, close or spin off six plants as it struggles to survive the crippling fallout from a two-year delay to its A380 superjumbo and the weaker U.S. dollar.

"We are doing what other companies have done, but we're a bit late," Airbus Chief Executive Louis Gallois said as he presented the "Power8" restructuring strategy.

Company representatives said they will seek to avoid layoffs by using voluntary schemes such as early retirement, but made no promises.

—The Associated Press

Inspection decreases could be responsible for outbreaks

By Allison Voris
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The very agency on which the public has relied for information about contaminated foods like peanut butter and spinach might be at fault for not preventing outbreaks, according to research conducted by The Associated Press.

The Food and Drug Administration decreased the number of food safety inspections by almost 50 percent since 2003. The number of safety tests for U.S.-produced food dropped by nearly 75 percent.

Doug Powell, associate professor in diagnostic medicine and pathobiology, said people should not focus on the FDA in this situation but on industry standards and where foods go before they reach the marketplace.

"The government sets a minimal standard, and the industry itself will set a much higher standard," Powell said.
"It's up to the farmers and processors to provide a safe

The safety level of foods would not increase if the FDA increased inspections, Powell said. To make foods as safe as possible, the culture in processing plants and on farms needs to change so that all employees practice safe food handling, like washing their hands after using the re-

When a problem arises, like the recent issue with salmonella-contaminated peanut butter, the FDA will inspect the processing plant to find how the food became contaminated.

stroom, he said.

"It's like 'CSI," Powell said. "They try to uncover how this happened."

The peanut butter contamination resulted in a recall of Peter Pan and Great Value peanut butter.

Roy Hullet, store manager at Wal-Mart in Manhattan, said people have returned recalled peanut butter to Wal-Mart, but the recall has not stopped customers from purchasing peanut butter.

"I've noticed the other brands of peanut butter have been selling, maybe even more than usual," Hulett said.

Lindsey Friesen, junior in electronic journalism, purchased recalled peanut butter and returned it to the grocery store where she bought it in Newton, Kan.

"I figured I better not take any chances," Friesen said. "I took it back just to be safe."

Although it might seem like food contamination has been everywhere recently, it should not be something to worry too much about, Powell said.

"The people producing this food have no interest in making their customers sick," Powell said. "It's bad for business"

THIS SPRING BREAK say no to hangovers!

"YOU WONT FEEL LIKE CRAP IN THE MORNING" The Best Hangover Cure

- Eliminates the toxic effects of alcohol
- No morning after headaches, nausea or regrets
- 100% Natural, safe and side effect free
- Works great for lightweights too!

Order Cheerz supplements online and save 10% www.cheerzstore.com

discount code: collegian

Cheerz Store

BOWIE SWIES Fats

in the Collegian, the first friday of the mon

√5¢ self-serve copies
Claflin Books and Copies

785-776-4455 • 800-540-6995

1323 Anderson Ave • Manhattan, KS
hairexpertssalonandspa.com

Presented by KSU Opera Theatre KSU Theatre and the Dept. of Music

Rock bottom

5th-straight loss puts Wildcats in danger of finishing last in Big 12

By Dayne Logan KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The K-State women's basketball team closed out the regular season with a 64-55 loss to Oklahoma State Wednesday night at Bramlage Coli-

Despite coming into the game in completely different situations, both K-State (16-13, 4-12 Big 12 Conference) and OSU (20-9, 8-8) had a lot to play for. A win for the Cowgirls would bring them one step closer to an NCAA tournament berth, while the Wildcats were fighting to ensure they stayed out of last place in the Big

"Three games ago, we were 5-8 (in the Big 12) and we went into the locker room and said, 'We can go win these three games," OSU coach Kurt Budke said. "We believed in our team. We believed we could get it done, and now three games later here we are at .500, and we feel like we belong in the NCAA tournament."

K-State started the game with a bombardment of 3-point attempts, and despite making just 2-of-6 in the opening four minutes, was able to establish an 8-4 lead.

Cowgirl sophomore Taylor Hardeman answered a few minutes later with back-to-back 3-pointers and gave her team a 14-13 advantage with 12:37 remaining. OSU never looked back.

The Cowgirls shot 48 percent from the field, while the Wildcats connected on 2-of-8 free throws to allow Oklahoma State to extend its lead to 35-27 by halftime.

OSU junior Danielle Green led all scorers with 14 points in the first half, while her teammate, freshman Andrea Riley, contributed 11 of her own. Junior Kimberly Dietz led K-State with

The Wildcats continued to struggle in the second half, and by the time the 12-minute mark rolled around, they had managed just two field goals. K-State's offensive impotence allowed the Cowgirls to take their first doubledigit lead of the game.

Midway through the half, the Wildcats' frustration became apparent when refs charged both Riley and sophomore Danielle Zanotti with technical fouls.

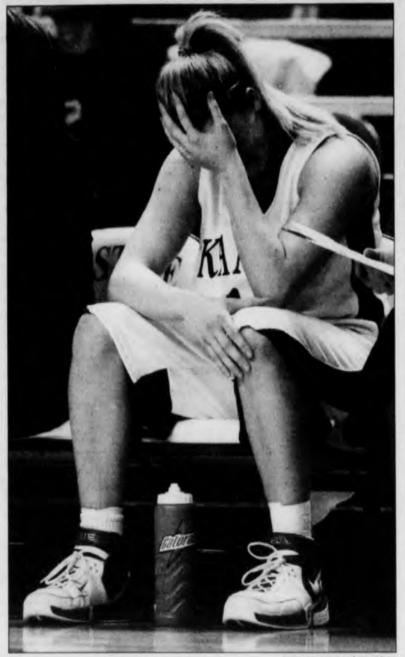

The technicals fired up the crowd but did little to inspire the Wildcats' play. Oklahoma State put the game on cruise control and coasted to a comfortable victory.

Green finished with 24 points for the Cowgirls, while Dietz was the only K-State player in double figures with

"I felt that as a basketball team we didn't bring the quality of competitive intensity you need to bring in the Big 12," coach Deb Patterson said. "They didn't bring that tonight, and that was a major disappointment to each and every one of us.'

Barring a win by Kansas Thursday night, K-State will meet OSU again March 6 in the first round of the Big 12 Tournament in Oklahoma City.

"I can't wait for the Big 12 Tournament," senior Claire Coggins said. "I don't think that we are anywhere near the (point) of giving up."

Catrina Rawson | COLLEGIAN

K-State senior Claire Coggins covers her face during the Wildcats' 64-55 loss to Oklahoma State. Coggins finished her last game of the regular season as a Wildcat with 6 points, 5 assists and 3 rebounds. She could play her last game as a Wildcat Tuesday in the first round of the Big 12 Conference Tournament in Oklahoma City.

Prochazkova overcomes injury, steps in when needed

By Wendy Haun KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

When it came to selecting a college, junior Tereza Prochazkova weighed several options, but a friend's choice to join the K-State women's tennis team convinced Prochazkova to follow her.

"Olga (Klimova) had already signed here so we could come here and be together," Prochazkova said.

Both players are from Brno, Czech Republic. Although they attended different schools, they were friends and competed against each other on the tennis court, Klimova said.

"We've been friends for a long time," she said. "Even when we competed against each other, we were still friends. When we came here, it helped both of us, because we knew somebody here."

Prochazkova and Klimova's stories are similar. After signing with K-State, Prochazkova tore her anterior cruciate ligament in July 2004 and needed surgery and rehabilitation.

Shortly after Prochazkova completed rehab. Klimova tore her ACL and had to undergo the same treatment. "It was nice having her here, because I was far from my family, and I needed someone to support me and help me out," Klimova said. "I needed someone to do basic stuff for me, and she was always there for me."

Prochazkova said she enjoys playng tennis and furthering her education at K-State

"I like the opportunity to get a great education," she said. "I'm glad that I'm here with great teammates and that we like each other."

Last weekend, K-State played without junior Tamar Kvaratskhelia and sophomore Maria Perevoshchikova. The team suddenly was faced with the possibility of forfeiting one singles and one doubles match.

Prochazkova aggravated the same knee that was injured her freshman season in October. She was medically cleared for the matches on Saturday and Sunday, which prevented K-State from forfeiting any of its matches.

"I didn't want us to forfeit the matches, because then the girls would be at a disadvantage," she said. "I also

In the two years since her first injury, Bietau said Prochazkova has come a long way, on and off the court.

"This fall when she came back, we felt like the maturity was there, and she understood how she needed to work," he said. "She knew how she needed to practice to become a better player. She was also healthy so she really had a good semester of work."

Last weekend, Prochazkova's parents traveled from the Czech Republic to see her play in Albuquerque, N.M.

She and freshman Natasha Vieira won in doubles (8-3) to secure the doubles point for K-State.

"Both of my parents traveled with me in the Czech Republic when I went to tournaments in high school," she said. "My dad loves tennis more than anything, and he loves watching me play. He likes coaching me and giving me advice, and that they could be there and see me play was amazing."

Prochazkova is just glad to be back after missing the first part of the dual season and the end of the fall season.

"It was sad for me, and I lost motivation for awhile, because the rehab is so boring compared to training," she

"The fact that I could play last weekend and play well was just a great feeling. It was my call, and I was eager to try, and it worked."

wanted to start playing and get the chance to win." Losing her first semester to injury was crucial, coach Steve Bietau said. said. "That's really the time when you Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN Tereza Prochazkova tore her anterior cruciate ligament during her freshman season learn the most," he said. "Everything's new, and missing that just puts you at K-State. In October, she injured the same knee, but she returned to play last weekend to prevent K-State from forfeiting two matches.

Kansas college teams boast strange, meaningful mascots Kansas is known for its farming

SCOTT

GIRARD

and "The Wizard of Oz," but one thing that slips under the radar might be Kansas universities' odd and sometimes ridiculous mascots. Take, for example, the Wichita State Shockers. The symbolism of shocking wheat makes sense - what else do they do down there? - but one look at the actual mascot on the sidelines could frighten babies and make people laugh at the same time.

The Shocker mascot, known as Wu-Shock, is classified on the Wichita State Web site as "a big, bad, musclebound bundle of wheat." The Wu part of its name comes from when the university was named Wichita University It's a neat idea and tradition, but I hardly ever imagine a bundle of wheat wearing black clothing, shoes and having a "muscle-bound" physique.

Maybe the most interesting mascot in Kansas is the Washburn Ichabod. The name "Ichabod" came from the first name of one of the university's earliest benefactors, Ichabod Washburn. The mascot, a stately man dressed in early 1900s attire, is the antithesis of a college student. The following paragraph is an excerpt from the 1938 Washburn yearbook, when the university adopted the Ichabod insignia:

"He has courage and enthusiasm as shown by his brisk walk. He is democratic and courteous, for he tips his hat as he passes. Sincere in his search for truth and knowledge, he studiously carries a book under his arm. His friendly smile makes you like him. He's neatly dressed and he fits well into his generation, but adapts himself with equal ease to any change or age."

If that's not an intimidating mascot, I don't know what is.

Next on the list is the Kansas Jayhawk. On the surface, the Jayhawk seems normal; the bird has been a staple at KU since the early 1900s.

Taking a closer look though, one should wonder how a symbol for freestate sovereignty turned into a giant blue-and-red bird that resembles Big Bird more than the free-staters of the Civil War era.

The Jayhawk, according to Lawrence Journal-World, is a combination of the blue jay, known for its loud, quarrelsome behavior, and the sparrow hawk, a stealthy hunter.

The idea and the tradition are solid. It's a part of history that should be remembered. Just not as an enormous Sesame Street-looking character clad in giant shoes and a KU jersey.

Now I could not write a mascot column without mentioning Willie the Wildcat. Don't get me wrong, he gets the crowd excited and brings women to athletic events who might not have

See MASCOTS Page 10

1-MINUTE DRILL

Staff Reports

BKW | K-State places 6 on Academic All-Big 12 Team

The K-State women's basketball team placed six players on the 2007 Academic All-Big 12 Conference Women's Basketball Team,

K-State led the confe ence, with the most second team.

selections to the squad. Juniors Carolyn McCullough and Shana Wheeler and sophomores Marlies Gipson.

McCullough

Shalee Lehning and Danielle Zanotti were while junior Kimberly Dietz was selected to the Nominated by each institution's director of student-athlete support services and the media relations offices, the academic all-league women's basketball squad consisted of 33 first-team members combined with 13 on the second team. First-team members are those who maintained a 3.2 GPA or better, and the second team are those who have a 3.0 to 3.19

To be eligible, student-athletes must maintain a 3.0 GPA or higher in either cumulative or the two previous semesters and must have participated in 60 percent of scheduled team contests. Freshmen and transfers are not eligible in their first year of academic residence. Senior student athletes who have participated for a minimum of two years and meet all the criteria except percent of participation are also

McCullough, along with Ashley Paris (Oklahoma), Chelsi Welch (Oklahoma) and Brook Baughman (Texas Tech) earned a perfect 4.0 GPA for the semester

The Associated Press

FBC | Jackson, Brand speak to Congress about Title VII

WASHINGTON — The Rev. Jesse Jackson lamented the lack of black head coaches in college football in powerful language Wednesday, NCAA president Myles Brand and congressmen from both parties

"When African-American coaches do well, we're delighted," Jackson told a House subcommittee. "Only the ignorant are surprised."

Amid the strong words, however, the solution might come in a subtle threat uttered near the end of the hearing. Perhaps, the point was made, it's time to make Title VII do for black coaches what Title IX did for women's sports.

"I think it's pretty clear that embarrassment hasn't been enough," said Richard Lapchick, director of the Florida-based Institute for Diversity and Ethics in Sport. "One of the things we're thinking about is Title VII lawsuits."

Title VII of the 1964 Civil Rights Act makes it illegal for employers to discriminate on the

The criticism of the colleges comes after a Super Bowl in which both teams were led by black coaches: Tony Dungy of the Indianapolis Colts and Lovie Smith of the Chicago Bears. The NFL has made significant strides in hiring black coaches in recent years following the impl mentation of the "Rooney Rule," which forces a team to interview at least one minority.

But at the college level, there are stagger ingly few blacks in charge. Of the 119 Division I-A schools, only six have black head football coaches. There are even fewer in the lower divisions: five in Division I-AA, two in Division ll and one in Division III. The figures exclude historically black colleges.

In addition, there are only 12 black athletic directors in Division I-A, and not a single major conference commissioner is black.

"Sadly, if the pace of progress remains the same, it will be approximately 80 years before we reach a percentage (of coaches) that even approximates the number of African-Americans in the general population," Brand told the House Subcommittee on Commerce, Trade and Consumer Protection. "This is not only unacceptable, this is unconscionably wrong."

The NCAA lacks the power to tell its schools whom to hire — or even whom to interview - so Brand has sought to influence them in other ways. The Black Coaches Association's annual report card on minority hiring has added some transparency to the process, and the NCAA has set up academies for potential coaches.

But those measures haven't been enough to break through the network that picks a new coach. The president, athletic director, search committee, board of trustees and deeppocketed boosters all seem to have a voice, and often they like to play it safe by hiring established coaches. Changing such a culture is difficult, but Brand doesn't think the NCAA needs its own Rooney Rule to do so.

"I think we have all the tools in place," Brand said. "What we don't have is talented, superb African-American coaches brought into the informal networks of athletic directors and others who are making the final recommendations. We need to find a way to open up that closed circle.

Kansas State athletic director Tim Weiser, who hired a black coach two years ago, suggested giving financial incentives to schools who hire minorities, but several witnesses went in the other direction, saying the force of law is needed to tear down racial barriers.

"History has proven that in order for any significant progress to be made in eradicating a social injustice, legal action has been the catalyst for change," said Floyd Keith, president of the Black Coaches Association.

FICTION

Earbud Evil | The not-so-great escape

By Logan C. Adams KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Editor's note: This is the fourth segment of "Earbud Evil," a fictional story the Collegian is publishing daily for the next three weeks. This story follows Alex, a fictional K-State student, as he deals with a campus-wide crisis that threatens the univer-

Though the names of real people will accompany made-up characters, all events are fictional. This is intended for entertainment and is not factually based.

"You're a silly goose, Alex," Katie giggled as she intercepted me before my escape from the Union was complete. "I just wanted to ask why you quit your job last month."

She was referring to the hard time I served at a certain Third Street fast-food prison where she used to come pester me in her spare time. I left when I realized it was more like community service than employment - employed people get actual pay.

"I didn't tell you?" I asked, sincerely confused. Katie shook her head. "Well, the job sucked, so I quit. Is that better?"

She laughed a bit harder than I thought was necessary.

"Alex, what am I going to do with you?" Katie wondered aloud. "You're so tense and neurotic you make a guinea pig

I looked around to make sure Rhett was not about.

"It's been a tough day. I'm just a little off kilter is all," I explained, trying to think of a new subject and going with the first thing that came to mind. "You going to the game tonight?"

Katie laughed some more. I didn't know what made me so

"You've known me how many years, Alex? How many games have I missed in that time? Any?" she cackled at my question. "Of course I'll be there. Wild horses, the plague and a restraining order couldn't keep me away from this one."

It was a silly question, Katie being one of the most savage fans I'd ever known. She asked if I was going with a tone that said my inquiry made her doubt me.

"Yeah, but I won't be too close to the action," I said, thinking about all the crazier fans who were already sitting in line at the coliseum. "It sounds like a few thousand people already have me beat. Why aren't you out there yet?"

She said she had to be in class until 5:30 p.m., after which time she would make an heroic effort to get to the game. Her face made me worry for the safety of anyone who might get in her way. Katie asked when I'd head for Bramlage.

"I have to get a bunch of reading done today so I'm ready when my history professor grills me tomorrow," I mumbled, thinking how every minute I studied put me a bit farther from the action. "I'll be there a good hour or so before tipoff. I hope there's some room left."

We both nodded with sarcastic grins - we knew how packed the coliseum would be at that point. I wondered if I'd be able to make out the basketball or have to watch for an orange blur.

"Well, every second you spend standing around is wasted, so you better go hit those books," Katie ordered after the pause turned uncomfortable.

She was right. I said goodbye and made a brisk walk to Hale Library. A few flights of stairs and I was sitting in Hale's great mural room. The massive hall in the library's oldest area makes you feel like an insect.

I hunkered down and turned some pages, all the while trying not to think about the evening's game against the Jayhawks.

My phone vibrated to tell me I had a text message. It was from Katie.

"Party after game," it read, "my house."

Consignment sale offers children's items

By Elise Podhajsky KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Little Britches Children's Consignment will sponsor its ninth volunteer consignment sale from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday at Crestview Christian Church, 4761 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

Little Britches is a semi-annual consignment sales event that specializes in high quality, gently used children's clothing, furniture, gear and maternity items.

Associate Pastor Chris Ensley said the one-day event is great for parents and families to come and get a good deal on anything for infants and toddlers.

The clothing items for sale at Little Britches range from preemie to juniors. There also will be baby equipment, nursery items, play equipment, sports equipment, shoes, maternity clothing, toys, books, games, videos and video games at the sale

Sarah Gido, co-owner of Little Britches, said her expectations for Saturday's sale are

"I think it's going to be a great sale," she said. "We had over 100 consignors last sale with great quality items. Each time, the sale grows a little bit, and everyone really puts in a lot of effort."

Gido said the sale is completely run by volunteers.

According to Little Britches' Web site, www.littlebritchessales.com, the event is a great opportunity for consignors to clean out and cash in on unwanted children's items.

"We really feel like it's a win-win situation," Gido said. "It's great for consignors, shoppers and everybody involved."

From 2 to 4 p.m., all items will be marked down by 50 percent or more at the consigners' discretion.

Items not sold will be collected by the consignors or donated to nonprofit and charitable organizations in the after-sale party.

Gido said Little Britches has partnered with the Crisis Center of Manhattan and other nonprofit agencies since spring 2005.

"We send invitations through to (these organizations) to individuals who might need items from our sale," she said. "Those who are invited can choose from the items that don't sell or that consignors have chosen to donate and shop for free. It's the best part of the sale."

Shopping Tips

Arrive early (and come back later) for the best deals. Enjoy the sale as early as 9 a.m. and come back between 2 and 4 p.m., when most items are half price.

■ Children are welcome at the sale but please use good judgment when bringing them. It is very busy, and little ones could get into places they shouldn't. If possible, give yourself some alone time to shop with peace of mind.

NOTE: Children are not allowed to play with toys at the sale. Items are the property of consignors and if they are broken or separated they cannot be sold. This will be strictly enforced.

■ Bring along children's sizes and a tape measure. For shoes, trace your children's feet on a piece of cardboard or sturdy piece of paper, cut it out and bring it to slide inside a shoe to see if it fits.

Bring cash or a checkbook — credit cards are not accepted.

■ A hip pack will prevent your purse from slipping off your arm while trying to carry many things.

■ Check out the Web site of the U.S. Consumer Products Safety Council, an independent Federal regulatory agency that helps keep American families safe by reducing the risk of injury or death from consumer products. It lists items that are recalled. http://www.cpsc.gov/cpscpub/prerel/prerel.html

All sales are final, so select items carefully.

-www.littlebritchessales.com

whenyou We can get that for you. Check out the MENU GUIDE in back of the Campus Phone Book Available in Kedzie 103 Mon. Fri. 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Campus Phone Books

WORTH ITS PRICE you can finally Buy in Kedzie 103 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri.

For cats who bleed purple.

Earn free rewards

The exclusive provider of K-State

Wildcat Visa Check, Credit and Alumni Association.

Gift Cards, benefiting the K-State

Get a free gift.

800-222-7458 www.intrustbank.com INTRUST encourages responsible credit card spending. For credit tips, visit our website. Member FDIC

yes you can IIINTRUST

Janie Anthony, senior in mathematics and music education, and Cathy Dowling, senior in music education, perform during the dress rehearsal of "Cosi Fan Tutte" Tuesday evening at McCain Auditorium. The comedic opera opens tonight at 8 p.m. and runs through March 3.

Students to perform comedic Mozart opera

By Eric Davis KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State opera and theater students will perform Mozart's comedic opera, "Cosi Fan Tutte," this weekend at McCain Auditorium.

The opera, which Mozart wrote in 1790, will be a dual project of K-State's departments of music and speech communication, theater and dance. A joint performance by the two department occurs annually.

Reginald Pittman, director of the production and associate professor of music, said "Cosi" will feature 14 student cast members, including six lead singers and an eight-person chorus. A full orchestra will accompany the opera.

The opera revolves around a wager made early in the show. Naval officers Fernando and Guglielmo bet friend Don Alfonso that their fiancées, sisters Dorabella and Fiordiligi, will remain faithful even if pursued by other men. The two men then pretend they must leave on a naval assignment and dress up as strangers. Each pursues the other's fiancée in an attempt to prove Don Alfonso's theory of women's fickleness wrong.

Janie Anthony, senior in mathematics and music education, is one of the performers. Anthony plays Dorabella, one of the sisters who is wooed by the other's fiancée.

Anthony said she is excited about the production this weekend after rehearsing for the last six weeks. She also said it is extremely difficult to sing in a Mozart opera.

"It's an amazing experience being on stage with great sets and costumes," Anthony said.

Cathy Dowling, senior in music education, plays Fiordiligi, the other sister in the production.

"It has been a lot of work, but it has all been worth it," Dowling said when asked about her experience in preparing for the opera.

She also said people who have never been to an opera should go to experience what they are like.

The opera will start at 8 tonight and run March 1-3 at Mc-Cain Auditorium.

The opera originally was written in Italian. However, the cast will perform an English translation of the opera.

Graduate school entrance exam to adopt new format

By Ryan Pfister DAILY COLLEGIAN (PENN STATE)

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. Time is running out for students to register for the Graduate Record Examination General Test before the exam switches formats.

"A lot of time when we introduce a new test, everyone rushes to take the old test before it stops, and the testing centers get overwhelmed," said Tom Ewing, spokesman for Education Testing Services, which administers the

The last day to take the current GRE General Test is July 31, according to an ETS press release. The test will not be offered during August, and the first date for the new test will be Sept. 10.

The new test is significantly longer - more than four hours, compared to twoand-a-half-hours for the current test, said Susan Kaplan, director of graduate programs at Kaplan Test Prep and Admissions. It will focus on skills more directly related to graduate school and will aim to reduce the effects of memorization, according to ETS's Web site, www.ets.org. Also, the test will feature a linear format, instead of the current "adaptive" format in which questions vary according to the test taker's performance.

Ewing said the test could not be offered during August because time was needed to transition to the new format. Students can register for the current test on the Web site. Registration for the new test begins July 1.

Ewing said the current GRE test can be delivered six days a week, but the new test will be administered only about 35 times a year.

To accommodate more students during the reduced number of testing dates, Ewing said the new test would be administered at about three times as many centers as the old test, including university computer labs.

Kaplan said she encourages students to register as soon as possible for the current test.

"We do think the test dates are going to fill up," Kaplan said. "People are looking to take the test before it changes if they can."

Kaplan said the company recommended taking the current test if possible because of the time difference.

"People are going to have to build up that stamina to be able to sit for a four-hour exam," she said.

Kaplan said students planning to apply to graduate programs in the fall should take the current test because scores for the new test will not be released until mid-November.

Kaplan said the company would begin offering programs this summer for the new test. She said information about the change is available at www.kaptest.com/newgre.

100 Holtz Hall • 785-532-6506 • ces@k-state.edu Guiding You from College to Career

Career and Employment Services

NOW LEASING FOR FALL 2007

Check out our model showings now! With 900 apartments in the Manhattan area, we can find a place for you! BEDROOMS 1119 Laramie #5

Mon.Wed.Thurs 5:30-7:00 4:00-7:00 5:00-7:00 1722 Laramie #9 Mon 10:00-12:00

Tues 11:30-1:00 12:00-2:00 Thurs 11:30-1:00

1941 College Heights #4

Mon-Thurs 3:00-5:00 1854 Claffin #14 2:00-4:00 Mon, Wed, Fri Tues, Thurs 4:00-6:00 2:00-4:00

Wareham - 418 Poyntz #603 Fri 1:30 - 5:00 10:00-2:00

Aggie Village - 1215 Laramie 1:00-5:00 Mon-Fri 10:00-2:00

925 Denison #4 1803-1807 College Heights View at 925 Denison #4 Mon,Wed,Frl 6:00-8:00pr 6:00-8:00pm Tues, Thurs

12:00-2:00 Royal Towers 1700 N. Manhattan #203 Mon.Wed,Fri 4:00-6:00 1:00-3:00 Tues, Thurs 12:00-2:00

BEDROOMS 1026 Osage #22 4:30-6:30 Thurs 3:30-5:30 12:30-2:30 2:00-4:00

> 1524 McCain #8 Tues, Thurs 4:00-6:00 12:00-2:00 1419 Leavenworth #2

5:30-7:30

12:00-2:00

3:30-6:00

BEDROOMS 1611 Laramie #2 8:00-11:00an

Mon-Fri

2:00-5:00 BEDROOMS

Royal Towers 1700 N. Manhattan #402

STUDIOS Wareham 418 Poyntz #316

12:00-4:00

1:00-3:00

Mon, Wed, Fri

785.776.3804 mdiproperties.com Saturday Office Hours: 10am-2pm

ACCULLOUGH DEVELOPMENT

RED MOTORAZR™ V3m Motorola and Sprint are collaborating with (PRODUCT)*** to help eliminate AIDS in Africa. JOINRED.COM

This feature-packed phone is the only RED MOTORAZR that lets you download music wirelessly from the Sprint Music Store."

$599

With new line activation and 2-year agreen

Sprint stores

Hablamos Españoi

785-539-4919

JUNCTION CITY

701 N. Washington St 785-762-34344 new extended hours 9a-9p M-Sat, 10a-6p Sun 785-537-3500

EMPORIA Wireless Lifestyle - Sprint 2715 Candley

PREFERRED DEALERS

HUTCHINSON Wireless Lifestyle - Sprint 1511 E. 17th St.

SALINA Modern Electronics 2146 Planet Ave. 785-825-5352

Coverage not available everywhere. Available features and services will vary by phone and network. The Nationwide Sprint PCS-hietwork reaches over 250 million people. Voice calling area reaches over 165 million people in the U.S., Puerto Rico, U.S. Virgin Islands and Guam. Offiers not available in all markets. Additional terms and returns apply splicet to credit approval. See store or sprint.com for details. Service Plan: Up to $36 activation and $200 early termination fees apply per line. Deposit may be required. Instant Savings. Activation at time of purchase required. No cash back. Mail-In Rebate: Requires purchase by Q27/107 and activation by Q3/Q3/Q7. Rebates cannot exceed purchase price. Taxes excluded. Line must be active 30 consecutive days. Allow 8 to 12 weeks for rebate. Free Text Messaging: Text message overage is $0.00 per message. To avoid changes, you must contact us prior to the billing end date of the 12th plan month. Risk-free Guarantee: Call us to deactivate and return (to place of purchase) complete, undamaged phone with receipt within 30 days of activation. You are responsible for all charges based on actual usage (partial monthly service charges, taxes, Sprint Fees, etc.). Project RED: Motoroia and Sprint will collectively make a $17 contribution on the sale of each RED.

MOTORAZR phone to the Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria in Africa. See www.motoroia.com/red or www.theglobalfund.org/len for more details. KS Residents: In those areas in which can be directed to the Kansas Corporation Commission Office of Public Affairs and Consumer Protection at 800-662-0027. ©2007 Sprint Nextel. All rights reserved. SPRINT, the logo and other trademarks are trademarks of Sprint Nextel. All third-porty product or service names are property of their respective owners. All rights reserved.

ties said Wednesday The 26-year-old hotel heiress and star of ticketed for driving with a suspended license on Tuesday, said Los Angeles County sheriff's Sgt. Duane Allen Jr.

Hilton

She was stopped about 11 p.m. after authorities saw the car speeding with its headlights off, Allen said.

"Once we're able to verify that Miss Hilton was driving the vehicle, we will request that the court revoke her probation and set a probation violation hearing," said Nick Velasquez, a spokes-man for the Los Angeles city attorney's office. Hilton could face up to 90 days in jail if a judge finds she violated her probation, he said. "That is certainly one of the possibilities," Velasquez said.

In January, Hilton pleaded no contest to alcohol-related reckless driving stemming from a Sept. 7 arrest in Hollywood. She was sentenced to 36 months' probation, alcohol education and $1,500 in fines.

— The Associated Press

BILLBOARD CHARTS TOP 10

The Hot 100

- 1. Justin Timberlake, "What Goes Around...Comes Around"
- Ludacris featuring Mary J. Blige, "Runaway Love"
- 3. Nelly Furtado, "Say It Right"
- 4. Dixie Chicks, "Not Ready to Make Nice"

Akon, "Don't Matter"

Gwen Stefani featuring Akon, "The Sweet

7. Daughtry, "It's Not Over"

Gym Class Heroes featuring Patrick Stump, "Cupid's Chokehold

9. Beyonce, "Irreplaceable"

10. Fall Out Boy, "This Ain't A Scene, It's An Arms Race

- www.billboard.com

16.7

TV RATINGS

For the week of Feb. 19-25 Viewers measured in millions

Top TV shows Viewers 1. "Academy Awards"

23.6 ABC, Sunday, 7:30 p.m. "American Idol" FOX, Wednesday, 8 p.m. 17.2 "Grey's Anatomy 16.9

ABC, Thursday, 8 p.m. "Road to the Oscars 2007" ABC, Sunday, 7 p.m.

"American Idol" 16.5 FOX, Tuesday, 7 p.m.

"American Idol" FOX, Thursday, 9 p.m. 14.1 13.0 CBS, Thursday, 8 p.m.

122 "Deal or No Deal" 10.8 NBC, Monday, 7 p.m. 10. Two and a Half Men' 10.4

a month of

50 bands will play at five venues in Aggieville through the end of March

SUNDAY

MONDAY

quel to Adam

10 p.m. at P.J.'s

We The Living

Laura Gibson, Emily

Jane Powers, Chris

8 p.m. at The Dusty Bookshelf

Ed Gray 10:00 p.m. at P.J.'s

10 p.m. at P.J's

TUESDAY

WEDNESDAY

THURSDAY

Ten Til Blue, The Mikey Needleman Band, INTHECLEAR

10 p.m. at P.J.'s Bar

10 p.m. at Pat's Blue

Rib'n Barbecue

Nonviolence w/

Barefoot Rebellion

9 p.m. at Auntie Mae's

Jared Pete Gile w/

Russell Lee Loves-

10p.m. at Longhorns

FRIDAY

The Canvas, Whiskey, Pazuzu Cabbage

Corkscrew Boar w/ Crazy Talk 10 p.m. at Auntie Mae's Parlor

No Justice w/ the Bobby Dale Band 10 p.m. at Longhorns

10 p.m. at P.J.'s

The Mikey

10 p.m. at Pat's Jonathan 10 p.m. at Auntie

Needleman Band

Mr. Chazs 10 p.m. at P.J.'s

Truckstop Honeymoon 10 p.m. at Auntie

SATURDAY

KSU Symphony Band 2nd Annual

Benefit Show

Pendergast w/ The Wood Roses

10 p.m. at Auntie

8 p.m. at P.J.'s

Muzizi

10 pm. at Pat's Mother Kali,

Pazuzu Cabbage 10 p.m. at P.J.'s

The Mathematics

10 p.m. at Auntie

Vanessa Peters and Ice Cream on Mondays, Tyler Gregory 10 p.m. at P.J.'s

Johanna Kunin, Margo May, Jack Timber

mike got spiked

10 p.m. at P.J.'s

16

Terror Tractor, Divided By Tragedy, Doomshade 10 p.m.at P.J.'s

8 p.m. at The Dusty okshelf

IODERN RED, Dan Craig Music

10 p.m. at P.J.'s

Senseless Tragedy 10 p.m. at P.J.'s

Essie Jain,

Manipulator Alligator, The

8 p.m. at The Dusty Bookshelf

> Pazuzu Cabbage, Anchondo. THE FEED 10 p.m. at P.J.'s Steve Keith

10 p.m. at Pat's

30 The Pomonas, Crawling with 10 p.m. at P.J.'s

Reckless Kelly w/ 10 p.m. at Longhorns 7daysun, Essence 10 p.m. at P.J.'s

Local musicians play for 'Invisible Children' fundraiser

By Eric Brown KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Last night's performance at Radina's Coffeehouse and Bakery was more than the traditional Wednesday-night showcase of local acoustic musicians. The event raised funds for Invisible Children

The benefit concert, which featured sets by Tyler Gregory, Margo May, Aid, members of the band Shhh and percussion performances by Tim Schuler and John Asperin, required no cover charge at the door. Employees collected donations for the Invisible Children benefit during the show, which lasted from 6 to 10 p.m.

Radina's also donated 10 percent of all drink and food sales during the performances, and the employees on duty contributed all of the night's tips to the benefit.

"We were more than willing to donate the money we made tonight," said Heather Parker, Radina's employee. "This is definitely a worthwhile cause."

Invisible Children Inc. spawned from the documentary film, "Invisible Children," which three college students produced in 2003. The documentary focuses on the children of Northern Uganda, who regularly are abducted to be trained as child soldiers.

Tim Schuler, Radina's music manager, said he first saw the documentary a year ago.

"I was incredibly moved by the film," Schuler said. "And as soon as I heard that they were showing the film at the Union this week and that organization was going to be in Manhattan, it made sense to use our music night as a way of raising money for the ben-

Joey Murphy, known as Aid on the Manhattan music scene, said he was more than willing to contribute his performance to the cause.

Playing shows like these kind of keeps you in check and makes you realize there are bigger causes out there that music can make a contribution to," Murphy said. "It's a very cool thing to be a part the guitar, harmonica and tambourine, Tyler Gregory, freshman at Manhattan Tech, plays the first of four sets for a benefit concert at Radina's. The money raised went to Invisible Children, Inc.

Joslyn Brown

CLINTON | Former president to speak without fee

continued from Page 1

Landon Kassebaum Baker, R-Kan., Landon's daughter, was not going to be able to attend the lecture. Clinton wanted Kassebaum Baker present so he could thank her, so he asked to reschedule.

Upon his impeachment in 1998, Reagan said Clinton was not scheduling any speaking events, and after his presidency, he spent time in the Middle East and in Africa.

Clinton is the only U.S. president since Richard Nixon who had not given a Landon Lecture.

Since the Landon Lecture Series' start in 1966, six U.S. presidents and three foreign presidents have presented Landon Lectures.

Coincidentally, there were no Landon Lecturers at K-State in 1998 due to Clinton's impeachment and public figures' hesitancy to leave Washington, D.C., Reagan said.

Clinton's appearance at K-State comes approximately four months after former U.S. Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld's Landon Lecture and 14 months after the appearance of President George W. Bush.

Reagan said he and K-State

President Jon Wefald make a list each year of speakers they would like to invite for Landon Lectures. They also take suggestions for potential speakers from students and faculty members, Reagan said. Although the recent roster of lecturers seems to favor Republicans, Reagan said he looks for political balance in speakers who come. Also, it is often the speakers' schedules that decide when they can present a Landon Lecture, he said.

"We have lots of invitations out all the time," Reagan said. "We generally cannot control who can come when."

Clinton's college lectures

Bill Clinton earned about $31 million in speaking fees from 2001 to 2005, according to Hillary Clinton's Senate ethics reports. The following is a list of several college- and university-related venues at which he has delivered lectures with the date, followed by sponsor and payment:

■ March 26, 2001, Salem State College Foundation, $125,000

Dec. 13, 2001, The London School of Economics, $28,100

■ Jan. 31, 2002, Educational Institute of AHLA, $125,000

March 13, 2002, Tufts University,

May 6, 2002, Hunter College Founda-

■ June 11, 2002, The American University in Dubai, $150,000

— The Washington Post

MASCOTS | Despite odd characteristics, mascots popular with fans

continued from Page 6

attended otherwise. Overall, Willie is a cool cat. Except for the concept of a giant cat head with a human body.

Originally, Willie was a full wildcat. However, according to the K-State Web site, this outfit made Willie look too similar to Mickey Mouse.

In 1967, sculptor Jim Hagan created the first Willie head. It had a more fierce visage, according to the Web site.

Over the years, Willie transformed into a more receptive mascot. One question remains, though: Why just the enormous cat head? I would understand such a costume if we were the K-State Cat-men, but that simply is not the case.

K-State is not the only university with a Willie the Wildcat. Northwestern University also has a Willie roaming the sidelines. NU's Willie is fully clad, though, and looks like an enormous recreation of Tom from the "Tom and Jerry" cartoons. So maybe our Willie the Wildcat isn't that bad after

The truth is, people like mascots whether they are ridiculous or not. They provide side entertainment and allow fans a different glimpse of the game.

Although the aforementioned mascots are unconventional and sometimes silly, they represent the traditions and history of their respective universities, no matter how idiotic they seem to other schools.

Mascots are not created to help players on the field or intimidate other teams or players. They serve as liaisons from the football team to the crowd and represent sports history, whether they are a fierce bundle of hay with arms and legs or a stately collegian.

Scott Girard is a sophomore in print journalism. Please send comments to sports@ spub.edu.edu.

PUZZLED

Tim Wilkins, freshman in pre-professional secondary education, takes a break from his homework by working on a puzzle at Moore Hall Wednesday after-

Once in a Lifetime -To announce your milestone, visit Kedzie 103. To advertise, call 532-6560.

Congratulations to the Fall 2006 Pledge Class of

Bryce J. Bartu Trent R. Byquist Colin R. Cummings J. Paul Fangman, Jr. Jeffrey G. Ferguson Kevin W. Goebel Jacob S. Kaunley Jared M. Keating Scott A. Lange Daniel J. Long Adam H. Love Jay K. Marcus William H. Miller

Philip B. Newman Joseph W. Norris Patrick H. O'Flynn Joshua W. Oller Aaron M. Ortbals Adam B. Pfautsch Nicholas L. Rauth Jeremy F. Ruff Jared M. Schnefke Tyler F. Shepherd Ryan P. Thomas Austin G. Waldo Calen M. Young Carter B. Young

Alpha Tau Omega

Alpha Tau Omega

Alpha Tau Omega

NEW: AGGIEVILLE PICK-UP STATION (Calling for cab from Aggieville not necessary)

Two ways to get a ride home!

 Aggieville Pick-up Station at the 12th & Bluemont Willie's Car Wash

. Call 539-0480 if not in the Aggieville area

Every Weekend! Thursday, Friday, and Saturday 11pm - 3am

A free service provided by the K-State SGA.

CLASSIFIE

Classifieds continue on the next page

Bulletin Board

010 Announcements

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five air-Call 785-776-1744, www.

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three

lousing/Real Estate

Rent-Apt. Furnished

Manhattan CITY Ordinance 4814 assures evnityinhousing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, na-tional origin or ancestry. Violations should be re ported to the Director of man Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

Rent-Apt. Furnished

Apply At: 532-3790

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

MANHATTAN CITY Ordinance 4814 assures ev ery person equal opportunityinhousingwithoutdis tinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, on, age, color, national origin or ancestry ported to the Director of ian Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

Need a New Place to Live? Check the Classifieds!

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

1117 VATTIER. New all electric. Two-bedrooms, appliances furnished, no pets. Close to campus. 785-539-1975 785-313-8292.

1219 KEARNEY One bedroom. June, year lease. Water/ trash paid. Next to campus, off street parking. No pets. $350. 785-539-5136.

1219 KEARNEY, TWO-BEDROOMS. August, year lease. Water/ trash paid. Next to campus, off street parking. No pets. $660, 785-539-5136.

ALLIANCE PROPERTY MANAGEMENT, One-bedroom. June, July, August. 785-539-4357. www.rentapm.com

AVAILABLE JUNE 1, onebedroom, large, clean. Only pay electricity. Small pets allowed. Balcony month. 785-341-7289.

CLEAN TWO-BEDROOM in four plex with washer dryer in unit. Water and trash paid. No pets, $500/ month. 785-539-2356

ONE, TWO, four, five-bedroom apartments/ houses for June and August leases. 785-564-0857.

ONE, TWO, three, and four-bedroom apartments Close to campus and aggieville. Parking and laundry. 785-539-5800.

ONE, TWO, three, four, five, six bedroom apartment/ houses next to campus. Washer/ dryer, cen-Pets. No 785-537-7050.

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

THREE-BED-ROOMS, near campus. August lease, pets ok. 785-776-2051.

ONE-BEDROOM ACROSS the street from campus. $425 per month. No pets. Available June/ August. 785-313-7473.

ONE-BEDROOM APART-MENTS in quiet six-plex at 1811 Platt. Available 1st. Unfurnished, central air, parking, water and trash paid. No pets. $375 per month. Call KSU Foundation

785-532-7569

785-532-7541 ONE-BEDROOM TO fivebedrooms. Apartments, duplexes and homes. Most close to campus. Some farther away. June or August leases. Check out our website www.emeraldpropertymanagment.com or call Emerald Management

785-587-9000 for more in-PLACE Apart-One- Bedrooms ments. Summer/ fall leasing. Pets welcome. One- half mile from KSU at Seth Child and Claffin. 785-539-2951.

PARK PLACE Apartments. Two- bedrooms. ets welcome. Summer Fall leasing. One- half mile from KSU at Seth and Claffin. 785-539-2951

THREE AND four-bedroom apartments available in August. Close to campus. Water and trash paid. Coin operated laundry. 785-537-7810, 785-537-2255.

bedrooms, close to campus, central air, dish washer, laundry facilities. No pets, available Febru-1. 785-539-0866

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

TWO-BEDROOM SPE CIAL at Park Place Apartments. $495 rent plus free cable through July '07.

TWO-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus. Per sonal washer/ dryer. $645month 785-341-4496

TWO-BEDROOM, many sizes and prices. June of August. 785-341-0686. WHY RENT WHEN YOU CAN BUY? Condos for

Two and three-bedroom starting at $112,650. collegiatevilla.com 785-537-2096 WILDCAT VILLAGE. Available June or August four-bedroom, two bath

dryer,

room, $1400. Cable paid. 785-565-3760. www.village-rentals.com. arge 2 Bedroom Apts

Spacious Duplexes Custom built with the

K-State student

Each duplex features walk-in closets, all kitchen appliances, washer/dryer, off street parking, phone and cable connections in every room, security lighting, trash and lawn care

Security deposit is the same as one month's rent. The lease period begins August 1

4 Bedrooms, 2 Baths 1,300 Sq. Ft. ONLY $1,150/mo

Sorry, No Pets! Quiet Neighborhood, Convenient and Close to Campus. Day: 313-0751 Night: 537-4682

Rent-Apt, Unfurnished

1420 Beechwood Terrace Newer Apartment Lg. 2 & 3 Bedrooms 11/2 Baths

Energy Efficient On a Wooded Secluded 2 Acre Lot with Creek

Washer/Dryer

Amenities:

Washer/Dryers or

hookups available

• Garages Available

Peaceful Garden

Enormous Closets

GEORGETOWN

776-8080

www.GeorgetownApts.net

Preleasing!

Spacious 1 & 2 Bedroom

Few Spaces Remain for

• Upper Classmen

Amenities

Private Fitness Center

Abundant Parking/Garages

Customer Service

· Graduate Students

Quiet Park-Like Setting On-Site Laundry • Enormous Closets

Three-Time winner of the Netional Multifamily CEL Award for the #1 is Customer Service in America!
 Dri Site Management Office

Full-time Maintenance Personn

Stonin Center

Setting

On-Site Manageme

ate Fitness Center

$740 & $885

341-4024

NOW LEASING

Cambridge Square Pebblebrook

Close to Campus

537-9064 • 2000 College Hts •

*1114 Fremont*
*519 Osage*

WESTCHESTER PARK Advertise in the Classifieds

776-1118

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

FOUR-BEDROOM Pre-lease Today for $1280. nice, washer/ dryer hookups, off-street Spring! parking, great location, no campus, central Only A few homes remain smoking. 785-532-8256.

> roommates in four-bedroom duplex. 500 Laramie. $285 per room. Washer/ Dryer. 785-410-2916 785-447-0852.

THREE-BEDROOM UNIT, located at 8/ 802 North 5th. No pets, $975/ 785-564-0372.

two, three, four-bedroom. No smoking, no drinking, no pets. 785-539-1554

> 120 Rent-Houses

1015 PIERRE. Very nice, four-bedroom. Fenced in back yard. Spacious Washer/ July or August lease. All pets considered. 785-770-2161.

1310 N. 11th. Two-bed-June lease. No close to campus. 785-539-1975 785-313-8292

1417 NICHOLS, four-bedrooms, family room. 1909 Kenmar, three-bedrooms. two bathrooms, washer/ dryer, garage game room, tenced yard/ oatio. 785-539-1177.

502 FREMONT, three-bedroom, one bath, no pets. 785-539-1975

Rent-Houses

AVAILABLE JUNE cated at 1501 Harry Road. Two blocks west of washer/ yard. 785-539-3672.

apartment. Two-bedroom two bath, full kitchen, patio. $385 per month per person. All utilities cluded. emilyf@ksu.edu. FIVE-BEDROOM, TWO bath house for rent. 931 Vattier. June lease. Washer/ dryer, window airconditioning. Fenced backyard, pets allowed. Off month. 785-539-4949. FIVE-BEDROOM. June.

August. Alliance erty Management. Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rentapm.com FOR RENT. Newer four bedroom duplex. Good location with dishwasher, washer and dryer. No 785-537-7597.

FOUR TO five-bedroom's two bath, washer/ dryer, central air, dishwasher. 785-532-9564

FOUR-BEDROOM AND six-bedroom houses Close to campus and Aggieville. Parking and laundry. 785-539-5800.

FOUR-BEDROOM, ONE bath house for rent. 900 Vattier. June lease. Washer/ dryer, central air-conditioning. Fenced backyard, pets allowed. $1200/ month. Party shack and garage 785-539-4949. FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO and one-half bath, August August 1. $975 per month. Knight Real Estate. Call 785-539-5394

Deadlines

placed by noon the day before you want your a to run. Classified displa ads must be placed by p.m. two working day prior to the date you want your ad to run.

CALL 785-532-6555

Classified Rates

1 DAY

20 words or less $10.50

each word over 20 20¢ per word

2 DAYS

20 words or less $12.95

each word over 20

25¢ per word

4 DAYS

LET'S RENT

Four-bedroom, two baths.

furnished. Neutral colors with nice, new baths.

Two large, sunny three-bedroom ($750). Laundry.

Water, trash paid. No

820 OSAGE, 1524 Pipher

3100 James, all four-bed-

A SIX or seven-bedroom house, three bathrooms.

modern appliances. Close two and one-half baths, in-central air, neutral colors

pets. Call 785-313-4812.

785-313-5573 Doug.

Aggieville

Laramie

washer/

316-393-9628.

August

August. 785-304-0387.

price.

June

fordable

785-313-4812.

530-342-1121.

785-317-7713.

1. 785-317-7713.

10K APARTMENTS spa cious two-bedroom aparttwo blocks east of camat 1010 Kearney Quiet street, quality stuliving. Large Lshaped kitchen, dish-washer, air conditioning, sound proofed, well insu-lated, low utilities, laundry room, no pets. June 1lease, $580. Call

785-539-2536 1215 POYNTZ, two-bedrooms, across from city park with off-street park dryer. Neutral colors with total re-model. Water and trash paid. June lease. No

1628 FAIRVIEW. Quiet one-bedroom ($400) and Studio ($375) near KSU Laundry. Water, trash paid. No pets, no smoktrash JUNE. 530-342-1121

350 N. 16th. Two blocks to K-State and Aggieville. Clean, quiet, private parking. No smoking, no pets. $580. June and August leases. 785-539-5508 or 785-564-0857.

JUNE LEASE two-bed room apartment. Walk to campus. Excellent condition/ location. http://www.rentkstate.com

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM Bills paid. 785-762-7191.

TWO-BED-ROOM, available June. Balcony, fireplace and dishwasher. Very close to Call 785-317-3780.

PRE-LEASING JUNE and August. Some units brand washer/ dryer included. 785-776-2102. youngwilks@yahoo.com, www.wilk-

120

THREE-BEDROOM WITH

TWO AND three-bedroom. Close to campus. Central air, dishwasher, coin operated laundry facility. Available June or No 785-537-1746 785-539-1545.

Rent-Duplexes

four-bedroom, two bath. dryer, central $1160

PIERRE, Pomeroy, $1100 - $1200. Four-bedroom, two bath, washer/ dryer, dish-washer, central air. Auwasher/

Rent-Houses

rent-apm.com

rent-apm.com

MANAGEMENT

537-2332

8" & Moro

2BR - $850

3BR - $1,300

4BR - $1,700

14<sup>6</sup> & Fremont

4BR - 21/2 Bath

$1,650

Anderson Village

1BR- $525

2BR - $700-725

1501 Poyntz

House - $750

3BR - 2 Bath

1509 Poyntz

House - $600

1BR - 1Bath

315 Poyntz

1BR - $650

Fall Leasing

125

Sale-Houses

CONDOS FOR SALE.

starting at $112,650. colle-

three-bedroom

Two and

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, nice sized bedrooms. Central air, two Mrs. Kim, 913-681-9959. 1420 Vista Lane, two and one half blocks

campus.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath two kitchens. to campus. 785-341-9459.

316-680-1709.

FOUR-BEDROOM JUNE, July, August. Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rent-apm.com

HOUSE: 2031 Four-bedroom, two bath, June 1 lease. Two, half-duplexes, four-bedroom, washer/ dryer included. $1200/ month, 785-539-2357 or 785-341-8576

ONE TO five-bedroom apartments and houses campus 785-539-1975 785-313-8292

ONE-BEDROOM TO fiveduplexes and homes Some farther away. June or August leases. Check out our website www. emeraldpropertymanagment.com or call Emerald Management 785-587-9000 for more information. SEVEN TO eight-bedroom (two kitchen). June, July, August. Alliance Property Management 785-539-4357. www.rent apm.com

SIX-BEDROOM kitchen). June, July, August. Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rentapm.com

SPACIOUS FOUR-BED-ROOM, two Washer/ dryer, nice kitchen. Near City Park Available May 1. $1100/ utilities. plus 785-313-1886.

THREE, FOUR, FIVE, SIX PLUS BEDROOMS. Look ing for that perfect home rent? Great selection and prices. Capstone M a n a g e m e n t 785-341-0686.

FIVE-BED THREE-ROOMS, near campus August lease, pets ok. 785-776-2051.

THREE-BEDROOM son. Available June 1. Unfurnished, off-street park ing. $750 per month. Call Foundation 785-532-7569 785-532-7541.

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

porch and sunroom, 511 emont, August 1 lease, laundry included, no pets, 785-313-0462, leave message.

1111 WHARTON Manor four-bedroom lower level duplex with neutral dryer furnished. 817 Vattier, three-bedroom lower level duplex with new carpet, neutral colors and washer/ dryer hook-ups. Very reasonable rent with great space in both du-June lease. plexes. No pets. Call 785-313-4812.

Rent-Houses

1001 KEARNEY Four Bedroom, also have Three, Seven-Bedroom houses. All JUNE 1 rentals. Pets OK. 785-317-7713.

Freemont, 1118 Ratone, - $1300. Doug. 785-313-5573.

gust lease. 785-313-5573, Doug.

plus 1245

Sale-Houses

Two

dryer,

at

FABULOUS UPDATED full bath. $810, 917 Bluecar garage, washer/ dryer. No pets/ smoking. $1400/ month, available in Au-> Roommate Wanted THREE-BEDROOM JUNE, July, August. Al-liance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.-

FEMALE seeks two female gradstu-dents starting fall 2007 TWO-BEDROOMS August to May lease, New JUNE, July, August. Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.three-bedroom, two bath house with washer/ dryer $350 plus one-third utiliies. Call 847-975-1484.

FEMALE HOUSEMATE. VERY CHARMING brick No drinking/ smoking. $295/ month. One-third ranch. 2505 Winny. Threeutilities, washer/ dryer, Auquiet neighborgarage, lease. No pets, $950. 1 lease. Ryan ca313@ksu.edu, 785-537-1464

785-313-0455, FEMALE ROOMMATE 785-776-7706. wanted through July. Twobedroom duplex. Washer/ dryer, and storage. Rent and utilities negotiable. WILDCAT Amanda at, PROPERTY 913-216-4838.

MALE, WALK to class, all washer dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, pets, 785-539-1554.

ROOMMATE NEEDED until May 31. Rent $275/ month plus one-fourth utili ties. Washer/ dryer, dishwasher in house. Call 785-537-3737.

ROOMMATES NEEDED for two bedrooms in five bedroom house. Next fall. Close to campus. Outdoor welcome. 620-382-7241.

ROOMMATES NEEDED two bedrooms in six-bedroom house two blocks to campus, three blocks Call 913-775-0465.

> 150 Sublease

HOUSE SEVEN minutes from campus. $200.00 per Call 913-961-5929

SUBLEASER NEEDED for Spring 2007 semester. $315/ month. Four-bedapartment. month's rent paid, cheap utilities. 913-495-2558 or 913-406-1034.

SUMMER SUBLEASE One-bedroom, $390 plus utilities. Close to Ag allowed. pets 913-980-5161.

SUMMER SUBLEASE two-bedroom, one bath. $430/ month plus utilities. 785-643-1923. giatevilla.com 785-537-2096. equal 785-577-4451.

NEXT TO campus, one Central air, washer/ dryer houses, and apartments Washer/ dryer, central air. Available now or fall. No pets. 785-537-7050.

rooms, utilities paid, washer/ dryer. Near cam-200 N. 11th. On City Park. pus and city park. August 1. 785-532-9564. pets, no smoking. 1 JUNE

AUGUST. ONE-BEDROOM bath, washer/ dryer, no 515 $340 plus utilities. August lease, Call Monday - Frirooms, two bath. June 1, day, 785-776-4805.

THREE-BEDROOM TWO Two blocks to KSU. June bath, washer/ dryer, no 515 $825 plus utilities. August lease. Call Monday - Fri-BEAUTIFUL REMOD-ELED homes, 1612, 1614 day, 785-776-4805. two bath, fresh carpet/ paint. New kitchen, bath,

THREE-BEDROOM TWO to campus. Move in June; 1205 1207 June Pomeroy. washer. central month. 785-313-5573 Doug.

washer/ dryer. No pets. AND three-bedrooms. Two blocks to campus. June and August FIVE-BEDROOM leases. No pets, laundry HOUSE. Walk to campus. hook-ups, central Two kitchens, fireplaces, $295/ bedroom 785-336-1124. washer/ dryer furnished,

No TWO-BEDROOM ment apartment. Washer pets. month. Cheap utilities. Available August 1. 1211 dryer, dishwasher, central Thurston. 785-868-3471 month. call after NEW LISTING, available

June 1. Four to five-bedroom house located east bath, attached garage. Central air, appliances, bath. washer/ dryer. No pets dish-August, washer, central air. Lease 785-537-8420, utilities. 785-341-5346.

150

TWO-BEDROOM APART-MENT, walk to campus, one-half bath, brick ranch $620/ month includes utilities. 785-275-1409 leave

Employment/Careers

310 Help Wanted

THE COLLEGIAN cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in classification. are advised to approach any such business opporwith

tion. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, SE Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSIS-TANT- Networks Plus, the leader in providing business computer services has a full-time position available in Manhattan, KS. This challenging position requires the ability to priorities while maintaining a positive and ener-getic attitude. $12/ hour, full-time only, opportunities for advancement. E-mail resume in Microsoft

Word or text format to: jobs@networksplus.com.

AS NEEDED JUVENILE INTAKE AND ASSESS-MENT OFFICER. Biley County Community Corrections is accepting appli needed, on-call juvenile intake and assessment offi-cers. Minimum require-Hourly school diploma. rate for call-out duty is $10. On-call reimburse ment is $30/ day. On-call officers work a rotating oncall schedule, with usual schedule being one week of on-call duty every 8- 10 weeks. Law enforce ment experience or direct experience working with iuveniles is preferred Valid driver's license and ability to work flexible hours is mandatory. Appli cations can be obtained from Riley County Clerk's Office, 110 Courthouse Manhattan, Plaza. 66502, or visit our website, www.rileycountyks.-

opportunity

TOR: KANSAS STATE dent services. Job require-ments: bachelors degree, excellent written and verbal communication skills, excellent organizational skills, ability to multi-task environment, experience in event planning and coordination, demonstrated proficiency in multiple computer programs (in-cluding MS Office Suite), experience ing knowledge of data fil-ters. The successful individual will be self-motivated, have a team attitude and be committed to a constituent- driven service philosophy. Salary range of $29,000 to range of $29,000 to $34,000. Position avail-maintenance crews. sa4,000. Position avail-maintenance crews. able June 1, 2007. Send is for full time and part application, re-time help, with flexible for students, letter of application, re-time help, with flexible sume or vita and contact schedules for students. information for three work-related references Search Committee, KSU, Student Services, 122 Anderson Hall, Manin, KS 66506. Screen ing will begin March 9 and continue until position is filled. KSU is an Equal Opportunity Employer and acseeks diversity employees. Paid for by KSU.

BANK TELLER. ate opening for full-time front line and/ or drive-up teller. Looking for outgo ing. energetic, professional, service oriented person. Prior bank or is a plus but not required. Forty hour work Great hours. Great benefits. Apply at Kansas State 1010 Westloop Manhattan, Equal Oppor-

BARTENDING! $300 a day potential. No experience necessary. Training 1-800-965-6520 ext. 144.

CAMP TAKAJO Naples Maine, noted for tion, exceptional facilities. Mid- June through mid-August. Counselor positions in tennis, baseball, basketball, lacrosse, golf, flag football, roller hockey, swimming, sailing, water skiing, gymnastics, dance, horse back riding, archery, weight training, newspaper, photography, video, woodworking, ceramics pottery, crafts, fine arts, jewelry. copper enamel, nature study, radio/ electronics, theater costumer, piano accompa nist, music instrumentalbackpacking, climbing, canoeing/ kayaking, ropes course, secretarial, nanny. Call Takajo at 866-356-2267. Submit application online at takajo.com. COMPLETE OUTDOORS Inc. seeking all positions landscape, irrigation, maintenance. 785-776-1930.

DISC JOCKEY. Are you a people person? Do you want to earn extra money while actually having fun? www.kansasdiscjockey.com/dj

EASTER HELP needed at Manhattan Town Center location. Manager pay $455/ week, Easter Bunny $8.50/ hour. Call Becky 1-800-422-8967.

FOUR LANDSCAPING positions available Downey-Lawn.com looking for two college summer interns horticulture industry and two part time workers. Housing Included. Preferring well rounded individuals with an imagination, drive, and ability to work hard. Apply in person or Call Nathan Downey toll LAWN(5296). See

DowneyLawn.com details Downey Box 1, 303 E. Soule Ingalls, KS 67853

ind a Help Wanted Section

HARVEST HELP wanted Late May through August. Pays well. 785-587-1956,

HAY COMPANY in search of summer workers, farm experience needed. Excel-lent wages. 785-564-2590. HORTICULTURAL SER-VICES, Inc. is seeking reli-

als for full-time or partour retail garden center Above average wages commensurate with expe rience and abilities. Apply in person at 11524 Landscape Lane, St. George, Kansas 785-494-2418 or 785-494-2418 or 785-776-0397.

HOWE LANDSCAPE Inc. has several positions available for our landscappreferably four blocks of time. Applicants must be 18 years or age cense. Starting wage is $8.00/ hour. Apply three ways, in person Monday through Friday at 12780 Madison Rd in Riley; call 785-485-2857 to obtain application; or e-mail us at howeland@kansas.-

team at the Office of Mediated Education, and conportant K-State web sites applications. Candidates must be motivated, capable of learning new skills quickly, self-di-rected, able to work at least 15 hours a week, and willing to devote at least a year to the posi-Working with that values its students provides a fun yet chal lenging work environment. ting wages begin at $7.00. For more informa tion email us at omeof-

KSU STUDENT help needed for working in greenhouse and tree packing. Four hour block time required. 8:00a.m. to 12: 00p.m. or 1:00p.m. to 5:-00p.m. Monday through Friday. $6.00/ hour. Apply Kansas Forest Service, 2610 Claffin Rd.

LOOKING FOR part-time help in Scrapbook store. Monday- Wednesday- Friday daytime. Expe preferred. Please call Sabrina 785-410-3177.

LUNCHROOM SUPERVI-GROUND Immediate openings- Manhattan- Ogden Elementary Schools. $6.50 per hour one and a two hours per day. 11:00 a.m.- 1:00 p.m. Application available at www.usd383.org/District/HumanResources/ or apply partment, 2031 Poyntz Avcepted until positions are ed. Apply to Manhattan-USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Avenue, Manhat-KS 66502.

785-587-2000. Equal Opportunity Employer. MAIL CENTER/ duplicaton campus. Freshman or ferred with ability to work spring, summer, and fall semesters, as well as breaks. Duties include: campus delivery route, preparation and handling mail, and copy jobs. Computer skills beneficial and some heavy lifting required. Must have a valid driver's license. Our on campus office operates Monday- Friday, 8a.m.-5p.m. and is eager to work around your schedule. Please apply in per-son at 13 College Court Building, Division of Continuing 785-532-5988. Education,

MANHATTAN COUNTRY Club is seeking part-time bag room/ cart staff. Will work with your class schedule. Must be avail-785-539-6221 ask Jacque or Jeff

PLAY SPORTS! fun! Save money! Maine camp needs fun loving land, adventure and water sports. Great summer! Call 888-844-8080, apply: campcedar.com

NOW HIRING - TWO LOCATIONS ALL SHIFTS, DAYS, NIGHTS & WEEKENDS

ABOVE AVERAGE COMPENSATION

- Discounted Meals
- Flexible Schedule

• Retirement Plan

 Crew Incentive Programs Medical Insurance

APPLY TODAY • WORK TODAY

421 N. 3rd Street 3006 Anderson Ave EOE/Drug Free Workplace

PROGRAMMER- CIVIC PLUS is the nations leading provider County, and School web-sites. Full-time position in Manhattan. Microsoft ASP and SQL experience reguired. $15.50/ hour time and a half for overtime. Benefits include Health, Dental, Paid Holi-401K matching. Email re-text format to jobs@civic-

PROJECT in our Manhattan quarters office for a full time project manager. This challenging position entails managing multiple website redesign projects tion requires attention to age multiple tasks, priori-ties and deadlines and a cheerful attitude. Training clude health, dental, paid matching. and 401(k) Email resume in text or to jobs@civicplus.com. PROJECT MANAGER

CivicPlus has an opening in our Manhattan quarters office for a fulltime Project Manager. This Challenging position com. entails managing multiple website redesign projects from start to finish. Posito conduct interviews. tion requires attention to WILDCATSNEEDJOBS. detail. the ability to manage multiple task, priorities and deadlines and a cheerful attitude. Training is provided. Benefits in Holidays, Paid Vacation 401(k) $150 per day. Experience Email resume in text of Word format to jobs@civicplus.com.

POSITIONS available for field techni cians working with greater Kansas. These positions are ideal for anyone interested in graduate school for wildlife biology. Will be fifteen to thirty hours per starting immedi Pay is $6.25 per All interested perhour. sons please send resul and cover letter via e-mail to grego1aj@ksu.edu call 785-532-6413.

SO LONG Saloon now hiring waitresses. Apply in person, 1130 Moro.

SUMMER INTERNSHIP Help me run my business. Open to all majors. Five positions available, age earns $800/ week. Call 785-317-0455. TAPS LANDSCAPING IS looking for dependable self motivated full and part time help. Cor wages, flexable Competitive Must be 18 with DL. Apply by e-mail tapsirrigation@sbcglobal.net or ca 785-539-8675, 9am-4pm. THE CITY of Westmoreland is taking applications for a pool manager for the season. Life guard and WIS training preferred but not required Salary based on experi ence and is negotiable Job description and appli-cation available at City Hall, P.O. Box 7. moreland, KS 66549. 785-457-3361. for applications is March 16th. Equal Opportunity Employer. Pregnancy Testing Center new and existing cus-20 words or less $15.65 is not necessary. This is a very good opportunity with each word over 20 pany. Our group members 30¢ per word are paid very well. Posi-tion includes most benefits and requires very little

TWO OPENINGS for Student Computer Operator

Applications are available in room 014 Hale Library. further information

http://www.k-state.edu/ct

erations at 785-532-4941.

Every two years MGM Marketing, Inc. accepts keting & Logistics position within our small group in Kansas City. MGM is in a

ers and re-sells all types of products that are in-

MGM is currently looking for a creative, motivated, detail-oriented person that has common sense, good judgment, and the ability

ested please forward a

and more

MGM

COM. PAID survey takers

100% free to join. Click on tions Available. Earn up to not required. Undercove

shoppers needed to judge

ments. Call 800-722-4791

Open Market

4,35 Computers

COMPLETE GATEWAY

Includes

dition. $400 or best offer

Transportation

Automobiles

SET OF off road whe

Lock

539-3338

Fill in the grid so that every row,

every column, and every 3 x 3 box contains the digits 1 through 9

with no repeats.

9 3

4

Solution and tips

at www.sudoku.com

Real Hope, Real Help, Real Options

Free pregnancy testing

Totally confidential service

Same day results • Call for appointment

6

8

9 2

6

8

4

5

6

9

5

1 5 1

2

su do ku

8

3

1

9

3

and tires for Toyota truck.

Mickey Thompson Classic

Wrangler MT/R 31x10.50

$500 OBO 316-304-5852

530

Motorcycles

Excellent condition. Beau

matching helmet. Low miles, Yoshi Pipe, fender kit, cover. $5500 or best

2004 YAMAHA 600R.

Good

15x10

Wheels-

Mike. 785-564-1040.

computer

Good working concolor

in derailments

20 words or less $17.90 each word over 20 resume as soon as possi ble. Our contact informa-5 DAYS about MGM may be found 20 words or less $20.00 on our website at www. each word over 20 40¢ per word scheduling appoints

(consecutive day rate)

To Place An Ad

from the K-State Student Union.) Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

How To Pay

All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account Publications Inc. Cash check, MasterCard or There is a $25 service charge on all returned right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad

Free Found Ads

As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

Corrections

your ad, please call us. insertion.

If you find an error in

Cancellations

If you sell your item before your ad has you for the remaining days. You must call us before the ad is to be published.

Headlines

For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

Categories

Bulletin Board

Housing/Real Estate

Service Directory

Employment/Careers

Open Market

Transportation

Travel/Trips

Students, interns help manage, decorate 5-year-old Aggieville clothing retailer

By Lacey D. Mackey K-STATE COLLEGIAN

Sara Strothman-Meyer's trendy clothing and accessories shop, Zotcis Attire, will celebrate its fifth birthday today, a success Strothman-Meyer attributes to employees - her "girls," as she calls

"Everything that has to do with the store has to do with the girls," she said. "If I didn't have them, I wouldn't be here today."

Many of Strothman-Meyer's employees are K-State students and interns from K-State's Department of Apparel, Textiles and Interior

Strothman-Meyer said she kept strong ties with the department after she graduated from K-State.

Zotcis employees are encouraged to take a hand in all aspects of the store, something Strothman-Meyer said she did not experience in her own internship.

"When I did my internship with J.Crew, I was just an associate," she said. "I didn't know anything about the business. But the girls know all about it."

Employees display merchandise, help purchase clothes, brainstorm ideas to promote the store and create window designs.

"I give them reign on the entire store," Strothman-Meyer said. "Honest to god, they do everything except balance the books. Everything else the girls take care of.

"Honest to god, I'm just shocked it's already been five

Katie Baxt, junior in hotel and restaurant management, said she enjoys working for Strothman-Meyer because of her passion for clothes and her work.

"She's just very upbeat, and it's a great atmosphere," Baxt said.

Aimee Niemann, senior in apparel marketing, began working at Zotcis in November and said the store offers more accessories, shoes and cute tops than other clothing

She said she also appreciates the business experience.

"You get first hand on how to run a business and how to make sure you have enough stuff on the floor, and how to help people put clothes on," she said.

The flexible schedule at Zotcis has worked well with Sara Johnson's schedule. Johnson, senior in apparel marketing, is interning at Zotcis and said because she is married, she has appreciated the work environment.

Amy Folkerts, senior in apparel marketing, has worked at the store for two years and said she loves her job and her

"She's awesome to work for," Folkerts said. "It's just a really fun environment. I get to help out with everything. It's just very fun. I just love going to work."

Catrina Rawson | COLLEGIAN

Zotcis Attire celebrates its fifth birthday today. Zotcis is located at 1203 Moro St. in Aggieville.

During their watch party in Marlatt Hall, vice president candidate Aaron Blush and president candidate Derek Ogan respond to finding out they will not advance in the SGA elections.

Ogan-Blush receive 165 votes

By Kendra Stiles KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Derek Ogan and Aaron Blush smiled and shook their heads when they heard they would not be advancing in the student body presidential and vice-presidential race. Ogan, senior in secondary education, and Blush, sophomore in architectural engineering, said they weren't disappointed with the results, but were surprised they didn't fare better in the polls.

"I was a little surprised," Blush said. "We didn't think we'd have quite as many votes as Matt (Wagner) and Lydia (Peele) or Jim (Mosimann) and Nick (Piper), but 165 that's not even everybody in our Facebook group."

Blush attributed the loss partly to the fact the pair filed two weeks after the other

"We were far behind because we filed so late," he said. "And we didn't get around to any of the student groups like the rest of the candidates. They had their names out for much longer than we did."

Ogan said the decision to run was last-minute.

"We hadn't been planning to run all semester or anything like that," he said. "We're definitely not disappointed."

Ogan and Blush said they do not know what will come next. Ogan said he doesn't have plans to participate in Student Governing Association because he will graduate in May 2008. Blush, however, is a sophomore and said he might try to get involved in the future.

Both said they will support Wagner and Peele.

"We spoke to Matt and Lydia and said we'd support them if they moved on to the general election and we didn't," Ogan said. "We'll be voting for them and encouraging everyone who voted for us to vote for them."

Blush said the pair wanted to thank everyone for their

"We came in not knowing what to expect at all," he said. "But we want to thank everyone who took the time to vote

Catrina Rawson | COLLEGIAN

Clare Feeley, sophomore in speech, and Steven Hilburn, junior in chemistry and psychology, slap hands after hearing the outcome of the the student body president and vice president election primaries.

Hilburn-Feeley celebrate loss

By Logan C. Adams KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Steven Hilburn, junior in chemistry and psychology, and Clare Feeley, sophomore in speech, set out to fail in this year's election for student body president and vice presi-

They were successful.

The pair joked and laughed as they listened to results Wednesday evening. The top two pairs received about 1,500 votes each, the third-place pair had 167 and Hilburn and Feeley came in last, with 135 votes.

The two discussed throwing their support behind one of the pairs who will advance but said they would remain neutral for the rest of the campaign.

Hilburn seemed happy about the three-figure vote total.

"I'm going to say that we succeeded by getting out of the single digits," he said.

The pair ran on a wide platform that included everything from eliminating all student parking except for the president and vice president and doubling textbook prices at the K-State Student Union Bookstore. The pair's positions were much different from its' opponents' platforms.

"They're probably just a bit more sensible than Steve and I are," Feeley said.

Both said this likely would be their last run for student office. Hilburn said he promised his mother he wouldn't follow such pursuits anymore, and Feeley said it was enough when she was fired from student council in high school.

Feeley said Hilburn tricked her into running by saying she was entering a shuffleboard tournament.

"Next time I'm going to really make sure I'm signing up for shuffleboard, because this has taken up a lot of my time, which I don't have," she said.

The two expressed hope that their goals, like erecting a statue of K-State's mascot paid for by selling human organs, could be achieved in the pri-

"If only we could convince people that they needed one kidney," Hilburn said.

MOSIMANN | Candidates look to address more issues

continued from Page 1

The pair does not plan to spend any more money, Mosimann said.

Piper said it would be interesting to see how they get their messages out to constituents since the number of presidential candidates has been reduced to two.

"I expect a lot more buzz since the turnout will be much bigger," Mosimann said. "Somehow we have to be able to identify with all of those people."

Both feel confident in their platform, Piper said. "Now it is just a matter of getting that out to the students as much as possible," he said. Students have given them many ideas of issues on campus. "We are developing stances on those issues," Mosimann said.

"I am still very happy with our starting four."

WAGNER | Primary election winners to seek student feedback

continued from Page 1

The second pillar would take away the study-abroad application fee. This would ensure students don't lose $50 before knowing whether or not they are eligible to study abroad, Peele said.

The financial planning center would be a free service to help students with their budgets. Students could learn more about credit cards, taxes and other financial issues through the cen-

Wagner said the pair's platform issues will remain the same, but they might adjust the terms to fit students' needs depending on the feedback the pair receives

"I don't think we'll necessarily change our platform but redefine it to be in line with student interests, going more indepth," he said.

Peele said the time and effort the campaign put into reaching out to students helped them win the prima-

"So far, we've had tremendous support," Wagner

Moore Property Management Since 1974

1125 Laramie Suite C Manhattan, KS 66502

785-537-0205

4 Bedrooms 4 Baths 1120 & 1122 Pierre

4 Bedrooms 2 Baths

923 Bluemont "A" 923 Bluemont "B" 1614 Humboldt 712 Laramie "B" 1712 Colorado

3 Bedrooms 2 Baths

927 Fremont 1539 Campus

3 Bedrooms 1 Bath 2461 Hobbs 2018 Anderson

Plus numerous 2 bedroom and 1 bedroom apartments

View our properties at ww.moorepropertymanagement.com

Business Administration and Students in Free Enterprise

What's your BIG idea?

EntrepreneurshipWeek USA Feb. 24-March 3, 2007 www.EntrepreneurshipWeekUSA.com www.cba.k-state.edu

Entrepreneurship Week USA Events

The schedule of events is as follows, both events are set for Thursday, March 1, 2007:

Entrepreneur's Product Fair 9:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. Courtyard Area K-State Student Union

Come meet successful entrepreneurs and discuss their product and company ideas.

Panel Discussion 1-2:15 p.m. Little Theatre, K-State Student Union Take part in a discussion with experts from a variety of areas dealing with innovation and new technology commercialization! Panel members will discuss topics relevant to entrepreneurship today., followed by an audience question and answer session. Click here for a list of panel discussion participants.

Both events are free and open to K-State students and faculty and the general public.

COLLEGIAN

INSIDE How is image recognition improving robot technology? See story Page 3

www.kstatecollegian.com

Friday, March 2, 2007

Vol. 111, No. 114

Former U.S. president Bill Clinton to present Landon Lecture today

By Adrianne DeWeese KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The 42nd U.S. president will speak at 3:30 p.m. today in Bramlage Coli-

Bill Clinton will present the 148th Landon Lecture today after a 15-year effort to bring him to K-State. Doors at Bramlage will open at 2 p.m., and everyone is required to be seated by 3:15 p.m. Parking is available at 1:30 p.m. in the east and west parking

No bags, purses or video cameras will be allowed at the lecture. However, small still cameras without flash are permitted, said Jim Muller, associate director of Athletic Operations.

Muller people are advised to not bring cell phones to the lecture and to leave emergency pagers on vibrate. Those in attendance also are subject to random searches

While admission to the lecture is free, tickets and K-State IDs are required upon entry. Tickets are no longer available, said Charles Reagan, chair of the Landon Lecture Se-

About 5,500 total tickets were available for students, 1,500 for K-State faculty and staff, 800 for Fort Riley military members, 200 for K-State ROTC, 400 for Landon Lecture patrons and 500 for special guests like state legislators and Kansas Board of Regents members.

Seating at Bramlage will accommodate 9,500 people, which is the maximum it can accommodate for Clinton's lecture and questionand-answer session will be one hour total, Reagan said. Clinton also will present the keynote address tonight at the Kansas Democratic Party's annual Washington Days celebration in

"I think it's always important to listen to a president or former president because of the wealth of experiences they've had," Reagan said. "It's an awesome position to be in."

Since his presidency, Clinton published his autobiography, "My Life,"

See CLINTON Page 9

The 148th Landon Lecture, presented by former president Bill Clinton

When: 3:30 p.m., today Where: Bramlage Coliseum For more information: visit the Landon landon, or call (785)-532-6221

Tickets and K-State IDs are required upon entry. Students, faculty and members of the general public can enter through the northwest and northeast entrances. Small still cameras are permitted, but security will allow no bags or purses of any kind.

Area restaurants prepare to provide menu alternatives for Lent season

By Kendra Stiles

The Lenten season started Feb. 21, and area restaurants already are prepared for the effect it will have on business.

Lent is a Catholic celebration from Ash Wednesday to Easter Sunday in which Catholics abstain from eating meat - not including fish on Fridays. The Rev. Keith Weber of St. Isidore's Catholic Student Center said the season lasts 40 days, which is symbolic of Jesus' time fasting in

"That's part of what Lent is for us," Weber said. "It's essentially a 40-day retreat leading up to the celebration of the resurrection of Christ."

Abstaining from meat is part of the church's communal penance, he said, but members are en-

"Individual penances focus on something that stands in the way of our personal relationships with God," Weber said. "Most people usually give up something else and pray for help with it."

Gina Koester, senior in architectural engineering, said Lent is a time for Catholics to make sacrifices of their own.

"Giving up meat is a sacrificial thing because we're giving up something we desire," Koester said. "It's giving something up for God."

She said it was easy to avoid eating meat for one day of the week, but the closing of Long John Silver's dampened her spirits.

"It doesn't really matter most of the time," Koester said. "It's usually pretty easy to be a vegetarian for a couple of days, but it was always a couraged to do individual penances and give up tradition to go to Long John Silver's on Friday nights, so now that it's closed, it's kind of sad."

> Brad Streeter, manager of Vista Drive-In Inc., made four additions to the menu for the Lenten season, though he said his business typically is not affected by the abstention from meat.

> "Lent usually doesn't make that much of an impact on business," Streeter said. "We've made changes in the past, but this is the first year we've made this many additions to the menu."

> He said he hopes having one less seafood restaurant in Manhattan will help his business dur-

"We've just added four seafood specialties specifically for the Lenten season," Streeter said. "Long John Silver's has been closed for about

See LENT Page 9

Enrollment down from past years

By Wendy Haun KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Enrollment at K-State decreased by 297 this spring, a 1.4-percent decrease, which is the most of the Kansas regents schools, according to a Feb. 23 Topeka Capital-Journal

The spring enrollment for both of K-State's campuses was 20,747, including the 434 students enrolled in the College of Veterinary Medicine. Pat Bosco, dean of student life, said Fort Riley factored into the decline in students.

'We're probably affected more by enrollments in the spring because of Fort Riley," he said. "Right now, it's a difficult time for our students and families.

"Enrollment will be back up in the fall, when the international situation becomes more stable."

Fort Hays State University had the highest increase in enrollment, adding 582 students this semester for an 8.3-percent increase.

Emporia State University had its highest spring enrollment since 1972, enrolling 97 more students. The University of Kansas recorded a decline in enrollments, showing a 0.4-percent decline.

Bosco said the administration will continue to promote K-State, and it feels the decline in enrollment is negligible.

"We're working 24/7 as we always have been to make sure that prospective students know about our academic programs and the quality of student life," he said. "Spring enrollment doesn't determine our budget for the upcoming year or our position in the state. Those things are predicated by fall enrollments."

Aggieville Webcams show events, fun times, crimes

By Willow Williamson KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The world is watching Aggieville, so watch out.

Six Webcams, video cameras that transmit content to viewers on the Internet, are located at different parts of "The 'Ville." The videos feed directly to www.aggievillelive.com, a Web site set up by Jeff Levin, co-owner of Varney's Book Store, and two of the store's information technologists.

"Aggieville is an icon to K-Staters worldwide," Levin said. "Aggieville is alive, and so Aggievillelive is about the fact that this is a real fun area to be at."

record special events in Aggieville, such as the New Year's festivities or St. Patrick's Day parade, he said. He said he hopes eventually to add audio so bands performing at the bars can be recorded.

One camera is attached to the Varney's marquee, looking west down Moro Street. Two are on the south corner of Varney's looking into the parking lot. Two are on top of Ballard's Sporting Goods looking up and down Moro Street, and one is located inside Kite's Bar & Grill.

In addition to recording the goings-on at the bars, the cameras also have helped solve and reduce crime

The idea behind the cameras is to in the area. Cameras caught one person painting graffiti on a building, and the video will help with the conviction, Levin said.

> "There have been some assaults down here," he said. "Since we've installed (the cameras), that's dropped."

> Some of the crimes are of a more comical nature.

> "We're saving some of the fun things that have happened, or what I would call 'America's dumbest criminals," Levin said.

> He calls one recording "Little Boy

See WEBCAM Page 9

A Webcam on the Varney's marquee looks down Moro Street Thursday evening and broadcasts its recordings to www.aggievillelive.com. The camera is one of six in Aggieville that show what is going on in the district.

Today's forecast Partly cloudy / windy High: 45 Low: 24

INSIDE

When not garnering out schmaltzy "awwws" as the heart-warming dad on "Full House," Bob Saget has a reputation for being a little more risqué. Now, the comic is moving on to game shows.

See story Page 14

CAMPUS NEWS HIGHLIGHTS

Percussion and piano duo to show at Union

Anthony Di Sanza, former director of percussion studies at K-State, and pianist Jessica Johnson will perform "Sole Nero," a piano and percussion duo at 3:30 p.m. in Forum Hall. Admission is free to the public. It is sponsored by K-State's Student Governing Association.

Beach museum to close for renovations

The Beach Museum of Art will close March 12 to April 3 while changes are made to the entryway. Early childhood workshops will continue as scheduled, and the museum will resume its regular hours April 4. The museum is scheduled to be completed in May.

Expo allows students to meet employers

A design expo, supported by the College of Architecture, Planning and Design, will allow students to meet with architecture and design professionals from across the country from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. today in the K-State Student Union Ballroom. Students may also inquire about career opportunities.

SGA election | A recent Collegian online poll asked readers to choose the most important issue in the campus elections.

	Parking/parking garage	8%
	Textbook prices/lists	16%
0	Deferred maintenance	14%
	Financial advice for students	22%
	W. I. b What had been bound	30/

This poll is not scientific and reflects the opinions of only those internet users who have chosen to participate

Claflin Books and Copies

1814 Claflin Rd.

1814 Claffin Rd. (785) 776-3771 www.claffinbooks.com Fax: (785) 776-1009

41 Simile

of center

L.A.?

Campbell

answe

man?

against

49 Unfriendly

baseball politician

52 Mel of

53 Honest

54 Steam

bath

55 Cries of surprise

32-Down

17 Defer

quiously

to restrict an apple?

19 Designed entry

21 Go after

22 - pickle

24 South of

26 White's style

28 Unpleas-

ingly

plump

30 Whopper

method

33 "No seats"

34 Type units

36 Groom's

toss dome

home

39 Laziness

40 Denominations instrument

42 Humiliate

45 Brass

46 Verve

48 Feedbag

morsel

50 Indivisible 51 Distant

38 Nome

32 Strikers'

partner

Spain?

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

DOWN

1 Badge

org.

earners'

2 Conclude occupant

Gertrude

7 Owl's call decisively

8 Commo-

tion

9 Defeat

10 Cohort of

Randy

3 Crow'snest

4 Undecided

5 Ben or

6 Sagittarius

ACROSS
1 Zones
6 "Eureka!"
9 Hot tub
12 Uppity
one

43 Section 44 Singer 13 Stewart or

45 The Serling 14 Wrestling surface 15 Worship 47 Tactic 16 Barbecue 18 Chess piece

20 Neighbor

of Tex. 21 Boswell's write-up. briefly 23 Dundee denial 24 Talk a blue streak? 25 Responsiblity 27 Steel-31 Just look 35 Oak Tenn 37 Near the 29 Skirmish target 38 Debate subject head, e.g.

CRYPTOQUIP

MKQCRY DIR DKYO DXOI PAORQ IPOOXCRY OR CRAXPE LZYAOXRYC DRZEH MQRFPFEV

LRQH KCARQO Yesterday's Cryptoquip: IF YOU INSTALL SOME FACING ON A BUILDING WITH SOMEBODY ELSE, COULD YOU BE SIDING WITH HIM? Today's Cryptoquip Clue: D equals W

BEST BETS

Your social calendar for the weekend

Friday

Feature film: "Inherit the Wind"

8 p.m. Little Theatre* Admission: $1

Based on a real-life trial in 1925, two legendary lawyers argue the case for and against a science teacher accused of the crime of teaching evolution.

"Movie also shows 7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. Saturday and 8 p.m. Sunday. Admission is $1.

UPC After Hours: "Comedian Arvin

8-11 p.m. K-State Student Union Courtyard Admission: Free

The show will feature music artists Stephen Pile at 8 p.m. and Kelly McCarty at 9 p.m. Arvin Mitchell will perform at 10 p.m. Your best bet is to get there early, because there's free pizza for the first 200 people.

At the theater: "Proof"

7:30 p.m. Manhattan Arts Center* Admission: $10 for students

A mad mathematical who might have genius, a daughter inherited her father's genius or his madness and a desperate graduate student out to make a name for himself, perhaps by stealing his mentor's notebooks or making love to his mentor's daughter—all of the ingredients for a great night of theater. *This play also will be performed Saturday and Sunday. For show times and further information, call (785) 537-4420. Or visit their Web site at www.manhattanarts.org.

Local musical performances

See bands The Canvas, Catfish Whiskey and Pazuzu Cabbage at 10 p.m. at P.J.'s Bar in Aggieville. Corkscrew Boar and Crazy Talk will perform at 10 p.m. at Auntie Mae's Parlor.

3 Saturday

K-State men's basketball vs. Oklahoma

2:30 p.m. at Bramlage Shown on Fox Sports Network

The Wildcats play the last game to finish the regular season against the Sooners Saturday. Five seniors will be honored in their last game at Bramlage Coliseum.

Red State Blues Band

9:30 p.m. Bobby T's, Candlewood Shopping Center Admission: $3

What started as an informal jam session between seven K-State faculty members has grown into what the band likes to call "the best damn blues band west of the Big Blue River." If you like bluegrass and jazz, you're bound to have a good time.

Sunday

Since the weather hasn't quite settled into spring, it's probably too soon to pack away your winter wardrobe. However, it's not too soon to start focusing on sprucing up other household areas.

If you're a pack rat, it's easy to become overwhelmed at the thought of going through every little pile throughout your house. Here's a few tips on how to get started without feeling in over your head.

Gather up winter sporting gear and pack it away.

■ Limit yourself to 10 minutes every day to tackle projects so you don't end up sorting junk mail for four hours and then getting burnt out.

■ Go through your bathroom toiletries and throw away what you haven't used in more than six months. Chances are you don't really need them.

The planner

Campus bulletin board

■ The Graduate Research Forum will take place from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. today on the second floor of the K-State Student Union

Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at collegian@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

Spring deaning

537-7701

1109 Hylton Heights Manhattan, KS 66502

ERTY MANAGEMEN

One Bedrooms

1022 - 1026 Sunset $395 - $425

1950 - 1960 Hunting $510 - $540 1212 Thurston $525 - $545 1837 College Heights

Houses

1508 Hillcrest

722-B Osage

2005 College View

Showings by

Appointment

$800 - Two Story $875 - Three Story

1866 College Heights

2-bedroom - $530

1010 Sunset studio - $340 1 bedroom - $385 1841 College Heights $920 - $1250

Two Bedrooms

McCollum Townhouses $920

1825 College Heights $750 - Single Level

Aggieville Penthouse Apts 617 N. 12th Street

Conversion Apts

3&4 Bedrooms

All Apartments within Walking Distance to Campus

Treat yourself to the ultimate music experience!

Buy Tickets before Spring Break and Save!

MUSIC & CAMPING FESTIVAL

4-DAY TICKETS ON SALE NOW NGLE-DAY TICKETS ON SALE SATURDAY

Single-Day Tickets on Sale Saturday March 3rd widespread panic

ben harper & the innocent criminals yonder mountain string band nedeski martin and wood michael franti & spearhead les claypool galactic ozomatli north mississippi allstars ittle feat zric tentacles nartin sexton grace potter & the nocturnals son volt railroad earth split lip rayfield grey & motro nutaytor perpetual groove alejandro escovedo lotus new monsoon ndigenous tea leaf green the slip assembly of dust Dozens more bands! heck www.wakarusa.com for Single-Day Lineups

www.wakarusa.com

Reynolds Mugler Geist P.O. Box 273 102 N. Buckeye Abilene, KS

263 1394Hm Paul Geist 263 2545 Harold Mugler 632 4994

The Ultimate Recycler Concerned about the environment? Concerned about your wallet? Do something for both! Shop our Auctions!

Available at upcoming auctions include items such as TVs, washers/dryers, dishware & antiques. For complete Listings & Photos for Abilene auctions: www.ksal.com

Friday Martini Fest 100 FREE T-Shirts

@ 10 § 3 Big Boulevards 2 Enchilada Plates

Saturday

$750 Blue Moon/ Killians Pints §4 Taco Basket

3 hard or soft & side of CCQ and chips Watch the game here @ 2:30 pm!

Open @ 11 am

Motorcycle Supply

Large Selection of

- Helmets
- Jackets
- Gloves •

431 S.5 St

776-6177

The blotter Arrests in Riley County

The Collegian takes reports directly from the Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Wednesday, Feb. 28

■ Daniel Keith Smith, Council Grove, Kan., at 7:30 a.m. for failure to appear. Bond was $306. ■ Heather Dawn Jaymes, 2104 Sloan, St., at 8:30 a.m. for possession of methamphetamine, possession of a controlled substance, possession of marijuana, one felony count of possession of drug paraphernalia, and one misdemeanor count of possession of drug paraphernalia. Bond was $5,000.

■ Steven Patrick Klingsieck, 613 Riley Lane, Apt. 2, at 1:40 p.m. for two counts of probation violation. Bond was $3,500. ■ Gregory Todd Barriger, Junction City, at 2:02 p.m. for battery. Bond was $1,500.

■ Joshua Lynn Ingram, Gatesville, Texas, at 2:20 p.m. for driving with a suspended or cancelled license. Bond was $500. ■ Christopher B. Silva, Alma, Kan., at 8:53 p.m. for driving under the influence and fleeing or attempting to elude. Bond was $1,000.

Wednesday, March 1

■ Jiah Mandisa Jamila Shabazz, Junction City, at 12:37 a.m. for disorderly conduct. Bond was $750.

■ Gamaliel Franco Jr., Salina, Kan., at 1 a.m. for driving with a suspended or cancelled license and driving under the influence. Bond

■ Arica Lynette Timms, Junction City, at 1:34 a.m. for battery and obstruction of the legal process. Bond was $1,000. ■ Christopher Corey Bass, 1100 Thurston

St., at 2:15 a.m. for disorderly conduct. Bond ■ Cody Alan Peratt, 2215 College Ave., at 2:15 a.m. for disorderly conduct. Bond was $750.

Corrections and clarifications

There was an error in Thursday's Collegian. Crossroads of ECM is located at 1021 Denison Ave. The Collegian regrets the error. If you see something that should be corrected, call news editor Alex Peak at (785) 532-6556 or e-mail collegian@spub.ksu.edu.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291 020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167. © Kansas State Collegian, 2007

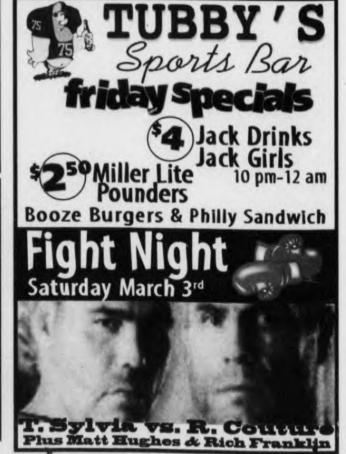

Photo illustration by Steven Doll | COLLEGIAN

Lester Loschky, assistant professor in psychology, is researching visual recognition. His study involves how images are understood and how they affect the brain.

Research shows 'gist' of images

By Willow Williamson KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Just like one can get the gist of a story or a movie, one also can get the gist of an image or a scene

Lester Loschky, assistant professor in psychology, is researching how humans get the "gist" of an image and how that can affect the brain.

The research has the potential to help create new imageretrieving systems for the Internet, build smarter robots and improve eyewitness accounts of crimes.

When an image flashes in front of someone for a split second, the brain can figure out the general idea of what was seen, for example, a kitchen, a forest or a swimming pool, he said.

"You can look at the real world or a picture and rapidly you can get the gist," Loschky said.

However, if the image does not make logical sense, it takes the brain much longer to understand the image. For instance, if one sees a church and a football player, it will be harder for the brain to understand the image because one does not usually associate football players in full gear with church.

"This is probably the first meaningful stage of perception," Loschky said.

Recognizing the overall image helps one associate the objects within the image and where those objects should be. he said. For example, if people see a football field, they know the object in the frame probably is a football player or a cheer-

When asked to look for a football player, the brain knows to look to the field and not to the stands or in the sky. However, it takes the brain much longer to recognize an object that does not fit with the image.

Loschky compared this stage of perception to reading.

"It is easier to recognize a letter in a word than by itself, and easier to recognize a word in a sentence than by itself," he

But if the word or the sentence does not make sense, the ease is gone.

Getting the gist of an image also can affect the "reconstructive nature of memory," he said.

The brain sometimes will insert falsities into the memory.

For example, in one study, people were asked to wait in an office for about one minute until an experiment was ready for

The office they waited in contained no books or pens; however, when later asked to recall what was in the office, most of the people said they saw books and pens. This is because the brain was inserting its understanding of an office into their memories.

This has real-world applications. For example, if someone were to witness a crime, it is possible that because of the reconstructive aspect of memory, the witness' brain could utilize false memories, Loschky said.

One other application of his research is creating a new way to retrieve images from the Internet. The Google search engine finds an image by searching for a specific key word. Type in "beach," and it will bring up every image containing the word. However, it will not bring up pictures of beaches with titles like ocean, sand or cove.

"It's limited only to those images that have been named by a person using that word," he

Senate introduces resolution in support of bio, ag facility

By Adrianne DeWeese KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Student Senate members introduced a resolution in support of a $450 million National Bio- and Agro-Defense Facility in Manhattan at their meeting Thursday night.

The city of Manhattan pledged $5 million in economic assistance to the facility, which the U.S. Department of Homeland Security would fund. The facility could bring $3.5 billion to the local economy during its first 20 years, according to the proposed resolution.

Senate members will take final action on the resolution at their next meeting. Facility task force members are looking for community support, said Clint Blaes, College of Agriculture senator and an original author of the resolution.

The University Relations Committee met after Senate's general meeting to plan action on the online textbook list proposal resolution. Senate voted 26-18-0 to send the resolution back to the University Relations Committee at the Feb. 22 Senate meeting.

"The proposal is changing in intent," said Melissa Hildebrand, committee chair and senior in agricultural journalism and communications. "We found that we have a better opportunity to focus on the system and how we can help Varney's (Bookstore) increase accountability for professors, increase the buy-back cycle and lower textbook prices for students in the long run."

Prior to the meeting, University Relations Committee members met with Steve and Jeff Levin, co-owners of Varney's; Pat Bosco, dean of student life; and Beth Unger, vice provost for academic services and technology, and discussed changes to the committee's original proposal for an internal textbook listing.

"I think (Thursday's) meeting told us this is going to happen no matter what," Hildeb-

K-State offers classes at Fort Riley

By Hannah Crippen KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State is offering four spring classes at the main post at Fort Riley.

Culture and conflict, violence prevention and intervention, introduction to women's studies, and introduction to American ethnic studies can be taken for undergraduate credit on post at Fort Riley.

Culture and conflict and violence prevention and intervention also may be taken for graduate credit for the Conflict Resolution certificate.

Introduction to women's studies and introduction to American ethnic studies are being offered through videoconferencing.

Melinda Sinn, public information coordinator of continuing education, said this means classes are taught on campus and delivered through technology to the post.

TELENET 2 is a videoconference network K-State uses to connect to Fort Riley students.

Sue White, Kansas Regents Network and TELENET 2 coordinator, said this technology allows classes to meet at the same time from different locations. It is a live connection where students can see and hear what is happening in the other classroom. The instructor would be in Dole Hall.

Brian Blick, sophomore in pre-professional business administration, took introduction to American ethnic Ssudies in fall 2005. He said he would recommend the course to other students.

"It gives you almost a description of all different kinds of races," Blick said. "It gives you insight to other cultures, and most of the people I've grown up with and hang out with are white."

Blick also said he learned how other cultures interact with each other and how to interact with other cultures.

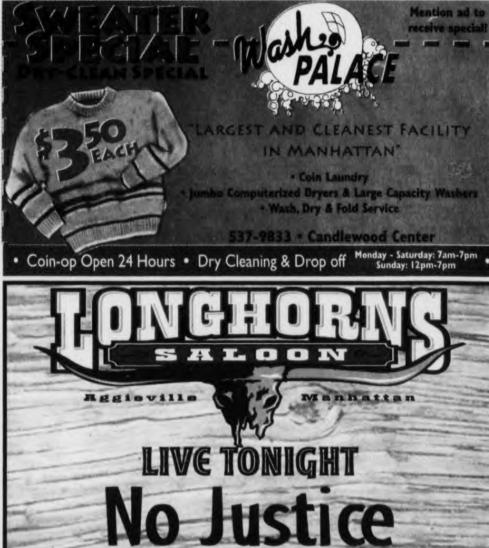

Sinn said students should talk to their advisers to see if these courses meet their curriculum needs. "If they don't have an adviser, they may speak with Ruth Stanley, a K-State representative on post, to see if the classes meet their academic needs," Sinn said.

The courses are open to all students. Students can enroll online at www.dce.ksu.edu/ courses.

With Bobby Dale Band

in advance

@ the door 1115 Moro

Pregnancy crisis

Clinics that promote specific agendas aren't truly helping

Morality aside, abortions happen safely every day in the United States.

A recent Time magazine cover story told of a budding pregnancy care clinic in North Carolina that claims to give non-judgmental, "loving support." In other words, the only type of support it really offers is the babybearing kind.

PEAK

I have a beef with this strategy, because guilt isn't a fair tactic. Even the subhead on the cover of Time suggests the clinic's strategy is partial: "Crisis pregnancy centers are working to win over one woman at a time. But are they playing fair?"

The clinic is said to have new facilities and caring people who are willing to help, but it also dishes out plenty of its shaded agenda.

Regardless of whether a woman views abortion as right or wrong, shouldn't she be given objective information upon entering a crisis center? Especially if the health center touts itself as non-judgmental.

According to the Time article, not only do workers at the clinic find a way to bring religion into their counseling (as many of these centers are religiously affiliated), they also often hand out baby booties to women upon learning of their pregnancies, not to mention the lifesize fetus models at each stage of development brought out in "a black velvet box that looks as if it holds a string of pearls."

Are the clinics' means effective? Unfortunately, yes. They use guilt and skewed data to persuade confused and frantic women into skipping abortions. They even go as far as asking women what name to put on their ultrasound photos for their future baby books.

Many of these women already face difficult decisions, and they don't need the added burden of clinic workers (or rather, missionaries) pushing a moral agenda of damnation and death.

Though these scare tactics probably boost the success rate for clinics' anti-abortion agendas, it's not fair to women who are looking for facts on which to base their decisions.

Whether they choose to carry their pregnancy to term or not, all women deserve an objective voice, which the clinic workers claim to

When people are considering any other type of medical procedure, they generally explore all sides and talk to more than one doctor before making a decision. They should not be given incorrect information and swayed through guilt.

Other pregnancy clinics similar to this one are said to go as far as showing gory abortion pictures or films. Often times, women are warned of breast cancer or death from abortion, according to the Time cites the Guttmacher Institute, saying, "fewer than 0.3 percent of (abortion) patients experience a complication serious enough to require hospitalization." According to U.S. National Cancer Institute. "induced abortion is not associated with an increase in breast cancer risk."

Why don't clinics like these show accounts of the thousands of women who have had successful abortions? Why is it hardly mentioned that many women feel no side effects and can live completely normal, painfree lives afterward? These women always seem to be forgotten in the abortion debate.

I think it is unlikely an employee of Planned Parenthood would take great offense if a patient seeking an abortion decided to continue her pregnancy. But, it is easy to imagine the case would be different for someone who visited a clinic where ultrasounds are named and decided to continue with her abortion.

At a clinic concerned with giving a woman information and encouraging her to make her own decision. without bias, patients wouldn't have to undergo this sort of psychological warfare, traumatizing what already is a tough situation.

Kudos to those pregnancy crisis centers who give women all of the information objectively, regardless of which decision the patients ultimately make.

Alex Peak is a senior in mass communications. Please send comments to opinion@spub.ksu. edu.

U.S. government, citizens leaving Iraq veterans out to dry

As our military ventures continue to deteriorate abroad and the pathetic treatment of returning veterans at home proceeds, some are beginning to wonder if our military isn't on the verge of large-scale upheaval.

Speaking from experience, military units are held together solely though cohesion from top to bottom - from squad to platoon to company, all the way down to the distinction of military from "civvie." When these bonds deteriorate at the highest level, the effects do not stop there, they ripple downward.

HOGG

If soldiers and marines begin to feel they do not matter to the higher-ups or the schmuck on the street, they will stop to wonder why, exactly, they are risking their lives 10,000 miles from anything.

When a soldier runs into fire to retrieve a critically injured friend and later discovers his friend is being kept in the moldy, rat- and cockroach-infested buildings at Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Washington, D.C., he feels an understandable sense of betrayal.

On March 1, the Washington Post reported officials at Walter Reed have ignored family members, veterans groups and members of Congress for years. The "shock and awe" expressed when these findings were made public now is exposed as cynicism and ass-covering. This affects the people on the ground, too.

For those with friends and loved ones, or themselves, stuck at the military's premier hospital, the message is clear - neither the military, the public nor Congress has cared enough for the past three years to take action. Was it foreseeable, just maybe, that having two large military campaigns operating concurrently would require good medical facilities?

The military's lockstep, braindead response has been to ban patients at Walter Reed's Medical Hold Unit from communicating with the press and to impose daily barracks inspections. As anyone from the military can attest, mandatory daily inspections after basic training are almost entirely a form of punishment.

By now, most of us have seen the newly famous picture of a dry erase board bearing the mantra "America is not at war. The Marine Corps is at war; America is at the mall." As this attitude spreads - and only the most desk-bound administrative leaders believe it won't - we will begin to see bitterness and hatred form in the hearts of America's defenders.

Years from now, once the chorus for withdrawal from Iraq is ended, once the yellow ribbons are taken down, once the "support the troops" bumper stickers are consigned to the junkyard, the veterans of the war are going to wonder where their grateful nation went, and perhaps won't be able to find an answer.

If we stay in Iraq and Afghanistan those countries likely will revert to patriarchal, authoritarian regimes - if we leave, they most certainly will. In five, 10, 15 years, when the latest round of dictators is parading in front of the television, will we want to tell the widows, the orphans, the horribly maimed their sacrifice changed nothing?

Even now, Veteran's Administration programs are cut, funding for military housing is cut and medical programs are cut. Beleaguered military members come home, find their children another year older and themselves at the bottom of the

Soon, Americans will have to come face-to-face with the people who carry out our nation's directives - the tired, worn-out and embittered who have shouldered the weight of American nationalism and they will have some things to say to us.

Like so many of our warriors of the past, they might find no one listening.

Jonas Hogg is a senior in sociology, international studies and Russian. Please send comments to opinion@spub.ksu.edu

Collegian

Megan Moser | EDITOR IN CHIEF Heidi Paulson | MANAGING EDITOR Alex Peak | NEWS EDITOR Jacque Haag | CO-COPY CHIEF Jessi Hernandez | CO-COPY CHIEF Scott Girard | CAMPUS EDITOR Logan C. Adams | METRO EDITOR Lacey D. Mackey | FEATURES EDITOR Jonathan Garten | SPORTS EDITOR Elleen Laux | THE EDGE EDITOR Jonas Hogg | OPINION EDITOR stopher Hanewinckel | PHOTO EDITOR Indan Praeger | PRESENTATION EDITOR Royce Haynes | ONLINE EDITOR Cedrique Flemming | TIPOFF EDITOR Courtney Sleypen | AD MANAGER Eddle Rogers | ASST. AD MANAGER

WRITE TO US

Letters can be submitted by e-mail to letters@ spub.ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters should be limited to 250 words. All submitted letters may be edited for length and

CONTACT US Kansas State Collegian Kedzie 103 Manhattan, KS 66502

Display ads.....(785) 532-6560 Classified ads....(785) 532-6555 Delivery .....(785) 532-6555 Newsroom.....(785) 532-6556 news@spub.ksu.edu

TO THE POINT is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority TO THE POINT | opinion is formed. This is the Collegian's official opinion.

Lent a time for renewal, even for non-Christians

Medieval Christians gave up all animal products to observe Lent. Earlier ascetics nearly gave up eating altogether during the period.

In the nine days since the beginning of Lent, many K-State students have given up such fundamental necessities as Facebook.com, Starbucks, or their iPods - true sacrifices, indeed.

In a time when even the nation's poor are obese and our collective cup runneth over, it is easy to overlook the need to deprive oneself.

Forty-one percent of Americans said they have observed Lent by making changes in their personal lifestyles, according to a survey by Scripps Howard News Service and Ohio University.

However, many of those people know nothing of the meaning and the history behind the sacred event. Perhaps more important than simply depriving oneself a pleasure is observing one of the other two tenets of Lent: prayer and almsgiving. Lent is not intended as a purely selfcentered event; it should also be a time to learn more about one's faith and give back to the community.

But even for non-Christians. Lent can be a time of growth and renewal, spiritually or otherwise. The event's timing, at the approximate end of winter each year, lends itself to a "spring cleaning" of sorts. And because others are fasting or sacrificing certain things during the same period, a person might be more likely to feel support in taking on such an endeavor.

Many people do not understand why someone would give up a thing that gives them pleasure unless they had a reason as good as a resurrected Messiah.

But Pope John Paul II said there is joy in the deep spiritual work that makes it possible to find oneself again. He said we often see the need for intellectual and physical effort, but not for spiritual ef-

"The whole period of Lent ... is a systematic call to this joy that comes from the effort of patiently finding oneself again," he said. "Let no one be afraid to undertake this effort."

THE FORUM

forum@spub.ksu.edu

The Forum is the Collegian's reader feedback system. The Forum is edited to eliminate vulgar racist, obscene and libelous comments. The nents are not the opinion of the Collegian nor are they endorsed by the editorial staff.

You printed a Chili's coupon that expired three days before it was printed. There is nothing worse than being a coupon tease.

> Allison Fogle JUNIOR IN CONSUMER SCIENCE AND EDUCATION

What is a forum? A two-um plus a two-um.

Grant Damas SOPHOMORE IN ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING

FROM THE PRESIDENT

Administration considers Webmail switch

All K-Staters share something in common. No. it's not a love for attending K-State sports, nor is it an inherent dislike for 7:30 a.m. classes. Instead, the most common denominator we all share is a K-State e-mail

We all might have had Yahoo! and Hotmail accounts in high school, but now we all have a Webmail address as well. Webmail, however, is not a perfect system. Our administration is looking at having an outside provider like Google coordinate and manage our university e-mail system. Administrators are interested in student opinions, so what better place to ask for student feedback than right here on the opinion page? Do you like Webmail? Do you hate LUCAS MADDY it? What would you change?

Would you support outsourcing our e-mail? Send your comments to maddy@ ksu.edu or Kansas_country@msn.com. Your input will help our administration make the best possible decision for K-State.

Finally, be sure and vote in the general elections Monday and Tuesday of next week. Our vote is our chance to make sure our voices are heard, so get informed and vote.

> Lucas Maddy STUDENT BODY PRESIDENT

PROTESTERS CLASH WITH DANISH POLICE OVER DISPUTED EVICTION

COPENHAGEN, Denmark - Police arrested more than 250 people Thursday at several demonstrations in Copenhagen where protesters threw cobblestones, bottles and paint at police after an anti-terror squad evicted squatters from a building, police said.

Three people were treated for injuries, including a German who was hit on the head, according to a hospital spokesperson. His condition was not serious. Two Danes were treated for minor inju-

The highly publicized eviction drew ire from the squatters and other youth, who viewed the former theater as free public housing for years.

Onlookers clashed with hundreds of police officers shortly after the 7 a.m. eviction, when a helicopter hoisted anti-terror police onto the building's roof. Officers with anti-riot gear sealed off the surrounding streets as police brought out squatters.

Police spokesman Per Larsen said foreigners were probably among those arrested, but he had no details on nationalities. It was unclear how many people were inside the house when the eviction began.

During the afternoon and evening, about 1,000 demonstrators clashed with police on streets nearby, throwing rocks, beer bottles and paint at officers. Police used tear gas to disperse the crowd.

Demonstrators dug up throwing them at police, and erected barricades with garbage containers in several places downtown. They lit bonfires and overturned several cars.

Shops and banks near the evicted house boarded their windows and closed early.

JAPANESE LEADER DENIES EVIDENCE OF COERCION IN ALLEGED SEX SLAVERY

TOKYO - Japan's nationalist prime minister denied Thursday that members of the country's military forced women into sexual slavery during World War II, casting doubt on a past government apology and jeopardizing a fragile detente with his Asian neighbors.

The comments by Shinzo Abe, a member of a group of lawmakers pushing to roll back a 1993 apology to the sex slaves, were his clearest statement as prime minister on military brothels known in Japan as "comfort stations."

Historians say 200,000 women - mostly from Korea and China - served in the Japanese military brothels throughout Asia in the 1930s and '40s.

Many victims say they were kidnapped and forced into sexual slavery by Japanese troops.

But Abe, who since taking office in September has promoted patriotism in Japan's schools and a more assertive foreign policy, told reporters there was no proof the women were forced into prostitution.

"The fact is, there is no evidence to prove there was coercion," Abe said.

evidence in Japanese docu- ter were searching for other obblestones from the streets. ments unearthed in 1992 that survivors, Bena said. historians said showed military authorities had a direct role in working with contractors to forcibly procure women for the brothels.

The documents, which are backed up by accounts from soldiers and victims, said Japanese authorities set up the brothels in response to uncontrolled rape sprees by invading Japanese soldiers in East Asia.

8 HAITIANS DIE, 44 MISSING AFTER BOAT CATCHES FIRE

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic - A boat carrying Haitian migrants caught fire off the coast of the Dominican Republic, leaving at least eight passengers dead and 44 missing, a U.S. Coast Guard spokesman said Thurs-

The victims were traveling from the northern Haitian town of Cap-Haitien to the Turks and Caicos when their boat caught fire 23 miles north of the Dominican Republic, said U.S. Coast Guard spokesman Petty Officer Barry Bena.

Authorities did not know when the blaze occurred, when the migrants set sail or what caused the fire.

Two migrants were pulled from the water Wednesday and brought to a hospital in Montecristi on the Dominican Republic's north coast. They were treated Thursday for first-degree burns, said Dr. Maria Belliard.

Eight of the passengers were found dead Thursday in the Atlantic Ocean.

A U.S. Coast Guard cutter, His remarks contradicted two airplanes and a helicop-

— The Associated Press

TO THE EDITOR

Racism comments display cultural ignorance

Editor,

address

There was an article printed Feb. 28, 2007, "Panel answers race questions from students." On the Collegian Web site, there have been comments submitted that we feel should be addressed. One comment in particular really shows the ignorance and lack of cultural sensitivity in our society.

"... Let's have a panel of white men to discuss stereotypes towards us. Race wouldn't be such an issue if it was not always discussed. When will we ... move on and quit whining and talking about how rough we have it and make it happen for ourselves?"

We believe your criticisms are unwarranted and uneducated. The very concept of race and racism is much deeper than the words we say. If there were never another conversation, panel or dialogue in America racism still would remain.

Racism is more than words; it's an action, and it's a reality. It's a reality that has been prevalent in America since 1492. It's the preconceived ideas and prejudices that have been planted into our very being.

A group of racist people could never talk about their views with anyone in the world but still discriminate and perpetuate their racism toward others by acting on their assumptions and stereotypes. We must talk about race so we can minimize these actions. So we ask that you please refrain from circulating ignorance that hurts the fight against racism and join us in our panels to end

K-State Black Student Union

University should not endorse 'Gay' slur

Editor,

I was in a local coffee shop last week when someone walked in wearing a T-shirt with the K-State Powercat symbol and the words "KU is Gay" written underneath it.

"The principles of the community of K-State condemn discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation, and the university handbook forbids any discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation at K-State incorporate the K-State trademark and the use of the word "gay" as a pejorative is in direct conflict with the official policy of K-State.

A T-shirt slogan that would

In order to comply with copyright law, any use of the Powercat on a commercial product such as a T-shirt must be licensed and approved by the owners of the Powercat.

If approval was given for this misuse of the symbol, the owners of the copyright were wrong to do so.

In any case, the copyright owners should stop this inappropriate use of the university

Dr. Michael Lambert VISITING ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF GEOLOGY

Weapons ban infringes right to bear arms

Editor,

One issue I think everyone should be made aware of is the proposed reinstatement of the Assault Weapons Ban, specifically, H.R. 1022.

This bill, if passed, will ban the sale of almost all semi-automatic rifles and shotguns, not just guns like the AK-47. It will ban guns listed in the 1994 ban and expand on them. The list includes firearms many people would not expect, like common .22 rifles, and can include certain deer rifles. Hunters and collectors no longer can say this does not affect them.

The women of

This is an obvious infringement on our constitutional right to bear arms. This bill would weaken the principles our forefathers gave so much to defend, as well as lead the way to more infringements. To me, this is absolutely unaccept-

The "reasoning" for the ban is to make our country safer by taking assault weapons from criminals. Gun control laws only take firearms away from responsible, law-abiding citizens, which hinders our ability to prevent crime. More to the point, "assault weapons" are used in less than two percent of violent crime. It is ridiculous to think the ban would reduce crime.

I suggest you stand up and make your voice heard on this issue. Take a few short minutes to write to Congress to let them know how their constituents feel.

We have to stay away from the "Let the NRA deal with this" mentality. The gun-owning population thought that way in the early 1990s and did nothing, resulting in the previous AWB. We must not let this treasonous bill gain momentum, we must take a stand

> Cody Wiens SOPHOMORE IN MECHANICAL ENGINEERING

WORTH ITS PRICE

LOT CAN BE SAID ABOUT A LITTLE BIT OF SPACE....

ITWORKS

To give it a try, call or stop by Collegian advertising 103 Kedzie 532-6560

The Collegian is available at 112 locations near you.

COLLEGIAN

NOW LEASING FOR FALL 2007

Founders Hill Apartments 1401 College Avenue (785) 539-4600

Chase Manhattan Apartments 1409 Chase Place (785) 776-3663

STUDIOS, 1, 2, 3, 4 BEDROOM UNITS

Campus East

Apartments 1422 McCain Lane (785) 539-5911

Apartments 2420 Greenbriar Drive (785) 537-7007

Woodway

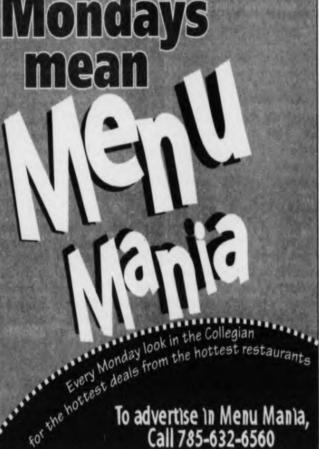

www.firstmanagementinc.com

Kappa Alpha Theta would like to hvite the following men to Format Justin Zack Garrett Rood Josh Evans on Unruh Steven Clar Tony Kinka Doug Cummin. Gavin Stru

Les Templeton Jon Spicer Jared Lund Phil White Michael Jur Brett Reagan Matt Bruc Brigham St Robby Bry Alex C

Clint Mundell

5 players to celebrate senior day

Upperclassmen finish with national honors, shot at postseason play

By Jonathan Garten KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

After attending three universities in five years, senior Jermaine Maybank is ready for his senior night.

Maybank started his collegiate career at Independence Community College in Independence, Kan., where he graduated with an associate's degree in education in 2004. He also played basketball for two years, averaging 12.1 points per game as a sophomore.

Maybank spent the next two years earning his bachelor's degree from St. John's in Queens, N.Y. However, because he tore the patellar tendon on his right knee and received a medical redshirt for the 2004-2005 season, he still had one year of eligibility remaining.

That's why Saturday's game with Oklahoma (15-13, 6-9 Big 12) will be Maybank's first official senior night.

"I didn't have a traditional senior night at (St. John's)," Maybank said. "That makes this pretty big for me and my family."

Maybank came to K-State on Sept. 12, 2006. He is pursuing a master's degree in college student personnel.

He only can play for K-State for one year, and picked a good one to do it. K-State (20-10, 9-6) has had one of its best seasons in the last 20

By picking up their 20th victory Saturday, the Wildcats reached the 20-win plateau in the regular season for the first time since 1988. They also ensured a winning conference record for the first time since 1989, when they still played in the Big 8 Conference.

"I'm lucky," Maybank said. "I'm just happy to be here. I came at the right time with the right coach. I have a great group of guys that are around me. When you have good people and good coaches, then good things are going to happen."

Catrina Rawson | COLLEGIAN

K-State's Jermaine Maybank, right, watches from the bench during the Kansas game Feb. 19 at Bramlage Coliseum. Maybank attended three universities in five years and will complete his senior season here at K-State.

One of those good things could be a trip to the NCAA Tournament, a place the Wildcats have not been since 1996.

A win Saturday will give K-State 10 Big 12 wins.

There never has been a Big 12 team with 20 wins overall and 10 conference wins that has missed the NCAA Tournament.

"It's a big game for us to get into the NCAA Tournament, and it's a big game as far as seniors because it's our last time playing at Bramlage Coliseum," senior Lance Harris said. "We

By Dayne Logan

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

cape the suddenly cold Kansas weather as they travel to Beaumont, Texas, to participate in the Lamar Classic

John's (0-6) Friday, Lamar (8-3) Saturday and California-Santa Barbara

The Wildcats (7-1) will play St.

K-State enters the weekend on a four-game winning streak, while the host of the tournament, Lamar, is on a seven-game winning streak of its lected four victories in a similar tournament hosted by Ohio State. K-State knocked off the Buckeyes twice and collected wins against James Madison

"We found ways to win," coach

Last weekend the Wildcats col-tournament

(3-5) Sunday.

and Seton Hall.

The K-State baseball team will es-

We got to take care of our home floor against Oklahoma."

In addition to Maybank and Harris, K-State has three other seniors - Cartier Martin, Akeem Wright and Serge Afeli - who will be playing their last game at Bramlage.

AFELI, STEWART NAMED ACADEMIC ALL-BIG 12

Senior Serge Afeli and junior Clent Stewart were named to the 2007 Academic All-Big 12 Men's Basketball Team Tuesday.

Afeli was one of 10 players selected to the league's first team. Stewart, also Academic All-Big 12 last season, became the first Wildcat to repeat

KMAN-AM 1350. "We did a great job of finding a way to get on base and player who is having a particularly good start to the 2007 season. Wiley is batting .370 with two home runs, seven RBI and a .593 slugging per-

Vasquez also are playing well. Rumler is hitting .333 with four doubles and a home run, while Vasquez, despite receiving limited playing time, has reached base safely in 6-of-13 at-bats.

and Chase Bayuk have been impressive in their first two starts of the sea-

Hutt already has collected two wins this year and has an ERA of 1.32. He also has eight strikeouts and surrendered just three walks. Bayuk

On the mound, juniors Brad Hutt

Seniors Eli Rumler and Eddie executing when we had to."

don't think we got enough wins yet. Academic All-Big 12 honors since Ivan Sulic in 2001-02.

MARTIN EARNS ALL-DISTRICT 12

The National Association of Basketball Coaches selected senior Cartier Martin to its 2006-07 All-District 12 second team.

The 150 players, who are selected from 15 districts, are eligible for the NABC Division I All-America Team. That roster will be announced at the end of the season.

District 12 includes universities in the states of Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and Oklahoma.

This season, Martin leads the team in scoring with 16.5 points per game.

K-State's pitching staff might find a tougher challenge from Saturday's batting .381 and are led by sophomore Brian Lloyd, who is hitting .474 with six doubles, a home run and 13

There are four other Cardinal players with batting averages higher than .400. Additionally, only one of Lamar's end, but Lamar's very tough at home," luca and freshman Daniel Rose, who are both batting .385. The Red Storm back-to-back losses to California last weekend. Junior Chris Fox leads the team in batting with a .478 average.

is batting .262 as a team.

"We're getting better each week-

St. John's is led by senior Sam De-

UC Santa Barbara is coming off nine starters is hitting below .300.

Brad Hill said in a radio interview on has one victory to his name and an

Sophomore Byron Wiley is one game with Lamar. The Cardinals are ERA of 2.25.

1-MINUTE DRILL

Staff reports

RUN | Track team returns to Iowa 3rd time this month

The K-State track and field team should feel comfortable this weekend at the lowa State Last Chance Qualifier. That's because it will be the team's third trip to Ames, lowa, in the past month.

Bonds

This time, however, there will be only four making the trip. Juniors Morgan Bonds and Laci Heller will travel to Ames, along with sophomore Liliani Mendez and freshman Beverly Ramos.

Both Mendez and Ramos will be running the mile in hopes of qualifying for the NCAA Indoor Championships coming up next weekend, Bonds, who provisionally qualified for the Indoor Championships in the 800-meterace, is going for the same reason.

"It is the last time for me to try and get the mark that will get me into the (Indoor Championships)," Bonds said. "It will be good for me to get a little more practice at running the Bonds won the 600-yard race last week at the Big 12 meet with a time of 1:20.05, a school

"If I feel good, I should be able to get the automatic mark," Bonds said. "Really, my goa this weekend is to go out and race a little bit faster than I have Heller, who is provisionally qualified and placed third last week in the weight throw with a mark of 63-7 1/2, said practice has helped this week, and she hopes it will show in her throws. "It's there — I just have to do it and execute it," Heller said. "A couple weeks ago we changed my form. This extra week really helps because I'm getting more reps in."

Heller is trying to qualify for nationals for the third time. If she does qualify, she will join ophomore weight thrower Loren Groves at the

- Ryne Witt

TEN | Iowa State match postponed until next week

The women's tennis team was preparing to face Iowa State today in its Big 12 Conference season opener, but after a blizzard warning was issued for Ames, lowa, the match was postponed.

The match will be rescheduled next week. Further information was not available at press

No. 63 K-State (2-4, 0-0 Big 12) will go up

Klimova against Missouri (4-3, 0-2) Saturday. K-State still will be without junior Tamar Kvaratskhelia, who was injured two weeks ago. Although Missouri has struggled against other Big 12 teams, coach Steve Bietau said he still is convinced of the toughness of the "Our schedule is very tough," he said. "It's designed to get us to go to the NCAA (tournament), and the margin for error is very slim. Dealing with the loss of teammates is not fun for anybody. There's some disappointment, certainly, that we are not the team we had hoped to be right now." Junior Tereza Prochazkova, who played her first matches last week since being sidelined with a knee injury in October, said she will be looking forward to the competition playing in the conference brings. "We're looking forward to the stiff competition against the teams that we can beat if we play well," she said. When it comes to other factors in the matches, junior Olga Klimova said she wants to see improvement. "I want to see the team improve," she said.

"If we improve and compete with them, the Big 12 matches and the end-of-the-year tournament will come into play. Every single match is important and I'm excited about fighting for the match and trying to win."

-Wendy Haun

No room to spare on Kansas City roster for aging quarterback

Baseball team heads south for Lamar Classic

Don't feel sorry for Trent Green. The Kansas City Chiefs signed career-backup quarterback Damon

Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN

Shortstop Drew Biery fields a ground ball during K-State's game against Kansas

Wesleyan last season at Tointon Family

Stadium. The Wildcats travel to Beaumont.

Texas this weekend to participate in the Lamar Classic baseball tournament.

Huard to a threeyear, $7.5 million contract Tuesday, indicating they don't want Green back in 2007. On top of that, the Chiefs are looking to trade Green, The Kansas City Star reported Wednesday.

And while there is a strong chance Green will remain a Chief - it will be hard to find a team that wants to pay his $7.2 million base salary - the writing is on the wall. The Chiefs' plan for the future doesn't include Green, who will be 37 in July.

The Chiefs want Huard and Brodie Croyle, Kansas City's third-round selection in last year's NFL Draft, to battle for the starting spot. Huard, a backup since he entered the NFL, seems to be the perfect candidate to keep the Chiefs' quarterback position warm until Croyle develops.

There just doesn't seem to be room for Green on the Chiefs' roster. He needs to move on, whether that means retirement or renegotiating his

But if anyone can handle being forced out because of old age, it's Green. He's experienced a career full of rejection, disappointment and bittersweet moments.

In 1993, Green was selected by the San Diego Chargers in the eighth round with the 222nd pick of the draft. He was the eighth quarterback and the third-to-last player picked.

Green spent the next few years trying to find a team. He even was cut by the British Columbia Lions, a Canadian Football League team, in 1994.

Green finally got his chance to start in 1998. He proved his skeptics wrong, throwing for 3,441 yards, 23 touchdowns and only 11 intercep-

The numbers he put up in Washington impressed St. Louis Rams coach Dick Vermeil so much, Green was given the keys to Vermeil's highpower offense in 1999. It seemed like Green, a grinder who had spent six years bouncing around professional football, finally would get a break to go in his direction. But once again, it appeared Green was cursed. In the Rams' third preseason game, San Diego's Rodney Harrison ended his season with a hit to the knee.

Kurt Warner, another journeyman quarterback, spent time playing in NFL Europe and the Arena Football League and bagging groceries at a Hy-Vee in Iowa prior to taking over for Green. Warner passed for 4,353 yards, 41 touchdowns and just 13 interceptions. To add salt to the wound, Warner also led the Rams to a Super Bowl XXXIV title.

After spending the 2000 season as Warner's backup, Green followed Vermeil once again, this time to Kansas City, where he would once again get the opportunity to start.

Green's career with the Chiefs had a rough start. In 2001, he led the NFL in interceptions with 24.

However, in the next few years, Green's fortune turned around. He went to the Pro Bowl in 2003 and 2005. He also threw for more than 4,000 yards in 2003, 2004 and 2005.

But it might have been the way

Green ran that many Chiefs fans held dear to their hearts. While he certainly wasn't known for being light on his feet, Green always has risked bodily harm for every inch.

However, that daredevil mentality got him in trouble Sept. 10, 2006, when Cincinnati's Robert Geathers delivered a devastating shot while Green was attempting a slide. The hit kept him sidelined for two months.

In his absence, Huard threw 11 touchdowns and kept the Chiefs' playoff dreams afloat by leading them to five wins. When Green returned to the field, obviously affected by his severe concussion, he struggled, and it didn't take long for fans to begin calling for Huard.

Green has taken the Chiefs as far as he possibly can take them. And although it's hard for him to just walk away from something that he's poured his soul into for the last six years, it's time to move on.

If anyone can do it, it's Green.

Jonathan Garten is a junior in print journalism. Please send comments to sports@spub.ksu.edu.

WEQ | Equestrian to compete in 2 shows this weekend

The K-State equestrian team will be host to two shows this weekend at Fox Creek Stables, including a western show Saturday and a varsity head-to-head match with Texas A&M

K-State will send 24 Western riders, including seven freshmen, to face five other schools, including Black Hawk College, Iowa State, Missouri State, Northwest Missouri State and Truman State

Saturday's Western show will be split into two shows, beginning at 9 a.m. with reining. After a one-hour break, the second show will begin at 1 p.m. with horsemanship. The show also will feature novice, intermediate, advanced and beginner horsemanship and open reining.

Sunday's varsity show will begin at 9 a.m. If weather permits, the riders will ride in the outdoor arena, and the show will start with the Ancillary classes. However, if the riders can only use the indoor arena, Ancillary classes will be cancelled and the show will start with Equitation over Fences.

Obama rep addresses national teleconference

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Campus newspapers across the nation participated yesterday in the first of a series of teleconferences with members u, of the presidential campaign of Sen. Barack Obama, D-Ill.

Bill Burton, national press secretary for the Obama for America Campaign, led a question-and-answer session for college journalists.

Q: How is Sen. Obama planning to make his campaign accessible to college students? How is he going to try and get them to vote?

A: Well, he is committed to making sure that college students and young folks everywhere are an important part of this campaign.

If you look at his schedule so far, he's spent a lot of time already on college campuses, and if you listen to what he says, he "" specifically points to the fact that at every important juncture in our history, it was young folks who stepped and forced the change to happen - as he puts it, put their shoulder to no the wheel of history in order to make things better than they were. So he considers this to be another such opportunity.

Q: What are Sen. Obama's views on global warming, and what is his plan to address it? A: Sen. Obama has been committed to a new energy policy in this country that decreases our dependence on foreign sources of energy, specifically oil, because he thinks that it will 1) help to relieve the global climate crisis; 2) create a situation where we're not so dependent on parts of the world where we're actually helping to fund both sides of the war on terror; and 3) we rely more on renewable energy sources that are cleaner for the environment and ultimately cheaper for the American consumer and also help us create jobs here in the country.

O: The L.A. Times ran an article claiming Sen. Obama would need the black vote in order to win, and received a lot of backlash. People said the idea was very racist, to think a black candidate would need his own race to win. What was Mr. Obama's reaction to that? A: Sen. Obama is proud to be rooted in the African-American community. From his early work in community organizing in some of Chicago's poorest neighborhoods to the groundbreaking law he passed outlawing racial profiling in Illinois, he's always fought to make America a place where you are what you are, and there should be no barriers to your success based on what your race is. As far as the African-American vote in this country, I don't think anybody expected that African-Americans as a group would vote in a monolithic fashion. Sen. Obama wants to and knows that he ought to fight for

O: Sen. Obama has come under fire for aligning himself with the African-American community because some allege he is not African American. Is that something he is concerned about?

every vote that he earns or gets.

A: Sen. Obama actually is African-American. I think that he's running this campaign in such a way that he's fighting for and earning votes from folks in every single community.

Q: I meant his family emigrated more recently and was not part of the slave history.

A: I get what you're saying, and regardless of what folks' perceptions are of him, he's going through a process where he has to introduce himself to the American people and make sure people know about his background and know what makes him tick, to make sure he's the right guy to be president right now, whether the questions are about race or the views on energy policy or national security or any one of those things.

Q: Sen. Obama passed a bill expanding the Federal Pell Grants program. What can we expect from Obama in terms of making college more affordable for students?

A: He is absolutely committed to making sure college is affordable and accessible to everyone who wants to go. He doesn't think that you should be denied college education based on where you were born or how much money your folks made. It should be based on whether or not you want to go and whether or not you're committed to learning.

Q: What is Sen. Obama going to bring to the democratic campaign that would be different from Sen. Hillary Clinton, D-N.Y., and how his campaign is going to be something new for the Democratic Party?

A: Sen. Obama doesn't consider this a race against any one individual or even a group of individuals. He's running because he thinks that he is, at this time, the most suited to be president, for a variety of reasons. He has a vision that if we all work together and that if the folks who sign on to help his campaign and the people that vote for him later on are all committed to this idea, that we can transform the way that we do politics in this country. Then we can transform politics in this country.

There are differences, and people will talk about what is the difference between this health care plan and that healthcare plan ... but most importantly is the sense that Sen. Obama truly believes that we can transform this country. He's not just running because he wants to win. He's running because he wants to transform business in Wash-

Chef provides Mediterranean workshop in dining center

By Kristin Hodges KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Scents of the Mediterranean wafted through the Derby Dining Center Gold Room as Chef Taji Marie prepared everything from chorizo and chickpeas to couscous pilaf with apricots and almonds for the Flavors of the Mediterranean Culinary Enhancement Workshop Thursday.

The Department of Hotel, Restaurant, Institution Management and Dietetics and Housing and Dining Services sponsored the third annual workshop, said Melissa A. Schrader, registered dietitian for Housing and Dining Services and instructor in the de-

"We just want it to be a fun event for everyone attending," she said.

Workshop attendees watched as Marie added oils and spices to the dishes she prepared. When she finished, the guests tried samples of the cuisine.

Guests also participated in a hands-on workshop and ate a Mediterranean lunch.

Gordon Andrews, professor of veterinary pathology, atChristopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN

Chef Taji Marie adds olive oil to a hot pan during a cooking demonstration Thursday in the Golden Room at the Derby Dining Center. Marie is a Mediterranean-style chef from California who came to K-State for the Culinary Enhancement Workshop.

tended the event after his wife bought him the registration as a gift.

"I do most of the cooking at home," he said, "and I've always cooked."

Andrews said he has attended culinary workshops before and found them to be a fun way to spend the day.

After the course with Marie, he said he plans to start cooking Mediterranean cuisine.

Schrader said 43 food service professionals, alumni and supporters of the College of Human Ecology registered for the event, which cost $100 for a day of demonstrations of Spanish, Moroccan and Greek food.

"The registrations have made it possible for students to attend at a reduced cost," she

Schrader said students in the department will attend the workshop today and will go through the same demonstrations, but for only $2.

She said the workshop featured Asian food in previous years, but the organizers try to vary the cuisine.

New artist to perform at K-State

By Brett King KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Pop-rock singer Sarah Peacock will perform at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Union Station in the K-State Student Union.

Using a blend of pop, rock, jazz and classic rock 'n' roll, Peacock developed her own pop-rock sound, according to her Web site, www.sarahpeacockmusic.com. Her lighthearted and down-to-earth personality help her present a true look into the life of a musician, according to the site.

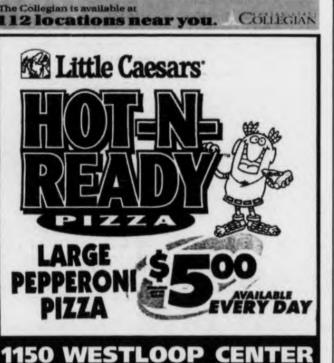

A native of Atlanta, Peacock is on a nine-city tour through cities like Denver, New Orleans and Birmingham, Ala.

Ben Hopper, program adviser for K-State's Union Program Council, the event's sponsor, said council members decided to invite Peacock out after hearing her perform last fall in Little Rock, Ark.

"We bring a variety of acts in, and this is one that we really liked, so we figured that we would bring her in," Hopper said.

Erica Boatman, entertainment committee co-chair for UPC, compared Peacock to Regina Spektor.

"She is all over the board as far as what genres are," Boatman said. "She is pretty fun and funky, which appeals to a lot of people."

MANHATTAN

Car Clinic, Inc. will re-open Monday, March

NEW: AGGIEVILLE PICK-UP STATION (Calling for cab from Aggieville not necessary)

Two ways to get a ride home!

Aggieville Pick-up Station

at the 12th & Bluemont Willie's Car Wash

Call 539-0480 if not in the Aggieville area

Every Weekend! Thursday, Friday, and Saturday 11pm - 3am

A free service provided by the K-State SGA.

MCCULLOUGH DEVELOPMENT says

Don't move!

Stay with McCullough and save money, time and all the headaches of moving.

mdiproperties.com 785.776.3804

Local, online retailers attend Fair Trade social

By Lola Shrimplin KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Members of Ecumenical Campus Ministries and representatives of local businesses gathered Thursday night for the Fair Trade Social at the Crossroads of ECM building.

"Its an issue of humanity," said Sarah Mitts, senior in business management.

Fair Trade means an equitable and fair partnership between marketers in North America and producers in other parts of the world, according to www.globalexchange. org. It is a global issue, Mitts said

Citing Starbucks as an example, Mitts said farmers in Africa are offered 20 cents per pound for coffee beans, when the global price is about $1 per pound.

Starbucks sells the beans to U.S. consumers for $10 to $20 per pound.

Local businesses sold their products at the social, including People's Grocery and Thread.

Also attending were Brady Swenson and Alicia Erickson of Two Hands Worldshop.

The representatives of the online store, www.twohandsworldshop.com, said they plan to open a store in Lawrence this summer.

Swenson and Erickson became involved with fair trade when Swenson spent time with the Peace Corps in Guyana and dealt with people directly when buying food and supplies.

Erickson later joined him, and both discovered different ways to buy locally.

"Trade is fundamentally a human interaction," Swenson said.

Swenson and Erickson became involved with organizations that build cooperatives, allowing people to earn a living wage while bypassing multinational corporations, Swenson said

Using bananas as an example, Swenson said sales are controlled by five companies, including Dole and Chiquita.

"Producers are left behind completely," he said.

Using fair trade, producers earn a fair wage for their products and are able to sustain themselves and their families,

"The cool thing about fair trade is it's a consumer movement," he said.

Erickson agreed, saying consumers have the choice of who to buy from. She said consumers are responsible for keeping Fair Trade going and making sure the marketers in other parts of the world are able to make a living and support themselves.

"It's about fixing something that is very, very wrong," she Alicia Erickson and Brady Swenson, owners of Two Hands Worldshop, came to Crossroads of ECM Thursday night to speak about their experiences with Fair Trade. Two Hands Worldshop is a distributor of Fair Trade items located in Lawrence, Kan.

Matt Castro COLLEGIAN

FICTION

Earbud Evil | A loss, then something is found

By Logan C. Adams KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Editor's note: This is the fifth segment of "Earbud Evil," a fictional story the Collegian is publishing daily for the next three weeks. This story follows Alex, a fictional K-State student, as he deals with a campus-wide crisis that threatens the

Though the names of real people will accompany made-up characters, all events are fictional. This is intended for entertainment and is not factually based.

I could hear myself think.

Then I stepped into Bramlage, where the amassed fans taught me the true meaning of "loud."

Studying had taken a few minutes longer than I'd intended, and traffic was worse than I'd planned for. The clock told me less than 20 minutes remained before the men's basketball team played the University of Kansas.

My seating - or should I say, standing - options, in relation to the playing surface, were "far" and "farther." I took the best

I was standing next to a group of young women, likely freshmen, in the same black "K-State Proud" T-shirts most people in the student section were wearing. The people behind the campaign said they were meant to serve a good purpose, but I thought they looked like a cult.

Let's just hope they don't start telling everyone to drink

I got along just fine with my neighbors until the band started playing the Wabash Cannonball and I realized what sort of people were next to me.

I turned with the music's opening notes. My neighbors did

I clapped my hands to the beat. They did not.

I started rocking back and forth when the main part of the song began. Again, they did not. My curse had held strong once

No matter how hard I try, I always wind up watching basketball games with lazy fans - the ones who are too good to clap, or cheer, or Wabash. They just stand there, gawk for a few hours and block the view of any real fans who get to the

My friends tell me I shouldn't worry over it, that I shouldn't care what other people do. As much as I'd like to, though, it's hard to Wabash properly when the person next to you is not. You look like you're doing something naughty.

I kept rocking for the whole song, despite my uptight neighbors, in hopes of getting them to join. It didn't work.

They didn't worry me much longer. I looked at the thriving mass more carefully and noticed dozens of Jayhawk fans who had infiltrated the student section around me. They were either K-State students who rooted for KU (traitors) or KU fans who bought student tickets from K-State students (again, traitors).

Then I saw Bill. He was wearing blue and red.

Blue and red are Jayhawk colors, which did not belong anywhere near Bill, who was a dyed-in-the-purple K-State fan. But he was wearing them none the same.

"At least he left his iPod at home," I thought. "It would be a shame if someone stole it."

The game started. The game ended. Everyone knows what happened between those moments, so I won't write about it anymore.

I remembered the after-game party and got there after 30 minutes of waiting on traffic. It seemed more like a wake when I got there, though.

"Hey, thanks for coming," Katie said as I came in the door. "It's not as wild as I thought it would be, but at least the food won't all go to waste." The stereo played songs from K-State's marching band with the volume down low, like a weird sort of funeral. About 15 people milled about, talking about how they thought the game could have been won and cursing the team from Lawrence.

"It's a good thing you got going on here," I said as I cracked open a cheap can of beer. "It's a chance to mourn."

I thought about raising a toast to what might have been, then thought the better of it and just sipped the beer. It was ice cold and thin.

"There's always next..." Katie started saying when the stereo started popping out all sorts of terrible squealing and squawking and sputtering. She rushed over, killed the volume and pulled an iPod with a mini-transmitter out of a hiding spot.

"I don't know what it is with this thing, it can't handle strong frequencies or something," Katie said.

I asked for it and she passed it to me. The screen said the title was "The Sunflower State Sports Talk Show." I asked her where she got it.

"It's some podcast," she said. "Rhett told me he really liked

Only Phone Book with Students' Cell Phone Numbers

Phone Book

- Coupons with the Greatest Deals
- A Menu Guide with local restaurants' menus

Purchase Yours in Kedzie 103

Clear Creek Independent School District,

NUMEROUS OPENINGS: Secondary level - all certification fields (Openings due to Extensive growth) lew high school opening 2007/2008 school year, clementary level - all certification fields

(Openings due to Extensive growth)
CCISD is the only large school district in state to have earned the th (Certified) $ 3,000 sign-on bonus • Science (Certified) $ 3,000 sign-or mus • Bilingual (Certified) $2,000 sign-on bonus + $3,000 annual stipend

Interested individuals should call (281) 284-0150 www.ccisd.net Come see us at the Education On-Campus Interview on Monday, March 5" in Bramlage Coliseum

Everything 25~75% off

Ben Sherman

Modern Amusement*

New Merchandise Spring Line is Here

BCBGIRLS.

Penauir

Mon-Wed 11-6 Thurs-Sat 11-8 785.539.2880 710 N. Manhattan Ave

CLINTON | Faculty, students encourage Landon Lecture attendees to disregard political affiliations, listen with open minds

WEBCAM | Cameras provide live feed of Aggieville at new Web site

continued from page 1

in 2004. He also created the William J. Clinton Foundation with the mission "to strengthen the capacity of people in the United States and throughout the world to meet the challenges of global interdependence."

Clinton served as president from 1993 to 2001. Prior to his presidency, he was elected Arkansas attorney general without opposition in 1976 and served as Arkansas governor from 1978 to 1980 and 1982 to 1992.

In 1998, Clinton was the second U.S. president to be

continued from page 1

lic," he said.

services.

"We caught someone doing

Some people have mixed

Julie Nelson, server at

"I just hope I don't do anything embarrassing," said

Melissa Jandera, sophomore in family studies and human

COLLEGIAN

OVERTISE.

Donate plasma and earn

CASH

TODAY!

Wine

Liquor

532-6560

OPENSUNDA

Kite's and K-State alumna, said she thinks Webcams are something he really shouldn't have been doing out in pub-feelings about having their actions shown on the Web.

impeached by the U.S. House of Representatives. He was tried in the Senate and found not guilty of the charges brought against him.

Clinton will be remembered for having eight strong years of economic growth, as well as being the first modern president to be impeached, said Joe Aistrup, head of the Department of Political Science. Aistrup said he will listen for inconvenient truths during Clinton's lecture.

"Any president of any political stripe is given a little bit of leeway to say things that we may not always want to hear, but represent a little in marketing, said it would be fun to see his drunken friends

"I'm not freaked out about

Levin said people shouldn't be too worried about having something bad shown online because visitors only will be able to view whatever is happening at the moment, not on camera.

it," he said.

previous activity.

bit of political truths that we need to hear," Aistrup said.

Joe Badger, KSU College Republicans public relations chair, said he plans to attend the lecture. Regardless of whether one likes Clinton, he was president of the United States, which is a position that demands respect, said Badger, junior in political science.

"Whatever he does speak about, people should take into consideration," Badger said. "I think that's fair with almost every speaker. In a university setting, you're supposed to keep an open mind, and there's supposed to be diversity of thought."

Chris Kennedy, senior in political science, started a Facebook.com event group titled "Bill Clinton Landon Lecture" on Feb. 21, after tickets for the lecture became available. Despite personal political views, Kennedy said students and faculty members should enter Clinton's lecture with an open mind.

"He's been in a unique position," Kennedy said. Whatever he brings to the table is something we don't often get to hear at Kansas State, and it'll be a great opportunity for everyone in attendance."

LENT | Restaurants promote, add new vegetarian, fish entrees

continued from page 1

a month now, so I thought we ought to add them. We want to serve the needs of the customers, and we knew that there would be people wanting those types of products this season, so we decided to do it."

Several other restaurants either have added fish products to their menus or are promoting their existing fish products. Buffalo Wild Wings added both a fish and chips special and a fish and popcorn shrimp special for the season, and Arby's is selling two fish sandwiches for $4. Kentucky Fried Chicken added a fish sandwich to its

However, some restaurants are not concerned about the influence Lent will have on business.

Dwight Denman, manager of Gumby's Pizza, said he doesn't think business will be affected enough to change anything.

"I'm not even sure when Lent is," he said. "But we have a $3.99 special on large cheese pizzas, and there are always choices for vegetables."

Alison Mense, sophomore in economics, said she is able to avoid eating meat even at places that don't make special additions to the menu.

ONLINE

"It's what you make it," she said. "There are always ways to avoid it, and there are options at pretty much every place if you look for them. It's not inconvenient. It's just something that we do."

Aside from resisting the temptation to eat meat, a concern for those participating in Lent is the mercury level in some fish products. According to the Environmental Protection Agency's Web site, www. epa.gov, mercury makes its way into bodies of water after soil decomposition; volcanic eruptions; breaking down of rocks; or the burning of coal, wood, oil or other natural gases. Most fish contain some level of mercury, but some are safer than others.

Shark, king mackerel, swordfish and tilefish are among the most dangerous and should be consumed sparingly, according to the EPA.

Shrimp, canned light tuna, salmon and catfish on average contain smaller amounts of mercury and are safer for consumption.

Fast-food chains typically use fish that contain low levels of mercury.

BEDROOMS

1419 Leavenworth #2

BEDROOMS

BEDROOMS

Royal Towers 1700 N. Manhattan #402 Mon- Fri 2:00-4:00

1611 Laramle #2

3:30-5:30 12:30-2:30

2:00-4:00

5:30-7:30

12:00-2:00

8:00-11:00a 3:30-6:00

12:00-2:00

1:00-3:00

through word of mouth,

"We really haven't done any formal advertising," he said.

Levin said.

The site has received hits from 30 different countries, Levin said. He said many of the hits come from alumni, soldiers in Iraq, students studying abroad and other people no longer in Manhattan.

"People want to watch what's going on participate, but everyone can't be here," Levin said. "Aggieville has a history. It has myths about it. Everyone has their own stories of their time in Aggieville."

Since 1974

1125 Laramie Suite C

Manhattan, KS 66502

785-537-0205

neat but was not sure she "It's no big-brother attempt liked being recorded all the to analyze," he said. Rail and Pennington said

We've got the stories you've got to read.

The Royal Purple yearbook is available in Kedzie 103 or call 532-6555.

However, the cameras' main purpose is not to catch people doing bad things or help the Riley County Police Department.

"This is not just about Jeff Stegeman, sophomore security or reporting it,"

YOU are always

#1 with us!

Claflin Books and Copies

ZLB Plasma Services

1130 Gardenway

Manhattan, KS 66502 785-776-9177

www.zibplasma.com

Only 5 miles west of

Manhattan on Fort

Riley Blvd.

said Garrett Pennington, information technology specialist at Varney's. "The core of the site is about community. It's a social site."

The Web site still is under construction, and its builders say improvements are on the

"We're really trying to make it a community-driven site," said Travis Rail, Varney's I.T. specialist.

the Web site eventually will show events, concerts, drink specials and other features users can personalize to their

Almost all of the Web site's popularity has developed

Moore Property Management

4 Bedrooms 4 Baths

1120 & 1122 Pierre

4 Bedrooms 2 Baths

923 Bluemont "A"

923 Bluemont "B"

1614 Humboldt

712 Laramie "B"

1712 Colorado

3 Bedrooms 2 Baths

927 Fremont

1539 Campus

3 Bedrooms 1 Bath

2461 Hobbs

2018 Anderson Plus numerous 2 bedroom

and 1 bedroom apartments

View our properties at www.moorepropertymanagement.com

catfish fillets at www.kstatecollegian.com.

Lent observers can check out recipes for marinated wild salmon and quick

NOW LEASING FOR FALL 2007 Check out our model showings now!

With 900 apartments in the Manhattan area, we can find a place for you!

BEDROOMS

1119 Laramie #5 Mon,Wed,Thurs 5:30-7:00

4:00-7:00 5:00-7:00

1722 Laramie #9

11:30-1:00

12:00-2:00 Thurs 11:30-1:00

1941 College Heights #4

Mon-Thurs 3:00-5:00

1854 Claflin #14

Mon.Wed.Frl

4:00-6:00 2:00-4:00 Tues, Thurs

Wareham - 418 Poyntz #603

1:30 - 5:00 10:00-2:00

Aggie Village - 1215 Laramie Mon-Fri 1:00-5:00

10:00-2:00

925 Denison #4

1803-1807 College Heights

View at 925 Denison #4 Mon,Wed,Fri 6:00-8:00 6:00-8:00pm

5:00-7:00 Tues, Thurs

12:00-2:00

Royal Towers 1700 N. Manhattan #203

Mon,Wed,Frl

Tues, Thurs 1:00-3:00 12:00-2:00 STUDIOS Wareham 418 Poyntz #316 Mon,Wed,Frl 12:00-4:00

Fri Sat

785.776.3804 mdiproperties.com Saturday Office Hours: 10am-2pm

McCullough Development

(Undergraduate session)

Call 776-5577 CPIZZA SHUTTLE

Oral Presentations: 10:00 am to Noon

1:00 pm to 4:00 pm

(Concurrent graduate sessions)

Poster Display: 10:00 am to 4:00 pm Poster Q&A: 11:30 am to 1:30 pm Award Ceremony: 4:30 pm

Come listen to students talk about their research! Sponsored by The Graduate School and Graduate Student Council.

Friday, March 2, 2007, K-State Student Union 2nd Floor Drinks are provided.

Spring inspiration

Classic, new shoe styles appear on bridal scene for this wedding season

By Hannah Blick KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Planning a wedding can be stressful. Just ask Bridget McGuire, senior in microbiology.

"It is definitely a lot of work," said McGuire, a bride to be. "Since I'm also graduating this spring, it has made things even more tough."

Between sending out hundreds of invitations, deciding on the best cake flavor and making sure the florist knows when to show up, couples and their families might feel overwhelmed. However, amid all the hustle and bustle of the planning process, brides know there is one small, yet significant, decision to be made. It's a decision that will help determine the level of their weddings' style and comfort - brides everywhere want to locate the perfect wedding shoe.

"I haven't really thought about the shoes too much yet," McGuire said. "But I know it's important, and I'm sure I'll find exactly what I love."

Marissa Moeder, owner of Celebrations of the Heart, a bridal boutique, detailed several fresh styles for the spring wedding season, including shoes ranging from ballet flats to stiletto heels.

"One new trend we've noticed is the popularity of the 1940s-style heel," Moeder said. "It's covered on the heel, open down the sides and then typically is open-toed with straps over the top of

Other popular styles that seem to appear every season include ballet flats and formal flip-flops, Moeder said.

These basic varieties offer brides the ultimate in comfort and dependability, and with all else there is to deal with, that can be a big plus.

"I'm really open for any type of shoe, as long as it's comfortable," Mc-Guire said.

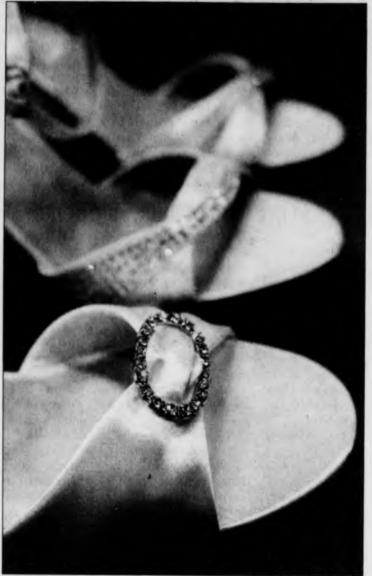

Wedges have gained popularity in the casual fashion scene over the past few years, and last year designers tried to introduce them in the world of bridal boutiques and nuptial catalogs. Not too many brides are willing to wear wedges, though, Moeder said.

"The wedges are just chunkier, and most brides are looking for more of a slimmer, feminine heel," Moeder said. "We haven't had too many women show an interest in them."

Moeder also shared a few other bridal footwear trends for the spring. Some brides are choosing to dye their shoes blue to satisfy the age-old rhyme of something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue. Others are opting to march down the aisle barefoot.

"Occasionally, a bride will say she wants to wear her tennis shoes," Moeder said. "But the mother always steps in and says 'No, you will wear heels on your wedding day!' They usually listen, too."

The bride is not, however, the only one with feet that matter. Many bridesmaids purchase dye-able heels and color them to match their dresses. Bridal colors to look for this season include a pink tea rose, turquoise, and more offbeat, a brown espresso bean. Ivory is typically a classic spring color as well, Moeder said.

Catrina Rawson | COLLEGIAN

1940s-style shoes are making a comeback. Celebrations of the Heart, located at 401 Poyntz Ave., has these rhinestone-studded shoes in stock, ready for customers to try on.

Wedding tips

Easy handmade stationery

Stationery doesn't have to be expensive to impress. Personalize invitations, programs and thank-you notes by using an embosser to starmp prepackaged cards and envelopes. Imprint card stock to cover matchbooks or make napkin rings.

Typewriter guest book

Set out an old-fashioned typewriter with long sheets of paper for guests to write good wishes to the bride and groom as the feeling strikes. Look for inexpensive, vintage machines online or at thrift stores or flea markets. They come in colors to go with any palette. After the wedding, tie into a scroll w ribbon.

A taste of champagne

How best to inspire a festive mood? Simply let the champagne bubbles fly. The fizz that tickles the nose and spirits is traditional for the wedding toast, synonymous with celebration. Beyond that, champagne is optional, though no less fun. Create a procession of sweets made with champagne (any other fine, champagne-style sparkling wine will do just as well) to be enjoyed throughout the entire wedding feast, from cocktail hour to coffee service.

Pressed bouquet

Traditionally, a bride selects a few flowers from her bouquet to press and put in the back of the wedding album. But there is no need for the blossoms to remain hidden away when they easily can be framed for display.

After the wedding, select the flowers that look freshest, and press them for one to two weeks. Cut mat board to fit your picture frame, and lay it flat on a work surface. Arrange the blooms on the board, then carefully affix each with a bit of craft glue. Let dry, and place them in the frame.

Chocolate spoons

When it's time for after-dinner coffee, stir things up deliciously. Replace silver spoons with the chocolate variety. The utensils are made entirely of semisweet chocolate dusted with cocoa powder, and they melt in hot coffee, giving the beverage a rich mocha flavor. Gamish each with a dollop of whipped cream and an extra sprinkling of cocoa powder.

Easy treats carry wedding colors from ceremony to reception

Cream cheese mints

8 ounces cream cheese

2 pounds powdered sugar 1/8 teaspoon flavoring

food coloring of chosen wedding color

Mix all ingredients and knead until creamy and smooth. Roll into tiny balls, dust with fine granulated sugar and press into rubber or plastic molds. Immediately remove from mold and place on wax paper. Allow to dry.

Butter cream mints

4 tablespoons butter, softened 3 tablespoons sweetened condensed milk 4 cups powdered sugar

1/2 teaspoons spearmint flavoring 2 drops green food coloring or chosen wedding color granulated sugar

rubber candy molds

Blend softened butter and condensed milk together. Gradually add powdered sugar until mixture becomes stiff. Add flavoring and coloring a little at a time to reach desired color and taste. Roll into small balls. Roll balls into granulated sugar. Press ball into candy mold. Unmold at once. Makes about 90 candies. For use later: Quick freeze on a cookie sheet. Place between layers of waxed paper in an airtight container. Better when made a

Secret ingredient cream cheese mints

8 ounces cream cheese

2 tablespoons half-and-half 1/4 cup soft butter

15 ounces white creamy frosting mix

1 teaspoon peppermint extract food coloring of chosen wedding color

Combine cream cheese, half and half and butter in a heavy-bottomed saucepan. Stir over low heat until cheese mixture is soft and creamy and butter is melted. Blend in frosting, mixing well. Add peppermint extract and food coloring. Divide to make several colors. Roll into balls or drop by teaspoon onto waxed paper. Press with a fork or stamp with design if desired. Let stand, uncovered, at room temperature until firm and outside is dry. The inside should still be creamy. Makes about 8 dozen.

Recipes from www.angelfire.com/bc/incredible/xA1weddingmints.htm

Old flames bring memories, but beware

There are a number of important milestones in every romantic relationship.

Some are obvious - the first date, the first kiss or the first break-up. But often these "Sixteen Candles' moments, while significant at the time they occur, are not the most memorable in a relationship, nor do they end up having the most profound effect on our lives.

CHRISTINA HANSEN

A more important milestone, in my experience, is hearing for the first time that a past boyfriend or girlfriend is getting married.

This is a moment that usually occurs well after a relationship has ended, but it can bring back a surprisingly powerful concoction of memories and emotions.

The good times and the bad come rushing back, leaving some feeling wistfully nostalgic, and others just bitter and angry.

The bottom line is this: for whatever reason, you and your significant other could not or would not make the ultimate decision to commit.

But now, the person you once loved and cared very deeply for has made that commitment - to someone else. In an altered set of events and circumstances, no matter how unlikely, it could have been you. I had my first brush with this parallel universe of past relationships about a year ago when I ran into an old boyfriend. After a few minutes of innocuous chatter, he abruptly told me he would getting married in a few months and proceeded to invite me to the wedding. I was initially shocked, and admittedly a bit incredulous at the news. I didn't even know there was someone new in his life, and deep down, don't we all secretly think we're just a little bit harder to get over than we really are? Then came the memories - a lot of memories. But finally, days, even weeks later, came perspective.

Why did a past flame's engagement bother me so much? Because, for the first time in a history of terminating relationships, I was faced with permanent consequences that could not be reversed.

Seeing an ex with a new girlfriend had always seemed like a crossroads, but seeing one with a fiancé that day felt distinctly like a dead end. It was the end of the road, and the abruptness had caught me off guard.

it was all of the regrets and what-ifs that annoyed me. I had fallen into the infamous nostalgia trap.

I kept remembering the good times, the shared moments - everything that was good during the time we were together.

But amid all of the warm fuzzies, I had neglected to recall a single fight or hurtful word exchanged during our relationship.

When these memories surfaced days later, I came to the realization I had actually felt relieved, not regretful, when the relationship in question ended a few years before.

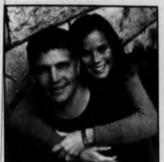

We all make decisions in our personal relationships, whether that be to commit to building and strengthening ties to a significant other or severing them completely.

You have to make the best decision you can and then move on. Looking at ex-boyfriends and girlfriends and wondering what might have been is an exercise in futility. Just accept that it wasn't.

Embracing what these individuals taught you about yourself and about life will make you much happier in the here and now, and it will help you to wish your ex the best as he or she continues this process, even if it is with someone else.

Christina Hansen is a senior in mass communications. Please send your comments to opnion@spub.ksu.edu.

Kuhlman – Beach

Katie Kuhlman, senior in biology, and Kiley Beach, K-State graduate, announce their engagement.

Katie is the daughter of Gerry and Ann Kuhlman, Ness City, Kan., and Kiley is the son of Curtis and Mary Beach, Kensington, Kan.

They plan a June 2 wedding in Ness

City, Kan.

Dinkel - Voth

Denise Dinkel, 2006 K-State graduate, and Jeremy Voth, senior in construction science and management, announce their engagement.

Denise is the daughter of Ron and Vickie Dinkel, Emporia, Kan., and Jeremy is the son of Verney and Janice Voth, Goessel, Kan.

They plan a May 26 wedding in Emporia, Kan.

Brocksmith - Wright

Tonya Amanda Brocksmith, junior in accounting, and Kelly Dean Wright, 2006 K-State graduate, announce their Tonya is the daughter of Troy and Dianna Brocksmith, Junction City, Kan., and Dean is the son of Gary and Sheila Wright, Junction City, Kan.

They plan a July 21 wedding in Junction City, Kan.

O'Neil - Miller

Shianne O'Neil, freshman in elementary education, and Brandon Miller, United States Army, announce their engagement. Shianne is the daughter of Terry and Margaret O'Neil, Beattie, Kan., and Brandon is the son of Robert and Michele Thorne, Kelly, Kan. They plan a June 16 wedding in Axtell, Kan.

Schmitz - Kramer

Sara Schmitz, senior in public health nutrition and dietetics, and Bob Kramer, senior in agricultural technology management, announce their

Sara is the daughter Cyril and Joyce Schmitz, Baileyville, Kan., and Bob is the son of Steve and Cathy Kramer, Corning,

They plan a June 30 wedding in St. Benedict, Kan.

Ruhnke – Browne

Rose Ruhnke, senior in kinesiology, and Aaron Browne, senior in computer engineering, announce their engagement

Rose is the daughter of George and Yvonne Ruhnke, Wichita, Kan., and Aaron is the son of Will and Marilyn Browne, Wichita, Kan.

They plan a July 7 wedding in Wichita, Kan.

Mueller - Bartel

Chelsea Mueller, 2005 K-State graduate working towards M.A. in Clinical Psychology, Washburn University, and Jonathan Bartel, senior in computer engineering, announce their engagement.

Chelsea is the daughter of Maureen Masters, Topeka, Kan., and Jonathan is the son of Dr. Richard and Mrs. Terry Bartel, Wichita, Kan.

They plan an Oct. 6 wedding in

Bowles - Bauer

Tamara Bowles, 2005 K-State graduate, and Blake Bauer, 2004 K-State graduate, announce their engagement.

Tamara is the daughter of Tom and Sharon Bowles, Augusta, Kan., and Blake is the son of Kyle and Lisa Bauer, Clay

They plan a May 19 wedding in Wichita, Kan.

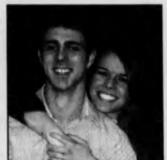

Smith - Bilyeu

Alyssa Marie Smith, sophomore in family and consumer science education, and Benjamin Dean Bilyeu, senior in psychology, announce their engagement.

Alyssa is the daughter of Doug and Shannon Smith, Hutchinson, Kan., and Benjamin is the son of Bob and Sharon Wehry, Hutchinson, Kan.

They plan a June 23 wedding in Hutchinson, Kan.

Sowers - Greenstein

Amy Sowers, sophomore in business marketing, and Matt Greenstein, junior in social work, announce their

Amy is the daughter of Paul and Diana Sowers, Spring Hill, Kan., and Matt is the son of Terry and Barbara Greenstein, Wichita, Kan.

They plan an Aug. 4 wedding in Olathe, Kan.

Once in a Lifetime engagements and weddings

"She was a beautiful bride."

Once in a Lifetime, in the Collegian the first Friday of the month.

> To announce your milestone, visit Kedzie 103. To advertise, call 532-6560.

you can finally buy a book

StaCAMPUS PHONE BOOK University
On sale in Kedzie 103

On sale in Kedzie 103 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri.

LIGHT IT UP

- receptions
- ceremonies

www.kansasdiscjockey.com video projection

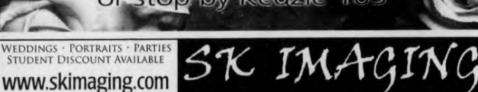

- · free travel

785-565-8054

Announce your engagement or weddling

www.kstatecollegiaini.com or stop by Kedzie 103

PHOTOGRAPH'

Married?

Getting

Once in a Lifetime -

Announce your

Everyone's doing it

no charge!

To place your free announcement, pick up a form in 103 Kedzie or request a form through e-mail at * classifieds@spub.ksu.edu Once In A Lifetime runs the first Friday of every month. Announcements must be submitted by noor two days prior!

Celebrating in the Collegian at Anniversary?

785.248.1857

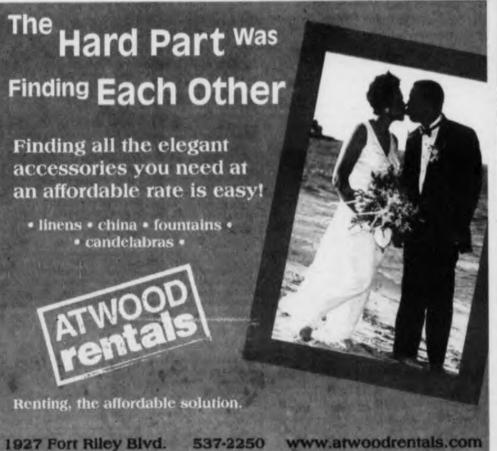

Enjoy your first dance together!

Call us for Private Ballroom Lessons!

Washington Dance 537-2549

Once in a Lifetime

in the Collegian, the first friday of the month.

Mon thru Thurs 9:30am to 7pm

Fri & Sat 9:30am to 6pm Sunday 1pm to 5pm

118 KEDZIE • 785-532-6560

Advertise in the Kansas State Collegian

108 S. 6th St.

Weisner's Bridal Boutique & Sew Unique

· Bridal Gowns · Bridesmaids Gowns

· Special Orders Welcome

Stop In & See Us!

314 Poyntz • Downtown • 785-776-6100

Once in a Lifetime engagements and weddings

"She was a beautiful bride."

Once in a Lifetime, in the Collegian the first Friday of the month.

To announce your milestone, visit Kedzie 103. To advertise, call 532-6560.

(785) 776-7637

Corner of 12th & Laramie • Aggieville • 539-5269

Open Mon.-Sat. 9 a.m.-11 p.m.

Three Sisters' Desserts Deliciously~Designed~Desserts

Wedding Cakes, Cheesecakes, Pies and more...

Manhattan, KS (785) 317-0799

www.threesistersdesserts.com email: threesistersdesserts@yahoo.com

Manicure $7 (excludes spa manicure) Bikini Wax $7 Full Leg Wax $20 GAP OF Life $20(SHT only) 10 $20(SHT) $30(Long) Ask about 12 & 14 add ons

Enrolling Now NAACAS Pivot Point Hair Design Federally Founded Financial Aid For Qualifying Students See us in the Ville's St. Patty's Day Parado

Gift Certificates

CLASSIFIEDS

Classifieds continue: on the next page

Bulletin Board

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airand lowest rates. Call 785-776-1744, www.-

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three

Housing/Real Estate

Rent-Apt. Furnished

nance 4814 assures every person equal opportunityinhousingwithoutdistinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. ported to the Director of man Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

Advertise in the Classifieds

3, 4 Bedroom, Studio, and Loft

Apartments Availabl All-New for Fall 2007

Apply At: 532-3790

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

MANHATTAN CITY Ordi nance 4814 assures every person equal opportunityinhousing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, na-tional origin or ancestry. Violations should be re ported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

1117 VATTIER. New all Two-bedrooms, appliances furnished, Close to campus. 785-539-1975 785-313-8292.

1219 KEARNEY. Onebedroom. June. Water/ trash paid. Next to campus, off street parking. No pets. $350. 785-539-5136.

1219 KEARNEY. TWO-BEDROOMS. lease. Water/ trash paid. Next to campus, off street parking. No pets. $660, 785-539-5136

ALLIANCE PROPERTY MANAGEMENT. One-bed-June, July. August. 785-539-4357. www.rentapm.com

bedroom, large, clean. Only pay electricity. Small $570/ month. 785-341-7289.

in four plex with washer/ dryer in unit. Water and trash paid. No pets, $500/

ONE, TWO, four, five-bedroom apartments/ houses and August leases. 785-564-0857.

ONE, TWO, three, and four-bedroom apartments. Close to campus and aggieville. Parking and laundry. 785-539-5800.

ONE, TWO, three, four, live, six bedroom apartment/ houses next to campus. Washer/ dryer, cen-No 785-537-7050.

ONE-THREE-BED-ROOMS, near campus. lease, pets ok. 785-776-2051.

ONE-BEDROOM ACROSS the street from campus. $425 per month. No pets. Available June/

August. 785-313-7473. ONE-BEDROOM APART-MENTS in quiet six-plex at 1811 Platt. Available June 1st. Unfurnished. central air, parking, water and trash paid. No pets $375 per month. Call KSU 785-532-7569

785-532-7541 ONE-BEDROOM TO fivebedrooms. Apartments, duplexes and homes. Some farther away. June or August leases. Check out our website www. emeraldpropertymanagment.com or call Emerald 785-587-9000 for more information. PARK PLACE Apartments. One- Bedrooms. Summer/ fall leasing. Pets velcome. One- half from KSU at Seth Child

PARK PLACE Apartments. Two- bedrooms. Pets welcome. Summer/ Fall leasing. One- half mile from KSU at Seth Claffin. and 785-539-2951

THREE AND four-bedroom apartments available in August. Close to campus. Water and trash paid. Coin operated laun-dry. 785-537-7810, 785-537-2255.

TWO, THREE and fourcentral air, dish-No pets. 785-539-0866

ments. $495 rent plus free cable through July '07. 785-539-2951.

TWO-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus. Per sonal washer/ dryer. $645-$675/ month. 785-341-4496.

TWO-BEDROOM. many August. 785-341-0686.

VERY NICE three-bedroom, two bath apartment. Three blocks to Aggieville. 822 Fremont. Affordable utilities, August 785-313-1807.

WHY RENT WHEN YOU CAN BUY? Condos for sale. Two and three-be room starting at $112,650. collegiatevilla.com 785-537-2096.

WILDCAT VILLAGE. Availbedroom, two bedroom, dryer, able June or August four storm room, $1400. Cable paid. 785-776-2425 785-565-3760.

Spacious Duplexes Custom built with the

K-State student in mind.

Each duplex features walk-in closets, all kitchen appliances, washer/dryer, off street parking, phone and room, security lighting, trash

Security deposit is the same as one month's rent. The lease period begins August 1 for one year.

4 Bedrooms, 2 Baths 1,300 Sq. Ft. ONLY $1,150/mo.

Sorry, No Pets! Quiet Neighborhood, Convenient and Close to Campus. Day: 313-0751 Night: 537-4682

1420 Beechwood Terrace

Newer Apartment Lg. 2 & 3 Bedrooms 112 Baths Washer/Dryer Energy Efficient On a Wooded

> cluded 2 Acre Lot with Creek $740 & $885

> > 341-4024

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

NOW LEASING

arge 2 Bedroom Apts Cambridge Square

Pebblebrook Close to Campus

537-9064

2000 College Hts •1114 Fremont• •519 Osage •

Pre-lease Today for Spring! Only A few homes remain

Amenities: Washer/Dryers or hookups available On-Site Management Garages Available Storm Center •Peaceful Garden

 Private Fitness Center Setting Enormous Closets

GEORGETOWN 776-8080 www.GeorgetownApts.ne

Preleasing! Spacious 1 & 2 Bedroom Ap

Few Spaces Remain to Graduate Students
 Upper Classmen

· Quiet Park Like Setting On-Site Laundry • Enormous Closets
Private Fitness Center
• Abundant Parking/Garages

 Three-Time winner of the Three-Time winner of the National Multifamily CEI, Juward for the #1 in Customer Service in Americal On-Site Management Office Full-time Maintenance Person 24-hour Emergency Staf

WESTCHESTER PARK

785-317-1734.

FOUR-BEDROOM THREE baths, August, $1280, nice, washer/ dryer hookups, off-street parking, great location, no 785-532-8256.

roommates in four-bed-500 Laramie. $285 per room. Washer/ Dryer. 785-410-2916 785-447-0852. SIX AND five-bedroom house/ duplex, next to washer/ dryer, central air, off-street parking, no pets. 785-537-7050. THREE-BEDROOM

FOR

North 5th, No pets, $975/ available June 1. 785-564-0372.

WALK TO class. One. two, three, four-bedroom. No smoking, no drinking, no pets. 785-539-1554.

120 Rent-Houses

1015 PIERRE. Very nice, four-bedroom. Fenced in Spacious yard. Washer/ July or August lease. All pets considered. Chris, 785-770-2161.

1310 N. 11th. Two-bedroom, June lease. No close to campus. 785-539-1975 of 785-313-8292.

1417 NICHOLS, four-bedrooms, family room, 1909 Kenmar, three-bedrooms Both two bathrooms, washer/ dryer, garage game room, fenced yard/ patio. 785-539-1177.

502 FREMONT, three-bedroom, one bath, no pets. Available June 1. June 785-539-1975

get a job

cated at 1501 Harry Road. Two blocks west of central yard. 785-539-3672.

CLEAN, QUIET basement Two-bedroom, two bath, full kitchen, pa-$385 per month per person. All utilities included. emilyf@ksu.edu.

FIVE-BEDROOM. JUNE lease. Very close to campus (westside). Just purchased and very nice! Central air, full kitchen (stove/ refrigerator/ dishwasher/ disposal), kitchen (stove/ refrigerator), three baths, three living areas, double car garage. No pets.

now, this wil 785-539-4641. FIVE-BEDROOM. bath house for rent. 931 Washer/ dryer, window airconditioning. Fenced backyard, pets allowed. Off-$1500/ month. 785-539-4949.

this will rent fast.

FIVE-BEDROOM. July, August. Management 785-539-4357. www.rentapm.com FOR RENT. Newer four-bedroom duplex. Good location with dishwasher. washer and dryer. pets. 785-537-7597. $1160.

FOUR TO five-bedrooms.

two bath, washer/ dryer. central air, dishwasher campus. 785-532-9564. FOUR-BEDROOM AND six-bedroom Close to campus and Agdry. 785-539-5800.

FOUR-BEDROOM, ONE bath house for rent. 900 June Washer/ dryer, central airconditioning. Fenced backyard, pets allowed. $1200/ month. Party shack and garage 785-539-4949. included.

FOUR-BEDROOM. TWO and one-half bath, study. August 1. $975 per month. Knight Real E tate. Call 785-539-5394

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, nice sized bed-rooms. Central air, two car garage, washer/ dryer No pets/ smoking. $1400/ month, available in August. 1420 Vista Lane, two and one half blocks campus. 316-680-1709

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, two kitchens.

ONE HOUSE:

four-bedroom,

785-539-2357

campus

homes

Management

Tecumseh.

785-341-8576.

785-539-1975

bedrooms.

duplexes and

Some farther away.

out our website www.-

emeraldpropertymanag

SEVEN TO eight-bedroom

(two kitchen). June, July, August. Alliance Property

Management

785-539-4357, www.rent-

liance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.son. Available June 1. Un

NICE HOUSE at 1010 baths, all kitchen appliances including washer/ dryer. Upstairs has own heat and air, and has just been remodeled. Plenty of parking off alley, no pets, 785-292-4320, evenings,

785-292-4342. JUNE, July, August. Al-liance Property Manage-NICE TWO-BEDROOM Close to campus. Avail rent-apm.com 785-712-7257.

JUNE, July, August. Al-liance Property Manage Four-bedroom, two bath, June 1 ment.785-539-4357.www.lease. Two, half-duplexes. rent-apm.com bath, washer/ dryer cluded. $1200/ month, no bedroom, June apartments and houses. 785-313-0455 785-776-7706. or VERY NICE four-bedroom one bath house. Three ONE-BEDROOM TO fiveblocks from campus. 2038 Apartments, College View.

Most close to campus. 785-313-1807. VERY NICE four-bed+ or August leases. Check room. Close to campus,

> WILDCAT PROPERTY MANAGEMENT 537-2332

2BR - $850 SIX-BEDROOM 3BR - $1,300 kitchen). June, July, August. Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rent-

apm.com SPACIOUS FOUR-BED-ROOM, Washer/ kitchen. Near City Park Available May 1. $1100/ month 785-313-1886.

STUNNING HOUSE. Fourbedrooms, three bath rooms, big family room, plus office, fenced yard, in a nice quiet west neighbor-hood. Close to city parks. Available now $1350, water and garbage included call 785-317-4937.

THREE, FOUR, FIVE, SIX ing for that perfect home rent? Great selection and prices. Capstone Management 785-341-0686

THREE-ROOMS, near campus August lease, pets ok. 785-776-2051.

furnished, off-street parking. $750 per month. KSU Foundation 785-532-7569 THREE-BEDROOM, ONE full bath. $810, 917 Blue-mont, year lease, June 2007 - May 2008. Close to campus Pets allowed Mrs. Kim, 913-681-9959. THREE-BEDROOM ment. 785-539-4357. www.-TWO-BEDROOMS.

VERY CHARMING brick ranch. 2505 Winny. Three attached garage, quiet neighbor No pets, $950. 1 lease. Ryan ONE TO five-bedroom $1340. 785-712-7257. ment.com or call Emerald 785-587-9000 for more in-

4BR - $1,700 14° & Fremont 4BR - 21/2 Bath

Anderson Village 1BR- $525 2BR - $700-725

$1,650

1501 Poyntz House - $750

3BR - 2 Bath

1509 Poyntz House - $600 1BR - 1Bath

> 315 Poyntz 1BR - $650

Fall Leasing

WILDCATSNEEDJOBS .-

COM. PAID survey takers needed in Manhattan.

100% free to join. Click on

WINTER/ SPRING Posi-

$150 per day. Experience not required. Undercover

shoppers needed to judge

retail and dining establish ments. Call 800-722-4791.

Open Market

435

Computers

COMPLETE GATEWAY

Transportation

510 Automobiles

SET OF off road wheels

Mickey Thompson Classic Lock Wheels- 15x10.

Tires are Good Year Wrangler MT/R 31x10.50

$500 OBO 316-304-5852

550 Motorcycles

2004 YAMAHA 600R.

Excellent condition, Beau tiful blue and white with

and tires for Toyota truck.

personal computer tem. Includes

Mike. 785-564-1040.

LET'S RENT

110 Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

1215 POYNTZ, two-beds, across from city with off-street parkdryer. Neutral colors with tal re-model. Water and trash paid. June lease. No. pets. 785-313-4812.

FAIRVIEW. Quiet one-bedroom ($400) and Studio ($375) near KSU. Laundry. Water, trash paid. No pets, no smok-530-342-1121.

350 N. 16th. Two blocks to K-State and Aggieville Clean, quiet, private parking. No smoking, no pets. $580. June and August leases. 785-539-5508 or 785-564-0857

FOUR-BEDROOM, close to campus. central air, dishwasher. No pets. ole June or August. 785-539-0866.

JUNE LEASE two-bedroom apartment. Walk to campus. Excellent condition/ location. http://www.rentkstate.com 785-410-2814

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM Bills paid. 785-762-7191.

LARGE TWO-BED-ROOM, available June. Balcony, fireplace and and dishwasher. Very close to campus. 785-317-3780. nessage

PRE-LEASING JUNE and August. Some units brand close KSU. washer/ dryer included. 785-776-2102. youngwilks@yahoo.com,

125

CONDOS FOR SALE. SUMMER Two and three-bedroom starting at $112,650. colleglatevilla.com 785-537-2096.

CHRISTIAN FEMALE seeks two female gradstu starting fall 2007. August to May lease. New three-bedroom, two bath house with washer/ dryer. $350 plus one-third utilities. Call 847-975-1484.

FEMALE HOUSEMATE. drinking/ smoking.
/ month. One-third utilities, washer/ dryer, Aua313@ksu.edu, 785-537-1464

FEMALE ROOMMATE bedroom duplex. Washer/ dryer, and storage. Rent and utilities negotiable. Amanda

913-216-4838. LÖOKING FOR female room house. $300/ month plus electricity, gas and SBC. 785-587-9207 or 785-230-3008.

urnished, lower washer dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, pets, 785-539-1554. ROOMMATE NEEDED until May 31. Rent $275/month plus one-fourth utili-ties. Washer/ dryer, dishin house. Call 785-537-3737. ROOMMATES NEEDED for two bedrooms in five-bedroom house. Next fall.

ROOMMATES NEEDED two bedrooms in six-bedroom house two blocks to three blocks Call Kylie 913-775-0465.

620-382-7241.

HOUSE SEVEN minutes

rom campus. $200.00 per 913-961-5929.

SUBLEASER NEEDED or Spring 2007 semester. hours is mandatory. Appliapartment. First month's rent paid, cheap utilities. 913-495-2558 or cations can be obtained from Riley County Clerk's Office, 110 Courthouse 913-406-1034. SUMMER SUBLEASE 66502, or visit our web-

One-bedroom, $390 plus utilities. Close to Agsite, gleville, pets 913-980-5161. equal allowed.

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

THREE-BEDROOM WITH Bluemont, August 1 lease, laundry included, no pets, plus 785-313-0462, leave mes-

AND three-bedroom. Close to campus. Central air, dishwasher, cility. Available June or August. No pets. August. N 785-537-1746 785-539-1545.

21/2/ Rent-Duplexes

WHARTON Mano

Road, four-bedroom lower level duplex with neutral colors, two baths, washer/ three-bedroom lower el duplex with new carneutral colors and ner/ dryer hook-ups. Very reasonable rent with great space in both duplexes. June lease. N pets. Call 785-313-4812.

Rent-Houses

Three, Five, Six ren-Bedroom house All JUNE 1 rentals. Pets OK. 785-317-7713.

1022 HUMBOLT. Freemont, 1118 Ratone, four-bedroom, two bath, dryer, dish central air. $1300. Doug, 785-313-5573.

1305 PIERRE, Pomeroy, $1100 - $1200. Four-bedroom, two bath, washer/ dryer, dish-washer, central air. August lease. 785-313-5573, Doug.

CAMPUS Road. 1535 Central air, washer/ dryer room house located east furnished. Neutral with nice, new baths. Large bedrooms for an afwith price. No June pets. 785-313-4812.

200 N. 11th. On City Park. Two large, sunny three-bedroom ($750). Laundry. Water, trash paid. No pets, no smoking. 1 JUNE and 1 AUGUST. 530-342-1121.

820 OSAGE, 1524 Pipher, 3100 James, all four-bed-rooms, two bath. June 1, 785-317-7713.

A SIX or seven-bedroom house, three bathrooms. Two blocks to KSU. June 1. 785-317-7713.

BEAUTIFUL REMOD-ELED homes. 1612, 1614 Pierre, four- five-bedroom, two bath, fresh carpet/ paint. New kitchen, bath, modern appliances. Close to campus. Move in June; August. 785-304-0387.

BRITTNAY RIDGE town house four/ five-bedroom, two and one-half baths, includes appliances. washer/ dryer. No pets. August 316-393-9628.

FIVE-BEDROOM HOUSE. Walk to campus. Two kitchens, fireplaces central air, neutral colors, washer/ dryer furnished, garage, lawn maintepets. Call 785-313-4812.

FIVE-BEDROOM TWO bath. June lease, washer, dryer, dishwasher, central month. 785-313-5573 Doug.

KITCHEN HELP wanted. Starting pay, $6.50/ hour. Apply at 608 North 12th St., Manhattan, KS.

NEW LISTING, availa June 1. Four to five-bed of Aggieville at Laramie. Two washer/ dryer, dryer, washer, central air. Lease plus utilities. NEXT TO campus, one through six-bedroom houses, and apartments. Washer/ dryer, central air.

ONE AND three-bedrooms, utilities paid, washer/ dryer. Near campus and city park. August 1. 785-532-9564.

785-539-3672.

ONE-BEDROOM FULL washer/ dryer, no ers. 515 Vattier, smokers. $340 plus utilities. August lease, Call Monday - Fri-

THREE-BEDROOM TWO smokers. 515 Vattier. lease. Call Monday - Friday, 785-776-4805.

THREE-BEDROOM TWO 1205bath. dryer, central $1050.00/ 785-313-5573 Doug.

dryer. call after

SUBLEASE two-bedroom, one bath. $430/ month plus utilities. 785-643-1923

150

785-577-4451 TWO-BEDROOM APART-MENT, walk to campus, $620/ month includes utilities. 785-275-1409 leave message.

Employment/Careers

31(0)

THE COLLEGIAN cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opporwith

our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454. ADMINISTRATIVE ASSIS-MALE, WALK to class, all TANT- Networks Plus, the leader in providing busi-

tion. The Collegian urges

ness computer services, has a full-time position available in Manhattan, KS. This challenging position requires the ability to handle multiple tasks and priorities while maintaining a positive and energetic attitude. $12/ hour, full-time only, opportuniic attitude. $12/ hour, ties for advancement. E-mail resume in Microsoft Word or text format to: jobs@networksplus.com. Close to campus. Outdoor welcome.

AS NEEDED JUVENILE INTAKE AND ASSESS-MENT OFFICER. County Community Corrections is accepting applications for several as needed, on-call juvenile intake and assessment offi-cers. Minimum requireinclude a high diploma. Hourly school diploma. for call-out duty is On-call reimburse-$10. ment is $30/ day. On-call officers work a rotating oncall schedule, with the usual schedule being one week of on-call duty every 8- 10 weeks. Law enforce-ment experience or direct experience working with juveniles is preferred. Valid driver's license and ability to work flexible

Manhattan,

www.rileycountyks,-

Riley County is an opportunity em-

Help Wanted

TOR: KANSAS STATE dent services. Job requirements: bachelors degree, excellent written and verbal communication skills, organizational environment, experience in event planning and coordination, demonstrated proficiency in multiple computer programs (in-cluding MS Office Suite), experience with CRM software includng knowledge of data fil-

ASSISTANT COORDINA-

ters. The successful indiwill be self-motivated, have a team attitude and be committed to a constituent- driven service philosophy. range of $29,000 to $34,000. Position available June 1, 2007. Send of application, reletter information for three workreferences Search Committee, KSU, Student Services, 122 Anderson Hall, Manhattan, KS 66506. Screening will begin March 9 and continue until position is filled. KSU is an Equal Opportunity Employer and acdiversity employees. Paid for by KSU. BANK TELLER. Immediopening for full-time t line and/ or drive-up teller. Looking for outgoing. energetic, profes service oriented Prior bank or person. cash handling experience is a plus but not required. Forty hour work week. Great hours. Great benefits. Apply at Kansas State Bank, 1010 Westloop, Manhattan. Equal Opportunity Employer. BARTENDING! $300 a day potential. No experinecessary. Training Call 1-800-965-6520 ext. 144. COMPLETE OUTDOORS seeking all positions landscape, irrigation, maintenance. in 785-776-1930.

DISC JOCKEY. Are you a people person? Do you want to earn extra money while actually having fun? www.kansasdiscjockey.com/di

Help Wanted Section

June lease dishmonth. TWO-BEDROOM base

No pets. $600/ month. Cheap utilities. Available August 1. 1211 Thurston. 785-868-3471 7p.m.

TWO-BEDROOMS, one bath, attached garage. Central air, appliances, washer/ dryer. No pets. 785-537-8420

B10 Help Wanted

EASTER HELP needed at Manhattan Town Center location. Manager pay $455/ week, Easter Bunny $8.50/ hour. Call Becky

1-800-422-8967. FOUR LANDSCAPING positions available Downey Lawn.com looking for two college summer interns that want a career in the horticulture industry and two part time workers. Housing Included. Preferring well rounded individuals with an imagination, drive, and ability to work hard. Apply in person or Call Nathan Downey toll free 1-866-794-

LAWN(5296). DowneyLawn.com for Downey Lawn & Landscape, PO plus.com. Box 1, 303 E. Soule Ingalls, KS 67853

Late May through August. Pays well. 785-587-1956, HAY COMPANY in search of summer workers, farm

HARVEST HELP wanted.

experience needed. Excellent wages. 785-564-2590. HORTICULTURAL SER-VICES, Inc. is seeking reli als for full-time or parttime seasonal positions in our retail garden center Above average wages commensurate with expe rience and abilities. Apply in person at 11524 Landscape Lane, St. George, Kansas 785-494-2418 or 785-776-0397. HOWE LANDSCAPE Inc. has several positions ing, irrigation and mowing maintenance crews. This is for full time and part help, with flexible schedules for students four preferably blocks of time. Applicants must be 18 years or age and have a valid drivers Starting wage is $8.00/ hour. Apply three ways, in person Monday through Friday at 12780 Madison Rd in Riley; call 785-485-2857 to obtain an application; or e-mail us at howeland@kansas.-JOIN THE K-State Online team at the Office of Mediated Education, and contribute to a variety of important K-State web sites and applications. Candi dates must be motivated. capable of learning nev skills quickly, self-di-rected, able to work at least 15 hours a week willing to devote at least a year to the position. Working with well technologies in an office that values its students lenging work environment. arting wages begin at $7.00. For more informa tion email us at omeof fice@ksu.edu.

PROJECT

LUNCH WAIT staff wanted. Good pay. Apply at 608 North 12th St., Manhattan, KS.

LUNCHROOM PLAYGROUND SUPERVISORS. Immediate openings- Manhattan- OgdenElementary Schools.
$6.50 per hour one and a half- two hours per day. 11:00 a.m.- 1:00 p.m. Ap plication available at www. usd383.org/District/HumanResources/ or apply at Human Resources Department, 2031 Poyntz Avenue. Applications ac-cepted until positions are filled. Apply to Manhattan-Ogden USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Avenue, Manhat-Available now or fall. No KS 66502

> MAIL CENTER/ duplicating student help needed on campus. Freshman or sophomore status preferred with ability to work spring, summer, and fall semesters, as well as breaks. Duties include: campus delivery route, preparation and handling of mail, and copy jobs Computer skills beneficial and some heavy lifting required. Must have a valid driver's license. Our on campus office operates Monday- Friday, 8a.m.-

785-587-2000. Equal Opportunity Employer.

and is eager work around your schedule. Please apply in per-son at 13 College Court Building, Division of Con-Education, MANHATTAN COUNTRY Club is seeking part-time bag room/ cart staff. Will work with your class schedule. Must be available most weekends. Call 785-539-6221 ask for Jacque or Jeff, OMALLEY'S NOW HIR-ING WAIT STAFF 1208 Moro. Manhattan, 785-537-0775.

PINNACLE ELECTRIC has an imm ediate opening for 30-40 hours week. Electrical experience a plus, but will train Call person. 85-456-1351.

PLAY SPORTS! Have fun! Save money! Maine camp needs fun loving counselors to teach. All land, adventure and water sports. Great summer Call 888-844-8080, apply campcedar.com PLUS is the nations leading provider of and School web sites. Full-time position in Manhattan, Microsoft ASP and SQL experience required. $15.50/ hour plus time and a half for overtime. Benefits include Health, Dental, Paid Holidays, Paid Vacation, and 401K matching. Email resume in Microsoft Word or text format to jobs@civic-

MANAGER

CivicPlus has an opening in our Manhattan headquarters office for a fulltime project manager.
This challenging position entails managing multiple website redesign projects from start to finish. Position requires attention to detail, the ability to manage multiple tasks, priori-ties and deadlines and a cheerful attitude. Training is provided. Benefits in-clude health, dental, paid holidays, paid vacation and 401(k) matching. and

Email resume in text

jobs@civicplus.com.

format

Word

PROJECT MANAGER CivicPlus has an opening in our Manhattan head quarters office for a full-time Project Manager. This Challenging position entails managing multiple website redesign projects from start to finish. Posidetail, the ability to man age multiple task, priorities and deadlines and a cheerful attitude. Training is provided. Benefits in-clude Health, Dental, Paid Holidays, Paid Vacation and 401(k) matching. and Word format to jobs@-

RILEY COUNTY has thir teen positions for sea-sonal laborers. Forty hour work week at $8.66 per hour. Valid driver's license and the ability to lift 70 cants must be at least 18 years old. Experience in construction, concrete work, asphalt mainte-nance, traffic flagging. traffic flagging tree and turf maintenance or mowing is preferred. Applications are available at the Riley County Clerk's Office, 110 Court-house Plaza, Manhattan, KS or online at www.riley countyks.gov/jobs. Appli cations will be accepted until all positions are filled. Riley County is an equal opportunity employer.

SEVERAL POSITIONS cians working with greater prairie chickens in Kansas. These positions are ideal for anyone interested in graduate school for wildlife biology. Will be fifteen to thirty hours per week starting immediately. Pay is $6.25 per hour. All interested persons please send resume and cover letter via e-mail to grego1aj@ksu.edu or call 785-532-6413. SO LONG Saloon now hiring waitresses. Apply in person, 1130 Moro.

YOUR summer

SPEND

traveling country as a combine truck driver. Ambitious individuals for high volume harvesting operation. Op erate new JD9760 STS and Peterbilt Semis. Guarwages and room and board. Sign on bonus for experienced workers. Approximately mid-May to mid-August. Snell Harvest-ing 1-888-287-7053.

Kaxsas State Collegiax Classifieds • 785,582,6555 NOW HIRING!

Management RURGER VING Are you confident, positive, fast paced.

Burger King's of Manhattan and Junction City are looking for result oriented individuals to grov rant experience? No Problem We will train the right individual from the ground floor up.

We offer a competitive salary and benefit package based on career nd life experience. We are willing to pay the most for the be

401K Savings plan with our company contributions Liberal paid vacation plan 5 Day Work Week

Monthly & Annual Bonus Program

Kim Beyer, District Manager, Burger King Office, PO Box 856, Ogden, KS 66517. 402-421-6400-est. 220, kimbeyer@horstonhokling.com, ECK

ALL SHIFTS, DAYS, NIGHTS & WEEKENDS

ABOVE AVERAGE COMPENSATION

Discounted Meals

 Flexible Schedule Crew Incentive Programs

 Medical Insurance • Retirement Plan APPLY TODAY • WORK TODAY

> 421 N. 3rd Street 3006 Anderson Ave. EOE/Drug Free Work ace

INTERNSHIP. Help me run my bus Open to all majors. Five positions available, average earns $800/ Call 785-317-0455.

land is taking applications for a pool manager for the 2007 season. Life guard and WIS training preferred but not required. Salary based on experiand is negoti Job description and appli cation available at City Hall, P.O. Box 7, West moreland, KS 66549, 785-457-3361. Deadline for applications is March 16th. Equal Opportunity Employer

THE SALTY Rim. NOW HIRING WAIT STAFF 1204 Moro. KS. 785-537-8910.

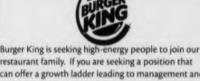

TWO OPENINGS for Stu dent Computer Operator. Applications are available room 014 Hale Library For further information printer. Good working con-dition. $400 or best offer. http://www.k-state.edu/cts/employment/ or call Operations at 785-532-4941

UNIQUE OPPORTUNITY:

Every two years MGM Marketing, Inc. accepts applications to fill a Marketing & Logistics position within our small group in Kansas City. MGM is in a niche market that recov of products that are in-MGM is currently looking for a creative, motivated detail-oriented person that has common sense, good judgment, and the ab to communicate well with new and existing customers. Prior experience very good opportunity with a highly respected company. Our group members are paid very well. Position includes most bene fits and requires very little travel. If you are ested please forward a resume as soon as possi-ble. Our contact information and more details about MGM may be found on our website at www.mgmbusinesspartners.-MGM is now scheduling appointments to conduct interviews.

matching helmet. Low miles, Yoshi Pipe, fender kit, cover. $5500 or best offer. 620-408-6442.

can offer a growth ladder leading to management and a solid benefit package, please come complete an application. We are taking applications for all shifts Competitive starting wages Paid vacation program for all staff members

 1/2 price on/off duty meals ■ Free uniforms Frequent performance/salary evaluations

 Flexible scheduling Tuition reimbursement program

Retirement program Savings bond purchase program

Please Apply in Junction City at: Please apply in Manhattan at: 821 Chestnut Or 1802 N Washington 1328 Laramie Or 3002 Anders

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

su do ku Fill in the grid so that every row, every column, and every 3 x 3 box contains the digits 1 through 9 with no repeats. 6 5 7

			-	-
	3				2			9
				9	1
4	8	9		-				1
	6						9
1						2	6	8
			1	7
8			9				4
9				2	3
		C-1

Solution and tips at www.sudoku.com

Real Hope, Real Help, Real Options Free pregnancy testing Totally confidential service Same day results • Call for appointment

Deadlines

placed by noon the day before you want your ac to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working day prior to the date you want your ad to run.

CALL 785-532-655 tions Available. Earn up to

Classified Rates

20 words or less $10.50 each word over 20 20¢ per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less $12.95 each word over 20 25¢ per word

3 DAYS 20 words or less $15.65 each word over 20 30¢ per word

4 DAYS 20 words or less $17.90 each word over 20 35¢ per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less $20.00 each word over 20 40€ per word

(consecutive day rate)

To Place An Ad

Go to Kedzie 103 (acros from the K-State Student Union.) Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

How To Pay

All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $25 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the #### right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad

Free Found Ads

As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge. Corrections

If you find an error in your ad, please call us.

We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion. Cancellations

If you sell your item before your ad has you for the remaining days. You must call us before the ad is to be published. Headlines

For an extra charge, we'll put a headline

above your ad to catch the reader's attention. Categories

Bulletin Board

Housing/Real Estate

Service Directory

Employment/Careers

Open Market

Transportation

Travel Trips

'Full House' dad hosts NBC game show

Director, actor, stand-up comic Bob Saget takes new role in '1 vs. 100'

By Jeffrey Rake KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Comedian Bob Saget is back on television, and this time he's taking on an unfamiliar role. In the past, he's been a stand-up comic, the star of a daytime TV series and recently, the director of a movie, "Farce of the Penguins."

Now, he's a game show host.

Saget is host of NBC's "1 vs. 100," a quiz show that pits one contestant against 100 others for a chance to win $1 million. The questions come in multiple-choice format and get increasingly harder as the game progresses.

"I vs. 100" might sound complex because of its name, but as Saget points out, the show's brilliance is actually in its simplicity. It doesn't take much time to understand the rules, though Saget admitted to struggling with them at first.

The show debuted Oct. 13, 2006, and a new season begins tonight at 7. Saget recently spent time promoting the show and sat down to discuss his latest endeavor.

Q: How did the situation of you hosting "1 vs. 100" come about?

A: (NBC) was very enthusiastic about the idea of me hosting the show because it was a quiz-show format, very simple, and they also wanted to rely on comedy. They needed somebody they felt could perform in front of 100 people like that ... and so they really felt like they needed a standup comedy person. So it just seemed like I was the choice, and they asked me to do it, and I thought about it and said, 'Yeah, why not?'

Q: How do you like this game show thing? Is it a breeze for you?

A: For me to finally learn the rules is a major accomplishment. "1 vs. 100" is pretty straightforward. I always say this game is so simple because, well, I'm simple. I don't know how anything is played. But it really is one person versus 100 people, but every time I go to explain it I start cracking up because I block myself from knowing the rules. It's kind of like "Who Wants to be a Millionaire?" combined with that old show I used to love, "You Bet Your Life."

Q: You've done so many different things, from dirty stand-up to having a daytime series and now back to doing another network show. What is it like making that kind of transition?

A: It's just being able to play different levels of comedy. I enjoy doing stuff that reaches millions of people, family stuff. Because there's no way I could do ("1 vs. 100") or the other shows I've done commercially and do them in the way I do my comedy. You limit yourself when you hit an audience that's foul. I love entertaining people that are just like my friends. When I go do stand-up comedy, it's like stuff for college people. It's not done to offend, and it's not done for shock value. I'm just sort of playing the cards as they come at me. I'm not sure what will be next. But I think I just kind of go back and forth between the family stuff and the other stuff that I also find very funny.

Q: Do you think you make that transition smoothly?

A: Oh, I don't know. I'm too busy trying to get stuff done. I don't really get a chance to critique myself. When I'm doing "1 vs. 100," that has a certain edginess to it sometime. It's meant to employ my comedy style, and it's more family-oriented. But it's the same person that I do my comedy with. It's the same exact person. I'm not a different guy. It's just I know the rules of broadcasting. After 8 o'clock at night you don't talk foul.

Q: What do you think distinguishes your show from "Deal or No Deal," the game show that airs prior to yours?

A: Well, we don't have briefcases. But our show is clearly a trivia show. It's a simpler show. It's just like the old game show sort of thing. But I love Howie (Mandel), and he's very clean, which I like.

Q: Are you surprised by the number of contestants that don't answer the seemingly rudimentary questions correctly on your show?

A: That's interesting because a lot of people say to me, 'Are people really stupid?' And I don't think that's what it is. I think a lot of things happen. When you're on TV you get nervous, and people just aren't on their game.

Q: Though you are years removed from "Full House," many people still identify you as being Danny Tanner (his TV character). Are you OK with that?

A: I'm a walking disclaimer. You know, there's nothing you can do about it. I've watched people that have been in this business for years, and they're saying, "I'm not that guy." They're standing on a mountaintop screaming, "Who cares'" I have a lot to do, and I've got kids to raise. If people call me Danny, I just look at them and say, "You can call me Bob," or I'll say nothing, or I'll go, "Yes I'm

"1 vs. 100" airs at 7 p.m. Fridays on NBC.

MOVIE TIMES

Tirnes for today through Sunday.

 () denotes times playing Saturday and Sunday only.

* New movies at Seth Childs Cinema this week.

★ "Wild Hogs," PG-13, 120 min. (12:45, 3:05), 5:25, 7:45, 10

A group of suburban biker wannabes (John Travolta, Tim Allen, William H. Macy, Martin Lawrence) looking for adventure hits the open road, but the men get more than they barqained for when they encounter a gang from New Mexico.

★ "Zodiac," R, 158 min. (12:45), 4, 7:15, 10:30

A serial killer in the San Francisco Bay Area taunts solice with his letters and cryptic messages. Investigators and reporters become obsessed with the case in this lightly fictionalized account of a true 1970s case. Based on Robert Graysmith's book, the movie focuses on the lives and careers of the detectives and newspaper employees who by to solve the mystery and catch the murderer. (With Jake Gyllenhaal and Robert Downey Jr.)

★ "Black Snake Moan," R, 118 min. (130), 4:15, 7, 9:40

A God-fearing blues musician (Samuel L. Jackso:-) takes in a wild young woman (Christina Riczi) who, as a victim of childhood sexual abuse, loo's everywhere for love but never quite finds it. Als a featuring Justin Timberlake.

★ "Hannibal Rising" R, 121 min (1:05), 4:05, 7:20, 9:55

This prequel shows a young Hannibal Lecter (Gas pard Utliel) in three phases of his life — his child hood in Lithuania, his ten years in England, and his time in Russia before his capture by FBI agent Will Graham in "Red Dragon."

"The Farmber 23," PG, 96 min. (1:10), 4:30, 7:30, 9:45

"The Astronaut Farmer," PG, 96 min. (1:40), 7:20

"Reno 911!: Miami," R, 81 min. (12:55, 3), 5, 7:10, 9:20

"Bridge:to Terabithia," PG, 96 min. (1:20), 4:35, 7:05, 9:35

"Ghost Nider," PG-13, 110 min. (1:15, 2).4, 4:45, 7, 7:45, 9:30, 10:10

"Breach," PG-13, 110 min. 4:45, 10:05

"Music and Lyrics," R, 104 min. (1), 4:10, 7:05, 9:25

"Norbit," PG-13, 102 min. (1:35), 4:20, 7:25, 9:50

"Because 1 Said So," PG-13, 102 min. (1:25), 4:25, 7:35, 10:10

— n'yw.carmike.com. Call (785) 776-9886 for show times.

Pendergast to offer new album at release show

"Between the Bottle and the Pulpit"

★★★☆ Pendergast CD review by Eric Brown

Tony Ladesich, lead singer and songwriter for the Kansas Citybased band Pendergast, said the process of creating an album took longer than he would have liked.

But in the two years it took to create the band's newest album, "Between the Bottle and the Pulpit," the time and effort exerted by Ladesich and his bandmates was well worth the wait.

Pendergast's second record is 13 tracks of alternative country, roots rock and rockabilly that echo of the open road, heartbreak, the working class and liquor.

"Between the Bottle and the Pulpit" possesses the free-wheelin' grit and grind of Son Volt, Neil Young and Gram Parsons, and the album is fueled by the excellence of Pendergast's musicianship and creativity, along with Ladesich's lyrics of personal memoirs and brutal honesty.

To promote the new album, Pendergast is playing a CD release show Saturday night at Auntie Mae's Parlor.

The show will start at 10 p.m., and the cover charge will be $4, according to the Auntie Mae's Web site.

Ladesich said the band could not have chosen a better venue than Auntie Mae's to release its "We absolutely love playing at Auntie Mae's," Ladesich said. "The people of Manhattan that we've met, and especially the people that come to this bar (Auntie Mae's), are into good music. They respond well, and they're a great crowd to play for.

"We like people that want to dig into our lyrics and the textures of our music and come away from our shows getting something out of it. That's why we like this place. The patrons of Auntie Mae's are music fans that are into finding a deeper meaning in what they're listening to."

The purpose of the show at Auntie Mae's tomorrow night is to celebrate the release of Pendergast's just second album, but the band is made up of veteran musicians who played in other groups long before the start of Pendergast in 2002.

"I've been in some good bands before, but none of those compare to the talent and musicianship we have with Pendergast," Ladesich said. "Everyone in this band is experienced and knows what they're doing. We're spoiled to have one another."

As far as the future plans for Pendergast, Ladesich had no concrete answers, but he did offer a few expectations.

"I don't want it to take us another two years to put out another album," Ladesich said. "And I want to continue to do something that has a little ... swagger to it.

"To be a good band, you've always got to have a little swagger."

The Wildcats, playing in fr ant of a sell-out crowd at Bramlage, beat Oklahoma 72-61 See Spirts Page 6

www.kstatecollegian.com

Monday, March 5, 2007

Vol. 111, No. 115

Clinton charges audience to be proactive

Clinton offers listeners 5 questions to uncover solutions to world issues

By Adrianne DeWeese KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Concerned citizens need a framework to evaluate questions facing today's world, said Bill Clinton, the 42nd U.S. president, Friday afternoon at Bramlage Coliseum during the 148th Landon Lecture.

Clinton said U.S. citizens should answer five questions in response to the changing world, regardless of their political affiliations.

"You may not agree with my analysis, but you should be able to answer those questions," Clinton said to an audience of more than 9,000 people.

Clinton asked the audience to consider the following five questions and offered his feedback in each area.

WHAT IS THE FUNDAMENTAL NATURE OF THE 21ST CENTURY WORLD, IN A WORD?

Clinton said though most people would say globalization, he prefers the term "interdependence." Globalization, he said, is strictly an economic term, and today's world transcends economics.

"There is more internal diversity in America and all other rich countries than there used to be as people flock to centers of opportunity seeking a better tomorrow," he said. "I just look through this crowd, and I bet it's more diverse by race, by religion and even by gender than it would have been if we'd had a meeting here 40 years ago."

IS IT A GOOD OR BAD THING THAT WE ARE LIVING IN AN AGE OF GLOBAL INTERDEPENDENCE?

It is both, Clinton said. Though the world is fine for those who can afford food, clothing and shelter, it also does not work for about half the world's population, he said.

Clinton said about 1 billion people live on less than $1 a day, and one in four people this year will die from one of four sources that almost no American will die from: AIDS, tuberculosis, malaria and infections related to unsanitary water.

HOW SHOULD WE TRY TO CHANGE THE WORLD?

The transition from interdependence to integrated communities on a local, national and global level will allow people to change the world, Clinton said. All successful integrated communities share opportunities to participate, responsibilities for the welfare of the whole and a sense of genuine belonging.

However, instability and vulnerability exist in today's world through climate changes, unequal economic distribution, topsoil erosion and oil scarcity, he said.

"If you look at the modern world, we have no choice but to try to move from interdependence to integration because the world we live in today is - we can't keep going this way," he

HOW DO YOU CHANGE THE WORLD?

A security policy and diplomacy strategy are key in changing the world. Ending world hunger and educating children also are significant contributors to building relationships with other countries and fighting terrorism, Clinton said.

"We've got to have a security strategy, but if you live in an interdependent environment and you can't kill, jail or occupy all your enemies you've got to have a strategy to make more partners and fewer enemies, too," Clinton said. "It is always, always cheaper than fighting."

WHO IS SUPPOSED TO DO ALL OF THIS?

Though the government has its responsibilities, it is every citizen's responsibility to help change the world. Clinton said. He referred to his AIDS projects in 25 countries as an example of changing the world.

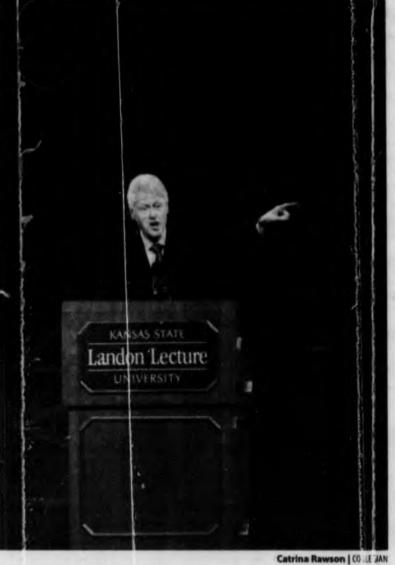

"I try to say, "m a citizen now," Clinton said. "What can a citizen do?' Let's answer that question, and then you identify everything that's left, and you say, 'What has to be done at the state, local or national level, and what can be done by the business community?"

Clinton also said the line between international and domestic relations nearly disappeared in the last 40 years. He briefly referenced former Kansas governor and 1936 presidential candidate Alf Landon's inaugural Landon Lecture in 1966, which was titled "New Challenges in International Relations."

"I'm here in the heartland of the country with a bunch of people who are far more connected to the world beyond America's borders than students would have been 41 years ago on either coast," Clinton said.

Clinton's lecture Friday completed the roster of all U.S. presidents since

See CLINTON Page 9

Former President Bill Clinton addresses patrons during the 148th Landon Lecture Frida / afternoon at Bramlage Coliseum. Clinton is the sixth sitting or former pre: ident to make an address at the ser es.

Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLYGIAN Clinton speaks to a packed Bramlage Coliseum Friday afternoon.

Clinton receives applause from the Bramlage Coliseum crowd. Clinton addressed a number of public issues with five questions he discussed during the lecture.

Christopher Hanewinckel COLLEGIAN

Students receptive, motivated by lecture

By Mike Kelly KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

After hearing his message of integration rather than globalization, many students who attended former President Bill Clinton's Landon Lecture were impressed.

"I think he's a very talented speaker," said Ben Keck, sophomore in business administration pre-professional. "You can tell that he's experienced in the art."

Though the ticket distribution lines did not stretch as far as those for President George W. Bush's lecture, many students said the response from the crowd was no different.

"The place seemed just as loud as it did for Bush, and it seems like there were more students here to see Clinton," said Nick Kenney, freshman in history.

One idea students took away from the speech was the ever-diminishing line between domestic and international issues.

"I'm glad that he spoke about globalization, because it is going to be very prevalent for our generation," said Adam Ingersoll, junior in biology.

Clinton provided a five-point framework for any political situation, noting that it takes an answer to all five questions to form an intelligent stance on the issue. Many students said they felt this frameork is something they can put to use in their lives.

"It was a good idea to provide a model for the thought process," said Harrison Poole, sophomore in civil engineering. "It was a little redundant, but I think it does a good job of covering the process."

One area with which many attendees disagreed was the amount of foreign aid the United States should provide to other countries. Clinton said in order to take care of America's next generation, the country needs to take care of the world.

"Other nations breed terrorism from an early age, so by the time they are adults the hate

See LECTURE RESPONSE Page 9

Military science instructors, students honor fallen soldier with plaque, room dedication

A memorial plaque for Second Lt. James Michael Goins, a 2003 K-State graduate and former cadet recondo commander of K-State's Army ROTC program, hangs outside the recondo room dedicated to him during the dedication ceremony Friday morning in Myers Hall.

Steven Doll COLLEGIAN

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State honored solder who was killed in Iraq with a room dedication Friday.

Second Lt. James Michael Goins was killed in a gunfight in Najaf, Iraq, on August 15, 2004, at the age of 23. Members of the Department of Military Science honored Goins, a 2003 K-State graduate and former cadet recondo communder of the K-State Army ROTC program, with a room dedication ceremony in the basement of military science building Myers Hall Fri-

"We always knew we would do something like this eventuall "," said Patrick Johnson, assistant professor of military cience and Goins' former ROTC instructor. "We just reeded to give it some time to work out."

The codication began at 11:30 a.m. with a few words frem cadets and instructors who had either known o heard stories about Goins.

'Mich rel has always been my hero, even before he died," said Misty Richardson, 2005 K-State graduate and close friend to Goins during their time in the ROTC pi agram. "He was a committed family man and a wonder tal friend."

Goins widow, Paula, sat at the front of the recondo

See MEMORIAL Page 9

Today's forecast Mostly sunny High: 58 Low: 30

INSIDE

Building a nest egg used to be a point of conversation for older generations. Now, it is a focus of every college student's financial planning goals. Turn for a crash course into the world of stocks, mutual funds and certificates of deposit.

See story Page 5

CAMPUS NEWS HIGHLIGHTS

Professor to speak on rural migration

Kenneth Johnson, professor of sociol-ogy at Loyola University in Chicago, will speak on the growing migration and poor economic conditions of the rural population at 7 p.m. today in Forum Hall in the K-State Student Union. The speech is sponsored by the Donald J. Adamchak Distinguished Lecture Series in Sociology

Event to highlight Sudanese a lture

The Union Program Jouncil will highlight different aspects of Sudane culture from noon #. 1 p.m. today in the K-State Student Inion Courtyard. The event, part of the monthly Festival of Nations, will feature various African- and Suc anese-inspired performances and w rious food items from the culture.

Buddhist to present lecture on diversity

Thapovanaye Sutadhara Thero, director of the Ventura Buddhist Study Center in Anlac Mission, Calif., will give a presentation, "Diversity in Sci Lankan Society as a Uniting Factor: A Buddhist Perspective," at 4 p.m. today in Union 212. The lecture is organized by Sri Lankan Studen's Association.

4 of a kind According to the U.S. Playin and Compa the four kings in a traditional deck of cards represent famous historic leaders. King David lexander the freat

37 Ccmpet

39 Hi thest

41 Hendy

ran king

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS	43 Actress	3 Wheedle	23 Treasure-
193	Zadora	4 One	hunt help
a ternative	44 On in	of the	25 Lotion
4 W andible	years	Bushes	additive
7 P Nacock's	46 Entrap	5 On	26 Standard
p ide	50 MPs'	6 War	27 Geneal-
11 Finzine	quarry	CITY	ogy
tenic	53 Hiatus	7 It's	chart
3 B t-lical	55 Let fall	between	28 Llamas'
sa diix	56 Repast	the U.S.	home
14 Music	57 Rage	and	29 Writer
le rar's	58 Needle	Mexico	Kingsley
sttup	holder	8 Have a	30 Jazzy
15 Slamese	59 House-	buq	style
16 Hullow-	hold	9 Condi-	31 "Mayday!"
OF D	critters	tions	35 Little shout	60 Afternoon	10 Tell tales	boxer?
17 O herwise	social	12 It's	38 Drag
13 Se cond-	61 Moment	between	behind la gest	- memen	the U.S.	40 Greek of the	DOWN	and	conso-
51	1 Catcher's	Canada	nants
20 In ligent	aid	19 Total	42 On the
2:! W igley	2 Liniment	21 See	level pr sduct	target	44-Across	45 Challenge
24 Ea sily			47 - and
int uenced	Solution tir	ne: 27 mins.	crafts
2( N thtwear		AHA SPA	48 Libertine
31 St rrow		RODMAT	49 Grand
31 Eastern		COOKOUT	story
biswip	KNIG		50 Rock-
34 Burst	BIONA	the same of the sa	concert
36 Olinton's		BROWSE	gear
	COLUMN TO SEE SEE		9

Friday's answer 3-2

VKQAAMV DKZMI QJDON Q

CRYPTOQUIP

EIFIDUE ZDH NYQN PQA CDOEZ

NDX DC Q JOMKZMEH:

"XIX DE NYI UDDC." FINANCE OF STREET STREET

oday's Cryptoquip Clue: N equals 7

WEIRD NEWS

Bizarre, funny and unusual stories from around the world

MARINE SIGNAL KNOCKS OUT GARAGE DOOR OPENERS

QUANTICO, Va. - For many suburbanites, life without garagedoor openers is unimaginable.

But neighbors of the Marine base there have been reduced to just that after a strong radio signal coming from the facility began neutralizing remote-control openers.

Last fall, residents around an Air Force facility in Colorado Springs, Colo., saw their garagedoor remotes stop working when the 21st Space Wing began testing a frequency for use during homeland security emergencies or threats. Two years ago, testing of a similar system at Fort Detrick in Maryland resulted in similar problems.

For decades, the military has held a portion of the radio spectrum, from 138 to 450 megahertz, in reserve. That part was borrowed by remote-control manufacturers, with the understanding that the signal be weak enough for the military to override it.

'IDIOT' COMMENT PRODS POWERBALL WINNER

provider

54 Shell

need

DES MOINES, Iowa - Ed O'Neill's bank account just got a lot bigger, thanks to a co-worker who told him some "idiot" hadn't claimed an $800,000 Powerball lottery prize.

O'Neill, 58, who works for the Clinton Chamber of Commerce, bought the ticket for a January 6 Powerball drawing.

He told Iowa Lottery staffers he didn't think to check the results until a couple days afterward, when a chamber receptionist pointed out an article in the local newspaper.

"She said, 'Read this article about the idiot that hasn't claimed his ticket.' So I read it and noticed where the ticket was bought," O'Neill said. "I thought, 'Gee, I better look at my ticket.' That's when I said, 'I think I won."

Then he called his wife, Diane, 58, who thought he was pulling a

After taxes, the couple will get about $560,000, much of which will go to pay off their mortgage, their children's mortgages and their retirement.

DATING WEB SITE TAKES PETS INTO ACCOUNT

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands - A new dating Web site helps match people who are compatible based on their interest in dogs, cats or other pets.

The Dutch site, called Dieren-Mens, or Animal and Human, says it is a meeting place for all animal lovers, whether one is looking for a partner, someone who also likes snakes and spiders or someone who will take care of the chickens when they want to go away for the weekend.

"How can you find a nice partner who is just as crazy about animals as you are?" said Betty Mercey, who launched the dating site last weekend.

Members of the site can describe themselves and their pets, and when they think they have found someone who also likes their pets, they can contact each other through the Web site.

TIGER, ORANGUTAN BABIES FORM INSEPARABLE BOND

CISARUA, Indonesia - A pair of month-old Sumatran tiger twins have become inseparable playmates with a set of young orangutans, an unthinkable match in their natural jungle habitat in Indonesia's tropical rainforests.

The friendship between 5month-old female baby primates Nia and Irma and cubs Dema and Manis has blossomed at the Taman Safari zoo, where they share a room in the nursery.

After being abandoned by their mothers shortly after birth, the four play-fight, nipping and teasing each other, and cuddle up for a shared nap when they are worn

"This is unusual and would never happen in the wild," said zookeeper Sri Suwarni while bottle-feeding a baby chimp Wednesday. "Like human babies, they only want to play."

The exceptional friendship will likely be short-lived, said veterinarian Retno Sudarwati, because as the animals grow up, their natural survival instincts will kick in.

"When the time comes, they will have to be separated. It's sad, but we can't change their natural behavior," she said. "Tigers start eating meat when they are three months old."

'STUBBORN SCANDINAVIAN' STICKS AROUND IN SEATTLE

SEATTLE, Washington - Unwanted when it was proposed in the early 1960s, a bronze statue of Leif Erikson on shores of Seattle's Shilshole Bay seems to be exacting revenge.

Crews attempting to move the statue have been unable to budge the 17-foot-tall Viking from his pedestal.

"That's one stubborn Scandinavian," remarked Kristine Leander of the Leif Erikson International Foundation.

On Tuesday, workers spent eight hours drilling at the base, pounding on the concrete and tugging with the crane.

The local Scandinavian community paid $42,000 for the statue 45 years ago, but the Seattle Parks Department didn't want it, according to a Seattle Times story, "on the grounds it might set a precedent for other ethnic groups."

- www.cnn.com

The planner | Campus bulletin board

■ Career and Employment Services will sponsor a Dining Etiquette Workshop at 5:30 p.m. March 13 in the Gold Room of the Derby Dining Center. Reservations must be made by Wednesday. To make a reservation, call (785) 532-6506 or visit 100 Holtz Hall. The cost is $6.75 per person or meal exchange for students with a meal plan. Professional business attire is

■ The Japanese Appreciation Association will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Union 203.

Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at collegian@spub.ksu. edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

The blotter

Arrests in Riley County

Reports are taken directly from the Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violaons because of space constraints.

Thursday, March 1

— Cory Ryan Calkins, 2111 Timbercreek Road, at 9:50 a.m. for violation of a protective order.

Patrick Lee Whalen, 414 Osage St., Apt. 7, at 11:23 a.m. for probation violation. Bond ■ Cordero Deonte Lane, 447 Marlatt Hall, at 11:46 a.m. for theft and computer crime. Bond was $1,500.

■ Christopher Edward Gene Clark, 618 Yuma St., at 3:30 p.m. for extradition of imprisonment. No bond was set.

Rebecca Murry Donovan, Junction City, at 4:55 p.m. for trafficking contraband into a correctional facility. Bond was $1,500.

Melena Ann Blount, 1019 Garden Way, at 6:30 p.m. for battery. Bond was $500.

Nicholas Cedric Jackson, 1019 Garden

Way, at 7 p.m. for battery. Bond was $500. ■ Jessica Marketa Arceneaux, 817 Yuma St., at 8 p.m. for a worthless check. Bond was ■ John Dennis Bean, Ogden, Kan., at 11:50 p.m. for a worthless check. Bond was $500.

Friday, March 2

■ Talon Josh Hutchens, 830 Leavenworth St., at 12:48 a.m. for failure to appear, possession of drug paraphernalia, unlawful possession of a depressant and driving under the influence. Bond was $2,035.

■ Robert Cory Hernandez, 1910 Montgom-ery Drive, at 1:45 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $1,500.

■ Amy Arletta Ross, 6030 Tuttle Terrace, Lot 37, at 1:51 a.m. for battery against a law enforcement officer, battery against a corrections officer and criminal damage to property. Bond was $2,000.

■ Chad Wayne Mcaffee, Belvue, Kan., at 2 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was

■ Casey Erin Babington, 1819 Todd Road, at ... 2:20 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $750.

Corrections and clarifications

There was an error in Friday's Collegian. The classes listed in the article "K-State offers classes at Fort Riley" are not offered this semester. See today's story on Page 7 for the correct classes. The Collegian regrets the error. If you see something that should be corrected. call news editor Alex Peak at (785) 532-6556 or e-mail collegian@spub.ksu.edu.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291 020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167. © Kansas State Collegian, 2007

se your leadership and listening skills! APPLY NOW for an Honor Council appointment for the 2007/2008 term.

Information and applications at the Honor & Integrity System information table in the KSU Student Union food court area this Wednesday, March 7th.

More information at Honor web page (www.ksu.edu/honor). Click on "Honor Council"

We can print from your USB flash drive.

Once in a Lifetime

in the Collegian, the first friday of the month

INTEGRITY WEEK 2007 MARCH 5-9

TUESDAY:

INTEGRITY WEEK KEYNOTE SPEAKER: RON PRINCE UNION LITTLE THEATER

WEDNESDAY:

INTEGRITY WEEK TABLE FOOD COURT ENTRANCE AT UNION

THURSDAY:

MOCK HEARING STUDENT UNION ROOM ZI3

FRIDAY:

LUNCHEON STUDENT UNION BLUEMONT ROOM

EXPLORING SRI LANKA "An insight to the culture and exotic beauty of Sri Lanka" it talk by

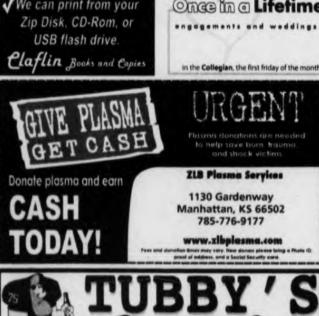

Van. Thapovanaye Sutadhara Thero (Virector, Ventura Buddhist Study Center Anlac Mission, California) Diversity in Sri Lankan Society as a Uniting Factor: A Buddhist Perspective

Crite: March 5th 2007 Tine: 4:00pm

If nue: Room 212, K-State Students Union

31 onsored by SGA

Organized by: SRI LAMKAN STUDENTS ASSOCIATION

NAACAS Pivot Point Hair Design Federally Funded Financial Aid For Qualifying Students see as in the Ville's St. Patty's Day Parade Gift Certificates

Lively letters

Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN

Aaron Hickey, sophomore in sociology and member of Phi Gamma Delta, spray paints the "J" of FIJI white. Hickey and other members of the fraternity said they decided to paint patterns for the various seasons on the letters in response to people randomly painting them.

Fraternity decorates sign to show spirit, attract attention

By Salena Strate KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

As the green and white paint dried, Aaron Hickey spread small, faux-gold coins at the base of the Phi Gamma Delta statue letters. Hickey, sophomore in sociology, came up with the idea of painting the FIJI letters with green shamrocks.

"People who don't know us on campus can see our letters from the road, and we stand out from the different fraternities," he said. "They can know we are

Hickey said he usually asks the chapter members to confirm his decoration ideas and give input. One idea - a leprechaun statue on the letter "I" - came from Forrest Smith, sophomore in landscape architecture.

"We wanted to add the leprechaun to get a laugh out of people," Smith said. "We added the coins so the leprechaun can sit in a pot of gold."

FIJI members also decorate the letters for other holidays. For Halloween, members used spider webs and orange and black paint. For Christmas, they painted the letters red and white, with the letter "J" as a candy cane. Hickey said for Easter, he plans to use pastel colors and decorate with Easter eggs. A rabbit also might appear.

FIII's letters used to be made of stone, but after someone pulled the letters off their base with a pick-up truck, Hickey said the fraternity was forced to make the letters out of metal and secure the base with 50 pounds of concrete.

Other people used to come by and paint our letters with different colors," Hickey said. "To stop this, we started to paint the letters purple, but then decided if we were going to take the time to spray paint them, we might as well have fun."

Smith said painting the letters is a creative way to fix a problem.

"Now I'm not too worried about others vandalizing our letters," he said. "Hopefully, they see our time and effort and don't do stuff to it. When people drive by, the colorful FIJI catches your eye, and people will talk about us even more."

Marc Mason, junior in finance, said he helped paint the letters because of pride in his house.

"We are starting a new tradition, which attracts attention in a positive way," Mason said. "Hopefully we will continue this."

HIPE events inform about honor system

By Eric Brown KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

This week marks K-State's seventh-annual Integrity Week.

The week will begin with the keynote address, "Honor and Integrity," by K-State head football coach Ron Prince at 4 p.m. Tuesday in the K-State Student Union Little Theatre. The address is open to the public.

On Wednesday, Honor and Integrity Peer Educators will have an information table set up from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Union food court. A mock honorpanel hearing from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Thursday in Union 213 will conclude the week's events. The hearing is open to all faculty and students.

The events taking place throughout the week, which include speeches, information tables and skits, will be sponsored by K-State's Honor and Integrity Peer Educators.

HIPE is a registered K-State student organization that serves as the educational component of K-

System, according to the HIPE Web site.

"Our week-long goal with these events is to educate students about the honor system at K-State as well as publicize our group," said Molly Coleman, president of HIPE and sophomore in biology. "I think there's a lot of students who are unaware of what the honor system consists of."

Coleman said she will be a participant in Thursday's mock trial.

"The point here is to demonstrate what would happen to a student if they were to be turned in to the honor system," Coleman said. "The mock trial will have an honor council of faculty and students who will be in charge of the mock sanctions, just as a real trial would have."

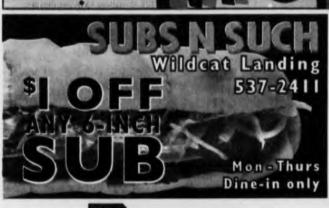

Coleman said HIPE added events like the mock trial to this year's Integrity Week to broaden the event and reach more students.

"Last year we just had information tables for Integrity Week," Coleman said. "And I think what we have planned out for this State's Honor and Integrity year will be more effective."

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

> First Amendment U.S. CONSTITUTION

HUNAN EXPRESS special ne of the fe

BEST CHINESE FOOD FASTEST DELIVERY LONGEST HOURS Free Delivery: 537-0886
Fax: 539-9111
Hours:
Sun. - Thurs. 11 a.m. - Midright;
Fri. - Sai. 11 a.m. - 2:30 a.m.

OPINION

Hit | Clinton lecture

Often, prominent speakers find a way to talk for an hour without saying much. Bill Clinton provided a more substantive lecture than we've come to expect from politicians. Granted, he's out of office, but it is nice to see some one powerful take a stance. We also appreciate Clinton's willingness to take questions after the speech, even those about the looming possibility of Armageddon.

Miss | Wefald's shameless plug

Jon Wefald's shameless plug for K-State seemed a bit tacky considering the circumstances. At least Clinton's acknowledgment of the free advertising opportunity ghtened the mood. Sure, K-State has lots of Rhodes scholars, but this was a lecture introduction, not a recruiting commercial.

Hit K-State men's basketball

The Wildcat seniors used their last game at Bramlage Coliseum to secure the highest Big 12 tournament seed in school history. It also put the Cats one step closer to their first NCAA Tournament. Among another sold-out home game, Cartier Martin's career high and K-State's first win over Oklahoma since 1999, it was a great way to end Bob Huggins' first regular season as a Wildcat.

Miss | Copy center moving

With the copy center in Hale Library moving to the K-State Student Union, it's hard to ignore the potential inconvenience to students and faculty who frequent the center. We hope the addition of high-speed scanners and new, self-serve copiers will keep things running smoothly

Hit | Rising temperatures

At press time, the weather is quite pleasant, but by the time you read this, it might be snowing. Despite Kansas' unpredictable weather patterns, the projected tempera-tures for the next week all land in the high 50s and low 60s. With spring break approaching, it's nice to be able to walk to class without dressing like an Eskimo.

Miss | 3,349 vote in SGA election

A measly 16 percent of the student body voted in the student body primary elections last week. That leaves 17,398 students who did not take the time to log on and voice their opinions. In the general election this week, we hope to see the number of votes increase dramatically. The top two candidates in the primary were separated by only 17 votes, so log on to sgaelections.k-state.edu Tuesday to vote.

Illustrations by Donnie Lee COLLEGIAN

In his footsteps

Losing a role model leads to reflection on what is most important

This column is dedicated to Robert Spencer. Let me preface by saying I am in no way looking for pity or sympathy from anyone, so please don't misunderstand.

This past week, my grandfather died. It was the first time someone really close to me had passed away, and I found myself in something I'm not used to - a new situation. I didn't quite know it, but when something like that happens, your whole life gets put on hold, if just for a brief period.

SPENCER

I began to think about college life and how in my six years at K-State, death has not been a central issue discussed on campus.

When you think about it though, death is something that we as college students deal with on a regular basis.

We are at the age when our grandparents are getting older and older and our parents are beginning to retire. I actually have been lucky up until now, as almost all of my friends have had at least a couple of their grandparents die.

My grandfather's death made me take a look not only at his life but also my own. It showed me that although we can learn from our elders while they're here with us, we often don't fully understand all they have to teach us until they're gone.

My grandfather graduated from K-State in 1952 with a degree in mechanical engineering, back when the department was still in Seaton Hall.

He then went to work for the same company until retirement, a concept the job-skipping Ritalin addicts of today couldn't possibly imagine.

He started a family with a wife he met while in college and had two children and two grandchildren who, together, make a wonderful three-generation Spencer household.

I look back on his life, and I see a man who was a hard worker, someone who believed strongly in getting an education, a man who put his family before all others and a deeply religious man who lived each day the best he could.

If you were to read that list without knowing who I was talking about, does it sound like anyone our age you know? Unfortunately, probably not.

I'm not going to lecture on the poor work ethic of our generation or the decline of the traditional family, but I will point out how wonderful that list of traits sounds when you read it.

The life he led should be an example for all of us to follow when dealing with our day-to-day

I encourage everyone to start living some of those principles. Work hard during your time at K-State - your education is worth it. Loyalty in and out of the workforce counts for more than you could imagine.

Look closely at a family, not only for your future, but for the one you have now.

Finally, if you are a spiritual person, don't lose that in your life. Hold on to your faith and practice it every chance you get.

My grandfather's death showed me how I face death. I face it by looking at what can be learned from it and finding out how I can better my life and the lives of others.

As "Star Trek" taught us, how we face death is at least as important as how we face life. I can only hope my grandfather's death taught me how to improve my life so I can better face my own death when it comes. Until then, Grandpa, your goober will continue to make you

Blogging keeps news accountable

Arthur Ochs Sulzberger Jr., publisher of The New York Times, said in an interview with Israeli newspaper

Haaretz that the immediate future of the paper is still unclear.

"I really don't know whether we'll be printing The Times in five years, and you know what?" he asked. "I don't care either."

GREG BROWN

Today's newspapers are facing new competitors on all fronts. The news-gathering side is under attack with Internet and cable sources popping up all over the place:

Cable TV is driven by demands of both informing viewers just tuning in and retaining those who have been watching for a few hours already.

But quality reporting has implications beyond how we choose to consume our news. Russia provides an example of what can happen when reporting falls by the wayside, and the picture doesn't look pretty.

Russian president Vladimir Putin has the highest approval rating of any leader in the developed world. He consolidated political power, used it to build up loyal allies and then consolidated economic power under those allies. But the key to his success has been a degradation in Russia's press that reached critical mass in 1996.

Then-Russian president Boris Yeltsin's popularity was in the single digits with only months left before elections. Yeltsin pressured the media into praising his administration, allowing him to capture the majority quickly while other leaders looked away.

With that amazing swing, the press was defined as a tool to be used by politicians.

Well-functioning news media serve as a fourth branch of government, a check and balance against power disorders in the political and economic spheres that threaten our pluralist stability. Luckily, it looks like other forms of media are picking up the slack.

The increased focus on transparency has combined with the online revolution to make most data available on the Internet. This is where blogs and other sources come in. Though they might not have the high-level access to one-on-one interviews, they have thousands - if not millions - of eyes looking at documents and statements.

Blog writers broke stories ranging from Dan Rather's accidental use of forged documents to former Congressman Mark Foley's online relationships with former pages. Blogs are even a growing source of news in Russia, trying to fill the gap left by governmental control over broadcast media.

Even if all that fails, Sulzberger has plans for The New York Times to survive the transition to a digital age. For a year or two, a special team has been working inside his company to investigate how best to deliver the news in everything from laptops to cell phones.

Here's to hoping he succeeds.

your comments to opinion@spub.ksu.edu.

Greg Brown is a junior in philosophy. Please sen

COLLEGIAN

Megan Moser | EDITOR IN CHIEF Heidl Paulson | MANAGING EDITOR Alex Peak | NEWS EDITOR Jacque Haag | CO-COPY CHIEF Jessi Hernandez | CO-COPY CHIEF Scott Girard | CAMPUS EDITOR Logan C. Adams | METRO EDITOR Lacey D. Mackey | FEATURES EDITOR Jonathan Garten | SPORTS EDITOR Cedrique Flemming | TIPOFF EDITOR Eileen Laux | THE EDGE EDITOR Jonas Hogg | OPINION EDITOR Christopher Hanewinckel | PHOTO EDITOR Brendan Praeger | PRESENTATION EDITOR Royce Haynes | ONLINE EDITOR Courtney Sleypen | AD MANAGER Eddie Rogers | ASST AD MANAGER

WRITE TO US

Letters can be submitted by e-mail to letters@spub. ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters should be limited to 250 words. All submitted letters may be edited for length and clarity.

CONTACT US Kansas State Collegian Kedzie 103 Manhattan, KS 66502

Display ads.....(785) 532-6560 Classified ads....(785) 532-6555 .(785) 532-6555 Newsroom.....(785) 532-6556 news@spub.ksu.edu

OPINION EXCERPTS | Columns from newspapers around the world

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE GROWS

THE BANGOR DAILY NEWS

A review of new Census data by the Associated Press this week shows dependency on public assistance continues to grow despite rules to reduce welfare rolls.

The analysis shows a shift in the types of public assistance Americans receive. Instead of straight payments to the unemployed - known since 1996 as Temporary Assistance for Needy Families the poor are more likely to receive benefits such as food stamps and medical support through Medicaid. As many as one in six Americans now receives some form of public assistance, the AP reports. Shifting from general to specific services might be helpful in removing disincentives to work. State studies have shown consistently the number of people receiving TANF payments has stayed down this decade. Further, the fact that other services are available suggests that a feared "race to the bottom" among states hasn't occurred as some advocates of the poor warned.

ENOUGH GLADIATOR GAMES: THE MIDDLE EAST MUST TALK

THE DAILY STAR (LEBANON)

Suddenly, the diplomatic season seems to have broken out all over the Middle East. The main players perhaps have seen the looming catastrophe hovering over the region and decided to pull back from the

This movement reflects a growing realization that everybody will lose if things continue on their present trajectory in the Middle East. The danger signs are embodied in two continuing violent trends that plague the region. The first is the steady expansion and popularity of militias, resistance organizations, other powerful armed political groups and terrorists, groups beyond the control of govemments. The second is the steady build-up of American-led armed forces in the region, combined with diplomatic pressure aimed against Iran, Syria, Hezbollah, Hamas and others who oppose the American-, British- and Israeli-led alignment, which includes several Arab govemments

THERE'S A PORN CRISIS IN CLASSROOMS? THE WICHITA EAGLE

I'm always impressed by the ability of our state lawmakers to solve problems most of us didn't even suspect existed. Case in point: the pornography crisis in Kansas classrooms. I had no idea this was going on. Has show-and-tell taken on a racier edge since I was a wide-eyed schoolboy? Are librarians stocking the "Collected Works of Hugh Not that I'm aware of.

Yet here comes Rep. Lance

Kinzer, R-Olathe, with a bill that would make it easier to prosecute public school teachers for using obscene materials in classrooms. Kinzer said under current law,

"materials that would be illegal if sold at a porn shop may be legal if displayed to a kindergarten class."

The bill was approved almost unanimously by the House.

I'd be leading the charge for this bill if there was evidence of a smut outbreak in our schools. I'm just not aware of any.

WORLD NEWS

MALE NUDISTS WORK OUT WITH PRESS AT DUTCH GYM

HETEREN, Netherlands -A dozen middle-age and elderly men were game enough for a Dutch gym's invitation to work gut nude. But they were vastly outnumbered by the dozens of journalists watching them lift, row and cycle in the buff.

Fitworld owner Patrick de Man allowed the media in for the first session of "Naked Sunday" after receiving inquiries from as far away as Russia and

A few local politicians and a nudist tourism company also watched. There was no group aerobics or naked instructors.

AFGHANS SAY U.S. FORCES OPENED FIRE ON CIVILIANS

Afghanistan BARIKAW, An explosives-rigged minivan crashed into a convoy of Marines that U.S. officials said also came under fire from militant gunmen Sunday. As many as 10 people were killed and 34 wounded as the convoy made a frenzied escape, and injured Afghans said the Americans fired on civilian cars and pedestrians as they sped away.

U.S. officials said militant gunfire may have killed or injured civilians, but Afghanistan's Interior Ministry and wounded Afghans said most of the bullets were American.

CHINA'S MILITARY SPENDING TO GROW

BEIJING - China will boost military spending by 17.8 percent this year, a spokesman for the national legislature said Sunday, continuing more than a decade of double-digit annual increases that have raised concerns among the United States and China's neighbors.

John Negroponte, U.S. deputy secretary of state, urged China to be more open .

"We think it's important in our dialogue that we understand what China's plans and intentions are," he said.

— The Associated Press

Corn production, prices to rise

By Megan Molitor KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Farmers in Kansas and throughout the Midwest could enjoy higher corn prices this growing season.

Sue Schulte, communications director for the Kansas Corn Growers Association. said this increase is due to higher ethanol production in the Midwest

"This will signal to growers to plant more corn to get the higher price," Schulte said. "It will help to meet the demand for corn in ethanol production,

Schulte said this means quite a bit to area farmers, as it will provide a stable market for corn and grain sorghum.

"Both crops are used to make ethanol and are important to growers," she said. "It's great because something in our own backyard is creating such a demand for grain."

This increase in price should not affect consumers much, if at all, Schulte said, since grain prices are not directly tied to consumer pric-

"We're not talking about the kind of corn that is used in products like canned corn," she said. "An example would be a box of Corn Flakes. You ground up corn to make them, and a normal box sells for around $3. There is only about 4 cents worth of corn in a box, so it would take quite a price increase to have any impact."

This kind of corn is grown nationwide, although Schulte said the main areas are in the Midwest

"Kansas is on the western edge of the corn belt," she said. "It includes states like Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska, and the corn production increase will have a very good impact on these states, since they are also the states where ethanol plants will be located."

Mike Woolverton, K-State grain market economist, said he agreed the increased demand for ethanol has raised corn prices and production, but said other factors might have affected them as well.

"Corn prices have doubled in the past seven or eight months," Woolverton said. "They have doubled not only because of increased demand for ethanol, but also because we had a short crop last year, so supply is low around the

The short crop was caused in part by a drought. Woolverton said all crops could be affected by this event.

"As we move acreage into corn from other crops, such as wheat, there will be less land for these other commodities, so prices could be raised for everything," he said. "Farmers will do better this year, as long as prices remain strong."

Woolverton said he does not foresee increases that should cause alarm for consumers, and many students said they agree.

"I wouldn't worry about prices going up on food that I buy, because corn is only part of what is in food, and it isn't in all foods," said Nathaniel Grote, senior in social science. "I don't think it would affect meat or dairy."

Grote said he would still buy these foods even if prices did go up, because "inflation

Investing options fit students' financial needs, help ensure future security

By Brett King KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

In early February, the U.S. Department of Commerce reported the national personal savings rate was at negative 1 percent. For the first time since the Great Depression, average American citizens are living above their means.

College students, however, have the potential to create large nest eggs for their futures.

Cardinal Money Management is a program powered by Stanford University to help students learn about the benefits of saving early. According to its Web site, www.stanford. edu/~mikefan, if students save $1,000 each year from ages 20 to 30, they will acquire more wealth through compounding interest than someone saving from ages 30 to 65.

Rodney Vogt, instructor of accounting, said it takes a long time to build assets

"The hardest thing is differing gratification when it comes to purchasing luxuries, not buying the latest and greatest gadget as soon as it comes out," Vogt said.

A savings account is one way students can start saving for the future. Funds are easily accessible, and the account is insured by the Federal Desposit Insurance Corporation for up to FDIC insurance guarantees money in savings and other accounts will be accessible in the event of a bank failure.

Savings accounts are not the only opportunity for students to plan for the future. Certificates of Deposit provide a higherthe same amount each year yield interest rate and FDIC online without a broker.

insurance, but funds are locked into a time commitment and subject to an early withdrawal fee. Banks in and around Manhattan offer CDs at different rates, time commitments and initial investment levels.

Carrie Rowe, branch manager for Commerce Bank in the K-State Student Union, said the minimum for a CD on a one- to five-year term is $1,000. Shorter time commitments require a higher minimum amount.

During a promotional offer, Commerce Bank is offering a $1,000 CD with a 5.25-percent return for a 10-month commitment, she said.

Stocks are another way students can acquire additional funds, but they also can carry a risk to the initial contribution. In the age of technology, students can buy and sell stocks

Vogt said students should be careful when dealing with the stock market.

"Cut losses when the price goes below 8 percent," said Vogt. "That way you only lose eight percent. This is a key to avoiding a huge loss.

"People will buy more of a stock because the price is lower. This is what is called averaging down. It is a lot like catching a falling knife. Even though it is still going down, you still don't want to try and catch it. If it is going down, there must be a

Investment vocabulary

Stock: A security that represents partial ownership of a corporation. Stocks are referred to as equities.

■ Mutual fund: An investment company that pools money from investors to buy stocks, bonds or other investments.

■ Certificate of deposit (CD): A bank savings account with a set time the funds will remain with the bank, from 14 days

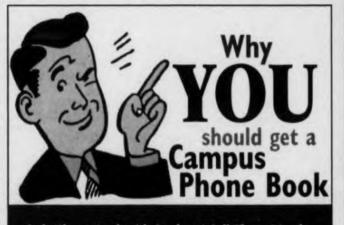

■ Municipal bonds: Bonds issued by states, cities, counties and towns to fund public capital projects like roads, schools, sanitation facilities, bridges and operating budgets. These bonds are exempt from federal taxation and from state and local taxes for the investors who reside in the state where the bond is issued.

■ Discretionary account: An account in which the investor gives a broker, bank or another person authority to make investment decisions on the investor's

■ NOW Account: A negotiable order of withdrawal. It is also commonly called interest checking because the accounts

- www.atozinvestments.com

- · Only Phone Book with Students' Cell Phone Numbers
- · Coupons with the Greatest Deals
- · A Menu Guide with local restaurants' menus

Purchase Yours in Kedzie 103 Now Leasing for Spring 2007 ALSO LEASING FOR THE 2007-2008 ACADEMIC YEAR Now Offering FREE TANNING! University Crossing 785.539.0500 tel | www.collegeparkweb.com for all your Graduation regalia!

1-MINUTE

DRILL

Staff reports

RUN | Heller wins at lowa State's Last Chance Qualifier

Only three K-State track and field athletes competed Saturday in Ames, lowa, at the low State Last Chance Qualifier. All of them finishe

Junior Laci Heller won the weight throw with a mark of 63-10 1/4. Her season best was 65-and made her eligible for the NCAA Indoor Championships. Heller is provisionally qualified for her third-straight championships on Friday

Two women ran the mile for the Wildcats. Sophomore Liliani Mendez placed third with a time of 4:54.09, and freshman Beverly Ramos placed fifth with a time of 4:59.32. The winning

Junior Morgan Bonds was supposed to run in the women's 800-meter race but did not partici-pate. She became eligible for the NCAA meet with a time of 2:06.20 at the lowa State Classic

Others who are eligible for the upcoming NCAA meet are sophomore Loren Groves in the weight throw, junior Marlanne Schlachter in the triple jump and senior Bryce Bergman in the Two Wildcats automatically qualified for the NCAA championship meet, and both are high jumpers. Senior Kaylene Wagner qualified wit a 6-1 1/4 jump, which ranks seventh in the nation. Sophomore Scott Sellers is ranked third in the nation on the men's side with a jump of

TEN | Tennis team falls to

Missouri in Big 12 opener

This weekend the K-State tennis team had to

K-State, competing with its makeshift lineup,

Sophomore Maria Perevoshchikova left the program prior to the Wildcats' match with Boise

Kvaratskhelia, who did not play last weekend against Boise State or New Mexico and only completed doubles matches in the weekend

State Feb. 24, forcing K-State to insert junior before, came back in both No. 2 singles and

At press time, no further information about

Da Valle's injury was available, said coach Steve

"Physically, Kvaratskhelia was about to go on the court, but that was about it," he said.

"Fernanda had a neck problem that came up this week, and she was not physically able to

With the victory over K-State, Missouri (5-3,

1-2 Big 12 Conference) claimed its first Big 12

win. The bright spot on Saturday for K-State

(2-5, 0-1 Big 12) was sophomore Katerina

Kudlackova, who paired with junior Olga Raquel Wagner and Katelyn McKenzie (8-4).

Kudlackova also was victorious at the No. 3

(6-2, 6-4).

didn't finish the job."

Klimova to win the No. 1 doubles match against singles spot, defeating Missouri's Chrissy Svetlic

"Kudlackova did a good job in Missouri," happen. We had two matches that we were in control of. One was six match points, and we

The only other Wildcat to win Saturday was junior Viviana Yrureta, who came back from a the No. 1 singles spot (2-6, 6-2, 6-2).

first-set loss against Missouri's Erika Josbena at

The Wildcats will return home Saturday to face Tulsa at Ahearn Field House. Bietau said his team will focus on two things this week in "Number one, we have to get everyone healthy," he said. "Then, we have to find out who really wants to play."

Bietau said. "We needed more of that to Tereza Prochazkova into the lineup.

shake up its lineup once again. Junior Fernanda

Da Valle was sidelined with a neck injury, and junior Tamar Kvaratskhelia stepped back into the No. 2 singles spot.

lost 5-2 to Missouri Saturday.

time for the meet was 4:41.18 by lowa's

Meghan Armstrong.

7-5 3/4.

1/2 at the K-State Invitational Jan. 5.

Going out with style

Martin scores career high, leads Wildcats to win on senior day

By Jonathan Garton KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Senior Cartier Martin saved his best game for last.

Martin, playing his last game at Bramlage Coliseum in front of a sellout crowd, scored a career-high 30 points and led K-State (21-10, 10-6 Big 12 Conference) to a 72-61 win over Oklahoma (15-14, 6-10) on senior day Saturday.

"I couldn't ask for anything better," Martin said. "I went out with a career high and a win."

After coming off the bench for the Wildcats for the past two months, Martin started for senior day. Huggins said the decision to start Martin was just for senior day.

Martin had an extra fan in attendance for his last night as a Wildcat. His mother, Denisa Martin-Ball, saw him play at Bramlage for just the second time in his collegiate career. The first game she attended was last year against Kansas.

Huggins suspended Martin last May for violating team rules. He was reinstated Nov. 13 in time for the start of the season, but his suspension forced him to miss off-season workouts with the team.

"He struggled early because he wasn't in great shape, and I'm sure a lot of that had to do with his suspension," Huggins said. "He was like everybody else - he was thinking too much. It's hard to play this game and think. You have to react."

Huggins said he was impressed particularly with how much his team has improved on defense. K-State forced 11 turnovers and grabbed six steals in the first period.

The stingy defense helped the Wildcats go to 20-4 run to close out the last seven minutes of the first half. During that span, the Sooners turned the ball over five times, and K-State scored several baskets in transition.

"We stepped up and played better defense in that first half," said junior David Hoskins. "That carried us. When other teams aren't scoring, it's a little easier to run out plays and get the momentum on your side."

Oklahoma senior Nate Carter and junior David Godbold both scored 10 points in the second half to help cut into the Wildcats' lead. However, it wasn't enough to offset Martin's 19 points in the second period.

Martin's 30 points led the way for the Wildcats. Hoskins had 14 points and senior Lance Harris added 10.

Carter and freshman Tony Crocker both had 14 to lead Oklahoma. Godbold scored 12.

The win broke an eight-game losing streak to the Sooners. The last time K-State beat Oklahoma was in 1999, when the Wildcats won 66-51 at Bramlage.

Saturday's win also guaranteed the Wildcats the No. 4 seed in the Big 12 tournament, their highest position in the tournament in Big 12 history. They will play the winner of Texas Tech and Colorado at 2 p.m.

'We're feeling kind of confident right now," Hoskins said. "We know we got a chance to play Tech so we're looking forward to that."

K-State's Cartier Martin goes up for a shot Saturday while playing Oklahoma at Bramlage Coliseum. Martin scored a career-high 30 points to help the Wildcats beat the Sooners 72-61.

Wildcats, Martin, go out with a bang, set sights on NCAA tournament

There was an air of finality inside Bramlage Coliseum.

Senior Serge Afeli paraded around the court, the flag of his native Ivory Coast draped across his shoulders.

Cartier Martin took a curtain call as a throng of students attempted to chant his name. (Hey, you try to get four syllables out of "Cartier Martin.") As the Wildcats celebrated a 72-61 victory over Oklahoma, there was a sense of conclusion.

MEEK

"We definitely went out with a bang on this one," Martin said.

Of course, the biggest bang belonged to Martin, who scored a career-high 30 points on senior day. Coach Bob Huggins said it was the best game he'd ever seen Martin play.

If you know anything at all about Cartier Martin, you can't help but be happy for him. Everyone from the basketball managers to guys who mop the floors will tell you Martin is a genuinely nice guy. He looks you in the eye when he talks, and he's quick to flash a smile. He punctuates every phrase with the word "man." That's Cartier.

This hasn't been an easy season for Martin. He was suspended for most of the summer, something he speaks

Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN

K-State senior Cartier Martin high-fives fans after a 30-point performance in the final regular season home game of his career.

about sparingly now. He admits he might have been mixed up in the wrong things with the wrong people. He says he has everything straightened out, and it's easy to believe him.

Once Martin was reinstated, fans expected him to step in and lead K-State to the NCAA Tournament. That's what happens when you're a senior and you play for Bob Huggins.

All the while, Martin was learning a new style of play. For the first three years of his career, he was a great spot-up shooter. Still, he wasn't the complete player many people, Huggins included, thought he could be.

The transition wasn't easy at first. Martin's numbers dipped, and he endured a constant stream of "What's wrong with Cartier?" questions.

Midway through the season, however, something seemed to click for Martin. He reached double figures in the last 15 games of the regular season, including seven 20-point performances. It all culminated with Saturday's 30-point, six-rebound gem.

Martin drained five 3-pointers, including one that seemed to touch the ceiling before plunging through the net. He created his own shots and attacked the basket. He recorded three steals and always seemed to have a hand in Oklahoma's passing lane.

"I would say this is probably one of the best games I've had here at K-State," Martin said.

C'mon, Cartier, is that the best you

"Well, I'd say the best game." That's better. See, we like it when the good guy rides off into the sunset. It appeals to our sense of poetic justice. Maybe the bracketologists and the pundits and the computer geeks say K-State isn't a tournament team.

Still, from where I was sitting, it sure didn't feel like K-State would be coming back to Bramlage for the National Invitation Tournament. It didn't feel that way to Cartier, either.

"What you mean?" he said when asked if he thought he'd played his last game at Bramlage.

After being reminded K-State could host an NIT game, Martin just shook his head.

"Oh, man, we're not shooting for the NIT, man," he said. "I'm certain I'm not going to be able to play here

Austin Meek is a senior in print journalism. Please send comments to sports@spub.ksu.

California for golf tournament The K-State men's golf team looks to bounce

GLF K-State travels to back after an 18th-place finish at the Rio Pinar Intercollegiate two weeks ago. The Wildcats will travel to Beaumont, Calif., to complete in the Braveheart Classic. The event starts at 7:45

The competition in the Braveheart Classic includes No. 12 UCLA and No. 85 Jacksonville

Sophomore Robert Streb, who finished nine-over par, led K-State at the Rio Pinar Intercollegiate, Junior Kyle Yonke had the second-best score among the Wildcats, shooting 12-over.

WEQ | Equestrian team wins at home Saturday, Sunday

The K-State women's equestrian team won two home shows this weekend at the Fox Creek

Saturday, the Wildcats took home first place in both the morning and afternoon shows against a field which included Black Hawk College, Iowa State, Missouri State, Northwest Missouri State and Truman State.

Sunday, K-State took on Texas A&M in head-

After trailing 6-4 early in the show, the Wildcats came from behind to edge out Texas

Baseball team finishes 2-1 in Texas, plays against Brigham Young today

Staff reports

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The K-State baseball team's sixgame winning streak came to a halt Sunday when it lost to California-Santa Barbara 8-6. The Wildcats finished 2-1 in the Lamar Classic after notching wins on Friday and Saturday.

The Wildcats started with a 10-3 drubbing of St. John's Friday and played back-to-back extra-inning games against Lamar and USCB on Saturday and Sunday.

In Saturday's 8-7 win against Lamar, the Wildcats jumped out to a 7-1 lead but let the Cardinals back into the game by surrendering four runs in the bottom of the sixth inning. Runs in the seventh and eighth completed the comeback and sent the game into extra frames.

K-State vs. Brigham Young ere: Tointon Family Stadium

In the top half of the tenth, sophomore Byron Wiley led things off with a single to right. Sophomore Tyler Link followed with his third base-hit of the game off a bunt, advancing Wiley to second. A sacrifice bunt from freshman Justin Bloxom advanced the runners further, and an intentional walk of senior Eli Rumler loaded the bases. Junior Brett Scott came through in the clutch for the Wildcats and delivered a sacrifice fly that allowed his team to reclaim the lead.

In the bottom half of the inning,

junior Daniel Edwards struck out two batters and retired a third with a full count and runners on first and second. Edwards worked nearly three scoreless innings, striking out six, and recorded the win.

Wiley and Link each had big games at the plate for the Wildcats. Wiley was 3-for-4 with two RBI and Link was 4for-5 with one RBI and a run scored.

Sunday, it was K-State's turn to come from behind against UCSB. The Gauchos took a 6-2 lead in the top of the sixth and looked to have victory in hand until the Wildcats broke out for a four-run rally in the bottom of the eighth. A scoreless ninth sent the game into extra innings.

Neither team scored in the tenth inning, but in the top of the eleventh, UCSB's Robbie Blauer smashed a two-run home run over the right field wall to give his team the lead. Rumler singled to start off the bottom half of the inning but ended K-State's hope for a second comeback when he was caught trying to steal second. Santa Barbara held on to collect an 8-6 win and ended the Wildcat's six-game winning streak.

Rumler went 3-for-4 on the day and was the only K-State player to record multiple hits. Sophomore Trevor Hurley took the loss for the Wildcats.

This week the Wildcats return to Manhattan for the first home series of the season, a two-game set with Brigham Young. The first game is today at 3 p.m. at Tointon Family Sta-

K-State-Salina to offer aviation courses at Fort Riley

By Kristen Roderick KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State-Salina courses will soon travel a few miles east.

Later this month, Fort Riley will offer three courses taught by instructors at K-State-Salina. These classes include Intro to Aviation, Supervisory Management and Aviation Maintenance Review. The classes will begin March 26.

'We had a couple of meetings to see if there was an interest and we were overwhelmed with the demand," said Katie Mayes, coordinator of public and alumni relations at K-State-Salina.

This is the first time K-State-Salina will have classes at Fort Riley. The classes will be taught in the evenings every eight weeks.

Mayes said K-State-Salina officials decided to offer the classes because there was a high demand for aviation training at Fort Riley.

Employees at K-State-Salina asked Larry Graham, program assistant for continuing education, to help them bring the courses to Fort Riley.

Graham said it took about six months to move from the informational-type meetings to course approval. Enrollment is now open for the courses.

Though nobody is enrolled in the classes yet, Mayes said there are people in the process. She said she expects 60 people to enroll in all three courses.

The courses have the standard fee for tuition and continuing education, Mayes said.

Graham said the courses are open to everyone, including soldiers, civilians, retirees and people who are interested in becoming commercial pilots.

The Manhattan campus already has offered classes at Fort Riley. Last spring, K-State offered Culture and Conflict, Introduction to Women's Studies, Violence Prevention and Intervention and Introduction to American Ethnic Mayes said the courses will be a good thing for Fort Riley.

"We hope to provide the education that is needed," she said.

For more information on classes at Fort Riley, visit www. salina.k-state.edu/army.

ELECTION ANALYSIS

Election trends predict 2007 voter turnout

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Between 4,500 and 6,300 students will vote in this week's general election if the last five elections are an accurate guide, but it is not easy to be sure.

Polls will open at 8 a.m. Tuesday, and students will be able to vote through www. sgaelections.ksu.edu until 6 p.m. Wednesday. Positions in Student Senate, college councils, Union Governing Board, and the Student Publications Board of Directors, as well as the titles of student body president and vice president, are up for grabs.

The race is too close to call between the two pairs of candidates for student body president and vice president: Jim Mosimann, senior in political science and economics, and Nick Piper, junior in finance; and Matt Wagner, senior in management information system, and Lydia Peele, junior in secondary education.

In last week's primary, 17 votes separated the two winning candidate pairs - slightly Votes for student body president candidates*

Year	Primary	General	Percent Increase	Spring Enrollment	Percent of enrollment
2002	2,558	3,577	37.2 percent	20,409	17.5 percent
2003	2,190	3,237	47.8 percent	20,635	15.7 percent
2004	4,847	6,241	28.8 percent	20,490	30.4 percent
2005	3,872	5,201	34.3 percent	21,093	24.7 percent
2006	4,191	5,604	33.7 percent	21,044	26.6 percent
Average	3,531	4,759	36.6 percent	20,734	23 percent

*Vote totals are based on votes for registered candidates do not include write-ins Polling Irregularities resulted in a re-election in 2002 more than last year, when only 10 votes separated the winners.

Comparisons of the last five years show no advantage in Wagner and Peele's small primary lead of 1,514 votes over Mosimann and Piper's 1,497 votes. Recent history shows it could go either way.

First, the two pairs that won the primaries were within 200 votes of each other in three of the last five elections (2002, 2004 and 2006).

The pair with the most votes in the primary won the general election only once in those three years.

Second, the pair with the most votes in the primary went on to win the general election in three of the last five elections (2003, 2004 and 2005).

Only one of those three cases, the 2004 election, came after a close primary finish.

The five previous primary elections totaled an average of 3,531 students votes, and the general elections averaged 4,772. The differences between the primary and general elections range between about 29 and almost 48 percent, averaging a 36.6-percent increase.

Last week's actual turnout, not including write-ins, was 3,313 votes. If a 36.6-percent increase can be expected, Wagner-Peele and Mosimann-Piper should receive 4,526 votes between them.

Another projection compares turnout to enrollment.

The last five elections show that 16-30 percent of enrolled students voted, with the aver-

 Web sites of K-State Registrar and Governing Association Elections age at 23 percent.

The K-State Registrar's office reported K-State's total enrollment on the 20th day of class this semester was 20,747. If prior trends hold true, 4,771 students could be expected to vote in the election, but that could range between 3,300 and 6,300.

The actual turnout this year depends more on how well the two pairs of candidates garner support than anything else.

Mosimann said he expects 5,000 to 6,000 voters.

"Hopefully, about 51 percent vote for us," he said.

Wagner said he hoped for between 6,000 and 6,500.

"Make sure you read up on the candidates and where they stand for the next year, and just vote," he said.

Break Dea

Free travel size when you Buy 3 travel sizes of any Brand.

> (Redken, Pravana, and American Crew) now available at 785-537-2700 • 108 S. 4th St.

Exp. 3/24/07

Suit up for Spring The hottest swimwear available exclusively

Break 110 S. 4th St. Manhattan BRAS · LINGERIE · SWIMWEAR

Crimpers Hair Studio FOIL HILITE ADD ANOTHER COLOR AND CUT $25 MEN'S HILITE OR COLOR W/ CUT FULL SET & BROW COMBO OF NAILS OR TOES BACK WAX 52 BRAZILIAN WAX CHECK OUT SPECIALS @ CRIMPERS TOO LOWER LEVEL KSU STUDENT UNION 532-5972

Advertise in the pring reak Section!

Call 785-532-6560 today!

Alorica INC.

FLEXIBLE SCHEDULES FUN ENVIRONMENT FANTASTIC WAGES

GAIN WORK EXPERIENCE BUILD YOUR RESUME START YOUR CAREER

NOW HIRING

www.aloricajobs.com

5970 SYKES BLVD MANHATTAN, KS 66502

PH: (785) 564-4413

Prepare your Pooch for Spring Break!

607 W. 11th St.

565-0612

Advice for world travelers.

If you're planning a trip overseas, contact your credit card company and let them know. That way, when foreign charges begin showing up on your card, they won't hesitate to process the transactions quickly. Visit our Web site for additional tips.

INTRUST has the currencies you need to travel anywhere!

- . Major and most minor currencies available daily other currencies available upon request
- Non-customer transactions welcome
- . Travel Tip Pack provided with purchase · Traveler's Checks denominated in foreign currencies
- . Currency packets in Euros or British pounds available at select INTRUST locations ($100 minimum trade required)
- No transaction fee
- Buy-back guarantee

yes you can.

For questions

International

about our foreign

currency and other

Banking services

316-383-1287

Success of K-State basketball improves local economy

Improving sports teams attract more fans, bring increased spending to area businesses

By Mandy Stark KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

"9 Money flowing from visitors' pockets into Manhattan during basketball weekends boosts the focal economy, but it is difficult ft say just how much.

City officials have known for years the economic gains caused by the K-State football program, But the effects are more difficult for trace for basketball.

"K-State football is a tremendous boost to Manhattan's economy," said Lyle Butler, Manhattan Area Chamber of Commerce president. "You go fifto any store or restaurant on Saturday morning and you'll riotice a sea of purple."

K-State football has been Brominent for more than 15 years, but Manhattan is not yet Considered a basketball town, despite the team's recent success, Butler said.

"The seating capacity of Bramlage Coliseum compared to Bill Snyder Family Stadium accounts for a lot of the differ-Price," Butler said. "And K-State basketball isn't as established as football."

Much of the financial input from football comes from outof-town fans, whereas more local residents and students attend basketball games, he said.

"The sold-out games this year have increased the number of people coming in from out of town before games to eat and shop," Butler said. "But we still see the most sales from local residents, whether it's eating in restaurants before the game or visiting Aggieville afterwards."

Football fans generally come for the whole weekend, but basketball fans usually only stay one night, he said.

"For football, people come from far away. They tailgate and the games take longer," Butler said. "Basketball games have a different atmosphere because they're not as long and there's no tailgating."

The Manhattan Town Center's restaurants and stores see a sales boost when K-State sports teams play, said Sara Van Allen, mall marketing manager.

"We have a big-screen TV in our food court, and we've noticed a large increase in people coming in to watch the game," Van Allen said.

Kite's Bar & Grill in Aggieville usually adds one or two servers to handle the extra business during basketball games, said general manager Chris Smith. The restaurant sells more food and alcohol - about double the amount served on a normal business day.

"We expect a large crowd for basketball games, especially on the weekends," Smith said. "More out-of-town fans means we beef up our staff."

Hotel employees also noticed a recent influx of guests.

"Before this season, nobody really came for basketball games," said Teresa Morris, general manager at Hampton Inn. "This year, we've generally been full for all the games, whether it's a Monday or a Saturday."

Pinpointing actual economic increases from sports is difficult, even for experts, said Dennis Toll, tourism sales manager for the Manhattan Convention and Visitors Bureau.

Based on attendance and estimated spending, Toll estimated football's economic effect to be about $1.4 million per game. He said input from basketball is harder to determine.

"During weekends with football games, every hotel is filled," Toll said. "We estimate that 75 percent of those rooms are for K-State football. With basketball, there are fewer people traveling, which means less spend-

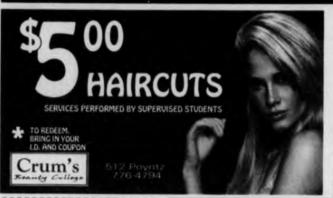

Toll estimated an increase to the local economy of about $200,000 to $250,000 per basketball game for weeknight and weekend games, respectively.

To advertise on kstatecollegian.com

Kay Hoffman, resident of Manhattan, takes money for basketball merchandise from Kyle Bohnenblust, junior in business administration pre-professional, before the start of the game against Oklahoma on Saturday afternoon at Bramlage Coliseum. The effect of basketball games on the local economy has increased with the recent success of the team, but football games still have a greater effect.

Campus Phone Books ----- 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri.

Salon ssentials Get your body bikini ready! Sazilian wax only $45

Coming Soon!

Must present coupon Exp. 3-16-07

ing Break

539-3742 • 1122 Laramie

50 Haircut & HiLite Evebrow Wax $ 10 Men's Haircuts Aassage w/ KSU ID

Pedicure w/ Any Service
785.539.3626 MANHATTAN, KS 66503 EXPIRES 3.31.07

Too Broke for a Trip?

Take a Break with Impressions. We'll make you look & feel refreshed!

- · Hilite w/ free Hair Cut
- Color w/ free Hair Cut
- Hair Cut w/ free Brow Wax
- Massage w/ free Facial Pedicure w/ free Manicure

1140 Westloop Pl. • Present Ad • exp. 3.31.07 HAIR DESIGN AND NAIL STUDIO

REPAIRING · SHOES · BOOTS · PURSES · LUGGAGE · HARNESS · BACK PACKS · LEATHER COATS · BIRKENSTOCKS ·

Concerned about your car?

FREE

DIAGNOSIS

Hours: Monday Friday 8-5:30 · Saturday 8-12 216 S. 4th St. (4th & Pierre) · 776-1193

MANHATTAN SHOE

HAVE A SAFE SPRING BREAK DON'T DRINK AND DRIVE

STAGG HITTI Filter and Fluid always a good idea before the

We Specialize in Automatic Transmissions and Clutches

 Domestic & Most Foreign Cars Certified Technicians ERVING THE MANHATTAN AREA FOR OVER 22 YEARS

776-2252

Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m.-5 p.m. 2333 Sky-Vue Ln. Manhattan, KS

785-539-2900

Mention this ad when you book your appointment for a ZZ cut and highlite and receive a FREE EIM

All you need is a hoodie... and we have them On Sale! · Tie-Dye 20% • Hemp Bob Marley off all hoodies • Beatles we have a great selection! • The Doors Get your Spring Break · Grateful Dead Clothes & Gurkees!

Put away your winter coat!

on the 1128 Moro

June & August Availabilities

WILDCAT VILLAGE

4 Large Bedrooms Walk-In Closets Washer & Dryer Safe Room

> 2409 Stadium Place (N. of Kimball on College Ave.)
> www.VILLAGE-RENTALS.com 785-776-2425

- · Coin Laundry
- · Drive-up Window & Door · Jumbo Computerized Dryers
- & Large Capacity Washers
- · Big Screen TV & Pool Tables
- · Wash, Dry, & Fold Service
- · Professional Dry Cleaning

"Largest & Cleanest Facility in Manhattan"

3216 Kimball Coin-op

Candlewood Center

537-9833

Open 24 Hours

Dry Cleaning & Drop off Monday - Saturday: 7am-7pm Sunday: 12pm - 7pm

$7 OFF

of Dry Cleaning

375 for every $10 worth; Dry Clean Slacks

exp 4/30/07

Hale Library copy center to relocate

By George West KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Students and faculty who use the services of the copy center in Hale Library soon might have to go somewhere

K-State Printing Services will close the copy center in Hale at 5:30 p.m. March 8 and move main printing operations to the copy center in the K-State Student Union beginning March 9.

"The decision to cease operation of the library copy center was mainly for financial reasons," said Ed Wilburn, director of printing services. "The workload at Hale had steadily declined to a point where it was no longer financially able to survive."

Wilburn said members of printing services intend to add high-speed scanners and new, self-serve copiers in Hale to make up for the loss of the copy center.

They also plan to keep at least one photocopy machine on each floor of the library, he

Wilburn also said patrons will be able to scan library materials for free and have the option of either saving the resulting files to a flash drive or e-mailing them.

Glenn Hoover, assistant director of printing services, said the move should be more cost effective and will make printing easier and quicker for con-

Printing from the press can take 1 1/2 to three weeks depending on the complexity of the job and the quantity printed. The copy center turns jobs around in times ranging from less than 24 hours to as many as several days, depending on complexity of the job, Hoover

He said many things can factor into the slow printing process. Binding options that require handwork or mailing; specialty jobs that need to be die-cut, embossed, numbered or perforated; and jobs that have special order papers can take several days. Hoover said the copy center will discuss a due date with customers and finish the project within a reasonable deadline.

"Printing Services is committed to the students and the university," Wilburn said. "Because we are eliminating some duplication of services, we will be able to enhance the Union copy center operation."

The copy center, which is next to the food court in the Union, is open from 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

MEMORIAL | ROTC honors soldier, 2003 graduate after death

Continued from Page 1

room during the dedication with the rest of Goins' family and friends. Following opening remarks and a prayer, retired Lt. Col. Art Degroat, who originally suggested the room dedication in memory of Goins announced the founding of a new scholarship in honor of Goins. ROTC will award the scholarship once a year to the top recondo cadet.

"Everyone here works very hard to keep Michael's legacy alive, and today is a testament to that," Degroat said.

Family and friends then were taken into room 11 of Myers Hall to view the newly dedicated room.

Johnson talked about Goins' character, saying he "ran the ROTC program with precision."

"He was confident but a man of few words, and when he talked, people listened," Johnson said.

Janet Sain, ROTC cadet administrator and mentor to Goins in his time at K-State, attended the dedication.

"This has definitely been hard on everyone," Sain said. "It's always the good ones that

After the tour, cadets unveiled a dedication outside room 11. The dedication included Goins' framed military jacket and a plaque announcing the new official name of the room. The crowd stood for a moment of silence and a closing prayer. A smaller plaque located outside the door lists Goins' birth and death dates, rank and service description. It also has a small inscription, summing up the purpose of the memorial: "With eternal gratitude for your service."

Earbud Evil | Near the point of no return

By Logan C. Adams KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Editor's note: This is the sixth segment of "Earbud Evil," a fictional story the Collegian is publishing daily over a three-week period. This story follows Alex, a fictional K-State student, as he deals with a campus-wide crisis that threatens the university.

Though the names of real people will accompany made-up characters, all events are fictional. This is intended for entertainment and is not factually based.

If you missed sections one through five, you can read them online today at www.kstatecollegian.com.

Something in the back of my mind made a crazy racket, telling me this scrambled audio file was somehow significant.

"You put this on your iPod because Rhett told you to?" I asked Katie.

She said he'd put the podcast on there as a surprise for her, then gave me an unhappy look. "Don't say it, Alex," Katie said. "I know it was creepy of him to do that. Rhett does a lot of creepy things." As much as I wanted to know what other sorts of things the creep had been up to, I decided it was best to stick to the subject at hand. I asked if she'd listened to the file. "Nope," Katie said. "I never had the time, thanks to class and the game. Should I give it a whirl now?"

She might have made an excellent guinea pig for new recipes and class assignments, but I thought it best not to use Katie for this kind of experiment. I told her to delete it right away and asked if

"No, he said he was tired and went home after the game," she

At least he's back up to using words, I thought, and asked when Katie thought she'd see him again. She said she didn't know, so I told her to call me when she did. I drove home to see what dirt I could dig up on "The Sunflower State Sports Talk Show." It wouldn't be a simple task.

My computer takes 20 minutes after I turn its power on to wake up enough to connect to the Internet. To call it a "bad machine" would be like calling a hangover during a final exam an "incove-

I hit the startup button and sat down to what I knew would be a long wait. I remembered my own iPod sitting on my dresser not five feet away and the fresh music I'd loaded onto it the night before.

I took my iPod off of the shelf and put the headphones on, hoping the music might help me think.

My throat was scratchy and I'd skipped dinner, so I held off on picking a song. I put a cup of water into the microwave for a cup of noodles, and the first flavorful beverage I could find went into a Drink in hand, I navigated the MP3 player's menus.

First, "MUSIC." Then I picked "PLAYLISTS" and scrolled down to "RECENTLY ADDED." I clicked open the folder, and the sight made me drop my full glass of orange juice all over my green shag carpet.

The very same sports podcast Rhett put on Katie's iPod was at the top of the playlist - only I'd never downloaded it.

I stood there, stunned, for several minutes until the microwave finished heating my water and buzzed, knocking me from my stupor. I tore the wires off of my head like they were some closet monster's tentacles and sat down on the bed.

I looked at the remains of my alarm clock on the floor where they'd been since I broke it that morning, then looked back at the iPod's screen. My eyes went back to the alarm clock - its dead display seemed to say "You're welcome."

The meaning still escaped me. I tossed a towel onto the spill and laced up my shoes. I needed to take a walk to get this mess figured

Grad students display research, prepare for professional world

By Scott Girard KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Graduate students showed their research Friday and hoped to gain valuable input from professors and fellow graduate students.

The 12th-annual Graduate Research Forum, which took place on the second floor of the K-State Student Union, allowed grad students to display, discuss and present their materials to judges and passers-by.

Kellan Kershner, chair of the research forum committee and graduate student in agronomy, said the presentations were a broad representation of research on cam-

Although more than 25 graduate students displayed their research, 10 researchers were chosen to travel to the annual Capitol Graduate Research Summit on March 15 in the Kansas Statehouse in Topeka. Kershner said those students will be able to present their research to a larger audience outside of K-State.

He also said about half of Kansas' representatives will look at and evaluate the research. The 10 students traveling to Topeka also displayed a variety of graduate research at K-State. Students displayed research on topics from wheat protein analysis to child nutrition programs.

Kira Arnold, graduate student in agronomy, presented her research on the importance of prairie land on carbon levels. She said the forum was a valuable experience.

"I think it is really good practice, especially before going to a professional meeting," she said.

George Griffith, graduate student in curriculum and instruction, also said the forum helped him prepare for other presenta-"It has definitely helped me to improve presentation skills and make a deadline," he Kershner said he and the other members of the research forum committee tried to make the event as professional as possible.

He said one of the biggest parameters was that presenters had to turn research in on deadline and could not change it after.

"That's what it's like in the real world,"

In addition to allowing students to develop presentation skills, the forum also allowed them to interact with other graduate students and K-State faculty, Kershner said.

He said many students are expected to research when they enter graduate school but do not get the opportunity to interact much with other people outside of their field of study.

"It's all about communication and informing scientists and the general public,"

Undergraduate students also presented research to K-State faculty as a learning and developmental experience.

The projects not chosen as one of the 10 to go to the summit either were presented to faculty judges or displayed as posters for the public to view.

The forum committee gave first, second and third place prizes totaling $1,000 for the undergraduate, poster sessions, sciences I and II and social science and education presentation pools.

CLINTON | Former president addresses world issues, proposes solutions

Continued from Page 1

Richard Nixon to present a Landon Lecture since the series began in 1966. The lecture also marked the culmination of an effort to bring Clinton to K-State that began in

In their absence, Clinton thanked native

Kansans Dan Glickman, former U.S. Secretary of Agriculture; former Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan.; and former Sen. Nancy Kassebaum Baker, R-Kan., Alf Landon's daughter.

Charles Reagan, chair of the Landon Lecture series, said 9,300 tickets were distributed for the lecture. Workers set Bramlage up to accommodate 9,500 people for the lecture, and Reagan said he saw few empty seats.

Reagan said he thought Clinton gave an excellent speech.

"It was hard to disagree with the overall goals that he presented," Reagan said. "He's a very charming guy backstage. He has a way of connecting with his audience."

LECTURE RESPONSE | Listeners debate Clinton's proposed ideas

Continued from Page 1

is inherent," said Erin Andrews, Wamego resident. "America needs to help fix the problem before it begins."

However, some argued it is more important for the country to focus on domestic issues to secure a prosperous future.

"As much as it is necessary to help in the prosperity of international issues, there are still plenty of prevalent tasks to complete at home," said Laura White, freshman in civil engineering. "I remember him saying that we have the plan to fix domestic issues and putting that plan into action should be a top priority."

Clinton said it will be important for America to continue to develop industry, and as a model he suggested the clean energy industrial and economic boom of both the United Kingdom and Denmark.

"The proof is out there that industrializing the clean energy effort could have a great impact on our economy," said Ryan Heathman, freshman in open option. "If given the right amount of time and planning, it could really help the country."

One reason students said they enjoyed the Clinton lecture was that though he hinted at relevant issues. Clinton did not speak about the war in Iraq, instead keeping his speech optimistic.

"The Landon Lecture is supposed to be on current events, and I think that many people were afraid he was either going to speak on Iraq or tout his wife's election platform," White said. "I think we were all happy to hear about a topic of hope, one that we can all take something from."

With 900 apartments in the Manhattan area, we can find a place for you! BEDROOMS BEDROOMS 1119 Laramie #5 1026 Osage #22 Mon, Wed, Thurs 5:30-7:00 4:00-7:00

5:00-7:00

NOW LEASING FOR TANK

Check out our model showings now!

1722 Laramie #9 10:00-12:00 Mon 11:30-1:00 12:00-2:00 Thurs 11:30-1:00

1941 College Heights #4 1854 Claflin #14

2:00-4:00 Mon, Wed, Fri Tues, Thurs 4:00-6:00 2:00-4:00

Wareham - 418 Poyntz #603 3:00-5:30 1:30 - 5:00 Aggie Village - 1215 Laramie

1:00-5:00 10:00-2:00 925 Denison #4

1803-1807 College Heights View at 925 Denison #4 Mon.Wed,Fri 5:00-7:00 12:00-2:00

Royal Towers 1700 N. Manhattan #203 Mon,Wed,Fri 4:00-6:00

4:00-6:00 Tues, Thurs 1:00-3:00

BEDROOMS 1611 Laramie #2 8:00-11:00

1419 Leavenworth #2

3:30-5:30

12:30-2:30

2:00-4:00

3:30-6:00 2:00-5:00

5:30-7:30

12:00-2:00

BEDROOMS

Royal Towers 1700 N. Manhattan #402 2:00-4:00

12:00-2:00

STUDIOS Wareham 418 Poyntz #316

1:00-3:00

Online College Courses

Having trouble getting your class schedule to work?

Dropped a class?

Need to add a class?

9-week and 17-week sessions starting soon. Most general education courses transfer to Kansas Regent schools.

Find our schedule online!

www.bartonline.org

Swine vaccine tested at K-State

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A virus has spread around the world, infecting and killing swine herds in record numbers.

Pig herds across the United States have been infected with the PCV2 virus, or porcine circovirus type 2. It found its way to Kansas, where it has spread to commercial herds.

While the virus spreads at random, scientists have not yet determined the virus' mode of transmission.

Steve Dritz, associate professor of diagnostic medicine and pathobiology, is on a team of researchers testing the vaccine.

"It is estimated that almost all swine herds in Kansas are

WHEN

THE

ARTICLES.

FORGET TO

WASTE MORE

LECTURE BY

DOING THE

LOCATED IN THE

COTTECTUL.?

LASSIFIEDS SESCTION

TIME IN

T'110d

THOU BY UOT

READING ALL

infected with the virus," Dritz said.

Dritz explained that not all pigs infected with the virus exhibit symptoms, meaning the virus and development of the disease are not the same thing.

In other parts of the world, the virus has been a problem for the past 10 years, he said.

Dritz and his team are not the only ones who have been working on a vaccine.

"There are several other groups around the world studying the virus and how it spreads," Dritz said.

Dritz said team members found promising results that the vaccine works.

According to Bio-Tech.com, the mortality rate in vaccinated pigs was 50 percent less than those pigs who were not vaccinated. The study also showed vaccinated pigs were 20 pounds heavier than those who were not vaccinated.

Richard Hesse, associate professor in diagnostics medicine and pathobiology and director of diagnostic biology, explained what effects are associated with the disease.

"The most notable effect of the disease is death in the finisher pig," Hesse said.

He said the disease causes many other ailments that result in the death of the pig.

The vaccine, now available in limited quantities to the public, will undergo further testing

Since 1974

1125 Laramie Suite C Manhattan, KS 66502

785-537-0205

4 Bedrooms 4 Baths

1120 & 1122 Pierre

4 Bedrooms 2 Baths

923 Bluemont "A" 923 Bluemont "B" 1614 Humboldt 712 Laramie "B" 1712 Colorado

3 Bedrooms 2 Baths

927 Fremont 1539 Campus

3 Bedrooms 1 Bath

2461 Hobbs 2018 Anderson

Plus numerous 2 bedroom and 1 bedroom apartments

View our properties at www.moorepropertymanagement.com

Union Program Council

Monday, March 5

Festival of Nations: African Culture Union Courtyard, ground floor • noon - 1 pm

Atlanta-based recording artist Sarah Peacock Union Station, ground floor • 7:30

Tuesday, March 6

All UPC Meeting

Union Station, ground floor • 5:30 pm

Wednesday, March 7

UPC Executive Committee applications due by 5 pm in UPC Office, third floor Public Smoking Forum

Room 212, second floor • 4:30 - 6:30 pm

Friday, March 9

Film: Casino Royale

Forum Hall, ground floor • 8 pm, $1

Also showing: Saturday, March 10 • 7 & 10 pm, $2

Sunday, March 11 • 8 pm, $2

After Hours: Jessica Lynn Johnson Union Station, ground floor • 10:30 pm

Kemper Art Gallery

Christine Hiebert, March 8 - April 2

How much would you pay to see Dane Cook?

We are excited to announce that we are pursuing the opportunity to host Dane Cook. Though the proposal is waiting approval and no date has been announced, we hope that he and his management will accept one of our proposed dates. In the mean time, take our online survey at www.k-state.edu/upc to let us know what you would be willing to pay for tickets.

Little Apple<sub>®</sub> Film Festival

Attention film makers: Cash prizes for the best student-made film. For more information, visit our website.

CLASSIFIED

Classifieds continue on the next page kitchen (stove/ refrigerator), three baths, three living areas, double car garage. No pets. Call

bath house for rent. 931

Washer/ dryer, window air conditioning. Fenced back-yard; pets allowed. Off-street parking. $1500/

FIVE-BEDROOM. June

July, August. Alliance Property Management.

785-539-4357. www.rent-

FOUR-BEDROOM AND

Close to campus and Ag-

gieville. Parking and laun-

FOUR-BEDROOM, ONE

bath house for rent. 900

June

Washer/ dryer, central air-

yard, pets allowed, $1200/

month. Party shack and

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO

and one-half bath, study.

month. Knight Real Estate. Call 785-539-5394

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO

bath, nice sized bed-rooms. Central air, two car garage, washer/ dryer. No pets/ smoking. $1400/month, available in August. 1420 Vista Lane, wo and one half blocks

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO

to campus. 785-341-9459.

bath, two kitchens,

campus.

conditioning. Fenced ba lease

included

street parking. $1! month. 785-539-4949.

785-539-4641.

Vattier.

apm.com

six-bedroom

785-944-3491

garage 785-539-4949.

Vattier.

dry. 785-539-5800.

FIVE-BEDROOM,

this will rent fast.

June lease

Bulletin Board

010 Announcements

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airlanes and lowest rates Call 785-776-1744, www.-

1

010 Announcements

THE SECRET Free show 7p.m. ECM Center 1021 Denison. Use the law of attraction to manifest success, happiness, abundance. Sponsor: Unity Church of Manhattan.

> 020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can

LOST: PAIR of eye Rectangula black frames. 785-539-1848, please leave a message.

Housing/Real Estate

105 Rent-Apt. Furnished

Apply At: 532-3790

Manhattan CITY Ordi nance 4814 assures evnity in housing without disrace, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, na-tional origin or ancestry. ported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

1.10 Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

Pre-lease Today for Spring!

Only A few homes remain Amenities: ·Washer/Dryers or hookups available On-Site Management ·Garages Available Private Fitness Center Storm Center ·Peaceful Garden Setting •Enormous Closets

GEORGETOWN

776-8080

Need a subleaser Advertise 785-532-6555

Preleasing!

Spacious 1 & 2 Bedroom

 Graduate Students
 Upper Classmen menities

On-Site Laundry . Enormous Closets

Customer Service

Multifamily CEL Award for the #1 in Customer Service in Americal Full-time Maintenance Personnel 24 hour Emergency Staff

WESTCHESTER PARK 776-1118

1420 Beechwood Terrace

Newer Apartment Lg. 2 & 3 Bedrooms 110 Baths Washer/Dryer

Energy Efficient On a Wooded Secluded 2 Acre Lot with Creek

> $740 & $885 341-4024

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

Close to Campus!

Spacious Duplexes Custom built with the

K-State student

Each duplex features walk-in appliances, washer/dryer, off street parking, phone and cable connections in every oom, security lighting, trash and lawn care.

Security deposit is the same as one month's rent. The lease period begins August 1

4 Bedrooms, 2 Baths ONLY $1,150/mo

Sorry, No Pets! Quiet Neighborhood, Convenient and Close to Campu Day: 313-0751 Night: 537-4682

nance 4814 assures every person equal opportu nityinhousing without dis-tinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be re-ported to the Director of ces at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

785-313-8292

ONE-BEDROOM VERY MANHATTAN CITY Ordi-

1117 VATTIER. New all Two-bedrooms, Fall leasing. One- half mile from KSU at Seth appliances furnished, no Close to campus. 01 785-539-2951.

110 Rent-Apt. Unfurnished 1219 KEARNEY. One-

lease. Water/ trash paid. Next to campus, off street parking. No pets. $350. 785-539-5136. 1219 KEARNEY. TWO-

BEDROOMS. August, lease. Water/ trash paid. Next to campus, off No pets. $660. 785-539-5136. MANAGEMENT, One-bedroom. June, July, August. 785-539-4357. www.rentapm.com $345- $365. two-bedrooms $420- $485, threebedroom $825, four-bedrooms $650. All close to KSU. 785-587-0399. ONE, TWO, four, five-bedroom apartments/ houses for June and August ses. 785-564-0857.

ONE, TWO, three, and four-bedroom apartments. Close to campus and ag-gieville. Parking and laundry. 785-539-5800.

ONE, TWO, three, four, six bedroom apartment/ houses next to campus. Washer/ dryer, cen Pets. No 785-537-7050.

ONE-BEDROOM ACROSS the street from campus. $425 per month. No pets. Available June/ August. 785-313-7473. ONE-BEDROOM TO five-bedrooms. Apartments, duplexes and homes. Most close to campus. Some farther away. June or August leases. Check out our website www. emeraldpropertymanag-Management 785-587-9000 for more information.

nice, close to campus, $475- $550 a month. 785-341-0686. PLACE Apartments. One- Bedrooms Summer/ fall leasing. Pets welcome. One- half mile from KSU at Seth Child and Claffin. 785-539-2951. ments. Two- bedrooms. Pets welcome. Summer/

and room apartments able in August. Close to campus. Water and trash paid. Coin operated laundry. 785-537-7810,

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

785-537-2255. THREE-BEDROOM, ONE bath plus vanity. $1050/ month. Trash/ water paid. 1510 College Ave. Pool access. Washer/ dryer in unit. 314-805-0674.

TWO, THREE and fourbedrooms, close to cam-pus, central air, dishwasher, laundry facilities. No pets. 785-539-0866.

CIAL at Park Place Apartments. $495 rent plus fre cable through July '07. TWO-BEDROOM. CLOSE to campus. Personal washer/ dryer. $645-$675/ month. 785-341-4496 TWO-BEDROOM, many sizes and prices. June or August. 785-341-0686. VERY NICE three-bed room, two bath apartment Three blocks to Aggieville 822 Fremont. Affordable utilities.

TWO-BEDROOM SPE-

August 785-313-1807. WHY RENT WHEN YOU CAN BUY? Condos for Two and three-bedroom starting at $112,650

785-537-2096 WILDCAT VILLAGE. Avail able June or August fourbedroom, two bath, washer/ dryer, storm room, $1400. Cable paid. 785-776-2425 785-565-3760. www.vil-

115 Rooms Available

A ROOM to such very low price. $220 per including uti fees. 914 Bluemont Ave 785-317-1734.

117 Rent-Duplexes

THREE baths, June or Au Summer/ gust, $1280, nice, washer/ dryer hookups, off-street parking, great location, no pets/ Claffin. smoking. 785-532-8256.

THREE AND four-bed-LOOKING FOR three roommates in four-bedroom duplex. 500 Laramie. $285 per room. Dryer. Washer/ 785-410-2916 10 785-447-0852.

> SIX AND five-bedroom house/ duplex, next to washer/ dryer, central air, off-street parking, no pets. 785-537-7050.

THREE-BEDROOM UNIT, located at 8/ 802 North 5th. No pets, $975/ month, available June 1. 785-564-0372.

WALK TO class. One. two, three, four-bedroom. No smoking, no drinking, no pets. 785-539-1554.

> 120 Pent-Houses

WILDCAT PROPERTY MANAGEMENT 537-2332

8" & Moro 2BR - $850 3BR - $1,300 4BR - $1,700

4BR - 21/2 Bath $1,650 Anderson Village

14th & Fremont

2BR - $700-725 1501 Poyntz

House - $750

1BR- $525

3BR - 2 Bath 1509 Poyntz House - $600

1BR - 1Bath 315 Poyntz

1BR - $650 Fall Leasing 120 120

1015 PIERRE. Very nice, FIVE-BEDROOM. JUNE lease. Very close to camback yard. Spacious rooms. Washer/ dryer. Spacious chased and very nice! July or August lease. All pets considered. Chris, Central air, full (stove/ refrigerator/ dish-washer/ disposal), partial 785-770-2161.

room, June lease. No pets, close to campus. 785-539-1975 785-313-8292.

1417 NICHOLS, four-bedrooms, family room. 1909 Kenmar, three-bedrooms. washer/ dryer, garage patio, 785-539-1177.

502 FREMONT, three-bedroom, one bath, no pets. June 785-539-1975 785-313-8292.

AVAILABLE JUNE Three-bedroom house lo cated at 1501 Harry Road. Two blocks west of FOUR-BEDROOM campus, central washer/ dryer, for HOUSE, 2030 College Heights. Central heat and fenced air, washer/ dryer. No pets. $290/ bedroom. yard. 785-539-3672. CLEAN, QUIET basement apartment. Two-bedroom, two bath, full kitchen, patio. $385 per month per person. All utilities included. emilyf@ksu.edu. EDI-MENO!

ETH M POSSILIES

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, washer/ dryer, garage. June 785-532-9564. FOUR-BEDROOM 316-680-1709.

JUNE, July, August. Al-llance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.rent-apm.com

ET'S REN

1215 POYNTZ, two-bedrooms, across from city Central air, washer/ dryer. Neutral colors with total re-model. Water and id. June lease. No pets. 785-313-4812.

1628 FAIRVIEW, Quiet one-bedroom ($400) and Studio ($375) near KSU. Laundry. Water, trash paid. No pets, no smok-JUNE. 530-342-1121.

350 N. 16th. Two blocks to K-State and Aggieville. two-bedroom apartments. Clean, quiet, private parking. No smoking, no pets. $580. June and August leases. 785-539-5508 or 785-564-0857.

FOUR-BEDROOM, close to campus. central air dishwasher. No pets. pets. Available June or August. 785-539-0866.

JUNE LEASE two-bedroom apartment. Walk to us. Excellent condition/ location, http://www.rentkstate.com

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM clean, close to campus Bills paid. 785-762-7191.

TWO-BED-ROOM, available June fireplace and Balcony. dishwasher. Very close to Call 785-317-3780.

PRE-LEASING JUNE and August. Some units brand close to washer/ dryer included. details 785-776-2102. youngwilks@yahoo.com, www.wilk-bath.

120

Call

no smoking.

month.

Kevin. 785-488-7722.

785-292-4342

able June 785-712-7257.

785-539-1975

785-313-8292

and

Some farther away. June

Property Management 785-587-9000 for more in-

ONE-BEDROOM, UTILI-

TIES paid, washer/ dryer,

August

(TWO

study. Au 785-532-9564.

apm.com

apm.com

month

785-313-1886.

bedrooms,

SIX-BEDROOM

kitchen). June, July, August. Alliance Property

Management. 785-539-4357. www.rent-

two

plus

ter and garbage included. call 785-317-4937.

PLUS BEDROOMS. Looking for that perfect home

785-341-0686.

agemen

bedrooms.

Rent-Houses

$1.025/

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

STUDIO, ONE, two, and three-bedroom. June/ Aust lease. No pets. Central heat/ air-conditioning. 785-587-9460.

THREE-BEDROOM WITH porch and sunroom, 511 Bluemont, August 1 lease, aundry included, no pets, $945 plus utilities, 785-313-0462, leave mes-

TWO AND three-bed-Central air, dishwasher, coin operated laundry facility. Available June No August. N 785-537-1746 785-539-1545

Rent-Duplexes

Road, four-bedroom lower level duplex with neutral dryer furnished. 817 Vattier, three-bedroom lower level duplex with new carwasher/ dryer hook-ups Very reasonable rent with great space in both du-No pets. Call 785-313-4812.

> 120 Rent-Houses

1001 KEARNEY Fourhave Five, Six Seven-Bedroom houses. All JUNE 1 rentals. Pets

1022 HUMBOLT, 824 Freemont, 1118 Ratone, four-bedroom, two dryer, central washer/ dish-- $1300. Doug, $1160

OK. 785-317-7713.

120

Rent-Houses

full bath, $810, 917 Blue-Washer/ dryer hookups, mont, year lease, June 2007 - May 2008. Close to campus. Pets allowed. Mrs. Kim, 913-681-9959.

THREE-BEDROOM. NICE HOUSE at 1010 baths, all kitchen appli-ances including washer/ dryer. Upstairs has own heat and air, and has just llance Property Manage ment. 785-539-4357. www.rent-apm.com

TWO-BEDROOMS been remodeled. Plenty of parking off alley, no pets, June lease. Call Dave, 785-292-4320, evenings, JUNE, July, August. Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rent-apm.com VERY CHARMING brick

TWO-BEDROOM. ranch. 2505 Winny. Three-Close to campus. Available June 1, $590. bedroom, attached garage, quiet neighborhood. No pets, $950. June 1 lease. Ryan Rentals, 785-313-0455, ONE TO five-bedroom apartments and houses. 785-776-7706. campus or VERY NICE four-bedroom one bath house. Three ONE-BEDROOM TO fiveblocks from campus. 2038 College View. Fenced yard, June 1 lease. Apartments, Most close to campus.

785-313-1807. VERY NICE four-bedor August leases. Check out our website www.room. Close to campus. Available August $1340. 785-712-7257. emeraldpropertymanag-ment.com or call Emerald

125 Sale-Houses

CONDOS FOR SALE

Two and three-bedroom starting at $112,650. collegiatevilla.com SEVEN TO eight-bed-room (two kitchen). June, 785-537-2096. July, August. Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rent-

145 Roommate Wanted

CHRISTIAN FEMALE seeks two female gradstudents starting fall 2007. August to May lease. New three-bedroom, two bath house with washer/ dryer. $350 plus one-third utili-ties. Call 847-975-1484.

SPACIOUS FOUR-BED-FEMALE ROOMMATE Washer/ dryer, nice kitchen. Near City Park. wanted through July. Two-bedroom duplex. Washer/ dryer, and storage. Rent Available May 1. $1100/ and utilities negotiable. Amanda 913-216-4838. STUNNING HOUSE, Four three bath-ROOMMATE FEMALE rooms, big family room, Four-bedroom wanted! house, 800 Bluemont. $265/ month plus utilities. plus office, fenced yard, in a nice quiet west neighborhood. Close to city parks. Available now $1350, wa-316-619-9524.

LOOKING FOR female roommates for a four-bedroom house, $300/ month plus electricity, gas and SBC. 785-587-9207 or THREE, FOUR, FIVE, SIX 785-230-3008. rent? Great selection prices. Capstone

MALE, WALK to class, all furnished, lower level, washer dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, pets, 785-539-1554.

THREE-BEDROOM, June ROOMMATES NEEDED lease, close to west side for two bedrooms in five-bedroom house. Next fall. campus. Central airconditioning. Full kitchen, Close to campus. Outdoor lwo bathrooms, single pets 620-382-7241. welcome. garage. N 785-519-4641. No

Pomeroy, $1100 - $1200. Four-bedroom, two bath, washer/ dryer, dish-washer, central air. August lease. 785-313-5573,

Doug.

1535 CAMPUS Four-bedroom, two baths. furnished. Neutral colors nice, new Large bedrooms for an af-fordable price. June 785-313-4812.

200 N. 11th. On City Park. Two large, sunny three-bedroom ($750). Laundry. Water, trash paid. pets, no smoking, 1 JUNE and 1 AUGUST. 530-342-1121.

820 OSAGE, 1524 Pipher, 3100 James, all four-bed-rooms, two bath. June 1,

A SIX or seven-bedroom Two blocks to KSU. June 1. 785-317-7713.

BRITTNAY RIDGE town house four/ five-bedroom, two and one-half baths, includes appliances, washer/ dryer. No pets. Available August 316-393-9628.

FIVE-BEDROOM HOUSE. Walk to campus. Two kitchens, firepla central air, neutral colors, washer/ dryer furnished, lawn mainte June les pets. Call 785-313-4812.

bath. June lease, washer, dryer, dishwasher, central air. $1400.00/ r 785-313-5573 Doug. month.

> 145 Roommate Wanted

two bedrooms in six-bedroom house two blocks to campus, three Kylie 913-775-0465.

> 150 Sublease

SUBLEASER NEEDED for Spring 2007 semester. month. Four-bedapartment. First room month's rent paid, cheap 913-495-2558 or 913-406-1034.

SUBLEASE SUMMER One-bedroom, $390 plus utilities. Close to Ag-gieville, pets allowed. allowed. 913-980-5161.

SUBLEASE SUMMER two-bedroom, one bath. $430/ month plus utilities. 785-643-1923. 785-577-4451.

Employment/Careers

Help Wanted

THE COLLEGIAN cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business oppor-tunity with reatunity

tion. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISleader in providing business computer services, has a full-time position available in Manhattan, KS. This challenging posi-tion requires the ability to handle multiple tasks and priorities while maintaining a positive and ener-getic attitude. $12/ hour, full-time only, opportunities for advancement. Email resume in Microsoft Word or text format to: jobs@networksplus.com.

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSIS-TANT: Organized and flexible professional to handle clerical support duties for the marriage for keeps project. Must have good communication, multitask-ing and computer skills. Submit resume with references by March 9 to Catholic Charities, 323 Poyntz, Suite 102, Man-hattan, KS 66502, tedraz@sbcglobal.net,

BARTENDING! $300 a day potential. No experience necessary. Training

1-800-965-6520 ext. 144.

COME SPEND an awe-

board and travel

crafts

em

Shorty

farm/ small animal specialist, kitchen assistant, west-business managers. For more information call;

campjobs@gsmhc.org

1-800-422-8967.

KS 66502,

draz@sbcglobal.net,

portunity employer.

FOUR LANDSCAPING po-

college summer interns

that want a career in the horticulture industry and two part time workers.

ring well rounded individudrive, and ability to work

Call Nathan Downey toll free 1-866-794-details

Lawn & Landscape,

Box 1, 303 E. Soule galls, KS 67853 .

Got old

stutt?

LAWN(5296)

DowneyLawn.com

ing Included. Prefer-

Apply in person or

Downey

sitions available Down

riding counselors,

303-607-4846

FOUR TO five-bedro August lease. No pets Central heat/ air-condition restance 785-587-9460. NEW LISTING, available 1. Four to five-bedroom house located east Aggieville a washer, central air. Lease deposit plus 785-539-3672. NEXT TO campus, one through six-bedroom houses, and apartments. Washer/ dryer, central air. Available now or fall. No pets. 785-537-7050.

ONE-BEDROOM FULL bath, washer/ dryer, no smokers. 515 Vattler, $340 plus utilities. August lease, Call Monday - Friday, 785-776-4805.

THREE-BEDROOM TWO bath, washer/ smokers 515 Vattier. lease. Call Monday - Friday, 785-776-4805.

THREE-BEDROOM 1205-1207 June washer, dryer, dish-$1050.00/ month. 785-313-5573 Doug.

TWO-BEDROOM basement apartment. Washer dryer. No pets. $600/ month. Cheap utilities. Available August 1. 1211 Thurston. 785-868-3471 call after 7p.m.

TWO-BEDROOMS, one bath, attached garage. Central air, appliances, washer/ dryer. No pets 785-537-8420.

B10 Help Wanted

TOR: KANSAS STATE

dent services. Job requirements: bachelors degree, excellent written and verbal communication skills, organizational skills, ability to multi-tas and work in a fast-paced environment, experience in event planning and coordination, demonstrated proficiency in multiple computer programs (in-cluding MS Office Suite), applicable experience with CRM software including knowledge of data filters. The successful individual will be self-moti-vated, have a team attitude and be committed to a constituent- driven service philosophy. of $29,000 to $34,000. Position available June 1, 2007. Send letter of application, reinformation for three workrelated references to Search Committee, KSU, Services, Student 122 Anderson Hall, Man-hattan, KS 66506. Screening will begin March 9 and continue until position is filled. KSU is an Equal Opportunity Employer and ac-tively seeks diversity among its employees. Paid for by KSU.

in the

KANSAS STATE

COLLEGIAN

103 Kedzie

532-6555

Are you Dynamic, Assertive, Fun & Outgoing?

At Ray's Apple Markets, our Fast, Fun and Friendly environment is having a major impact in the hospitality/ supermarket industry. And to continue our success, we're seeking talented, outgoing individuals to join our team in Manhattan, Kansas.

Opportunities are available in the following areas:

 Part-Time Cashiers Full-Time Cashiers

· Part-Time Stockers

· Asst. Deli Manager

· Part-Time Deli Clerk Full-Time Deli Cook

 Cake Decorator Responsibilities encompass extraordinary customer attention, product freshness and quality. Schedule flexibility and the willingness to travel for training may be necessary. We offer excellent salaries and great benefits including 401(k), medical, dental, cafeteria plan. For consideration, please pick up an application at Ray's Apple Market. 222 N. 6th • 3011 Anderson

HARVEST HELP wanted. Late May through August. Pays well. 785-587-1956,

some summer with us in the beautiful Rocky Mountains! Working at camp is fun, adventurous and very rewarding. We offer com-HORTICULTURAL SER-VICES, Inc. is seeking reliable, motivated individuals for full-time or parttime seasonal positions in our retail garden center. Scouts Mile Hi Council owns two Above average wages commensurate with expe-rience and abilities. Apply in person at 11524 Landident camps and several day camps. We are looking to fill the following positions for these camps scape Lane, St. George, Kansas 785-494-2418 or LPN's, counselors, 785-776-0397.

has several positions available for our landscapmaintenance crews. is for full time and part time help, with flexible schedules for students, www.girlscoutsmilehi.org, preferably four hour DISC JOCKEY. Are you a blocks of time. Applicants people person? Do you want to earn extra money while actually having fun? must be 18 years or age and have a valid drivers license. Starting wage is $8.00/ hour. Apply three www.kansasdisciockev.ways, in person Monday through Friday at 12780 Madison Rd in Riley; call EASTER HELP needed at Manhattan Town Center location. Manager pay $455/ week, Easter Bunny $8.50/ hour. Call Becky 785-485-2857 to obtain

FAMILY SUPPORT spe-JOIN THE K-State Online cialist/ recruiter: full-time. team at the Office of Medi-Case management and re-crultment services for marated Education, and contribute to a variety of imriage project. Must have portant K-State web sites and applications. Candicommunication skills. Degree in social sciences preferred. Spanish capable of learning new skills quickly, self-di-rected, able to work at speaking and marketing experience a plus. Must have own transportation. least 15 hours a week, Submit resume with references by March 9 to and willing to devote at least a year to the posi-Catholic Charities, 323 Poyntz, Suite 102, Man-323 tion. Working with web Man-technologies in an office that values its students provides a fun yet chal-lenging work environment fax 785-323-0643. Equal op-Starting wages begin at $7.00. For more information email us at omeoffice@ksu.edu. Lawn.com looking for two wanted. Good pay. Apply 608 North 12th St., Manhattan, KS.

KITCHEN HELP wanted. Starting pay, $6.50/ hour. Apply at 608 North 12th St., Manhattan, KS.

plication available at www.usd383.org/District/Hucepted until positions are filled. Apply to Manhattan-Ogden USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Avenue, Manhat-KS

785-587-2000. Equal Opportunity Employer. ma Help Wanted Section

MAIL CENTER/ duplicat-

sophomore status pre-ferred with ability to work of summer workers, farm experience needed. Excel-lent wages. 785-564-2590. spring, summer, and fall semesters, as well as breaks. Duties include: preparation and handling of mail, and copy jobs. Computer skills beneficial and some heavy lifting required. Must have a valid driver's license. Our on campus office operates Monday- Friday, 8a.m.-5p.m. and is eager to tinuing 785-532-5988. MANHATTAN COUNTRY Club is seeking part-time bag room/ cart staff. Will work with your class schedule. Must be avail-able most weekends. Call 785-539-6221 Jacque or Jeff. ING WAIT STAFF Manhattan, PINNACLE has an immediate ope ing for 30-40 hours us at howeland@kansas.-Electrical expe fun! Save money! counselors to teach.

> PROGRAMMER- CIVIC-PLUS is the nations lead-

LUNCH WAIT staff

LUNCHROOM PLAY-GROUND SUPERVIings- Manhattan- Ogden Elementary Schools. $6.50 per hour one and a half- two hours per day. 11:00 a.m.- 1:00 p.m. Ap-

66502

RILEY COUNTY has thir ing student help needed on campus. Freshman or asphalt traffic work, nance, tree and turf mainter work around your schedule. Please apply in per-son at 13 College Court Bullding, Division of Con-Riley County is an equal Education opportunity employer.

> SO LONG Saloon now hiring waitresses. Apply in person, 1130 Moro.

SPEND YOUR summer

785-537-0775.

ence a plus, but will train camp needs fun loving land, adventure and water sports. Great summer! Call 888-844-8080, apply:

ing provider of City, County, and School web-sites. Full-time position in Manhattan. Microsoft ASP and SQL experience required. $15.50/ hour plus time and a half for overtime. Benefits include Health, Dental, Paid Holidays, Paid Vacation, and 401K matching. Email retext format to jobs@civicplus.com.

PROJECT CivicPlus has an opening in our Manhattan quarters office for a fulltime project manager. This challenging position entails managing multiple website redesign projects from start to finish. Position requires attention to manResources/ or apply at Human Resources De-partment, 2031 Poyntz Av-ties and deadlines and a cheerful attitude. Training is provided. Benefits in-clude health, dental, paid holidays, paid vacation and 401(k) matching. Email resume in text or format Word jobs@civicplus.com

> PROJECT MANAGER. CivicPlus has an opening in our Manhattan headquarters office for a full-time Project Manager. This Challenging position entails managing multiple website redesign projects from start to finish. Posi-tion requires attention to detail. the ability to man-age multiple task, priori-ties and deadlines and a cheerful attitude. Training is provided. Benefits in-clude Health, Dental, Paid Paid Vacation and 401(k) matching. Email resume in text of Word format to jobs@civicplus.com.

NOW HIRING - TWO LOCATIONS ALL SHIFTS, DAYS, NIGHTS & WEEKENDS

ABOVE AVERAGE COMPENSATION

Discounted Meals

Flexible Schedule

 Crew Incentive Programs Medical Insurance

• Retirement Plan APPLY TODAY • WORK TODAY

421 N. 3rd Street 3006 Anderson Ave. EOE/Drug Free Workplace

Network Support Technician

Salina Public Schools is seeking a professional to join the Information Technology team in delivering services to 1700+ certified and classified employees. 3-5 Years experience with Windows operating systems, A+ and Network Certifications. Ability to lift and deliver 40 pounds. Salary commensurate with qualifications and experience. Applications accepted until filled. For more information or to apply, go to www.usd305.com. EOE

teen positions for sea-sonal laborers. Forty hour work week at $8.66 per hour. Valid driver's license and the ability to lift 70 pounds is required. Appli years old. Experience in or mowing is preferred. Applications are available at the Riley County Clerk's Office, 110 Court-house Plaza, Manhattan, KS or online at www.riley countyks.gov/jobs. Appli-cations will be accepted until all positions are filled.

vacation traveling truck driver. Ambitious individuals for high volume harvesting operation. Op-erate new JD9760 STS and Peterbilt Semis. Guaranteed excellent monthly wages and room board. Sign on bonus for experienced workers. Approximately mid-May to mid-August. Snell Harvesting 1-888-287-7053.

TAPS LANDSCAPING is looking for dependable self motivated full and part time help. Competitive flexable Must be 18 with DL. Apply by e-mail tapsirigation@sbcglobal.net OF call 785-539-8675, 9am-4pm.

THE SALTY Rim. NOW HIRING WAIT STAFF 1204 Moro. Manhattan KS. 785-537-8910.

TWO OPENINGS for Student Computer Operator in room 014 Hale Library For further information, http://www.k-state.edu/cts/employment/ or call Operations at 785-532-4941.

UNIQUE OPPORTUNITY:

Every two years MGM Marketing, Inc. accepts applications to fill a Marketing & Logistics position within our small group in Kansas City. MGM is in a niche market that recov ers and re-sells all types of products that are matching helmet. volved in derailments. MGM is currently looking for a creative, motivated, detail-oriented person that has common sense, good judgment, and the ability to communicate well with new and existing customers. Prior experience is not necessary. This is a very good opportunity with a highly respected company. Our group members are paid very well. Position includes most benefits and requires very little travel. If you are interested please forward a resume as soon as possible. Our contact informa tion and more details about MGM may be found on our website at www.

mgmbusinesspartners.

MGM Is scheduling appointments to conduct interviews.

com.

WILDCATSNEEDJOBS. COM. PAID survey takers needed in Manhattan. 100% free to join. Click on surveys. WINTER/ SPRING Pos tions Available. Earn up to $150 per day. Experience not required. Undercover retail and dining establish ments. Call 800-722-4791.

WORKSHOP FACILITA TOR: part-time/ contract. Curriculum teaching for marriage for keeps project. Degree in social sciences preferred. Spanhave good communication references by March 9 to Catholic Charities, 33 Poyntz, Suite 102, Man-hattan, KS 66502, fedraz@sbcglobal.net, Fax 785-323-0643. Equal op-

Open Market

410 Items for Sale AIR CONDITIONER, like

> 435 Computers

COMPLETE GATEWAY personal computer printer. Good working con-Mike, 785-564-1040.

Transportation

510 Automobiles SET OF off road whe and tires for Toyota truck. Mickey Thompson Lock Wheels-15x10. Tires are Good Year Wrangler MT/R 31x10.50 $500 OBO 316-304-5852

530 Motorcycles 2004 YAMAHA 600R Excellent condition. Beau

es, Yoshi Pip

kit, cover. $5500 or best offer. 620-408-6442. Need a New Place to Live?

> Check the Classifieds!

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

su do ku

Fill in the grid so that every row, every column, and every 3 x 3 box contains the digits 1 through 9 with no repeats.

4		6	2					5
3	7					9		2
	2			7	3
	3		4		1		7
			8	2			5
1		5					2	6
7					9	5		1

Solution and tips at www.sudoku.com

Free pregnancy testing Totally confidential service Same day results • Call for appointment

Photos by Matt Castro | COLLEGIAN

Ray Toro, lead guitarist for My Chemical Romance, plays one of the songs from the band's latest CD, "The Black Parade." The concert took place Friday at the Kansas Expocentre in Topeka.

My Chemical Romance makes 1st Kansas performance at Expocentre

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

TOPEKA - My Chemical Romance formed as a post-Sept. 11 inspiration to change the world and became the creative outlet of four former misfits.

Friday night, more than five years later, about 7,000 fans filled the Kansas Expocentre to experience the band's latest effort, "The Black Parade."

It is likely Friday's show was the first concert for some My Chemical Romance fans. Parents and grandparents brought their teenagers to experience the jaded music of the band's

"The Black Parade" concept of a dying cancer patient reflecting on life. Entering the stage on a gurney and wearing.

third studio album. Sets and special effects tailored to a hospital gown, lead singer Gerard

Gerard Way, lead vocalist for My Chemical Romance, performs a song during the concert. After the song, Way said My Chemical Romance is not an "emo band" or a Way started the set with "The End."

Within 15 minutes, the band played its latest hit, "Welcome to the Black Parade." During the song's final moments, a giant confetti machine blasted black and white confetti pieces into the crowd. A loud firecracker boom ended the song.

Often criticized for its dark clothing and makeup, the media labeled the band an "emo death cult," which it is not, said bassist Mikey Way.

"Thanks for sticking with us through everything for the last five years," Way told the audience near the show's end. "It's been a hard year."

The band's second set allowed both new and established fans a glimpse at the 2004 album, "Three Cheers for Sweet Revenge." Way, who had LASIK eye surgery in mid-2006, even donned his former signature glasses for the first song, "I'm Not Okay (I Promise)."

Friday's show was part of the North American leg of the band's The Black Parade Tour, which started Feb. 22. Though band members previously performed in Kansas City, Mo., it was their first time performing in Kansas Rise Against, a Chicago-based melodic hardcore band, opened the show with a 45-minute set. At the set's end, lead singer Tim McIlrath told fans they should think for themselves.

"All of us came to the show for different reasons," McIlrath said. "Some of us came because this is the only place we fit in. When we go back to school or work tomorrow, just remember to not let anyone tell you what to

Although Friday's My Chemical Romance concert was his first, Tanner Hunt, sophomore in hotel and restaurant management, said he became a fan about two years ago with the album "Three Cheers for Sweet Revenge."

"I just heard one of their songs, and I really liked it," Hunt said. "So I started to listen more and more, and it got better from there."

Amanda Hoffman, senior in speech, had been a fan for only a day before Friday's concert. Hoffman said she liked "Welcome to the Black Parade" and decided to attend the concert with her boyfriend and sister, who are avid My Chemical Romance fans.

"I didn't quite know what to expect, but it was very cool and interesting," Hoffman said. "They were definitely good performers. It was just a really impressive show. They go all out - that's for sure."

CELEB NEWS

Jolie plans to adopt again

HANOI, Vietnam - Angelina Jolie has filed papers to adopt a Vietnamese child, the country's top adoption official said Friday.

A U.S. adoption agency representing the 31-year-old actress filed the papers at Vietnam's International Adoption Agency, said Vu Duc Long, the agency's director. "She just filed the papers this week,"Long Jolie and her partner, Brad Pitt, 43, have three children: 5-year-old son Maddox, adopted from Cambodia; 2-year-old daughter Zahara, adopted from Ethiopia; and another daughter, Shiloh, who was born to the couple in May. Long would not name the U.S. adoption agency working with Jolie, who applied to adopt as a single parent.

Jolie

Jolie and Pitt, 43, made a surprise visit to Vietnam on Thanksgiving when they visited the Tam Binh orphanage on the outskirts of Ho Chi Nguyen Van Trung, director of the Tam Binh orphanage, declined to comment.

— The Associated Press

Whitaker, Hudson take top honors at NAACP Awards

LOS ANGELES - Oscar winners Forest Whitaker and Jennifer Hudson kept their winning streaks alive Friday, while "Grey's Anatomy" star Isaiah Washington claimed a prize at the 38th annual NAACP Image Awards. "Ugly Betty" took top television honors.

Hudson, a former "American Idol" finalist, gamered a best supporting actress award for her role in "Dreamgirls," the same category she won at the Academy Awards. Whitaker, who won a best actor Oscar for "The Last King of Scotland," earned the same prize, which honors projects and individuals who promote diversity in the arts. "Doing this role gave me so many blessings," said Whitaker, who plays a Ugandan dictator. Washington, who has been sharply criticized for uttering a gay slur on the set, scored best actor

"I'm humbled and honored to be recognized by the NAACP," Washington said, who announced earlier this year he would seek help after receiving negative publicity for his comments.

For a complete list of winners visit www. naacpimageawards.net.

- The Associated Press

WEEKEND BOX OFFICE

■ The weekend totals are measured in millions of dollars

Top movies	Total
1. "Wild Hogs" Buena Vista	33.7
2. "Zodiac" Paramount	13.1
3. "Ghost Rider". Sony	11.5
4. "Bridge to Terebithia"	8.6

The state of the s	17/0
5. "The Number 23" New Line	7.1
6. "Norbit" DreamWorks	6.4
7. "Music and Lyrics" Warner Bros.	4.9
8. "Black Snake Moan" Paramount Vantage	4.0
9. "Reno 911!: Miami" Fox	3.8
10. "Breach" Universal	3,5

— www.boxofficemojo.com

Ten Til Blue reunites with 3-day area tour

By Eric Brown KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Rusty's Last Chance Restaurant and Saloon was host to a rock 'n' roll reunion Saturday night.

Ten Til Blue performed at Last Chance to conclude a three-day reunion tour. The band is coming off a year-and-a-half-long hiatus that started in summer 2005 when the members began graduating from K-State. But now, the band has reunited with shows at P.J.'s Bar in Manhattan on Thursday; Paddy O'Quigley's Pub and Grill in Leawood, Kan., on Friday; and Last Chance on Saturday. At Saturday night's show, the alternative pop-rock quartet performed old and new Ten Til Blue originals and covers to a packed crowd. The band's reunion started when Dave Oakleaf, former vocalist for the band, returned to Kansas City., Kan., from Nashville, where he had lived since August 2005.

Oakleaf presented former band members new material he had written while in Nashville. Despite only two days of practice time, the band said the Ten Til Blue reunion was a near-flawless process.

"It was as though we hadn't spent any time apart," Oakleaf said. "It felt like we picked up right where we left off."

Drummer Dustin Keith said he believed the break was beneficial for the band.

"I'm positive that the time apart was good for us," Keith said. "The time allowed us to grow up a bit and also allowed us to go out and bring back something new to the band."

The Mikey Needleman Band played as a

"It's very interesting to see how things have come full circle," said Needleman, senior in social sciences. "Two years ago I never thought I would be at their level or sharing the same fans as Ten Til Blue."

Ten Til Blue members plan to follow Oakleaf's lead and head to Nashville.

"The main thing is that we always just want to have a good time, and right now we're having a good time with it," Oakleaf said. "And we're also anxious to see what we're capable of accomplishing in a different music environ-

Steven Doll | COLLEGIAN

Dave Oakleaf, vocalist for Ten Til Blue and K-State alumnus, performs Saturday night at Rusty's Last Chance Restaurant and Saloon.

COLLEGIAN

SPECIAL SECTION

Learn about candidates for campus elections in the Voters Guide before voting online today

www.kstatecollegian.com

Tuesday, March 6, 2007

Vol. 111, No. 116

Fort Riley soldier found dead

By Elise Podhajsky KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Spc. Henry D. Picard, 22, was found dead March 1 on the north side of Milford Lake Dam, according to a press release.

The release said Picard, Orland Park, Ill., was assigned to the Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 97th Military Police Battalion.

He entered the army in April 2004 and arrived at Fort Riley in October of the same year, when he later was deployed to Iraq.

Deb Skidmore, media relations officer for Fort Riley, said no new information is being released at this time.

The incident still is under investigation.

19-year-old man charged with attempted killing

By Lola Shrimplin KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Police arrested a 19-year-old Manhattan man on charges of attempted second-degree murder, said Lt. Michael Quintanar of the Riley County Police Department.

John D. Martin, 5204 Terra Heights Drive, was arrested at 9:45 p.m. March 1 following an investigation of a 911 call reporting shots fired.

The call occurred Feb. 23, according to an RCPD press release.

The incident stemmed from an altercation between two individuals, and no injuries were reported, according to the release.

Martin was charged with attempted second degree murder, felon in possession of a firearm, criminal possession of a weapon, – in this case, a knife – possession of a controlled substance, a misdemeanor count of possession of drug paraphernalia and one felony count of possession of drug paraphernalia.

. Bond was set at $50,000.

Beyond borders

Photos by Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN

Herve Oyenan, graduate student in computer science, left, and Senoumou Keita, Junior in English, play African-style drums Monday in the K-State Student Union Courtyard. The Union Program Council sponsored the Sudanese Festival of Nations.

Event promotes awareness of crisis in Darfur region

By Scott Girard
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A time mix-up did not halt the African "Festival of Nations" Monday afternoon in the K-State Student Union. Although the event was delayed, several aspects of African culture, including music, clothing and food were displayed in the Union Courtyard.

Mbaki Onyango, vice president of the African Student Union, said the goal of the event was to educate students about the importance of the crisis in Darfur, Sudan.

"We got somebody who explained what is the problem and why they are figting civil wars in Darfur," Onyango said. "In a way, we accomplished what we came here to do."

A larger, more informative discussion of the conflict in Darfur will take place Friday in Union Station. It will feature a musical performance from Kala Voyage, and Sudanese students from the ASU will show a documentary and discuss the importance of helping with the conflict.

Daba Gedafa, secretary for ASU, said one way students can make a difference is by signing petitions and challenging leaders.

"International pressure will work better than the people in Darfur," Onyango said. "They cannot do anything in the present situation."

Yared Assefa, graduate student in agronomy, wears a traditional African print hat during the Sudanese event Monday. Symbols on the hat represent various meanings of Africa.

The festival also celebrated the different cultures of African countries.

"Africa is such a large continent and the cultures are so different from place to place," Onyango said.

There are approximately 45 K-State students from all over Africa somehow involved with ASU – not nearly the entire African student population, she said.

"We are few," she said. "That is one problem we have. Africa has 53 countries, but maybe a quarter of that are represented here."

The event was sponsored by the Union Program Council as part of a monthly "Festival of Nations."

"It was basically just one of our monthly events to make people aware of different cultures, said Shea Olsen, student adviser to the UPC and graduate student in apparel and textiles. "It went well. We had some miscommunication at the beginning, but that happens with large groups of people."

Olsen said the UPC also will cosponsor the event Friday.

"Friday is more specifically centered to the Darfur conflict," she said. "I am looking for more people who are interested specifically to hear about that and have a discussion along with it."

Manhattan woman reports rape

By Lola Shrimplin KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A 20-year-old Manhattan woman reported she had been raped by an unknown assailant, said Lt. Michael Quintanar of the Riley County Police Department.

"This happened at an unknown location," he said.

There was no description of the alleged rapist, and the incident still is under investigation.

The incident happened sometime between Feb. 28 and March 1, he said.

The alleged rape does not appear to be connected to the series of rapes that occurred in Manhattan in past years, Quintanar said.

"I can confirm that it is not," he said.

Former football player arrested for battery

By Lola Shrimplin KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Police arrested a former walk-on K-State football player on charges of aggravated battery Saturday, after an altercation at Kite's Bar & Grill, said Lt. Michael Quintanar of the Riley County Police Department.

Jacob Phillip Voegeli, senior in management, was arrested as a result of an incident in which Jordan C. Moser, Emporia, Kan., attempted to enter Kite's at or around closing time, Quintanar said.

Voegeli, a bouncer at Kite's, denied Moser entrance, and an altercation ensued, Quintanar said.

"Moser was thrown from the patio into the alley," he said.

Moser landed on his head and was unconscious when RCPD officers arrived.

Moser was taken to Mercy Health Center.

Voegeli was selected to the 2005 Academic All-Big 12 Conference second team. He started three games and played in five games overall.

Bond for Voegeli was set at $10,000.

K-State Online 7.0 to be released by fall semester

By Elise Podhajsky
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State Online 7.0 is in the de-

K-State Online 7.0 is in the development process and is scheduled to be released the second week of August for the Fall 2007 semester.

"We try to release at least one new update to K-State Online a year," said Scott Finkeldei, assistant director of information services for the Office of Mediated Education.

This year, Finkeldei said updates will be added to the course organizer and file drop box tools.

New features will include attendance, course statistics and gating control features for instructors.

One area of concern regarding the current K-State Online version is the course organizer feature.

Students are directed to the course organizer after signing into K-State Online. The page lists all courses students are involved in.

"The page is getting a major overhaul to be more useful and effective for both students and teachers," Finkeldei said.

He said not all updates can be released at this time, but one of the added organizer features will be a tool called Recent Activity.

Finkeldei said Recent Activity will alert students and instructors of new happenings in a course.

More specifically, the tool will show students when new posts have been made to a course's message board or if a new announcement has been posted.

Students will not have to click around on a course page to find out about new activity.

The new file drop box will let instructors control what file types are allowed to be submitted by students, Finkeldei said.

For example, by allowing only Word documents for submission, he said instructors will be able to manage assignments with greater ease and efficiency.

Finkeldei said new course statistics for instructors also will be useful for maximizing student awareness. The report will provide instructors details about where students are going in their K-State Online courses. The report will show how often and at what times students are accessing the course.

An attendance tool is being added which will allow instructors to better manage and keep track of attendance, said Finkeldei.

"K-state Online has to be all things to all people," he said. "The way an upper-level Vet Med instructor takes and organizes their attendance is quite a bit different from the way an art teacher might do it. This (attendance) tool has to have a wide variety of how it works."

Rob Caffey, director for the office of Media Education, said some teachers have been using the K-State Online gradebook to keep attendance, but there was never a specific attendance tool.

The last feature to be implemented to K-State Online 7.0 is gate control. Gate control options will give

See ONLINE Page 8

Today's forecast Partly cloudy High: 60 Low: 32

INSIDE

Though students on campus are notorious for jaywalking, broken crosswalk signals haven't helped, either. Turn to read how an SGA committee has addressed and apologized for the faulty lights.

See story Page 5

CAMPUS NEWS HIGHLIGHTS

Career fair to feature criminal, social groups

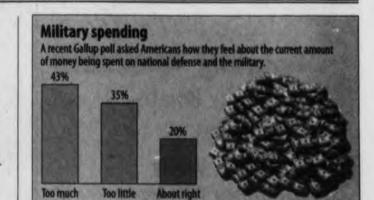

The Criminology and Social Services Career Fair will take place 9 a.m. - 2 p.m. today at the K-State Student Union ballroom. Employers from police departments, social and behavioral health services and criminal justice agencies will be available for consultation regarding internships and career opportunities.

Coach to address integrity, honor

Football coach Ron Prince will present a keynote address titled "Honor and Integrity" at 4 p.m. in the Little Theatre in the K-State Student Union. The speech is a part of K-State Integrity Week, which is set up to develop honor and integrity in classes and around the K-State campus.

Global warming film to show in Union

The film "An Inconvenient Truth" will be shown at 7 p.m in the dining room of the K-State Student Union. The film, produced by former vice president Al Gore, examines global climate change and its repercussions. It is part of K-State's "A Season for Nonviolence: 64 Days 64 Ways to Practice Nonviolence."

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

38 Bit of

41 Massa-

cape 42 Has the hardware

chusetts know-how

3 Jupiter counterpart 4 Praise in verse

5 African heavy

6 Mongol

7 Conclusion

character

who's hardly marriage

material

10 "Metamorphoses"

9 Bowling

site

poet 11 Crazy

16 Naked

8 Fairy-tent

21 Fats

Domino's

"Hill"

22 Stick out

25 Vanna's

26 Moon-

27 Crib

29 End of a

"Sesame Street"

lesson

31 Festive

34 Present

35 Staffer

37 Cheek

38 Practice pugilism 39 Relinquish

40 Authentic

zation

somehow

42 Manage

43 Largest

44 Bottle

lack of the feature

46 Monokini's

41 Organi-topper

enhancer

28 Feast-

famine

shine

co-hort container

23 Stemward

ACROSS 1 Longpopular TV clown

5 Reuben bread 8 1950s sci-fi villain

45 Juror, 12 Improved. as wine 13 Attila.

notably 14 Stromboli 15 Symbol of happiness 17 One 18 "Of 19 Pismire 20 Garden invaders 21 Sibling, for short 22 Occupa-target 26 Coin-op musicmaker 30 Herr's wife 32 Ethereal 33 Carryall 36 Tarzan's

31 Eviscerate 35 Actor Desi 37 Disencumber

theoretically 46 Overly moral one 48 Hebrew month 49 Carpet 50 It's a long story 51 Depend (on) 52 Copper course' head? 53 Frail

DOWN 1 Infant 2 Look lascivi-23 Tell

3-6

20 Stir-fry ously pan Solution time: 21 mins. TAIL HIFI ELSE TEA SEC

Yesterday's answer 3-6

47 Fresh

CRYPTOQUIP

MIO, DR WIGGIXAL E GBFHXHAT WJOB

PFDJBHKU GUBPOQU, MFRR

H K "JIU IU M JR JT A U ."

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: CLASSIC OLDIE
ABOUT A NEWBORN DOG THAT WAS FOUND ON TOP OF A BUILDING: "PUP ON THE ROOF." Today's Cryptoquip Clue: W equals Y

The Office of Student Activities and Services offers.

FILL IN THE BLANK

Your take on a memorable meeting

When I last visited my _____, I had to fly on a ____. I sat next to a/an . After an hour, we decided we had a lot in common. We both NOUN . We still _______ and cooked _ from time to time.

ABERINASILE IMPODS

WHAT'S THAT?

By Donnie Lee (sigh) IT SEEMS BEING TTACKED FLOATING TUTU ..

AND IT SMELLS LIKE

The blotter | Arrests in Riley County

Reports are taken directly from the Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Saturday, March 3

■ Aric Matthew Schumacher, 420 Butterfield Road, at 6:35 a.m. for failure to appear. Bond was $164.

■ Hugh Ennis McGuire II, 658 Marlatt Hall, at 7:40 a.m. for failure to appear. Bond was $224.

Richard Leon Johnson, Ogden, at 9:55 a.m. for aggravated battery and criminal threat. Bond was $10,000.

Brent Adam Dove, no address given, at 10:13 a.m. for theft. Bond was $1,500.

■ Melissa Lynn Leon, Wichita, at 12:06 p.m. for battery. Bond

■ Brian Michale Tilbury, Ogden, at 6 p.m. for battery, aggravated battery and criminal restraint. Bond was $5,000.

■ Kevin Charles Copp, 1807 Laramie St., at 9:30 p.m. for failure to appear. Bond was $1,500.

■ Douglas Carl Laughlin II, 1110 Garden Way, Apt. A, at 9:59 p.m. for probation violation. Bond was $1,000.

Sunday, March 4

■ Clifford William Crites III, 901 Bertrand St., Apt. B, at 12:23 a.m. for obstruction of the legal process and disorderly conduct.

■ Justin Charles Taylor, 3305 Effingham, at 12:30 a.m. for obstruction of the legal process and purchase of consumption of alcohol by a minor. Bond was $1,500.

■ Skylor Cole Alexander, 831 Laramie St., at 12:55 a.m. for failure to appear. Bond was $158. ■ Aleta Shae Hill, 1000 N. 5th St., at 1:06 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $750. ■ Tyler James Huber, 921 Bertrand St., at 2:17 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $750. ■ Philip Nathaniel Freeland, 1814 Laramie St., at 2:50 a.m. for purchase or consumption of alcohol by a minor. Bond was $750.

■ Jacob Philip Voegeli, 617 N. 12th St., Apt. 4, at 4:19 a.m. for aggravated battery. Bond was $10,000. Adam Roy Hoff, Ogden, at 9:45 a.m. for failure to appear. Bond ■ Earnest Terrance Johnson, 418 S. Manhattan Ave., at 5:19 p.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $500.

■ Benjamin William Wehmueller, 6480 Stockdale Park Road, at 6:03 p.m. for failure to appear. Bond was $2,500.

■ Roderick Tyrone Jackson, Garland, Texas, at 10:22 p.m. for disorderly conduct. Bond was $750.

Monday, March 5

■ Anthony Kyle Purkel, Junction City, at 12:10 a.m. for criminal damage to property. Bond was $750.
■ Nicholas Ryan Moeder, Shawnee, Kan., at 12:15 a.m. for obstruction of the legal process and disorderly conduct. Bond was ■ Quentin Kay Forrester, Chapman, Kan., at 12:24 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $750.

Ryan Michael Stewart, Overland Park, Kan., at 12:50 a.m. for criminal trespass. Bond was $750.

■ Galen Michael Zachritz, 2215 College Ave., Apt. I-334, at 1:23 a.m. for disorderly conduct. Bond was $750.

■ Kate Nicole Bartley, Abilene, Kan., at 1:45 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $750.

■ Daniel Peter Allegre, 1225 Ratone St., Apt. 2, at 2:30 a.m. for driving under the influence and accidental involuntary damage to a vehicle. Bond was $2,250.

■ Matthew John Mondero, 112 Dix Drive, at 2:35 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $750.

■ Brian Christopher Casad, 1530 Jarvis Drive, at 3:34 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $750. ■ Emma Louise Hall, 614 Yuma St., at 7:30 a.m. for domestic battery, possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia. Bond was $2,000. ■ Antonia Terrell Hill, Norvolk, Va., at 10:30 a.m. for failure to appear on the original charge of possession of cocaine and drug paraphernalia, probation violation on the original charge of failure to meet the court services officer as directed, probation violation on the original charge of possession of marijuana and driving while suspended, and probation violation on the original charge of possession of marijuana. Bond was $2,900.

■ Shanika Yvette Strong, 2509 Church Circle, at 8:30 p.m. for aggravated burglary, and three counts of failure to appear. Bond was $5,000.

■ Troy Curley Holmes, Junction City, at 9:08 p.m. for failure to appear. Bond was $335.

■ Darryl Bruce Wheeler Jr., 5460 Taylor's View, at 11:40 p.m. for possession of a controlled substance, possession of opiates or narcotics, driving with a suspended or cancelled driver's license and abitual violator, Bond was $2,000.

The planner

Campus bulletin board

■ Career and Employment Services will sponsor a Dining Etiquette Workshop at 5:30 p.m. on March 13 in the Gold Room of the Derby Dining Center. Reservations must be made by Wednesday. To make a reservation, call 532-6506 or visit 100 Holtz Hall. The cost is $6.75 per person, or meal exchange for students with a meal plan. Professional business attire is required at the

■ The Japanese Appreciation Association will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday in

■ Kelly Mason, project coordinator for the Center for Remote Sensing of Ice Sheets at the University of Kansas will present "Design and Construction of a Robotic Seismic Streamer for Polar Regions" at 4 p.m. Thursday in Thompson 213.

Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at collegian@_: spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it

Corrections and clarifications

Corrections and clarifications run in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call news editor Alex Peak at (785) 532-6556 or e-mail collegian@ spub.ksu.edu.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291 020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, ... KS 66506-7167.

© Kansas State Collegian, 2007

BE RESPONSIBLE

FREE LEGAL SERVICES FOR STUDENTS

for more information visit the website at http://www.ksu.edu/osas/legal.htm Student Legal Services Attorney:

SARAH BARR 785-532-6541

Call now for an appointment

office hours

Monday - Friday 9:00 - 11:00 am & 1:00 - 4:00 pm Other appointments available upon reque

Online College Courses

Having trouble getting your class schedule to work?

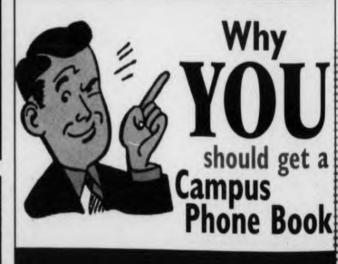

Need to add a class?

Dropped a class?

9-week and 17-week sessions starting soon. Most general education courses transfer to Kansas Regent schools.

Find our schedule online!

www.bartonline.org

Only Phone Book with Students' Cell Phone Numbers

Coupons with the Greatest Deals

A Menu Guide with local restaurants' menus

Purchase Yours in Kedzie 103

Demographer addresses issues facing U.S. farm communities

Loyola University professor speaks about decline of nation's rural populations

By Kristen Roderick KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

More people are dying than being born in rural Kansas, a rural demographer from Loyola University in Chicago said.

This causes a natural decrease in rural areas, said Kenneth Johnson, professor of sociology at Loyola University. Johnson spoke to a crowd of about 70 in Forum Hall Monday evening. His lecture, titled "The changing face of rural America," was part of the Donald J. Adamchak Distinguished Lecture Series

To prove the point of natural decrease, Johnson said he spoke with a minister in western Kansas. The minister said for every baptism, he performs four funerals.

"It's a stunning difference." Johnson said.

However, when Johnson and a colleague walked into a restaurant in a rural county, he said it was like watching a television program.

"When the strangers walk in, everything stops," he said.

But it appears being part of a close-knit community is not enough. The reason more people are dying than being born in rural areas is because younger people are moving for more opportunities, John-

Younger people are moving to larger cities for colleges and business opportunities. But by the time they decide they want children, they will move to either their rural hometown or a smaller, micropolitan city, which is a city with 10,000 to 50,000 people, Johnson said.

"This is the 'Friends' generation," he said, referencing the popular '90s television show

Along with young adults moving out of rural areas, mining, farming and manufacturing counties are experiencing decreasing populaFor U.S. Sen. Sam Brownback's views on the New Homestead Act, visit www.brownback.senate.gov/lihomestead.htm.

tions, Johnson said.

"This is the effect of globalization," he said.

The counties that are, in fact, growing in rural America are counties that have amenities close to them, Johnson said. These include lakes, oceans, mountains and other natural places. People want to retire in places like these and also want to be around recreational areas.

Johnson said while the Farm Bill has helped, many other solutions exist for the shrinking rural population.

"You can't just pass the Farm Bill and be done," he

One solution would include increasing health care and physicians in rural areas.

"Should the chances that you'd survive a tragic accident be reduced by where

Discussing the changes in rural America, Kenneth Johnson, demographer and professor of sociology at Loyola University, talks in Forum Hall. The speech was at 7 p.m. Monday evening.

you live?" he asked.

Johnson said a main solution to rural population decline would be the New Homestead Act, which Sen. Sam Brownback, R-Kan., has endorsed.

The act would offer incentives for individuals to settle and companies to expand if the population decreases 10 percent by migration. Johnson said it would be much like the original Homestead Act, under which people received free land from the government.

"Whether this will work or not, I don't know," he said.

Holly Oakleaf, senior in criminology, said she enjoyed the lecture.

"It was interesting to see the changes in migration in certain areas," she said.

Megan Petersen, senior in criminology, sat by Oakleaf at the lecture, and attended to receive extra credit for a

"I only saw half of it, but the half that I saw was fairly interesting," she said.

City commission to consider tax abatement for expansion

By Willow Williamson KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A local company might receive $3 million in bonds and a tax break depending on the decision of the city commission at its meeting tonight at 7 in City Hall.

The city will decide whether or not to issue Industrial Revenue Bonds, or IRBs, for Farrar Corporation to finance the company's expansion. The city is just issuing the bonds, the money will be loaned by and paid back to a trustee

"There will be no obligation on the city," said Diane Stoddard, deputy city manager.

IRBs are a type of bond used to finance the construction of industries. As part of the bond issuing process, the city will decide whether to give

GRADUATION FAIR

Tuesday & Wednesday • 11a-bp

Farrar a tax abatement period. The company will be exempt from property tax for 10 years, starting in 2008.

Stoddard said the commission and city staff are more concerned the company will be receiving the tax break, because the commission already approved a resolution of intent to issue up to $5 million in IRB's for the expansion of the company in May 2006.

Should the commission approve the tax abatements, Farrar still will be required to go to the Board of Tax Appeals, a state group that will give the final approval.

Farrar Corporation is a family- and employee-owned company specializing in ductile iron castings and other metal machining products for various manufacturing applications, according to city staff.

The company, located in Manhattan Industrial Park, is planning to add 9,000 square feet to the east side of its 37,000-square foot facility.

"It's important to note the employment increase that will come as a result of the expansion," Stoddard said.

The expansion should create 29 new jobs for Manhattan, therefore adding to the city's overall economy.

in Kedzie 103

8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri.

Campus Phone Books

you can finally Buy A Book WORTH ITS PRICE

NOW

General Election

2007-2008 SGA Elections

http://sgaelections.ksu.edu

Tuesday March 6

8:00 a.m.

until Wednesday

March 7

6:00 p.m.

Positions to be decided:

Student Body President & Vice President Student Senate College Councils Union Governing Board Board of Student Publications

SU STUDENT GOVERNING ASSOCIATION ELECTIONS WW.K-STATE.EDU/ELECTIONS

Featured vendors include: C-B Graduation Announcements Balfour Class Rings University Frames

> Oak Hall Cap and Gown for all your Graduation regalia!

TO THE POINT

Online Collegian not platform for vulgarities

It has come to our attention that the online comment section of our newspaper has, at times, become a TO THE POINT is an editorial selected and debated virtual soapbox by the editorial for crude and board and written after a majority opinion is formed. ignorant outbursts. This is This is the Collegian's official not our intention. As the voice of a university that deals with controversial social issues on a daily basis, we understand our content might become a focal point for discussion and debate between our readers. We feel that, largely, we are succeeding in this. This is precisely our inten-

But there are those with opinions that are crudely formed or downright obscene. We abandoned the Fourum because we did not feel our newspaper should be a pulpit for these sorts of comments - we don't want them transplanted to our electronic version.

We have no intention of stifling controversy or conversation on our site, and we realize with some issues comes the risk that opinions will differ and tempers will flare.

However, as the publication for an academic institution, we hold the visitors of our Web site to a higher standard. Their comments do not merely reflect on themselves, but on our advertisers, ourselves and our university. Regarding issues like gay marriage, affirmative action and religion we encourage people to use our publication as an outlet for civil disagreement. But we will not tolerate vulgar name calling and blatantly insensitive comments under the banner of the Kansas State Collegian.

For those who have been offended by the comments on our Web site, we offer a sincere apology.

OLLEGIAN

Megan Moser | EDITOR IN CHIEF Heldi Paulson | MANAGING EDITOR Alex Peak | NEWS EDITOR Jacque Haag | CO-COPY CHIEF Scott Girard | CAMPUS EDITOR Logan C. Adams | METRO EDITOR Lacey D. Mackey | FEATURES EDITOR Jonathan Garten | SPORTS EDITOR Eileen Laux | THE EDGE EDITOR Jonas Hogg | OPINION EDITOR Christopher Hanewinckel | PHOTO EDITOR Brendan Praeger | PRESENTATION EDITOR Royce Haynes | ONLINE EDITOR Cedrique Flemming | TIPOFF EDITOR Courtney Sleypen | AD MANAGER Eddie Rogers | ASST. AD MANAGER

WRITE TO US

Letters can be submitted by e-mail to letters@ spub.ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters should be limited to 250 words. All submitted letters may be edited for length and

CONTACT US Kansas State Collegian Kedzie 103 Manhattan, KS 66502

Display ads.....(785) 532-6560 Classified ads....(785) 532-6555 ..(785) 532-6555 Newsroom......(785) 532-6556 news@spub.ksu.edu

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Take a look, it's in a book

Group says 'BOOK IT!' program's food choices outweigh reading benefits

We work for pay and go to school for an education. Throughout life, we are presented with incentives for things we really do not want to do.

KING

Those who grew up in the mid-1990s might remember the Pizza Hut BOOK IT! program, which encourages children in grades K-6 to read with the incentive of free pizza.

BOOK IT!, which was created in 1985 and has reached more than 22 million children in 925,000 grade schools each year, is under fire from the Campaign for a Commercial-Free Childhood for encouraging bad eating habits and turning teachers into corporate promoters.

"In the name of education, it promotes junk food consumption to a captive audience ... and undermines parents by positioning family visits to Pizza Hut as an integral component of raising literate children," said Susan Linn, co-founder of the

Those attacking the program feel students only read books to receive the free pizza. Members of the CCFC believe children are not reading challenging books, but rather easy books to progress through the program more quickly.

The CCFC has a hypocritical stance when it comes to educating younger children. Not only is the group looking to stop programs that encourage reading, they also are seeking action against the Baby Einstein Company, which produces videos for infants and toddlers.

In 2006, the CCFC filed a complaint with the Federal Trade Commission against the Baby Einstein Company for faulty marketing.

The Baby Einstein Company's Web site says its products "give parents an opportunity to expose little ones to the world around them in playful and enriching ways."

The group used research conducted by the American Academy for Pediatrics as justification in the complaint against Baby Einstein Company, which said "TV viewing interferes with cognitive development, language development and regular sleep patterns. It can also be habituating. For older children, hours of television watched are linked to bullying, poor school performance and childhood

The CCFC is correct in filing an allegation against the Baby Einstein Company. Children do not develop to their full potential when taught through videos and television from a young age.

Reading to children promotes early developent. The CCFC can not have things both ways, it can not fight for an important cause and turn around and attack a group offering an alternative to television.

The organization Focus on the Family concluded through its research that reading has many positive effects on children. These include increased reading and writing skills, the ability to relate facts to a whole situation and being more open to new concepts and ideas.

Pizza Hut started the BOOK IT! program in hopes of making money. Every noble cause has an element of greed. Pizza Hut executives' goals were to promote a good cause and bring people into their restaurants. There is nothing wrong with wanting to increase profits.

With the sad state of education in our country and the lack of parental involvement to increase children's desire to read, people should look at it a a positive thing that companies are taking steps to fill the void.

Instead of attacking companies for adding an incentive to education, we need to start looking at ourselves. Television is not a substitute for parental involvement or education.

Reading at a younger age provides a foundation for children to find answers for themselves.

Allowing ourselves to be spoon-fed information through television has been damaging to this country. Instead of processing the information, we are reduced to listening to reporters that spew out talking points and negate our ability to think.

An independent mind can not be controlled by others. Any organization that promotes reading, whether corporate or otherwise, should be recognized even if it is for selfish desires.

Brett King is a junior in political science. Please send comments to opinion@spub.ksu.edu.

STREET TALK

With all the new development projects in town, if you could bring any restaurant or business to Manhattan, what would it be?

Galindo

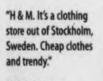

more variety; it's trendy and cheap."

Jessica Galindo SENIOR IN LIFE SCIENCES

"Charlotte Russe. They have nice clothes and

Kyleigh Payne SENIOR IN ANTHROPOLOGY

"Red Robin. They've got the best burgers I've ever had and it would just be really awesome."

Bryan Rapp SOPHOMORE IN ELECTRONIC ENGINEERING AND MATHEMATICS

Manhattan needs center for child assault victims

In the battle against sexual assault, sometimes the tiniest victims seemingly are forgotten.

Victims of sexual violence don't only include those over the age of 18. Sometimes, they involve children and even babies.

Violence against children is especially heinous and touches members of the health care and law enforcement communities in a way that can't be equalled.

LOLA

SHRIMPLIN

When children lay on the exam table in shock, not protesting as they are positioned for each X-ray, I've seen grown people reduced to tears. I've seen and heard the horror and anger in law enforcement when they discuss the people who commit such crimes.

Nothing draws more fury than a child who was subjected to something they never should have been. That is why I am watching events in Lawrence with interest.

Lawrence has no dedicated medical center for victims of childhood sexual assault.

In Manhattan, Sexual Assault Response Team members, consisting of law enforcement, social workers and medical personnel, interview children who report crimes of this nature. These exams can be conducted at Mercy Health Center, as long as there are members of the team available, according to Detective Darla King of the Riley County Police Department.

As of now, the closest hospitals to Lawrence able to perform exams on children are in Topeka and the Kansas City area, according to the Lawrence Journal-World.

Interviews with the children take place in schools and Social and Rehabilitation offices, or the Lawrence Police Department's Investigation and Training Center in West Lawrence, according to the article.

But plans are underway to use recently gained federal funds to start a center called the Signal Oak Child Advocacy Center.

José Villarreal

SENIOR IN CIVIL ENGINEERING

The new center will focus entirely on children and will be a centralized location where members of Douglas County's Child Abuse Response Team, similar to the SART program, will be able to

It also will provide a local facility for child victims of crimes like these to be examined

Lawrence needs a place like this, so child victims of sexual assault don't have to make the arduous trip to Topeka or Kansas City.

Manhattan needs a place like this. A centralized location where children can be interviewed in a non-threatening environment.

Interviews can take place at the Riley County Police Department, yet no matter how kind the officers who conduct the interviews are, they still are on their home territory, and I would imagine the children could be intimidated.

If Manhattan was to follow the lead Lawrence has taken, young victims of sexual assault could receive better care.

The RCPD does everything in its power to aid victims of sexual assault. Mercy Health Center is accessible to children as well as adult victims of these crimes, and the examinations are best done in a medical environment.

But, if the examinations and interviews could be scheduled in a centralized location, with a medical environment and trained team members to examine the children and a place in which children could be interviewed away from the police station, it might be better. It would be in the best interest of the children, and that's what everyone should want.

Lola Shrimplin is a senior in journalism and mass communications. Please send comments to opinion@spub.ksu.edu.

WORLD NEWS

U.S., NORTH KOREA OPEN HISTORIC TALKS IN N.Y.

NEW YORK - More than 50 years after the end of the Korean War, the United States and North Korea opened historic talks Monday to establish diplomatic relations following Pyongyang's agreement to dismantle its nuclear program.

North Korean Vice Foreign Minister Kim Kye Gwan and U.S. Assistant Secretary of State Christopher Hill began their first meeting in the early evening at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, a U.S. official said on condition of anonymity because the talks are private.

This is the first U.S. visit by Kim since the international standoff over the North's nuclear ambitions flared in late

BRITISH INVESTIGATORS EXAMINE EMBASSY CARS

MEKELE, Ethiopia - British investigators looking into the disappearance of a group of Britons affiliated with their country's embassy examined two abandoned, bullet-riddled embassy cars in a remote Ethiopian village Monday.

An AP Television News cameraman saw the two vehicles in Hamedali, the last staging post before the region's famous salt lakes. Bullet holes lined the doors of the vehicles. which still had luggage, shoes and cell phones inside. No blood was visible.

The tour group, which included 13 Ethiopian drivers and translators, disappeared Thursday while traveling in Ethiopia's Afar region.

DANES TEAR DOWN YOUTH CENTER AFTER VIOLENCE

COPENHAGEN, Denmark - Masked demolition workers tore down the graffitisprayed building Monday that served as the makeshift cultural center for Denmark's anarchists and disaffected youth, ignoring sobs and screamed obscenities from a surrounding crowd of young people.

Four days of street riots followed the owner's decision Thursday to evict squatters from the building - officially abandoned but used by punk rockers and left-wing groups since 1982. The demonstrations were Denmark's worst in a decade and ended with more than 650 arrests and 25 injured.

-The Associated Press

SGA replaces faulty parts in campus crosswalk signals

By Hannah Blick KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Many K-State students and faculty noticed a problem with the newly installed crosswalk signals on the outskirts of campus. They didn't work.

One such student was Stephen Lachky, freshman in environmental design studies.

"I've had a few close calls when crossing the streets late at night because drivers just didn't realize people were trying to cross," Lachky said. "It's frustrating to deal with, for the drivers and the walkers."

The K-State Student Goveming Association, through a committee led by Robert Swift, sophomore in psychology, pinpointed the source of the defective lights, and has handled the situation. The reason the crosswalk signals, purchased and installed last spring and summer, were not turning on when activated by the pedestrian button, was simply faulty parts. The lights were procured from a company based out of Wichita, and the company has admitted its fault and issued an apology for the lights not functioning properly, Swift said. Members of SGA said they also would like to extend their apologies to the student body.

"Government relations apologizes for the lights not working, as well as the miscommunication," Swift said. "There have been accidents caused by the lack of working crosswalk signals, and we want to make sure everybody is aware and knows how to use the new lights."

Because the crosswalk signals are under warranty, the company is replacing the faulty parts free of charge. The new parts were shipped in last week. and crews immediately went to work on the lights. One crosswalk signal on College Avenue, near Bramlage Coliseum, was completely replaced, while the two lights near Goodnow Hall and several others located off of Manhattan Avenue only needed to have a few defective parts changed out. Swift said.

"All of the lights around campus are now up and working," Swift said. "We hope this helps cut down on some of the confusion."

Debbie Berry, an engineering aid specializing in traffic, helped conduct numerous studies up and down Manhattan Avenue in 2000. The research groups completed studies involving speeds and volumes, as well as pedestrian studies. They originally conducted the studies in the 1990s, and helped to make the corner of Vattier and Manhattan Avenue a pedestrian haven, Berry said.

Berry also said the faulty part mix-up was purely accidental, and the university is not blaming the selling company.

Students who have had issues with the crosswalk signals expressed relief that SGA has fixed the situation.

"I think replacing the broken lights will really help cut back on accidents, especially at night," said Tyler Johnson, sophomore in computer science.

"I live off-campus, so I've really had to deal with this problem walking and driving. It will be great to not have to worry about it."

Moore Property Management

Since 1974

1125 Laramie Suite C Manhattan, KS 66502

785-537-0205

4 Bedrooms 4 Baths

1120 & 1122 Pierre

4 Bedrooms 2 Baths

923 Bluemont "A" 923 Bluemont "B" 1614 Humboldt 712 Laramie "B" 1712 Colorado

3 Bedrooms 2 Baths

927 Fremont 1539 Campus

3 Bedrooms 1 Bath

2461 Hobbs 2018 Anderson

Plus numerous 2 bedroom and 1 bedroom apartments

View our properties at www.moorepropertymanagement.com

Now Leasing for Fall

Check out our model showings now!

With 900 apartments in the Manhattan area, we can find a place for you!

BEDROOMS 1119 Laramie #5

5:30-7:00 Mon, Wed, Thurs 4:00-7:00 5:00-7:00

1722 Laramie #9 Mon 10:00-12:00 11:30-1:00 Tues 12:00-2:00 Wed Thurs 11:30-1:00

1941 College Heights #4 Mon-Thurs 3:00-5:00

1854 Claflin #14 Mon, Wed, Fri 4:00-6:00 Tues, Thurs 2:00-4:00

Wareham - 418 Poyntz #603 Tues Fri 1:30 - 5:00 Sun 10:00-2:00

Aggie Village - 1215 Laramie 1:00-5:00 Mon-Fri 10:00-2:00

925 Denison #4 1803-1807 College Heights View at 925 Denison #4 6:00-8:00pm Mon.Wed.Fri Tues, Thurs

12:00-2:00 Sat Royal Towers 1700 N. Manhattan #203 Mon.Wed,Fri 4:00-6:00 1:00-3:00 Tues, Thurs

BEDROOMS 1026 Osage #22

4:30-6:30 Mon 3:30-5:30 12:30-2:30 Fri Sat 2:00-4:00 1419 Leavenworth #2

5:30-7:30 12:00-2:00

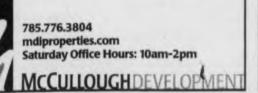

BEDROOMS 1611 Laramie #2 8:00-11:00an Mon, Wed, Fri 3:30-6:00 Tues, Thurs 2:00-5:00

BEDROOMS

Royal Towers 1700 N. Manhattan #402 Mon-Fri 2:00-4:00 12:00-2:00

STUDIOS

Wareham 418 Poyntz #316 Mon,Wed,Fri 12:00-4:00 1:00-3:00

Once in a Lifetime

"My Mom cried."

Once in a Lifetime, in the Collegian the first Friday of the month.

To announce your milestone, visit Kedzie 103. To advertise, call 532-6560.

RED MOTORAZR™ V3m

Motorola and Sprint are collaborating with (PRODUCT) new to help eliminate AIDS in Africa. JOINRED.COM

This feature-packed phone is the only RED MOTORAZR that lets you download music wirelessly from the Sprint Music Store."

$5999

Plus $50 mail in rebatil With new line activation and 2 year agreement

SPRINT IS A CONTRIBUTING PARTY TO (PRODUCT)"

Sprint POWER UP

Sprint

stores

Hablamos Españo

sprint.com/powered to the nearest Sprint or Nextel store

JUNCTION CITY

701 N. Washington St. 785-762-34344 MANHATTAN 100 Manhattan Tower Center Manhattan Mall 785-539-4919

707 Commons Place " new extended hours 9a 9p M-Sat, 10a-6p Sun 785-537-3500

PREFERRED DEALERS EMPORIA

Wireless Lifestyle · Sprint 2715 Candlewood Dr. 620-340-0044

HUTCHINSON Wireless Lifestyle - Sprint 1511 E. 17th St. 620-663-7496

Modern Electronics 2146 Planet Ave. 785-825-5352

Coverage not available everywhere. Available features and services will vary by phone and network. The Nationwide Sprint PCS Network reaches over 250 million people. Voice calling area reaches over 165 million people in the U.S., Puerto Rico, U.S. Virgin islands and Guarn. Offers not available in all markets. Additional terms and restrictions apply Subject to credit approval. See store or sprint.com for details. Service Plan: Up to S36 activation and $200 early termination fees apply per line. Deposit may be required. Instant Savings. Activation at time of purchase required. No cash back. Mail-in Rebate. Requires purchase by 02/17/07 and activation by 03/03/07. Rebates cannot exceed purchase price. Taxes excluded. Line must be active 30 consecutive days. Allow 8 to 12 weeks for rebate. Free Text Messaging. Text message overage is $0.10 per message. To avoid charges, you must contact us prior to the billing end date of the 12th plan month. Risk Free Guarantee. Call us to deactivate and return (to place of purchase) complete, undamanged phone with receipt within 30 days of activation. You are responsible for all charges based on actual usage (partial monthly service charges, taxes, Sprint Fees, etc.). Project RED. Motoronal and Sprint will collectively make a 517 contribution on the sale of each RED.

MOTORAZR phone to the Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis and Maiaria in Africa. See www.motorola.com/red or www.theglobalfund.org/en for more details. KS Residents: In those areas in which Sprint Nextel is eligible to receive support from the federal universal service fund, Sprint Nextel must meet all reasonable requests for service. Unresolved questions concerning service availability can be directed to the Kansas Corporation Commission Office of Public Affairs and Consumer Protection at 800-662-0027 Sprint Nextel. All third-carty product or service names are concerted of the service. All third-carty product or service names are concerted of the service.

are trademarks of Sprint Nextel. All third-party product or service names are property of their respective owners. All rights reserved

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

1-MINUTE

DRILL

Staff Reports

BKC | Martin, Hoskins earn

Martin

from 3-point range.

Coach of the Year.

inception.

All-Big 12 Conference honors K-State senior Cartier Martin captured the Big 12's inaugural Sixth Man Award, and was oined on the coaches' all-conference second team by junior David

Martin becomes K-State's first major award winner since

Newcomer of the Year honors in 2004.

A staple of starting line-up in previous seasons, Martin has been impressive off the bench this season. He has scored in double figures in 15 of the 17 games he has not started for the Wildcats, including seven 20-point efforts. He has been even better in that role in the last 13 games, averaging 19.5 points on 50 percent shooting, including 46.6 percent

Texas freshman Kevin Durant highlighted the major award winners announced by the league. Durant became the first player in the league's history to win both the Big 12's Player and Freshman of the Year honors in the same season. Kansas' Mario Chalmers and Oklahoma

State's Marcus Dove were named the Defensive

Players of the Year, while Missouri's Stefhon

Hannah was selected as the Newcomer of the

Martin and Hoskins become the first pair of Wildcats to earn recognition to one of the Big 12 era. The duo is also the fifth and sixth players since 1997 to be selected to one of the three all-conference squads and the 14th and 15th overall to earn either first, second, third or honorable mention accolades since the league's

The Associated Press

HKN | Penguins come closer to moving to Kansas City

The Penguins moved a step closer to leaving Pittsburgh, declaring on Monday an state and local leaders and saying they will impasse in their new arena negotiations with league's three all-conference teams in the Year. Texas A&M's Billy Gillispie was honored as

Jeremiah Massey won

Hoskins.

'Formula' gives Wildcats built-in excuse

Former Buffalo Bills coach Marv Levy once was asked if his team's Super Bowl game against the Dallas Cowboys was a "must-win." After all, his team already had lost the previous three Super Bowls from 1990-92.

Levy famously responded, "World War II was a must-win." Then his team got creamed, 30-13

RAKE

"I'm not asking them to go down and win a game; I'm asking them to win three games," Huggins said. "Three games you get an automatic bid, and you don't have to worry about that stuff."

If that sounds like the perfect response, it's because it was. Huggins doesn't play for second place, and he wants to win the Big 12 title.

Problem is, Huggins undermined that win-'em-all mentality with what he's said repeatedly over the past two weeks. He's been telling anybody who will listen about "the formula." With 20 wins overall and 10 league wins, Huggins believes his team is a lock for the NCAA Tournament.

Since 1999, 169 teams (out of 169) from the six major conferences have followed that same formula to the NCAA Tournament. By that logic, K-State (21-10, 10-6) should be in.

Deep down inside, though, I don't think Huggins believes his team has done enough to earn a spot - and I think his players do. That could spell trouble in the Big 12 Tournament.

Make no mistake about it, Huggins has done a masterful job of campaigning "the formula." It made a pair of national TV appearances over the weekend and has been in newspapers all across the Midwest.

"The formula" has been brought up so many times you've got to believe Huggins smirks every time it's mentioned. It's free publicity for K-State and its tournament résumé which, in reality, is far from finished.

Aside from a road win against Texas, K-State's 10 conference wins aren't impressive. The Wildcats beat Colorado twice, Iowa State twice and Missouri twice. They won home games against Baylor, Nebraska and Oklahoma. All of those teams finished with losing conference records.

That's where "the formula" comes into play. It's a cover-up for what has been a down year in the Big 12.

Huggins is no dummy. He does everything for a reason. He knows the added mentions and exposure K-State is getting will help his team when the NCAA Tournament committee begins its deliberations this week. By planting "the formula" and getting it out in the open, he's trying to help the committee make its decision.

He wants it to appear that holding K-State out of the tournament, in the face of the almighty "formula," would be criminal.

Still, to me "the formula" is more of a built-in excuse than anything. It's Huggins' way of saying, "Look, if we don't make it, it's not because we didn't do our job. It's because the committee broke a trend."

Huggins' players will have an out, and they'll have something to fall back on in case things don't go their way in the Big 12 Tournament. They're well aware of the fact that history is on their side and a firstround loss doesn't necessarily mean they'll have no chance of getting into the "Big Dance." They've been led to believe they're in no matter what.

Suddenly, the game isn't considered a "must-win."

It wasn't for Levy and the Bills, either.

Jeffrey Rake is a junior in print journalism. Please sold comments to sports@spub.ksu.edu.

Late breakout

Photos by Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN K-State's Justin Bloxom scores during K-State's four-run eighth inning Monday. The Wildcats improved their record to

Late rally seals victory for Wildcat baseball squad

By Dayne Logan KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The K-State baseball team (10-2) put together a late rally in its home opener Monday to beat Brigham Young (8-4), 5-1.

Things got started quickly for the hosts when the lead-off-man, junior Derek Bunker, reached base courtesy of a walk from Cougar pitcher Blaine Howell, who struggled to find the strike zone all day. Unfortunately, Bunker was caught napping at first base and was picked off.

Two batters later, senior Eli Rumler drew a two-out walk to breathe life into an inning that seemed to be going nowhere for the Wildcats. A single from sophomore Byron Wiley on the ensuing at-bat advanced Rumler to third and a balk from Howell put the Wildcats in the lead, 1-0.

Two innings later, Howell was replaced after surrendering six walks in just 2 1/3 innings pitched.

The game progressed more or less uneventfully for the next couple of innings until Cougar first baseman Kasey Ko got a hold of a pitch from Wildcat starter sophomore Todd Vogel in the top of the fifth. The ball eventually found its way over the fence after hitting the Powercat sign on top of the scoreboard in right field and knotted the game at 1-1.

Vogel retired the next two batters to close out the inning and left the game after surrendering just one run in five innings pitched in his first start of the season.

"He threw a nice game for us," coach Brad Hill said of Vogel. "He'll be one of the candidates for a midweek spot (in the rotation)."

Good pitching from both teams

Pitcher Todd Vogel makes his delivery to the plate during K-State's game against BYU Monday. Vogel threw 5.0 innings and gave up just one run on three hits with two walks and two strikeouts in the no decision.

kept the game tied at one apiece until K-State broke out with four runs in the eighth. The Wildcats collected three hits, drew two walks and reached base on an error in an inning that turned what was a pitchers' duel into an offensive onslaught.

Cougar pitcher Matt Jensen, who dominated K-State for 4 2/3 innings, surrendered three hits before being replaced by Clayton Barnes

Barnes could do no better, however, and faced only three batters, retiring no one, before he too made his way to the bench. Reliever Michael Ward finally ended the inning by getting Bunker out, but not before the Wildcats took a 5-1 lead.

K-State reliever freshman Jason Linn closed out the game by retiring three straight and picked up the win. Linn surrendered just one hit in four innings of work and struck out

"I was just trying to go out and throw strikes," Linn said. "I've never really felt pressure before."

At the plate, Wiley finished 1-for-2 on the day and also collected two walks. Freshman Justin Bloxom had a big day as well, recording two hits in four at-bats, and sophomore Nate Tenbrink finally ended his slump with a two-RBI single in the eighth

"Any hit for me right now, I'll take," Tenbrink said.

Tenbrink and the Wildcats will try to complete the two-game sweep when they take on BYU again at 2 p.m. today at Tointon Family Stadium.

actively pursue relocation. The breakdown in arena talks came only three days after Gov. Ed Rendell said he felt an agreement was close. It also increases the possibility the Penguins — one of the NHL's most attractive franchises — will be playing in Kansas City next season. "We have made a single-minded effort to bring this new arena to a successful conclusion and keep the team in Pittsburgh," owners Mario Lemieux and Ron Burkle said in a letter to Rendell and local government officials. . Our good-faith efforts have not produced a deal, however, and have only added more anxiety to what we thought at best was a risky proposition for us moving forward." In the letter, Lemieux and Burkle put the blame for the impasse on government officials, arguing they agreed to pay $120 million over 30 years to help build a $290 million arena and cover construction cost overruns, yet still have not reached a deal.

NHL commissioner Gary Bettman became involved in the talks several weeks ago, but also has been unable to finalize an agree-

The Penguins had an agreement with Isle of Capri Casinos to build the arena at no expense to the team or taxpayers in exchange for a license to build a Pittsburgh slots casino, but a state board in December chose a competing bid.

Jan. 4, the team, state, city and Allegheny County began negotiating an alternate arena funding plan. At the time, government officials asked the team to give about $4.1 million per year but suggested they were willing to come down

However, the amount being sought from the team has changed little, according to the Penguins' calculations. With no agreement in sight, the Penguins said they must begin planning for next season. They can relocate once their Mellon Arena lease expires in June.

Don Barden, the successful bidder for the slots parlor, agreed in his winning proposal to contribute $7.5 million a year for 30 years toward the arena costs. However, he cannot start paying until the casino opens, and state Supreme Court appeals filed Friday by the two losing casino chains — including Isle of Capri - threaten to delay that opening past the projected date in late 2008.

The Penguins said the appeals "cause us great concern" because the arena project cannot be delayed any longer. Mellon Arena, built in 1961, is the NHL's oldest arena and lacks the fan-friendly amenities of the league's numerous new facilities.

"Unfortunately, we still don't have a deal and are facing mounting uncertainty that an agreement can be reached in a time frame that is realistic for our organization," the team said in the letter. "Therefore, we have no choice but to declare an impasse and to notify NHL Commissioner Gary Bettman that we will aggressively explore relocation."

Last week, Rendell called the talks "somewhat precarious, although I'm very optimistic that we're close. The attitude of the Penguins has convinced me that they want to stay here."

Kansas City has offered its nearly completed Sprint Center to the Penguins rent-free, with no possibility of cost overruns. The Penguins would also gain revenue from development projects around the arena.*

K-State faces Cyclones for 3rd time

By Jessi Hernandez KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

One thing could be said of the 12th-seeded Wildcats as they face Iowa State today in the first round of the Big 12 Women's Basketball Championship: they sure don't have much to lose.

K-State finished last in the Big 12 Conference for the first time in its 11-year history this season, managing just four wins, the last of which came nearly a month ago a 66-59 surprise at Texas Tech on Feb. 11. After that, the Wildcats (16-13, 4-12 Big 12) went 0-5 to finish the regular season.

One of those matchups, a 64-61 heartbreaker, was with the team they face today. When the Cyclones (22-7, 10-6) came to Manhattan Feb. 24, for much of the game it looked as though K-State had a lock on its fifth conference win.

It was not meant to be. Iowa State went on an 11-2 run in the final three minutes of the second half to win. It was the second win over K-State for the Cyclones, who previously defeated the Wildcats 73-68 Jan. 27 in Ames, Iowa.

Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN

K-State's Kimberly Dietz fights for a steal with Oklahoma State's Danielle Green during the second half Wednesday. Dietz led K-State in scoring with 23 points.

Considering the close margin of both of those games, however, it brings one thought to mind - it's hard to beat a team three times in a season, especially when that team has everything to gain.

Iowa State is riding a five-game winning streak, which includes victories over No. 1 seed Texas A&M and then-No. 25 Nebraska. Senior Lyndsey Medders leads the conferNo. 12 K-State vs. No. 5 Iowa State When: 2:30 p.m. today
Where: COX Convention Center, Oklahoma

ence in assists per game with 6.6, and leads her team in scoring with 12.4 points per game. Sophomore

THE EDGE

Tuesday, Mar. 6, 2007

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Page 7

SEX ED

Sexual health advice from the experts at SHAPE

STD testing important for students

By Meghan Murphy SEXUAL HEALTH AWARENESS PEER EDUCATORS

By age 25, at least one in two sexually active people will have contracted a sexually transmitted disease, according to the American Social Health Association. Since the most common symptom of an STD is no symptom at all, getting tested by a doctor is the safest bet for making sure you are free and clear. For K-State students, Lafene Health Center offers STD testing at a discounted rate. Women can receive testing through the Women's Clinic, men through the General Clinic.

STD testing is not as scary as it sounds. Most STD tests consist of obtaining a urine sample or mouth swab. A few others require a blood sample. It is important to note, however, there is no one test that can identify any and all STDs. Each STD has its own specific test. According to the Lafene Web site, health professionals can test students for gonorrhea, chlamydia, syphilis, HIV, Hepatitis B, Hepatitis C and trichomoniasis. Based on a student's sexual behavior and history, doctors can inform the student which STDs they are at risk and should be

Since the incidence of human papillomavirus is extremely high, the test most women undergo is a Pap smear. The Lafene Web site describes the Pap test as a "simple and relatively painless test that obtains cells from a woman's cervix, and a certified cytotechnologist evaluates the cells for abnormalities which may be indicative of cervical cancer." There is no test that can detect HPV, however, abnormal cells found in a Pap test can be indicative of that infection. Women are recommended to undergo a Pap test if they have been sexually active for three or more years or if they are more than 21 years of age. It is important also to remember HPV is not limited to females; it also is found in males.

It is recommended that all sexually active people be tested for STDs every six months to make sure they are healthy. Additionally, one should get tested to ensure they were not tested during a window period, or the period between when one contracts a disease and when it will show up on a test. However, if someone thinks they are at risk for an STD, getting tested as soon as possible could help he or she receive quick treatment and reduce symptoms.

The best way to prevent an STD is abstinence. The second best way is to use a latex condom and to use it properly. STD tests range from $20 to $50, depending on the test. Appointments can be made through the Women's Clinic or the General Clinic at Lafene.

The Riley County Health Department also has discounted rates for students who qualify. For more information about testing or STDs contact Lafene Health Center (785) 532-6544, the Women's Clinic (785) 532-6554 or send an email to shape@ k-state.edu.

Sex Ed is a weekly column written by the members of Sexual Health Awareness Peer Educators and edited by Carol Kennedy, director of health promotions at Lafene Health Center. If you would like SHAPE to answer your sexual health question, please contact SHAPE at shape@ksu.edu.

Far from home

Indie artist travels from Atlanta to perform at K-State

By Eric Brown KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sarah Peacock recently made her longest musical venture away from home

Coming all the way from Atlanta, the 24-year-old singer/songwriter trekked more than 900 miles across the country to perform an hourlong solo show at Union Station in the K-State Student Union.

During her show, which the Union Program Council sponsored, Peacock showcased her lyrically intimate, jazzy style of acoustic pop, using her powerful voice and precise rhythm guitar to soulfully express her heartfelt, musical confessions.

Peacock also took time between songs to check up on what subjects audience members were studying, and reminisced about meeting George Michael for the first time, which she appropriately followed with a cover of "Faith."

Monday night's performance marked the end of her five-night stay in Manhattan. Peacock, who arrived at the Little Apple Thursday night after performing in St. Louis, said her experience in Manhattan was more than enjoyable.

"I love this place," she said. "This is one of the best towns I've been to, and believe me, I've been to a lot

Peacock noted that her favorite stops in Manhattan included The Little Apple Brewing Company, Bluestem Bistro, Pita Pit and the Peters Recreation Complex.

"We made it to the rec every day while we were here," she said. "Props to your university for having such a good workout facility for their students."

Peacock, who also expressed her appreciation for the Aggieville business district, noted that her aftershow activities would include "just one" Belfast Bomber at O'Malley's Alley. But as much as she has enjoyed Manhattan, she insised that her heart will always be in Atlanta.

"That's where I grew up, and that's where I'll probably stay," she said. "And I think that the Atlanta music scene is the place for me to

Lyndsey Born | COLLEGIAN

Sarah Peacock, Atlanta, performs at the Union Station Monday evening.

Growing up in Atlanta, Peacock said that her interest and talent in music are attributes that she comes by honestly.

"I have one sister who is a trained opera singer, and one who is a piano prodigy," she said. "Guess you could say it runs in the family."

The most time she has spent away from Atlanta were her years at Belmont College in Nashville, where she graduated in 2005 with a degree in commercial music.

I really enjoyed my time in Nashville, and thought about staying there, but I'm not sure that was really the scene for my music," Peacock said.

"Atlanta has been a lot more receptive to my style and there are more indie-rock labels in that area that I think I would fit into."

As far as the future goes, Peacock said she plans to continue doing the things she has been doing.

"I really want to keep touring the college circuit," said Peacock, who has performed more than 20 live shows on the road so far this

"I think that's where my target audience is right now."

Erica Boatman, UPC entertainment chair and junior in apparel marketing, said she agreed with Peacock's appeal to college stu-

"She has a very unique style, that I think is good for college-campus performances," Boatman said. "I would definitely promote her to other campuses."

NEW RELEASES

Music

Arcade Fire, "Neon Bible" Ry Cooder, "My Name Is Buddy" Mary Chapin Carpenter, "The Calling" Air, "Pocket Symphony" Korn, "Mtv Unplugged" Reliant K, "Five Score & Seven Years Ago" Son Volt, "Search" Kaiser Chiefs, "Yours Truly Angry Mob" Gary Allan, "Greatest Hits" Finger Eleven, "Them VS. You VS. Me" Bright Eyes, "Four Winds" Sevendust, "Alpha"

DVDs

"Borat — Cultural Learnings of America for Make Benefit Glorious Nation of Kazakhstani TV personality Borat (Sacha Baron Cohen) is dispatched to the United States to report on the "greatest country in the world." With a documentary crew in tow, Borat becomes more interested in locating and marrying Pamela Anderson than his assignment.

"Let's Go to Prison"

John Lyshitski (Dax Shepard) is a carstealing slacker with a weed problem and has been in Illinois' Rossmore State Penitentiary so many times, he knows its entire population of both staff and cons by their first names. Cursed with the ill luck of being in the wrong place at the wrong time, in possession of the wrong car, he's been deemed a lost-cause repeat offender in the eyes of everyone else. When the heartless Judge who handed down most of his sentences goes to the big courthouse in the sky, John decides to ruin the man's legacy by having the judge's only offspring, Nelson Biederman IV (Will Arnett), thrown in the slammer along with him.

"Walkout"

Based on a true story, student activist and Mexican-American Paula Crisostomo (Alexa Vega), tired of being treated unequally, decides to take action and stage a walkout at five East Los Angeles high schools in 1968, to protest educational conditions and complain of anti-Mexican educational bias along with some 10,000 students.

"Confetti"

A mockumentary that follows three couples as they battle it out to win the coveted title of Most Original Wedding of the Year.'

"Fast Foot Nation"

An ensemble piece examining the health risks involved in the fast food industry and its environmental and social consequences.

TV on DVD

"South Park — The Complete Ninth

"Stargate Atlantis — The Complete Second Season'

"Northern Exposure — The Complete Sixth

Season' "Sabrina, The Teenage Witch — The Complete First Season"

"Zach Galifianakis — Live at the Purple Onion" "Hawaii Five-0 — The Complete First Season' "Moonlighting — Season Five — The

Final Season "The Loop — Season One"

"Saturday Night Live — The Best of Steve Martin"

Albums showcase wide musical array

Album reviews by Mark Sibilla

Scissor Sisters "Ta-Dah" ***

Two years after an excellent, eponymous debut, the Scissor Sisters return with the album "Ta-Dah," which is sleeker and more ambitious.

The group's first single, "I Don't Feel Like Dancin," cowritten and performed by Elton John, is the album's catchiest mo-

Still, there are plenty of popcum-disco-cum-glam rock gems to keep the party bouncing and the disco light turning.

While not quite as brilliant as its debut, the Scissor Sisters still manage to fill the album with enough highlights, like the disco stomp of "Lights" and the sassy "Kiss You Off," which overshadow any lesser tracks.

T.I. "King" ****

2006 was an anemic year for rap. One of the few hip-hop releases worth mentioning is the fourth album, "King," from Atlanta MC, Clifford Harris (T.I.).

Of the album's bloated 75minute runtime, there is surprisingly little filler material. The album's opening onslaught features burning tracks from Just Blaze and the amazing Toompproduced "What You Know," where T.I.'s distinct drawl romps throughout catchy synth washes. From the typical chest-thumping anthems to the soulful sexual ballads (where Harris smartly avoids the typical misogyny present in most rap music), T.I. maintains control of his game throughout the album's entirety.

Tim Hecker "Harmony in Ultraviolet" ****

Electronic music is a relatively young genre, but it also is one of the most expansive. Some electronic producers seek to make music to which one can dance, and others use electronics to expand the definition of what music can be. Canadian Tim Hecker definitely falls into the latter category, as his career would obviously attest. "Harmony in Ultraviolet" is a refinement of Hecker's skills and sounds from previous albums. He creates a rich, expansive, ambient electronic soundscape full of fuzzed-out bass, distorted guitars and countless synthesizer embellishments. While the album is divided into tracks, it works best as a whole that dramatically rises and falls like cresting waves.

FICTION

Earbud Evil | Contemplation in the dark

By Logan C. Adams KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Editor's note: This is the seventh segment of "Earbud Evil," a fictional story the Collegian is publishing daily for the next three weeks. This story follows Alex, a fictional K-State student, as he deals with a campus-wide crisis that threatens the univer-

Though the names of real people will accompany made-up characters, all events are fictional. This is intended for entertainment and is not factually based.

My sneakers made only a slight rasp of noise against the cold, concrete sidewalk as I walked through the dark on Fremont Street. My legs felt numb as my jeans were no match for the wind, which scratched at my face with every gust.

Having my day start late meant my body wanted it to end late as well, so a nighttime stroll seemed like the perfect answer. Even more, the atmosphere, solitude and repetition helped me think

1-2-3-4. 1-2-3-4. I kept saying it to keep pace.

I forgot the chill and the breeze after a moment or two and set my mind in motion. I thought about the sneaky file that worked its way onto my iPod and its connection to Rhett. I remembered the empty look on his face as he sat in the Union looking at nothing - the same look Bill had when he went for my throat. 1-2-3-4. 1-2-3-4. I went over the facts.

First, people ignore the rest of the world while hooked to their iPods. They respond only to things that try to interrupt the Second, there is a sports podcast of unknown origin out there that made it onto my iPod without my doing. One of the people who seemed addicted to his iPod had listened to that podcast, which sounded like a tractor running over a circus clown when it was played on Katie's stereo.

Third, people eventually stop listening to their iPods, but act strangely afterward. Bill went from being a die-hard K-State fan to wearing blue and red to the KU/K-State game. Rhett skipped a party to get some sleep, even though he's one of the worst gossips and never misses a chance to run his mouth.

1-2-3-4. 1-2-3-4. I made my analysis.

The podcast did something to a person's mind. It probably made them want to keep listening. Perhaps whatever it did took a while to get done.

I remembered hearing about the mind control projects the CIA did in the '60s and wondered if this was something like that whatever they called it. Subcutaneous. No. Sub-lingual. No. Sublime. Almost, it was something like sub-lim-en... subliminal! That's right, I thought, subliminal. Subliminal messaging.

So someone was spreading subliminal messages through an audio file that gets onto someone's iPod like a virus. I had the what and the how, but who and why were still well beyond my

1-2-3-4. 1-2-3-4. 1-2-3rd. Third Street. I stopped walking and looked around.

The redevelopment project had turned this area into a gaping hole in the heart of Manhattan. It may have been temporary, but that didn't make it any less ugly.

The developers had already decimated a few lots, leaving nothing but dirt. Others had only been partly bulldozed, the buildings were gone but their foundations marked where they'd stood. Those wouldn't be there for long.

Best Buy sulked in the distance. The lonely, big box store " looked sad, like it was wondering when its friends would ar-

1-2-3-4. 1-2-3-4. I started walking south.

The day spun around me over and over and I tried to reach out with my mind and grasp whatever it was I might have missed. It was like trying to scoop sand with a salad fork.

Bill. Rhett. Katie. Purple. Blue. Right. Left. Right. Left.

A locomotive sounded its horn, startling me. The missing piece hit me like I'd been laying on the tracks.

On my way to the library that afternoon, I'd seen President Wefald out riding his bike with an intent look on his face. On his hip was a familiar-looking piece of white plastic.

WHAMcards offer discounts at various Manhattan businesses

By Allison Voris KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A discount card company is trying to distribute its product to every K-State student.

The cards, called WHAMcards, offer discounts at 25 different Manhattan businesses. Jeffrey Lerner, national sales coordinator for WHAMcard, said these businesses are trying to show their support for the K-State student body

"We brought together a group of businesses that understand what it's like to be a college student," Lerner said. "They understand that while other people are out making money, students are going to school."

Thousands of students, like Kimberlie McClellan, junior in secondary education, have been given the cards as they strolled

"I think I will use my card a lot to save some extra cash," McClellan said. "Money can be tight for college students."

She said she is happy with the break the local businesses are giving her through her WHAM-

"I think I'm going to save a lot of money at Pita Pit now," McClellan said.

Buffalo Wild Wings in Aggieville is one of the businesses that offers deals for customers with a card. Darren Grant, kitchen manager, said advertising on the cards has brought in new customers to the restaurant.

"We started advertising with the card to reach college students, and it has been successful so far," Grant said. "We see at least five people a day using their cards."

The cards are free, which differs from many discount cards, Lerner said. He said the company's founder, Matt Whitney, got the idea to create a free discount card after being approached to buy a similar card for $10.

"He thought 'That's absurd. I don't have money, that's why I need a discount card in the first place," Lerner said.

The cards are reusable, unlike the coupons and coupon books that are handed out on campus and in the community, he said.

"A business might print a really great coupon to get a customer to come in one time." Lerner said. "But our card is a loyalty card, where the students can come in over and over again."

By the end of the week, approximately 28,000 WHAMcards will have been handed out this semester, he said. Lerner said the large number of cards is to ensure every student can get

"Think about if one student gets a card on campus and doesn't know what it is, so they throw it away," he said. "We just want to make sure there are always enough cards going around and that every student

So far WHAMcards are available on three college campuses besides K-State, including Kansas, Oklahoma and Oklahoma State. Lerner said there are plans for the cards to be distributed at 11 more schools

WHAMcards chose K-State as one of its first universities because of the school's importance to Manhattan businesses, Lerner

"In this town, it really seems that everything is centered around the school," he said. "It's also a place where many people are willing to give a break to college students."

ONLINE | Program entering final development

continued from Page 1

teachers more control over when people can access certain parts of their course. This will, for example, restrict students from accessing a course's final exam until they have met certain course requirements. Caffey said the feature was designed with online and distance education courses in mind, but also could be applied for face-to-face courses. He said it is up to the instructors to determine the best way use the tool.

"The department is right on the cusp of formalizing all of these changes going into final K-State Online development," Caffey said. All tools will, of course, be used at the discretion of each instructor, he said.

To help students and faculty better understand how to use the new features, the Information Technology Assistance Center will offer training classes.

Rebecca Gould, Director of the Information Technology Assistance Center, said OME and iTAC will work = together to offer a preview of what the new version of K-State online will look like. She said the classes are typi-cally broken up into various segments on the new tools and will be held late June: to early July before the new system is released.

TOURNAMENT | K-State is 4-2 in first round

continued from Page 1

Nicky Wieben is averaging 12 points per game and is third in the conference in blocks per game, with 1.83.

But K-State has, at times, proved it is not a team to be taken lightly. Junior Kimberly Dietz leads the conference in 3-point goals made per game.

Sophomore Shalee Lehning is second in assists per game with 5.1, and in the Wildcats' past five games, freshman Ashley Sweat has been a force, averaging 17.2 points and 5.7

On Jan. 6, the Wildcats defeated then-No. 17 Texas A&M 48-45 in Manhattan. In their first game without then-leading scorer sophomore Marlies Gipson, the Wildcats overcame a 24-point halftime deficit to pull within three at Nebraska on Jan. 17.

onstrated the team's capabilities.

More than anything, though, the most recent loss to Iowa State should serve as a reminder to the Wildcats that they have as good a chance as their opponent to advance past the first round today.

K-State is 4-2 overall in first round games of the tournament. The Wildcats have advanced to the semifinals five times, and played = in the championship twice - in 1997 and 2005.

Iowa State is 11-5 in Big They eventually lost, 70- 12 tournament games since 63, but the comeback dem- 2000, and won the title in 2000 and 2001. In the past six seasons, the Cyclones have failed to get past the first round only once.

> The winner of today's game will advance to play Nebraska at 2:30 p.m.

Classifieds continue on the next page

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

1420

Newer Apartment

11/2 Baths

Washer/Dryer

Energy Efficient

Lg. 2 & 3 Bedrooms

On a Wooded

with Creek

Bulletin Board

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five air-planes and lowest rates. Call 785-776-1744, www. ksu.edu/ksfc

THE SECRET Free show ing Saturday March 10, 7p.m. ECM Center 1021 Denison. Use the law of attraction to manifest success, happiness, abun-dance. Sponsor: Unity Church of Manhattan

be placed free for three

BEAUTIFUL BLACK hat and scarl found. Come and describe to pickup in LOST: PAIR of eye Rectangular shaped black frames. 785-539-1848, please

Rent-Apt. Furnished

Manhattan CITY Ordi-nance 4814 assures ev-ery person equal opportu-nity in housing without dis-tinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, na-tional origin or ancestry. Violations should be re-ported to the Director of Human Resources at City man Resources at City I, (785)587-2440.

Rent-Apt. Furnished

Collegian Advertising 118 Kedzie 785-532-6560

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

MANHATTAN CITY Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportu-nity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, religion, age, color, na-tional origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

1117 VATTIER. New all electric. Two-bedrooms. appliances furnished, no pets. Close to campus. 785-539-1975 785-313-8292.

1219 KEARNEY. bedroom. June year lease. Water/ trash paid. Next to campus, off street parking. No pets. $340. 785-539-5136.

ALLIANCE PROPERTY MANAGEMENT. One-bed room. June, July, August. 785-539-4357. www.rentapm.com

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

rooms $420- $485, three-bedroom $825, four-bedrooms $650. All close to KSU. 785-587-0399. room apartments/ houses for June and August leases. 785-564-0857 ONE, TWO, three, and four-bedroom apartm Close to campus and aggieville. Parking and laidry. 785-539-5800.

ONE, TWO, three, four, five, six bedroom apartment/ houses next to cam-pus. Washer/ dryer, central air. No 785-537-7050.

ONE-BEDROOM ACROSS the street from campus. $425 per month. No pets. Available June/ August. 785-313-7473. ONE-BEDROOM TO five-bedrooms. Apartments, duplexes and homes. Most close to campus. Some farther away. June or August leases. Check out our website www. emeraldpropertymanag-ment.com or call Emerald Property Management 785-587-9000 for more in-

ONE-BEDROOM VERY nice, close to campus, $475- $550 a month. 785-341-0686.

PARK PLACE Apartments. One- Bedrooms. Summer/ fall leasing. Pets welcome. One- half mile from KSU at Seth Child and Claffin. 785-539-2951. PARK PLACE Apart-ments. Two- bedrooms. Pets welcome. Summer/ Fall leasing. One- half mile from KSU at Seth Claffin

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

THREE AND four-be room apartments avail able in August. Close to campus. Water and trash paid. Coin operated laun-dry. 785-537-7810, 785-537-2255

THREE-BEDROOM, ONE bath plus vanity. $1050/ month. Trash/ water paid. 1510 College Ave. Pool access. Washer/ dryer in unit. 314-805-0674.

TWO, THREE and four bedrooms, close to cam central air, washer, laundry facilities. No pets. 785-539-0866.

TWO-BEDROOM SPE-CIAL at Park Place Apart-ments. $495 rent plus free cable through July '07. 785-539-2951.

Spacious Duplexes Custom built with the

K-State student in mind.

closets, all kitchen appliances, washer/dryer, of street parking, phone and room, security lighting, trash Security deposit is the same as one month's rent. The lease period begins August 1 for one year. 4 Bedrooms, 2 Baths

1,300 Sq. Ft. ONLY $1,150/mo.

Sorry, No Pets! Quiet Neighborhood, Convenient and Close to Campus. Day: 313-0751 Night: 537-4682

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

Few Spaces Remain for Graduate Students
 Upper Classmen

Oreat Location * Iwo Swimming Proof
Duiet Park-Like Setting
On-Site Laundry * Enormous Closets
Private Fitness Center
Abundant Parking/Garages
Storm Center

Customer Service

Three-Time winner of the National

Multifamily CEL Award for the #1 in Customer Service in Americal On-Site Management Office
 Full-time Maintenance Personnel
 24-hour Emergency Staff
 Today for Summer and Fall Lee WESTCHESTER PARK

776-1118 TWO-BEDROOM, many sizes and prices. June or August. 785-341-0686. TWO-BEDROOM, TWO bath. June lease. No pets.

$500/ 785-539-8580. VERY NICE three-bed room, two bath apartment Three blocks to Aggieville 822 Fremont. Affordable utilities, August 785-313-1807. WHY RENT WHEN YOU CAN BUY? Condos for sale. Two and three-bedroom starting at $112,650. collegiatevilla.com

WILDCAT VILLAGE. Avail able June or August four bedroom, two bath, washer/ dryer, storm room, $1400. Cable paid. 785-776-2425 or 785-565-3760. lage-rentals.com.

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

Secluded 2 Acre Lot Close to Campus!

$740 & $885 341-4024 115 Rooms Available

785-317-1734.

A ROOM to sublease. Very low price. $220 per including utility lees. 914 Bluemont Ave. campus.

Pre-lease Today for Spring!

Only A few homes remain Amenities: Washer/Dryers or hookups available On-Site Management Garages Available

Private Fitness Center Storm Center Peaceful Garden Setting Enormous Closets

GEORGETOWN

776-8080

Rent-Duplexes

FOUR-BEDROOM THREE baths, June or August, $1280, nice, washer/

dryer hookups, off-street parking, great location, no

785-532-8256. LOOKING FOR three roommates in four-bedroom duplex. 500 Laramie. $285 per room. Washer/ Dryer. 785-410-2916 785-447-0852.

110 Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

block to campus. New con-struction. One and twodryer, dishwasher, balcony, private parking, security lighting. No pets. June 2007 lease. 785-539-5508 785-564-0857.

1628 FAIRVIEW. Quiet one-bedroom ($400) and Studio ($375) near KSU. Laundry. Water, trash paid. No pets, no smoktrash JUNE.

350 N. 16th. Two blocks to K-State and Aggieville. two-bedroom apartments Clean, quiet, private parking. No smoking, no pets. $580. June and August leases. 785-539-5508 or 785-564-0857

350 N. 16th. Two blocks to K-State and Aggieville o-bedroom apartments. Clean, quiet, private parking. No smoking, no pets. $580. June and August 785-539-5508 or 785-564-0857.

FOUR-BEDROOM, close to campus. central air, No Available June or August 785-539-0866.

117

SIX AND five-bedroom house/ duplex, next to washer/ dryer, central air, off-street parking, no pets. 785-537-7050.

THREE-BEDROOM North 5th. No pets, $975/ month, available June 1 785-564-0372.

WALK TO class. One, vo, three, four-bedroom No smoking, no drinking, no pets. 785-539-1554.

120

1015 PIERRE. Very nice, four-bedroom. Fenced in yard. Spacious Washer/ dryer. July or August lease. All garage pets considered. Chris, 785-539-4949. 785-770-2161.

1310 N. 11th. Two-bedroom, June lease. No pets, close to campus. No 85-539-1975 10 785-313-8292

1417 NICHOLS, four-bedrooms, family room. 1909 Kenmar, three-bedrooms. two bathrooms, washer/ dryer, garage game room, fenced patio. 785-539-1177. fenced yard/

502 FREMONT, three-bedroom, one bath, no pets. Available June 1. 785-539-1975 785-313-8292

814 THURSTON. Twobedroom. June year lease. Water/ trash paid. No pets, no sm $635, 785-539-5136.

AVAILABLE JUNE at 1501 Harry Road. Two blocks west of campus, central washer/ dryer, yard. 785-539-3672. CLEAN, QUIET basement apartment. Two-bedroom, two bath, full kitchen, patio. $385 per month per person. All utilities in cluded. emilyf@ksu.edu. FIVE-BEDROOM, JUNE lease. Very close to campus (westside). Just purchased and very nice! No pets. $ Central air, full kitchen 785-539-2356. (stove/ refrigerator/ dish-washer/ disposal), partial kitchen (stove/ refrigerator), three baths, three living areas, double car garage. No pets. Call now, this will 785-539-4641. this will rent fast.

bath house for rent. 931 785-292-4320, lease. June Washer/ dryer, window airconditioning. Fenced back-yard, pets allowed. Off-$1500/ street parking. $1 month. 785-539-4949.

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

room apartment. Walk to campus. Excellent condirentkstate.com

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM Bills paid. 785-762-7191. TWO-BED-

Balcony, fireplace and dishwasher. Very close to Call 785-317-3780. Leave

PRE-LEASING JUNE and August, Some units brand close to KSU. washer/ dryer included details 785-776-2102. youngwilk sapts.com

STUDIO, ONE, two, and three-bedroom. June/ August lease. No pets. Central heat/ air-conditioning. 785-587-9460

AND three-bed room. Close to campus. coin operated laundry fa-Available June or August. N 785-537-1746 No 785-539-1545.

TWO-BEDROOM APART-MENT at 1010 Leavenworth. Just finished, everything is new. Washer dryer. Parking off alley No pets. Available immed Dave 785-292-4320, or nights 785-292-4342.

Rent-Duplexes

ors, lots of space, washer/ furnished, central air, off-street parking. No person. 785-313-4812.

120

FIVE-BEDROOM. June. July, August. Alliance Management. Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rent-

FOUR-BEDROOM gieville. Parking and laundry. 785-539-5800.

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE, 2030 College Heights. Central heat and washer/ dryer. pets. $290/ bedroom. 785-944-3491

FOUR-BEDROOM, ONE bath house for rent. 900 June lease. Vattier. Washer/ dryer, central airconditioning. Fenced back-yard, pets allowed. $1200/ month. Party shack and included.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO and one-half bath, study. August 1. $975 per month. Knight Real Es-tate. Call 785-539-5394

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, nice sized bed-rooms. Central air, two car garage, washer/ dryer. No pets/ smoking. $1400/ month, available in August. 1420 Vista Lane, two and one half blocks campus. 316-680-1709.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO washer/ e. June dryer 785-532-9564.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, two kitchens, to campus. 785-341-9459.

FOUR-BEDROOM JUNE, July, August. Al-llance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.rent-apm.com

JUNE LEASE. New threebath. Washer/ dryer hookups, no pets, no smoking $1,025/ month. Cal Kevin. 785-488-7722.

FOUR-BED-ROOM, two bath half duplex. Close to campus. Washer/ dryer included. No pets. $1200. Call

NICE HOUSE at 1010 Leavenworth. Two all kitchen applicar ances including washer/ Call dryer. Upstairs has own heat and air, and has just been remodeled. Plenty of FIVE-BEDROOM, TWO June lease. Call Dave, evenings 785-292-4342

> TWO-BEDROOM. NICE Close to campus. Available June 1, $590.

1001 KEARNEY Five, Six and All JUNE 1 rentals. Pets OK. 785-317-7713.

1022 HUMBOLT. Freemont, 1118 Ratone, dryer, central air. - $1300. Doug, 785-313-5573.

PIERRE. Pomeroy, $1100 - $1200. dryer, dish gust lease. 785-313-5573. Doug.

200 N. 11th. On City Park. Two large, sunny droom ($750). Laundry Water, trash paid. pets, no smoking. 1 JUNE AUGUST. 530-588-4311.

820 OSAGE, 1524 Pipher 3100 James, all four-be 785-317-7713.

A SIX or seven-bedr house, three bathrooms Two blocks to KSU. June 1. 785-317-7713.

BRITTNAY RIDGE town two and one-half baths, inwasher/ dryer. No pets August 316-393-9628 FIVE-BEDROOM bath. June lease, washer, dryer, dishwasher, central air. $1400.00/ month. 785-313-5573 Doug. FOUR TO five-bedroom

Central heat/ air-condition 785-587-9460.

Need a subleaser Advertise 785-532-6555

ONE TO five-bedroom apartments and houses. to campus. 785-539-1975 785-313-8292

ONE-BEDROOM TO five exes a Most close to campus Some farther away. June or August leases. Check out our website www.emeraldpropertymanag- $1340. 785-712-7257. ment.com or call Emerald Property Management 785-587-9000 for more information.

room (two kitchen). June, July, August. Alliance Property Management. Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rent-apm.com SIX-BEDROOM kitchen). June, July, Au-gust. Alliance Property Management. Management. 785-539-4357. www.rentapm.com

STUNNING HOUSE. Four bedrooms, three bath-rooms, big family room, plus office, fenced yard, in a nice quiet west neighbor-hood. Close to city parks. Available now $1350, water and garbage included. call 785-317-4937.

THREE, FOUR, FIVE, SIX PLUS BEDROOMS. Looking for that perfect home to rent? Great selection Capstone prices. Management 785-341-0686.

THREE-BEDROOM NICE three blocks west of KSU. Large rooms, celling fans, washer/ dryer. No smoking, pets, or par-ties. June lease. $855. 785-776-6318.

THREE-BEDROOM, June lease, close to west side of campus. Central aironing. Full kitchen two bathrooms, single pets. garage. N 785-539-4641.

THREE-BEDROOM, ONE full bath. $810, 917 Bluemont, year lease, June 2007 - May 2008. Close to campus. Pets allowed. Mrs. Kim, 913-681-9959.

THREE-BEDROOM JUNE, July, August. Al-liance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.rent-apm.com

TWO-BEDROOMS JUNE, July, August. Al-liance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.rent-apm.com

VERY CHARMING brick ranch. 2505 Winny. Three bedroom, garage, quiet neighbor-hood. No pets, $950. June 1 lease. Ryan Rentals, 785-313-0455. 785-776-7706.

FOR SALE. Two and three-bedroom starting at $112,650. colle giatevilia.co 785-537-2096.

Roommate Wanted

CHRISTIAN seeks two female gradstu-dents starting fall 2007. August to May lease. New three-bedroom, two bath house with washer/ dryer. $350 plus one-third util ties. Call 847-975-1484.

FOUR-BEDROOM BRICK

Neutral colors with new

NEW LISTING, available room house located east

Call 785-313-4812.

Aggieville

washer/

through

785-539-3672.

celift in progress. asher/ dryer furnished garage and central June lease. No pets.

1. Four to five-bed-

Two

dryer;

washer, central air. Lease

plus

Washer/ dryer, central air.

two kitchens, three bath-rooms, fireplace, two car

Washer/ dryer furnished.

785-313-4812.

smokers. 515

lease. Call Monday

day, 785-776-4805.

THREE-BEDROOM

785-313-5573 Doug.

Che

1205-

TWO-BEDROOM base

ent apartment. Washer

Available August 1, 1211

120

Rent-Houses

VERY NICE four-bedroom

one bath house. Three blocks from campus. 2038

View.

VERY NICE four-bedroom. Close to campus.

DECOMP

Alliance

Property

Management

Specials

'til Spring Break

on 3 Bedrooms

and Above

Available

June/July/August

Call Alliance

Management @

785-539-4357

www.rent-apm.com

Check web for available listings (Changes Daily)

WILDCAT

PROPERTY

MANAGEMENT

537-2332

8* & Moro

2BR - $850

3BR - $1,300

4BR - $1,700

14th & Fremont

4BR - 21/2 Bath

$1,650

Anderson Village

1BR- $525

2BR - $700-725

1501 Poyntz

House - $750

3BR - 2 Bath

1509 Poyntz

House - $600

1BR - 1Bath

315 Poyntz

1BR - $650

Fall Leasing

Property

No pets. $600.

ap utilities.

785-868-3471

Fenced

June

dryer,

central bath.

washer,

$1050.00/

Thurston.

College

Available

DO.

central

Vattier,

1207

dish-

Available now or fa pets. 785-537-7050.

at wanted through July. Two-bedroom duplex. Washer dryer, and storage. Rent and utilities negotiable. Call Amanda 913-216-4838

ROOMMATE

Four-bedroom

FEMALE

FEMALE ROOMMATE

house. 800 Bluemont six-bedroom $265/ month plus utilities. es, and apartments. 316-619-9524 LOOKING FOR femal ONE-BEDROOM FULL washer/ dryer, no ers. 515 Vattier, roommates for a four-bedroom house. $300/ month plus electricity, gas and SBC. 785-587-9207 or $340 plus utilities. August lease, Call Monday - Fri-day, 785-776-4805. 785-230-3008.

> MALE, WALK to class, all furnished, lower level, washer dryer without mepets, 785-539-1554. ROOMMATES NEEDED for two bedrooms in five-Close to campus. Outdoor welcome. 620-382-7241.

ROOMMATES NEEDED two bedrooms in six-bedroom house two blocks to three month. 913-775-0465.

150

NEEDED FOR SUMMER One bedroom in a three one and one bath, ground floor ment. New complex, half bath. 1420 Beechwood dryer, washer in apartment. Sublease May 13- July Only pay for June July; May already 31 paid for. $287/ month at 620-218-1114

SUBLEASER for Spring 2007 semester. month. Four-bedroom apartment. First month's rent paid, cheap utilities. 913-495-2558 or 913-406-1034.

SUMMER SUBLEASE One-bedroom, $390 plus utilities. Close to Agpets allowed 913-980-5161.

SUBLEASE SUMMER two-bedroom, one bath $430/ month plus utilities. 785-643-1923, 785-577-4451.

Employment/Careers

310

THE COLLEGIAN cannot verify the financial pote tial of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opporsonable cau-tion. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190.

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSIS-TANT- Networks Plus, the ader in providing business computer services, has a full-time position available in Manhattan, KS. This challenging position requires the ability to handle multiple tasks and priorities while maintain-ing a positive and ener-getic attitude. $12/ hour, full-time only, opportunimail resume in Microsoft Word or text format to: jobs@networksplus.com. ADMINISTRATIVE ASSIS-TANT: Organized and flex-ible professional to handle clerical support duties for the marriage for keeps project. Must have good communication, multitasking and computer skills. Submit resume with references by March 9 to Catholic Charities, 323 Poyntz, Suite 102, Mandraz@sbcglobal.net, 785-323-0643.

ASSISTANT COORDINA-TOR: KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, New student services. Job requirements: bachelors degree, excellent written and verbal communication skills, excellent organizational skills, ability to multi-task and work in a fast-paced environment, experience in event planning and coordination, demonstrated proficiency in multiple computer programs (in-cluding MS Office Suite), with CRM software including knowledge of data fil ters. The successful indivated, have a team attitude and be committed to a constituent- driven ser-vice philosophy. Salary range of $29,000 to LUNCH

$34,000. Position able June 1, 2007. Send letter of application, re-sume or vita and contact information for three workreferences Search Committee, KSU, New Student Services, 122 Anderson Hall, Man-hattan, KS 66506. Screen ing will begin March 9 and continue until position is filled. KSU is an Equal Op portunity Employer and ac employees. its Paid for by KSU.

BARTENDINGI $300 day potential. No experience necessary. Training 1-800-965-6520 ext. 144.

COME SPEND an awe some summer with us in the beautiful Rocky Mountains! Working at camp is fun, adventurous and very rewarding. We offer comboard and travel al-lowances. Girl Scouts Mile Hi Council owns two resident camps and several day camps. We are looking to fill the following ns for these camps LPN's, counselors, farm/ small animal specialist, kitchen assistant, western riding counselors, dance/ drama specialists, business managers. For information more 303-607-4846. www.girlscoutsmilehi.org. campjobs@gsmhc.org

DISC JOCKEY. Are you a people person? Do you want to earn extra mone while actually having fun? www.kansasdiscjockey.com/di.

FAMILY SUPPORT specialist/ recruiter: full-ti Case management and re-(leave message) or abby- riage project. Must have communication NEEDED ences preferred. Spanish speaking and marketing experience a plus. Must Submit resume with references by March 9 to Catholic Charities, 323 Poyntz, Suite 102, Man-KS 66502, draz@sbcglobal.net, 785-323-0643. Equal opportunity employer. FOUR LANDSCAPING positions available Downey-Lawn.com looking for two college summer interns that want a career in the horticulture industry and two part time workers. Housing Included. Preferring well rounded individuals with an imagination, drive, and ability to work hard. Apply in person or Call Nathan Downey toll 1-866-794-LAWN(5296). See DowneyLawn.com details Downey more Box 1, 303 E. Soule Ingalls, KS 67853 FULL-TIME SUMMER Internship. Join 20 other K-State students. Learn how to run a business. Open to all majors. Average earns $800/ week. Call 785-317-0455.

HAY COMPANY in search of summer workers, farm lent wages. 785-564-2590. HORTICULTURAL SER-VICES, Inc. is seeking relimotivated individuals for full-time or parttime seasonal positions in our retail garden center. Above average wages commensurate with experience and abilities. Apply in person at 11524 Landand scape Lane, St. George, Kansas 785-494-2418 or 785-776-0397.

HOWE LANDSCAPE Inc. several positions available for our landscaping, irrigation and mowing maintenance crews. This is for full time and part help, with flexible schedules for students, preferably four hour blocks of time. Applicants must be 18 years or age and have a valid drivers li-cense. Starting wage is 88.00/ hour. Apply three ways, in person Monday through Friday at 12780 Madison Rd in Riley; call 785-485-2857 to obtain hattan, KS 66502, fe- an application; or e-mail fax us at howeland@kansas.-

JOIN THE K-State Online RILEY COUNTY has thirteam at the Office of Mediten positions for seated Education, and consonal laborers. Forty hour team at the Office of Medi-team positions for sea-ated Education, and con-tribute to a variety of im-portant K-State web sites hour. Valid driver's license portant K-State web sites and the ability to lift 70 and applications. Candidates must be motivated, pounds is required. Applicapable of learning new cants must be at least 18 points. State of the points of the p least 15 hours a week, and willing to devote at least a year to the posi-tion. Working with web technologies in an office that values its students lenging work environment. Starting wages begin at $7.00. For more informa-

Starting pay, $6.50/ hour. Apply at 608 North 12th St., Manhattan, KS.

WAIT wanted. Good pay. Apply at 608 North 12th St., Manhattan, KS.

LUNCHROOM/ SUPERVI-SORS. Immediate open-ings- Manhattan- Ogden Elementary Schools. $6.50 per hour one and a half- two hours per day. 11:00 a.m.- 1:00 p.m. Apusd383.org/District/HumanResources/ or apply at Human Resources Department, 2031 Poyntz Av enue. Applications ac-cepted until positions are filled. Apply to Manhattan-Ogden USD 383, 2031 Ogden Poyntz Avenue, Manhattan, KS 66502.

785-587-2000. Equal Opportunity Employer. MAIL CENTER/ duplicat ing student help needed on campus. Freshman or sophomore status ferred with ability to spring, summer, and fall breaks. Duties include: campus delivery preparation and handling of mail, and copy jobs Computer skills beneficial and some heavy lifting required. Must have a valid driver's license. Our on campus office operates Monday-Friday, 8a.m.-5p.m. work around your schedule. Please apply in per-son at 13 College Court travel. If you are Building, Division of Con-ested please forward Education,

MANHATTAN COUNTRY Club is seeking part-time bag room/ cart staff. Will with your class com. schedule. Must be availmost

Jacque or Jeff. NANNY POSITION avail Part-time. Experiable. ence and references nec- surveys. 785-564-1340

OMALLEY'S NOW HIR ING WAIT STAFF Manhattan, Moro. KS 785-537-0775.

PINNACLE ELECTRIC has an immediate opeing for 30-40 hours week. Electrical experience a plus, but will train right pers 785-456-1351. PLAY SPORTS! Have fun! Save money! camp needs fun loving counselors to teach. land, adventure and water sports. Great summer Call 888-844-8080, apply campcedar.com PROGRAMMER- CIVIC-PLUS is the nations lead ing provider of City, County, and School websites. Full-time position in Manhattan, Microsoft ASF and SQL experience re quired. $15.50/ hour plus time and a half for overtime. Benefits include Health, Dental, Paid Holidays, Paid Vacation, and 401K matching. Email resume in Microsoft Word or text format to jobs@civic-

plus.com. PROJECT MANAGER CivicPlus has an opening in our Manhattan head quarters office for a full time project manager. This challenging position entails managing multiple website redesign projects tion requires attention to detail, the ability to man age multiple tasks, priori-ties and deadlines and a cheerful attitude. Training is provided. Benefits in clude health, dental, paid holidays, pâid vacation 401(k) matching Email resume in text or jobs@civicplus.com. MANAGER. PROJECT in our Manhattan head quarters office for a fulltime Project Manager. This Challenging position entails managing multiple website redesign projects tion requires attention to age multiple task, priori-ties and deadlines and a cheerful attitude. Training is provided. Benefits in clude Health, Dental, Paid Holidays, Paid Vacation 401(k) matching. Email resume in text of civicplus.com tree and turf maintenance, or mowing is preferred. Applications are available Clerk's Office, 110 Court-house Plaza, Manhattan, KS or online at www.riley countyks.gov/jobs. cations will be accepted until all positions are filled.

opportunity employer. SO LONG Saloon now hirperson, 1130 Moro.

SPEND YOUR summer vacation traveling country as a combined truck driver. Ambitious individuals for high volume harvesting operation. Op-erate new JD9760 STS and Peterbilt Semis. Guaranteed excellent monthly wages and room and board. Sign on bonus for experienced workers. Approximately mid-May to mid-August. Snell Harvesting 1-888-287-7053.

THE SALTY Rim. NOW WAIT 1204 Moro. Ma KS. 785-537-8910. Manhattan UNIQUE OPPORTUNITY

Every two years MGM Marketing, Inc. accepts applications to fill a Marketing & Logistics position within our small group in Kansas City. MGM is in a niche market that recovers and re-sells all types products that are inin derailments. MGM is currently looking for a creative, motivated has common sense, good judgment, and the ability to communicate well with new and existing customers. Prior experience is not necessary. This is a very good opportunity with a highly respected company. Our group members are paid very well. Position includes most bene fits and requires very little ested please forward a resume as soon as possible. Our contact informa tion and more details about MGM may be found on our website at www. mgmbusinesspartners MGM is scheduling appointments weekends, to conduct interviews. WILDCATSNEEDJOBS .-COM. PAID survey takers needed in Manhattan.

WINTER/ SPRING Post tions Available. Earn up to $150 per day. Exper not required. Under TOR: part-time/ contract Curriculum teaching for marriage for keeps project. Degree in social sciences preferred. Span-isspeaking a plus. Must have good communica skills. Submit resume Poyntz, Suite 102, hattan, KS 66502 KS 66502. draz@sbcglobal.net, 785-323-0643. Equal portunity employer.

410 Items for Sale AIR CONDITIONER, BTU 5200

$200. 785-313-6304 HITACHI 57-inch ready, $800 or best offer. 785-548-5120.

435

COMPLETE GATEWAY personal computer Includes printer. Good working condition. $400 or best Mike. 785-564-1040.

Music Instruments

GEMEINHARDT COLO for sale! All silver of body with gold lip, recent tune up, good condition, rarely used. $500 or best 83 offer. 785-532-9195.

Transportation

580 Motorcycles Excellent condition. Beautiful blue and white with helmet. Low 3 miles, Yoshi Pipe, fenderio kit, cover. $5500 or best

NOW HIRING - TWO LOCATIONS

ALL SHIFTS, DAYS, NIGHTS & WEEKENDS ABOVE AVERAGE COMPENSATION

Discounted Meals

Flexible Schedule

 Crew Incentive Programs Medical Insurance

• Retirement Plan APPLY TODAY • WORK TODAY

421 N. 3rd Street 3006 Anderson Ave.

EOE/Drug Free Workplace

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

su do ku

Fill in the grid so that every row, every column, and every 3 x 3 box contains the digits 1 through 9 with no repeats.

4 1 3 2 4 2 5 8 9 2 6 4 7 5 9 7 1 8 4 3 8 3 6 4 8 3 2 9 4

> Solution and tips at www.sudoku.com

Free pregnancy testing Same day results • Call for appointment

Bleeding Kansas Act to promote tourism

By Whitney Hodgin KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Most people wouldn't consider Kansas an ideal tourist destination, but local groups are trying to convince them otherwise.

These groups want to increase tourism on the state and county levels by increasing awareness and educating people about elements of Kansas that go largely unnoticed. Recently passed legislation also will aid their efforts.

The Bleeding Kansas National Heritage Area Act will grant money to several Kansas counties that were involved in "Bleeding Kansas" to stimulate their economies through tourism. The Kan-Congressional Delegation introduced the bill into the House on March 4, 2004, and the Senate on March 23, 2004.

"We feel restoring these counties will build upon the Kansas rural development policy and the new homestead act to recognize inherent strengths of small towns and rural communities," said Sen. Sam Brownback, R-Kan., in his introduction speech to the Senate.

Brownback listed closeknit communities, strong local business networks and a tradition of entrepreneurial creativity as examples of such strengths.

"Bleeding Kansas" was a period of conflict in the Kansas territory before the Civil War between pro-slavery and anti-slavery factions, which fought over whether Kansas would allow slavery when it became a state.

Twenty-nine counties in eastern Kansas and 12 counties in western Missouri are recognized as the Heritage Area because of their roles in the conflict.

Riley County is included in the act because of its historic significance. It was one of the first counties established

> BELFAST, JAGER BOMBS 8 180 BOMBS

in territorial Kansas, and the first territorial capital was located in the town of Pawnee, which is now Fort Riley, said Cheryl Collins, director of the Riley County Historical Mu-

Collins said the Goodnow House, 2309 Claflin Road, is an example of a historical site that would be promoted using the grant money.

"Goodnow was a founder of Manhattan and was active in territorial politics and education," Collins said. "He was also involved in a number of the other themes that connect to Freedom's Frontier. Promoting the house is a way we can use history to build understanding and build on that heritage for economic benefit through tourism and connected economic development."

Dennis Toll, tourism sales manager for the Manhattan Convention and Visitors Bureau, wants the Flint Hills to be considered a heritage area as well. This would make Riley County the only region in overlapping heritage areas,

"If we had both, it would make Riley County very attractive to visitors across the country," Toll said. "We would see an increase in visitors who would come here for hopefully both areas."

The National Park Service defines a National Heritage Area as "a place designated by the United States Congress where natural, cultural, historic and recreational resources combine to form a cohesive, nationally distinctive landscape arising from patterns of human activity shaped by geography."

The cause soon will receive some help from National Geographic Magazine. The magazine's April edition will feature 22 pages of photography of the Flint Hills taken by famed Kansas photojournalist Jim Richardson, according to The Associated Press.

Catrina Rawson | COLLEGIAN

Deborah Goins, vice president of Little Apple Records, Wayne Goins, president of Little Apple Records and David Brown, recording engineer of Little Apple Records and senior in electrical engineering, started the local record label to help Manhattan musicians break

Jazz professor starts local CD label for students By Salena Strate

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Frustrated and disappointed with the music-label industry, Wayne Goins decided to start his own record label, Little Apple Records.

"I was frustrated with the music industry's red tape, in terms of trying to get a record deal," said Goins, associate professor of music and director of jazz. "I saw what was happening in the way the business has changed. Technology has paved the way for jazz artists to represent themselves."

Through computer technology. Goins created his own studio with recording engineer David Brown. They record live concerts with remote technology, and later mix, produce and distribute music through a Web site, www.cdbaby.com.

ROYAL PURPLE

"I think what it says about Wayne is not only is he passionate about jazz, but also letting people know it's not dying - jazz is an art form that is very much alive," Brown, senior in electrical engineering said.

Brown handles graphic design production for the albums, and said he helps with albums from start to finish.

Starting the label was not difficult, Goins said, however, the Internet has made distribution slightly more difficult.

"In many places, shelf space in record shops is harder to find," he said. "Because of the Internet and so many projects out there, the competition is much stiffer. You have to maintain the royalty payments and the licensing of the songs we re-

www.claflinbooks.com

785-532-650

cord, which sometimes get to be expensive."

Goins said he wants to limit his projects to the Manhattan area. He would produce albums for students or faculty he thought were worthy of creating a good jazz record.

"Students don't have to deal with other managers and producers who are going to make most of the profit," Goins said. "There are students who are right in the middle of it, like Kelly McCarty."

McCarty, senior in music composition, created his first trio album, "Common Anomaly," with Goins.

"Dr. Goins is a very thorough individual when it comes to the best quality possible," McCarty said. "It's a very powerful thing to have iTunes and other digital distribution through his label that's allowed my music to be shipped all over the world

McCarty said said Goins is a mentor to him, and it is important to have his sup-instead of local Manhattan."

"My biggest accomplishment has been the establishment of authentic jazz in Manhattan," Goins said. "In every major city you can find good jazz, but for a town this size, some might not expect the quality of jazz we have here!

Goins said he is proud to have something to do with this by pioneering the Swing City Jazz series at the Manhattan Arts Center.

"It is entirely because of him that we have a jazz series," said Penny Senften, executive director at the arts

Once in a Lifetime

Everyone's doing it. To announce your milestone, visit Kedzie 103. To advertise, call 532-6560.

you've got to read Get your Royal Purple yearboo 1/2 Price Dripks

SOM 103

IR & GRILL

Claflin Books and Copies in Kedzie 103

Activate your free Wildcat Works! eRecruiting account.

2. Upload your résumé 3. Publish your résumé.

Questions? Stop in tomorrow between noon - 4 p.m. for Walk-in Wednesday!

Guiding You from College to Career

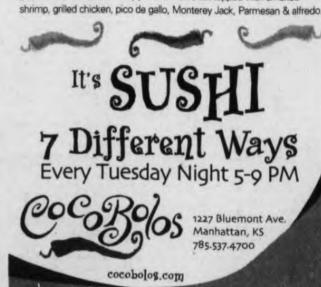

LAST SPOTTED STEPPIN' UP TO THE PLATE

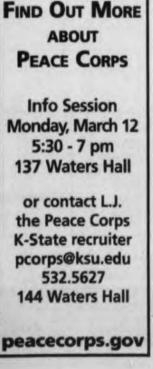

Black & White Pizza Grilled chicken, black beans and alfredo sauce topped with Monterey Jack and jalapeños on a wood-fired crust. Pizza al Fresca A crispy wood-fired crust topped with smoked shrimp, grilled chicken, pico de gallo, Monterey Jack, Parmesan & alfredo

A STUDENT GOVERNING ASSOCIATION PRODUCTION

THEPRESI

STARRING MATT WAGNER JIM MOSIMANN LYDIA PEELE NICK PIPER

Wagner-Peele:

"We are two hardworking, laid-back and dedicated students who want to devote the next year to bettering K-State. We have five years of combined service in student government, and we hope to use that experience to promote and fight for the interests of the student body. We have run a campaign that is representative of us: friendly, innovative and student-driven. We ask for your voice in positively changing K-State. Thanks."

Mosimann-Piper:

"We want to make a difference at K-State. A real difference. We decided to run for student body president and vice president because we want to improve life at our university for the students. We will fight for the issues that students care about and work to improve our campus. We have the experience to serve these positions well. Additionally, we have the passion, commitment and determination to see our plans through until completion."

Cast your vote March 6 and 7 at sgaelections.ksu.edu.

There can only be one president.

STUDENT GOVERNING ASSOCIATION CANDIDATES Responses were reproduced as closely as possible to the way they were written with a limit of 20 words. Not all candidates responded.

Brett Eakin SOPHOMORE, BUSINESS MANAGEMENT

Office sought: Student Publications Board, 2 years Why should students vote for you? I will strive to bring leadership and financial strength to the board, utilizing both experience and commit-ment to Student Publications. What goals do you hope to achieve during your hope to continue my tenure with Student Publications by supporting our student executives and insuring sound financial success.

Haberichter

Jaquelynn Haberichter
JUNIOR, POLITICAL SCIENCE AND HISTORY

Office sought: Student Publications Board, 1 year Why should students vote for you? I understand and agree with recent student upset and want to work to make both happy. What goals do you hope to achieve during your Finding the line that satisfies everyone in regards to the student publications.

SOPHOMORE, PSYCHOLOGY AND PRE-NURSING

Office sought: Student Publications Board, 1 year

Why should students vote for you?

Past experience with student publications. What goals do you hope to achieve during your

Leben

Krista Leben JUNIOR, POLITICAL SCIENCE AND INTERNATIONAL STUDIES

Office sought: Student Publications Board, 1 year Why should students vote for you? I have extensive experience working on different student publications and understand the challenge What goals do you hope to achieve during yo

I promise to make decisions that will allow the shudent publications to focus on producing the best product

McNeely

Danesha McNeeley SOPHOMORE, ANIMAL SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY, PRE-VET

Office sought: Student Publications Board, 1 year Why should students vote for you? Students should vote for me because I am a passion ate individual that wants the best out of college for

What goals do you hope to achieve during your

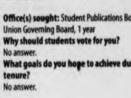

I want to give more of the vast majority of students a chance to voice their opinions and thoughts.

Austin St. John NOT LISTED

Office(s) sought: Student Publications Board, Union Governing Board, 1 year Why should students vote for you? What goals do you hope to achieve during your

St. John

Piper Hoskins SOPHOMORE, POLITICAL SCIENCE

Office sought: Union Governing Board, 2 years Why should students vote for you? What goals do you hope to achieve during your

Janezic

Swift

Promote responsible decisions regarding all forms of print put out by Student Publications.

Lexi Janezic

FRESHMAN, ART

Margaret Neyer

NOT LISTED

No answer.

Kristel Williams

ELEMENTARY EDUCATION

FRESHMAN, PRE-PROFESSIONAL

Office sought: Union Governing Board, 2 years Why should students vote for you? What goals do you hope to achieve during you

Office sought: Union Governing Board, 2 years Why should students vote for you?

What goals do you hope to achieve during your

Neyer

nprove the overall quality at K-State.

KC Persson

Office sought: Union Governing Board, 2 years Why should students vote for you? What goals do you hope to achieve during your new perspective to the group.

SOPHOMORE, CHEMICAL ENGINEERING

Cameron Addington

Katie Beye

Office(s) sought: Business Senator

SOPHOMORE, POLITICAL SCIENCE

Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences Senator Why should students vote for you?

university for students, and I'd be honored to loved working in senate this year to make a better

What goals do you hope to achieve during your

I want to increase student spots in the new parking

SOPHOMORE, ARCHITECTURAL ENGINEERING

I am an experienced senator that is ready to work for

What goals do you hope to achieve during your

Increase communications between senators and student body; and continue make K-State great.

Office(s) sought: Engineering Senator Why should students vote for you?

his position

garage, find a textbook solution, and stay connected

Why should students vote for you?

Office sought: Union Governing Board, 1 year Why should students vote for you?

Because I have good leadership skills and I bring a

I hope to make the Union a more inviting and fun

JUNIOR, FINANCE AND INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS

Students should vote for me because I am involved on campus and am willing to listen to students ideas.

What goals do you hope to achieve during your body and to work for the betterment of Kansas State.

My main goals are to best represent the student

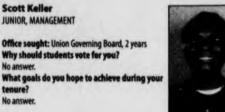

What goals do you hope to achieve during your

Keller

Persson

Addington

Beye

McNeely

SOPHOMORE, ANIMAL SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY,

Office sought: Union Governing Board, 2 years Why should students vote for you?

I want to give more of the vast majority of students a

Sarah Morton SENIOR, ACCOUNTING

No answer

Office sought: Union Governing Board, 1 year Why should students vote for you? I have had 1 yr of experience on each organization. I feel passionately about each and strive to represent What goals do you hope to achieve during your

On Senate I hope to see final action and follow Morton through on issues students care about including

Alyssa Williams

Office sought: Union Governing Board, 2 years Why should students vote for you? Experience, enthusiasm, ideas, and willingness

SOPHOMORE, GRAPHIC DESIGN AND ADVERTISING

What goals do you hope to achieve during your To listen to you and always act on your ideas.

Williams

Jamie Ball SOPHOMORE, BIOLOGY AND PRE-MEDICINE

Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences Senator Why should students vote for you?
I have two years of experience with SGA. I listen to my constituents' concerns, making decisions with them in mind.

What goals do you hope to achieve during your

I hope to see the online textbook policy/list that we have been working on in committee completed and passed.

Why should students vote for you?

SOPHOMORE, MECHANICAL ENGINEERING

Why should students vote for you?

Office(s) sought: Engineering Senator, Engineering Student Council Vice President (External)

What goals do you hope to achieve during your

I would like to see the study abroad fee dismissed and the online textbook list expanded to increase

JUNIOR, CHEMICAL ENGINEERING AND PRE-LAW

Students who read this section only once a year have

What goals do you hope to achieve during your

've gone with "listening and acting" before, and I

Office(s) sought: Engineering Senator

Why should students vote for you?

am extremely responsible and always ready to

Samuel Brinton

help serve.

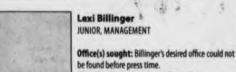

buying options.

Matt Coleman

a lot in common with me.

think it works very well.

What goals do you hope to achieve during your

Billinger

John Bergin JUNIOR, AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION

Office(s) sought: Agriculture College Council

Office sought: Union Governing Board, 1 year Why should students vote for you?

What goals do you hope to achieve during your

Why should students vote for you? oachability. Agriculture students will feel comfort in my leadership. Feel free to call me Big John. What goals do you hope to achieve during your

AGRICULTURAL ECONOMICS

Williams

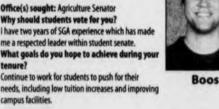

Whether it is with student employment opportunities or guest speakers, council needs to promote

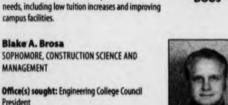

SENIOR, AGRICULTURAL COMMUNICATIONS AND

Blaes

me a respected leader within student senate. What goals do you hope to achieve during your Continue to work for students to push for their

Brosa

With two years of ESC exposure, I feel I possess the capabilities it takes to effectively run this What goals do you hope to achieve during your

Why should students vote for you?

During my tenure I plan to recruit more members and push to host an ESC Regional Conference at KSU.

Allison Crook

Annie Dwyer

JUNIOR, AGRICULTURAL COMMUNICATIONS AND JOURNALISM

Office(s) sought: Agriculture Senator Why should students vote for you? have experience on the College of Agriculture Student Council and I'm dedicated to the students. What goals do you hope to achieve during your I would like to increase funding to the College of

JUNIOR, POLITICAL SCIENCE AND PUBLIC RELATIONS

Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences Senator, College

What goals do you hope to achieve during your

I'd like to help SGA become a more proactive organi-

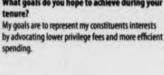

Agriculture and it's organizations.

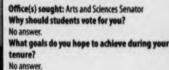

JUNIOR, POLITICAL SCIENCE Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences Senator

David Bulcock

Why should students vote for you? I will be an advocate for Arts and Science. I love K-State and will work to make it the best. What goals do you hope to achieve during you

Bryan Cox SOPHOMORE, POLITICAL SCIENCE

Cox

Haberichter

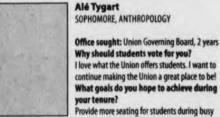

programming and events for students. Danesha McNeely

Continue the current work being done of offering

Students should vote for me because I am a passion ate individual that wants the best out of college for

What goals do you hope to achieve during you chance to voice their opinions and thoughts.

PRE-VET

Tygart

periods. Present more information and encourage more participation in special events.

Dan Atkisson JUNIOR, AGRICULTURAL TECHNOLOGY MANAGEMENT Office(s) sought: Agriculture Senator and Agriculture College Council Treasurer
Why should students vote for you?

What goals do you hope to achieve during your

Atkisson

Bigham

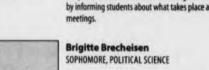

JUNIOR, AGRICULTURAL ECONOMICS Office(s) sought: Agriculture College Council Why should students vote for you?

Melissa Bigham

improve correspondence between council, faculty, and students. What goals do you hope to achieve during your

I will provide a voice for students and work to

I hope to increase awareness of what Ag Council does by informing students about what takes place at the

Dena Bunnel

Kaitlyn Crow

Relations Coordinator

Michelle Evanoff

JUNIOR, DIETETICS

No answer.

tenure?

SOPHOMORE, POLITICAL SCIENCE

Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences Senator Why should students vote for you? What goals do you hope to achieve during your

No answer.

Brecheisen

Bunnel

Crow

Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences Senator Why should students vote for you? I am a realistic, outgoing student, willing to push hard for the issues most important to us as students. What goals do you hope to achieve during your I will work to address deferred maintenance, Keep tuition from rising, and increase student contact with SGA.

SOPHOMORE, ANIMAL SCIENCE AND AGRICUL-TURAL COMMUNICATIONS AND JOURNALISM

I am open minded and I listen. Having previous leadership experience, I enjoy initiating change

What goals do you hope to achieve during your

I hope to keep students and faculty informed of upcoming events concerning the College of Agriculture.

Office(s) sought: Human Ecology College Council

What goals do you hope to achieve during your

Why should students vote for you?

Why should students vote for you?

while keeping others opinions in mind.

Office(s) sought: Agriculture College Council Public

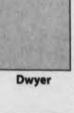

Brinton

Satyabrata Das GRADUATE STUDENT, BIOCHEMISTRY

Office(s) sought: Graduate School Senator Why should students vote for you? What goals do you hope to achieve during your

JUNIOR, HUMAN RESOURCE MANAGEMENT

What goals do you hope to achieve during

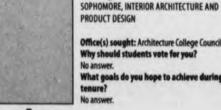

zation. I want to see SGA focus on attainable goals. Paul Fangman FRESHMAN, CIVIL ENGINEERING

Why should students vote for you?

After three years as a member of SGA, I feel I've learned a lot about the different possibilities of Office(s) sought: Engineering Senator Why should students vote for you? I feel that I'm a capable, motivated representative of engineering students and the student body as a opportunities for student involvement at both the college and university

Office(s) sought: Architecture College Council

Why should students vote for you? What goals do you hope to achieve during your No answer.

I care about what students think and want to get What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure?

Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences College Council

Mridu Gandhi

JUNIOR, BIOLOGY

Why should students vote for you?
I am organized, conscientious, dedicated, & hard worker. I hace been on Council since freshman year, currently serving as treasurer. What goals do you hope to achieve during Organizing activities for my college in order to further recognize it's diversity & uniqueness; continue working on Council's ongoing tasks.

Fadler

Office(s) sought: Business College Council and

Why should students vote for you? I'm a hard worker, who believes that come tion is the key to all success, that will always back

your tenure?

I believe that an oral English Exam needs to be given to all GTA's, with a studendent panel giving input.

Fangman

What goals do you hope to achieve during As a student senator, I will work to provide more

Robby Flack

Robby Flack SOPHOMORE, POLITICAL SCIENCE AND PRE-LAW Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences Senator Why should students vote for you?

-Make sure students have their opinions heard

-Work with the entire senate to make K-State more student friendly

Gandhi

Sarah Guinane

to make a difference.

Emily Haug

Meg Henry

FRESHMAN, APPAREL DESIGN

expansion of the Rec. center.

FRESHMAN, AGRICULTURE ECONOMICS

Office(s) sought: Agriculture Senator Why should students vote for you?

I have a great passion for K-State University and it's

What goals do you hope to achieve during hope to represent students with the greatest of interest and concern that will directly effect the

FRESHMAN, CONSTRUCTION SCIENCE AND MAN-

I believe I'm qualified to serve you as student senator based on my experience as a Student Governing

I hope to make the voice and concerns of the College

What goals do you hope to achieve during

of Engineering more well known to the student

Why should students vote for you?

Kayla Horsky

college of agriculture.

AGEMENT

Association intern.

Anthony Lawson

your tenure?

Guinane

Haug

Henry

Horsky

FRESHMAN, KINESIOLOGY

Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences Senator
Why should students vote for you?
Throughout all my life, I have always strived to become involved to attain leadership positions, and

What goals do you hope to achieve during your

I hope that as a student leader at K-State, I can make

Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences Senator Why should students vote for you? Along with my experience, I have a real passion for Kansas State and making a difference at this

What goals do you hope to achieve during arise and better the campus for all students.

Office(s) sought: Human Ecology Senator Why should students vote for you?

Students should vote for me because I am knowledgeable, passionate about K-State, and have creative solutions to problems.

What goals do you hope to achieve during

I would really like to help get the ball Rolling on the

My goals are to represent my college on issues that a difference at both the school and comr

FRESHMAN, POLITICAL SCIENCE

Good

Why should students vote for you? My leadership experience, unique perspective, focused vision and desire to serve students makes me an excellent will be priorities.

I aspire to lead a progressive, student-focused Ag. Council. Web site development and communicat

What goals do you hope to achieve during your

JUNIOR, AGRICULTURAL COMMUNICATIONS AND

Office(s) sought: Agriculture College Council

Hamm

Molly Hamm SOPHOMORE, ENGLISH

Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences Senator Why should students vote for you? I have experience in SGA, and know how to accomplish goals and generate new ideas to benefit What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure? I want to improve upon the SGA Hears you carnpaign which we started this year and reach even more students.

Henry

Dalton Henry SOPHOMORE, AGRICULTURAL ECONOMICS AND AGRICULTURAL COMMUNICATIONS

Office(s) sought: Agriculure College Council Activi-Why should students vote for you? I have a passion for representing, promo and serving the College of Agriculture and the

I will work to ensure the College of Agriculture is represented and promote the college at the university

Hill

SOPHOMORE, AGRICULTURE TECHNOLOGY MANAGEMENT

Office(s) sought: Agriculture Senator
Why should students vote for you?
Students should vote for me because I am willing to listen to new ideas and make sure students are What goals do you hope to achieve during

My goal is to give students a person they can approach at any time on issues related to the University.

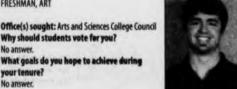

Janezic

Krueger

Long

Why should students vote for you? What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure? No answer.

Jensen

Kyle Krueger FRESHMAN, LIFE SCIENCES AND PRE-DENTAL

Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences Senator Why should students vote for you? Students should vote for me because I care about their views and will give a good representation of

What goals do you hope to achieve during Representing the opinions of students in the college of arts and sciences and gaining experience doing

JUNIOR, HORTICULTURE AND LANDSCAPE DESIGN

I have many leadership qualities that I believe could benefit all students in the College of Agriculture.

What goals do you hope to achieve during

I hope to increase communication throughout all

Agricultural organizations, on campus and around

Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences Senator Why should students vote for you?

Office(s) sought: Business College Council

What goals do you hope to achieve during

Why should students vote for you?

What goals do you hope to achieve during your

Office(s) sought: Agriculture College Council

Why should students vote for you?

Matt Long

your tenure?

Joshua McGinn

John Newman

our tenure?

No answer.

SENIOR, ACCOUNTING

JUNIOR, HISTORY

Lawson

JUNIOR, COMPUTER ENGINEERING Office(s) sought: Engineering Senator Why should students vote for you? I will represent the student body as best as I can. What goals do you hope to achieve during crease enrollment which will allow for better facilities and equipment.

Will Lopez JUNIOR, FINANCE

Office(s) sought: Business College Council Why should students vote for you?

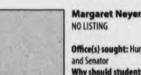

What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure? No answer.

DaNesha McNeely SOPHOMORE, ANIMAL SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY. PRE-VET

Office(s) sought: Agriculture College Council Public Relations Director and Senato Why should students vote for you? Students should vote for me because I am a passion ate individual that wants the best out of college for What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure? I want to give more of the vast majority of students a chance to voice their opinions and thoughts.

McNeely

NO LISTING

and Senator Why should students vote for you? What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure? No answer.

Neyer

Brady Ott JUNIOR, ARCHITECTURAL ENGINEERING

Office(s) sought: Engineering Senator Why should students vote for you? I am an experienced leader with strong values and hope to serve as an informed student voice. What goals do you hope to achieve during

I hope to assist in the fair allocation and distribution of funds among organizations, and help suppress drinking and driving.

Why should students vote for you? What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure?

Hapke

Herrmann

Hoskins

Kennedy

Konda

Maynard

Metzgar

Norris

Pacey

Shelby Haag SOPHOMORE, AGRICULTURAL COMMUNICATIONS

ffice(s) sought: Agriculture College Council Why should students vote for you? What goals do you hope to achieve during

Annalisa Hapke SENIOR, SECONDARY EDUCATION preparing to be future teachers.

Brandon Herrmann

College of Business.

Piper Hoskins

your tenure?

SENIOR, ACCOUNTING AND FINANCE

Office(s) sought: Business Senator Why should students vote for you?

I would encourage students to vote for me because I feel like I would be a good representation for the

What goals do you hope to achieve during

I want to improve communication between the Business School Students/Faculty and SGA.

SOPHOMORE, ECONOMICS AND POLITICAL SCI-

Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences College Council

help me serve as a better connection between

What goals do you hope to achieve during

Developing a stronger connection between students and their representatives and introducing the best

Why should students vote for you? Many good ideas and prior senate experience would ate and College Council.

possible textbook policy for KSU.

Office(s) sought: Business Senator

Why should students vote for you?

I will serve business students to my full ability, and listen to each individual's complaints, comments or

What goals do you hope to achieve during

I will make sure that the college is everything business students expect, and is an equal voice at

JUNIOR, POLITICAL SCIENCE AND INTERNATIONAL

Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences College Council

voices are represented in Senate. I have all students'

What goals do you hope to achieve during

Continuing to tackle both the parking and textbook

Why should students vote for you? If re-elected, I will continue to ensure diverse

SENIOR, AGRICULTURAL ECONOMICS

Why should students vote for you?

Office(s) sought: Agricultural College Council

I have the experience and charisma needed to be

What goals do you hope to achieve during

to continue to improve as much as possible.

Continue the success of the College of Ag and help it

SOPHOMORE, NUTRITION AND EXERCISE SCIENCE

Office(s) sought: Human Ecology College Council

I am a committed & hard-working individual. I will

Getting more people involved with council & inform-

SOPHOMORE, AGRICULTURE TECHNOLOGY MAN-

Office(s) sought: Agriculture College Council

What goals do you hope to achieve during

Why should students vote for you?

Why should students vote for you?

do my best to give students a voice. What goals do you hope to achieve during ing others of what council does.

Ben Norris

your tenure?

No answer.

Owen Kennedy

your tenure?

the University.

Krista Leben

and Senator interests in mind.

Mark Maynard

surressful at this position.

Catherine Metzgar

your tenure?

JUNIOR, MANAGEMENT

your tenure?

Office(s) sought: Education College Council Why should students vote for you?

I am passionate about education and the students

What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure?

involved in activities and community service.

I want to develop new ways to get current students

Haberichter

Jacquelynn Haberichter
JUNIOR, POLITICAL SCIENCE AND HISTORY

ice(s) sought: Arts and Sciences College Cou and Senator
Why should students vote for you?
As an out-of-state student, I well understand the financial burden and will work to reduce it.
What gooks do you hope to achieve during yo

Implement programs that will save students in and make the money that are spending more

Harlan

Samentha Rayo Harlan FRESHMAN, PUBLIC RELATIONS

Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences Senator Why should students vote for you? I care about the university, I know that it need change, and I am willing to fight for that chun What goals do you hope to achieve durin your tenure? your tenure? I hope to be the perfect link between our st and our student government, and make all my

Cody Herbster JUNIOR, MANAGEMENT

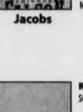

Office(s) sought: Business College Council Why should students vote for you? What goals do you hope to achieve de

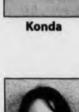

JUNIOR, PRE-PROFESSIONAL SECONDARY EDUCA-

Office(s) sought: Education College Council
Why should students vote for you? What goals do you hope to achieve dur your tenure?

Kristi Konda SOPHOMORE, POLITICAL SCIENCE

Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences Senator Why should students vote for you?
I believe my experience here will help others and bring about positive changes What goals do you hope to achieve during your Implementing programs benefitting students

Loeb

SOPHOMORE, PRE-LAW: POLITICAL SCIENCE/PHI-Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences Sen Why should students vote for you?

I have two years of SGA experience and a genuine grasp of students' concerns and how to effectively nmunicate these. What goals do you hope to achieve during ye

I hope to be an accessible, loyal, and proactive representative for my constituents and adeq address the pressing issues

McCord

Sam McCord SENIOR, CONSTRUCTION SCIENCE

Office(s) sought: Engineering Senator Why should students vote for you? My experience has taught me how to represent students in a positive r What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure? I hope to foster cohesiveness between students and student government.

Sarah Morton SENIOR, ACCOUNTING Office(s) sought: Business Senator Why should students vote for you? I have had 1 yr of experience on each organization feel passionately about each and strive to represent

What goals do you hope to achieve during yo On Senate I hope to see final action and follow

Morton through on issues students care about including deferred maintenance and of the engineering department. What goals do you hope to achieve during

FRESHMAN, CIVIL ENGINEERING

Lindsey Patterson

ions and ideas.

Office(s) sought: Engineering Senator Why should students vote for you?

student who will represent the student po

My goal as a student senator is to voice and improve upon any problems within the college of

FRESHMAN, BUSINESS MANAGEMENT INFORMA-

Office(s) sought: Business Senator Why should students vote for you? My internship for Senate lead me to want to continue by representing the college with trustwork

What goals do you hope to achieve during that would benefit K-State and it's student body.

your tenure?
To work with other senators to pass new le

JUNIOR, FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT

Joseph Norris

your tenure?

TION SYSTEMS

McGinn

Zach Oswald JUNIOR, BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION PRE-PROFES-SIONAL

Office(s) sought: Business College Council and Why should students vote for you? No answer. What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure?

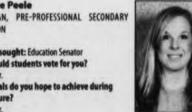

Lydia Peele JUNIOR, SECONDARY EDUCATION

> Office(s) sought: Education Senator Why should students vote for you? I will be a strong voice for education students and be open to hearing new ideas.\ What goals do you hope to achieve during inprove connections between student senators and their constituents. See more involvement from the Peele College of Education Students.

Phelon

Kendall Pacey SOPHOMORE, MECHANICAL ENGINEERING Office(s) sought: Engineering College Council

Vice-President (Internal)
Why should students vote for you? I am a hard work, honest, and responsible indithat liks to see the job done right. What goals do you hope to achieve during One of my main goals would have to be finding a way to recruit freshmen.

Ashley Phelon

Office(s) sought: Human Ecology Senator Why should students vote for you? No answer. What goals do you hope to achieve during

JUNIOR, FOOD AND NUTRITION- EXERCISE SCIENCE

Norris

Office(s) sought: Business Senator Why should students vote for you? Students should vote for me because of my persistence towards attaining student goals and my experience (twice elected student senator). What goals do you hope to achieve during your

Piper

My goals include continuing to improve the qual of advising, furthering the honors program, and promoting the college.

Sky

Alvssa Provencio SENIOR, HOTEL AND RESTAURANT MANAGEMENT

Office(s) sought: Human Ecology College Council Why should students vote for you? I have a passion for K-State and serving the students of Human Ecology. What goals do you hope to achieve during Ensure Human Ecology has more of a voice in SGA and create more awareness about SGA issues.

Christina Pyle JUNIOR, ACCOUNTING

Office(s) sought: Business College Council Why should students vote for you? I have previous experience on the council and will What goals do you hope to achieve during

To represent the best interests of the students in our college

Reilly

FRESHMAN, AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION

fice(s) sought: Agriculture College Council Why should students vote for you?
I am passionate about the College of Agriculture and want to work to make it the best college possible.
What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure?

would like to get more people involved.

Reynolds

JUNIOR, POLITICAL SCIENCE AND HISTORY

Ashleigh Reynolds

Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences College Why should students vote for you?

I currently serve on the council. I am dedicated to K-State and enthusiastic about continuing the ork of the council

What goals do you hope to achieve during I hope to continue getting the council more active and listening to the needs of the students.

Sanders

Hannah Sanders FRESHMAN, JOURNALISM AND POLITICAL SCIENCE

Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences Senator Why should students vote for you? I'm committed to the betterment of K-State. I love being a student here and want the best for the

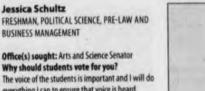

What goals do you hope to achieve during

I want to work towards making administration and professors accountable for keeping tuition down, including textbook policy.

everything I can to ensure that voice is heard. What goals do you hope to achieve during I want to find feisable solutions to the biggest Schultz problems facing campus today such as textbooks and parking.

Sherwood

Schmeidler

Emily Schmeidler SENIOR, ANIMAL SCIENCES AND INDUSTRY, PRE-VET

Office(s) sought: Agriculture Senator Why should students vote for you? Experience. Service. Commitment. These are the qualities I bring to senate & will continue to deliver to students across campus

What goals do you hope to achieve during My goals are to meet student needs and use the voice of the student body to grow and impact

Kyle Sherwood

No answer.

Office(s) sought: Architecture Senator Why should students vote for you? What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure?

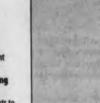

Jared Schnefke FRESHMAN, FINANCE

Daryn Soldean

Office(s) sought: Business Senator Why should students vote for you? I have had one year of experience as a Student Government Intern to see how Senate is run. What goals do you hope to achieve during To improve the awareness of business students to what is going on in Student Senate.

Schnefke

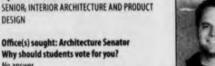

Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences College Council and Senator Why should students vote for you? What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure? No answer.

Schultz

Soldean

Office(s) sought: Graduate School Senator Why should students vote for you? I've serve on Student Senate and am committed to maintaining the affordability of education, research, and cultural activities at K-State

GRADUATE STUDENT, LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTURE

Continue facilitating communication with local and state officials that leads to an improved learning environment for K-State students and faculty.

Spencer

Kyle Spencer HOTEL AND RESTAURANT MANAGEMENT

Office(s) sought: Human Ecology Senator Why should students vote for you? What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure? No answer.

Staats

Jonathan Staats SOPHOMORE, BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Office(s) sought: Business Senator Why should students vote for you? I am responsible with leadership experience and I seek to represent ideals of the average K-State

What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure?

In line with recent senate proposals I look to continue to explore new ways to make life easier.

Austin St. John JUNIOR IN SECONDARY EDUCATION AND HISTORY Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences Senate

Why should students vote for you? No answer. What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure? No answer.

St. John

Stoskopf

Wayne Stoskopf FRESHMAN, AGRIBUSINESS

Office(s) sought: Agriculture Senator Why should students vote for you? I will represent the voices of students in the College of Agriculture to the best of my ability. What goals do you hope to achieve during

To continue to gain recognition for Agricultural students and organizations from administration and the university.

Dillon Stum SOPHOMORE, AGRICULTURAL ECONOMICS

Office(s) sought: Agriculture College Council

Why should students vote for you? I am a hard working, responsible individual who gets the job done right. What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure? I will maintain accountability for this position and execute this job to the best of my abilities.

Robert Swift SOPHOMORE, PSYCHOLOGY AND PRE-NURSING

Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences Senator Why should students vote for you? I have experience with Senate and understand the responsibility SGA owes to the student body. What goals do you hope to achieve during Stay up-to-date on Student needs and opinions so I

Symons

Taylor Symons SOPHOMORE, SPEECH

Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences Senator Why should students vote for you? I have had much experience in senate for two years. These experiences will help me serve students

What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure? The textbook policy is close to being achieved, and needs to be passed by senators who truly understand the policy.

Tank

Adam Tank FRESHMAN, MICROBIOLOGY

Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences Senator Why should students vote for you? What you want is what I want. I will guaranttee action, and everything I do will be for the students. What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure? New/upgraded biology and scientific labratory -Increased space for art displays - photography, painting, etc.

Thomas

Holly Thomas EDUCATION-MATHEMATICS

Office(s) sought: Education Senator Why should students vote for you? No answer. What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure?

What is the most important issue facing your college or organization?

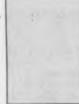

Thompson

Amanda Thompson SENIOR, ACCOUNTING

may legislate responsibly.

Office(s) sought: Business College Council Why should students vote for you? What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure? No answer.

Ben Tryon JUNIOR, CHEMICAL ENGINEERING

Office(s) sought: Engineering Senator Why should students vote for you? I will voice the concerns of engineering students and work hard to address their problems. What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure? I will work to create stronger ties between engineering students and the rest of the student body.

Tryon

Alé Tygart SOPHOMORE, ANTHROPOLOGY

Office(s) sought: Human Ecology Senator Why should students vote for you? What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure?

Tygart

Alissa Vogel JUNIOR, POLITICAL SCIENCE AND GEOGRAPHY

Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences Senator Why should students vote for you? I have a broad understanding of government processes and I am committed to working hard, representing the K-State Student body. What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure?

Continuing K-State's leading role in acedemic excellance and student involvement.

Walters

Jordan Renée Walters

your tenure?

No answer.

PRE-PROFESSIONAL ELEMENTARY EDUCATION Office(s) sought: Education College Council and Why should students vote for you? What goals do you hope to achieve during

Maggie Waltz FRESHMAN, ENVIRONMENTAL DESIGN

Office(s) sought: Architecture Senator Why should students vote for you? What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure?

SENIOR, AGRICULTURAL COMMUNICATIONS

Office(s) sought: Agriculture Senator

Why should students vote for you?

Agriculture's student organizations.

I have two years experience in Senate and enjoy having the opportunity to help the College of What goals do you hope to achieve durin

I want to continue my role on the College Council Allocations Committee to ensure funding for College and aid in any way I can to continue progress.

Waltz

No answer

Phil White

AND JOURNALISM

of Agriculture groups.

Weninger

Tim Weninger GRADUATE STUDENT, COMPUTER SCIENCE

Office(s) sought: Graduate School Senator Why should students vote for you? I have been on the senate for four years, and have

Austin R. Wilhoit

SOPHOMORE, HISTORY

Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences Senator Why should students vote for you?

I have been involved in a number of organization in which I have gained a broad view on issues

What goals do you hope to achieve during

If elected, I would like to address a number of issues including expansion, academic help, and funding process.

always supported the opinions of the average What goals do you hope to achieve during I want more fiscal responsibility, more cooperations, and more student involvement in the legislative

West

Catherine West

No answer

JUNIOR, DIETETICS Office(s) sought: Human Ecology Student Why should students vote for you? What goals do you hope to achieve during

Alyssa Williams

SOPHOMORE, GRAPHIC DESIGN AND ADVER-TISING Office(s) sought: Arts and Sciences Senator Why should students vote for you? Experience, enthusiasm, ideas, and willin

What goals do you hope to achieve during To listen to you and always act on your ideas.

Williams

GRADUATE STUDENT, SOCIOLOGY

George H. Weston

Kristel Williams

EDUCATION

your tenure?

No answer.

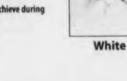

Office(s) sought: Graduate Student Senator Why should students vote for you? Because I am the best there is, the best there was, and the best there will ever be. What goals do you hope to achieve during your tenure? To prevent wasteful spending.

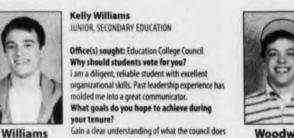

FRESHMAN, PRE-PROFESSIONAL ELEMENTARY

What goals do you hope to achieve during

Office(s) sought: Education Senator

Why should students vote for you?

Wilhoit

Matt Woodward JUNIOR, FINANCE

your tenure?

Office(s) sought: Business College Council Why should students vote for you? No answer. What goals do you hope to achieve during

Woodward

Williams

Taylor Wulf SOPHOMORE, ACCOUNTING

Office(s) sought: Business Senator Why should students vote for you? I have good leadership skills & I'm actively involved with my fraternity and its decisions What goals do you hope to achieve during Improved job placement for business students.

Talk with one of our advertising sales representatives by calling... 532-6560

COLLEGIAN

in the LLEGIA the first friday of the month

To announce your milestone, visit Kedzie 103. To advertise, call 532-6560.

COLLEGIAN

Kansas State University's independent, student-run newspaper since 1896

INSIDE Are dream

Are dreams reflections of our waking lives?
Learn to analyze clues from your subconscious.

See story Page 9

www.kstatecollegian.com

Wednesday, March 7, 2007

Vol. 111, No. 117

SGA ELECTIONS

grassroots campaigns

Joslyn Brown | COLLEGIAN Holly Thomas, junior in education-mathematics, talks to Christina Pyle, junior in accounting and volunteer coordinator for the Jim Mosimann and Nick Piper campaign, while working the pair's

- 4/

Stuffing cups with informational fliers, D'Andre Williams, freshman in nutritional sciences, and Julia Debes, senior in agricultural communications and journalism, work at the table supporting Matt Wagner and Lydia Peele.

Volunteers serve as foundations for student body presidential election campaigns

By Mandy Stark
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

election table in the K-State Student Union.

Behind the T-shirts, slogans and debates of Student Governing Association's presidential campaigns are the largely anonymous groups of volunteers that ensure the survival of campaigns and candidates.

At the helm of these student-driven teams are campaign managers, responsible for everything from delegating tasks to organizing communication efforts.

Josh Hersh, junior in speech communication and campaign manager for candidates Jim Mosimann, senior in political science and economics, and Nick Piper, junior in finance, said his job allows the candidates to focus on their issues and not administrative details.

"I'm trying to make them as least stressed as possible," Hersh said. "As Cast your vote Vote online today from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. at sgaelections.ksu.edu.

candidates, they shouldn't take time away from meeting and talking with students to worry about details."

The Mosimann-Piper campaign has a core group of about 10 volunteers running the campaign, he said. Hersh said his contributions ranged from organizing communication between team members to crafting campaign messages.

"This experience has really shown me that you have to trust the people you work with," he said. "You can't do something like this all on your own."

Often, the experience of managing a campaign begins long before official campaigning starts. Clint Blaes, senior in agricultural communications and journalism, said he was involved in campaign discussions early on as the manager for the presidential campaign of Matt Wagner, senior in information management systems, and Lydia Peele, junior in secondary education.

"From the start, I helped with things like selecting the issues they were going to run on, what the slogan

See GRASS ROOTS Page 10

Mosimann, Piper focus on parking

By Austin Apple
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Jim Mosimann and Nick Piper built a platform based on issues that students have expressed during their campaign, the pair said.

"The parking garage is set to be built here in August, and it's going to be a three-story, 1,400 slot structure," Piper said. "After talking with the parking services director and chair of the parking counsel, they told us the students were only going to get 300 out of those 1,400 slots."

Mosimann, senior in political science and economics, and Piper, junior in finance, said they both believe students should get more parking spaces.

"Students are going to have to pay an additional fee to park in there, and we believe this is an injustice, because students are already financing the project through increased parking permits," Piper said.

Parking permits were $70 last year but will cost $145 in two years, they said.

"Both of these things are kind of where the parking counsel sits now," Mosimann said. "Neither of them are set in stone yet, and they are fully negotiable."

Mosimann and Piper also are looking to expand the Peters Recreation Complex.

"We got this idea just because when one of us goes to the rec center, it is way too overcrowded," Mosimann said. "You have to wait in line for certain machines."

They have heard a lot of students voicing their opinions about the complex being over-crowded, he said.

"It's time for it to change," Mosimann said. "There has been a committee created

See MOSIMANN Page 10

Wagner, Peele say they'll listen

By Joanna Rubick
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Matt Wagner and Lydia Peele said they make a balanced combination that works for students.

"We have a lot of respect for each other," said Peele, candidate for vice president. "We see things from different perspectives, make sure we cover each side."

Both started as Student Senate interns their freshman years but differ in reasons why they chose K-State.

Presidential-candidate Wagner, a native of El Dorado, Kan., said he always knew he would attend K-State.

"I chose K-State because both of my parents went here," he said. "I grew up a K-Stater."

Wagner, senior in management information systems, has served as a business senator and privilege fee committee chair. He held other leadership positions including treasurer for Delta Sigma Phi fraternity and president of Men's Glee Club.

"Matt is a strong and unwavering voice for our students and is very determined to make sure students are heard and best interests are put forth," said Peele, junior in secondary education.

Peele, an Olathe, Kan., native, said she chose K-State because of the people.

"I came here for the family atmosphere," she said. "The people I met were very genu-

Peele has worked as an education senator and senate intern coordinator. She has held other leadership roles including vice president of membership for Student Foundation and Panhellenic Council.

"Lydia has the drive and determination to

See WAGNER Page 10

Prince encourages students to maintain character

By Allison Voris

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Strength and honor are two qualities found among Kansas residents, and the students of K-State should be no exception, said K-State's head football coach Ron Prince in a speech Tuesday.

Prince delivered the keynote address for K-State's seventh-annual Integrity Week, sponsored by the Honor and Integrity Peer Educators in the K-State Student Union's Little Theatre.

Prince said people in other parts of the country saw Kansans as honest and honorable people, which is important to the region.

"If we want to look at it as one of the things we export that would be terrific," Prince said. "The whole idea of strength and honor in our region is something we should be proud of. It is so we can have a community of trust."

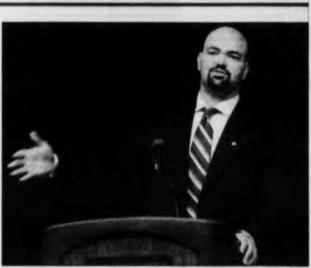

The first part of becoming a strong person is having knowledge of yourself, Prince said. This includes a person knowing what or who they want to be.

"If you have a good sense of what you want to be, you can move forward," Prince said. "Who you are and who you want to be is not something you can rebut or change."

Prince said another part of strength is curiosity. It is important for growth that students continue learning, possibly by picking up books and reading articles on subjects with which they are not familiar.

"I think if you're strong you have a good chance of being honest," Prince said. "Also I don't think a person can be honest while being negative, sarcastic and cynical."

See PRINCE Page 7

Steven Doll | COLLEGIAN

K-State's head football coach Ron Prince speaks about strength and honor for K-State's seventh-annual Integrity Week on Tuesday.

-

Today's forecast Partly cloudy High: 49 Low: 28

INSIDE

It's never too late to create a healthy lifestyle. Fad diets might be all the rage, but it's the sensible diet that prompts the practice of natural health. Turn for advice on how to focus on nutrition during National Health Month.

See Sports Page 6

CAMPUS NEWS HIGHLIGHTS

Forum to address smoking issues

The Public Smoking Forum, sponsored by Union Program Council, will take place from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. in Room 212 in the K-State Student Union. Students, faculty and Manhattan residents are invited to discuss current smoking issues, including the prospect of a city-wide smoking ban.

Professor to speak on blogging

Michael Wesch, anthropology professor, will give a presentation, "Creating Community with a Community Blog," at 1:15 p.m. today in Room 213 in the K-State Student Union. The presentation is part of the TechBytes series, whose goal is to share technology innovations with the campus community.

New class established due to high demand

High student demand and a $100,000 donation from the Pfizer Animal Health Beef Production Medicine Fund helped create a new, six-week intensive advanced beef production medicine course at K-State's College of Veterinary Medicine. The course will focus on training large animal veterinarians.

Playing games According to a Nielson wireless and Interactive Services report, 45.7 million housholds own a videogame system. The report also revealed that at any given minute of the day, 1.6 million people are using a gaming console. Here's the percentage of households (with TVs) that own videogame systems over the last few years.

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

DOWN

1 Mid-May

2 Drive the

maybe 3 Frat-party

garb 4 Got wind

car,

5 "Gee

whiz!

6 Honest

politician

7 Heterogeneous

of old

Rome

10 Beelze-

bub's hearing

16 Incite to 11 Un-

arrogantly

8 Walk

honorees

getaway

20 Wooden passenge 23 Albanian money

store

25 Data-keeper

retrieval system that may use a TV

- Mahal

Babilonia

portrayer Quelled

30 168ths of one's grief 37 Caesar or

Vicious 39 Corrida

counter-

outflow

48 Eye layer

advice

49 Broker's

50 Way out

hubby

29 Skater

32 007

ACROSS	40 Greek
1 Numbers	conso-
racket?	nants
5 Scenery	41 Okla-
chewer	homa
8 Lean-to	city
12 Reed	43 High
instru-	arcing
ment	shot
13 Kyoto	45 Fair of
cummer-	hair
bund	47 Stir

14 Bleachers 51 Tardy 52 Curving choreogoutward raphy both

15 Movie goers mecca sides 17 Met tune 55 Guitar's 18 Van Gogh's

19 Overwhelm 21 Snow White's protector 22 "Reser-VOIT . 23 Restfor short 26 Speck

28 Profundity 31 Larger than life 33 Existed 35 Caboose's place 36 Praise 38 Make margina-

54 Finished - Night" 56 Sandwich shop 57 Ceruminous 58 Kennedy Koppel

42 Opening Solution time: 21 mins 44 Stocks' 45 Huff and puff 46 Volcanic

CRYPTOQUIP

GIVE PLASMA GET CASH

Donate plasma and earn

CASH

TODAY!

WTVTH SWR ARHX ORYS GV SWR QOYGVRYY.

YWTOKP

V V O C K Y S T V X C U C H P Y .

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: IF YOU'VE COMPOSED POEM PRAISING YOUR FAVORITE PERFUME, CALL IT "ODE DE COLOGNE.

Today's Cryptoquip Clue: V equals N

DIVERSIONS

A waste of time — but you might learn something

Incredible urges to chew inedible objects

A good percentage of the world's population is fixated orally, one way or another. Perhaps this is a consequence of over-indulgent breast-feeding routines. Perhaps it was a toorigid bottle schedule.

Whatever the case, many people find they simply have to have something stuck in their mouths

If smoking is perceived as too dangerous, or fingernails too precious, the perpetrator will instead bite, suck or chew some kind of foreign object. It looks ridiculous and spreads bacteria, but these people are compelled to behave in this manner.

COMMON OBJECTS

Habitual chewing is a speciality of young children. It starts in the cot with babies sucking on a pacifier or the corner of a sheet or towel. Teeth grow and start to hurt, sucking turns to chewing, and the pattern is set - in some cases for life.

Some even keep the towel (or "comforter") beside them until it literally falls to pieces. In any given schoolroom, it is possible to see all manner of objects in mouths - pens, pencils, erasers, plastic bottle tops, in fact, anything with that bit of "give" that makes it a pleasure to suck or

Some wanton suckers prefer textiles, leading to crumpled, spittle-soaked cuffs and sleeves.

Once in the workplace, eating clothes is no longer an acceptable option (though some die-

Illustration by Donnie Lee | COLLEGIAN hards continue at it), at which point the wide range of appetizing stationery supplies comes into play.

Objects as humble as an ordinary paperclip can provide hours of harmless fun, but the pen remains the perennial favorite.

- Excerpt from the book, "Habitus Disgustica: The Encyclopedia of Annoying, Rude, and Unpleasant Behavior," by Ian Whitelaw

The planner Campus bulletin board

■ Career and Employment Services will sponsor a Dining Etiquette Workshop at 5:30 p.m. March 13 in the Gold Room of Derby Dining Center. Reservations must be made by today. To make a reservation, call 532-6506 or visit 100 Holtz Hall. The cost is $6.75 per person, or meal exchange for students with a meal plan. Professional business attire is required at

■ The Japanese Appreciation Association will meet at 7 p.m. today in Union 203.

■ The Advanced Session for SafeZone: Profiling the Campus Date Rapist will take place 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. today in the here room of Hale Library.

■ Kelly Mason, project coordinator for th Center for Remote Sensing of Ice Sheets at the University of Kansas will present "Design and Construction of a Robotic Seismic Streamer for Polar Regions" at 4 p.m. Thursday in Thompson Hall 213.

■ A memorial service for Diane Sanders will take place at 1 p.m. Saturday at All Faiths

Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at collegian@spub. ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

Corrections and clarifications

There were two errors in Monday's Collegian. In ** terms of why voters should vote for Mosimanniper, the pair said, "We are two hard-working, laid back and dedicated students who want to devote the next year to bettering K-State. We have five years of combined service in student government, and we hope to use that experience to promote and fight for the interests of the student body. We have run a campaign that is representative of us: friendly, innovative and student-driven. We ask for your voice in positively changing K-State. Thanks."

In terms of why voters should vote for Wagner-Peele, the pair said, "We want to make a difference at K-State. A real difference. We decided to run for student body president and vice president because we want to improve life at our university for the students. We will fight for the issues that students care about and work to improve our campus. We have the experience to serve these positions well. Additionally, we have the passion, commitment and determination to see our plans through until completion."

The Collegian regrets the errors. If you see something that should be corrected, call news editor Alex Peak at (785) 532-6556 or e-mail collegian@spub.ksu.edu.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291 020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167. © Kansas State Collegian, 2007

TABLE INTELLE WATON

The blotter | Arrests in Riley County

Reports are taken directly from the Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Monday, March 5

■ Delilah May Britt, 1300 Marlatt Ave., Apt. 1107, at 4:15 p.m. for battery. Bond was $500.

Cory Ryan Calkins, Fort Riley, at 6 p.m. for violation of protective order. Bond was $500.

Week 1 Registration:

9:00pm-11:00pm

Friday, March 9th

Live Free With

Rusty's Last Chance in Aggieville

■ Kara Marie Saber, 633 Frey Drive, at 6:40 p.m. for worthless check and failure to appear. Bond was $1,800.

■ Joshua Nathan Garrett, St. Clair, Mo., at 11:30 p.m. for,aggravated criminal threat and harassment by phone. Bond was $3,000.

Tuesday, March 6

Register to win the chance to live

RENT FREE from August to December in a one bedroom apartment in Aggie Village apartments in Aggieville plus $2000 in prizes!

■ Erica Shavion Glover, 704 Dondee Drive, Apt. 9, at 1:40 a.m. for unlawful possession of depressants and driving with a suspended or cancelled license. Bond was $2,250.

The Office of Student Activities and Services offers:

Free Consumer & Tenant Advice

information wait the website at

The Consumer and Tenant Affairs Office provides information on landlord/tenant rights and responsibilities and aids in the resolution of consumer complaints regarding products and/or services. Brochures regarding landlord/tenant and consumer issues are also available.

Consumer and Tenant Affairs Office Appointments Available Daily Call 532-6541 to make an appointment.

Then: photocopies blurry b & w dead trees papercuts

Now: digital files sharp color flash drives painless free

Scanners Coming to Hale Library March 11th

ZLB Plasma Services

1130 Gardenway

Manhattan, KS 66502

785-776-9177

www.zlbplasma.com

Online College Courses

Having trouble getting your class schedule to work? Need to add a class?

Dropped a class?

sessions starting soon. Most general education courses transfer to Kansas Regent schools.

9-week and 17-week

Find our schedule online!

www.bartonline.org

Sponsored by the Hit Music Channel Z96.3 and McCullough Development Why would a hardcore terrorist who killed 200+ give it up? Kamal Ex-Terrorist 7pm, Thursday, March 15, 2007 Manhattan Clarion 530 Richards Dr. Manhattan 785-539-5311

· Only Phone Book with Students' Cell Phone Numbers · Coupons with the Greatest Deals

· A Menu Guide with local restaurants' menus

Purchase Yours in Kedzie 103

Moore Property Management

Since 1974

1125 Laramie Suite C Manhattan, KS 66502

785-537-0205

4 Bedrooms 4 Baths 1120 & 1122 Pierre

4 Bedrooms 2 Baths

923 Bluemont "A" 923 Bluemont "B" 1614 Humboldt 712 Laramie "B" 1712 Colorado

3 Bedrooms 2 Baths

927 Fremont 1539 Campus

3 Bedrooms 1 Bath 2461 Hobbs

2018 Anderson Plus numerous 2 bedroom

and 1 bedroom apartments

View our properties at www.moorepropertymanagement.com

Windows Vista poses problems

By Katelynn Hasler KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Windows Vista, Microsoft's newest operating system, is currently incompatible with K-State's approved antivirus software as well as several other programs used by university students.

Microsoft released Vista in January. Personal computers manufactured later were automatically fitted with that version of Windows. Many program manufacturers are struggling to adjust to the abrupt change, said Elisabeth Unger, vice provost.

"Since the transition into Windows Vista was done in such a quick fashion, many vendors haven't had the time to come out with programs that work with it," she said. "We are having to find ways around that during this transition period."

The university uses Trend Micro OfficeScan antivirus software. K-State's security policy requires every computer connecting to the university network to run approved software such as this.

For about a month, students with Vista operating systems were unable to access the K-State network, because they could not run this antivirus program. Beginning Feb. 28, the university was able to begin distributing a Vistacompatible beta version of Trend Micro's program to stu-

A beta version of any program is one that is not yet ready for full-scale production, said Rebecca Gould, director of the information technology assistance center. It is not finalized and might still have a few problems, she said. Unger recommended the program as a temporary solution to students with Vista.

"We've tested it for about a week with a lot of different technical users trying to break it," she said. "We found that even though it's a beta version, it's a pretty good system, and it will be at least a temporary solution to part of the problem."

Students with Vista who wish to have the beta antivirus program installed on their computer should visit the IT Help Desk in Hale 214, Gould said. There, employees at the IT Desk can explain the features and risks of the beta program to students and have the program installed. Any student who receives this version of the program will be notified when the full version becomes available, Gould said.

Students living in residence halls are required to have an additional security program installed on their computer, however, which also has not released a Vista-compatible version. Vista users will be restricted from connecting to the network in residence halls until this program is released, which is not expected to happen this semester, said Robert Satterlee, information resource manager for Housing and Dining Services

"This is not a K-State issue, and it is not a residence hall issue," he said. "It is a software vendor issue. We have to wait for their programs to be released before we are able to support Windows Vista on a wider level."

While the beta Trend Micro program will allow certain users to connect to K-State's network, Vista users still will not be able to use several other programs. These include GroupWise, ESRI, SPSS, SAS and AutoCAD

If students have a choice. Gould recommended they wait about a year for Microsoft to work out any potential problems in the system and for other program vendors to produce Vista compatible ver-

"Adjusting to Vista and figuring out how to make it work on campus may take a little while," Gould said. "There may be some growing pains in the process, but we're work-

Most campaigns spend little

By Logan C. Adams KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Money is no barrier to most offices in the Student Governing Assocation.

Almost two-thirds of all candidates for Student Senate, College Council, Union Governing Board and Student Publications Board of Directors reported zero campaign expenses this year, according to the Office of Student Activities and Services.

"That is normal - a lot of candidates don't spend any money," said Nick Levendofsky, SGA elections commissioner and junior in agricultural communications and journalism. "They want to go on name recognition."

The remainder of the candidates' filings reveal that the elections meant plenty of business for dealers of chalk, string, T-shirts and the makings for signs. Those items showed up repeatedly on the expense reports.

Student Governing Association elections regulations allow candidates to spend $50 of their own money, or contributions not from K-State students, for Student Senate or College Council campaigns. Candidates for positions on the Union or Student Publications Boards are allowed $125.

Only a handful came close to $50, though

Dan Atkisson, agricultural technology management, has spent the most of any candidate other than the pairs for student body president and vice president. He's spent $49.12 in his effort to represent the College of Agriculture in the Student Senate.

All but one of the candidates got their money entirely from themselves or non-student contributions.

Clint Blaes, senior in agricultural communications and journalism, received a $2 roll of string from a friend for his campaign to be a senator for the College of Agriculture. His total expenses measured campaigns president and vice president are much larger in terms of Both pairs spent thousands for T-shirts, signs and other campaign materials for the primary election but have spent much less this time around.

The signs still are hanging, and the shirts still are being worn, so the candidates tend to focus more on campaigning in person, which costs hardly anything but time.

Jim Mosimann, senior in political science economics, Campaign expenses and Nick Piper, junior in finance, spent $17.01 on a few rolls of twine for the general election. It's a fraction of the almost $2,800 they spent for the primary election.

The pair will have almost $70 leftover, which Piper said would go to a scholarship fund of their choosing.

"That will be a decision Jim and I make after the election," he said.

Matt Wagner, senior in management information systems, and Lydia Peele, spent $83.93 on campaign expenses for the general spending election after about $2,500 for the primary election. They also donated almost $600 to the K-State PROUD campaign.

They said the remaining $169.58 will go to K-State

"I think that it seemed like a unique opportunity for use to give back," Peele said.

Local businesses donate, help Goodnow's date auction raise money for women's crisis center

Steven Doll | COLLEGIAN

Kipp Van Dyke, residence life coordinator for Goodnow Hall, auctions off a date with Laura Jeffery, junior in management, and Kyle Heaton, sophomore in mechanical engineering, Tuesday evening in Goodnow. Proceeds from the event will benefit the Women's Crisis Center.

By Hannah Blick KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Dozens of Goodnow Hall residents and visiting K-State students crowded into the third-floor lobby of Goodnow on Tuesday evening watch the third annual date auction benefitting the Women's Crisis Center of Manhattan.

The lobby was darkened with Christmas lights and nightlife-inspired decorations hung to set the mood. Loud music drowned out the buzz of anticipation streaming from the crowd. Toward the front of a make-shift stage for the seven the center." couples up for bid.

Each couple was brought together, modeling extreme fashions, from the goth look to street thugs.

The members of each couple, composed mostly of Goodnow staff and students, were bid on individually. Bids ranged from anywhere from $55 to $230. The two people who earned the highest bid would receive the privilege of going on a double date with their 'prize,' said Erica Martens, senior in public relations and Goodnow Hall resident assistant.

"This is just a opportunity for us to help raise awareness and money for the Women's Crisis Center," Martens said. "And because we receive everything in donation, all the money raised the room, two tables provided is profit and goes straight to

Many local businesses donated gift certificates for dinner, movie rentals and bowling for the dates. Throughout the evening, the 'Flava Flav' inspired emcees entertained their audience auctioned off small gift packages, including gift certificates to campus Quick Cats and Goodnow T-shirts.

There also was a small plastic bucket passed around the audience during the course of the auction for donations. Students were encouraged to fill up the bucket, because not only had an anonymous donor agreed to match the earnings up to $500, but Goodnow fifth floor RA Emily Dringenberg, mechanical junior engineering, said she would shave her head if $600 was donated to the bucket.

"It wouldn't really bother me to shave my head," Dringenberg said. "My grandma is going through chemotherapy right now and is bald, so we could be bald together."

ROYAL PURPLE ve got to read Get your Royal Purple yearbook in Kedzie 103.

electronic file submission Claflin Books and Copies

FIND OUT MORE ABOUT PEACE CORPS

Info Session Monday, March 12 5:30 - 7 pm 137 Waters Hall or contact L.J. the Peace Corps K-State recruiter pcorps@ksu.edu 532.5627 144 Waters Hall

peacecorps.gov

Dillard's

In Style™ Magazine's Beauty Favorites in Your Clinique Bonus Now

Yours free with any Clinique purchase of 21.50 or more. Value $40.

Your bonus includes:

- Dramatically Different Moisturizing Lotion
- . Take the Day Off Makeup Remover for Lids,
- Lashes and Lips Super City Block Oil-Free Daily Face Protector SPF 40
- Blended Face Powder Mini with Puff
- Almost Lipstick in Black Honey
   In Style TM magazine subscription card for
- one year at 50% off the cover price!
- · Cosmetic Bag

Allergy Tested. 100% Fragrance Free. Quantities are limited. One bonus to a customer, please, per event. While supplies last.

For Your Convenience We Accept Your Dillard's Charge, Visa, MasterCard, American Express, Discover, Carte Blanche, Or Diner's Club Card. SHOP MONDAY THROUGH SATURDAY 10 A.M. - 9 P.M. SHOP SUNDAY 12 NOON - 6 P.M.

TOWN CENTER

TO THE POINT

Celebrate women and their accomplishments

Thursday is International Women's Day. It is a chance to applaud women's ac-

TO THE POINT is an editorial selected and debated complishments globally throughout his- by the editorial board and writter tory. after a majority opinion is formed. Within the This is the Collegian's official last century, women have gained a lot of ground. In the United States, they earned the right to vote, own property, and they have persevered in demands for equal treatment. Women now hold some of the nation's highest governmental leadership positions. For example, Rep. Nancy Pelosi, D-Ca., recently became Speaker of the House.

This holiday also is an opportunity to reflect and appreciate all the people who worked and devoted their lives to improving the quality of life for women. Without these prominent feminist leaders, women would not have the liberties they have today.

People should attend one of several events on campus and in the community Thursday. Show support for women who are striving to make a difference today and those who have made their mark in history.

This holiday has been celebrated for nearly 100 years and commemorates a century of women's achievements and efforts for equal rights.

Though the day first was celebrated in the United States in 1908, it gained popularity and was adopted in many other countries worldwide. Within the last decade, many Middle Eastern and eastern European countries have embraced it as an official holiday.

Celebrate whether you are female or not. Attend an event, send cards, spend time with female friends and family members, and educate yourself on the efforts women have made and are making today to improve their rights and opportunities.

OLLEGIAN

an Moser | EDITOR IS ONE di Paulson | MAKAGING EDITOR Alex Peak | NEWS EDITOR que Haag | (3-(3P) (HE Hernandez | (3-(3P) (HE Scott Girard | CAMPUS EDITOR ogan C. Adams | METRO EDITOR seey D. Mackey | FEATURES EDITOR en Garten | SPORTS EDITOR ue Flomming | TPOFF EDITOR on Laux | THE EDGE EDITOR Jones Hogg | OFTNON EDITOR sher Hanewinckel | PHOTO ESITOR on Praeger | PRESENTATION ESITOR MES | DIVLINE EDITOR

WRITE TO US

ey Sleypen | AD MANAGER Rogers | ASST AD MANAGER

Letters can be submitted by e-mail to letters@spub.ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters should be limited to 250 words. All submitted letters may be edited for length and

> CONTACT US Kansas State Collegian edzie 103 Manhattan, KS 66502

Display ads.....(785) 532-6560 Classified ads...(785) 532-6555 Delivery ......(785) 532-6555 sroom......(785) 532-6556

In motion

Students should combat stress with appreciation of life

month saying too many children have too much to do and miss out

As I drove to work while painting my fingernails the other day, I glanced at the empty plate that had previously held the mini-pizza I had just eaten and realized the urgency of my life. I discovered my need for urgency and the ability of society to give it to me.

class from Cloud County

Community College, yet

when I see an ounce of free time, I can't relax.

There is a sense of loss and confusion, not to mention guilt. I wonder why the free time is there and if I am forgetting to

I am immersed in is not unusual - many people, in extra classes ... younger kids are not immune to the syndrome

(either). The American Academy of Pediatrics released a report last do an assignment.

stable family life.

KELSEY CHILDRESS

on spontaneous, free playtime." There is just so much in the world to experience that it is hard not to try to see and do it all. But there is absolutely no way we are destined to spend our lives speedily eating meals while driving or using our free time to feel guilty that we even have free time. There is time to experience a lot of what the world has to offer, ability to slow down and appreciate what is right in front of us.

Working ourselves into the ground isn't the way to lead a life that admires the small things and lets go of the obstacles that throw a kink into our plans. To feel peace in life, we must learn to feel grateful for what we already have.

Kelsey Childress is a junior in English literature and women's studies. Please send your ments to opinion@spub.ksu.edu.

Cartoon by Donnie Lee | COLLEGIAN

Live beyond the 'little black book'

I own a little black book. Bound in a soft, leather-like cover, its 72 pages feature the ever-so-fabulous elements of my life. And while my little black book doesn't highlight the sexual prowess of my latest conquests, it does contain one thing and one thing only: my daily schedule.

ANNETTE LAWLESS

Like any other 20-something college student, a billion obligations hover over my every move. I'm taking six classes, have three jobs and am still trying to maintain a decent social life - baking brownies with a friend last Friday night was probably the best it has been this semester.

Between the occasional baked good and bring-on-the-beer night out in Aggieville, I'll admit I'm disappointed with my withered social life. In fact, this spring break, just like my last three, I plan to go home and spend time with the family. I even have penciled in time to get some dental work done. Let's just say I know how to party with the best of the tape-on-your-glasses, "Revenge of the Nerds" cast.

I can pinpoint my drier-than-Sub-Saharan-Africa social life back to my glory days in high school. I was that overtly annoying, ambitious girl begging teachers for extra credit, even with my grades sitting" at a 98 percent.

I wanted it all and got there, gloating over offers from Ivy League colleges and trotting around with 100 medals from public speaking and acting competitions. I worked harder for anything that could push me into a being a success but often would overlook those little things that make me

Now, I don't mean to discredit the value of hard work. I do believe people should go beyond the expectations set for them, for they are likely to learn lessons above the value of minimum wage. But when you start sacrificing simple things that make you tick, then you are gambling with more than just career-high success. You are giving up your happiness.

As I prepare for my fifth-year victory lap at K-State, I have set one simple goal for myself: to embrace life and to break free of my little black book. I realize now more than ever that a perfect grade, point average or winning a zillion awards are about as satisfying as a pile of monkey poo when I am completely disgusted with my . social life.

This week, I am going to take the first step toward freedom from the walls of Kedzie Hall, where I spend 90 percent of my time.

It's a big gamble for me to break; from this routine, but if you don't take risks beyond your black book, you are likely to be unhappy, too.

Through a spontaneous trip to Denver, I finally will reach the stepping stone for my academicdriven jailbreak. I cannot wait. And hopefully, when I finally get there and spend time with my special someone, I will begin to ex-; plore just what I truly want in life and what I need to do to get there.

No matter how many classes you ace or life achievements you have under your belt, don't be afraid to gamble a little with life. Take a risk. Live in the moment outside of your routine. You never know where life might take you. Who knows? You might just end up being happy.

Annette Lawless is a senior in electronic journal ism, political science, print journalism and public relations. Please send comments to opinion@ spub.ksu.edu.

WORLD NEWS

HUMAN RIGHTS GROUP: ISRAELI SECURITY FORCES ABUSE PALESTINIANS

JERUSALEM - Israeli security forces frequently beat Palestinians working illegally in the country, sometimes severely, and detain them for mours without food and water, an Israeli human rights group said in a report published Tuesday.

Security officials said in response to the report by the B'Tselem human rights group that the troops are operating under tough conditions to prevent Palestinian suicide bombers from infiltrating the country. Any abuse allegations are investigated, the officials said.

Each week, security forces catch thousands of West Bank Palestinians sneaking into Israel through holes in Israel's uncompleted separation barrier, human rights groups say. With unemployment in the West Bank running about 25 percent, people have grown more desperate to cross to find

While Israel used to permit tens of thousands of Palestinian laborers into the country, it has sharply reduced that number during the past six years of violence.

Israel says the barrier, whose more than 400-mile route is roughly two-thirds complete, is needed to protect against suicide bombers.

INDONESIAN QUAKE KILLS AT LEAST 70, DAMAGES BUILDINGS

SOLOK, Indonesia Imelda Kusmawati's husband grabbed their two children and ran from the house when the ground reared up beneath them, cracking roads and collapsing nearby buildings in seconds. The powerful earthquake - the latest in a string of natural disasters to hit Indonesia - killed at least 70 people and injured hundreds.

"My house is on the brink of collapse," said Kusmawati, 28, one of tens of thousands sleeping in tents or under the stars instead of returning indoors after Tuesday's quake. "I am still traumatized and worried about aftershocks," she said as her son and daughter huddled close to her.

The 6.3-magnitude quake struck on Sumatra island just before 11 a.m. and was felt as far away as neighboring Malaysia and Singapore, where some tall buildings were evacuated. Two hours later, a 6.1 aftershock rattled the region.

Dozens of buildings were destroyed and hundreds others damaged by Tuesday's quake, according to local police chief Lt. Col. Budi Sarwono. TV footage showed a flattened three-story home and wide cracks in the road.

At least 70 people were killed by the quake.

LOUVRE MUSEUM TO BUILD BRANCH IN ABU DHABI

ABU DHABI, United Arab Emirates - France's storied Louvre museum, home to priceless art works like the Mona Lisa, said Tuesday it will open a new Louvre in this Persian Gulf boomtown, prompting outcries from some who accuse the museum of shilling France's patrimony for $1.3 billion in oil money.

The 30-year agreement, signed by French Culture Minister Renaud Donnedieu de Vabres and the head of Abu Dhabi's tourism authority, Sheik Sultan bin Tahnoon Al Nahyan, opens the way for the Louvre Abu Dhabi to display thousands of works from some of France's best museums, such as the Louvre, the Georges Pompidou Center, the Musee d'Orsay and Versailles.

The works will be housed in a huge flying saucer-shaped museum designed by French architect Jean Nouvel, which will be erected on the Abu Dhabi waterfront, opening sometime after 2012.

Abu Dhabi's rulers are positioning the Louvre as the centerpiece of a cultural district expected to attract millions of well-heeled tourists and diversify its oil-dominated economy.

Racks Stocked

Hourly

— The Associated Press

TO THE EDITOR

Paper should print all facts, not just be neutral

In today's polarized political climate, most news organizations have been accused of some type of bias.

To avoid this type of criticism, the Collegian intentionally remains neutral in all Student Governing Association campaigns. As the Collegian is the only news source on campus, I strongly oppose the Collegian's deliberate effort to abstain from printing facts in the name of neutral-

Candidates are running for elected office whose platform issues are either completely irrelevant or impossible to accomplish.

As K-State's lone news organization, the Collegian is failing the student body by neglecting to examine the outlandish claims made by some of our student politicians. Student government at the university level should be taken seriously. Candidates have a duty to run on genuine platforms that will improve students' quality of life, not a series of initiatives which have either already been enacted or are impossible to accomplish. Campus media organizations have a duty to hold our candidates accountable and protect the student body from being deceived.

I applaud the Collegian staff's efforts to remain neutral when reporting on candidates, but I disdain their efforts to remain neutral toward reporting the truth.

> Chris Harris SENIOR IN MARKETING

5 steps from 'Oprah' may help prevent rape

Editor,

Rape is a huge problem in Kansas. We need to find a way to make it stop. We at K-State should especially be concerned because of our college environment.

We spend time together in the K-State Student Union, meet someone new every day and invite those strangers into our homes to study or work; our college lifestyles put us at a higher risk for rape.

Contrary to common knowledge, 15-30 percent of college women report having been raped. I believe women should be trained to protect themselves.

UFM Community Learning Center offers a self-defense class anyone can take.

Recently, Oprah did a show called "Everything You Need to Know About Rape." According to the show, specific actions may be taken to ensure protection. 1. If you are attacked, try to keep yourself from being taken to a second location. 2. Listen to your instincts, because most gut instincts are right on. 3. Be very clear to your attacker, and say "no" multiple times, because they might not take you seriously the first time. 4. Go to a public place on dates. 5. Take a self-defense class.

If we protect ourselves, we won't be victims any more.

> Kristina Clark SOPHOMORE IN SOCIAL WORK

Banning hurling of chickens brings spotlight

Editor,

Bravo, K-State. Not since Norm MacDonald mocked the 10 Commandments in Manhattan's City Hall has the town received so much national press.

By banning the act of hurling chickens and other creatures resembling our rival, K-State elevated itself to the level of the University of Miami in terms of banning practices that should have been outlawed decades ago. After a drawn-out, massive on-field brawl, Miami had the epiphany of "Hey, maybe we should make a rule against letting our players fight." Bravo, Miami.

TOPS - SHORTS

In my 15 years of enjoying K-State basketball, I'd never seen any animal grace Bramlage Coliseum outside of the Frisbee-catching dogs.

It is encouraging to see coach Bob Huggins elevate KSU basketball to a level that fills every seat in the house, but also to see him bring important issues to the forefront.

Thank you, coach Huggins, for re-energizing a truly historic tradition of K-State.

> Matt Hemmendinger ALBUQUERQUE, N.M.

Racks Stocked

NOW LEASING FOR FALL 2007

Check out our model showings now! With 900 apartments in the Manhattan area. we can find a place for you!

BEDROOMS 1119 Laramie #5

Mon, Wed, Thurs 4:00-7:00 5:00-7:00

1941 College Heights #4 Mon-Thurs 3:00-5:00 1854 Claflin #14 2:00-4:00 Mon, Wed, Fri 4:00-6:00 Tues, Thurs 2:00-4:00

Wareham - 418 Poyntz #603 1:30 - 5:00 Sun 10:00-2:00

Aggie Village - 1215 Laramie 1:00-5:00 Mon-Fri 10:00-2:00

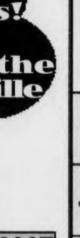

925 Denison #4 1803-1807 College Heights View at 925 Denison #4 6:00-8:00pm Mon, Wed, Fri 5:00-7:00 Tues, Thurs 12:00-2:00

Royal Towers 1700 N. Manhattan #203 Mon, Wed, Fri Tues, Thurs 1:00-3:00 12:00-2:00 Sat

STUDIOS Wareham 418 Poyntz #316

785.776.3804

mdiproperties.com Saturday Office Hours: 10am-2pm MCCULLOUGH DEVELOPMENT

BEDROOMS

3:30-5:30

12:30-2:30

2:00-4:00

5:30-7:30

12:00-2:00

1026 Osage #22 on 4:30-6:30

1419 Leavenworth #2

BEDROOMS

2:00-5:00

BEDROOMS

12:00-2:00

Royal Towers

1700 N. Manhattan #402

1611 Laramie #2 Mon, Wed, Fri 8:00-11:00am

Mon

Thurs

99¢ LADIES' MALL STORE

SOCKS

99¢ FAMOUS MAKERS LADIES' PANTIES FROM $599 BRANDS!! Skateboard Decks $1999 Skateboard Clothing & Shoes

MEN'S

JEANS FAMOUS

SE 99

$1999

LADIES'

BEBE

ALL STORE)

$599

Thurs., Mar. 7th 10am-7pm

99¢ CAMISOLES POLO

LUCKY JEANS 50% OFF

LADIES' FAMOUS MALL STORE TOPS, SKIRTS & DRESSES $599

$2.00 OFF (before tax) any clothing purchase

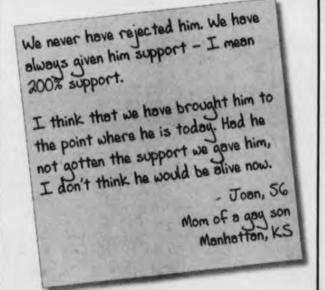

CLOTHING WAREHOUSE SALE LADIES' JEANS DISTRESSED & WASHED LOOK RAMPAGE - HOT KISS BONGO - SILVER BARGAIN TABLES NORTHFACE . TORN

· PATCHED LO-CUT

SHORTS WINTAGE $799

BASKETBALL MALL BRAND POLO'S & KHAKI'S

Holiday Inn At the Campus 17th & Anderson • Across from Campus Main Ballroom • Downstairs

Family ties are precious threads.

Join us for You Belong to Us, a play based on the stories of local parents of gay and lesbian community members.

Free to the public at the Manhattan Arts Center! Friday, March 9 at 7:00 p.m. Saturday, March 10 at 2:00 p.m. and 7:00 p.m. Sunday, March 11 at 2:00 p.m. Learn more at www.fhpflag.org or call (785) 770-7550.

PFLAG

Let's keep the dialogue going!

VIDEOTAPED MOCK INTERVIEWS Wonder how you come across in an interview?

Practice with CES and take home a DVD!

Thursday, March 8 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. · Holtz Hall Call 532-6506 to schedule your interview time.

ON-CAMPUS INTERVIEWS APPLICATION DEADLINES

Login to your Wildcat Works! eRecruiting account to apply.

Consolidated Electrical Distributors (CED)

3/13: First Bank Kansas

Career and Employment Services
Kansas State University
100 Holtz Hall + 785-532-6506 • cesl@k-state.edu

Guiding You from College to Career

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Healthy lifestyle trumps fad dieting

The American Dietetic Association created National Nutrition Month to promote healthy eating by providing practical nutrition guidance. This campaign focuses on enhancing awareness of wholesome food choices and the importance in developing sensible exercise habits.

HAUG

"I think people could honor it (National Nutrition Month) by making a conscious effort to have a healthier diet and exercise, if they don't already," said Kim O'Connor, senior in nutritional science. "I also think this is a good time for them to learn about nutrition.

"Nutrition to me is learning to have a healthy lifestyle throughout your life by eating right and exercising."

It's never too late to create a healthy lifestyle. Avoiding fad diets prompts the practice of natural health

The ADA suggested these messages for National Nutrition Month:

 Develop an eating plan for lifelong health. Too often, people adopt the latest food fad rather than focusing on overall health. Get back to basics and use the new Dietary Guidelines for Americans and MyPyramid, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's revised food pyramid, as your guide to healthy eating.

Choose foods sensibly by looking at the big picture. A single food or meal won't make or break a healthy diet. When consumed in appropriate portions, all foods can fit into a healthy diet.

Learn how to spot a food fad. Unreasonable or exaggerated claims that eating - or not eating - specific foods, nutrient supplements or combinations of foods might cure disease or offer quick weight loss are key features of fad

Find a balance between food and exercise. Regular physical activity is important for your overall health and fitness, plus it helps control body weight, promotes a feeling of well-being and reduces the risk of chronic diseases.

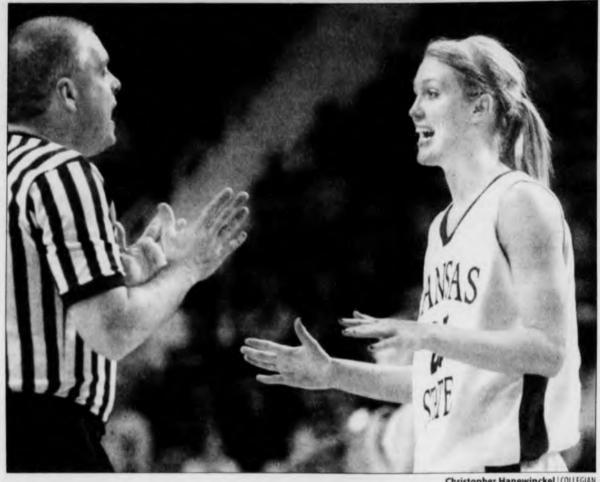

Food and nutrition misinformation harmfully can affect your health, as well as your wallet. Registered dietitians are qualified to communicate current and emerging science-based nutrition information and are an instrumental part of developing a diet plan that meets individual needs.

"Fad diets are like fashion trends," O'Connor said. "They come and go and so does the weight. Therefore the theme is good to really promote an overall healthy style rather than doing something temporarily like the Atkins diet. When my friends have tried fad diets, I usually find out the reasons they chose that one and then explain the consequences and alternatives to losing weight in a healthier fashion."

The ADA is the nation's largest organization of food and nutrition professionals. It serves the public by promoting optimal nutrition, health and well-being. Visit the ADA at www.eatright.org or MyPyramid.gov to learn more about starting a healthy lifestyle.

Melissa Haug is a senior in public health nutrition and dietetics and a nutrition consultant and an American Council on Exercise certified personal trainer at Peters Recreation Complex. Please send comments to sports@spub.ksu.edu.

End of the road

Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN

K-State sophomore Danielle Zanotti argues with an official during the Wildcats' 64-55 loss to Oklahoma State on Feb. 28. K-State lost to Iowa State, 57-45, in the first round of the Big 12 Conference Tournament on Tuesday.

K-State's basketball season over after loss to Iowa State

By Dayne Logan KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

If the K-State women's basketball team wanted to keep its postseason hopes alive, it certainly didn't play like it in Tuesday's 57-45 loss to Iowa State in the first round of the Big 12 Conference Tournament. In fact, the team didn't score a point until freshman Ashley Sweat sank a free throw more than seven minutes into the

Luckily for the Wildcats, the Cyclones weren't exactly putting on an offensive clinic themselves and allowed K-State to hang around in the first half. At the break, Iowa State led 24-20

The Wildcats shot just 6-of-25 from the field in the first half and were 1of-13 from behind the arc. Iowa State also shot poorly, going just 6-of-21 from the field and 1-of-7 from 3-point

Following the interval, things began picking up for the Cyclones who, despite letting the game draw even on a couple of occasions, never trailed. With about six minutes remaining, Iowa State opened up a 47-39 lead and from there coasted to the victory.

The only bright spot for K-State was junior Shana Wheeler, who finished the day with 17 points, 10 rebounds and three blocks. Junior Kimberly Dietz added 10 points.

On the other side of the score sheet, three Cyclones finished in double figures. Sophomore Nicky Wieben led the way with 18 points, senior Lyndsey Medders had 12 and junior Tocarra Ross finished with 10.

It is likely the loss marked the end of a troubling season for the Wildcats, who after being ranked No. 25 in January, lost 12 of 14 games and found themselves at the bottom of the Big 12 standings. The defeat also is the last game seniors Claire Coggins and Naytanda Smith will play for K-State.

For the Cyclones, however, the season is far from over. With the win, Iowa State advanced to the second round of the tournament where it will meet No. 4-seeded Nebraska at 2:30 p.m. today. Regardless of the outcome of that game, the Cyclones are anticipated to be selected for the NCAA Tournament.

Wildcat junior Shana Wheeler goes up for a shot against Oklahoma State on Feb. 28. The Wildcats failed to score in their Big 12 Tournament first-round loss to lowa State until seven minutes into the game.

Rec expansion would leave healthy legacy

Have you checked your inbox lately?

Last week, among the incessant onslaught of forwards, spam mail and Facebook.com alerts, you should have received the e-mail "Recreational Services Survey." The questionnaire was the Student Governing Association's attempt to get your opinion about the possible expansion of Peters Recreation Complex.

SCOTT

However, the beauty of democracy is freedom of choice, and sadly I'm sure some of you chose to side against expanding the Rec.

I completely understand why some students would frown upon having to spend more money. Yet, when presented the facts, it's easy to see that renovating and expanding the Rec is in the best interest of K-State.

Raydon Robel, who is employed by Recreational Services to study future facility plans and program development, said K-State should consider making several improvements.

Robel said K-State's rec is too small by 113,000 square feet. He also said most architects advise having one square foot of weight and cardio space for each student on campus. "When the addition was finished to the Rec in the mid-'90s, making it the building that we know today, the square footage of the weight and cardio area grew to about 12,000 square feet," Robel said. "That was adequate for K-State's student population then. Now, over ten years later, enrollment has grown to more than 23,000 students, leaving the rec over 11,000 square feet short in weight and cardio space."

Robel added that more multipurpose space, and even a leisure pool and hot tub, would be welcome changes to the rec. So what's next?

Jason Topp, co-chair of the Creation of the Student Senate Special Committee to Study Long-Term Strategies of the Recreation Complex, said once the university calculates the outcome of last week's survey, his committee will report its results.

If the findings indicate sufficient student interest, Student Senate likely will create a new committee to further explore the possibility of an expan-

But what about the students who say, "I won't be here to enjoy a bigger and better Rec that I helped pay for?"

Unfortunately, they're right. Most current K-State students will not have the opportunity to routinely enjoy an expansion they helped to fund.

But I am begging you all to consider the bigger picture. Generations of K-State students would reap the benefits of our actions, and ultimately, we'd be helping to make a better and healthier America.

So I ask you, what's 20 bucks a semester? For most of us it's a night down in Aggieville. Instead of buying that round of drinks, do yourself, your neighbor and this university a favor.

Trent Scott is a junior in nutritional sciences/premed and American Council on Exercise certified personal trainer at Peters Recreation Complex. Please send comments to sports@spub.ksu.edu.

1-MINUTE DRILL

Staff Reports

BBC | Bayuk pitches 4 solid innings, K-State sweeps BYU

Junior Chase Bayuk pitched four innings and allowed one run in the K-State basebal team's 6-3 victory over Brigham Young on

The Wildcats (11-2) had a chance to blow the game open early but failed to do so, stranding six runners in the first three innings and leaving 10 runners on base in the game. "We could have put that game out of reach very early," coach Brad Hill said.

The Wildcats found themselves with an early deficit, trailing 1-0 for the first three innings. A sacrifice fly by junior Derek Bunker tied the game in the bottom of the fourth. Sophomore Byron Wiley gave the Wildcats the lead in the next inning with a two-strike hit to drive in sophomore Tyler Link. The Wildcats would never relinquish the lead. "Byron came up big with a two-strike hit to break it open," Hill said.

The Wildcats continued to cushion their lead as they scored three runs in the fifth inning to secure their 11th win of the season.

RBI and a stolen base. "(Wiley) has really stepped up in clutch situations and has some big hits for us," Hill

Wiley led the Wildcats with two hits, two

The Wildcats swept BYU (8-5) in their twogame series this week and have started the season off with a record of 11-2.

RUN | 5 Wildcats qualify for NCAA Championships

All the training this indoor track and field season has paid off for five K-State athletes, who qualified for the NCAA Indoor Championships this weekend in

Sellers

Fayetteville, Ark., at the Randal Tyson Track Sophomore Scott Sellers qualified in the high jump on the men's side. His best jump of the year was a 7-5 3/4 leap at the lowa State Classic

Senior Kaylene Wagner qualified in the high jump for the women's side with a jump of 6-1 1/4.

Along with Wagner, sophornore Loren Groves Schlachter in the triple jump and junior Morgan Bonds in the 800-meter race.

Groves threw a personal best of 68-3 3/4 on Feb. 15 at the KSU Open.

Schlachter qualified in the Big 12 Conference Indoor Championships with a jump of 43-3.

Bonds enters nationals after winning every race she has entered this year with her best time in the 800 being 2:07.87 at the lowa State Classic.

The Associated Press

BKN | Kings forward Artest slaps female victim

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — Sacramento Kings forward Ron Artest slapped a woman's face and grabbed her repeatedly, causing visible injuries, according to a sheriff's report Tuesday.

Artest was arrested Monday after a woman inside his home in a Sacramento suburb called 911, saying she had been assaulted. In a portion of the 911 tape released by authorities, th woman described injuries to her hand and leg.

"Victim sustained visible trauma after being repeatedly grabbed by Artest and pushed to the floor," said the Placer County Sheriff's Department report. "Artest then slapped victim's face (and) by use of force prevented victim from

The report also said Artest took a phone from the woman the first time she tried to call 911.

Artest was arrested on suspicion of domestic violence and using force or violence to prevent the woman from reporting a crime. He was released from custody after posting a $50,000 bond and is awaiting a March 22 arraignment.

In the 911 tape, released Tuesday by the sheriff's department, the woman calls a police dispatcher upset that Artest is leaving in a vehicle. After learning it's registered in both their names, the dispatcher says Artest has the legal right to take the vehicle.

The department released the initial 82 seconds of the call, which continued for about 15 minutes until deputies arrived, said sheriff's department spokeswoman Dena Erwin. Erwin said she could not elaborate on the nature of the woman's injuries. She also would not disclose the woman's relationship to Artest. Authorities said a 3-year-old girl was inside the house at the time of the argument. She can be heard in the background of the 911 tape, talking to "daddy" and "mommy. Placer County Deputy District Attorney Dan Quick said his office had yet to receive the report but that prosecutors would review the 911 tape, photographs taken at the scene and other

K-State renovated Peters Recreation Complex in the mid-'90s

Farrar corporation to receive $3 million, tax break for expansion

By Willow Williamson KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The City Commission voted unanimously to issue $3 million in Industrial Revenue Bonds to a local company for expansion of its facilities at their meeting Tuesday.

Farrar Corporation, which will receive the IRBs, specializes in ductile iron castings and other metal machining products, according to city staff.

The company will use the IRBs, which are bonds used to finance developing industries, to expand the company by adding 9,000 square feet onto the east side of the building and for more machinery.

This bond money will come from a trustee bank, and should the company fail to pay, the city will be under no obligation to pick up the bond payments, according to city staff.

Also, as part of the bond issuing agreement, Farrar Corporation will be exempt from property tax for 10 years from the expansion of the facility. This will begin in January 2008. The tax abatement will amount to a projected $278,000 for the corporation, said Diane Stoddard, deputy city manager.

However, before the tax abatement can go into effect, the corporation must go to the Board of Tax Appeals, a state group that will make the final decision of whether the company will get the abatement.

Farrar Corporation plans to add 29 new jobs to Manhattan. The company must meet certain annual job creation targets to maintain eligibility for the tax abatement, according to city staff.

"We are very pleased to see that this application meets the living wage standards both in its wages and its benefits," said John Exdell, a representative from the Flint Hills Living Wage Coalition.

The Coalition works to make sure companies that use public money or get tax breaks are providing a "living wage," to their employees, Exdell said.

The living wage is 130 percent of the federal poverty level for a family of three, which comes to $10.73 an hour, he said.

"This is a business that has come to Manhattan and prospered," said city commissioner Ed Klimek. "These are the kinds of businesses we want to have in Manhattan."

Commissioners considered the added employment the expansion of the company had to offer and said the economic development it would contribute to Manhattan was worth the company getting the tax break.

"This application and the expansion is consistent with our goals for economic development," said mayor Bruce Snead.

Once in a Lifetime — Everyone's doing it.

To announce your milestone, visit Kedzie 103. To advertise, call 532-6560.

FICTION

Earbud Evil | Wanting to be wrong, proven right

By Logan C. Adams
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Editor's note: This is the eighth segment of "Earbud Evil," a fictional story the Collegian is publishing daily over a three-week period. It follows Alex, a fictional K-State student, as he deals with a hidden threat to the university.

Though the names of real people will accompany madeup characters, all events are fictional. This is intended for entertainment and is not factually based.

There was a shrill buzz at 8 a.m. I didn't sleep very well. I swung my hand at where my alarm clock would have been had it still worked, missed and fell out of bed. My cell phone's alarm kept ringing from atop my desk, where I had left it before turning in.

I crawled to the desk and used my chair as a ladder to pull my way up to silence the annoyance. A few minutes later, I found the will to face the day and made my way down the hall to the bathroom, in a manner not unlike something out of your average zombie film.

No, I'm not a morning person. However did you guess? The bright lights in the shower pulled me further into the world of the living. It took some doing, but I managed a level of awareness just above a paramecium before the hot water ran out.

I attacked my face with brushes, razor blades and a bit of floss, wondering all the while why so many grooming implements seem like they'd be useful in a torture chamber. A pair of overcaffienated disc jockeys kept telling me how to be a better parent through my stereo while I picked out my standard wardrobe choice of a T-shirt and jeans and ate my standard breakfast of cheap, frozen toaster pastries.

The day's supply of textbooks were thrown in my bag and I was out the door, only much more punctually than the day before. I crossed Anderson Avenue and remembered my worries of the previous day.

It all seemed so silly this time around. iPod mindcontrol? Nuts. Viral podcasts? Insane. All the fear washed away as I started reaching normal, logical conclusions for everything. Bill was just being a moron when he threatened me, and he must have worn blue and red to the basketball game because he lost a bet. The guy on the sidewalk was a jerk, Rhett was just a creep and Wefald was just trying to get his heartbeat up.

That was all there was to it, I told myself. I had forgotten the whole thing before Anderson Hall came into view, and I noticed the throng of students gathered around the south entrance. There was a bit of media gathered with them, too. I wanted to know what the hubbub was about and made haste to get there before I missed anything.

The students seemed just as curious as I was. One girl said she thought it was about a parking plan. The guy next to her said it was something about textbook pricing. Another girl said it was about tuition prices. I noticed a TV reporter practicing his set-up on the other side of the crowd and made out something about a new building.

The doors swung open and President Wefald popped outside, his trademark grin cranked up to 11 on a one-to-10 scale. He held a sheet of paper in his right hand with a triumphant flourish that later reminded me of Neville Chamberlain's "peace for our time" speech.

He stood at the array of microphones and drew a deep breath.

"Students, friends, members of the media – thank you for coming," Wefald began. "You've all been invited here today to hear a new development on the condition of Kansas State University's buildings."

Most of students were watching with rapt, unwavering attention. They seemed to be waiting on a signal.

"The news is that K-State is in much better shape than earlier thought, and we will not be needing the hundreds of millions of dollars we'd asked for," Wefald crowed. "In fact, I feel confident enough to say that K-State won't need a penny of extra funding, and that the legislature should give it all to the University of Kansas, where it is direly needed."

The reporters were speechless. Many students started cheering. My conspiracy theory came back in full force, only this time, I had a suspect.

PRINCE | Ideas of honesty, strength central to honor code, coach says

Continued from Page 1

Prince said he also thinks it is important for students to understand it is OK to be wrong.

"We're not perfect," he said. "Sometimes we make bad decisions. There are some people who can never be wrong, and to me, that's a dangerous position."

The ideas of honesty and strength are central issues in the honor code, Prince said. These also are important to the university and the community as a whole.

The football team's motto, which is displayed in the Vanier Complex, the main facilities for the football team, is "Strength and Honor." Helene Marcoux, associate director of the honor council and adviser to HIPE, said Prince and the motto typify HIPE's main goal.

"He has integrity and models it," she said. "That is what students need - a model."

Catherine Metzgar, sophomore in nutrition and exercise science, said she learned more about being an honorable person from Prince's address.

"I liked his points about strength and honor," Metzgar said. "They're really simple, and it's easy to achieve these things."

The Collegian and the Royal Purple Present:

Free March NADNess Tournament Brackets

HOW TO ENTER

Go to royalpurple.ksu.edu and download the tournament bracket (Starting Monday, March 12th) Fill out the bracket, and turn it into Kedzie 103 or the Royal Purple booth in the Union (2nd floor) by noon on Thursday, March 15th.

Copy your selections into the Collegian's Tournament Bracket published on Wednesday, March 14th

(must present completed copy of Collegian's bracket to claim prizes,

Check your progress on the Royal Purple's website, starting on March 19th.

Y
Contest open to KSU Students Only
Check royalpurple, ksu. edu for complete details

POWERCAT LILUSTRATED

Wednesday, March 7, 2007

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Page 9

Visions of truth

Dreams reflect emotional mood school

are reflections of anxiety about grades, peers, social issues and other concerns.

It also can be related to being naked

indicate a fear of being your latest lesson in life.

Dreams of ...

By Megan Molitor KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

It has been said if one dreams about falling, it could indicate his or her life is out of control and unstable.

Psychologists and dream analysts alike have argued whether or not there is any truth to what travels through minds as people sleep. Rupert Klein, psychology professor, said dream analysis dates back 60 years. "Psychologist Sigmund Freud believed in the manifest quality of dreams," he said. "He thought that people could not interpret these dreams themselves, that they needed a trained individual to interpret them. Now, though, psychologists say that since a dream is in your brain, only you can tell what it really means." Klein said dream interpretation is not used often in psychological treatment anymore because it is not objectifiable and there is no normative status to compare it to.

"If somebody dreams of a pineapple," he said. "We might say, 'Somebody else dreamed about a pineapple, and it meant this,' but it's very different for each individual."

He said the psychological focus now is on what happens in dreams and why people dream in the first place. "We look at how much sleep we need, and how much REM (rapid eye movement) sleep a person gets," Klein said.

For the most part, psychologists believe dreams are just consolidated memories but can mean more for children, Klein said.

"When kids are younger, they practice social scripts in their dreams," he said. "They go through different or possibly painful situations, so that if they run into them in real life, they can handle them better. This is why many people dream of being naked in public, and exposed or that others will find out something you are angels might mean there is something the dreamer needs to hear and pay attention to. -www.dreamprober.com

Local musician helped build Manhattan rock scene

I can remember the moment I came to believe in Manhattan's music scene.

I admit the exact date of the occasion since has escaped my memory, and some of the details have now been blurred by time (even more than they were then by the cigarette BROWN smoke that filled the room). But well past the fog of my mind, there remains an image. And following the moment I saw this image, there quickly came an excitement that seldom has been matched

About two years ago, I attended a concert at Auntie Mae's Parlor. I had been to this bar before, but I realized instantly this time was different.

As I entered, the street noise of Aggieville soon faded, then disappeared altogether and was taken over by a pulse. This pulse, which I felt as much as heard, was that of hands pounding the rafters of the basement ceiling below me. As soon as I paid the cover charge at the door, my curiosity led me halfway down the parlor's stairs. I then stopped, leaned over and looked to my left - and there was the image that would inspire my interest in Manhattan's music scene.

Jess

Through the waving hands and countless bobbing heads I saw Kirk Rundstrom, the fiery-eyed, rapid-fire flat-picking front man of Split Lip Rayfield. Never had I witnessed fingers torpedo up and down the neck of a guitar in such a manner.

Between his instrumental showcases, he matched his guitar excellence with his twangy, gritty baritone croon, singing above the crowd that was joining him in song.

Within seconds, I, too, would become one of the 100-plus, rafterslapping head bangers who had squeezed into the Auntie Mae's basement. And for the rest of the night, I was a slave to Split Lip's signature sound - a fast-paced, Midwestern bluegrass rampage.

Since the excitement of that night, supporting music in Manhattan, be it local bands or regional acts like Split Lip Rayfield traveling through town, has become a part of my college life. And I have always remembered Kirk Rundstrom for sparking that interest.

Sadly, on Friday, Feb. 23, 2007, Rundstrom died after losing his battle with esophageal cancer. He was 38 years old. Kirk was a brilliant musician, husband and father of two daughters.

But before his untimely death, Rundstrom's influence would reach far beyond that of just a future, amateur, local music journalist.

"That guy brought so many bands to Manhattan that I never thought would come to this area," said Jeff Denney, owner of Auntie Mae's Parlor. "Because Split Lip Rayfield was so popular, great bands from all over would come here to open for them. And now those bands have a following here and make repeat visits.

"I know there's a lot of people who enjoyed Kirk and the music of Split Lip Rayfield and his other bands. But a lot of people don't realize what he did for Auntie Mae's, and more importantly, our music scene as a whole."

On Aug. 19 of this past summer, I attended Split Lip Rayfield's grand finale at Auntie Mae's. The reason for its finale was Rundstrom's condition.

Being ignorant to the overall effect of Kirk Rundstrom at the time, I was blown away at what I saw. At 5:45 p.m., six hours before Split Lip would perform, the line of people from the Auntie Mae's entrance stretched for over a block and included fans that had driven all the way from Minnesota.

But what stands out most in my mind about that night was the crowd, including myself, singing along with Rundstrom, the lyrics "I can't stand losing you." At the time, I knew it was true. Auntie Mae's, Manhattan, your many fans across the country and myself just can't stand losing you, Kirk Rundstrom.

Eric Brown is a senior in print journalism. Please send your comments to edge@spub.ksu.edu.

HOROSCOPES

Your weekly digest for Mar. 7 - Mar. 13

Aquarius

Get busy trying to make more money. You should get out and enjoy social events where you are likely to meet new potential mates; however, don't spend too much. Saturday will be your lucky day.

Aries

Get out and enjoy an entertaining evening with friends or lovers. You will reach the most eople if you speak out at an organizational function. Tuesday will be your lucky day.

Cancer

Lack of funds may add stress to your already uncertain situation. Be careful not to let friends or peers make you look bad. Tuesday will be your lucky day.

Capricorn

Sign up for courses or fitness clubs. Be thinking about prolonged longevity. Driving fast or double parking will result in difficulties with officials. Saturday will be your lucky day.

Gemini

Family outings will make you feel secure and happy. Your determination and sheer desire to do your own thing will make you successful. Wednesday will be your lucky day.

Libra

If you're already in a relationship, use this added energy passionately. Money may slip through your fingers. You will have a great day if you just say what you feel. Monday will be your lucky day.

Leo

A second chance will result in good work. Exercise your talents and present your ideas. Trips will be a form of healing for your emotional state of mind. Friday will be your lucky day.

Pisces

Brunch, a long walk or a quiet dinner will secure your position in a relationship. Try to deal with the problems of those less fortunate. Saturday will be your lucky day.

▲ Scorpio

Ask family members for help and you will be able to complete the projects more quickly. Your professional attitude will not go unnoticed. Thursday will be your lucky day.

Sagittarius

Visit friends or relatives you rarely see. You are best to ask questions if you aren't certain about issues that are confronting you. Loved ones may be annoyed if they feel restricted. Wednesday will be your lucky day.

Taurus

Misunderstandings could cause confusion and upset. You're intuitive this week; however, this attribute could get you in trouble if you tactlessly say what you think. Sunday will be your lucky

Virgo

Chances to express your ideas and beliefs can bring popularity as long as you're not arrogant. Don't neglect these problems; deal with them once and for all, then move on to more pleasurable tasks. Monday will be your lucky day.

www.astrology-online.com

BUTTERED Does the green guy pay rent?

2014 Seaton #4	$600
1114 Bertrand St #6	$780
314 N Eleventh #I	$640
363 N Fourteenth #6	$750
1200 Fremont #11	$660
214 N Juliette #1	$850
503 N Manhattan #2	$650
523 Moro #7	$550
701 N Ninth #8	$560
515 Fremont	$600
1209 Claffin	$620

2043 College View	$1200
410/412 Fifteenth S	$1140
930 Fremont A	$1500
607 Vattier #A & #B	$1200
1818 Fairchild	$1300

3 BEDROOMS

2031 College View	$960
1504 Hartford Rd	$900
627 Leavenworth St	$930
2055 College View	$1100
1529 Humboldt St #A	$825
2054 College View	$990

931 Bertrand	$1650
430 Moro #1	$1425
705 Bluemont	$1750
612 Fremont	$1620
320 Fifteenth	$2100
414 Laramie	$1350
1329 N Eleventh	$1750
2115 Walnut	$1450
823 Laramie	$2680
715 Laramie #1 & #2	$1500

1410 Poyntz Manhattan, KS (785) 539-4357 www.rent-apm.com Relax and Enjoy the Peaceful Garden Setting and the Beautiful Lush Landscaping at

Westchester Park

Open Monday-Friday 9-6 & Saturday 9-4

(785)776-1118

Candlewood Drive www.WestchesterParkApts.com

Hill Investment & Rental Co. (785) 537-9064 · www.hillinvestandrental.com

NOW LEASING FOR FALL 3 & 4 BEDROOMS

> STUDENT SECURITY DEPOSIT SPECIAL PETS WELCOME!

(785) 537-7007 CLOSE TO K-STATE!

Make Your Home With Us!

1, 2, 3, 4, 5 Bedroom Apartments, duplexes & homes

587-9000

www.emeraldpropertymanagement.com

Your property thoughtfully managed by

Emerald Property Management

537-7701

1109 Hylton Heights Manhattan, KS 66502

PROPERTY MANAGEMENT

One Bedrooms

1022 - 1026 Sunset $395 - $425 1950 - 1960 Hunting $510 - $540

1212 Thurston $525 - $545

1837 College Heights $445

Houses

2005 College View

Showings by

Conversion Apts 1866 College Heights 2-bedroom - $530

1010 Sunset

1 bedroom - $385

Appointment

1825 & 1829 College Heights $800 - Two Story $875 - Three Story

Two Bedrooms

McCollum Townhouses $920

Aggieville Penthouse Apts 617 N. 12th Street

3&4 Bedrooms 1841 College Heights $920 - $1250

All Apartments within Walking Distance to Campus

DON'T SKIP CLASS BECAUSE YOU CAN'T FIND A PARKING SPACE!

Now Leasing for Spring 2007

Now Offering FREE TANNING!

University Crossing

You can WALK to:

Class . Library Aggieville • Banks Restaurants . Coffee Shops Watering Holes (NO DUIs)

Most Locations Near KSU

Clean 1-2-3-4 BR Apartments, Duplexes, and Houses

SINCE 1074

Moore Property Management SINCE 1974

view our property at: www.moorepropertymanagement.com Lease signing begins Feb. 26th

SERIOUS STUDENTS RENT WITH:

LET'S REN

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

to K-State and Aggleville. o-bedroom apartments. an, quiet, private parking. No smoking, no pets. $580. June and August leases. 785-539-5508 or 350 N. 16th. Two blocks to K-State and Aggleville Two-bedroom apartments. Clean, quiet, private parking. No smoking, no pets. $580. August lease 785-539-5508 785-564-0857.

FOUR-BEDROOM, close Available June or August. 785-539-0866.

JUNE LEASE two-bedroom apartment. Walk to campus. Excellent condition/ location. http://www.rentkstate.com 785-410-2814

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM THREE AND four-b Bills paid. 785-762-7191.

ROOM, available June. Balcony, fireplace and dishwasher. Very close to 785-317-3780. message

PRE-LEASING JUNE and August. Some units brand to close asher/ dryer included. details 785-776-2102. youngwilks@yahoo.com, www.wilk-

120

room. Close to campus. $1340, 785-712-7257.

'til Spring Break and Above. Available

June/July/August Call Alliance

Property Management @ 785-539-4357 www.rent-apm.com

Check web for available listings (Changes Daily)

WILDCAT PROPERTY MANAGEMENT 537-2332

> 2BR - $850 3BR - $1,300 4BR - $1,700

8" & Moro

4BR - 21/2 Bath $1,650

14<sup>6</sup> & Fremont

Anderson Village 1BR- $525 2BR - $700-725

1501 Poyntz House - $750

3BR - 2 Bath

1509 Poyntz House - $600

1BR - 1Bath

315 Poyntz 1BR - $650

Fall Leasing

125 Sale-Houses

CONDOS FOR SALE. Two and three-bedroom starting at $112,650. collegiatevilla.com

145

DECEMBER 31. Male roommate and wanted. Studious, smoking. Four blocks from campus. Off-street parking. Free w dryer. 785-341-7171. washer/

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

STUDIO, ONE, two, and gust lease. No pets. Cen-785-587-9460.

TWO AND three-bed room. Close to campus. Central air, dishwasher coin operated laundry fa-No pets 785-537-1746 785-539-1545

TWO-REDROOM APART. at 1010 Leavenworth. Just finished, every thing is new. Washer . Parking off alley No pets. Available immedi 785-292-4320 Dave nights 785-292-4342.

Rent-Duplexes

room duplex. Neutral col ors, lots of space, washer/ dryer furnished, central air, off-street parking. No pets. June lease. $275/ person 785-313-4812

Rent-Houses

Bedroom, also Three, Five, Six and houses All JUNE 1 rentals. Pets

145

seeks two female gradstudents starting fall 2007. August to May lease. New three-bedroom, two bath house with washer/ dryer. $350 plus one-third utilities. Call 847-975-1484.

FEMALE HOUSEMATE. No drinking/ smoking. $295/ month. One-third utilities, washer/ dryer, Aulease. ca313@ksu.edu, 785-537-1464 FEMALE wanted through July. Twobedroom duplex. Washer/ dryer, and storage. Rent and utilities negotiable. Amanda 913-216-4838.

FEMALE Four-bedroom house. 800 Bluemont. $265/ month plus utilities. 316-619-9524.

OUTGOING females seeking female roommate. No pets. June lease. 913-907-9789.

LOOKING FOR female

roommates for a four-bedroom house. $300/ month plus electricity, gas and SBC. 785-587-9207 or 785-230-3008.

MALE, WALK to class, al furnished, lower level, washer dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, pets, 785-539-1554.

MALE: STUDENT preferred. $260/ month plus one-third utilities 785-640-7042.

ROOMMATE NEEDED until May 31. Rent $275/ month plus one-fourth utilities. Washer/ dryer/ dishin house. Call 785-537-3737.

ROOMMATES NEEDED for two bedrooms in five-bedroom house. Next fall. Close to campus. Outdoor welcome. 620-382-7241.

ROOMMATES NEEDED room house two blocks to campus, three 'Ville. Call 913-775-0465.

150 Sublease

NEEDED FOR SUMMER. One bedroom in a threebedroom, one and onehalf bath, ground floor apartment. New complex, 1420 Beechwood Terr. er, dish-apartment. dryer, washer Sublease May 13- July ing and computer skills.

31. Only pay for June Submit resume with referand July; May already ences by March 9 to paid for. $287/ month Catholic Charities, 323 non- paid for. $2 blocks plus utilities. Abby (leave message) or abby-diane32@yahoo.com.

HUMBOLT. 824 1022 four-bedroom, two bath dryer, central $1300. Doug. 785-313-5573.

PIERRE, Pomeroy, $1100 - $1200. Four-bedroom, two bath, washer, central air. dishgust lease. 785-313-5573, Doug.

rooms, two bath. June 1,

820 OSAGE, 1524 Pipher,

A SIX or seven-bedroom house, three bathrooms. Two blocks to KSU. June 1. 785-317-7713.

BRITTNAY RIDGE town two and one-half baths, includes appliances, washer/ dryer. No pets. August 316-393-9628

FIVE AND Six-bedroom house/ duplex next to campus. Personal washer and dryer, central air, off-

FIVE-BEDROOM bath. June lease, washer, dryer, dishwasher, central air. $1400.00/ month. 785-313-5573 Doug.

FOUR TO five-bedroom August lease. No pets. ntral heat/ air-cond Washer/ dryer, call after 785-587-9460

ROOMMATES

310 150

month

Thurston.

$275 plus utilities. dryer, dishwasher, garage space. message at 785-537-0891. SUBLEASER NEEDED Spring 2007 semester month. Four-bedmonth's rent paid, cheap 913-495-2558 or 913-406-1034

913-406-1034. computer programs (in- earns $800/. SUMMER SUBLEASE cluding MS Office Suite), 785-317-0455. ROOMMATE $430/ month plus utilities. with CRM software includ-ugh July. Two- 7 8 5 - 6 4 3 - 1 9 2 3, ing knowledge of data fil-785-577-4451. TWO-BEDROOM APART-needed. One block from Aggieville. Two years old, washer/ dryer, large kitchen, $800/ month. April 1 to August 1, or sooner. 785-313-1327. ROOMMATE kitchen, WE ARE looking for two subleasers for a nice four bedroom home, located close to campus and Ag-gieville. Full backyard, garage, and sunporch. $250 a month, with a a month, with lease until the end of Please 785-313-3600 if interested!

Employment/Careers

THE COLLEGIAN cannot verify the financial poten tial of advertisem the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach with tion. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, KS 66607-1190. Topeka, KS 66 (785)232- 0454.

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSIS-TANT- Networks Plus, the leader in providing business computer services. has a full-time position available in Manhattan, KS. This challenging posi-tion requires the ability to handle multiple tasks and priorities while maintaining a positive and ener-getic attitude. $12/ hour, only, opportuni ties for advancem mail resume in Microsoft Word or text format to: jobs@networksplus.com. ADMINISTRATIVE ASSIS-TANT: Organized and flex-ible professional to handle clerical support duties for the marriage for keeps project. Must have good communication, multitaskutilities. Contact Poyntz, Suite 102, Man-at 620-218-1114 hattan, KS 66502, fedraz@sbcgloba 785-323-0643.

BARTENDING! $300 a necessary. Training ded. Call 1-800-965-6520 ext. 144.

ains! Working at camp is rewarding. We offer comand travel al-ces. Girl Scouts owances. Girl FOUR-BEDROOM BRICK Mile Hi Council owns two resident camps and several day camps. We are looking to fill the following ns for these camps RN/ LPN's, counselors with garage and central air. June lease. No pets. Call 785-313-4812. farm/ small animal special ist, kitchen assistant, wes ern riding counselors, dance/ drama specialists business managers. For more information call: houses, and apartments. Washer/ dryer, central air. Available now or fall. No 303-607-4846 www.girlscoutsmilehi.org campjobs@gsmhc.org

Neutral colors with nev

Washer/ dryer furnished

bath, washer/ dryer, no smokers. 515 Vattier,

two kitchens, three bath-rooms, fireplace, two car garage, central air. Washer/ dryer furnished.

bath, washer/ dryer, no smokers. 515 Vattler,

1205-

central

lease. Call Monday -

THREE-BEDROOM

785-313-5573 Doug.

TWO-BEDROOM

ment apartment. Washer

No pets.

Available August 1, 1211

UNIVERSITY, New student services. Job requirements: bachelors degree,

excellent written and verbal communication skills, skills, ability to multi-task environment, experience in event planning and coordination, demonstrated ters. The successful individual will be self-motivated, have a team attitude and be committed to $34,000. Position available June 1, 2007. Send letter of application, re-sume or vita and contact filled. KSU is an Equal Op-

Paid for by KSU.

references

of $29,000 to

Cheap utilities

785-868-3471

bath.

Pomeroy.

$1050.00/

No pets. Call

June lease.

month.

lease. Call Monday -

day, 785-776-4805.

785-313-4812.

DELL CAMPUS needed. Promote a top thirty company to gain world business and marketing experience com/Dell to apply.

FAMILY SUPPORT specialist/ recruiter: full-time Case management and recruitment services for marriage project. Must have communication skills. Degree in social sci-ences preferred. Spanish speaking and marketing experience a plus. Must have own transportation. Submit resume with references by March 9 Charities 323 Poyntz, Suite 102, Man-KS 66502, draz@sbcglobal.net, 785-323-0643. Equal portunity employer.

FOUR LANDSCAPING po sitions available Downey Lawn.com looking for two college summer interns that want a career in the horticulture industry and two part time workers. ing Included. Preferring well rounded individudrive, and ability to work Apply in person of Call Nathan Downey toll TOR: KANSAS STATE LAWN(5296)

DowneyLawn.com more details Downey Lawn & Landscape, PO 303 E. Soule Ingalls, KS 67853 .

FULL-TIME SUMMER In

ternship. Join 20 other K-State students. Learn how to run a business. Open proficiency in multiple to all majors. Average earns $800/ week. Call HARVEST HELP Wanted.

Late May through August. Pays well. 785-587-1956, evenings. a constituent- driven ser-vice philosophy. Salary HAY COMPANY in search of summer workers, farm experience needed. Excellent wages. 785-564-2590.

HORTICULTURAL SERinformation for three work-VICES, Inc. is seeking reli-Search Committee, KSU, New Student Services, able, motivated individuals for full-time or part-122 Anderson Hall, Man-hattan, KS 66506. Screentime seasonal positions in our retail garden center. ing will begin March 9 and commensurate with expe continue until position is rience and abilities. Apply in person at 11524 Landrience and abilities. portunity Employer and ac-tively seeks diversity scape Lane, St. George, Kansas 785-494-2418 or 785-776-0397.

Burger King is seeking highnergy people to join our restaurant family. If you are seeking a position that can offer a growth ladder leading to management and a solid benefit package, please come complete an application. We are taking applications for all shifts. We offer:

 Competitive starting wages Paid vacation program for all staff members

■ 1/2 price on/off duty meals ■ Free uniforms

Frequent performance/salary evaluations

· Flexible scheduling Tuition reimbursement program

Retirement program

Savings bond purchase program

Please Apply in Junction City at: Please apply in Manhatten at: 821 Chestnut Dr 1802 N Washington 1328 Laramie Or 3002 Ande

NOW HIRING! Management

Are you confident, positive, fast paced, and enthusiastic?

Burger King's of Manhattan and Junction City oking for result orier No restaurant experience? No Problem

We will train the right individual from the ground floor up. We offer a competitive salary and benefit package based on career and life experience. We are willing to pay the most for the best.

401K Savings plan with our company contributions Liberal paid vacation plan 5 Day Work Week

Monthly & Annual Bonus Program Free Meals

Non-Beyer, District Manager, Burger King Office, PO Box 856, Ogden, KS 66517. 802-421-6400 est, 220, kimbeyer@horizonholding.com-EO

JOIN THE K-State Online team at the Office of Mediated Education, and contribute to a variety of important K-State web sites and applications. Candicapable of learning new skills quickly, self-di-rected, able to work at and willing to devote at least a year to the position. Working with web technologies in an office provides a fun yet chall enging work en Starting wages begin at $7.00. For more information email us at omeof

KITCHEN HELP wanted Starting pay, $6.50/ hour. Apply at 608 North 12th St., Manhattan, KS.

LUNCH WAIT wanted. Good pay. Apply at 608 North 12th St., Manhattan, KS.

LUNCHROOM GROUND SUPERVIings- Manhattan- Ogden Elementary $6.50 per hour one and a half- two hours per day 11:00 a.m.- 1:00 p.m. Ap plication available at www. usd383.org/District/HumanResources/ or apply at Human Resources Department, 2031 Poyntz Av-Applications cepted until positions are filled. Apply to Manhattan-USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Avenue, Manhat-66502 785-587-2000. Equal Opportunity Employer. MAIL CENTER/ duplicate ing student help needed on campus. Freshman or status ferred with ability to work spring, summer, and fall semesters, as well breaks. Duties include campus delivery route. of mail, and copy jobs Computer skills beneficial and some heavy lifting required. Must have a valid driver's license. Our on campus office operates Monday-5p.m. and is eager to work around your schedule. Please apply in per-son at 13 College Court Building, Division of Con-Education, 785-532-5988.

NANNY POSITION available. Part-time. Experiessary. Call 785-564-1340. Call for details,

PART-TIME RECEP-TION/Clerk Position with estate com-Send resumes to: ERA The Conderman Group, 1430 Poyntz Av-enue. 10-15 hours per PINNACLE ELECTRIC has an immediate open-ing for 30-40 hours a ence a plus, but will train right person. Call 785-456-1351.

PLAY SPORTSI fun! Save money! Maine camp needs fun loving land, adventure and water sports. Great summer Call 888-844-8080, apply: PROGRAMMER- CIVIC-PLUS is the nations lead-ing provider of City, County, and School websites. Full-time position in Manhattan. Microsoft ASP and SQL experience required. $15.50/ hour plus time and a half for overtime. Benefits include Health, Dental, Paid Holidays. Paid Vacation, and 401K matching. Email resume in Microsoft Word or text format to jobs@civicplus.com.

PROJECT MANAGER in our Manhattan head quarters office for a fulltime project manager. This challenging position entails managing multiple website redesign projects from start to finish. Position requires attention to age multiple tasks, priori-ties and deadlines and a cheerful attitude. Training is provided. Benefits clude health, dental, paid holidays, paid vacation 401(k) matching. Email resume in text or iobs@civicplus.com. PROJECT MANAGER

CivicPlus has an opening in our Manhattan headquarters office for a full-time Project Manager. This Challenging position entails managing multiple website redesign projects from start to finish. Position requires attention to detail. the ability to manage multiple task, priorities and deadlines and a cheerful attitude. Training is provided. Benefits clude Health, Dental, Paid Holidays, Paid and 401(k) matching Email resume in text of Word format to jobs@civicplus.com. RILEY COUNTY has thir teen positions for sea-sonal laborers. Forty hour work week at $8.66 per hour. Valid driver's license and the ability to lift 70 pounds is required. Appliyears old. Experience in concrete construction, asphalt mainte work. flagging. nance. tree and turf maintena or mowing is preferred. the Riley Clerk's Office, 110 Courthouse Plaza, Manhattan, KS or online at www.riley countyks.gov/jobs. until all positions are filled. Riley County is an equal opportunity employer.

Network Support Technician

Salina Public Schools is seeking a professional to join the Information Technology team in delivering services to 1700+ certified and classified employees. 3-5 Years experience with Windows operating systems. A+ and Network Certifications. Ability to lift and deliver 40 pounds. Salary commensurate with qualifications and experience. Applications accepted until filled. For more information or to apply, go to www.usd305.com. EOE

Assertive, Fun & Outgoing? At Ray's Apple Markets, our Fast, Fun

and Friendly environment is having a major impact in the hospitality/ supermarket industry. And to continue our success, we're seeking talented, outgoing individuals to join our team in Manhattan, Kansas.

Opportunities are available in the following areas:

· Part-Time Cashiers Full-Time Cashiers

· Part-Time Stockers

· Asst. Deli Manager Part-Time Deli Clerk Full-Time Deli Cook

Cake Decorator

Responsibilities encompass extraordinary customer attention, product freshness and quality. Schedule flexibility and the willingness to travel for training may be necessary. We

For consideration, please pick up an application at Ray's Apple Market. 222 N. 6th • 3011 Anderson offer excellent salaries and great benefits including 401(k), medical, dental, cafeteria plan.

THE CITY of Westmore for a pool manager for the and WIS training pre-ferred but not required ence and is negoti Hall, P.O. Box 7, KS 785-457-3361. Deadli for applications is March 16th. Equal Opportunity

UNIQUE OPPORTUNITY:

Every two years MGM Marketing, Inc. accepts applications to fill a Marketing & Logistics position within our small group in Kansas City. MGM is in a niche market that recov of products that are in MGM is currently looking for a creative, motival has common sense, good to communicate well with tomers. Prior experience is not necessary. This is a very good opportunity with a highly respected company. Our group members are paid very well. tion includes most bene fits and requires very little ested please forward a ble. Our contact informa tion and more details about MGM may be found on our website at www. mgmbusinesspartners.-MGM is now com. matching scheduling appointments to conduct interviews.

WILDCATSNEEDJOBS. COM. PAID survey takers needed in Manhattan. 100% free to join. Click on surveys.

$150 per day. Experience shoppers needed to judge retail and dining ments. Call 800-722-4791. WORKSHOP FACILITA

TOR: part-time/ contract. Curriculum teaching for marriage for keeps project. Degree in social ciences preferred. Spanish speaking a plus. Must have good communication skills. Submit resume with references by March 9 to Catholic Charities. Poyntz, Suite 102, Man-hattan, KS 66502, fedraz@sbcglobal.net, 785-323-0643. Equal portunity employer.

Open Market

Items for Sale

HITACHI 57-inch ready, $800 or best offer. 785-548-5120.

COMPLETE GATEWAY personal computer printer. Good working Mike, 785-564-1040.

Music Instruments

GEMEINHARDT COLO for sale! All silver body with gold lip, recent tune up, good condition, rarely used. $500 or best offer, 785-532-9195

Transportation

2004 YAMAHA 600R. Excellent condition. Be tiful blue and white with miles, Yoshi Pipe, fender kit, cover. $5500 or best

WINTER/ SPRING Posi-

Advertise in the Classifieds 33

HAMBURGES NOW HIRING - TWO LOCATIONS ALL SHIFTS, DAYS, NIGHTS & WEEKENDS

ABOVE AVERAGE COMPENSATION

Discounted Meals

 Flexible Schedule · Crew Incentive Programs

 Medical Insurance • Retirement Plan

> 421 N. 3rd Street 3006 Anderson Ave. EOE/Drug Free Workplace

APPLY TODAY • WORK TODAY

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

su do ku

Fill in the grid so that every row, every column, and every 3 x 3 box contains the digits 1 through 9 with no repeats.

> Solution and tips at www.sudoku.com

Free pregnancy testing Totally confidential service Same day results • Call for appointment

GRASS ROOTS | Student volunteers participate in, help run Student Governing Association campaigns

Continued from Page 1

was going to be and trying to recruit people to help out with the campaign," Blaes said.

The most important part of the campaign manager's job is keeping things moving, he said

"I'm responsible for making sure that we're always on top of important issues, that things are running smoothly." Blaes said.

Both Blaes and Hersh said they got involved in their respective campaigns because they want to work with political campaigns in the future.

"I got connected to the Wagner-Peele campaign by my friend Melissa Hildebrand, who was already working for them," Blaes said. "She knew I was interested in running political campaigns for my career, and she encouraged me to take on this role."

Working on SGA campaigns gave a sense of what other campaigns are like, Hersh said

"I understand now what a huge time commitment it can be," he said. "It's not glamorous, and it's huge time commitment, but this campaign has really grounded me in my future plans."

Time spent on SGA campaigns is not the only effect on volunteers. There are changes in cell phone bills, sleep schedules and class attendance.

"I'm worried about my text messaging," Hersh said.

Blaes said he added Wagner and Peele to his Alltel My Circle plan, so he can call them free of charge.

Anthony Carter, assistant campaign manager for Wagner-Peele, said working on the campaign has altered his sleep schedule.

"There's been a lot of late-night meetings and a lot of early mornings at the table in the Union," Carter said. "But a campaign is only as much as you give it."

Though campaigning is an all-day, everyday effort, for many volunteers, classes are still a priority.

"We're all pretty tired; when you look back at college, the memories that will stick with you are things like chalking at 3 a.m., not the amount of sleep you got," said Will Lopez, scheduling coordinator for Mosimann-Piper.

Working with the same group of people for so long creates close bonds.

"We had a campaign team Super Bowl party and a bunch of us went to AfterHours together last Friday," Lopez

For Wayne Stoskopf, jokingly referred to as the campaign intern for Wagner-Peele, it is truly a family affair. His older sister, Julia Stoskopf-Debes, senior in agricultural communications and journalism, is Wagner-Peele's communication consultant.

"I've gotten to work with my sister a lot," he said. "We bounce a lot of ideas off each other in meetings and develop speaking styles together for Matt and Relationships like these are only part of volunteering in SGA campaigns.

Carter said he thought about running himself but decided to support Wagner-Peele instead.

"I think they'd do a tremendous job in these roles, and I'm committed to helping them get there," Carter said.

Without the support from campaign volunteers, candidates could not run = successful campaigns, said Mosimann. _

"The most important part of any campaign is your campaign team," he said. "We have a core group of people you can count on no matter what, whether it's making stencils for chalking or hanging signs when it's 30 degrees outside."

MOSIMANN | Pair seeks to improve rec equipment quality, expand Thanksgiving break, post book list online

Continued from Page 1

right now under the current student body president to just kind of look into the possibility of expanding the

The pair said they want to add more weight equipment. cardiovascular equipment and other health assets to the complex.

They also want to work toward giving students a full week for Thanksgiving break, Piper said.

"Students who are out of state or further away from Kansas would be able to spend more time with their families and have cheaper air fares because of the longer duration," he said.

"It also gives students a longer, more relaxing break before finals."

The last issue of their platform is the creation of an online textbook list for students, Mosimann said.

"We think textbooks cost too much money," Mosimann

"We want to see students have more options as far as where they are going to buy their textbooks.

They want to create an online textbook list that students can access in order to see what textbooks they need, he said.

"We just think that it's information that students have a right to, and we would like to see them get that information," Mosimann said.

Mosimann has been involved in student government for three years.

He served as a student senator. Student Affairs and Social Services standing committee chair and a Student Senate intern.

Mosimann also worked with the Student Foundation, the Arts and Sciences College Council and Chimes, Silver Key and Quest hon-

Piper has served in student government for two years. Piper served as student senator for the College of Business and currently is serving as the treasurer of the student body.

He also has worked with the student alumni board, leadership studies ambassadors, Phi Kappa Phi honorary society, KSU rugby club and as a community assistant in Moore Hall.

WAGNER | Candidates look to establish financial plan center, create online book list, set dead week policy

Continued from Page 1

make sure tasks are accomplished," Wagner said, "but also is relationship-oriented in the way she likes to communicate with individuals and get everyone's story before making a decision."

When they teamed up, student feedback helped decide their three-tier platform, both

"The ideas we have on our platform are fresh," Wagner said. "We are confident they are very achievable."

Establishing a financial planning center is their first tier. According to their Web site, www.ksyou.org, a study conducted at K-State found only 4 percent of students pay off their credit cards each month. The center would inform students on issues including budgeting, credit cards and tenants' rights for free, Wagner said. They already have considered funding options with little cost to students. Academic accountability, their second issue, includes creating an online textbook list and establishing a policy for dead week, the week before finals.

Students would be able to search for the best prices with an online system, Peele said. Teachers easily could update lists. The duo plans to work with faculty senate on creating a dead-week policy that works for students and faculty.

Lastly, they want to eliminate the $50 application fee for study abroad. Students would know if they are accepted into a program before having to pay, both said. The fee elimination would encourage studying abroad. Besides their platform issues, the pair will represent students in parking issues and deferred maintenance, Wagner

The pair has discussed creating a newsletter distributed via e-mail and are considering other means to reach students.

Wagner ran for vice president in 2005 and finished second. He said he realized how important working with others was. Both said they've received' extensive help from supporters in their campaign, and they've enjoyed meeting new people and strengthening existing relationships.

"There is no way we would be here without the support," Peele said. "Whatever the outcome is on Wednesday, I won't regret running."

CLASSIFIEDS

on the next page

Bulletin Board

Flying Club has five air-planes and lowest rates. Call 785-776-1744, www.

THE SECRET Free showing Saturday March 10, 7p.m. ECM Center 1021 attraction to manifest success, happiness, abun-Sponsor: Unity Church of Manhattan

be placed free for three scart found. Come and describe to pickup in Kedzie 103.

LOST: PAIR 785-539-1848,

Rent-Apt. Furnished

ery person equal oppo race, sex, familial status, military status, disabi religion, age, color, na-tional origin or ancestry Violations should be re ported to the Director of Hall, (785)587-2440.

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished Rent-Apt. Furnished ONE-BEDROOM

All-New for Fall 200.

Apply At: 532-3790

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

MANHATTAN CITY Ordi ery person equal opportutinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, nalations should be re rted to the Director of Human Resources at City

> 1117 VATTIER. New all electric. Two-bedrooms pets. Close to campus. 785-313-8292

1219 KEARNEY. bedroom. June year lease. Water/ trash paid. Next to campus, off street parking. No pets. $340.

ALLIANCE PROPERTY MANAGEMENT, One-bed room. June, July, August. 785-539-4357. www.rentapm.com

JUNE 1: one-bedrooms rooms $420- $485, three bedroom $825, four-bedrooms $650. All close to KSU. 785-587-0399.

ONE, TWO, four, five-bedroom apartments/ houses and August leases. 785-564-0857.

ONE, TWO, three, and Close to campus and ag-Parking and laundry. 785-539-5800.

ONE, TWO, three, four, six bedroom apartment/ houses next to campus. Washer/ dryer, cen-tral air. No Pets. 785-537-7050.

ampus. $425 per month No pets. Available June/ August. 785-313-7473. ONE-BEDROOM TO fivebedrooms. Apartments duplexes and homes Most close to campus. Some farther away. or August leases. Check out our website www.

Property Management 785-587-9000 for more in-ONE-BEDROOM VERY close to campus. $550 a month.

emeraldpropertymanag

ment.com or call Emerald

PLACE Apart ments. One- Bedrooms. Summer/ fall leasing. Pets welcome. One- half mile from KSU at Seth Child and Claflin, 785-539-2951

PLACE Apart-Two- bedrooms welcome. Summer leasing. One- half Fall from KSU at Seth Child and Claffin.

THREE AND four-bedable in August. Close to campus. Water and trash paid. Coin operated laundry. 785-537-7810,

THREE-BEDROOM, ONE bath plus vanity. $1050/ month. Trash/ water paid. 1510 College Ave. Pool access. Washer/ dryer in

TWO, THREE and fourbedrooms, close to cam central air, No pets. 785-539-0866. TWO-BEDROOM ments. $495 rent plus free cable through July '07. 785-539-2951.

TWO-BEDROOM, sizes and prices. June of August, 785-341-0686. TWO-BEDROOM. bath. June lease. No pets.

785-539-8580 VERY NICE three-bed room, two bath apartment Three blocks to Aggieville 822 Fremont. Affordable August

785-313-1807. WHY RENT WHEN YOU Two and three-bed room starting at $112,650. collegiatevilla.com 785-537-2096.

WILDCAT VILLAGE, Avai able June or August fourdryer room, $1400. Cable paid. 785-776-2425 785-565-3760.

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

Spacious Duplexes

K-State student closets, all kitchen street parking, phone and room, security lighting, trash Security deposit is the same as one month's rent. The lease period begins August 1 for one year. 4 Bedrooms, 2 Baths ONLY $1,150/mo.

Sorry, No Pets! Quiet Neighborhood, Convenient and Close to Campus. Day: 313-0751 Night: 537-4682

NOW LEASING

close to Campus!

Pre-lease

Today for Spring! Only A few homes remain Amenities:

·Washer/Dryers or hookups available On-Site Managemen Garages Available Private Fitness Cente Storm Center Peaceful Garden Setting Enormous Closets

> GEORGETOWN 776-8080

Graduate Stud Upper Classmen

Julet Park Like Setting. On-Site Laundry • Enormous Closets
Private Fitness Center
• Abundant Parking/Garages

Storm Center Customer Service

Three-Time winner of the National
Multifamily CEL Award for the #1 in Customer Service in Americal On-Site Management Office Full-time Maintenance Person

 24-hour Emergency Staff WESTCHESTER PARK 776-1118

1420

Newer Apartment Lg. 2 & 3 Bedrooms 11/2 Baths Washer/Dryer Energy Efficient

On a Wooded cluded 2 Acre Lot with Creek

$740 & $885 341-4024 1115

ROOM to sublease Very low price. $220 per lees. 914 Bluemont Ave. 785-317-1734 117 including utility

FOUR-BEDROOM THREE baths, June or August, $1280, nice, washer dryer hookups, off-street parking, great location, no

SIX AND five-bedroom house/ duplex, next to washer/ dryer, central air, off-street parking, no pets. 785-537-7050.

THREE-BEDROOM North 5th. No pets, $975/ available June 1. 785-564-0372

One. WALK TO class. two, three, four-bedroom. no drinking. No smoking, no drink no pets. 785-539-1554.

1310 N. 11th. Two-bedclose to campus. 785-313-8292 rooms, family room, 1909 Kenmar, three-bedrooms Both two bathrooms, washer/ dryer, garage game room, fenced yard/

502 FREMONT, three-bedroom, one bath, no pets. Available June 785-539-1975 785-313-8292

814 THURSTON. lease. Water/ trash paid. No pets, no smoking.

AVAILABLE Two, three, four, five, six houses. Washer/ dryer, close to No 785-317-5026.

AVAILABLE JUNE Three-bedroom house lo-1501 Harry Road. Two blocks west of campus, central washer/ dryer, fenced yard. 785-539-3672.

CLEAN, QUIET basement apartment. Two-bedroom, two bath, full kitchen, patio. $385 per month per person. All utilities included. emilyf@ksu.edu.

FIVE-BEDROOM. ease. Very close to camchased and very nice! Central air, full kitchen (stove/ refrigerator/ dishvasher/ disposal), partial kitchen (stove/ refrigerator), three baths, three living areas, double garage. No pets. double car this will 785-539-4641.

FIVE-BEDROOM, bath house for rent. 931 June conditioning. Fenced backyard, pets allowed. street parking. $1 month. 785-539-4949.

FIVE-BEDROOM. June. July, August. Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rentapm.com FOR RENT. Newer four-dishwasher, $1100. 785-537-7597. FOUR-BEDROOM AND Close to campus and Aggieville. Parking and dry. 785-539-5800.

bedroom duplex. Good lo-

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE, 2030 College Heights. Central heat and washer/ dryer. No

785-944-3491 FOUR-BEDROOM, ONE bath house for rent. 900 June Washer/ dryer, central airconditioning. Fenced backmonth. Party shack and to campus. 785-341-9459. FOUR-BEDROOM, washer/ June 785-532-9564. FOUR-BEDROOM.

785-539-4949. FOUR-BEDROOM, and one-half bath, August 1. $975 tate. Call 785-539-5394 FOUR-BEDROOM.

bath, two kitchens.

July, August. Alllance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.rent-apm.com JUNE LEASE. New three

Washer/ dryer hookups, no pets, no smoking. $1,025/ month. Call Kevin. 785-488-7722. NEWER FOUR-BED-ROOM, two bath half duplex. Close to campus Washer/ dryer included.

No pets. $ 785-539-2356. $1200. Call NICE HOUSE at 1010 of campus. Central Leavenworth. Two conditioning. Full kitchen, all kitchen appliances including washer/ dryer. Upstairs has own heat and air, and has just parking off alley, no pets, June lease. Call Dave, 785-292-4320, evenings,

785-292-4342. NICE THREE-BEDROOM Appliances nished. Available June 1, 1505 Hillcrest. Available August 1, 2039 College View. Call 785-234-9500

TWO-BEDROOM Close to campus. Avail-June 785-712-7257. ONE TO five-bedroom

nents and houses. 785-313-8292

ONE-BEDROOM TO five Apartments. duplexes and Most close to campus Some farther away. or August leases. Check emeraldpropertymanag ment.com or call Emerald 785-587-9000 for more in-

Classifieds continue room (two kitchen) July, August. A Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rent-

SIX-BEDROOM kitchen). June, July, August. Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rent-apm.com STUNNING HOUSE Fourrooms, big family room, a nice quiet west neighborhood. Close to city parks. Available now $1350, water and garbage included.

call 785-317-4937 THREE OR four-bedroom house for rent. No pets. Close to campus. lease. 785-539-6096.

THREE, FOUR, FIVE, SIX ing for that perfect home rent? Great selection and prices. Management 785-341-0686.

house three blocks west of KSU. Large rooms, celling fans, washer/ dryer No smoking, pets, or par-June 785-776-6318. THREE-BEDROOM, June ease, close to west side

THREE-BEDROOM NICE

bathrooms, No 785-539-4641. THREE-BEDROOM, ONE full bath. $810, 917 Bluemont, year lease, June 2007 - May 2008. Close June

Mrs. Kim, 913-681-9959. THREE-BEDROOM. JUNE, July, August. Al-llance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.rent-apm.com to campus. Pets allowed

TWO-BEDROOMS JUNE, July, August. Al-llance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.rent-apm.com

VERY CHARMING brick ranch. 2505 Winny. Three attached quiet neighbor No pets, $950. 1 lease. Ryan s, 785-313-0455, hood. June 1 785-776-7706.

VERY NICE four-bedroom one bath house. Three blocks from campus. 2038 View. yard, June 785-313-1807.

Announcements

ksu.edu/ksfc

Lost and Found Lost and found ads can BEAUTIFUL BLACK hat

TO FLY! K-State

Rectangular

Housing/Real Estate

Manhattan CITY Ordinance 4814 assures evnity inhousing without dis-

Reach more readers

www.kstatecollegian.com

Ads scheduled to be printed in the Collegian can be published online for an additional dollar.

Place your classified ad online Get more bang for your buck

Small rooms, big problems

Residence hall room sizes cause roommate, spatial issues

By Eric Davis KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

One thing incoming college freshmen might not look forward to is the size of their living quar-

The lack of space in the average residence hall room sometimes affects what students bring with Alysia Holmgren, sophomore in business, said she lived in a fourperson suite in Ford Hall her fresh-

Holmgren said she knew one of her roommates from high school and met the others by going potluck, that is, being randomly assigned to a room by the Department of Housing and Dining Services.

To save extra space in her room, Holmgren said she raised her bed and stored various personal items

Holmgren said space was a problem until two of her roommates moved out.

Lani Thomas, freshman in open option, lives in West Hall and also said space is an issue in her room. However, she said she knew there might be space problems before moving in.

"We knew that space was going to be an issue so there were some things that we did not bring or waited to get until we got up here,"

Thomas said she and her roommate did not buy a television until after they moved in and knew how much space they would have.

Thomas and her roommate said they felt slightly stifled after moving in and agreed they would like to have more seating but have nowhere to put a chair.

However, Thomas said the room was bigger than she initially thought it would be.

To deal with space constrictions in Marlatt Hall his freshman year, Dave Harmon, junior in finance, and his roommate lofted their beds to create more space.

"We knew that our room was going to be 12-by-12, so we got together and discussed ways to save space," he said.

Harmon said he felt the rooms were too small, and he would have liked to have had a suite his freshman year.

Small space also can have an effect on the relationship between the people living in the room.

Holmgren said that was one reason two of her roommates moved

"We have never had a fight, but there are times that you can feel

Skyler Harper, assistant director for the housing and dining department, said students will have to wait a little longer for major renovations to West Hall.

the tension in the room," she said.

"It will be mostly preventative maintenance in West Hall this summer," he said. "We will be doing a little work on mechanical stuff this summer."

The "mechanical stuff" includes putting in pieces to help keep the fan units in the building stay free of clogs and some work on the elevator penthouse - the area at the top of the shaft.

"We will be renovating constantly as we do every year," Harper said about the completion of renovations in the residence halls.

Harper said there also will be some renovations at the Kramer Complex this summer.

"We will be replacing the beds on the first three floors as well as all the suites," he said.

Carpet will also be replaced along with renovations to the front

DREAMS | Suppressing one's thoughts likely to cause dreams

Andrew McGowan, freshman in agronomy, takes a break from his homework to play video games in Moore Hall. This is McGowan's first year in the residence hall, and he said he plans to live there for another year.

Continued from Page 9

why there is so much negative content in dreams. It helps to practice anxieties."

However, Klein said there is some evidence to suggest we can influence what we dream about.

"A psychologist found that if you try to suppress something, you're more likely to dream about that subject later on," he said. "He told one group of people to dream about whatever they wanted, and told another group not to dream about a secret love, and the next morning, the second group had dreamed about that person."

Other literature suggests dreams might be more of a spiritual experience.

The book "Dream Medicine, Learning How to Get Help from Our Dreams," by Henry Reed, said dreams are real experiences, and are real because they make dreams symbolize what one a difference.

"They change us, understood or not," he wrote.

Food Colors

· Icing Tips

Special Candles

Wedding Cake Toppers

"Dreams are experiences of the soul. The soul compares the activities and experiences of the conscious personality with the soul's larger awareness and idealistic intentions for that life. What we remember in the morning is an echo of the soul's evaluation."

To interpret dreams, people use the truths they see in the dream story, as focused on the dreamer, who is the waking personality, according to the book.

Some students said they agree dreams easily can be

"I believe that dreams do have meanings," said Katie Imel, senior in public rela-

"I dream a lot that I am somewhere in the past, like Hays, where I used to go to school. Maybe it means that I was never supposed to transfer here."

Imel said she believes really wants out of life, but are too scared to come out and say it.

Vern's Wedding Cake Shop

408 S. 6th St., 785-776-7637 Largest selection of cake decorating

supplies in Manhattan.

 Cake Boards Cake Boxes

occasions

· Toppers for all your cake

Including: Thomas the Tank, Pooh, Disney, Barbie

Women's Day celebrated locally, internationally By Eric Davis

International Women's Day "is the global day connecting all women around the world and inspiring them to achieve their full potential," according to internationalwomensday.com.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Matt Castro | COLLEGIAN

K-State women will observe National Women's day on campus.

The campus radio station, KSDB, will be host to a live discussion between three women about how the day is celebrated in their home countries.

These women are from foreign countries with ties both to K-State and Ogden,

The show, which is called Community Bridge, runs weekly on the radio from 5 to 6 p.m.

This week the show will take a break and dedicate its entire broadcast to National Women's Day.

Some countries celebrate the day as a national holiday, making it equivalent to Mother's Day. In the United States, it is not an official holiday, however it still is recognized widely by many corporate sponsors and local organizations.

International Women's Day unofficially began in 1908 when 15,000 women marched in New York City in an act of rebellion.

The women marched in protest of low wages, long working hours and for the right to make their voices heard through the power of

The following year, the Socialist Party of America sponsored the first National Women's day on Feb. 28: According to the Web site, the day still is celebrated, 99 years after the first march.

Because National Women's Day internationally is known, there are literally thousands of events happening worldwide.

Some of those events include political rallies, government activities and events aimed at connecting women locally and abroad.

2007-2008 SGA Elections General Election

http://sgaelections.ksu.edu

Tuesday March 6

8:00 a.m. until

Wednesday

March 7

6:00 p.m.

Positions to be decided:

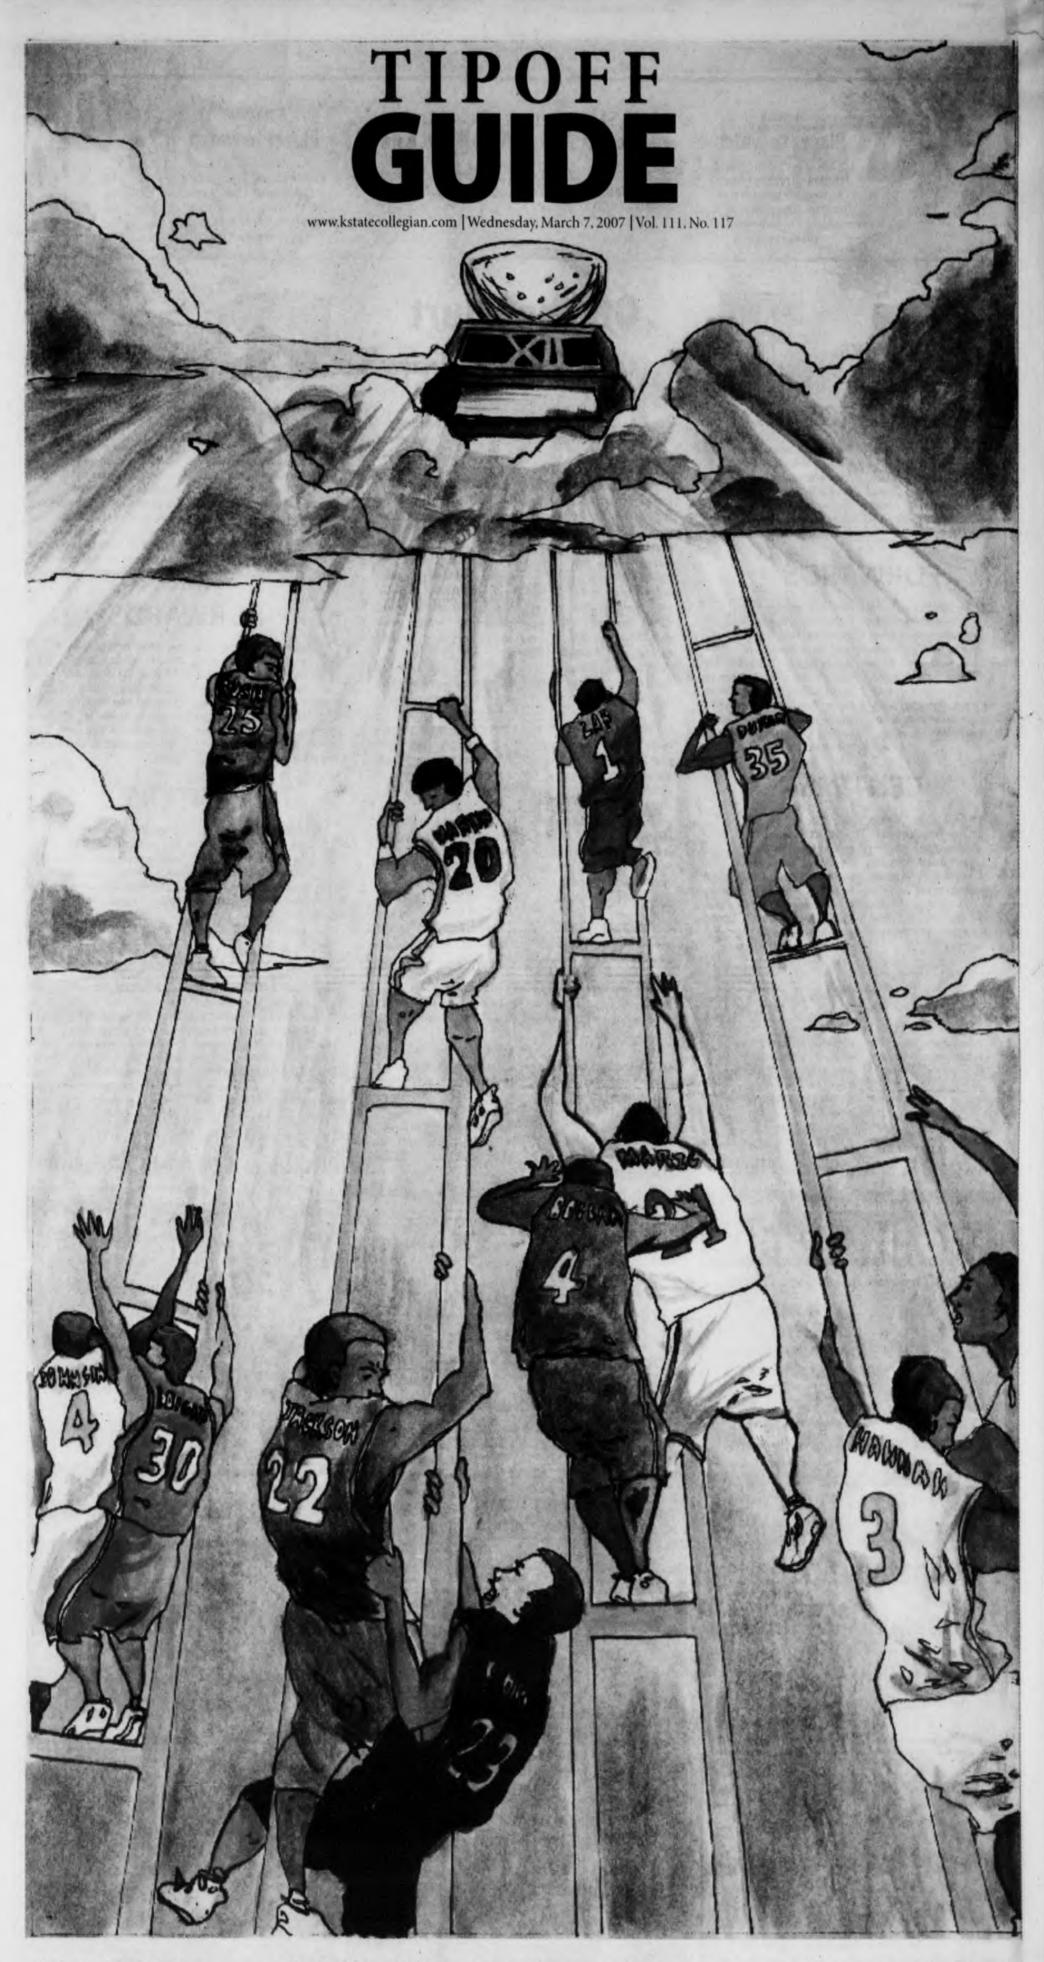

Student Body President & Vice President Student Senate College Councils Union Governing Board Board of Student Publications

SU STUDENT GOVERNING ASSOCIATION ELECTIONS WWW.K-STATE, EDU/ELECTIONS

WHEN YOU'RE DONE READING ALL THE ARTICLES. DOII'T FORGET TO WASTE MORE TIME IN LECTURE BY DOING THE

K-State's NCAA Tournament résumé Page 3 | Big 12 Tournament brackets pages 4 and 5 | Road Trip to OKC Page 6

K-STATE

Player to watch

When junior forward David Hoskins struggles early, it carries over to the rest of his team. This season, he is averaging 14.7 points and 5.8 rebounds per game.

K-State men vs. the winner of the Texas Tech/Colorado game 2 p.m. Friday

Big 12 Tournament | Ford Center in Oklahoma City

TOURNAMENT

Player to watch

This could be freshman forward Kevin Durant's first and last Big 12 Tournament. The first ever Big 12 Player and Freshman of the Year averages 25.1 points and 11.4 rebounds per game.

GUARDS

FORWARDS

K-State's backcourt did nothing in the Wildcats' 62-52 loss to Texas Tech earlier this season. Senior Lance Harris, K-State's third-leading scorer, finished with zero points, his only scoreless outing in conference play.

Junior David Hoskins was the only Wildcat who showed up offensively in the previous meeting, scoring 23 points

Freshmen Jason Bennett

and Luis Colon can be a liability on defense, especially against quicker, more athto take teams to the NCAA Tournament — he's done it

14 years in a row. To keep the

Chan Stowell

letic post players. Those two will develop into solid players with time, but they're simply not ready to make a substantial contribution. Senior Serge Afeli played some solid minutes against Oklahoma on senior day.

Texas Tech.

to lead K-State. Senior Cartier Martin scored just six points in the loss but has reached double figures in every game since. Martin is playing the best basketball of his career, so another single-digit performance from him seems unlikely.

Senior Jarrius Jackson is a first-team All-Big 12 Conference selection, and he played like it in Tech's win over K-State earlier this season. Jackson and backcourt mate Martin Zeno combined for 35 of the Red Raiders' 62 points.

Texas Tech has experience on the inside with 6-foot-8

senior John Plefka and 6-foot-9 senior Darryl Dora.

Esmir Rizvic, the only true center on Texas Tech's roster, has not played since Jan. 6,

when he was the recipient of an elbow to the face from Oklahoma's

Longar Longar. With the seven-foot Rizvic in the lineup, Texas Tech doesn't have a player taller than 6-foot-9. The Wildcats definitely have a size advantage on the inside, if they can exploit it.

winningest coach in Division I basketball history. Still, Texas

Tech's tournament résumé

FINANCIAL SERVICES

2630 Farm Bureau Rd

Manhattan (785)537-0339

chan.stowell@fbfs.com

Manhattan.

CENTERS

COACHING/X FACTOR

Huggins knows how It's tough to pick against the streak alive, he likely needs a win over looks solid, and K-State really needs this

Prediction: K-State 69, Texas Tech 61

Customized coverage. Quick claims response.

Auto Insurance

Call today for a free, no-obligation quote.

Auto Home Life College Retirement

Dora exploded for 19 points in Tech's upset of Kansas earlier this season, but his play has been up and down this season. Freshman forward Decensae White averages a shade under five points per game but scored 11 against K-State in

Off the Court with Bill Walker

BILL

By Jonathan Potter KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Bill Walker, the 6-foot-6 freshman standout, already has experienced fame in a big way, signing about 50 autographs per day. He has more free time than he is used to, but manages to fill the time sinking 1,000 jumpers a day. Walker recently answered questions ranging from his NBA draft status to his outlook for next season.

A: Probably you. I'd say you. I know what to expect. How Bramlage (Coliseum) is going to look next year. The fan base is going to get bigger. The fans are already excited about it, so I just can't wait for that.

Q: What do you do to practice because you can't practice with the team?

A: I usually just try to make 1,000 jumpers. I usually lose count, but I try to make as many jumpers as I can.

Q: On average, how many people per day ask for your autograph? A: I'd say about 50.

Q: When was the first time you began seriously thinking about playing for coach (Bob) Huggins?

A: Probably when I was in eighth grade. I was always a Cincinnati Bearcat fan. I just learned more about the program, learned more about coach Huggins and I became interested.

Q: Have you been frustrated your injury, or did you accept what happened early on?

A: I just accepted what happened. You can't go back and change it. I believe things happen for a reason. It made me refocus, get rededicated and will make me come back as a way better player than I was this year.

Q: What would be the biggest determinant behind you entering the NBA draft?

A: Probably draft status. I'd like to be the first pick. If not the first pick, I'd like to be Top 5. If I can't get in the lottery, then I won't be in the draft.

Q: How do you feel about the "pump up the crowd" video clip that features you?

A: I didn't think they were going to use it like that. I was laughing the whole time I was up there. I was looking at the out-takes from the other stuff I was doing. I just put my head down and wait 'til it's Junior Blake Young was touted as a scorer coming out of Daytona Beach Community College, but hasn't lived up to the billing so far. The 6-foot-2 guard averages just 5.4 points per game in a reserve role. The Wildcats need someone to step up and take the heat off of forwards Cartier Martin and David Hoskins.

If the Buffaloes have a prayer of advancing in the Big 12 Conference Tournament, they must rely on junior guard Richard Roby, one of the league's most prolific scorers. Freshman Xavier Silas, Colorado's second-leading scorer, was suspended for fighting with Nebraska's Ryan Anderson but could return if the Buffaloes advance to the second round.

FORWARDS

Hoskins and Martin probably wouldn't complain about another chance to play Colorado. Both players enjoyed big games against the Buffaloes this season, starting with Martin's 25-point performance in Manhattan. Hoskins, meanwhile, put up 21 in K-State's 87-71 victory on Feb. 24.

No contest here. Freshman Jeremy Williams averages 7.5 points per game, and sophomore Jermyl Jackson-Wilson and junior Marcus King-Stockton combine for 10 points and 10 rebounds. However, that's it for Colorado. If only they awarded points for hyphenated last

CENTERS

Realistically, the center position won't be much of a factor for either team. K-State's big men played a total of 35 minutes and scored 11 points in K-State's first two games against the undersized

The Buffaloes have two freshman centers who average 1.4 points per game, and K-State has Jason Bennett. Hmm, this is a tough one. We'll give the edge to the Wildcats, for potential if nothing else.

COACHING/X FACTOR

K-State beat Colorado twice Colorado has struggled under this season, so a third matchup should favor the Wildcats. However, beating the Buffaloes won't do much for K-State's tournament résumé, so the Wildcats should root for Texas Tech in the opening round. Whoever K-State plays, this first tournament game is a must-win if the Wildcats hope to secure an NCAA berth.

lame-duck coach Ricardo Patton. Still, you can't underestimate a team trying to win one for the gipper. Factor in Colorado's wins over Oklahoma State and Nebraska and you've got a team that could play better than expected. OK, who are we kidding? Even making it to the second round is a longshot.

We Deliver • We Cater 785.537.8782 • 708 N. Manhattan Ave.

discover

Prediction: K-State 84, Colorado 69

Hot, Mild, BBQ, Honey Mustard

$150 Wells & Cosmopolitans $2<sup>50</sup> All Frozen Drinks

$200 Domestic Big Beer

Now open at noon!

in Westloop One who admires you greatly is hidden before your eyes.

beLoud, beProud, bePurple

To whom it may concern:

K-States résumé for the NCAA Tournament Selection Committée

K-State Wildcats Bramlage Coliseum 1800 College Ave., Suite 137 Manhattan, KS 66502

OBJECTIVE

To make it to the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 1996.

EXPERIENCE/LEADERSHIP

Coach Bob Huggins (1980-present)

In 26 seasons as coach, Huggins has compiled 588 career wins and advanced to the NCAA Tournament 15 times. He's taken One of the Final Four The last time Huggins didn't make the

Senior Cartier Martin (2003-present)

Desperate to make his first NCAA Tournament appearance, Martin really stepped up his game in the second half of the season. He scored in double digits in each of K-State's last 16 games, including six games in which he scored 20 points or more. On senior day at Bramlage Coliseum, Martin poured in a career-high 30 points on 10-of-16 shooting against Okiahoma.

The Wildcats won more than seven conference games for the first time since the Big 12's inception in 1996. K-State's best finish previously came in 1998-99, when the team went 7-9 and advanced to the National Invitation Tournament. This year's squad recorded 10 wins and six losses, fourth-best in the Big 12.

20-win season
With its 87-71 road win against Colorado, K-State became the first team since 1987-88 to record 20 wins in a season (not including postseason play).

Las Vegas Holiday Classic champions

K-State defeated USC and New Mexico on consecutive nights Dec. 22 and 23, in taking the championship trophy. Both wins ma by double digit manuface as the Wildows heat Ligo 68.55 and New Mexico 79.56 The win in the title game days the Wildows K-State defeated USC and New Mexico on consecutive nights Dec. 22 and 23, in taking the championship trophy. Both wins came by double-digit margins, as the Wildcats beat USC 68-55 and New Mexico 72-56. The win in the title game gave the Wildcats

Overcoming adversity

Looking for a midseason boost, the Wildcats got it when freshman Bill Walker joined the team Dec. 16. Problem was, his contributions were short-lived. He injured his anterior cruciate ligament in a game against Texas A&M on Jan. 6, and is out for the season. K-State could have used his inside presence but has had to find alternative ways to score points down loss. the season. K-State could have used his inside presence, but has had to find alternative ways to score points down low.

A year ago, K-State lost nine games by five points or less. Three losses were by just one point. It's been quite the opposite this year. The Wildcats are 6-3 this season in games decided by single digits.

Though 21 wins overall is nothing to scoff at, the fact that eight of them came on the road (six of which were true road games) only makes it that much more impressive. By comparison, Oklahoma State, another "bubble" team, finished the season with zero and the eight road wins are second most in the Bid 12. true road wins. K-State has proved it can win away from home, and the eight road wins are second-most in the Big 12.

Ratings Percentage Index

The RPI ratings indicate K-State is a tournament-worthy team, as the Wildcats are listed at No. 60. The strength of schedule is 94th. The Wildcats are only 4-7 against the RPI Top 100, but does boast a 73-72 road win against Texas, which is ranked 29th

No team from the six major conferences since 1999 has finished with 20 wins overall and 10 conference wins and not advanced to the NCAA Tournament. As Huggins has repeatedly asked, why should K-State be the first? Oklahoma coach Jeff Capel

"I think they are (an NCAA Tournament team). They defend at a high level. They have one of the better players in college "I think they are (an NCAA Tournament team). They defend at a high level. They have one of the better players in college basketball in Cartier Martin, and one of the better coaches in college basketball. Our league is good enough to get a minimum of four teams in the tournament. I do believe that Kansas State is one of the best 65 teams in the country."

dicates they're an NCAA Tournament team. I guarantee you there won't be a team that plays as tough as they Iowa State coach Greg McDermott

"They have all the pieces, in my opinion. They are tough mentally and they understand how to play. Part of it is they have a lot building and style of plan".

"They have all the pieces, in my opinion. They are tough mentally and they understand how to play. Part of it is they have a lot building and style of plan".

"Definitely, they're an NCAA (Tournament) team."

Jeffrey Rake

Photo illustration by Parker Rome | COLLEGIAN

Ask for our GREAT daily food and drink specials 3043 Anderson Ave • 776-1022

Wildeat Basketball Always the right call.

ehind Blockbuster

Full Leg Wax $20 Tate $20(SHT only) $20(SHT) $30(Long)

about $2 & $4 add ons

Enrolling Now NAACAS Pivot Point Hair Design Federally Founded Financial Aid For Qualifying Students See us in the Ville's St. Patty's Day Parade

Gift Certificates

Women's Big 12 Conference Tournament bracket

TUESDAY WEDNESDAY THURSDAY FRIDAY (12-16, 6-10 Big 12) WINNER WINNER Noon Fox Sports Net (15-15, 6-10 Big 12) (23-5, 13-3 Big 12) WINNER ' 6 p.m. Fox Sports Net (22-7, 10-6 Big 12) WINNER WINNER 2:30 p.m. Fox Sports Net (16-13, 4-12 Big 12) (22-8, 10-6 Big 12) TOURNAMENT CHAMPION (17-13, 6-10 Big 12) 6 p.m. Fox Sports Net WINNER WINNER 6 p.m. Fox Sports Net (17-12, 5-11 Big 12) (23-4, 13-3 Big 12) WINNER . Oklahoma State 8:30 p.m. Fox Sports Net (20-9, 8-8 Big 12) WINNER WINNER 8:30 p.m. Fox Sports Net (10-19, 4-12 Big 12) (24-6, 11-5 Big 12)

Big 12 Women's Championship facts (as of Monday)

Worst Big 12 Championship series record — Texas A&M 2-10
Best Big 12 Championship series record — Oklahoma 14-7
K-State Big 12 Championship series record — 11-10

K-State record vs. lowa State — 0-0 K-State record vs. Nebraska — 1-0

K-State record vs. Texas A&M - 0-0

Best championship game record — Oklahoma 3-1

Worst championship game record — K-State 0-2
Worst championship game record — K-State 0-2
Most points in a single game — Nicole Kubik (NU), 32 on March 8, 2000; Tera Bjorklund (CU), 32 on March 12, 2003
Highest scoring average (minimum two years or four games) — Anna DeForge (NU), 26.0 points per game, 1997-98

Most assists — Megan Mahoney (K-State), 52, 2002-2005
Most points scored in a championship game — 84 (OU) in 2002
K-State players who made the All-Tournament Team — Andria Jones (MVP, 1997), Brit Jacobson (1997), Kendra Wecker (2002, 05), Megan Mahoney (2005)

— Compiled by Cedrique Flemmin

Catrina Rawson | COLLEGIAN

Freshman Ashley Sweat attempts to grab a rebound Feb. 28 in a 64-55 loss to Oklahoma State. She is averaging 12 points during conference play this season.

Wildcat women face unfamiliar territory

By Dayne Logan KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The K-State women are used to facing tough opposition in the Big 12 Conference Tournament. In fact, in two of the last three tournaments, K-State lost to the team that went on to win it all.

In 2004, then-No. 2 seed K-State fell to No. 6 seed Oklahoma. The Sooners went on to run the table and wound up knocking off top-seeded Texas to claim the championship.

In 2005, K-State, the No. 3 seed, rolled through its first two opponents and earned the right to play No. 1 seed Baylor in the championship. Baylor wound up winning the final 68-55.

The Wildcats fell to Baylor again in 2006, and although the Bears did not win the tournament, they did progress to the final.

K-State's matchup against No. 5 Iowa State Tuesday appeared to be a blessing. The only problem is the Wildcats were seeded last.

Things certainly have changed dramatically in the world of K-State basketball over the last several seasons. A team that was once one of the favorites to win the Big 12 Tournament is now a team most analysts would have considered a long shot to win even a single game.

Starting in 2002, K-State made four straight NCAA Tournament appearances. During that time, the Wildcats consistently were ranked in The Associated Press Top 25 Poll and even received a No. 2 seed in the 2004 NCAA Tournament.

Last year the Wildcats had a subpar regular season and failed to qualify for the "Big Dance." The team did. however, manage to make it into the National Invitation Tournament and made the most of its opportunity by winning the whole thing. The lateseason surge gave fans and players reason to believe K-State was back on the winning track

Unfortunately, the Wildcats got off the track again midway through this season and barring a miracle, are likely to miss out on the post season altogether for the first time in six years.

Once in a Lifetime — Everyone's doing it.

To announce your milestone, visit Kedzie 103. To advertise, call 532-6560.

118 Kedzie 785-532-6560

Men's Big 12 Conference Tournament bracket

THURSDAY

SATURDAY

SUNDAY

8. Iowa State — Overall Record: 15-15 Big 12 Record: 6-10 Last 10: 4-6

Best win: at Missouri Worst loss: vs. Drake

Reason to hope: The Cyclones' first-round opponent is Oklahorna, a team they beat 58-51 on Feb. 13.

Reason to mope: Iowa State ranks last in the Big 12 in field goal percentage at 40.8 percent.

Outlook: Even if they can get past Oklahorna in the first round, the Cyclones will have to face a well-rested Kansas team the next day. Good luck.

11:30 A.M. ESPN Plus

9. Oklahoma — Overall Record: 15-14 Big 12 Record: 6-10 Last 10: 4-6

Best win: vs. Texas Tech Worst loss: at lowa State

Reason to hope: Generally, teams that make a surprise run do it with defense, and that is the Sooners' greatest

Reason to mope: Entering the tournament on a six-game losing skid never helps, so Oklahoma will have to find some chemistry quickly.

Outlook: The Sooners likely need a victory or two to warrant a bid for the NIT, which would keep alive their 25-year postseason streak — the longest such streak in Division I.

5. Texas Tech — Overall Record: 20-11 Big 12 Record: 9-7 Last 10: 5-5

Best win: at Kansas Worst loss: at Baylor Reason to hope: Having already beat Texas A&M (twice) and Kansas, the Red Raiders should feel confident they're capable of beating any team in the Big 12.
Reason to mope: Assuming Tech is able to beat Colorado in the first round, K-State isn't the most appealing team to play in round two. The Wildcats will be looking to avenge their 62-52 home loss on Jan. 8 and desperately need a win to impress the Outlook: So long as coach Bob Knight is on the sidelines, Tech will always be prepared. But preparation can only take a team so far, and they'll have to find a way to win with talent. 2 P.M. ESPN Plus

12. Colorado — Overall record: 7-19 Big 12 record: 3-13 Last 10: 2-8

Best win: vs. Oklahoma St. Worst loss: UNC-Wilmington Reason to hope: Win one for the Gipper. Every game could be Coloardo coach Ricardo Patton's last, as he announced he will retire once the season is over. Reason to mope: The Buffaloes have won only three conference games all season. And suddenly they're going to win four in as Outlook: There's always next year.

7. Oklahoma State — Overall record: 20-11 Big 12 record: 6-10 Last 10: 2-8

Best win: vs. Pittsburgh Worst loss: at Colorado

Reason to hope: The game will be played on a neutral court, where the Cowboys have had success so far this season. They are 5-1 in games played at neutral settings. In "true" road games, they are 0-8.

Reason to mope: Inconsistency. Which team is going to show? The team that outlasted Texas in a triple-overtime thriller, or the one that got punked against Baylor and Colorado?

Outlook: The Cowboys have the talent to win the entire tournament, but the road just looks too difficult after the first round.

6 P.M. ESPN Plus

Nebraska — Overall record: 17-13 Big 12 record: 6-10 Last 10: 5-5

Best win: at Texas Tech Worst loss: at Colorado

Reason to hope: Coach Doc Sadler has seen steady improvement in his first season as coach, and it's all because of effort. If the Huskers go down, they'll go down swinging.

Reason to mope: Aside from center Aleks Maric, Nebraska just doesn't have a whole lot of offensive weapons. If they aren't able to get him going, it's always a struggle to put points on the board.

Outlook: Effort can only take a team so far, and Nebraska's talent level simply isn't up to par.

6. Missouri - Overall record: 18-11 Big 12 record: 7-9 Last 10: 5-5

Best win: vs. Texas Tech Worst loss: vs. lowa State

Reason to hope: Mike Anderson is a fearless coach that loves to play aggressively. The Tigers have nothing to lose, and have a perfect opportunity to be a spoiler.

Reason to mope: Can a team really win four games in four days playing "Forty Minutes of Hell?" Conventional wisdom suggests Missouri doesn't have enough gas in the tank to keep up with the top-tier teams in the league Outlook: A first-round win against Baylor is possible. Beating Texas in the second round doesn't seem as likely.

8:20 P.M. ESPN Plus

11. Baylor — Overall Record: 14-15 Big 12 Record: 4-12 Last 10: 3-7

Best win: vs. Texas Tech Worst loss: vs. South Carolina

Reason to hope: Junior Aaron Bruce, sophomores Curtis Jerrells and Henry Dugat and freshman Demond "Tweety" Carter form one of the best backcourts in the league, and good guard play sometimes can carry a team in

Reason to mope: Once conference play began, the Bears never won two games in a row, so a run in the tournament seems a bit

Outlook: Baylor hasn't won a Big 12 Tournament game since 2001, so just getting past Missouri would be a step in the right

Big 12 Championship Facts

K-State Big 12 championship series record — 6-10

K-State record vs. Texas Tech — 0-2

K-State record vs. Colorado — 1-1

Most points in a single game — Marcus Fizer (ISU), 38 on March 10, 2000

Best scoring average (minimum four games) — Marcus Fizer (ISU), 22.2 points, 1998-2000

Most total rebounds — Chris Mihm (UT), 1998-2000, 78

Most total assists — Aaron Miles (KU), 2002-2005, 60

Two Most Outstanding Player awards — Paul Pierce 1997, 1998 - Hollis Price, 2002, 2003

— Compiled by Jonathan Potter

WINNER

 Kansas — Overall Record: 27-4 Big 12 Record: 14-2 Last 10: 9-1 Best win: vs. Florida Worst loss: vs. Oral

Roberts Reason to hope: The Jayhawks have arguably the most talented group of eight players in the nation, and when they play their best, they've been hard

Reason to mope: As good as Kansas has been this season, it has shown the tendency to play down to its competition. Outlook: The Jayhawks are the obvious favorites to win, but to do it, they might have to beat the two teams that defeated them during conference play — Texas Tech and

1 P.M. ESPN2

WINNER

WINNER

3:20 P.M. ESPN2

WINNER

WINNER

WINNER

WINNER

10 Big 12 Record: 10-6 Last 10: 6-4 Best win: at Texas Worst loss: at Colorado State Reason to hope: The Wildcats are one of the most well-conditioned teams in the Big 12, and will be getting a team that's already played the day before. If they are fortunate enough to advance to the semifinals, they should have the advantage from a physical aspect.

Reason to mope: K-State hasn't won back-to-back contests in more than a month (vs. Missouri, at Texas). Outlook: Getting at least one win is a must if the Wildcats want to secure a spot in the NCAA Tournament. If they get it, their reward is probably Kansas, which is never good.

CHAMPION 2 P.M. ESPN

TOURNAMENT

WINNER

WINNER

2. Texas A&M — Overall Record: 25-5 Big 12 Record: 13-3 Last 10: 8-2

Best win: at Kansas Worst loss: vs. LSU Reason to hope: Senior Acie Law IV has provided dutch shot after clutch shot for the Aggies, giving them a serious advantage when the game is on the line. Reason to mope: Texas A&M's defense has been suspect of late, giving up an average of 87.7 points in the last three Outlook: With Big 12 Coach of the Year Billy Gillispie running a talented group, the Aggies are a serious threat to win the tournament. If that happens, they would make a strong case for a No. 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament.

WINNER

 Texas — Overall Record: 22-8 Big 12 Record: 12-4 Last 10: 8-2 Best win: vs. Texas A&M Worst loss: vs.

Gonzaga

Reason to hope: With freshman Kevin Durant putting together one of the best collegiate seasons in recent memory, the Longhorns seem to be coming together at

Reason to mope: With such a young team — four — the lack of experience could hurt Texas down the stretch

Outlook: The Longhorns are a tearn that has the potential to win against anyone, so a tournament championship is a legitimate possibility. However, they'll have to bring their best to possibly take down A&M and Kansas.

Monthly Specials

Blizzard of the Month 120z fo

Grilled or Crispy $3.99 Chicken Salad

Early Bird Lunch Special Macho Meal $3.99

Monday - Macho Meal $3.99 Triple Cheese, Large Fry, Large Drink

Tuesday All Beef Classic $2.99

Thursday .

Popcorn Shrimp $4.59 Friday . Free 21 oz. Drink with purchase of a Chicken or Shrimp Basket

Saturday Wednesday Walb. Bacon Cheddar $4.59

Sunday

Free 5 oz. Sundae with any Basket Deal

Dine at the finest Italian restaurant in town!

3003 Anderson Ave. Plaza West

539-6444 Lunch Buffet | Lunch Buffet | Lunch Buffet | Dinner Buffet

only $549

Over 100 Items!

Kids eat FREE Buffet* on Tuesday!

Don't Forget:

University Crossing

ROAD TRIP: BRICKTOWN

All you need to know to have a good time in the downtown Oklahoma City district during the Big 12 tournaments

Oklahoma City

- Population: 541,500
- Location: 2 1/2 hours south of Wichita on 1-35.
- Oklahoma City was settled in 1889 during "The Oklahoma Land Run," when homesteaders
- claimed "unassigned land." ■ The Oklahoma City bombing of April 19, 1995, was the largest domestic terrorist attack in U.S.
- The first-ever parking meter was installed in Oklahoma City in 1935.

Bricktown

- Bricktown is the original site of Oklahoma City. It once was a major warehouse district, but is now a developing entertainment district.
- Most Bricktown buildings were built with red brick between 1898
- Bricktown is the home to AT&T Ballpark, Ford Center and Cox Convention Center.

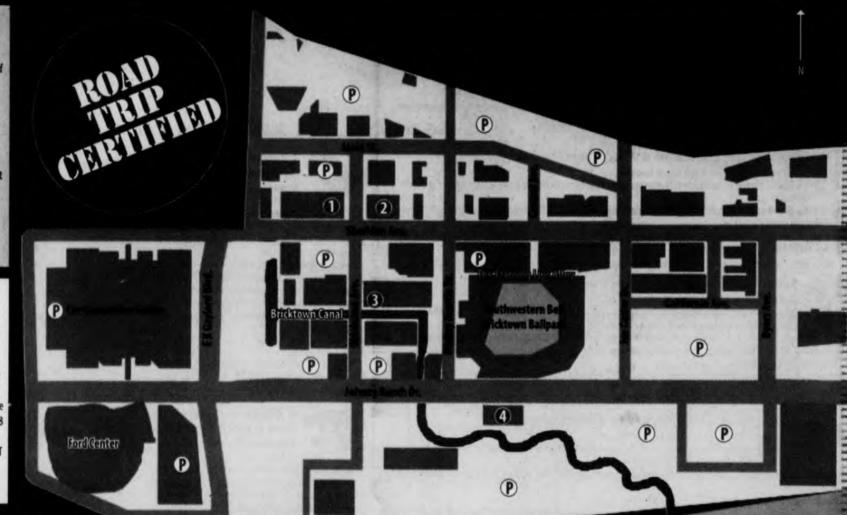

Illustration by Parker Rome COLLEGIAN

4 Toby Keith's I Love This

I Love This Bar & Grill features weekends and a home-style

free live music on the Bar & Grill

10 a.m. - 11 p.m.

40

P Parking

Sports Bars

Bricktown Brewery

Restaurant & Pub 9 a.m. - midnight

The OK Gazette has named Bricktown Brewery the Capacity: 700

TVs: 26 1 N. Oklahoma Ave.

(405) 232-BREW

Capacity: 250

11 a.m. - 2 a.m

Half-Time Sports Grill

is a family environment decorated with chickens and

TVs: 20

115 E. Sheridan Ave. (405) 231-2772

2 Half-Time Sports Grill

At Hooters, register for 11 a.m. - 1 a.m.

(3) Hooters

a chance to win a trip to Atlanta to watch the Final Four with Dick Vitale.

Capacity: 135 Capacity: 481 | TVs: 12

111 E. California St. 310 Johnny Bench Dr. (405) 231-1100 (405) 231-0254

"LARGEST AND CLEANEST FACILITY IN MANHATTAN"

 Coin Laundry Jumbo Computerized Dryers & Large Capacity Washers

* Wash, Dry & Fold Service 537-9833 • Candlewood Center

Coin-op Open 24 Hours • Dry Cleaning & Drop off Monday - Saturday 7am 7pm Sunday 12pm 7pm

Little Caesars

1150 WESTLOOP CENTER MANHATTAN

785-537-3200 Mention this ad and receive one of the following specials:

Basic Manicure and Pedicure

All over Color with Haircut

All over Hilite and Haircut

Claflin

उन्जन्मेना उ the 3933 in TUTO L 1300 Claflin Road

de Order of Cinnamon Stix ith Purchase of Any Large or Medium Pizza at Menu Pric Daggiorille Vorld's Oldest Pizza Hut" 1121 More 535-7666

opping Large Big New Yorker Piz le Order of Breadstix, 2-Liter of S

Kansas State University's independent, student-run newspaper since 1896

INSIDE

This Houston native chose to K-State baseball over LSU, Baylor, Texas and Texas A&M.

See story Page 6

www.kstatecollegian.com

Thursday, March 8, 2007

Vol. 111, No. 118

VICTORY

WAGNER-PEELE 2,635 MOSIMANN-PIPER 2,609

NARROW

Photos by Joslyn Brown | COLLEGIAN

Above: Matt Wagner and Lydia Peele embrace as they celebrate their victory in the election for student body president and vice-president. Below: Wagner and Peele exchange open-mouthed looks of surprise and excitement in response to hearing they won.

Wagner, Peele win general election by 26 votes, look forward to fulfilling platform issues

By Joanna Rubick KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Matt Wagner, Lydia Peele and campaign supporters Wednesday night at Rusty's Next Door in Aggieville.

More indistinct cheers continued to fill the bar as Wagner and Peele jumped up and down and hugged each other several times. About 70 supporters clad in black campaign shirts hugged and offered congratulations. Some even shed a few

"There's so many people here," vice president-elect Peele said to the crowd after the results. "Thank you so much."

Wagner, president-elect, said he appreciated the help the pair received on its campaign.

"Wow, good job," he said. "For those of you that called all day yesterday and today, thank you so much."

pair left for interviews.

During the interviews, those who had not already done so signed picture boards for the pair. The boards contained pictures of the candidates' reaction when they heard they won the primary elections Before the results were announced, Peele, junior in secondary education, said she was more nervous than she had been last week for the primary

Wagner, senior in management information systems, said he benefited from previous experience, so he wasn't nervous. He ran for vice president in 2005 with Tyson Moore and came in

"It wasn't that I knew we were going to win," Wagner said. "I didn't know. I knew what it was like to be in the other position'

Wagner and Peele announced they were running for student body president and vice president February 2.

The pair spent $3,195.17 on its campaign, including nearly $600 they donated to the K-State PROUD cam-

Both said they will be able to accomplish their platform issues, which include creating a financial planning center, establishing a policy for dead week, starting an online textbook list and eliminating the $50 study abroad

Wagner said he and Peele did the research needed to ensure the platform's success

"I think all of those are goals we can get accomplished in our term," he said. Peele said she was excited she and

Wagner won but would have been satisfied with their work even if they had

"It's a huge relief," she said. "Even

See WAGNER Page 10

Jim Mosimann and Nick Piper respond to hearing they lost by 26 votes to Matt Wagner and Lydia Peele. After the radio announcement, they were told they had been listed as the winning pair at www. sgaelections. ksu.edu.

> Hanewincke COLLEGIAN

Mosimann, Piper finish in close second

By Austin Apple

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Tubby's Sports Bar in Aggieville was a sea of green as supporters gathered with Jim Mosimann and Nick Piper and waited for results to be announced.

"I am nervous out of my mind," said Mosimann, senior in political science and economics, before the results were announced.

Both Mosimann's and Piper's parents were present to support the candidates in the last hours of their campaign for student body president and vice president.

"I feel very confident because Jim and I, our campaign team and the rest of our supporters have done everything possible to put us in the best possible position to be successful," said Piper, junior in finance.

The bar went dead silent as the announcer said Mosimann and Piper had lost to Matt Wagner, senior in management information systems, and Lydia Peele, junior in secondary education.

Piper placed his head in his hands, and he and Mosimann embraced. Supporters began calling others on cell phones to discuss the results.

"I'm disappointed," said Megan Pinegar, junior in political science. "We worked really hard, but we all learned a lot from each other, and we did the best that we could."

A discrepancy came up between the results that were announced on KSDB-FM 91.9

See MOSIMANN Page 10

Today's forecast Mostly sunny High: 63 Low: 44

INSIDE

Though fewer Catholics are attending confession nationally, more K-State students are attending now than in years past. A local priests says students are seeking something constant in a changing world.

See story Page 5

CAMPUS NEWS HIGHLIGHTS

Fair to offer student job opportunities

The Journalism and Mass Communications Career Fair will take place from 1 to 4:30 p.m. today in the K-State Student Union Courtyard. Students will network with employ ers offering internships and full-time jobs. Career and Employment Services is promoting the event.

Artist to display work in Union

Visiting New York City artist Christine Hiebert will unveil art she has worked on in the closed Kemper Gallery in the K-State Student Union. The ceremony will begin at 6 p.m. today in the gallery, and art will be displayed until April 2. The gallery is open 8 a.m.-5 p.m. weekdays.

Geographic pioneer to speak today

Jack Dangermond, a renowned businessman in geographic informa-tion system technology, will present his lecture, "GIS Vision and Enabling Technology," from 1:30 to 3 p.m. today in the Fielder Hall Auditorium. Dangermond is the founder and president of ESRI.

Presidential approval rating Here's a quick summary of President Bush's approval rating according to various news outlets. USA Today/Gallup 31% Newsweek

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

2 Gilligan's

home

hend

1980s

5 Blood-

clue 6 Luau

material-

hound's

bowlful

7 Raggedy

8 Release

9 Careless

10 Vaulter's

prop

11 Bygone

16 Namath,

years 20 Illustra

22 Poorly lit

23 Curved molding

to Burns

for many

3 Appre-

24 Mel of

25 In high

26 1976

way

29 Tackle's

30 "Undeniably'

35 Granola

morsel 37 Rack

compo wrongs

make a three

40 Lummox

victim

43 Location

44 Wander

45 Tarzan's

gang

41 Mislay

42 First

right, but nent

39 "Two

27 Burr-

spirits

Margaux

Heming-

Hamilton

teammate

Coopers-

38 Ride into ACROSS 1 Infinites 40 Function-5 October 41 Starbucks stone 9 Hot tub brew 43 Subordi-12 Birthright barterer 13 Finished 14 "Skip to 15 Where patrons gouged nate official 47 Kimono closer 48 Sandals 51 Dry, to a 52 Mexican 17 Under the entree weather 53 Prior nights 54 Wapiti dele

ever's

18 Aide 19 Yawned 55 Undo a 21 Tag playe 22 Entry 56 Whatways 24 Lasciv ious look DOWN 27 Grooved 28 The folks

32 Work with 33 Indivisible 34 Proofreader's find 36 - out a living 37 Puts two togethe

31 Mai (cocktail)

Solution time: 25 mins

getter 49 Long. 50 "Rocks"

CRYPTOQUIP

VMKXJK X BPXZ JH CHHP X BKMTHZ FZJH KXJFZR

OMKXJQ GFZJT, FJ GFRQJ

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: TO HONOR THE VERY BEST MASONS IN THE BUSINESS, MAYBE WE SHOULD HAVE ANNUAL STONY AWARDS. Today's Cryptoquip Clue: H equals O

QUIZZES

Test your knowledge of trivia, entertainment and yourself

Should you run for student office?

By Stephanie Gorges KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Do the signs chalked onto the sidewalks and hugging every tree on campus have you thinking maybe you should run for office?

It's too late to run this year, but a position in student government could be yours in 2008.

However, it's almost impossible to secure a spot if you don't know what's happening on campus, so test your knowledge of the hottest discussion topics at K-State.

1. Both presidential and vice-presidential pairs in this year's election hope to make it mandatory for teachers to post this online for students to see before the semester starts.

A. Class rosters B. Textbook lists

C. Course syllabi D. Message boards

2. The K-State men's basketball team finished this year with its all-time highest ranking in the Big 12 Conference. What are the Wildcats ranked?

A. No. 2 B. No. 3 C. No. 4 D. No. 5

> 3. K-State plans to start building a parking garage on campus in August. Of the 1,400 spots available, how many are planned to be reserved for students?

B. 700 C. 500 D. 300

4. An updated version of which K-State system will be released at the beginning of the fall 2007 semester?

Illustration by Donnie Lee | COLLEGIAN

A. K-State Online B. KATS C. Webmail D. K-State homepage

5. Which was not a component of either presidential and vice-presidential team's campaign this year?

A. Thanksgiving break B. Dead week C. Study abroad fee D. Semester starting dates

0-1 correct: You might not have your sights set on student office, but you should still try to keep up on campus news. More student involvement is key to getting campus issues

2-4 correct: You might have a shot at student government. Keep reading the Collegian and start proposing your own solutions to problems on campus.

5 correct: You could have given the Wagner-Peele campaign a run for its money. Don't worry — there's always next year.

Answers: 1-b; 2-c; 3-d; 4-a; 5-d

ABERNASILE WARDE

By Donnie Lee

The planner

Campus bulletin board

■ Kelly Mason, project coordinator for the Center for Remote Sensing of Ice Sheets at the University of Kansas will present "Design and Construction of a Robotic Seismic Streamer for Polar Regions" at 4 p.m. today in Thompson 213.

■ A memorial service for Diane Sanders will take place at 1 p.m. Saturday at All Faiths

To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at collegian@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

The blotter

Arrests in Riley County

The Collegian takes reports directly from the Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Tuesday, March 6

■ Jason Charles Pearson, Wichita, at 11:24 a.m. for failure to appear. Bond was $6,000.

Mario DeCarlos NichoBaldwin, Junction City, at 1:05 p.m. for probation violation. Bond ■ Matthew Scott Anderson, Garden City, Kan., at 2:12 p.m. for two counts of probation violation. Bond was $2,500.

■ Anthony Ray Moss, 2232 Green Ave., at 3:12 p.m. for failure to appear. Bond was

■ John Christopher Hayes, Topeka, at 4:55 p.m. for probation violation. Bond was $1,000. ■ Kendra Sue Snyder, 812 Northfield Road, at 7 p.m. for failure to appear. Bond was $750.

Phillip Edward Crabb, Warnego, at 7:10 p.m. for criminal possession of a firearm. Bond was $500.

■ Kirk Duncan Crabtree, 730 Pebblebrook; Apt. 6, at 11:53 p.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $1,500.

Corrections and clarifications

There was an error in Wednesday's Collegian. The $3 million in Industrial Revenue Bonds for Farrar Corporation will be issued if the commission approves them in a second reading. The Collegian regrets the error. If you see something that should be corrected, call news editor Alex Peak at (785) 532-6556 or e-mail collegian@spub.ksu.edu.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291 020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167, © Kansas State Collegian, 2007

of all freshmen read The Collegian daily. Catch 'em while they're young!

Advertise with The Collegian today! 532-6560

Online College Courses

Having trouble getting your class schedule to work?

Need to add a class?

Dropped a class?

9-week and 17-week sessions starting soon. Most general education courses transfer to Kansas Regent schools.

Find our schedule online!

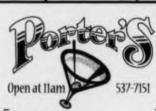

www.bartonline.org

1204 Moro • 537-8910

$2.00 Bottles (Bud, Bud Light, Bud Select) $1.75 Bud Light Pints $3.00 180 Bombs 1/2 Price Margaritas $2.00 Imports and Micros 1/2 Price Salsas

PARTY PIC NIGHT Now Hiring No Cover Charge

$1.50 Any Pint Imports, Bottles .00 Jager Bombs, UV Bombs & 180' Bombs S3()() Red Bull & Vodka

Hard & Soft Tacos Any Sandwich $3.00 Ham-2pm

Hiring 706 N. Manhattan Ave.

K-State Alumni Center

Chester Peterson Public Lecture Kansas State University

Physics Colloquium: Life, The Universe, and Nothing: The Dismal Future in an Ever - Expanding Universe 4:30 pm, March 12, Cardwell 103

Department of Physics

This lecture is supported by an endowment from Chester Peterson, Jr.
Additional support is provided by the KSU Physics Department, the Center for Understanding of Origins, The KSU Honors Program, and Phi Beta Kappa

SGA ganaval alactic

Student Publications Board of	f Directors (c	one-year	College Council term) Name	Votes	Percent	Name Matt Woodward	Votes 404	Percent 12.0
DaNesha McNeely	2,579	33.9	Christina Pyle	404	12.0
Austin St. John acquelynn Haberichter	2,575 2,271	33.8 29.9	Zach Oswald John Newman	370 366	11.0
Villiam Henry Walker	8	0.1	Lexi Billinger	358	10.7
			Will Lopez	353	10.5
tudent Publications Board or erm)	f Directors (t	wo-year	Cody Herbster Larry Fadler	351 343	10.5
lame	Votes	Percent	Jon DiGiacinto	314	9.4
rett Eakin	3,338	98	Scott R. Keller	5	0.1
Inion Governing Board (one-	vear term)		Marty D. Katz John Walter	4 3	0.1
lame	Votes	Percent	Andrew Charles Campbell	3	0.1
arah Morton	1,830	32.3	Sarah Elizabeth Kuhlmann	3	0.1
ustin St. John	1,085	19.1	Daniel Bagwell	3	0.1
nion Governing Board (two-	year term)		College of Education lame	Votes	Percent 18.4	Student Senate Name	Votes	D
iper Hoskins cott Keller	1,536	18.4	Lydia Peele	303	Percent 27.8
lyssa Williams	1,490	17.8	Holly Thomas	273	25.1
college of Agriculture			Kristel Williams Jordan Renée Walters	249	22.9 22.7
tudent Senate			Jordan Kenee Walters	241	22.1
lame	Votes	Percent	College Council		1
thil White	374	16.9	Name	Votes	Percent lint Blaes mily Schmeidler	366 304	16.5 13.7	Kelly Williams Ryan Jacobs	253 252	24.3 24.2
an Atkisson	268	12.1	Jordan Renée Walters	250	24.0
Ilison Crook	260	11.8	Annalisa Hapke	244	23.4
'allaga Caum'il			Melanie Ann Peele	7 5	0.7
ollege Council lame	Votes	Percent	Rachel Bacon Joshua Edward Kutter	2	0.5
resident: John Bergin	171	32.3	Tiffany Nicole Peterson	2	0.2
ecretary: Melissa Bigham	475	99.6	Sarah Marie Bradstreet	2	0.2
reasurer: Dillon L. Sturn activities Director: Torie Reilly	205 448	40.4 97.0	Lisa Hund Michael Marks	1	0.1
R. Director: Kaitlyn Crow	393	82.2	Caroline M Dittamo	1	0.1
		190	Matthew Corey Raybern	1	0.1
College of Architecture,	Planning a	and Design	Cassandra Marie Morrow	1	0.1
tudent Senate lame	Votes	Percent	Susannah Marie Hutchinson	1	0.1
Maggie Waltz	96	79.3	College of Engineering
allana Cassa dia			Student Senate	Vistor	Downst college Council*	Votes	Percent	Name Sam McCord	Votes 401	Percent 14.6
Amy Sue Shaffer	12	8.7%	Matt Coleman	400	14.6
Peter T. Hystead	11	8.0	Brady Ott	383	13.9
tachel Elise Allen	10	7.2 7.2	Peter Boos Jacob Jensen	374 357	13.6 13.0
ulianne Christine Rader Rebekah Joy Udall	8	5.8	Ben Tryon	356	13.0
raci Shannon Yost	8	5.8	Joe Norris	356	13.0
Celsey Lynn Kem	3	2.2	Andrew Michael Huschka	15	0.5
lise Ř. Young Mark Jacob Long	3	2.2	College Council*
Mark Jacob Long	,	2.2	Name	Votes	Percent
College of Arts and Scien	ices		President: Blake Brosa	464	97.1
Student Senate	Votes	Percent	External V.P.: Grant Michael Damas Internal V.P.: Kendall Pacey	4 451	4.2 90.9
Molly Hamm	742	5.6	illeriidi v.r.; kendali racey	401	90.9
Annie Dwyer	669	5.1	College of Human Ecology
Madison Loeb	599	4.5	Student Senate	V
Amy Schultz Alissa Vogel	574 566	4.3 4.3	Name Kyle Spencer	Votes 309	Percent 21.1
Aissa vogei Jessica Schultz	552	4.3	Alyssa Provencio	303	20.7
Adam Tank	544	4.1	Ashley Phelon	295	20.2
amie Ball	541	4.1	Meg Henry	291	19.9
Ernily Haug Bryan Cox	522 503	3.9 3.8	Margaret Neyer	259	17.7
Taylor Symons	496	3.7	College Council		4.1
David Bulcock	496	3.7	Name	Votes	Percent
Piper Hoskins	485	3.7	Alyssa Provencio	298 294	20.4
Kyle Krueger Katie Beye	481 474	3.6 3.6	Michelle Evanoff Catherine West	294	19.9
Alyssa Williams	474	3.6	Catherine Metzgar	282	19.3
Robby Flack	444	3.4	Margaret Neyer	275	18.8
Garah Guinane	428	3.2	Jessica Heath Kelly Susan Morrell	2	0.1
Austin St John	400	3.0	Ashley Renee Phelon	1	0.1
College Council*			Kyle Josef Spencer	1	0.1
Name	Votes	Percent	Andrea Renae Oltjen	1	0.1
Annie Dwyer	830 800	18.4 17.7	Tiffany Siobhan Hands Andrea Stover	1	0.1
Arny Schultz Piper Hoskins	749	16.6	Kacie Dee Luebbers	1	0.1
Mridu Gandhi	715	15.9	Katie Hamm	1	0.1
Ashleigh Reynolds	686	15.2	Hannah Rose Watts	1	0.1
lacquelynn Haberichter	630	14.0	Anna Marie Kiser	1	0.1
Matthew David Wilson Mallory Peterson	5	0.1 0.1	Graduate School
Matthew Roman Schmidt	3	0.1	Student Senate
Elizabeth Holste	3	0.1	Name	Votes	Percen
Adrianne DeWeese	3	0.1	Satyabrata Das	121	23.4
Jessica Rae Schultz	3	0.1	Tim Weninger Daryn Soldan	109	21.0
College of Business Adm	inistratio	n	George H. Weston	105	20.3
Student Senate*			Ramakanth Sreenivasare Jonnala	22	4.2
Name Nick Piper	Votes 467	Percent 15.8	Venkataga Nagisetti Vicki Wray	12	2.3
HICK FIPCI	40/	13.0	TILDI TITUY		442

Kacye Lavender, junior in speech communication and leadership, talks about smoking at the public smoking forum Wednesday at the K-State Student Union.

Forum focuses on smoking ban

By George West KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

During the last few years, smokers across the nation have received a lot of flak. With the recent ban of smoking near buildings by a large majority of major colleges nationwide, many students wonder, "What's a smoker to do?"

Wednesday afternoon, oncampus smokers and nonsmokers had the opportunity to speak their minds in an forum on the subject.

The forum included an eight-minute video on issues addressed in the forum. The first part was the public health issue; second, the economic aspect; and finally, how to protect individuals' rights.

"Hopefully these smoking forums will assist Manhattan and other Kansas communities to develop policies regarding smoking in public areas," said Sarah Snider, graduate student in speech communication.

Students from both sides of the issue discussed a variety of topics involving smoking, including a ban on smoking in public buildings.

"It makes me sick when people want to regulate everything," said Casey Berner, senior in social science. "What's next? The smoke police handing out fines for smoking? If we should ban smoking on campus we should have designated spots for us to smoke that are nice."

Several other students felt there should be a smoking ban.

"I grew up around nonsmokers, and I don't think we should have to deal with the smoking." said Letitia Tajuba, senior in political science.

The forum was co-sponsored by the Institute for Civic Discourse and Democracy and the Union Program Council. ICDD is sponsoring three additional forums in the community throughout March.

"ICDD's goal is to engage the public in dialogue and discussion." said Erika Imbody, project coordinator for the institute. "We're sponsoring these forums to allow people to share their opinions on the issue of smoking regulations."

According to a Harvard School of Public Health study, 29 percent of college students smoked in 1999, an increase of 28 percent in just six years.

Henry Wechsler, the lead researcher in the study, blamed the increase on tobacco marketing in the 1990s.

"This was the Joe Camel generation arriving at college," he

School festival to feature local artists

By Natasha Meyers KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Wamego Middle School will present its students with special courses for the secondannual Fine Arts Festival on The courses will be different because the students will not be learning from teachers. They will be educated by painters, jewelry makers, dancers, an author, fiber artists, several theatrical presenters, a collage specialist and a potter.

Many of the 27 performers slated for the show are from K-State and nearby areas. The effort to provide the students with hands-on activities will consist of five class sessions, each lasting 25 minutes.

Country singer Alton Miller will open the festival. The Colombian Artists Group and the Japanese Yosakoi Dance Club also will perform.

Daniel Aguilar, graduate student in sociology, is from Colombia and will be teaching Afro-Cuban Music for the second time. He said last year his program had an excellent turnout, partly because he allowed the students to interact by playing with the drums.

Aguilar said he will introduce more musical instruments and recordings of salsa music and Latin jazz this time around.

Marc Stratton, member of the school's Fine Arts Committee, said students will learn not only about fine arts but also can obtain information about the different regions of the world.

"We are trying to give the students a taste of what is out in the real world," Stratton

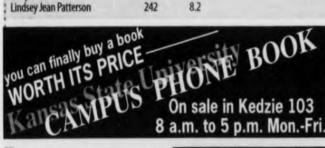

Stratton said he feels sometimes faculty members get so focused with academics they forget about students' other needs.

"We're letting them know there is more to life than test scores," Stratton said.

Maria Beebe, assistant director of the International Student Center, helped Stratton find presenters.

Beebe said she has a list of volunteers she provides to people in need of presenters. She calls the volunteers to see if they are available.

"I think the whole program is important, because I think people need to know about other parts of the world," Bee-

292

289

272

250

9.9

9.8

9.2

9.2

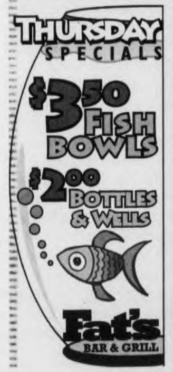

8.5

* Results are unofficial. SGA Elections Commissioner Nick

Levendofsky, junior in agricultural communications and

— Compiled by Logan C. Adams journalism, said final results should be released today.

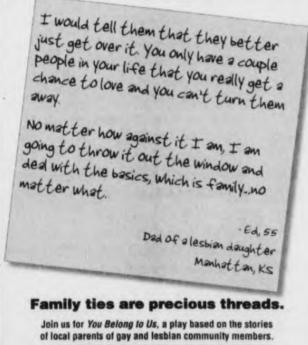

Nick Piper Zach Oswald

Sarah Morton

Owen Kennedy

Cameron Addington Larry Fadler

Free to the public at the Manhattan Arts Center!

Friday, March 9 at 7:00 p.m. Saturday, March 10 at 2:00 p.m. and 7:00 p.m. Sunday, March 11 at 2:00 p.m.

Learn more at www.fhpflag.org or call (785) 770-7550.

PFLAG

Let's keep the dialogue going!

Moore Property Management

Since 1974 1125 Laramie Suite C Manhattan, KS 66502

785-537-0205

4 Bedrooms 4 Baths 1120 & 1122 Pierre

4 Bedrooms 2 Baths 923 Bluemont "A" 1215 Bertrand

3 Bedrooms 2 Baths 927 Fremont

1539 Campus

3 Bedrooms 1 Bath 2461 Hobbs

2 Bedrooms 1 Bath

1010 Thurston 1212 Bluemont

Plus numerous other 2 bedroom and 1 bedroom apartments View our properties at www.moorepropertymanagement.com

Wallet theft gives new perspective toward society

I recently have learned not all good Samaritans mean well. The other night at a party, my wallet was stolen

MEGAN

- admittedly partially due to my own negligence.
The next night,
I got a call from Blockbuster saying a random guy had found my wallet
in the parking lot of Sonic and had used my Blockbuster card to get in touch with me.

I quickly dialed the number they had given me, filled with gratitude to this kind soul who had saved the day.

Then I rushed over to pick it up.

But upon entering his dorm room, I noticed he had been at the same party as I had, and conveniently, had left when my wallet went missing.

Now, I've been accused of many things, and having no common sense is one of them, but I do have the intelligence to put two and two together, and realize this "kind soul" was probably just mad he hadn't found any money in the wallet he stole and was hoping to at least gain a little reward for his actions. I didn't fall for it.

When did kindness and decency become so intertwined with greed and lack of respect?

People don't do things just for the sake of making somebody happy anymore. There's always an ulterior motive, whether it is personal gain or raising your ranking in someone else's eyes. The only exception to this is children. Children's innocence doesn't yet allow for the evils of today's world to seep into their brains, leaving plenty of room for old fashioned good deeds. Perhaps these are the best kind.

The question is, what happens to children during the maturation process that turns them from sweet, little do-gooders to stealing wallets and giving them back as "good deeds"? Was my friend stealing wallets when he was five? I would like to think not.

I've written before about how people today don't know what manners are anymore. I think this goes far beyond that, though. Manners are having the decency to hold a door or say hello. Genuineness is much deeper and involves character.

It's saying hello to someone you pass, and not wondering if they've locked their car with all their belongings in it behind them. I've met a lot of people I can trust in my almost 20 years, but it just takes one or two bad apples to make me wonder.

Far-fetched as it is, I want to live in a world where I can trust that when somebody does me a favor, they're doing it to make my life a little easier. I want to smile genuinely and say thank you, not wonder how many fraudulent charges I'll find on my debit card come Monday.

Megan Molitor is junior in mass communications. Please send comments to opinion@spub.ksu.edu.

Collegian

Megan Moser | EDITOR IN CHEET
Heidi Paulson | MANAGME EDITOR
Alex Peak | NEWS EDITOR
Jacque Haag | CO. COPY CHEE
Jessi Hermandez | CO. COPY CHEE
Jessi Hermandez | CO. COPY CHEE
Scott Girard | CAMPUS EDITOR
Logan C. Adams | MITRO EDITOR
Lacup D. Mackey | TEATURE SENTOR
JONATHAN GAYTEN | SPORTS EDITOR
Elisen Laux | THI TOC EDITOR
Brendan Praege | PRESENTATION EDITOR
Brendan Praege | PRESENTATION EDITOR
Royce Haynes | ONLINE EDITOR
COUNTINES SERVEN | ANNAGER
Eddie Rogers | ASST AD MANAGER

WRITE TO US

Letters can be submitted by e-mail to letters@spub.ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters should be limited to 250 words. All submitted letters may be edited for length and clarity.

> CONTACT US Kansas State Collegian Kedzie 103 Manhattan, KS 66502

Display ads.....(785) 532-6560 Classified ads...(785) 532-6555 Delivery ......(785) 532-6555 Newsroom.....(785) 532-6556 news@spub.ksu.edu

A little ingenuity

Boredom is the inability to find ways in which entertain oneself

"This place is the most boring spot on the planet."

I have heard that inane little expression enough times to make it lose all meaning for me.

ROBIN

Growing up,
I moved roughly every two years.
My dad has been in the U.S. Army since before I was born, and moving is what

army families do best.

I have lived in a jumbled assortment of states, including Kansas multiple times, and spent five years in various German cities. One common experience for each occurred within moments of meeting someone my age. They would adopt a pained expression and brief me on the region's deep dark secret: it was a vast, uninhabitable desert of boredom.

Even in Germany, all people seemed able to talk about was how completely devoid of entertainment the place was. You would think American high schoolers stuck in Europe would have the time of their lives, but many managed to keep themselves miserable. They would sit around and daydream about the United States – the malls and the lower driving age – and count down the days until they would get out of the mindless boredom that was Europe.

I hate to admit it, but I used to be one of them. I distinctly remember when a friend came to school one morning and breathlessly told us his family was moving to Alabama. My first reaction was a jolt in my chest at the thought of losing one of my best friends. Immediately on its heels was a surge of jealousy. His friends all saw him as lucky to be escaping, and we were pretty irked that we would not.

I cannot remember when exactly I started to figure it out, whether I started to get an inkling in those jealousy-soaked days at the Würzburg or Heidelberg high schools in Germany or whether it was at my third high school in Pennsylvania. Maybe it all started to sink in when I came full circle and returned to Kansas for college. But I always had noticed one popular, energetic group who never seemed bored. They had active lives, bursting social calendars and a barrage of entertaining activities. I never understood how these people pulled it off. I assumed it was a combination of stunning charisma and incredible luck and went back to sighing my boredom.

Throughout the last few years, I slowly began to realize what those people really had. They were more willing to entertain themselves than we were. They went out of their ways to make sure something new and exciting was lined up all the time. They explored; they jousted in shopping carts; they went to bizarre parties and kept themselves constantly active. While I was waiting for entertaining things to come to me, these people were out hunting them, knocking them over the head and dragging them home.

I used to toy with the idea of transferring out of K-State, as there have been many times when Manhattan did not seem like the most interesting and active college town.

One day I was sitting in the Union reading when I came across a quote by Rachel Roy. She said, "Only boring people say they are bored." That really stuck with me.

Since I began keeping that in mind, I have not had much trouble finding entertainment.

Every time I start to whine about how bored I am, I stop midsentence and feel deeply sheepish, realizing what that says about me. Then I find a way to entertain myself, to make whatever I am doing interesting. In the three years I have lived here, Manhattan has never been such a blast.

Robin Nelson is a junior in creative writing and literature. Please send your comments to opinion@spub.ksu.edu.

TO THE POINT CLASH

Editorials selected and debated by the editorial board. These are the Collegian's official opinions.

Decision about smoking ban belongs to business owners, not city

We just hope last night's forum on a smoking ban wasn't a waste of time, because the city commission's previous actions proved that endeavor to be fruitless.

In October 2006, the commission wasted a lot of effort when they let go of any hope of a smoking ban for the city of Manhattan. The Union Program Council, in sponsoring Wednesday's forum, invited students, faculty and residents to discuss the possibility of a city-wide smoking ban in public buildings.

The issue of public versus privately owned buildings should not affect the greater issue of why smoking needs to be banned in the first place. Yes, it's a proven fact smoking is bad for everyone's health — including those not doing the smoking. Though that fact is important, the greater issue of the building owner's rights should take precedence.

The government doesn't need to decide issues well within business owners' rights to decide, and smoking certainly is one of those issues.

If the government regulates where citizens can exercise their rights to abuse their bodies, what will come next? It's a line that should stay where it is

That said, we hope the public showed up in high numbers as they did for city commission meetings on smoking.

We hope good discussions took place between members of both fields of thought.

Yet, it makes us wonder, what on earth went on last semester to have so little ground gained in any direction? If so much research, time and effort went into the partial ban, why was a viable option not produced?

Flat out, let private owners decide whether or not they want to ban smoking in their own private establishments.

In the case of public buildings, of course the public should decide whether smoking is allowed.

Smoking harmful to smokers, nonsmokers, indoor ban necessary

Smoking cigarettes is extremely bad for your health. If people want to hurt themselves, they can, but when it affects the health of non-smokers, something is wrong.

This is why the city commission should reconsider passing a city-wide ordinance that would totally ban smoking indoors.

Secondhand smoke has been labeled as a Class A carcinogen by the Environmental Protection Agency. This means nonsmokers can get lung cancer from cigarette smoke.

The EPA estimates 3,000 nonsmokers each year die from lung cancer related to secondhand-smoke exposure.

The EPA also estimates 150,000 to 300,000 children younger than 18 months get pneumonia or bronchitis from breathing secondhand smoke.

Yes, nonsmokers who wish to lead healthy lives can choose not to enter a smoking establishment, but why should smokers be the only ones who can enjoy those places?

If smoking was permitted outside an establishment and not inside, smokers and nonsmokers alike could enjoy the clean air and the entertainment

Manhattan businesses and restaurants have to offer.

If this is not a problem, then why has smoking been banned in places like every classroom on campus, the K-State Student Union and Bramlage Coliseum, to name a few?

Those who wish to lead healthy lives should be allowed to enter and enjoy the same establishments as those who choose not to maintain a healthy lifestyle.

What a person does outside is his or her own decision, but everyone inside an establishment should be entitled to the same clean air.

WORLD NEWS

SUICIDE ATTACKER KILLS 30 IRAQI PILGRIMS; 90 DEAD THROUGHOUT IRAQ

BAGHDAD, Iraq - A suicide attacker blew himself up in a café northeast of the capital Wednesday, killing 30 people as a wave of violence left 90 Iraqis dead throughout the country.

The bloodshed persisted as Iraqi security forces struggled to protect more than 1 million Shiite pilgrims streaming toward the holy city of Karbala for annual religious rituals. The string of attacks have claimed at least 174 lives in two days among the 284 killed across Iraq since Tuesday.

BRITAIN'S HOUSE OF LORDS RECEIVES RADICAL OVER-HAUL, GAINS SUPPORT

LONDON Allowing Britain's non-elected elite to hold political power is a tradtion dating back to the Middle Ages, but lawmakers voted Wednesday to pursue radical reform of the House of Lords with a plan for a wholly elected second chamber stripped of dukes and earls.

House of Commons leader Jack Straw said a panel of lawmakers would draft proposed new laws to implement the change - potentially one of the most significant constitutional reforms in British history.

BRAZILIAN PROTESTERS INVADE CORPORATIONS BEFORE BUSH VISIT

SAO PAULO, Brazil Landless farmers invaded a bank and other corporate property in Brazil on Wednesday to protest the effect of big companies on the poor and President Bush's upcoming visit to the nation.

Fresh graffiti reading "Get Out. Bush! Assassin!" in bright red letters popped up along highways near the locations in Sao Paulo where Bush will appear as he kicks off a five-nation Latin American tour.

— The Associated Press

More at K-State seek confession despite nationwide decrease

By Lacey D. Mackey KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The number of Catholics seeking the sacrament of confession has dropped significantly in recent years, according to the article "A call to confession, for it is fading," in the Washington Post on Feb. 22.

To combat the decreasing number of attendees, the Archdiocese of Washington launched a campaign at the beginning of Lent, the 40-day period of penitence, to encourage people to return to confession.

But at K-State, the numbers are increasing, not decreasing.

Father Keith Weber, chaplain at St. Isidore's Catholic Student Center, said during the past 10 years, he has seen an increase of students seeking confession. Weber said he also has seen an increase of students attending Sunday morning mass.

"I think students, in general, are becoming more in touch with the sacraments in the church," he said. "They're becoming more grounded in the traditions of the church."

As students begin to receive the sacrament on a regular basis, Weber said they begin to appreciate it more and have a deeper understanding of its importance.

"There's a great fear of coming back to the sacrament, but once they overcome that fear, they begin to appreciate the beauty of the sacrament," he said.

The increase of students seeking confession and involvement in the church comes from a need for dependability, he

"My personal feeling is that society has such a rapid change anymore and that students are looking for something more stable," he said.

Emily Bergkamp, campus minister at the student center, said agreed people have expressed a desire for more confession time. Bergkamp said she was surprised attendance for confession had decreased nationally.

Seeking confession is a significant sacrament, which allows people to reflect on their actions, said Jenna Newsum, senior in psychology and pre-

"I believe that it's an important process," Newsum said. "It allows you to evaluate your action and live out your daily

It is also a time to find support and understanding from the priest, she said.

"You ask the priest to be almost an intercessor for you," she said. "The priest is an intercessor to help you find the strength to try to find areas in your life that need improvement. The priest can also give you advice, and it's very personal, and the priests don't judge. It's a time to have self-evaluation."

Panhallenic, Interfraternity councils awarded at Mid-America conference

By Kristen Roderick KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State greeks can be considered among the elite after returning home Feb. 25 with two awards in hand, said the director of greek affairs.

"It'd be fair to say that K-State is one of the top greek organizations in the country," said director Scott Jones.

About 20 students from the Panhellenic and Interfraternity councils attended the Mid-America Greek Council Associ-

> BEDROOMS 1119 Laramie #5

Mon, Wed, Thurs 5:30-7:00

1941 College Heights #4

Mon-Thurs 3:00-5:00

1854 Claflin #14

Wareham - 418 Poyntz #603

Aggie Village - 1215 Laramie

925 Denison #4 1803-1807 College Heights

View at 925 Denison #4

Royal Towers

1700 N. Manhattan #203

3:00-5:30

1:30 - 5:00

10:00-2:00

1:00-5:00

10:00-2:00

6:00-8:00pm

4:00-6:00

1:00-3:00

12:00-2:00

785.776.3804 mdiproperties.com

Saturday Office Hours: 10am-2pm

12:00-2:00

Mon, Wed, Fri

Tues, Thurs

Tues

Mon.Wed.Fri Tues. Thurs

Mon.Wed,Fri

Tues, Thurs

Sat

Sat

Fri

Sat

Now Leasing for TA

4:00-7:00

2:00-4:00

4:00-6:00

2:00-4:00

Check out our model showings now!

With 900 apartments in the Manhattan area,

we can find a place for you!

ation's annual conference and awards banquet Feb. 22-25. The Panhellenic Council composed of members from each K-State sorority won the Sutherland Award, and the Interfraternity Council, the governing board for fraternities, placed second for the Jellison Award.

"I was pretty excited," said Rachel Strouts, Panhellenic Council president. "We didn't expect to win."

Strouts, senior in bakery science and management, said there were awards available in

BEDROOMS

12:30-2:30

2:00-4:00

BEDROOMS

3:30-6:00

2:00-5:00

2:00-4:00

12:00-2:00

1:00-3:00

BEDROOMS

Royal Towers

1700 N. Manhattan #402

Wareham 418 Poyntz #316 Mon.Wed.Fri 12:00-4:00

STUDIOS

1611 Laramie #2

Mon, Wed, Fri 8:00-11:00am

5:30-7:30

12:00-2:00

1026 Osage #22

1419 Leavenworth #2

Fri

eight different categories from risk management to council management. K-State submitted entries for all eight categoriesand won the Sutherland, a compilation of all categories.

After schools submit entries, they are divided according to the number of sorority chapters on campus. K-State has 11 sororities, so the entry was in a group with other schools with about 11 chapters.

The men broke their fiveyear winning streak of the Jellison Award, placing second after Iowa State.

"We broke a trend by not getting our sixth-continuous Jellison," said Zach Hauser, Interfraternity Council president and senior in political science. "But the winning of the awards is a minimal part of the process."

Jones said he is proud of the

Founders Hill Apartments

"If we take a look at the last 28 years, the Interfraternity Council has been a winner of that award 21 times," he said. "That doesn't count the amount of times (it's) been an honorable

It is nice to win awards, Hauser said, but conferences are also a way to show what K-mention."

State greeks are doing well and on what they can improve. "I think we would always hope that there's some areas we can improve," he said.

"It's great to bring home awards, but I think you can focus on the awards and miss the bigger picture of what's impor-

NOW LEASING FOR FALL 2007

Chase Manhattan Apartments 1409 Chase Place (785) 776-3663

1401 College Avenue (785) 539-4600

STUDIOS, 1, 2, 3, 4 BEDROOM UNITS

Woodway Apartments 2420 Greenbriar Drive

www.firstmanagementinc.com

SURE MY SANDWICHES ARE GOURMET BUT THE ONLY THING IS THE WAY I KISS Dimmy John AMERICA'S #1 SANDWICH DELIVERY 1212 MORO ST. 785.539.7454

MMA JOHN'S

YMMIL JOHNS CON

The Collegian is available at 112 locations near you.

COLLEGIAN

Too soon to write off Bennett

Freshman Jason Bennett has had trouble finding the floor lately. He's been benched in three of his last five games. Coach Bob Huggins has chosen to sit Bennett in six games this season and use him sparingly in seven because of "matchup problems."

Garten

Despite not seeing the court for long periods of time, Bennett has managed to make significant dents in several of K-State's blocked-shot

His 49 swats this season dwarf the previous freshman record of 24 set by Shawn Rhodes in 1996. It also wouldn't be crazy to think the 7-foot-3 center would have the season record, which is 59, if he wasn't spending so much time on the bench.

No one is challenging Bennett's ability to alter shots, but the rest of his game has left a lot to be

He has scored in double figures only once, and his game high in rebounds was nine against Coppin

But even though Bennett has a lot of room for improvement, there's still reason to hope.

Assuming he plays four years, he has plenty of time to develop.

You can't expect a big man to develop all the necessary skills overnight.

Bennett needs time, and judging by Huggins' résumé with post players, Bennett has a capable teacher if he is willing to learn.

Jack Parr, who was K-State's dominant post presence from 1955 to1958, is proof you can't judge players by where they start out.

As a sophomore in high school in Richmond, Va., Parr was a gangly 6 feet, 6 inches and 160 pounds.

basketball, I was a lost cause," Parr said. "I took a lot of humorous comments because of (my size)."

Despite the taunting from classmates, he stuck with basketball. He credited his success to the teachings of a high school coach who never gave up on him.

The fundamentals Parr learned in high school carried him to K-State, where he met former coach Tex Winter

Winter, who innovated the famous triangle offense, molded Parr into a three-time All-Big 7 Conference selection and a two-time All-American.

"Tex Winter did a great deal to help me with not only my scoring, but also my defense," Parr said. "That doesn't get a lot of press, but I took a lot of pride in my defense and also, obviously, my rebounding."

Like Parr needed Winter, Bennett needs Huggins. If he listens, Bennett could walk away from K-State as more than just a skilled shot blocker.

One benefit Parr had over Bennett was an extra year to develop while he was a freshman.

In those days, freshman weren't allowed to play on the varsity squad, which allowed Parr to fine tune his game while he sat out for

"I think that helped me a great deal," Parr said. "It helped a lot of people in that era. Not only in terms of basketball, but also in terms of environment, moving from home to university."

It's important to remember that Bennett's freshman season will probably end up being the time when he learns the most.

As Jack Parr's career proves, it's too early to call Bennett a failure.

Jonathan Garten is a junior in print journalism. Please send comments to sports@ksu.

Moving forward

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN

Junior middle distance runner Morgan Bonds will compete in the 800-meter run this weekend at the NCAA Indoor Championships. Bonds qualified for the meet by running a 2:07.87 at the lowa State Classic.

Bonds runs for enjoyment, pride for K-State athletics

By Ryne Witt KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sitting on the mats in Ahearn Field House, junior Morgan Bonds could not stop smiling. She received a surprise the night before - she made it into the NCAA Indoor Championships.

Bonds, who is from Hutchinson, Kan., won the 600-yard run at the Big 12 Conference Indoor Championships this year for the second time in her career. She qualified for nationals by running a 2:07.87 in the 800-meter race at the Iowa State Classic.

Her attitude has stayed positive and hardworking. When asked about her greatest track moment, it was not a title she won, but something she learned a long time ago.

"It was probably the moment I learned most from track," Bonds said. "I was 10, and I went to the AAU (Amateur Athletic Union) national meet in New Orleans. I made finals in the 400 meters, and I was so nervous before the race I was in

"I went out and ran horribly, but I got done, and I was the only person in the whole heat that didn't cry (after the heat). I learned that getting nervous is never going to help you to perform well. It kind of reminded me that this was supposed to be fun."

By Trenton Clifton

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Competitor. That was the word

Wiley, a Houston native, came to sophomore center fielder Byron Wiley

K-State (11-2) with an impressive résumé - he was a first-team all-district chose to describe himself.

K-State

sophomore

Byron Wiley

watches a afternoon against BYU.

Wiley came to

K-State as the third-best high school player in Texas in

Christopher

COLLEGIAN

Hanewinckel

2005.

center fielder single roll into center Tuesday

Bonds has been having fun and winning since then.

At Hutchinson High School, she set school marks for the 200-, 400-, 800-meter, 4x400- and 4x800-meter runs to go along with her triplejump record. She also was named the four-time team MVP.

Her high school records are not her only ones. She was a state champion and owns the record in the 800-meter run. She also was a state champion in the 400-meter dash.

She then made her way to K-State, where she was designated to run the 800. At first, it was not a race she enjoyed.

"I started out as a 400 runner," Bonds said. "After that AAU meet, we decided that it was probably time for me to move to the 800. I didn't take very well to it. I didn't really like it through high school. It was just another event that I did.

"I knew it would be the event I would be most successful at, at the college level. Then I came here and started training for it. The more I ran it, the more I began to like it."

Her freshman year was inconsistent, but she ended won the 600yard run in the Big 12.

"When she was a freshman, she trained very well but had very little self confidence and was up and down," said Mike Smith, Bonds' event coach. "As a sophomore, she outfielder, first-team all-state player and first-team all-Greater Houston player in 2004 and 2005. He also was ranked as the third-best high school player in Texas in 2005 by Texas Base-

With those types of credentials,

Wiley could have chosen a more prestigious baseball school. He had inter-ball News.

developed more confidence but still was not as consistent as she could have been based on training that she

"This year, she is confident and her training is very, very good."

That training has led her to win every race she has entered this year.

Being from Kansas and representing a state school makes it even more special. Her eyes widened when asked about it.

"I think I am the only Kansas kid going to the NCAA meet from a Kansas school," Bonds said. "It means a lot to me. It is pretty spe-

"Even though (Kansas students) don't have some of the best high school times, we're still pretty competitive at the NCAA level."

Bonds said she prefers the smalltown lifestyle. Her major is biology and pre-medicine, and she plans on going to medical school.

"I want to be a family physician," Bonds said with a smile. "Somewhere in Kansas, hopefully a rural excitement.

Smith said he does not know what is going to happen if Bonds makes it to the finals, but Bonds knows. She is going to have fun.

est from schools such as LSU, Baylor,

Texas and Texas A&M. However,

He stands at 5 feet, 11 inches and 205 pounds and is a self-described leader.

guys will follow, I will definitely lead. I feel like with my play, everyone wants to step up, and they have."

fensive weapon.

Wiley is a prototypical outfielder.

"I don't like to lose," Wiley said. "If Wiley has found a home in the

"I have always hit in the top of the fourth spot in the lineup and has not disappointed as the Wildcats top of-order," he said. "The fourth hitter is supposedly the big hitter of the team,

Wiley chose to become a Wildcat.

But before that, Bonds has the 800-meter run this weekend at the NCAA meet. When she and her coach talk about it, she laughs with

Widcats look to Wiley for leadership NCAA field. "Any team that finishes in the top half of this league should go to the NCAA tournament," said Iowa State coach Greg McDermott. "To think otherwise is crazy in my mind.

While K-State is off Thursday with a first-round bye, Tech will try to pad its win total against a Buffaloes team without second-leading scorer Xavier Silas, who was suspended after fighting with Nebraska's Ryan Anderson in a game Saturday.

NEW YORK — Kobe Bryant was suspended one game by the NBA on that action in a little more than a month.

Bryant

The most recent incident came with 58 seconds remaining in the fourth quarter of the Lakers' 117-107 double-overtime loss to Minnesota on Tuesday night, when Bryant struck the Timberwolves' Marko Jaric after taking

Bryant a suspension late in January, when he hit San Antonio's Manu Ginobili in the face after taking a shot.

Bryant, who is ranked second in the NBA with 29.2 points per game, missed the Lakers' game at Milwaukee on Wednesday and I am stepping up to the challenge! Coach Brad Hill knows that, though Wiley is playing well, he has the potential to be even better. "He is hitting over 400, and there are still some things I can do with his swing that will increase his power numbers," Hill said.

"He has become such a better outfielder since he came here."

In the field, Wiley has no errors this season. He possesses the speed and athleticism to run down balls other outfielders cannot reach.

When Wiley was asked if there was still room for improvement in his game, he did not hesitate to answer.

"I haven't even touched the peak of what I can do so far," he said.

1-MINUTE DRILL

The Associated Press

BKC | Knight's Red Raiders hoping for NCAA push

OKLAHOMA CITY — Texas Tech coach Bob Knight was not about to guess whether his Red Raiders have already done enough to merit a spot in the NCAA Tournament field.

Knight

Knight's leading scorer, Jarrius Jackson, thought it was best that the Red Raiders make a strong last impression at the Big 12 Tournament, starting Thursday against

"We're not for sure in the (NCAA) Tournament yet, so we have to come to this tournament and try to make some noise and have a good run in this tournament to make sure that we're in," Jackson said Wednesday. The Red Raiders (20-11, 9-7 Big 12) appeared to be in good position after consecutive wins against top-10 teams Kansas and Texas A&M in January. But Tech followed those two impressive victories with Knight's longest losing streak in decades, and the five losses put the Red Raiders' postseason hopes jeopardy.

Heading into their opening round game against 12th-seeded Colorado (7-19, 3-13), the Red Raiders have won five of their last six games, beginning with another résumébuilding win at Texas A&M.

"We know that we've still got work to do," said Tech guard Martin Zeno. "We've just got to come to this tournament and just play every game better than we did earlier in the

Along with Texas Tech, fourth-seeded Kansas State (21-10, 10-6) enters the conference tournament uncertain of its postseason fate, while other teams are still clinging to The Wildcats won 10 games in league play — usually a benchmark for Big 12 teams seeking a bid to the 65-team NCAA field but started this week with an RPI of 59. Texas Tech's RPI is 40, and Oklahoma State's is 52, even with a 6-10 Big 12 record and zero road wins.

The No. 7-seed Cowboys (20-11, 6-10) have neutral site wins against Pittsburgh and Syracuse to their credit but cannot feel confident about their chances after falling all the way from a top-10 ranking in December.

"Realistically, to leave nothing out there, we've got to win the tournament," said Oklahoma State coach Sean Sutton. "In order to do that, we've got to play four good games. Is it going to be easy? No, but it's happened in the Big 12.

"We've talked about doing something that has never been done to separate this team from the other teams in this league. It's not going to be easy, but I certainly think it's possible

Only two of the 15 Big 12 teams that have finished a season with 10 conference wins have been left out of the NCAA tournament. Nebraska missed out in 1999 when the Big 12 had six teams with at least 10 wins, and Colorado was left off the bracket in 2004 while Texas Tech got in with nine league

Eight of the 10 Big 12 teams that had nine regular-season league wins have made the

BKN | NBA suspends Bryant for 2nd time this season

Wednesday for striking a player in the face, his second penalty for

The play was similar to one that drew

NBA executive vice president Stu Jackson determined the play to have been an unnatural basketball action and suspended Bryant from a game at New

STEADY CLIMB

Scaling a tree, Stephanie Snyder, senior in horticulture, smiles as she nears the top. Snyder was learning how properly to scale a tree in her Arboriculture class Tuesday afternoon

Geographer tries to predict virus outbreak

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A K-State geography professor is part of a team studying a virus in Paraguay.

Professor Doug Goodin is working to make a mathematical model for Hantavirus. which will hopefully predict where outbreaks of the virus might occur.

The virus can be transferred to humans, causing a disease called Hantavirus Pulmonary Syndrome, Goodin said, which is a cardio-pulmonary disease that is 30-50 percent fatal.

Although the virus' mode of transmission is unknown, he said the best hypothesis is its transference through the urine and feces of rodents, which dry up and eventually are inhaled by humans.

Goodin studies the land cover and how it affects Hantavirus and its carriers. Goodin said he knew of seven or eight different strains of the virus, each carried by a different kind of rodent.

The strain Goodin is studying is carried by the cursor or grass mouse, found in regions of Paraguay, he said.

Goodin is part of a team with other geographers, virologists, biochemists, mathematicians, database workers and mammalogists. Each group researches a different aspect of the virus.

Goodin's research involves analyzing satellite pictures of the landscape. He uses the information to calculate in what kind of environment both the mice and the virus live best.

His research indicates the mice tend to thrive in natural forest areas that have been disturbed, generally by humans.

"Disturbed forest remnants are where the one particular host likes to live," he said, "That's right near where people are living, so if people come into contact with these rodents living in these forest habitats, there is a potential for the disease to be transferred."

Also, mice living in disturbed areas are more likely to be carriers of the disease.

"We have found that there are certain conditions that make it more likely to actually find the virus, and it's associat-

Doug Goodin, professor of geography, is part of a team studying a virus in Paraguay. Goodin studies the land cover and how it affects Hantavirus and its rodent carriers.

ed with those disturbed areas,"

The main goal of the research team is to make a predictive model for Hantavirus.

Goodin compared the model to a weather forecast. He said the model is "essentially a mathematical model that will predict the amount of virus in a particular population at a given time under a given set of circumstances.

"Eventually that could become a predictive model to help understand why these outbreaks happen (and) why the disease suddenly jumps to human populations," he said.

He said the team hopes to turn the model over to public health professionals to use as a prognostic tool and to make models for other diseases.

Goodin received his bachelor's degree from the University of Northern Colorado, his master's from the University of Illinois and his Ph.D. from the University of Nebraska. He has been teaching at K-State for 14 years.

Proposed bill would require photo ID to sell scrap metal as theft increases

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA - Legislators are responding to an increase in scrap-metal thefts by proposing a bill that would require dealers to record a seller's name and address from governmentissued photo identification.

The problem has grown nationwide as the price of scrap copper climbs to more than $2 per pound and other metals experience an increase in demand. Thieves target everything from automobiles to parts from electrical substations.

Supporters say the bill would make it easier for law enforcement officials to track

"Generally speaking, we leave the bill-making to the Legislature, and we'll do our best to enforce it," said Maj. John Sidwell of the Topeka Police Department. "Anything we can do to reduce the amount of scrap metal that is being stolen will be helpful."

The proposal is similar to measures under consideration in Illinois, Hawaii, Texas and Washington. The Arizona House this week approved a proposal restricting on-the-spot payments for large purchases of scrap metal by a 55-2 vote.

A previous version of the bill in Kansas would have required scrap metal dealers to tag each load and house it for 15 days to ensure it wasn't stolen.

But though the new version puts less administrative burden on dealers, Jim Starkey of Till-Star Enterprises in Topeka said lawmakers still are not doing their homework as they pass legislation.

"I'm not opposed to them trying to slow down the crime," said Starkey, who didn't know any dealers who had been approached about the issue. "I'm questioning whether they have the correct information to make an evaluation of the situation."

Stan Morris of L&M Northside Recycling in Topeka said the new version of the bill appears to be a reasonable approach.

"I don't think it's going to be too big a problem," Morris

St. Patrick's Day Specials 7800

College St. Patrick's Day Saturday, March 10th Look for FREE T-shirts, FREE Beads, and Food Specials!

Open at 9am

712 N. 12th St. • 537-8585

Open at 9am 537-7151

706 N. Manhattan Ave.

TUBBY'S 776-4300 615 N. 12th St.

9am

Sports Bar Open open at 9am

1127 Moro • 587-8707

Open at 9am 1209 Laramie • 776-2424

Open at 9am

537-8910 1204 Moro

531 N. Manhattan Ave. • 539-0230

FICTION

Earbud Evil | Conspiring against the conspiracy

By Logan C. Adams
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Editor's note: This is the ninth segment of "Earbud Evil," a fictional story the Collegian is publishing daily until spring break. It follows Alex, a fictional K-State student, as he deals with a hidden threat to the university.

Though the names of real people will accompany made-up characters, all events are fictional. This is intended for entertainment and is not factually based.

Just like that, President Wefald had given away hundreds of millions of dollars that K-State needed.

Our buildings were good enough for our students, he said at the press conference, while a few dozen students and three professors cheered. The money should go to the University of Kansas, he boasted, because they have real problems over there compared to us.

This man had been saying our campus was falling apart just a week before. Now it was "perfectly adequate." Clearly, something was up.

I bumped into a familiar student. He was wearing a Jayhawk ballcap.

"Bill, what the hell is going on?" I yelled above the cheering.

He turned and looked at me, taking a moment before he seemed to recognize my face.

"Alex, isn't this great?" he exclaimed. "KU is getting the money they need. It's about time we all stopped complaining so much and helped them out."

Something sinister had taken over Bill's heart, I thought, as he went back to cheering for Wefald's traitorous announcement. No wager could have made him do this. There was a temptation to take the microphone and argue with the crowd, but I decided I'd rather not be torn to shreds that day.

I turned my back on the press conference and got on my way to Expos 2 over by Ahearn. It might have been the end of the world, but that didn't keep the GTA from taking attendance.

Class started as it usually did, with our instructor talking on and on about logos, but we didn't really listen. We just nodded our heads every time he looked up from the textbook so we could leave as soon as possible.

Logos, just like ethos and pathos, is one of those things a young professor made up long ago because he couldn't think of anything useful and wanted tenure. That sort of thing happens a lot in universities. Philosophy and speech courses are packed with it, I've been told.

One of my classmates, Mattie – short for Matilda – slipped me a note about halfway through the hour. She wanted to chat after class. I looked in her general direction, and she gave a little wave and smiled sweetly. No more convincing was necessary.

The second half of class went fairly quickly because I stopped listening to the words and just wondered what Mattie wanted to say. Maybe she wanted to start a study group (I'll pass). Perhaps she wanted me to let her copy my notes from last week (I would if I could, but I never paid attention).

Or just maybe, this was her way of trying to attract my interest. Don't laugh. Life wouldn't be worth it without the long shots.

Class ended, and I took slow steps down the hall so Mattie could find me. She walked up beside me and nodded her head in the direction she wanted to go, and I followed her. Simple, so far.

Mattie shepherded me out the door and west toward Denison Avenue, and then south to Memorial Stadium, where she led me out to the middle of the field. She stopped in the middle of the turf, crossed her arms and looked at me like I was supposed to talk. I caved.

"So why are we here?" I asked.

Mattie rolled her eyes and sighed.

"Don't you know?" she answered.

I wondered if this was some experiment like the ones sociology majors like to pull, where they put unsuspecting bystanders in awkward spots and see how they react.

"Beats me," I said. "You're the one who invited me on this little trek. What happens now?"

Mattie peered into my eyes like she was checking for some defect and let me in on her secret.

"Have you noticed, you know, people ... lately, they, um, well, I don't know how to say this. They, well, act, you know, funny," she said, losing her edge.

"You mean, for example, passing notes to guys in class and leading them to football fields?"

(Someone was taking control of the university administration's minds, and here I was flirting. That about sums me up right there.)

"No, not like that," Mattie guffawed. "I mean Wefald this morning and all the students wearing Jayhawk stuff. I just don't get it. You're always all skeptical and stuff. What do know about it?"

This left me with a tough decision. I could tell her what I knew and risk making her think I was a loony, or I could lie, say I had no clue and have her lose all interest in me. I picked the option that had a future.

"I got a theory, all right," I said, summoning what bravado I could. "This is going to sound a little, well, odd."

Fifteen minutes later, she believed me.

Coaches resist HGH blood testing

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

What human growth hormone lacks might be the very thing that makes it the latest drug of choice for athletes looking for an edge.

For a few more months at least, there is no widespread HGH testing available, and the four major professional leagues in the United States do not test for it at all. Don't think the athletes looking for a quick fix with little or no risk don't know that.

"People have shifted to growth hormone because, 'I've got a free ride. Nobody's looking at us, so I'll take my chances,'" said Dr. Gary Wadler, a member of the World Anti-Doping Agency and a spokesman for the American College of Sports Medicine.

"With no detection, there's no disincentive," Wadler said. "You (only) get detected if somebody walks into the men's or ladies room, and you've got a needle in your muscle. Or you get caught up in a sting."

At least 13 people have been charged recently in a nationwide investigation into illegal sales of performance-enhancing drugs. Federal agents seized anabolic steroids and HGH last week during raids of two pharmacies in Orlando,

Although some professional and elite athletes have been linked to the investigation, prosecutors have made it clear they are concerned with distributors, not users. But it raises the question of how popular HGH is and whether athletes are using it because they hope to avoid detection.

HGH occurs naturally in the body, and synthetic versions have been prescribed for children with growth issues and adults with pituitary gland problems. The synthetic version has become popular with athletes because it is believed to help build muscle mass. However, it also can make everything bigger, including hands, feet, heads and so on.

HGH abuse, Wadler said, can have the same effect as acromegaly, a disease more commonly known as giantism. Bigger, though, isn't necessarily enough.

"If you look under the microscope, those muscles are not necessarily strong muscles - they're big," he said. "Then I can take low-dose steroids, try to stay underneath the detection level and make those bigger muscles stronger, bigger muscles. I suspect that's what's going on today."

Doing something about it is an ongoing challenge.

After 10 years and several million dollars, scientists and anti-doping officials have come up with two blood tests that can detect the use of synthetic HGH. The first test is in the mass production phase and is expected to be available for use at the 34 WADA-accredited labs by the end of the year. It was used at the Athens and Turin Olympics.

But the test only detects HGH for a day or two after it is used. A second test, which could detect synthetic HGH for a week to two weeks after use, is expected to be available sometime in 2008.

Although HGH is banned by Major League Baseball and the National Football League, neither tests for the drug right now. Both question the reliability of the blood tests and want a urine test developed.

The leagues have given Don Catlin, chief of the Olympic Analytical Laboratory at UCLA, $1 million worth of grants to research and develop a urine HGH test.

"I'm interested in a test, but I'm not interested in the test that's been developed by WADA," said Gene Upshaw, executive director of the NFL players' union.

"Think about a blood test," he said. "There is no conclusive evidence it even works. That's the first thing. Second, to even detect HGH in your system, it almost has to be done when it's taken. That means our guys would have to be pin cushions. They're not going to be pin cushions."

Wadler said players are stuck with needles all the time, whether it is to get an IV, a cortisone shot or an injection of painkiller. They also undergo routine physicals that include bloodwork.

But there is a difference between putting something in the body and taking it out, Upshaw said. Until someone comes up with another, lessinvasive way to detect for HGH, NFL players will not be taking the test.

"You don't see anyone defending anyone that's cheating," Upshaw said. "(But) I'm not ready to expose my players to being tested, especially with blood, until there's a reliable test."

Catlin has said he cannot put a timeline on when a urine HGH test might be available. But almost everyone agrees it will not be anytime soon.

If that is the case, the use of HGH likely will continue, undetected except through drug busts and court cases.

"You can deny, deny, deny," Wadler said, "but at end of day, the facts speak for themselves.
This is not to be dealt with in matters of incrementalism.
This requires a comprehensive approach."

Wichita, Fort Scott honor Gordon Parks

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WICHITA – Wichita and Fort Scott, Kan., are working to honor legendary writer, photographer and filmmaker Gordon Parks. Parks once attributed his creativity to his childhood growing up in extreme poverty and segregation in Kansas.

Wichita State University marked the first anniversary of his death Wednesday with film showings and poetry readings.

The university also has proposed becoming a hub of Parks activities for other universities and cities. The plan includes a Gordon Parks Center for the Creative Arts, a lecture series and workshops in photography and creative writing.

Parks chose to be buried in Fort Scott's Evergreen Cemetery next to his parents. This spring, Fort Scott residents will install a 6-foot-tall granite memorial near his grave with a picture of him, featuring his poem "Homecoming" on one side and his poem "A Sign by the Road" on the other.

The year before he died, Parks wrote, "Today a will-maker dropped by to tell me that time was weary - and growing shorter and shorter, that nights for laughter and dancing are almost over. Perhaps a year of more is patiently waiting, beyond that winding road, Momma, Papa and sisters lay, assigned to graves that accommodate their Blackness. Night arrived loaded with buckets of tainted memories that had besieged my childhood with despair. No escape!"

Parks gave some of his works to Kansas groups before his death. The Sara and Andrew Parks Exhibit at Mercy Health Center in Fort Scott houses one of the largest collections of his photos and poems, as does the Center for Culture and Diversity in Fort Scott.

Four sites in Wichita display his works, including the Kansas African American Museum.

The majority of Parks' estate was given to the Meserve-Kunhardt Foundation, based in New York, said Genevieve Young, his ex-wife and the executor of his estate.

Parks' estate should be settled in six months, she said.

Dodge City residents protest ethanol plant

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

DODGE CITY, Kan. – As owners of one proposed ethanol plant in Ford County continue to fight a lawsuit filed by angry landowners, workers are ready for construction of another nine miles west.

Omaha, Neb.-based Dial
Bio-Renewable Fuels is proposing to build Kansas' largest biofuels complex. The plant, four miles west of Dodge City, would be capable of producing 226.8 million gallons of ethanol and 60 million gallons of biodiesel per year.

A request for a conditional-use permit was filed last week, and the Ford County Zoning Board will consider the application March 26.

"All I can say is we'll begin construction as soon as the permitting process allows us," said Dave Wehner of Dial Bio-Renewable Fuels Wehner said a plant that would produce 113.4 million gallons would be built first, followed by the biodiesel complex. An expansion of the first ethanol plant would double its capacity. The entire project, valued at $550 million, would eventually employ 70-80 people.

The plant would include state-of-the-art technology and would be located on about 66 acres of land just outside of a 100-year-old flood plain.

Landowners in Wright, five miles east of Dodge City, say that is not the case with another company that is trying to build an ethanol plant.

They contend the company did not comply with all local zoning rules in seeking county permission.

County and company officials said they followed proper protocol. A final brief of the lawsuit was due yesterday, and a judge is expected to render a decision soon.

CHARLES CASTLEMAN, VIOLIN Lecture-Recital: "The Virtuoso"

Monday, March 12, 2007 7:30 p.m., All Faiths Chapel

> Assisted by William Wingfield, piano

Professor, Eastman School of Music www.charlescastleman.com Veracini Enesco Hubay Chausson Kreisler Ysaye Quiroga

NEW: AGGIEVILLE PICK-UP STATION
(Calling for cab from Aggieville not necessary)

Two ways to get a ride home!

Aggieville Pick-up Station
 at the 12th & Bluemont Willie's Car Wash

Call 539-0480 if not in the Aggieville area

Every Weekend! Thursday, Friday, and Saturday 11pm - 3am

A free service provided by the K-State SGA.

U-NEWS | Headlines from campus newspapers across the nation

Narcissism more common in students

By Philip Hadley THE UNIVERSITY STAR (TEXAS STATE U.)

SAN MARCOS, Texas - A new study says today's college students are more narcissistic and self-involved than their predecessors, and psychologists worry the trend could be harmful to personal relationships.

The study's lead author, psychology professor Jean Twenge of San Diego State University, examined the responses of 16,475 college students who completed an evaluation called the Narcissistic Personality Inventory between 1982 and 2006. The researchers describe the study as the largest of its kind.

The evaluation asks for responses to statements such as "If I ruled the world, it would be a better place," "I think I am a special person" and "I can live my life the way I want to."

Research shows Narcissistic Personality Inventory scores have risen steadily since the test first was administered in 1982. By 2006, two-thirds of the students had above-average scores, the study said. The study claims narcissists are more likely to have romantic relationships that are short-lived, at risk for infidelity, lack emotional warmth and are dishonest.

John Davis, psychology professor, said it is important to look carefully at the measurements and methodology used in this study.

"These claims should be taken with a grain of salt, and I would be very skeptical," Davis said. "It is important to examine how narcissism and selfcenteredness is defined in this study. In my 30 years of teaching I cannot say that I have observed a difference in the level of narcissistic behavior in my students."

Students admit to some truth to the findings but do not agree with the negative connotations. Kenny Whitehead, senior in applied sociology, said the study was questionable and unobserv-

"Students are worried about themselves, but I know most of my peers know when to put others first," Whitehead said. "We may be self-centered at times, but we are still concerned about others and the rest of the world."

Asleigh Miller, junior in presocial work, said she had mixed feelings about the new study but admitted it had some legitima-

"I do think many college students are self-centered," Miller said. "Even I can be self-centered at times, but I will never forget where I came from or about the issues of the world around me. Many of my friends are involved in the community and are very politically active."

The new report comes after research conducted by UCLA last month found nearly threequarters of college freshmen thought it was important to be "wealthy" and "very well-off financially," the study said.

In the book "Generation Me: Why Today's Young Americans Are More Confident, Assertive, Entitled - and More Miserable Than Ever Before," Twenge said narcissists tend to lack empathy, react aggressively to criticism and favor self-promotion over helping others.

Twenge and Keith Campbell, the authors of the study, were unavailable for comment.

Senator: women earned political roles

By Tyler Harbert

UNIVERSITY DAILY KANSAN (U. KANSAS)

LAWRENCE -Nancy Kassebaum Baker downplayed her role as the first female U.S. Senator and said because women continued to undertake new political roles, her own achievement was just a first step.

The Topeka native began her term in the Senate in 1978 and served for 19 years. She spoke as the honored guest of the Emily Taylor and Marilyn Stokstad Women's Leadership Lecture at the Robert J. Dole Institute of Politics at the University of Kansas on Tuesday night.

Kassebaum Baker said women in leadership roles always have held onto their foundations in community and care.

"Nancy Pelosi didn't get to be the Speaker of the House by batting her eyes," she said.

She said women have continued to gain new roles in the last 15 years by becoming the Speaker of the House, the Secretary of State and a front-runner in the upcoming presidential election.

"The good thing is, it's no longer a big deal," Kassebaum Baker said.

She said her mother was the biggest influence on her decision to enter into a life of politics, even though her father, Alfred "Alf" Landon, was a former Kansas gover-

"It was mother who encouraged me, who really didn't even care for politics,"

Before her lecture, Kassebaum Baker ate dinner with guests, including some representatives of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, of which she had been a member while at the University of Kansas.

Laurel Proulx, president of Kappa Alpha Theta, said she met Kassebaum Baker for the first time Tuesday, but she felt like she was sitting at a table with an old friend.

"She is a down-to-earth, open-minded woman who has done so much," Proulx

Kassebaum Baker also said Kansas women always had a pioneering spirit, from the women who helped with carrying on the labor-intensive work on farms to Carry Nation, a Kansan who destroyed taverns in the early 1900s to protest the sale of alcohol.

Kassebaum Baker said was important today that politics become more balanced and politicians regain the trust of the nation.

Although more than 50 years removed from her own time in college, Kassebaum Baker said she continued to care about younger generations and she hoped to help young women realize the opportunities they have open Proulx, a sophomore, said Kassebaum Baker spoke with her about her future after college and gave her insight into what she could become.

"I'm pleased to know that there are leaders of her capacity who are still down to their roots," Proulx said.

Students may be contacted for illegal file sharing

By Wade Larson

DAILY NEBRASKAN (U. NEBRASKA)

LINCOLN, Neb. - Students who have not received a letter from the Recording Industry Association of America aren't in the clear

On Feb. 28, the RIAA issued 400 pre-litigation settlement e-mails to students at 13 universities across the

The e-mails were sent to people found by the RIAA to be participating in illegal file sharing. Thirty-six of them were directed at University of Nebraska-Lincoln students.

But so far, only a quarter of those 36 e-mails have been delivered to their final destinations - the students themselves.

Kent Hendrickson, associate vice chancellor for information services, said the e-mails were sent by the RIAA to UNL officials to be distributed to users on the university network.

"At this point we have identified nine computers," Hendrickson said. "And information has been sent to those nine individuals."

The RIAA provided only IP addresses and the time stamp from when the illegal file sharing occurred. They do not know the names of any of the e-mail recipients.

UNL officials have been tasked with tracking the IP addresses to computers and the computers to owners.

Hendrickson said whether the owner of the computer was the one who committed piracy or not, he or she still would receive the letter.

"We can't be 100 percent who used it at that particular time," he said. "We're sending it to the owner of that computer."

UNL network security analyst Zac Reimer said six more IP addresses potentially could be traced to students

He said in those six cases, the RIAA failed to specify the time zone used, which means information services is tracking within an eighthour window.

Part of the reason officials have been unable to find the other 21 users is because of the way network information is stored, Reimer said.

Specific information about network use is kept for 30 days.

After that, some information is kept in an archive, but that information is much less specific, Reimer said.

Reimer said 21 of the 36 e-mails are dated with time stamps past the 30 days, which will make them harder to trace because the storage system was not intended to track illegal downloads.

"It's a tool used more for network diagnostics. It just happens to be useful for this," Reimer said.

The Collegian and the Royal Purple Present:

Free March NADNeSS Tournament Brackets

in CASH and PRIZES

HOW TO ENTER

Go to royalpurple.ksu.edu and download the tournament bracket (Starting Monday, March 12th)

Fill out the bracket, and turn Co it into Kedzie 103 or the Royal Purple booth in the Union (2nd floor) by noon on Thursday, March 15th.

Copy your selections into the Collegian's Tournament Bracket published on Wednesday, March 14th

Check your progress on the Royal Purple's website, starting on March 19th.

(must present completed copy of Collegian's bracket to claim prizes, AMERICAN CASH EXCHANGE

RadioShack.

Steven Doll | COLLEGIAN

El Vez, the self-proclaimed Mexican Elvis, sings Wednesday night in Forum Hall. El Vez, whose real name is Robert Lopez, sang several classic songs with rewritten lyrics as well as some of his own songs.

Mexican Elvis impersonator El Vez brings new musical flavor, fashion to campus

By Eric Davis KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

El Vez, the self-proclaimed Mexican Elvis, made his Manhattan debut Wednesday night.

El Vez and his band performed last night in Forum Hall in the K-State Student Union.

He continously wore extravagant outfits with varying prints and colors. At one point in the evening, he was dressed in a tiger-print unitard, complete with a tail.

The two back-up singers always were dressed to match what El Vez was wearing.

Between songs, the band would jam, showcasing its different talents. El Vez introduced the band members during one such jam as he changed offstage. Each musician was given a few minutes to showcase his or her individual skills.

The set list was a mix of classic songs with rewritten words and original songs.

The two most notable covers were of the Beatles' "Get Back" and the Doors' "The End."

Some were at the show for enjoyment, but some, including Jeff Healy, junior in English, seized the opportunity to fulfill requirements for a class.

"The show is pretty wild, I guess," Healy said as he watched El Vez perform a song onstage. "It's different. I'm not really sure how to describe it."

At one point, El Vez stepped offstage, and as he talked to a girl in the front, he turned and asked his band to be quiet. They immediately began to phase down their sound so El Vez could be heard more clearly.

El Vez interacted with the crowd throughout the evening. Several times, he stepped off the stage to interact directly with people sitting in the front row. At one point, he dropped to one knee and proposed marriage to a woman in the front row.

El Vez also told many jokes to the crowd to keep spirits up between songs. Most of his jokes were accepted well by the audience, and some of his oneliners even got applause.

Throughout the evening, El Vez used his time on stage to send a message to the crowd. In one part of the evening, he encouraged audience members to use their minds and shared that his dream is for "peace in el barrio (the neighborhood)."

El Vez said he was more accustomed to playing on a bigger stage with a more advanced light show. During one song, he asked have the lights turned

"I am not sure if we can do it, but if the lights could be turned down, you will see something really sweet," he said.

The most advanced lighting set came when El Vez changed his suit behind a sheet.

The stage lights were turned down, and a strobe light was activated to achieve maximum effect. The strobe light cast a shadow on the sheet, and audience members could see El Vez changing while performing dance moves.

well-accepted by many members of the crowd, who cheered loudly for El Vez as he left the stage after his final performance. Jerrica Bachmann, freshman in public relations, said she was impressed by the show.

The styles of the show were

Bachman also said she would see El Vez again and would pay money to see him, depending on the price of the ticket.

"I liked the show a lot," Bachmann said. "It was really funny, and I liked all of his little jokes."

WAGNER | Pair looks forward to working with student body

Continued from Page 1

before we knew the results I was very happy with how we ran our campaign."

Wagner and Peele said they plan to get some needed rest. They said they will continue to listen to students' concerns during the next month and their entire term.

"I'm really excited to get to know people and hear what they have to say," Peele

Wagner and Peele said they owe their success entirely to their campaign supporters.

"It just proved that every person who called their friends, e-mailed their friends and talked to their classmates made a huge difference," Peele said. "I think they influenced the vote definitely more than we could have on our own.'

Wagner said volunteers worked long hours.

"We have people staying up 'til four in the morning," he said. "That's the best part about our volunteers. We don't know what they've done behind the scenes to help us out. They've been very influential."

MOSIMANN | Candidates call campaign workers 'phenomenal'

Continued from Page 1

and the Student Governing Association Elections Web site. The radio station said Wagner and Peele had won, but the Web site said Mosimann and Piper had.

For a short while, there was hope the pair had won after all.

"There was a mistake," said Nick Levendofsky, elections commissioner. "It should not have happened, but it did."

Although they did not win, the candidates still gave it their best shot, Piper said.

"We learned that the college life, when you are not doing a whole lot, is pretty easy, and I can't wait to go back to it," Mosimann said.

There is nothing they would have done differently, he said.

"Our campaign and supporting team are absolutely phenomenal, and we could not have asked for anything more," Piper

Mosimann said he has no idea what the next step will be.

"We have been living so day-by-day lately that I really do not know," he said.

Piper won a bid for a Student Senate seat representing the College of Business Administration.

N'T BE CAU HOUT YOU

Get a clover tattoo this St. Patty's Day!

Fine Line Lattor Inc.

www.finelinetattooinc.com

Manhattan

622 N. Manhattan 785-537-0964

Topeka 1915 SW. Gage

Junction City 1028 W. 6th 785-238-8238

St. Pat's Day Celebration

Open at 9am

1ST 50 PEOPLE GET A GREEN PURPLE PIG SHIRT

Green Big Beers

Skyy Vodkas

Bison Burger

Baskets

THE EDGE

Thursday, March 8, 2007

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Page 11

Effective delivery

Film does not depict realistic situations, still an enjoyable afternoon flick

"Delivery Boy Chronicles" ★★★☆☆

DVD review by Matt Sundberg

The delivery boy is a prestigious profession in our society. I should know - my first job back in high school was delivering delicious Domino's pizza.

- In any case, an indie film about the lives of a bunch of delivery boys did not strike me as particularly entertaining. Fortunately, their hijinks turned out to be far more entertaining than mine were.

The "Delivery Boy Chronicles" center around a jaded, overweight, 30-something man named Mike (Ralph Price) and his fellow band of misfit, poorly-motivated delivery professionals. His friends in the movie are the same stereotypes Hollywood seems to think all fast-food restaurants consist of, including the fat Republican, the frizzy-haired, Napoleon Dynamite-esque weirdo, the liberal hippie feminist, the druggedout conspiracy theorist and the "token black

Mike's typical day consists of rolling out of bed hung over at 2 p.m., going to a field out in the middle of nowhere to cultivate a secret crop of hallucinogenic mushrooms, getting attacked by a pack of wild ostriches, and then going to a job interview high on 'shrooms. I think we all can relate to that.

This movie has more than its fair share of random moments, including a man dressed in a camel costume who occasionally pops up in the movie to taunt the main characters. The main characters also break out into spontaneous song and dance numbers, with people in animal costumes and little people throwing glitter in the Pretty standard stuff for delivery people, trust me.

Be warned: this movie has a lot of drug use. I counted about 26 scenes with a bong in this movie, and I wasn't even paying that much at-

I wondered why I enjoyed the "Delivery Boy Chronicles" so much, and then I realized that the movie reminds me a bit of "Waiting," the cult comedy hit with Ryan Reynolds and Dane Cook about the mundane lives of servers in those cheesy family restaurants. This movie has many of the same elements, and people who ever have worked in the food industry or as any type of delivery person certainly will appreciate the humor of this film.

This movie is not without its faults, however. The acting is questionable and wooden, and the editing reminds me of a student film - awkward camera angles and choppy editing.

I also would have felt more comfortable watching this movie if I recognized any of the actors. Unfortunately, the only actor with any sort of career is Shawn Mullins, who plays Tigg and is best known as the singer of "Lullaby" and "Shimmer."

Overall, if you overlook the less-than-slick production values and the lack of recognizable stars in this DVD, kicking back and watching this movie would certainly be a good way to spend an afternoon.

For more information on this film, visit www. deliveryboychronicles.com.

CELEB NEWS

'Laguna Beach' star sentenced

Los Angeles — Jason Wahler was sentenced to two months in jail for punching a city worker and tow truck driver during an altercation last Wahler, 20, star of MTV's "The Hills" and "Laguna Beach: The Real Orange County," also was ordered to attend a one-day pro-gram at the Museum of erance for uttering racial slurs during the September incident thorities said.

According to prosecutors, Wahler was with lends when their vehicle was blocked by a tow truck. Wahler jumped out of his vehicle and began yelling. Wahler, whose blood alcohol level was .22 percent at the time, then punched one tow operator and a city worker, authorities said. One of Wahler's companions also kicked the tow operator and spit in his face, the city attorney's office said Tuesday. Wahler pleaded no contest, was sentenced to 60 days in jail and ordered to attend anger management classes and Alcoholics Anonymous meetings. Wahler was arrested late Friday in Greenville, N.C., for underage drinking and resisting a public officer. He was released on $1,000 bond several hours later.

- The Associated Press

BILLBOARD CHARTS TOP 10

The Hot 100

1. Mims, "This is Why I'm Hot"

- Akon, "Don't Matter"
- Justin Timberlake, "What Goes Around
- .. Comes Around Gwen Stefani feat. Akon, "The Sweet
- Gym Class Heroes feat. Patrick Stump, 'Cupid's Chokehold'
- 6. Nelly Furtado, "Say It Right"
- Daughtry, "It's Not Over
- 8. Fall Out Boy, "This Ain't A Scene, It's An
- 9. Ludacris feat. Mary J. Blige, "Runaway
- 10. Rihanna & Sean Paul, "Break It Off"

'Idol' dominates sweeps

February has come to an end. For TV networks, the sweeps race also has ended. The big winners this season were FOX and CBS. CBS took the top spot as the most-watched network, while FOX claimed the top spot among viewers ages 38-49. CBS had the Super Bowl and the Grammy Awards, and of course, FOX had "American

EILEEN LAUX

Sweeps comes four times a year February, May, July and November. For those who don't know, sweeps is serious business. It is the competition between the biggest networks in the business. The results depend on the ratings for that month, which are generated by Nielsen Media Research in order to determine who is watching what.

This time, FOX pulled out many stops in order to secure a top position - American Idol two nights a week, a special episode every once in a while and the new game show, "Are You Smarter than a 5th Grader?"

However, the question remains: should networks be allowed to count the ratings for the same show twice in a given week? CBS came up with original content and took the totals.

So why should FOX triumph for having high ratings for the same show that airs many times? Of course they will have higher ratings simply because of the quantity of the airings.

It is a great thing for any network when it wins sweeps for any given month. But with other great comedy and drama-filled shows out there, I wonder if they ever will get a shot at glory competing against the Goliath that is "American Idol."

With millions of people tuning in each week, I understand why FOX plugs its show as much as possible. But I think if the same show is running multiple times a week, it isn't fair to the other networks competing for the same prize.

With networks gearing up for May, who knows which one will come out on top. Hopefully, "American Idol" will be over, and we can see which networks truly have the best ratings based on their single-show, weekly schedules

As May approaches, networks will be pulling out all the stops for season finales, and audiences can be glued to their televisions to see what happens on their favorite shows. And maybe the ratings finally will reflect that as Elleen Laux is a senior in print journalism. Please send comments to edge@spub.ksu.edu.

DRINK OF THE WEEK

Great libations to order at a bar or make at home

Sangría at Coco Bolos

Mark Rosen, senior in hotel and restaurant management, said he likes Coco Bolos because it is different from other restaurants.

"It has great food and atmosphere," Rosen said. "It is low key compared to other places."

Sangría, a signature drink of Coco Bolos, is made with fresh juices. Rosen said it is popular because it is made fresh.

"We squeeze all of the juices, except the pineapple," Rosen said. The exact measurements for Coco Bolos' sangría was not given, because it is a signature drink of Coco Bolos. On Wednesdays, Coco Bolos offers a special on sangria for $5 a carafe. Any other day it is $15 for a carafe or $4.75 per glass.

Photos by Lyndsey Born | COLLEGIAN

Sangría ingredients

- Fresh-squeezed orange Juice
- Pineapple juice ■ Fresh-squeezed grapefruit juice
- Lime juice Grenadine
- Burgundy wine

TV RATINGS

For the week of Feb. 26 - Mar. 4 Viewers measured in millions

_
To	p TV shows	Viewers
1.	"American Idol" FOX, Wednesday, 8 p.m.	17.5
2.	"American Idol" FOX, Tuesday, 7 p.m.	17.
3.	"American Idol"	15.5

- FOX, Thursday, 9 p.m. "Are You Smarter than a 5th Grader?" 14.6 ABC, Tuesday, 8 p.m. "Are You Smarter than a 5th Grader"? 13.4
- ABC, Wednesday, 8 p.m. "Are You Smarter than a 5th Grader?" 12.9 ABC, Thursday, 8 p.m.
- "Desperate Housewives" ABC, Sunday, 8 p.m.

CBS. Monday, 9 p.m. "Deal or No Deal" 10.6

NBC, Monday, 7 p.m. 10,4

www.nielsenmedla.com

RCPD to conduct sobriety checkpoints, area patrols

By Lola Shrimplin

The Riley County Police Department will conduct a sobriety checkpoint from 12:30 to 2:30 a.m. March 10, according to a press release from Lt. Josh Kyle of the RCPD.

The checkpoint will be at a location in southeast Manhattan and will be the first in a series of three to be conducted throughout 2007, according to the release.

The purpose of the checkpoint is to detect and deter impaired drivers, and though efforts will be made to not severely restrict traffic flow, those found driving while impaired will be arrested.

In addition, the RCPD will patrol residential areas in March, April and May in response to complaints of loud parties and underage drinking.

The patrols are a result of a grant the Kansas Department of Transportation's Bureau of Traffic Safety gave the RCPD.

The areas chosen for the patrols will be those that have received complaints of underage drinking and areas where officers have issued citations for loud parties and alcohol violations, said Sgt. Steve Boyda of the

The last minor in possession patrol resulted in nearly 300 violations, almost half of which were for MIPs, Boyda said.

With new technology, fake driver's licenses are harder to detect, but the RCPD has taken precautions to discover which IDs are false and which belong to someone else, Boyda said.

Some people have been caught with another person's driver's license, he said. This occurs mostly in Aggieville, and the most frequently used are those of a brother or sister of the ID carrier, Boyda said.

"We've told our officers, 'If there's any doubt in your mind, run them," he said of officers who suspect an ID

Those who allow someone else to use their driver's license to obtain entry into a bar could be held accountable, said Lt. Michael Quintanar of the RCPD.

In the past, underage drinking fines did not have much of an effect on the people who did it, Quintanar said.

Recent laws have allowed for a person's driver's license to be suspended if he or she is caught drinking while un-

"Now they're attacking your driver's license," he said. "It has a major im-

Fines for MIP include, if convicted, a $335 fine and a 30-day suspension of the person's driver's license.

To get a diversion, the fine increases to $435 and carries three months proba-

If someone is caught carrying a false ID, the punishment can be up to $2,500 and a year in jail, depending on the circumstances and how the ID was used, Boyda

Online shopping outsells retail stores

By Sarah Rasmussen KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

You can do it in your under-

Who knows how many people do, but online shopping has established itself as part of the American way of life, and the number of people who make online purchases is projected to continue rising.

Online shopping easily beat the common brick-and-mortar retail store in the University of Michigan's annual American Customer Satisfaction Index.

Americans gave a higher rating to online shopping sites than to retail stores, according to the index, released Feb. 20.

The highest-rated shopping location was www.barnesandnoble.com. The runner up was its competitor Amazon.com.

But online shoppers still need to be careful and learn about a company before committing to a sale, according to www.cnbc.com.

Sites like Yahoo Shopping, MSN Shopping, eBay's Shopping.com or Shopzilla can ease consumers' fears through their merchant ratings. Yahoo, for example, handles shoppers' credit card information and sends the payment - not the credit card number - to the merchant.

During the 2006 holiday season, online sales were on track to reach $32 billion for the year, 18 to 20 percent higher than in 2005, according to Jupiter Research, a New York-based market research firm.

Jayme Brown, administrative assistant for the Department of Housing and Dining and nontraditional student in business administration, said she occasionally shops online during the year but makes more online purchases during the holidays. "It seems to be better than fighting the crowds at the stores," she said, "but people need to realize that not all deals online are great ones. You must remember that there are shipping costs."

As consumers migrate to the Internet, they also are increasing the total amount of their online purchases, according to Jupiter's research. The average shopper is expected to spend $281 on the Internet this year, up from $251 last year.

On Facebook.com, a group called Student Superstore is open to students. The group is sponsored by half.com and powered by eBay. The group sells everything from textbooks to the new Nintendo Wii at prices students can afford.

Sarah Cossidente, junior in

Tips for online shoppers

 Only deal with reputable merchants.
 Find and read the privacy policy ■ Be wary of offers that seem "too good to be true."

Check on your order status so problems can be fixed quickly.

Read the return policy before Make sure all spyware and anti-virus software are up to date. Do not save your passwords online. Instead, write them down.

Never give out your social security Always print copies of an order.

— www.privacyrights.org

hotel and restaurant management, is an avid online shopper. She said she never has had a problem with fraud or return policies.

"I shop online everyday, but I don't buy anything unless I really need it," she said. "It's very convenient, and I usually shop at clothing stores that we don't have here in Manhattan."

Mike Pilcher, junior in premedicine, said he shops online for lower prices.

"I just got a one-gigabyte flash drive the size of a pocket knife for $7," he said. "But know your local prices and keep two to three different online stores handy for price comparisons."

Democrats to propose withdrawal by fall 2008, sooner if Iraqi officials do not cooperate

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON - House Democratic leaders intend to propose legislation requiring the withdrawal of U.S. combat troops from Iraq by fall 2008 and even earlier if the Iraqi government fails to meet security and other goals, congressional officials said Wednesday night.

The conditions, described as tentative until presented to the Democratic rank and file, would be added to legislation providing nearly $100 billion the Bush administration has requested for fighting in Iraq and Afghanistan,

The legislation is expected on the floor of the House later this month and would mark the most direct challenge the new Democratic-controlled Congress has posed to the president's war policies.

As such, it is likely to provoke a fierce response from the administration and its Republican allies in Congess.

Speaker Nancy Pelosi's office announced plans for a Thursday morning news conference to unveil the measure. Office representatives said she would be joined by Rep. John Murtha, D-Pa., and other key lawmakers.

Murtha is chair of the subcommittee with jurisdiction over the Pentagon's budget and is among the House's most outspoken opponents of the war.

But Democrats familiar with the emerging legislasaid the bill would require President Bush to certify that the government of Iraqi Prime Minister Nouri al-Maliki was making progress toward providing for his country's security, allocating its oil revenues and creating a fair system for amending its constitution.

They said if Bush certified the Iraqis were meeting these so-called benchmarks, U.S. combat troops could remain until September of next year. Otherwise, the deadline would move up to the end of

The officials who described the details did so on condition of anonymity, saying they were not authorized to speak before the measure is presented to the rank and

They stressed the specific provisions in the legislation were tentative pending approval by the caucus.

The legislation also calls for the Pentagon to adhere to its standards for equipping and training U.S. troops sent overseas and for providing time at home between tours of combat.

At the same time, it permits Bush to issue waivers of these standards.

Democrats described the waiver provision as an attempt to embarrass the president, but the proposal's effect would be to permit the administration to proceed with plans to deploy five additional combat brigades to the Baghdad area over the next few months.

The measure emerged after days of private talks among Democrats following the repudiation of Murtha's original proposal, which would have required the Pentagon to meet readiness and training standards without possibility of a waiver.

Murtha said its implementation would have starved the war effort of troops because the Pentagon could not find enough units to meet the standards.

Several moderate Democrats spoke out against it, though.

And Republicans sharply attacked it as the abandonment of troops already in the war zone.

Pelosi and the leadership have struggled in recent days to craft legislation that could satisfy liberals reluctant to vote for continued funding of the war, as well as conservative lawmakers unwilling to be seen as tying the hands of military commanders in a time of war.

Several strong opponents of the war issued a statement during the evening, saying they "nave had a constructive dialogue with members of our party's leadership ... However, at this time, we have not reached any final agreement."

The statement said members of the Congressional

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

NOW LEASING

Sloce to Campus

Progressive Caucus would go ahead with plans to outline legislation allowing war funds to be used only for the withdrawal of troops and other limited objectives.

The statement was issued in the names of Reps. Lynn Woolsey, Barbara Lee and Diane Watson of California; Rep. Jerry Nadler of New York, Rep. Lloyd Doggett of Texas and Rep. Keith Ellison of Minnesota.

Democrats have also said in recent days they would add money to Bush's request for military operations in Afghanistan, where the Taliban is expected to mount a spring offensive.

They also said the money would go for veterans' health and medical programs for active-duty troops at the scandal-scarred Walter Reed Medical Center in Washing-

CLASSIFI

Classifieds continue on the next page

Bulletin Board

010

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five aires and lowest rates. Call 785-776-1744, www.ksu.edu/ks/c

Announcements

THE SECRET Free show ing Saturday March 10, 7p.m. ECM Center 1021 Denison. Use the law of attraction to manifest success, happiness, abundance. Sponsor: Unity Church of Manhattan.

Lost something? You can place an ad FREE for three days! 020

Lost and Found Lost and found ads can

BEAUTIFUL BLACK hat and scarf found. Come and describe to pickup in Kedzie 103. glasses on sidewalk out-side of Fairchild Hall. Come to 104 Fairchild Hall to claim.

Rent-Apt. Furnished

Manhattan CITY Ordi-nance 4814 assures evnity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, na-tional origin or ancestry. Violations should be re ported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

Apply At:

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

MANHATTAN CITY Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, na-tional origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

1117 VATTIER. New all electric. Two-bedrooms, appliances furnished, no pets. Close to campus. 785-539-1975 or

Found something You can place an ad FREE for three days! 785-532-655

1219 KEARNEY. Onebedroom. June year lease. Water/ trash paid. Next to campus, off street parking. No pets. $340. 785-539-5136. ALLIANCE PROPERTY room. June, July, August. 785-539-4357. www.rentapm.com

$365. two-bedrooms $420- $485, three bedroom $825, four-bedrooms $650. All close to KSU. 785-587-0399.

CLASSIFIED ADS LET THEM WORK FOR YOU Pets welcome. Summer/ fall leasing. One-half mile KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN 103 Kedzie • 785-532-6555

110 Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

ONE, TWO, four, five-bedfor June and August leases. 785-539-8295. ONE, TWO, three, and

Close to campus and aggieville. Parking and laundry. 785-539-5800.

ONE, TWO, three, four plus bedroom apartments and houses to rent. See our website for more infowww.apskansas.com call 785-370-4044.

ONE, TWO, three, four, five, six-bedroom apart-ment/ houses next to campus. Washer/ dryer, tral air. No 785-537-7050.

ONE-BEDROOM TO five-

bedrooms. Apartments, duplexes and homes. Most close to campus. Some farther away. June or August leases. Check out our website www. emeraldpropertymanagment.com or call Emerald Property Management 785-587-9000 for more in-

ONE-BEDROOM VERY nice, close to campus, $475- $550 a month. 785-341-0686.

PLACE Apart-PARK One-bedrooms ments.

Summer/ fall leasing. Pets welcome. One-half mile from KSU at Seth Child and Claffin. 785-539-2951. PARK PLACE Apart-Two-bedrooms. ments. washer/

110 Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

SPACIOUS THREE-BED ROOM located on Kimbali Ave. Close to campus and rec. center, on-site laun-dry, pool, small pets ac-00/ month, nego-516-343-3770, ted $800/ month, ne 785-317-1740.

THREE AND four-bedroom apartments avail-able in August. Close to paid. Coin operated laun-785-537-7810, 785-537-2255. THREE-BEDROOM, ONE bath plus vanity. $1050/ month. Trash/ water paid. 1510 College Ave. Pool access. Washer/ dryer in unit. 314-805-0674. TWO-BEDROOM SPE-CIAL at Park Place Apartments. $495 rent plus free cable through July '07. 785-539-2951. TWO-BEDROOM, many sizes and prices. June or August. 785-341-0686. TWO-BEDROOM.

month 785-539-8580 VERY NICE three-bed room, two bath apartment. Three blocks to Aggieville. 822 Fremont. Affordable August 785-313-1807. WHY RENT WHEN YOU CAN BUY? Condos for sale. Two and three-bed-room starting at $112,650. collegiatevilla.com 785-537-2096. WILDCAT VILLAGE, Available June or August four dryer.

room, $1400. Cable paid 785-776-2425 o releasing Few Spaces Remain for • Graduate Students • Upper Classmen et Park-Like Setting In-Site Laundry . Enormous Closets Private Fitness Center

Abundant Parking/Garages
Storm Center
ustomer Service
Three-Time winner of the I

Multifamily CEL. Award for the ₱1 in Customer Service in Americal On-Site Management Office Full-time Maintenance Personnel 24-hour Emergency Staff

WESTCHESTER PARK 776-1118

menities:

·Washer/Dryers or

hookups available

Garages Available

Peaceful Garden

Enormous Closets

w.GeorgetownApts.ne

1420

Beechwood Terrace

Lg. 2 & 3 Bedrooms

On a Wooded

Secluded 2 Acre Lot

with Creek

$740 & $885

341-4024

Newer Apartment

Washer/Dryer

Energy Efficient

Storm Center

Setting

On-Site Management

Private Fitness Center

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished Pre-lease Spacious Today for Duplexes Spring! Only A few homes remain

> Each duplex features walk-in closets, all kitchen appliances, washer/dryer, off reet parking, phone and cable connections in every om, security lighting, trash and lawn care.

K-State student

in mind.

Security deposit is the same as one month's rent. The lease period begins August 1

4 Bedrooms, 2 Baths GEORGETOWN 1,300 Sq. Ft. ONLY $1,150/mo. 776-8080

Sorry, No Pets! Convenient and Close Day: 313-0751 Night: 537-4682

Rooms Available

785-317-1734.

ROOM to subleas Very low price. $220 per month including utility fees. 914 Bluemont Ave

217/ Rent-Duplexes Need a subleaser

Advertise

FIVE-BEDROOM BRIT TNAY Ridge town home Washer/ dryer, $1025 per month. Available August 1. 785-250-0388.

campus

Page 13

WILDCATSNEEDJOBS.

shoppers needed to judge

ments. Call 800-722-4791.

WORKSHOP FACILITA

TOR: part-time/ contract. Curriculum teaching for project. Degree in socia

for marriage

Thursday, March 8, 2007

11 ET'S REN'

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

350 N. 16th. Two blocks two-bedroom apartments. Clean, quiet, private parking. No smoking, no pets. $580. June and August 785-539-5508 or 350 N. 16th. Two blocks to K-State and Aggieville Two-bedroom apartments ing. No smoking, no pets. $580. August lease. 785-539-5508 or 785-564-0857.

FOUR-BEDROOM, close to campus. central air. No Available June or August.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM Bills paid. 785-762-7191.

LARGE TWO-BED-ROOM, available June. Balcony, fireplace and dishwasher. Very close to campus. 785-317-3780. Call Leave

PRE-LEASING JUNE and August. Some units brand close to KSU washer/ dryer included. details 785-776-2102. youngwilks@yahoo.com, www.wilk-

STUDIO, ONE, two, and gust lease. No pets. Central heat/ air-conditioning. 785-587-9460.

> 117 Rent-Duplexes

THREE baths, June or August, $1280, nice, washer/ dryer hookups, off-street parking, great location, no smoking. 785-532-8256.

SIX AND five-bedroom house/ duplex, next to campus. washer/ dryer, central air, off-street parking, no pets. 785-537-7050.

THREE-BEDROOM North 5th. No pets, $975/ 785-564-0372.

two, three, four-bedroom. No smoking, no drinking, no pets. 785-539-1554

Rent-Houses

1310 N. 11th. Two-bed-June lease. close to campus. 785-539-1975 1417 NICHOLS, four-bedrooms, family room. 1909 Kenmar, three-bedrooms. two bathrooms, washer/ dryer, garage game room, fenced yard/ patio. 785-539-1177. 502 FREMONT, three-bedroom, one bath, no pets. June 785-539-1975 785-313-8292 814 THURSTON.

lease. Water/ trash paid. smoking. $635, 785-539-5136. AUGUST.

Two, three, four, five, six houses. bedroom Washer/ dryer, close to campus. No pets. 785-317-5026. AVAILABLE JUNE

Three-bedroom house lo-1501 Harry Road. Two blocks west of central air. dryer, fenced yard. 785-539-3672. AVAILABLE JUNE 1. Two-washer/ dryer, garage. Half block from campus. One year lease. $800. 785-537-8055. CLEAN, QUIET basement

apartment. Two-bedroom, two bath, full kitchen, patio. $385 per month per person. All utilities included. emilyf@ksu.edu. FIVE-BEDROOM, JUNE ase. Very close to campus (westside). Just pur chased and very nice! Central air, full kitchen (stove/ refrigerator/ dishwasher/ disposal), partial kitchen (stove/ refrigerator), three baths, three living areas, double car No pets. Call is will rent fast. 785-539-4641.

FIVE-BEDROOM, bath house for rent. 931 June lease Washer/ dryer, window airconditioning. Fenced back-yard, pets allowed. Off-street parking. $1500/ street parking. $1 month. 785-539-4949.

FIVE-BEDROOM. June, August. Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rent-

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

room. Close to campus. coin operated laundry fa-Available June or August. N 785-537-1746 No pets. 785-539-1545.

TWO, THREE and fourpus, central air, dish-washer, laundry facilities. No pets. 785-539-0866.

TWO-BEDROOM APART-MENT at 1010 Leavenworth. Just finished, everything is new. Washer dryer. Parking off alley No pets. Available immediately or June lease. Call Dave 785-292-4320, or nights 785-292-4342

> 117 Rent-Duplexes

THREE AND four-bedors, lots of space, washer/ furnished, central air, off-street parking. No pets. June lease. $275/

> 120 Rent-Houses

1001 KEARNEY four-bedalso have three, room, six and seven-be room houses. All JUNE 1 rentals. 785-317-7713.

> 120 Rent-Houses

FOR RENT. Newer fourbedroom duplex. Good location with dishwasher, washer and dryer. pets. 785-537-7597 $1100.

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE, College 2030 Heights. Central heat and washer/ dryer. No air, $290/ bedroom, June lease.

FOUR-BEDROOM. ONE bath house for rent. 900 Vattier. June conditioning. Fenced back-yard, pets allowed. $1200/ month. Party shack and garage

85-539-4949 FOUR-BEDROOM, and one-half bath, study $975

month. Knight Real Es tate. Call 785-539-5394 FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, two kitchens, to campus. 785-341-9459.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO washer/ garage. J 785-532-9564. June

FOUR-BEDROOM JUNE, July, August. Al-liance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.rent-apm.com JUNE LEASE. New three

Washer/ dryer hookups pets, no smoking 25/ month. Cal Kevin. 785-488-7722. NEWER FOUR-BED

two bath half duplex. Close to campus Washer/ dryer No pets. $ 785-539-2356. $1200. Call NICE HOUSE at 1010

Leavenworth. all kitchen appliances including washer/ dryer. Upstairs has own heat and air, and has just been remodeled. Plenty of parking off alley, no pets, June lease. Call Dave, 785-292-4320, evenings, 785-292-4342

NICE THREE-BEDROOM Appliances furhouses. nished. Available June 1, 1505 Hillcrest. Available August 1, 2039 College View. Call 785-234-9500 or 785-608-2873.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM. Close to campus. Avail-$590. 785-712-7257.

ONE TO five-bedroom apartments and houses. Close to campus. 785-539-1975 785-313-8292.

ONE-BEDROOM TO five Apartments, duplexes and Most close to campus. Some farther away. June or August leases. Check out our website www.emeraldpropertymanagment.com or call Emerald Management Property Management 785-587-9000 for more information.

ONE-BEDROOM to five bedroom houses and apartments for rent. June See and August leases. our website, www.ap-785-370-4044.

HUMBOLT, 824 Freemont, 1118 Ratone, dryer, central washer/ washer, central 785-313-5573.

PIERRE. Pomeroy, $1100 - $1200. washer/ dryer, washer, central air. dishgust lease. 785-313-5573, Doug.

820 OSAGE, 1524 Pipher 3100 James, all four-be 785-317-7713.

A SIX or seven-bedroom house, three bathrooms. Two blocks to KSU. June

BRITTNAY RIDGE town house four/ five-bedroom, wo and one-half baths, includes appliances, washer/ dryer. No pets. Available August 316-393-9628.

FIVE AND Six-bedroom house/ duplex next to campus. Personal washer and dryer, central air, offstreet parking. No pets. 785-537-7050 dryer, dishwasher, central 785-313-5573 Doug.

FOUR TO five-bedroom. August lease. No pets. Central heat/ air-condition-785-587-9460.

120

SEVEN TO eight-bedroom (two kitchen). June, July, August. Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rentapm.com

SIX-BEDROOM kitchen). June, July, August. Alliance Property M a n a g e m e n t . 785-539-4357. www.rent-

apm.com WILDCAT PROPERTY MANAGEMENT

> 2BR - $850 3BR - $1,300 4BR - $1,700

537-2332

14th & Fremont 4BR - 21/2 Bath $1,650

Anderson Village 1BR- $525 2BR - $700-725

1501 Poyntz House - $750 3BR - 2 Bath

1509 Poyntz House - $600 1BR - 1Bath

315 Poyntz 1BR - $650

Fall Leasing

STUNNING HOUSE, Fourthree bathbedrooms, rooms, big family room, plus office, fenced yard, in a nice quiet west neighbor-hood. Close to city parks. Available now $1350, wa ter and garbage included

THREE OR four-bedroom house for rent. No pets. lease, 785-539-6096

call 785-317-4937.

THREE, FOUR, FIVE, SIX PLUS BEDROOMS. Look ing for that perfect home rent? Great selection and prices. Capstone M a n a g e m e n t 785-341-0686.

THREE-BEDROOM NICE house three blocks west of KSU. Large rooms, ceiling fans, washer/ dryer. No smoking, pets, or par-ties. June lease. $855. 785-776-6318.

THREE-BEDROOM, June lease, close to west side campus. Central air conditioning. Full kitchen, bathrooms, two garage. 1785-539-4641.

THREE-BEDROOM, ONE full bath. $810, 917 Bluemont, year lease, June 2007 - May 2008. Close to campus. Pets allowed. Mrs. Kim, 913-681-9959.

anted. Studious, Four smoking. FOUR-BEDROOM BRICK home with two bathrooms parking. Free w dryer. 785-341-7171. Neutral colors with new kitchen and facelift in progress. Washer/ dryer furnished with garage and central air. June lease. No pets. Call 785-313-4812. NEXT TO campus, one through houses, and apartments Washer/ dryer, central Available now or fall. No

ONE-BEDROOM FULL bath, washer/ dryer, no 515 $340 plus utilities. August Call Monday day, 785-776-4805.

SIX-BEDROOM two kitchens, three bathrooms, fireplace, two ca 785-313-4812.

bath, washer/ dryer, no 515 $825 plus utilities. August lease. Call Monday day, 785-776-4805.

bath. 1205-1207 dryer, washer. dishcentral $1050/ month.

TWO-BEDROOM base pets. month. Thurston.

THREE-BEDROOM JUNE, July, August. Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rent-apm.com

TWO-BEDROOMS JUNE, July, August. Alliance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.rent-apm.com

bedroom, 1 lease. 785-313-0455, Rentals. 785-776-7706.

VERY NICE four-bedroom one bath house. Three blocks from campus. 2038 View. 1 lease. 785-313-1807.

NICE four-bed-Close to campus Available August $1340. 785-712-7257.

Alliance Property

Specials and Above. Available

Call Alliance

Check web for available listings (Changes Daily)

313-5573

8th & Vattier

1022 Humbolt 4 BR - $1200

824 Fremont 4 BR -$1100

August Lease

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Two and three-bedroom starting at $112,650. colle-785-537-2096.

AUGUST-DECEMBER roommate blocks campus. Off-street g. Free washer/ washer/

pets. 785-537-7050.

garage, central air. Washer/ dryer furnished June lease. No pets. Call THREE-BEDROOM TWO

THREE-BEDROOM TWO

785-313-5573 Doug. ment apartment. Washer. Cheap utilities Available August 1. 1211 785-868-3471

VERY CHARMING brick ranch, 2505 Winny, Threequiet neighbor-No pets, $950. Ryan

College

Management 'til Spring Break on 3 Bedrooms

June/July/August

Property Management @ 785-539-4357 ww.rent-apm.com

Diamond K Investments

June Leases

5 BR - $1400

1205 Pomeroy 1207 Pomeroy 3 BR - $1050

1305 Pierre 4 BR - $1100

313-5573

TANT- Networks Plus, the leader in providing busi ness computer services, has a full-time position available in Manhattan, KS. This challenging position requires the abi handle multiple tasks and ing a positive and ener-getic attitude. $12/ hour, full-time only, opportuni-ties for advancement. Email resume in Microsoft Word or text format to: job-

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSIS-

communication, multitask-ing and computer skills

Submit resume with refer-

Charities

Poyntz, Suite 102, Man-hattan, KS 66502, fe-

day potential. No experi

1-800-965-6520 ext. 144.

eral day camps. We are looking to fill the following positions for these camps: RN/ LPN's, counselors,

farm/ small animal specialist, kitchen assistant, western riding counselors, dance/ drama specialists, business managers. For www.girlscoutsmilehi.org,

DELL CAMPUS reps

needed. Promote a top

http://www.RepNation.-

cialist/ recruiter: full-time

Case management and re-

speaking and marketing experience a plus. Must have own transportation.

Submit resume with refer-

Poyntz, Suite 102, Man-hattan, KS 66502, fe-

draz@sbcglobal.net, fax 785-323-0643. Equal op-

FOUR LANDSCAPING positions available Downey-

Lawn.com looking for two college summer interns

ternship. Join 20 other K-

State students. Learn how to run a business. Open to all majors. Average earns $800/ week. Call

HARVEST HELP Wanted.

Late May through August

Pays well. 785-587-1956,

HAY COMPANY in search wages, benefits

785-317-0455.

evenings.

portunity employer.

LAWN(5296).

ences by March 9 Catholic Charities,

com/Dell to apply.

crafts

more information

marketing

good specialist

303-607-4846.

experience

ences by March 9

draz@sbcglobal.net.

785-323-0643.

BARTENDING

To advertise with the number one source for reaching the K-State

community

CHRISTIAN seeks two female gradstu-dents starting fall 2007. August to May lease. New three-bedroom, two bath $350 plus one-third utilities. Call 847-975-1484.

FEMALE HOUSEMATE. drinking/ smoking.
/ month. One-third $295/ utilities, washer/ dryer, Auca313@ksu.edu, 785-537-1464 anted through July. Two bedroom duplex. Washer/ dryer, and storage. Rent utilities negotiable. Amanda 913-216-4838.

Four-bedroom house, 800 Bluemont. $265/ month plus utilities 316-619-9524. FUN. OUTGOING roommate. No pets. June lease, 913-907-9789. LOOKING FOR female roommates for a four-bedroom house, $300/ month plus electricity, gas and SBC. 785-587-9207 or seeking female

MALE, WALK to class, all furnished, lower washer dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, pets, 785-539-1554. MALE: STUDENT preferred. $260/ month plus one-third utilities. 785-640-7042. ROOMMATE until May 31. Rent $275/ month plus one-fourth utilities. Washer/ dryer/ dishwasher in house. Call 785-537-3737.

ROOMMATES NEEDED for two bedrooms in fivebedroom house. Next fall. Close to campus. Outdoor 620-382-7241 ROOMMATES NEEDED

two bedrooms in six-bedroom house two blocks to three Call Kylie 913-775-0465. 150

Sublease NEEDED FOR SUMMER. One bedroom in a threehalf bath, ground floor apartment. New complex, 1420 Beechwood Terr dryer, Washer/ washer in apartment. Sublease May 13- July Only pay for June July; May already and $287/ month

utilities.

(leave message) or abby-diane32@yahoo.com. DowneyLawn.com FEMALE SUBLEASER wanted. $290 per month rent plus utilities. Ex-tremely close to campus. galls, KS 67853 FULL-TIME SUMMER In-Call 316-706-7667

at 620-218-1114

Contact

ROOMMATES NEEDED $275 month plus utilities dryer, dishwasher, garage space. Right by campus. Leave ssage at 785-537-0891. TWO-BEDROOM APARTsubleasers needed. One block from Aggieville. Two years old, of summer workers, farm dryer, large experience needed. Excel-$800/ lent wages. 785-564-2590. April 1 to August 1, or sooner. 785-313-1327. HELP WANTED: truck drivers/ yard help. Com-WE ARE looking for two subleasers for a nice four paid. Apply in person at bedroom home, located Howell Lumber Company close to campus and Agat 601 Lincoln in Wamego. Full backyard garage, and sunporch

Employment/Careers

lease until the end of 785-313-3600 if interested!

THE COLLEGIAN cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business oppor-

with

tion. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

HORTICULTURAL SER-VICES, Inc. is seeking relials for full-time or parttime seasonal positions in our retail garden center. Above average wages commensurate with experience and abilities. Apply scape Lane, St. George, 785-776-0397.

team at the Office of Mediated Education, and contribute to a variety of important K-State web sites and applications. Candidates must be motivated, capable of learning ne quickly. self-dileast 15 hours a week, and willing to devote least a year to the posi-tion. Working with web technologies in an office that values its students provides a fun yet chalenging work environment. Starting wages begin at $7.00. For more informa-TANT: Organized and flex-ible professional to handle fice@ksu.edu.

JOIN THE K-State Online

KITCHEN HELP wanted. Starting pay, $6.50/ hour. Apply at 608 North 12th St., Manhattan, KS. the marriage for keeps project. Must have good wanted. Good pay. Apply at 608 North 12th St., Manhattan, KS.

LUNCHROOM

SUPERVI-GROUND GROUND SUPERVI-SORS. Immediate openfax ngs- Manhattan- Ogden $6.50 per hour one and a ence necessary. Training half- two hours per day 11:00 a.m.- 1:00 p.m. Application available at www. COME SPEND an aweusd383.org/District/HumanResources/ or apply at Human Resources Desome summer with us in the beautiful Rocky Mounpartment, 2031 Poyntz Av tains! Working at camp is enue. Applications rewarding. We offer comfilled. Apply to Manhattansalaries, room/ USD 383, Ogden board and travel al-Poyntz Avenue, Manhat-Mile Hi Council owns two 785-587-2000. Equal Opresident camps and sev-

> NANNY POSITION avail Part-time. Experiable. ence and references necessary. Call for details, 785-564-1340.

NEEDED: PART-TIME

easing agent. Immediate start, no experience nec-

portunity Employer.

required. Call Park Place Apartments, 785-539-2951. TION/Clerk Position with local real estate comthirty company to gain real world business and Send resumes to:

Group, 1430 Poyntz Av-

10-15 hours per

Conderman

ERA The

enue.

ing

323

PART-TIME at Faith Furniture, Needs cruitment services for marto be able to work afterriage project. Must have noons and weekends. Please apply in person at communication ee in social sci-302 E. HWY 24 in Manhat ences preferred. Spanish

PINNACLE ELECTRIC

has an immediate open-

30-40 hours

Electrical experience a plus, but will train right person 785-456-1351. person. Call PLAY SPORTS! fun! Save money! Maine camp needs fun loving counselors to teach. All land, adventure and water Great summer! sports. Call 888-844-8080, apply:

campcedar.com

PROGRAMMER- CIVIChorticulture industry and PLUS is the nations lead-Housing Included. Preferprovider ring well rounded individu-County, and School web-sites. Full-time position in als with an imagination, drive, and ability to work Manhattan Microsoft ASP hard. Apply in person or Call Nathan Downey toll and SQL experience required. $15.50/ hour plus 1-866-794time and a half for overtime. Benefits include Health, Dental, Paid Holidetails Downey days, Paid Vacation, and Lawn & Landscape, PO 401K matching. Email re-Box 1, 303 E. Soule Insume in Microsoft Word or text format to jobs@civic-

> PROJECT CivicPlus has an opening in our Manhattan headquarters office for a fulltime project manager. This challenging position entails managing multiple website redesign projects from start to finish. Position requires attention to detail, the ability to manage multiple tasks, priorities and deadlines and a cheerful attitude. Training is provided. Benefits clude health, dental, paid holidays, paid vacation 401(k) matching and Email resume in text or jobs@civicplus.com

NOW HIRING - TWO LOCATIONS

ALL SHIFTS, DAYS, NIGHTS & WEEKENDS

ABOVE AVERAGE COMPENSATION Discounted Meals

Medical Insurance

Flexible Schedule

Crew Incentive Programs

• Retirement Plan APPLY TODAY • WORK TODAY

421 N. 3rd Street 3006 Anderson Ave EOE/Drug Free Workplace

COM. PAID survey takers CivicPlus has an opening in our Manhattan 100% free to join. Click or quarters office for a fulltime Project Manager. This Challenging position surveys.

entails managing multiple website redesign projects from start to finish. Positions Available. Earn up to $150 per day. Experience tion requires attention to detail. the ability to manties and deadlines and a is provided. Benefits in clude Health, Dental, Paid Holidays, Paid Vacation and 401(k) matching. Email resume in text of Word format to jobs@- sciences preferred. Span-RILEY COUNTY has thirish speaking a plus. Musi teen positions for sea-sonal laborers. Forty hour have good communication skills. Submit resume with work week at $8.66 per hour. Valid driver's license references by March 9 to Catholic Charities, 33 and the ability to lift 70 Poyntz, Suite 102, I hattan, KS 66502, pounds is required. Appli-cants must be at least 18 draz@sbcglobal.net, 785-323-0643. Equal years old. Experience in construction, concrete work, asphalt nance, traffic portunity employer. flagging tree and turf maintenance or mowing is preferred. Applications are available at the Riley County Clerk's Office, 110 Courthouse Plaza, Manhattan, KS or online at www.riley

Riley County is an equa opportunity employer

Need A New

Place to Live?

Look

in the

Classifieds

for a 2007 moreland.

roommate

or a house

THE CITY of Westmore land is taking applications for a pool manager for the and WIS training pre-ferred but not required.

Salary based on experi-ence and is negotiable.

Job description and appli-cation available at City

Hall, P.O. Box 7, West

785-457-3361. Deadline for applications is March

UNIQUE OPPORTUNITY:

applications to fill a Marketing & Logistics position within our small group in Kansas City. MGM is in a niche market that recov-

ers and re-sells all types

of products that are in-

MGM is currently looking for a creative, motivated

has common sense, good

judgment, and the ability to communicate well with new and existing customers. Prior experience is not necessary. This is a very good opportunity with a highly respected company. Our group members are paid very well. Position includes most bene fits and requires very little

resume as soon as possi

ble. Our contact informa-

about MGM may be found

on our website at www.-

mgmbusinesspartners.-com. MGM is now scheduling appointments to conduct interviews.

and more details

travel. If you are

ested please forward a derailments.

KS

66549 season. Life guard

Open Market 410 cations will be accepted > ready, $800 or best offer. Derik 785-548-5120. 415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

ANCE sale. Twin mattress and box springs set $129,

FURNITURE

Items for Sale

HITACHI 57-inch

full set $169, queen set $199. Ashley five drawer chest $195, microfiber sofa $229, wing recliner $199, cocktail table and two end tables $99. Room Group Express Furniture 8370 East Hwy 24, Manhattan, KS.

Music Instruments

16th. Equal Opportunity GEMEINHARDT COLO for sale! All silver body with gold lip, recent up, good condition, rarely used. $500 or best Every two years MGM Marketing, Inc. accepts

offer. 785-532-9195

Transportation

Automobile 1999 FORD Mustang 35th dual exhaust, green under glo, brand new starter, CD, AM/FM, cas-sette, 98,000 miles. Asking $5100 or bes Call 785-223-2816. 5,6(0)

$5100 or best offer

Motorcycles 2004 YAMAHA 600R Excellent condition. Beau tiful blue and white with matching helmet. Low miles, Yoshi Pipe, fender offer. 620-408-6442.

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

su do ku

Fill in the grid so that every row, every column, and every 3 x 3 box contains the digits 1 through 9 with no repeats.

6		5	1	7	9		4
			6	9
	4		6	8		1
2	5					4	8
8	9					7	3
	9		8	3		9
			2	5
7		8	4	1	3		6

Solution and tips at www.sudoku.com

Real Hope, Real Help, Real Options Free pregnancy testing Totally confidential service Same day results . Call for appointment 539-3338

Rodeo club, team look forward to proposed equicenter

By Hannah Blick KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Although the annual K-State rodeo has come and gone, the K-State Rodeo Club and team are still in full swing.

Allan Schmale, president of the club and senior in animal science and industry, explained though post-rodeo time means winding down the year for the club, both the club and team have responsibilities to finish out the spring rodeo season.

The difference between the club and team is that the team travels to rodeos throughout the area and competes in events, while the club is responsible for making sure the team is taken care of regarding everything from paperwork to equipment, said Matt McKinstry, head coach of the rodeo groups.

"We have about 30 club members who do just about everything that the 16 team members do, except travel on the road," said McKinstry, graduate student in animal science. "They practice together, prepare together and just share a lot of similar interests in the success of the program."

The groups, which were established in 1947, meet twice a month in Weber Hall. During the last 10 years, they have proposed plans to construct an equicenter, but the main constraint has been funding, McKinstry said. The proposed equicenter would serve as a teaching and event center for the rodeo club and team, as well as the K-State equestrian team. It has been recommended the equicenter be built at the intersection of Kimball and Denison avenues, north of the fire department. An equicenter also would provide a more definitive home for the organizations, McKinstry said.

"The equicenter is still in the planning stages, but I would project that it is a real possibility in the next two to three years," McKinstry said. "It would really give the rodeo groups a little more publicity for all their hard work if we could be housed in a brand new facility."

Because the rodeo club and team do not fall under the NCAA standards, they cannot be considered a varsity sport at K-State. Except for the annual rodeo weekend every spring semester, the groups do not receive much spotlight on campus or funding from the school. They follow the regulations of the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association, which governs all college rodeo competitions in the United States, McKinstry said.

"Basically, we're just a laid back group with an open-door policy," McKinstry said. "Evervone pitches in and practices together, club and team members. We would love to get more people involved."

A majority of the members come from an agricultural background and find joining the rodeo group the best way to stay involved with their rural interests, Schmale said. Lindsay Domer, second-year team member and sophomore in agricultural communications and journalism, explained that the team is very close due to all of the traveling to competitions.

The team competes mostly against Division II schools and junior colleges. Oklahoma State

Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN

Former K-State Rodeo Club member and 2006 graduate Dakota Base stretches before the bull-riding competition in 2006.

University is the only other Division I school in the area with a rodeo team. The team will travel this weekend to a competition at Fort Scott Community College, Domer said.

"We've had a pretty good season so far," Domer said. "But we're definitely hoping to improve, starting this weekend."

Students at Cultural Studies Conference analyze pop culture, entertainment

By Hannah Blick KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Speeches on gender issues and public icons and a Mexican, Elvis-impersonating performer are just a few of the events on tap for the this year's annual Cultural Studies Conference.

The theme for this year's conference is "Entertainment." Hosted by the English department, the 16th-annual conference will be held in the K-State Student Union today through Saturday and will Alternative Political Imagifeature speakers, sessions and live entertainment from Mexican Elvis impersonator, Judith Halberstam, professor at the University of Southern California, will be the keynote speaker for the conference. She will speak at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Alumni Center banquet room, according to the conference Web site. Halberstam's lecture is titled "Queer Animation: The Pixar Films and naries." Halberstam also has written several books on the subject of gender issues.

There will be sessions and panels consisting of K-State professors and graduate students who will present their research and will share information from their studies, said Philip Nel, associate professor of English and member of the cultural studies committee, which has organized the conference. The majority of these sessions and panels will take place in Union 206 and 207.

"The purpose of the sessions in this conference is for students to come and learn something new about what they're interested in," said Russell Keck, graduate student and member of the conference committee. "It's also a great opportunity for grad students and professors to display what they have been researching."

The conference can be described as a critical analysis of pop culture, involving anything from sessions on movies to magazines and even popular video games, Keck said. Students and faculty will address subjects such as race, gender and class rela-

"This conference is geared toward interests that every college student has," Keck said. "So if you have an interest in anything, we've got a talk for you."

tions as well

Keck said he will be presenting his graduate research on the popular online video game "World of Warcraft" and the hold it has on young, American males.

"I'm not nervous to give my presentation," Keck said. "I'm just really comfortable with giving a talk on a subject that I'm so interested in. And something that I know so many of my peers are interested in as well."

For more information, visit the Cultural Studies Conference's Web site at www.ksu. edu/english/symposium.

ampus Phone Books

you can finally Buy on sale NOW in Kedzie 103 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri.

Dena Bunnel Andy Gigstad Ashley Guenther Donnie Hampton

DJ St. Pat on Patio

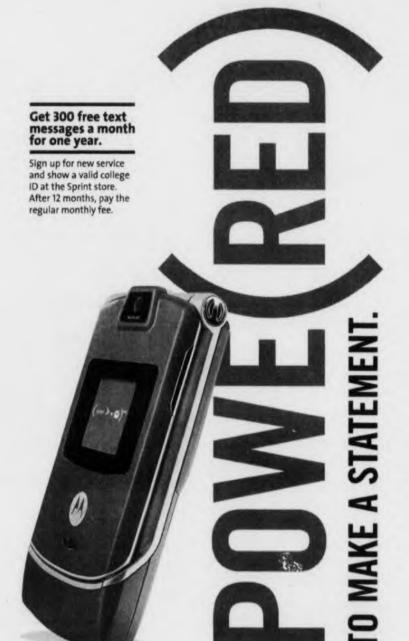

John Lantz Christopher Miller

Paul Mintner

Courtney Held

Kelsey Moran Katie Niederee Andrew Satterlee Emily Schneider Wayne Stoskopf Becky Sullivan Martin Wilson

RED MOTORAZR™ V3m Motorola and Sprint are collaborating with (PRODUCT) NED to help eliminate AIDS in Africa. JOINRED.COM

This feature-packed phone is the only RED MOTORAZR that lets you download music wirelessly from the Sprint Music Store."

$5999

$109.99 2-year price Plus $50 mail in rebate With new line activation and 2-year agreement

CALL 1-800-Sprint-1 CLICK sprint.com/powered to the nearest Sprint or Nextel store

Sprint POWER UP

Sprint stores

♠ Hablamos Español

JUNCTION CITY 701 N. Washington St. 785-762-3434 MANHATTAN Manhattan Mall

707 Commons Place new extended hours 9a-9p M-Sat, 10a-6p Sun

PREFERRED DEALERS EMPORIA Wireless Lifestyle - Sprint 2715 Candlewood Dr

HUTCHINSON Wireless Lifestyle - Sprint 1511 E. 17th St.

SALINA Modern Electronics 2146 Planet Ave. 785-825-5352

Coverage not available everywhere. Available features and services will vary by phone and network. The Nationwide Sprint PCS Network reaches over 250 million people. Voice calling area reaches over 165 million people in the U.S., Puerto Rico, U.S. Virgin Islands and Guam. Offers not available in all markets. Additional terms and restrictions apply subject to credit approval. See store or sprint.com for details. Service Plan: Up to 356 activation and 5200 early termination fees apply per line. Deposit may be required. Instant Savings. Activation at time of purchase required. No cash back. Mail In Rebate. Requires purchase by 02/17/07 and activation by 03/03/07. Rebates cannot exceed purchase price. Taxes excluded Line must be active 30 consecutive days. Allow 8 to 12 weeks for rebate. Free Text Messaging: Text message overage is $0.10 per message. To avoid charges, you must contact us prior to the billing end date of the 12th plan month. Risk-Free Guarantee: Call us to deactivate and return (to place of purchase) complete, undamaged phone with recept within 30 days of activation. You are responsible for all charges based on actual usage (partial monthly service charges, taxes. Sprint Fees, etc.). Project RED: Motoroia and Sprint will collectively make a $17 contribution on the sale of each RED MOTORAZR phone to the Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria in Africa. See www.motoroia.com/red or www.theglobalfund.org/en for more details. KS Residents: In those areas in which Sprint Nextel is eligible to receive support from the federal universal service fund, Sprint Nextel must meet all reasonable requests for service. Unresolved questions concerning service availability can be directed to the Kansas Corporation Commission Office of Public Alfairs and Consumer Protection at 800 662-0027. ©2007 Sprint Nextel. All rights reserved. SPRINT, the logo and other trademarks are trademarks of Sprint Nextel. All rights reserved.

Madonna has millions of adoring fans, but this man may be the biggest of them all

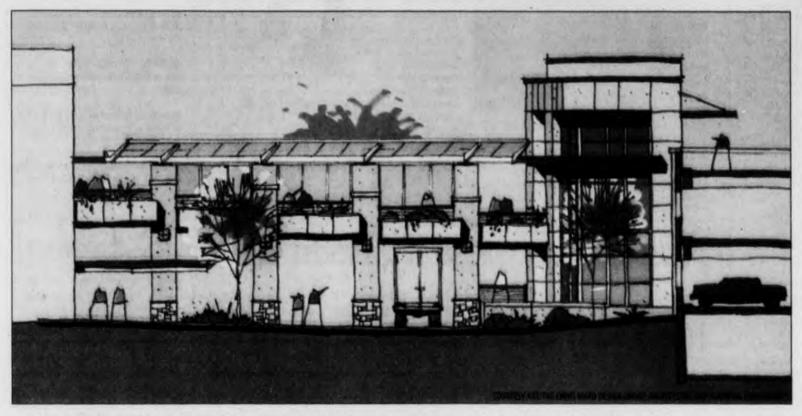

See story Page 9

www.kstatecollegian.com

Friday, March 9, 2007

INSTALLATION

Construction for Union parking garage slated to begin this summer

By Mike Kelly KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

After years of discussion and speculation, construction is set to begin on the K-State Student Union parking garage in July, causing temporary inconvenience for K-State patrons, as well as excite-

"I think it's a great project," said Thomas Rawson, vice president of administration and finance. "I'm really glad that after literally decades of study, we decided to go ahead with it."

According to Abe Fattaey, interim director of facility planning, a construction bid will be awarded through a state bid process by late May or early June, allowing construction to start in July. If construction runs smoothly, the parking garage will be open for business at the beginning of the fall 2008

"We think it will take 12 to 14 months," Fattaey said. "We'll be down in that lot for a full school year for sure, but hopefully by the next school year we can be open."

Gary Leitnaker, associate vice president of the division of human resources, said the construction schedule will depend on the weather. The garage will be built through a process called pour-in-place concrete, which requires a temperature above freezing to cure. When asked whether or not this winter would have halted construction, Leitnaker said certain days would have prevented work.

"During January I think it would have," he said. The parking lot south of the Union will not be accessible during construction, causing parking services to develop an alternative for students and fac-

As an alternative, K-State will lease buses from the local school district and will run a shuttle service from a lot between Snyder Family Stadium and Peters Recreation Complex to the circle drop-off on the north side of the Union. The shuttle service will leave on 10-minute intervals from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m.

There will be no additional student fee for the shuttle service," Leitnaker said. "That's built into the project from parking services."

BUDGET

The projected budget for the new garage is $17.5 million and includes all elements of design, demolition and construction. According to Rawson, parking revenue directly will bear all expenses related to the construction and operation of the garage.

"There is no state money in this project at all, and by state law there cannot be," he said. "Parking has to be totally self-supported."

To fund the project, the State of Kansas authorized the issuance of revenue bonds on a 30-year

"The two main sources of revenue to repay the bonds will come from the sale of campus permits and the sale of meter time or daily passes," Rawson

According to K-State's traffic and parking regulations, prices for university parking will increase across the board. Both faculty and students will see an increase of more than 40 percent in the cost of parking from 2007 to 2009.

Faculty members will be divided into three tiers based on income. Those who earn a higher salary will be charged more for parking.

For 2007, faulty parking will range from $110 to $130 based on tier. In 2009, that price range will jump to anywhere from $150 to $190.

Student parking passes will cost $95 for 2007, but plans indicate a jump to $145 in 2009, a 52-percent rise during the two-year period.

"The cost caps out at $145," Leitnaker said.

See GARAGE Page 10

'Fake Patty's Day' celebrations to take place Saturday

Luke Stramel, sophomore in theater and Pizza Hut employee, throws beaded necklaces to spectators Saturday morning while making his way along the parade route on Moro Street as part of last year's St. Patrick's Day parade.

By Joanna Rubick KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Aggieville is celebrating St. Patrick's Day twice this year. Participating bars are will open at 9 a.m. Saturday to start what has been dubbed "Fake Patty's Day." The traditional Aggieville celebration falls on March 17, which is

St. Patrick's Day. The event includes Blarney Breakfast, a parade and road rac-

Nate Moon, general manager of O'Malley's Inc., said Aggieville employees wanted students to have the opportunity to participate in the celebration, but many will be gone

March 17 because of spring break. "They're the ones that spend the most money and support Aggieville," Moon said. "We're just Fake Patty's Day When: 9 a.m. Saturday Where: Aggieville How much: Free For more information or to see the T-shirt logo, visit www.wildcat919.com.

trying to give back to them."

Moon said green beer will be served, and T-shirts and beads will be given away throughout the day.

Bars plan to have food specials, and KSDB-FM 91.9 is promoting

Pat Atchity, underwriting director at 91.9 and employee at Tubby's Sports Bar, said he and Ashley Jensen, manager of Tubby's and Fat's Bar & Grill, came up with the

"This is one of the best places

See EARLY Page 10

Construction worker dies at Jardine

By Wendy Haun KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

One construction worker died and another was injured following an accident Wednesday at the Jardine Apartment Complex.

Steven Darveaux of Winchester, Kan., died after falling from a forklift box. The box fell on top of him after he fell out, said Cheryl May, assistant vice president for university relations.

The other man in the box, Timothy Hanes, Meriden, Kan., was injured.

Mercy Regional Health Center declined to comment on his treatment or current status.

May said the accident occurred between 5 and 5:15 p.m. Riley County Fire Department, K-State Police and Emergency Medical Services all responded to the accident.

Chicken toss at game under investigation

By Willow Williamson KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Throwing chickens from the stands to mock the University of Kansas mascot, the Jayhawk, has been a tradition at the home K-State vs. KU men's basketball game for years. The most recent chicken toss, however, angered more than just KU

Several animal rights groups are now involved, and an investigation is underway. The Humane Society of the United States is offering a reward of up to $2,500 to anyone who knows anything about those responsible for throwing chickens at the men's basketball game on Feb. 19.

The Riley County Police Department and HSUS are working together to solve the case.

"There is no reason to inflict suffering on a living creature for entertainment," said Mary Prewitt, HSUS K-State program manager. "Chickens feel pain. They can suffer."

The HSUS also is part of the case because of its First Strike Campaign. The campaign is working toward showing the connection between animal cruelty and human-to-human violence.

"People who will torture animals are much more likely to commit violent acts against other people," Prewitt said.

Ben Keck, sophomore in pre-professional business administration, said he witnessed the chickens being thrown from the stands. He said he had no problem with it.

"I think the HSUS has better things to do," he said. "(It's) keeping the tradition. I just hope it happens again next year."

Lynn Schumacher, animal control supervisor at the Manhattan Animal Shelter, is one of the investigators for the case.

"We won't tolerate cruelty to any creature," Schumacher said.

She did not make any comments on the case.

Today's forecast

A.M. Showers High: 61 Low: 33

INSIDE

Recent changes to daylight-saving time have software manufacturers scrambling to update their programs before Sunday. Turn to learn more on the reasoning behind the biannual ritual of clock

See story Page 5

CAMPUS NEWS HIGHLIGHTS

New center to sponsor open house

An open house for K-State's Center for Engagement and Community Development will take place from 3 to 5 p.m. today at 202 Ahearn Field House. The center was launched in 2006 to promote engagement on and off campus in teaching, research, outreach and issues of community development.

Concert to benefit Darfur region

The Darfur Awareness Concert is 7-9 p.m. today in Union Station in the K-State Student Union. The concert will allow students to learn about the conflict in Darfur, Sudan, and hear live musical performances by K-State African Student Union students and Kula Voyage. It is sponsored by Amnesty International

Event to highlight beauty of Paraguay

The monthly international Coffee Hour, sponsored by the International Student Center, will highlight the various cultural and scenic aspects of Paraguay. The theme of the hour is "Paraguay The Beauty in its Nature." It is from 4 to 5 p.m. today in the International Student Center.

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

55 Conclu-

1 Compact

2 Neighborhood

3 Israel's

5 Basin

Golda

accessories

7 Gave as

8 Tumbler

9 Tyler or

10 Before

11 Com

16 Ap-spike evidence

Ullmann

6 Solidify

4 Least risky

DOWN

ACROSS	34	ld
1 Flow		counter
stopper		part
4 Big name	35	Crate
in video		Melodie
games	37	Enlist
8 Merriment	39	Rotatin
12 Anger		part
13 Dumb-	40	Ref
The second second		A 15 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1

41 Annie. struck

14 Old e.g Italian 45 In bread the thick 15 Sitcom 48 "Auld" "about nothing follower 50 Pro-17 State with 51 Advancertainty 18 Occupa-52 "Ulalume" tion 19 High times 53 Unrivaled 21 Fool 54 Member-22 Trig ratio 26 Intelligent

29 Doggy doc 30 Coquettish 31 Crones 32 Danson Demme on (love too much) ship proaches Solution time: 25 mins tracted

tage

writer

43 In due 44 Require-45 The

46 Cattle call 47 Lodging 49 Citric quaff

CRYPTOQUIP

VODU C WHUIDN OJ SCZZNOUF TCSI. O

VHKYW QCPD AH

OA ZHPDZ-TDCZOUF Vesterday's Cryptoquip: IF I CREATE A PLAN FOOL A PERSON INTO EATING BREATH MINTS, IT MIGHT BE A TIC TAC TACTIC Today's Cryptoquip Clue: O equals I

BEST BETS

Your social calendar for the weekend

20 Caldron

24 Memorandum 25 Spuds'

buds

26 Females

27 Creche

trio

28 Intensely eager

32 Falls like

33 Despondency

36 Wal-Mart

competi-

35 Vagrant

38 Elbow

dance

42 Advertise

extravagantly

time

ment

whole ball of wax

39 Line

dominoes

29 Irritate

23 PC picture

Friday

Feature film: "Casino Royale"

Forum Hall* Admission: $1

In his first mission, James Bond must stop Le Chiffre, a banker to the world's terrorist organizations, from winning a high-stakes poker tournament at Casino Royale.

*Movie also shows 7 p.m. and 10 p.m. Saturday and 8 p.m. Sunday. Admission is $2.

K-State men's basketball vs. Texas Tech

2 p.m. at Ford Center, Oklahoma City, Okla. Television: ESPN Plus/ESPNU Radio: K-State Sports Network

If the Wildcats win Friday, they will play a semifinal contest Saturday at 1 p.m. The championship game is set to tip at 2 p.m. Sunday.

10 Saturday

K-State women's tennis vs. Tulsa for the Wildcats' match-up against No. 33 Tulsa. For more National Philharmonic of Russia

See Russia's finest musicians in a performance featuring

11 a.m.

Ahearn Field House Admission: Free

K-State should be back into form this weekend, with two players returning from injury

information, see Sports, Page 6.

7:30 p.m. McCain Auditorium

Admission: $20 with K-State ID

UPC After Hours: "Jessica Lynn Johnson, One Woman Show"

K-State Student Union, Union Station Admission: Free

The show will feature playwright and performer Jessica Lynn Johnson. Originally from St.

Charles, Mo., Johnson has guest-starred as Beverly on "One Life to Live," and portrayed Daisy Duke in CMT's promo for "The Dukes of

Your best bet is to get there early, because there will be a free potato bar for the first 150 people.

Local musical performances

See bands Jonathan and Of the Flame-Hand Robot at 10 p.m. at Auntie Mae's Parlor. The Mikey Needleman Band will perform at 10 p.m. at Pat's Blue Rib'n Barbeque. Mr. Chaz's Hip Hop Party will be at 10 p.m. at P.J.'s Bar.

11 Sunday

K-State baseball vs. North Dakota State

Tointon Stadium* Admission: Free with K-State ID

The three-game series finale against North Dakota State will come to an end today. The Wildcats have beat the Bison each of the five times the two schools have met, including twice last season.

*The first two games of the series will take place at 3 p.m. Friday and 2 p.m. Saturday.

music from their native country.

The planner Campus bulletin board

■ A memorial service for Diane Sanders will take place at 1 p.m. Saturday at All Faiths Chapel.

Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at collegian@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

The blotter Arrests in Riley County

The Collegian takes reports directly from the Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Wednesday, March 7

■ Edward Joseph Brady Jr., Ogden, Kan., at 9:45 a.m. for battery. Bond was

■ Paull Yung Shin, P.O. Box 513, at 11:40 a.m. for a worthless check. Bond was $286.31

■ Harry Alexander Bowser Jr., Fort Riley, at 2:27 p.m. for failure to appear. Bond was $251.

■ Charity Christine Currier, Raymore, Mo., at 3:40 p.m. for battery. Bond was ■ Jassica Len Morton, 2407 Brook Lane, at 4:30 p.m. for theft and forgery. Bond was $2,500.

■ Shanika Yvette Strong, Junction City, Kan., at 5:14 p.m. for a worthless check. Bond was $207.05.

Wednesday, March 8

Ronnel Dewayne Williams, Fort Riley, at 2:29 a.m. for disorderly conduct and criminal use of a weapon. Bond was ■ Michael Arthur McNerney, 1031 Pierre St., at 3:35 a.m. for possession of a controlled substance or depressant, unlawful possession of a depression or controlled substance and DUI. Bond was $1,500.

Corrections and clarifications

Corrections and clarifications run in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call news editor Alex Peak at (785) 532-6556 or e-mail collegian@ spub.ksu.edu.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291 020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167.

© Kansas State Collegian, 2007

say no to hangovers!

"YOU WONT FEEL LIKE CRAP IN THE MORNING" JANE Magazine

- Eliminates the toxic effects of alcohol
- No morning after headaches, nausea or regrets
- 100% Natural, safe and side effect free
- Works great for lightweights too!

Order Cheerz supplements online and save 10% www.cheerzstore.com discount code: collegian

Cheerz Store

1109 Hylton Heights Manhattan, KS 66502

Showings

One Bedrooms 1022 - 1026 Sunset $395 - $425

1950 - 1960 Hunting $510 - $540 1212 Thurston $525 - $545

1837 College Heights

by Appointment

$920 1825 College Heights $750 - Single Level

$800 - Two Story $875 - Three Story

Two Bedrooms

Aggieville Penthouse Apts 617 N. 12th Street

Houses 1508 Hillcrest 722-B Osage

2005 College View

Conversion Apts 1866 College Heights 2-bedroom - $530

1010 Sunset

studio · $340

1 bedroom - $385

3&4 Bedrooms 1841 College Heights

$920 - $1250

All Apartments within Walking Distance to Campus

1150 WESTLOOP CENTER MANHATTAN

Breakfast & Door Prizes

DJ St. Pat on Patio

House plans inspire New York artist's modern installation

By Lacey D. Mackey KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Christine Hiebert lives in her artwork

For years, Hiebert said she referred to her drawings as her houses, "because that's where I ,thought I lived."

But Hiebert became exhausted with drawing, and said she wanted to build a house - a piece of art she could inhabit. With a roll of blue painter's tape in hand, she began to make plans for her new home on the walls of her apartment.

Something clicked with the artist and her blue tape.

"This can be a drawing medium," she said.

Hiebert created a piece of her modern art in the K-State Student Union's Kemper Art Gallery. The exhibit opened Thursday evening and will be on display through April 2.

Hiebert also presented past work Thursday, explaining the transformation of her work from college to the present. She spent time abroad to cultivate her work. Despite her effort, she sensed something was missing.

"I felt like my days were full, but my art wasn't," she said. "I was trying to find a way to make something out of the work."

Hiebert began making larger pieces of art, using charcoal on canvas. Although her lines had a loose, gestural appearance, she said they were not "fast lines," but slowly and thoughtfully placed on the page.

Hiebert said she stopped planning an outcome.

"All of my work, from here on out, has no forethought," she said. "I was asking the drawing what it needs next."

Holly Peek, junior in fine arts, said she enjoyed listening to Hiebert talk about her work.

"I think it's interesting how she meshes fine arts with architecture," Peek said.

Kylee Witt, sophomore in fine arts, said the use of tape was effective and light-hearted.

'She has thicker and thinner lines, and it has a lot of movement with it," Witt said.

After Teresa Schmidt, professor of art, saw Hiebert's work in Boston, Schmidt said she responded to the quality of the work and identifying similarities to her own pieces. Schmidt said Hiebert's work expresses depth and is vibrantly architectural and geometric.

Bringing Hiebert to K-State also has allowed students to see a modern artist in action, Schmidt said

"It brings in a little bit of what's going on now."

Matt Castro | COLLEGIAN

Christine Hiebert, artist from New York City, talks about her methods and inspirations at a gallery opening Thursday evening. Her visiting exhibit is in Kemper Art Gallery in the K-State Student Union.

Student Senate members pass textbook resolution with little debate

By Adrianne DeWeese KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A preliminary solution for online textbook listing at K-State now exists. Student Senate members passed a resolution in support of an online textbook listing with a vote of 41-4-3 at their meeting Thursday night.

Varney's Bookstore and university administrators will create an online textbook list K-State students will gain access to through a portal on K-State's homepage, according to the resolution.

Melissa Hildebrand, chair of the University Relations Committee, said committee members have worked extensively on developing the proposal with university administrators and Faculty Senate members.

"I think the unity that we have among K-State right now as a whole is very strong, and a lot of eyes are on us right now to pass something in support of, or come to an agreement on, where we're standing," said Hildebrand, senior in agricultural journalism and communications.

In addition to the proposal, University Relations Committee members within Student Senate also will lead a textbook awareness cam-

The campaign will target students and faculty to focus on the potential positives and drawbacks of purchasing textbooks online along with the importance of meeting the textbook ordering deadline, according to the resolu-

At their Feb. 22 meeting, senate members voted 26-18-0 to send the resolution back to the University Relations Committee. Prior to the March 1 meeting, University Relations Committee members met with Steve and Jeff Levin, co-owners of Varney's; Pat Bosco, dean of student life; and Beth Unger, vice provost for academic services and technology, and discussed changes to the committee's original proposal for an internal textbook listing.

In his four years of involvement with Student Senate, Faculty Senate representative Gavin Couvelha said this textbook proposal is the first effective one he has seen.

"By passing this resolution (Thursday night), nothing negative is going to occur to students," said Couvelha, senior in speech education. "We have so much to gain from this."

Senate members also passed a resolution with unanimous consent in support of a $450 million National Bio- and Agro-Defense Facility in Manhattan.

The City of Manhattan pledged $5 million in economic assistance to the facility, which the U.S. Department of Homeland Security would fund.

The facility could bring $3.5 billion to the local economy during its first 20 years, according to the resolution. An on-site committee will tour K-State in April as a potential location for the facil-

Student Senate's resolution will show community support necessary to secure K-State's bid for the facility, said Clint Blaes, College of Agriculture senator and senior in agricultural journalism and communications

Campus Phone Books

you can finally Buy A Book

NOW in Kedzie 103 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri

Online College Courses

Having trouble getting your class

Need to add a class?

schedule to work?

Dropped a class?

BEDROOMS

1119 Laramie #5

1941 College Heights #4 Mon-Thurs 3:00-5:00

1854 Claflin #14

Wareham - 418 Poyntz #603

Aggie Village - 1215 Laramie

925 Denison #4

1803-1807 College Heights

View at 925 Denison #4

Royal Towers

1700 N. Manhattan #203

3:00-5:30

1:30 - 5:00

10:00-2:00

1:00-5:00

10:00-2:00

6:00-8:00pm

5:00-7:00

12:00-2:00

1:00-3:00

12:00-2:00

5:30-7:00

4:00-7:00

5:00-7:00

2:00-4:00

4:00-6:00

2:00-4:00

Mon, Wed, Thurs

Mon.Wed.Fri

Tues. Thurs

Sun

Mon-Fri

Mon, Wed, Fri

Tues, Thurs

Mon, Wed, Fri

Tues, Thurs

Sun

9-week and 17-week sessions starting soon. Most general education courses transfer to Kansas

Regent schools.

www.bartonline.org

Online college courses offered by Barton County Community College

Now Leasing for Fall 2007

Check out our model showings now!

With 900 apartments in the Manhattan area,

we can find a place for you!

Find our schedule online!

BEDROOMS

4:30-6:30

3:30-5:30

12:30-2:30

2:00-4:00

BEDROOMS

1611 Laramie #2

Mon, Wed, Fri

Mon-Fri

STUDIOS

Mon, Wed, Fri

5:30-7:30

12:00-2:00

8:00-11:00an

2:00-4:00

12:00-2:00

12:00-4:00

1:00-3:00

3:30-6:00

2:00-5:00

BEDROOMS

Royal Towers

1700 N. Manhattan #402

Wareham 418 Poyntz #316

1026 Osage #22

1419 Leavenworth #2

Mon

Thurs

Sat

Christian Books & Gifts •Bibles •DVDs Computer

•T-Shirts •Gifts Special Orders Welcome 1437 Anderson Ave.

*and much more!

Come Worship

With Us

1st Church of the Nazarene

3031 Kimball Ave.

7:00 Wed. Bible Study, Teens

outh & College ministry opportuniti Senior Pastor: Pat Weyranch

539-6376

First Christian

Church

(Disciples of Christ)

11:30 a.m. Radio Broadcast 95.3 FM

Neil Engle

776-8790 5th and Humboldt

Courthouse Square

Pastor

9:00 a.m. Sunday School 10:15 a.m. Worship Service

9:30 Sunday School 10:40 Sunday Worship

537-0310

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH 2121 Blue Hills Road 539-8691

9:45 am Sunday School 11:00 am Sunday Worship Praise Team Twice Each Month

Baptist Campus Center 1801 Anderson Ave 539-3051

Welcome to FIRST

LUTHERAN CHURCH

5:30 p.m. Sunday Worship Church School for all

10th & Poyntz

785-537-8532

7:00pm Fair Trade Advocates

Mondays

Wednesdays

8:00pm NOOMA Videos, Union Rm 209

Explore • Discover • Belong • Serve

CALL FOR WORSHIP TIMES

3905 Green Valley Rd. 785-537-2389

CHURCH

of Manhattan 481 Zeandale Road. (Where reason and intuition guide our personal journey) Program Sunday at 10:45 a.m. Religiou education classes for youth Child Care Provided A Welcoming Congregation Rev. Michael Nelson

For information call (785) 537-2349

JOIN THE DIRECTORY Call 785-532-6560

A growing spiritual community Service 11:00 A.M. Sundays

Uplifting message & music ECM Building 1021 Denison Contact Rev. Jennifer at ucm@gmail.com

Christian Science Society.

Sunday 10:30 a.m. Danforth Chapel KSU Campus

Wed. 7:30 in Reading Room Reading Room open Tues.-Thurs. 11-1 105 N. 4th St.

MANHATTAN

MENNONITE CHURCH 1000 Fremont 539-4079

Worship: 10:45 SS: 9:30 Richard & Barbara Gehring, Pastors K-State Student Group

www.manhattan.ks.us.mennonite.net

Potluck 1st and 3rd Sunday

after worship Faith Evangelical Free Church

 Worship at 8:00, 10:30, 10:40

Sunday School at 9:15

1.6 Miles North of Kimball 776-2086

Peace Lutheran Church Worship Sundays

Pastor Michael Ide 2500 Kimball www.peace-to-you.org With Christ ... Gather ...

Grow and Go Forth!

OURNE MINISTRIE iversity Christian Church 2800 Claflin • 776.5440 (across from Taco Hut) 45 & 11:00 Contemporary Service 9:45 Breakfast and Bible Study Chris Herrington • www.uccks.org

Grace Baptist Church

2901 Dickens - 2 blks. E. of Seth Child ♦ Sunday Worship ♦

8:00, 9:30, 11:00 a.m. Bible Classes 9:30 or 11:00 a.m. Evening Service or Care Cells 6 p.m. 785-776-0424 www.gracebchurch.org

First Presbyterian Church

9:15 a.m. Worship Service 9:15 a.m. Sunday School 10:30 a.m. Worship Service 11:15 a.m. Contemporary

R.C. McConnell, Pastor 301 Leavenworth • 537-0518 www.firstpresmanhattan.com

Worship Service

St. Isidore's Catholic Student Center

MASS SCHEDULE Tuesday-Thursday 10:00 p.m. Friday 12:10 p.m. Saturday 5 p.m. Sun. 4:30 p.m., 6 p.m.

Sunday 9:30 a.m., 11 a.m. Father Keith Weber, Chaplain 711 Denison 539-7496

Traditional Worship: Sun 8:30 & 11am

Contemporary Worship: Sun 8:45am - Harris Activity Center Casual dress, free donuts

Sunday School - 9:45am

Communion Service 5:30 pm Wed

785.776.3804 mdiproperties.com Saturday Office Hours: 10am-2pm

CCULLOUGH DEVELOPMENT

Republican appeal

GOP more desperate for attractive candidates than worried about substantial platforms

Since Ann Coulter's homophobic "f-word" boo-boo at a political conference, the Eva Braun of the right wing has been scampering about front pages and prime-time reports.

The word rolled out in a gormless swipe at the Democrats - and also Isaiah Washington of "Grey's Anatomy" fame - when she said "I was going to have a few comments on the other Democratic presidential candidate, John Edwards, but it turns out you have to go into rehab if you use the word (insert f-word here)."

JONAS

Big-dog Republicans, giving the dirty eye to a 2008 run themselves, have issued their own vindictives, trying desperately to get back the moderates and independents who just bolted to the Democrats. Annie could sink the party if someone doesn't shut her up.

In reality, being a hack has worked out well for her. Lacking originality, wit and charm, the only thing she has going for is not looking like a skid mark of a human being - ladies and gents, I give you Rush

The Republicans, despite having one or two not entirely awful ideas, have suffered from an absolute glut of the down right hideous. Full on,

"U-G-L-Y, they ain't got no alibi, they ugly." The GOP needed someone, anyone, to look at in addition to listen to. Say what you will about the merits of Ronald Reagan's presidency, but I swear that man was born with liver spots.

Reaching back into the dawn of time, when was the last time an attractive republican was elected? Truman was better looking than Eisenhower, and JFK was so goodlooking it got us through years of Lyndon Johnson and almost through Nixon.

Following the impeachment of Nixon's jowels, we had Ford, who managed to speak despite not having any lips; the mummy Imhotep resurrected as Ronald Reagan; and George Bush the first, whose most attractive moment was hurling on global television. Doing it in the lap of the Japanese Prime Minister was added sexy.

After the long wait came good ole Bill Clinton, who was at least goodlooking enough to make us wonder about that Cuban cigar and the maximum weight limit of the desk in the Oval Office.

At some point, it seems the righties wised up enough to realize what was going on, and after the 2000 primaries, a moderately attractive George Bush gained the nomination and then the presidency, partly due to the fact that Al Gore looks like he's made out of pasty Legos.

Then, came dear Annie. As the Democrats had proven time and again, barring a substantial, supported position, give the rank-andfile something hot, blonde and not 100 pounds overweight or 80 years past the expiration date and you'll be

Of course, the greatest yuck is that even Ann Coulter, the snaz of the GOP, is about half an estrogen supplement away from an Adam's apple. She's your friend's used-to-bekind-of-hot mom, now barreling her way toward middle-aged ogredom. Already the tide of sexually repressed Republican youth is ebbing away from Ann and toward new conservative babe Michelle Malkin, who has the added advantage of being of Asian descent, which lets her readers bask in diversity: "That Chinese girl sure says some good stuff."

At some point I predict a return to politics as normal. No matter how bright the helmet Darth Vader puts on - underneath it's still that creepy looking white guy. The Republicans are going to run out of new hotness sometime soon and find some more werewolves to run (who probably will get elected). Meanwhile, the Democrats will continue courting Moonbeam Sunshower, Snowfall Spring and Jane Fonda, and the country will continue its merry course to mad-

Jonas Hogg is a senior in sociology, international studies and Russian. Please send comments to opinion@spub.ksu.edu

STREET TALK

Aggieville business owners plan to celebrate St. Patrick's Day a week early. What do you think about the plan to celebrate at an earlier date?

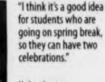

Dunn

"I think the Aggieville Business Association is upset by the fact that St. Patty's Day falls during spring break and they will be unable to capitalize. I personally do not agree with drinking green beer."

Robert Dunn SOPHOMORE IN ENGLISH LITERATURE

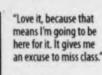

Auston

JUNIOR IN MARKETING

Hulse

Brandon Hulse

JUNIOR IN AGRONOMY

Scruggs

"First time, I'm going down to Aggieville to see the parade, and I might get a hat for St. Patrick's Day."

Rodrigo Galeano Zarza NON-DEGREE SEEKING STUDENT IN ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE

Campus religious groups can be overwhelming to others

After three months at K-State, I wanted to leave. Not because of the people, and not because of the classes or the teachers.

It was because of the bombardment of invitations to join religious groups while living in the residence halls.

Although I am not a Christian, I thought nothing of the abundance of religious groups at first. I grew up going to church every Sunday, and the group members were very nice and not overbearing. After a while though, when every corner I turned, there was either a poster, chalk message or large group of people looking for innocent people to join their religious groups, I got annoyed.

GIRARD

The dorms can be a veritable haven for religious students and groups. I wish I would have known that beforehand. Practically all of my neighbors at one time or another invited me to join their respective groups.

This didn't bother me too much either, because they were just being nice people, not blood-sucking vampires trying to lure me into their underground cave.

What nearly pushed me over the edge and off the campus was the various surveys, handouts and speeches I received while walking to class every week. I even heard friends say they filled out a simple religious survey and not much later were sought out at their room by a Christian group representative.

I began to wonder if K-State was a Christian university, but I knew better than that. K-State was just a representation of the state of Kansas - mostly white and Christian. Nothing I haven't dealt with before, except I didn't come to K-State to experience my hometown again.

I expected something different and inviting, and what I saw was an atmosphere about as inviting as a oneon-one game of basketball with Kevin Durant. I almost couldn't take it.

I didn't leave. Why? Although I had plenty of reason to leave, I stayed because after hours upon hours of thought. I realized something. I am a minority on this campus - not racially, but spiritually. If I went somewhere else, like the University of Kansas, I would have been part of the usual crowd - one of the many welldressed, coffee-imbibing KU liberals. But not here.

I still interacted with the Christian students on my floor. We conversed our beliefs and eventually I received fewer invitations.

I have some close Christian friends here. I don't hold anything spiteful or menacing toward them. They were well-intentioned and kind. I am not going to deny a friend, even if his or her faith is different than mine. They can be overzealous about their cause, but so can politicians, protesters, coaches and so on.

Since this is a public university. I do hope some groups realize not everyone on campus is seeking a Christian - or even any - religious salvation. As offensive as the crazy old preacher that comes to campus every year can be to Christians, religious groups hovering around every corner can be just the same to non-Chris-

Now when I am offered a New Testament while walking on campus, I kindly say, "No thank you," and walk on my merry way to class. Maybe it will help somebody, but not me. I have my priorities set, at least spiritually.

Scott Girard is a sophomore in print journalism Please send comments to opinion@spub.ksu.edu.

Collegian

Alex Peak | NEWS ERITOR |
Jessi Hernandez | CO-OPY CHEF |
Jessi Hernandez | CO-OPY CHEF |
Scott Girard | CAMPIS ERITOR |
Logan C. Adams | METRO ERITOR |
Logan C. Adams | METRO ERITOR |
Lacry D. Mackey | FARTHESE ERITOR |
JONATHAN GARTEN | SPORTS ERITOR |
JONAN HORSE | STATE |
JONAN HORSE |
JONAN HORSE | PROSE ERITOR |
JONAN HORSE | PROSE ERITOR |
ROYCE HAPPAS | SMALE ERITOR |
COUNTING SHAPPAS | SMALE ERITOR |
COUNTING SHAPPAS | SMALE ERITOR |
COUNTING SHAPPAS |
LOGAT |
LOGA

WRITE TO US

Letters can be submitted by e-mail to letters@spub. Isu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters should be limited to 250 words. All submitted letters may be fited for length and clarity.

CONTACT US Kansas State Collegian Kedzie 103 Manhattan, KS 66502

Display ads.....(785) 532-6560 Classified ads....(785) 532-6555 Delivery .....(785) 532-6555 Newsroom......(785) 532-6556 news@spub.ksu.edu

TO THE POINT

An editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. This is the Collegian's official opinion.

Splitting St. Patrick's Day parade, festivities violates spirit of the holiday

Every March, the citizens of Manhattan and the students of K-State band together to celebrate our neighbors across the pond.

People come together to don their green hats and drink their green beer in honor of the Irish. The St. Patrick's Day parade and the ensuing revelry in Aggieville has become an annual tradition.

Unfortunately, this year the parade and the annual celebration are being separated. We understand why the parade should be Mar. 17. It is St. Patrick's Day. But the bars' decision to celebrate the holiday on Mar. 10 goes against the spirit of the event.

The parade usually takes place the weekend before spring break so students can join the festivities. Since the parade rarely happens on St. Patrick's Day, there is no reason it couldn't be held a week in advance this year.

Holding the parade during spring break not only leaves out students who go out of town for vacation, but it also leaves out students living in the residence halls.

Since the dorms close Saturday morning, those students only will be able to attend the festivities if they pack up their cars before the parade.

The Aggieville Business Association should hold these events together. If Aggieville patrons are going with the Fake Patrick's Day theme, they might as well go

All the students could be included in the entire event, not just the drinking por-

Celebrating the Irish is an idea we all can get behind in unity. In addition to beer you can enjoy by the slice, there are delicious and aromatic cabbage dishes and the fresh-breath-inspiring corn-beef hash.

With so much to offer, we hope next year Aggieville will give us a St. Patrick's Day hootenanny we all can be part of.

WORLD NEWS

AFGHAN WARLORD SPLITS WITH TALIBAN, HINTS AT TALKS WITH KARZAI

KARACHI, Pakistan - A veteran Afghan warlord wanted by the U.S. distanced himself from the Taliban and gave his strongest indication yet that he was open to talks with embattled President Hamid Gulbuddin Hekmatyar's overtures are unlikely to blunt a Taliban offensive against NATO troops in southern Afghanistan, but security experts said they could herald a new phase in efforts to reconcile the country's warring factions.

The Taliban has vowed to intensify its resistance this spring.

U.N. CHIEF URGES END TO PERVASIVE VIOLENCE AGAINST GIRLS, WOMEN

NEW YORK, N.Y. - U.N. Secretary-General Ban Kimoon urged all nations Thursday to end the pandemic of violence against girls and women by working to change cultural practices and attitudes that tolerate beatings, sexual attacks and other abusive acts.

The new U.N. chief, Louise Arbour, said most countries have passed laws proscribing such violence, but too often they don't enforce them.

"Violence against women is rightly termed the most common but least punished crime in the world," she said.

TURKISH COURT ORDERS ACCESS TO YOUTUBE.COM BLOCKED, CITING INSULT

ISTANBUL, Turkey - Four college students asked a court Thursday to revoke the ban it imposed on YouTube.com for running videos prosecutors said insulted the founder of modern Turkey.

The group condemned the videos in question but said blocking access to the Web site violated their rights to free speech, the private Turkish news agency Dogan reported.

Insulting the country's founder, Mustafa Kemal Ataturk, is a crime in Turkey punishable by prison.

— The Associated Press

K-State-Salina voting procedure to change

By Megan Molitor KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State-Salina students will choose their student government leaders one week later than at K-State's Manhattan campus

Salina's Student Governing Association has been working on ways to change its voting procedures, said Delton Gordon, Salina's SGA adviser.

He said students there will elect their student body president, vice president and students to serve in the College of Technology and Aviation Student Senate.

Technology problems have hindered elections at Salina in

"We have been looking into alternatives to solve this problem," Gordon said. "The solution we have come up with will be to use an outside com-

Students will use the new system next week when Salina has its elections, starting at 8 a.m. Tuesday and ending at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

SGA will send an e-mail with a link to the new system to all students whose names are pulled from an e-mail Listserv, Gordon said. They will be directed to a site to log on with an electronic identification number and password to vote.

Gordon said the company is called BigPulse, and the campus purchased a threemonth subscription to use the service for club elections. He said the election was delayed a week to make sure everything was set up correctly, and next year's elections likely will take place at the same time as those at the Manhattan campus.

However, there are 82 students at K-State-Salina who will not vote in next week's election because they have what are called "non-Salina majors," Gordon said. Instead, they voted in this week's general election.

Many members of K-State-Salina's SGA said they are anxious to see how the new procedures will affect elections, and student government in general.

"I'm excited to watch and see how things turn out," Lauren Richardson, Salina student body president, said. "I really hope it will be a good change, it was needed."

FROM THE PRESIDENT Landon Lecture, student response excellent

This column is a forum to provoke thought and encourage feedback.

However, this week I would like to share my experience of meeting a former President of the United States.

Last week, I had the opportunity to meet former President Bill Clinton at the Landon Lecture.

What is it about this man that causes so many to be enamored of him? The characteristic attributed to Clinton is charisma.

We hear about his presence and his ability to command attention and to > make each person in the audience feel like he or she is having a face-to-face conversation. Clinton's intense intelligence, lightheart-edness and genuine

smile were palpable

LUCAS MADDY

to me. My entire family was invited to take a photo with him.

> He also jokingly commented that Vice President Maddy and I look nothing alike. Say what you will about Republicans or Democrats, but that day, Clinton simply was a great guy.

Thank you to everyone who supported the Landon in Lecture Series and K-State d through your attendance and polite, professional manner. (E Proud to be a Wildcat,

Lucas Maddy

STUDENT BODY PRESIDENT

Early daylight-saving time causes technological, scheduling anxieties

By Katelynn Hasler KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Daylight-saving time will go into effect at 2 a.m. Sunday, three weeks earlier than nor-

The Energy Policy Act of 2005 mandated the date change. This is the first year the change will be observed.

According to an article by The Associated Press, some anxieties and problems have arisen because of the change. Computer operating systems manufactured before 2005 were programmed to adjust to DST on the first Sunday of April, not the second Sunday of March.

Any system using a timedate stamp could be affected by the change, said Rebecca Gould, director of K-State's Information Technology Assistance Center.

If the change is not made properly, business, travel and daily schedules could be disrupted, she said.

Many software vendors have produced system updates that will correct the problem, she said, but they might have to be downloaded and installed manually.

People can't assume that their system will update properly," Gould said. "We recommend that everyone check their vendor's Web site to ensure that their software has been updated to make the change."

nanw

TOU'RE DONE

READING ALL

ARTICLES.

PORGET TO

TIME IN

LECTURE DY

DOING THE

Sat. March 10th

Pre St. Patty's Day

open@9am

100 t-shirts &

beads

WASTE MORE

Gould recommended several ways students can ensure their computers and other devices are properly updated. First, she suggested students install any automatic update that appears on their systems.

Then, she said, students should check their vendors' Web sites to see whether any updates need to be download-

If neither of these updates is available, students can update their computers manually by changing the time selves and then de-selecting the icon within the time-date stamp that automatically adjusts the clock for DST.

This will prevent the clock from changing again on the first Sunday in April, she said.

Problems with the change also could occur internationally, according to an article by The New York Times. Many countries have not adopted the change in DST, and some do not observe DST at all. Most of Europe will begin observing DST March 25.

The extra hour of difference in time between the United States and these countries could disrupt international business, travel and communication, according to the ar-

One student said he thought the benefits of DST far outweigh these complications.

changes like this," said John McKenzie, junior in architec'2 tural engineering. "If Europe" wants to keep on being followers, that's their prerogative. No one's doing anything at five in the morning when it's light out anyway, so why not change

According to the Depart ment of Energy's Web site," DST was created as an energysaving measure, and members of the department hope the extension will increase the amount of energy saved.

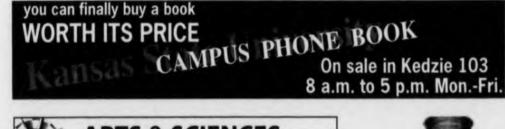

DST was established in the Uniform Time Act of 1966. This act called for DST at the end of April. In 1974 and 1975 DST began in January and February.

Congress made a third adjustment to DST in 1987, which was observed until this year.

The 2005 act included language allowing congress to return to the 1987 version of DST if the goals for the new DST aren't met.

Another student agreed DST is a good thing, and said she enjoys the longer days it allows for.

"I love it when you get ou of class at 5:30 and you actu ally have some time left to do something outside," said Ashley Giroux, junior in interior architecture. "I also like it when I get up and it's still dark outside because I feel like I'm up before everyone else and I'm being more productive."

Free and Open to the Public

Sponsored by

The Dorothy L. Thompson Civil Rights Lecture Series

1212 Bluemont

Plus numerous other 2 bedroom and 1 bedroom apartments

View our properties at

www.moorepropertymanagement.com

Tennis team to play Tulsa Saturday

By Wendy Haun KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The K-State women's tennis players will hope their lineup woes are behind them as they come home to face No. 33 Tulsa at Ahearn Field House Saturday.

Last weekend, junior Tamar Kvaratskhelia returned to the lineup following an injury that sidelined her for two weeks. Kvaratskhelia's injury still might keep her off the court this weekend.

Coach Steve Bietau said the injuries have caused their share of problems for the team.

"It's certainly not helping our performance," Bietau said. "...Tamar has struggled in practice. I don't know how much is physical and how much is mental."

K-State (2-5, 0-1 Big 12 Conference) fell from the Intercollegiate Tennis Rankings this week. The Wildcats were ranked No. 65 last weekend but are on a four-match losing skid.

Last weekend, Tulsa (12-2, 2-0 Conference USA) beat No. 51 New Mexico (5-2), who beat K-State 6-1 Feb. 25. Tulsa also defeated No. 20 Wichita State (4-3).

"We're just trying to keep everyone's mind focused on tennis," Bietau said. "We'll take the players that are healthy and do everything we can with them and just try to keep their mind on playing."

Bietau said there were a few players who stayed focused and contributed to the team during the upheaval, including freshman Natasha Vieira. She combined with junior Tereza Prochazkova against New Mexico Feb. 25 to secure the doubles point.

"I will try to win always," Vieira said. "To get the win with Tereza that weekend was pretty good. I hope this weekend is better because we are here at our courts and we don't like to lose."

Bietau said another staple of the lineup is junior Viviana Yrureta, who has been steady at the No. 1 singles spot.

"I'm lucky to be hanging in there and winning some matches," Yrureta said. "I haven't won all of them but I've won some good matches, and I just want to continue that. It's good to play here because we're used to it, and it's our court. I just want to show my best and try as hard to win as possible."

Gotta have it

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Coach Bob Huggins argues a call with referees during K-State's game against Oklahoma State. The Wildcats will play Texas Tech in the second round of the Big 12 tournament today.

Cats may need win to keep hopes of NCAA berth alive

By Jeffrey Rake KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Brad Underwood, K-State director of basketball operations, walked toward a group of reporters after practice Tuesday at Bramlage Coliseum, threw his arms into the air and popped the question.

"Is there one bracketologist that has us in the (NCAA) Tournament?" he asked.

It doesn't appear that way, though ESPN's Joe Lunardi has K-State listed as the third team out in his latest projections. Underwood is one of several Wildcats who clearly is frustrated with the situation. At 21-10 overall and 10-6 in the Big 12 Conference, K-State would become the first major conference team since 1999 to not make the NCAA Tournament with those creden-

"I think our résumé shows that we should be in there." said senior Cartier Martin. "We went down to Texas and won, we beat USC out there in Vegas, we have some good quality wins."

Problem is, those wins have not done much to churn out impressive computer numbers, as the Wildcats are No. 60 in the Ratings Percentage Index and rank 94th in strength of schedule.

With outcomes in conference tournaments likely to play a factor in the K-State vs. Texas Tech

When: 2 p.m. today Where: Ford Center, Oklahoma City If you can't go: ESPN Plus, K-State sports radio network and live stats available at www.k-statesports.com number of available at-large spots, K-State won't want to mess around with its NCAA Tournament chances.

That's why today's game against Texas Tech in the second round of the Big 12 Tournament could feel like a play-in game.

"(Coach Bob Huggins) thinks that if we get 11 wins that we're definitely in, no question about it," Martin said. "He doesn't want to be uncertain, sitting there on Sunday and not knowing if he's going to get in."

Getting a win against coach Bob Knight and Texas Tech (21-11, 10-7 Big 12) does not figure to be easy. The Wildcats lost to the Red Raiders 62-52 Jan. 8 in Manhattan and had trouble slowing down Tech senior Jarrius Jackson, who scored a game-high 23

But that was then and this is now, and the Wildcats have a discernible advantage in this game. They rested yesterday while the Red Raiders beat Colorado, 81-71.

"I'm sure it helps us out because of our legs," junior David Hoskins said.

If K-State is able to win, it would mark just the first time since the 1998-99 season the team made it to the semifinals. That year, the Wildcats finished with 20 wins and made the National Invitation Tournament.

During the last six years under former coach Jim Wooldridge, K-State won just three Big 12 Tournament games and never made it past the second round. However, the Wildcats had to run the table in order to advance to the NCAA Tournament in those years, as they did not have a prayer of receiving an at-large berth otherwise. This year, their chances are much more re-

"I just think the last couple years, we haven't really felt like we were going to go there and win," Martin said. "We weren't really fighting for anything going into the tournament, so we didn't really have anything to push for. Right now we have something to push for, and we're going to the tournament feeling that way."

Martin said he is confident his team will rise to the occasion and play its best at the most critical juncture of the season.

"This is championship weekend," Martin said. "This is when the good teams step up and play their best. Everybody's fighting for one thing, and that's to be a champion."

1-MINUTE DRILL

Staff reports

RUN | 5 Wildcats to attend NCAA Indoor Championships

With temperatures warming up outside, some people might be looking forward to the outdoor track season. But not the

Bonds

Sophomore high jumper Scott Sellers, who is ranked third in the nation behind two seniors, Auburn's Donald Thomas and five Wildcats who will be competing in this weekend's

Championships in Fayetteville, Ark.

NCAA Indoor

this weekend. Sellers' best jump was a 7-5 3/4 leap at the Iowa State Classic. It set a new school record for indoor high jump. "It's going to be a really great competi-

Texas' Andra Manson, will be competing tion," Sellers said. "So I know I will have to be on top of my game to do well." Joining him at the Randal Tyson Track

Center will be junior 800-meter runner Morgan Bonds, senior high jumper Kaylene Wagner, junior triple jumper Marianne Schlachter and sophomore weight thrower Groves won the Big 12 Conference title in the weight throw and is ranked ninth in the nation. Her long throw of the year was 68-3 3/4 at the KSU Open. It set a meet Wagner started the indoor season jumping well and seemingly has peaked as of late. She had her jump of the year at the KSU Open with a 6-1 1/4. She is ranked seventh in the nation. Schlachter saved her best for the Big 12 meet. She jumped a career-best 43-3 to place third in that meet and is ranked 15th in the nation. Bonds has won every event she has participated in this year. She ran her fastest 800 at the Iowa State Classic with a time of 2:06.20. She is ranked 16th in the nation, and her event coach, Michael Smith, said he has high expectations for her.

"I expect her to run her personal best time and expect her to be very aggressive," Smith said. "Her fitness level is as good as it has been all year."

- Ryne Witt

BBC Wildcat baseball plays NDSU in weekend series

The K-State baseball team will be host to a three-game weekend series against a team it has never lost to, North Dakota State

The series begins at 3 p.m. today at Tointon Family Stadium with a 2 p.m. game Saturday and a 1 p.m. game Sunday. The Wildcats

(11-2) have started off hot this year and will look to continue playing well after sweeping a two-game midweek series over Brigham Young.

K-State is 5-0 all-time against the Bison (2-2), who are led by pitcher/shortstop Matt Mossey. Mossey is projected to pitch for Sunday's contest and is leading the team with a .462 batting average, which includes two doubles and five RBI.

Sophomore Byron Wiley is K-State's leader in multiple categories, including hits (20), runs scored (12), RBIs (12), home runs (2) and stolen bases (4) and is second in batting average with .435. He is one of only two Wildcats to start all 13 games this season — senior Eli Rumler is the other — and his average is fourth in the Big 12 Conference.

— Trenton Clifton

The team will face

the toughest field it has seen this season, which includes all

15 teams in this week's Golfweek/

Sagarin Top-100. The Wildcats are ranked

Former Wildcat great relives playing days Jonathan Garten positive circumstance for me. He's a the Final Four. He sits 11th on K-Q: You were part of a couple of Big

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Jack Parr played basketball for K-State during an era in which the Wildcats were a formidable force in college hoops. From 1955 to 1958, K-State won two Big 7 Conference Championships, finished the season ranked in the Top 25 twice, and in 1958 reached

Christopher Hanewinkel |COLLEGIAN Jack Parr raises his retired framed jersey above his head during a halftime ceremony in 2005.

State's career scoring list with 1,184 points, and also pulled down 889 rebounds, which ranks him second. Today, Part lives in Lindsborg, Kan., and owns a consulting training firm in Salina, Kan. He recently answered questions for the Collegian about his college playing days and his thoughts on the revival of K-State basketball.

Q: Former K-State coach Tex Winter called your hook shot as good as the one that made Kareem Abdul-Jabbar famous. How did you master such a difficult move?

A: Well, that's what he said. Tex Winter was a great coach. He was the best offensive coach I ever played for and as you know, he was the innovator of the triangle offense. He got me started on that my first season as a freshman and worked with me a great deal to develop it. There were a number of drills that he had devised that really helped to develop the shot.

Q: Being from Richmond, Va., what did you know about Wildcat basketball before coming to K-State?

A: I didn't know a whole lot. I had encountered an all-stater from Illinois who was coming to K-State and he got a hold of coach Winter and said There's a kid from Virginia that we ought to be looking at.' I think Tex at that point was a little desperate, but it worked out to be an extraordinarily great coach and he helped me develop the skills that I have. He really has been like a second father to me.

Q: One of your most famous moments as a Wildcat was when you swatted a layup from Wilt Chamberlain near the end of regulation during a 79-75 win over Kansas in 1958. What was it like going up against one of the greatest basketball players of all time?

A: He was not only a great basketball player, but he was also a great athlete. He ran the quarter mile in less than 50 seconds. He high jumped 6-foot-9. He was very strong. It was always easy to get up emotionally for a game against KU. He was a real challenge, and subsequently, a great thrill to beat.

Q: During your playing days, you suffered only five losses at Ahearn Field House. What do you think of this year's atmosphere at Bramlage Coliseum, and what do you think it will take to recapture that "Ahearn Magic?"

A: I think the atmosphere at Bramlage has taken a real upswing. Bob Huggins has done a really fine job in his first season, inspiring some real support and strong alumni, student and staff support for the games. Of course Ahearn was a fabulous place to play, but I think Bramlage is starting to move in that direction.

7 Conference Championship teams. What do you think of K-State's chances of going down to Oklahoma City this weekend and winning the Big 12 Conference Tournament?

A: Evidently by the media reports, we're going to have to beat Texas Tech to get into the NCAA (Tournament). I hope that's not true, but that's what the reports are. I think winning the Big 12 Tournament is a possibility if they play very well. I think we proved that by how we played at Texas A&M and at Texas and at Bramlage this season.

Q: After spending so much time with Tex Winter, what effect do you believe a coach can have on a team, and how much credit does Bob Huggins deserve for this year's

A: I think he's extraordinarily important. He brings with him a tradition of winning. He knows how to win, he knows how to recruit. He's a real asset to the university and certainly to the basketball program.

Q: Cartier Martin passed you on K-State's career scoring list this year and actually knocked you out of the top 10 on the list. What do you think of his chances of playing at the next level?

A: I think he has a good chance to do that. I guess time will tell.

GLF | K-State looks to continue success against Texas A&M

The K-State Women's golf team tees off today at the Texas A&M Mo'Morial, looking to improve on its fifth-place finish at the Fresno State Invitational.

No. 79 this week. Five of the teams K-State will face are in the Big 12 Conference, including No. 7 Oklahoma State, No. 18 Texas A&M, No. 49 Missouri, No. 61 Oklahoma and No. 98 Texas.

The Wildcats will play 18 holes on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The team scores will consist of the lowest four individual scores for each round.

At the Fresno State Invitational, the Wildcats were led by freshman Abbi Sunner and junior Michelle Regan, who both finished tied for 19th with a total score of 152. This was Sunner's third collegiate top-20 finish and Regan's fifth top-20 finish of the season.

'Madness' promises Cinderella stories, excitement

It's that time of year again. Spring is just around the corner, and the college basketball community is coming down with March Madness fever. I used to skip recess so I could watch the NCAA

KENDRA STILES

Tournament.

Now, I skip class. The search for this year's "One Shining Moment" will begin when the NCAA Selection Committee announces the seeds. But the tournament wasn't always the three-weeklong, 65-team battle royale it is today.

The University of Oregon won the first tournament in 1939, which featured only eight teams, which earned their way in by winning district playoff tournaments.

Jack Parr, former K-State standout center, helped lead the Wildcats to the 1958 NCAA Tournament his sophomore year. Parr said he thought the tournament has changed because the game itself has changed.

"Players today have a great deal more athleticism than they used to," he said. "They're quicker, they can jump higher and there are so many good athletes."

Over the years, the playing field gradually expanded from the original eight, and today 65 teams are given the chance to play for the national championship. Thirty teams are given automatic bids by winning conference tournaments, and the selection committee chooses the other competi-

"The special thing about playing in the tournament back then was the competition," said Parr, who played in a 16-team tournament. "When you start with the 16 best teams in the country, the competition is always really keen. It used to be an exclusive group."

H.V. Porter originally coined the term "March Madness" for an Illinois highschool basketball tournaJack Parr's All-Time Tournament Team

Bill Russell
University of San Francisco
Wilt Chamberlain
University of Kansas
Oscar Robertson
Oscar Robertson

University of Cincinnati

La Salle University Michael Jordan University of North Carolina

ment, according to www.cbs. sportsline.com. It first became associated with the NCAA Tournament in the 1980s, and the name "Final Four" emerged in 1975.

Though the tournament was not yet labeled March Madness when he played, Parr said it was madness back then as well.

"There was a very strong interest in the tournament back in the '50s," he said. "Sports Illustrated and lots of other media got involved in it, and it was huge!

For many people, what makes the tournament so appealing is the idea that nothing is impossible, and anyone can win. There are no guarantees for even the topranked teams, as our intrastate rivals seem to prove year after year. Cinderella stories emerge every year and always manage to capture the hearts of fans across the country.

The nation fell in love with Gonzaga when the lowranked team made significant tournament runs three years in a row.

I still get goosebumps when I see the replay of Jimmy Valvano parading around the court after Lorenzo Charles dunked a buzzer beater to win the 1983 championship for No. 6 North Carolina State.

But perhaps the greatest Cinderella story of all came in 1985, when No. 8 Villanova became the lowest-seeded team ever to win the tournament, defeating mighty No. 1 Georgetown by two points. In last year's tournament, No. 11 George Mason matched LSU as the lowest-ranked team ever to reach the Final Four.

Parr said he agreed upsets are one of the elements that make the tournament so exciting, and have helped the tournament become the cultural phenomenon it is today.

"There have been so many great upsets," he said. "Any time there's a circumstance that a team is not highly rated but is playing really well, like Gonzaga did, or George Mason from last year, those are the times when things get interesting."

George Mason, Wichita State and Bradley were the three big bracket-busters from last year's tournament, and Parr said he suspects some underdogs will work their magic this year.

"That's part of what makes things so exciting," he said. "You might as well throw a dart at the board because there are a lot of different possibilities to win it. Ohio State, Florida, Wisconsin and Kansas are at the top, but I don't think it will be one of those four. I think we'll see a surprise."

No one knows whether a No. 1-ranked powerhouse will win it all or a lowly Cinderella story will steal the glory. But we can be sure the road to the Final Four will be marked with unexpected turns, and that "One shining moment" could come from anywhere.

"There are so many fine players and fine coaches," Parr said. "But only one team can win six in a row. Everybody believes they have a chance. It is madness."

March Madness facts and trivia

A No. 16 seed never has won a tournament game

Kansas City, Mo., has been host to more Final Fours than any other city

UCLA holds the record for most championships with 11

North Carolina has the record for most Final Four appearances with 16

Kentucky holds the record for tournament appearances with 47 and tournament victories with 97 A No. 1 seed did not make the Final Four in last year's tournament ■ Since the expansion to 65 teams in 1985, there has never been a time when all four No. 1 seeds made the Final Four

Adult kickball tournament set to begin

By Kristen Roderick KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Manhattan adults can flash back to their childhoods with a kickball tournament that begins later this month. Manhattan Parks and Recreation is sponsoring the event.

It is the first year for the adult co-rec kickball tournament, said Kelly Walters, recreation coordinator for Manhattan Parks and Recreation.

The season will be from March 25 through April 29.

"It's something new to try," Walters said. "The old playground games for adults are coming back."

The deadline to sign up teams was Wednesday, but people can still join teams that already have signed up, Walters said

Teams of 10 signed up for $90 each. Walters said seven teams signed up, about what he expected for the first year.

"I was anticipating between six and 10 teams," Walters said.

Kelly Chang, graduate student in business administration, said he has not played kickball since he was in elementary school, so he wanted to form a team and give it a

"It sounded like fun, and I haven't played kickball in a long time," Chang said. "My friends wanted to do it also.

"I just hope to have fun and get out and enjoy the weather," Chang said.

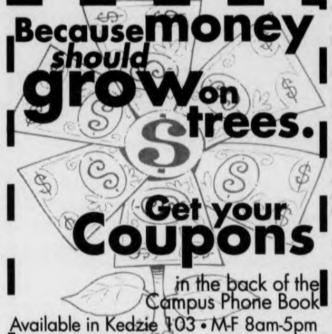

Walters said he expects spectators and competitors at the tournaments to be similar to those at softball games.

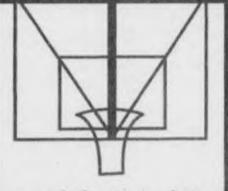

"They will be competitive, but not too competitive," he said. "It'll be pretty relaxing and fun."

Games will be played Sunday through Thursday nights at the Miller and Baker baseball diamonds in City Park, Walters said. Each team is guaranteed to play seven games as well as a post-season tournament. Winners of the tournament will receive Walters said he hopes this will start a trend to add kickball tournaments to other recreation departments.

"I hope everyone enjoys it, and I hope other park and recreation agencies offer it," he said.

The Collegian and the Royal Purple Present:

Free March NADNeSS Tournament Brackets

Your chance to in CASH and PRIZES

HOW TO ENTER

Go to royalpurple.ksu.edu and download the tournament bracket (Starting Monday, March 12th)

Fill out the bracket, and turn it into Kedzie 103 or the Royal Purple booth in the Union (2nd floor) by noon on Thursday, March 15th.

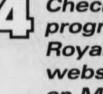

Copy your selections into the Collegian's Tournament Bracket published on Wednesday, March 14th (must present completed copy of Collegian's bracket to claim prizes)

Simply Wireless T - Mobile exclusive dealer

Check your progress on the Royal Purple's website, starting on March 19th.

Contest open to KSU Students Only Check royalpurple.ksu.edu for complete detail

Veterinary Teaching Hospital offers therapy for small animals

By Elise Podhajsky KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Stashed away in the laundry room of the K-State Veterinary Medical Teaching Hospital is what might appear to be a strange hot tub for small animals. But animals in the unit are doing anything but relaxing.

Among the drone of dryers, one can find dogs and cats stretching and strengthening their muscles in the hospital's underwater rehabilitation treatment device.

The unit is a 2.5-by-5-by-3foot Plexiglas enclosure with purple trim. A treadmill sits on the bottom of the tanklike structure. Its speed can automatically be adjusted to fit the needs of a patient.

Animals enter the unit through a swinging door on the left side of the device. Water is then filled from the bottom of the enclosure from a large reservoir in the room next door. The water is heated and treated to provide the best quality care for the patients.

of the machine are used to create a current for smaller animals to swim in.

Dr. James Roush, professor of clinical sciences, said the underwater rehabilitation program was implemented due to a need for post-operative cases, particularly in orthopedic cases, as well as client demand and awareness of the benefits of underwater therapy

Dr. Walter Renberg, associate professor of clinical sciences and the only staff member who has been through aqua certification training, said the objective of the program is "to assist animals in obtaining the maximum level of performance and the most rapid and complete return to function either following surgery or as treatment for a chronic condition."

Renberg said the treatment is primarily for smaller animals to walk and trot underwater on the treadmill.

"The idea is that the water will provide some buoyancy and therefore take the impact of weight-bearing off Small jets on the right side the effected joint and limb, and also provide some resistance," he said.

Renberg said the aquatic therapy has proved to have quite a few benefits.

He described one patient, an older dog with severe arthritis in both elbows, as proof of the treadmill's suc-

"When it first came in, it was unable to even walk down the hall," he said. "But now (after four therapy sessions), it has gotten up to the point to be able to trot for longer and longer periods of

Although Renberg and Roush said they agree most of their aqua patients are canines, underwater therapy is open to all small animals which might benefit from the treatment. Renberg said a few cats have been treated but generally are less motivated to walk underwater.

The majority of Renberg's patients are post-operative orthopedic cases, animals that have had torn ligaments or hip surgeries and some neurological injuries or postoperational spinal surgeries and fractures.

"I think for the most part, the animals enjoy walking on the treadmill," he said. "The patients perceive it as an activity for which they are being rewarded. We mostly use verbal praise and encouragement, and sometimes they'll get a cookie."

But, Renberg said, the aquatic therapy is only one component of patients' rehabilitation processes.

"Everyone seems excited about it," he said, referring to the treadmill. "But the is much more that is impor-

Underwater therapy, said, is not a cure-all.

Earbud Evil | Though I die, la résistance lives on

By Logan C. Adams KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Editor's note: This is the 10th segment of "Earbud Evil," a fictional story the Collegian is publishing daily until spring break. It follows Alex, a fictional K-State student, as he deals with a hidden threat to the university.

Though the names of real people will accompany made-up characters, all events are fictional. This is intended for entertainment and is not factually based.

And then there were two.

Mattie and I formed the entirety of the movement against what we believed to be an invasion of Kansas State University by unfriendly forces aligned with our sworn rival, the University of Kan-

The middle of Memorial Stadium's field felt vulnerable, so we sought the high ground at the top of the east stands. The midday sun was bright, but weak nonetheless. The concrete was cold beneath us as we sat and plotted our counterattack.

We had no organizational flowcharts, no subordinates to command and few resources. At the same time, our knowledge of the enemy's capabilities remained a big, fat question mark. My comrade and I were sharing leadership since it was just us, though things could have gotten complicated if we did some recruiting. We both had a bit of glory hound in us.

"I wonder if there's a cure for the mind control," Mattie said, her eyes scanning the field. "Whenever you see it in the movies there's some sort of secret word or trigger that releases them. Like a strong blow to the head."

The memory of Bill's steady grip on my carotid artery came to mind. I wasn't sure we would get close enough to try it. I changed

"Well, whoever it is, they know how to mess with peoples' heads and how to do things with computers," I mused.

A few neurons fired in Mattie's brain, making her turn and face me with a gasp and a spark in her eye. "Not just any computers - Macs," she said. "These guys weren't just regular hackers, they know how to mess with Apple's stuff." Mattie was right. We needed to bring someone who knew their way around a Macintosh into our club. "What about the guys at the Union Computer Store?" I proposed. "Those guys know all there is to know about Apple junk."

She pondered my idea, let if float up in the air, and shot it "But those guys are always carrying iPods and getting other people to buy them," Mattie said. "They were probably the first to get taken over. We can't go near there." Again, she was right. We'd be going out of the frying pan and I started thinking about the sort of people, weird people, who use Apple computers. Graphic designers. Photographers. Journal-

"That's it, the Collegian! They have tons of Macs, and I'll bet they have people who take care of them," I exclaimed.

Mattie wasn't amused. She said they were almost as likely as the store to have been compromised. What a killjoy.

We sat and went back and forth over what to do but never came up with any better ideas. Eventually, I decided it was time to take a risk.

"Here's what we do," I declared. "I go to Kedzie and snoop around. You stay outside by the big metal turd and wait. When I come out, ask me something to test whether I'm still me. If I'm not, well, remember kickboxing class?"

Mattie nodded. She liked this idea more than I'd have liked her

"Sweet idea, Alex," she said. "If nothing else, I'll at least get a chance to put your lights out."

We rose and departed for Kedzie Hall, just a block's length away. Halfway there, we parted ways as she went around the south end of the hall while I took the metal staircase near the Union. I realized while I climbed the steps that one of every four people I saw along the way was wearing blue and red hats and

The invasion had become an infestation, and time was growing short. We needed a miracle.

We've got the stories you've got to read.

The Royal Purple yearbook is available in Kedzie 103 or call 532-6555.

Treat yourself to the ultimate music experience:

Buy Tickets before Spring Break and Savel

MUSIC & CAMPING FESTIVAL

4-DAY AND SINGLE-DAY TICKETS ON SALE NOW

es claypool medeski martin and wood michael franti & spearhead and many more heck www.wakarusa.com for Single-Day Lineups

AUNTIE MAE'S CD TRADEPOST

Dozens more bands!

Single-Day Tickets on Sale Now

ben harper & III innocent crimina yonder mountain string band friday june 8

and many more!

saturday june 9

and many more!

sunday june 10

www.wakarusa.com

Lawrence M. Krauss Einstein's Biggest Blunder? A Cosmic Mystery Story

> 7 pm, March 12, 2007 K-State Alumni Center

Chester Peterson Public Lecture Kansas State University

Physics Colloquium: Life, The Universe, and Nothing: The Dismal Future in an Ever - Expanding Universe 4:30 pm, March 12, Cardwell 103

Department of Physics &

This lecture is supported by an endowment from Chester Peterson, Jr. additional support is provided by the KSU Physics Department, the Center for Understandin of Origins, The KSU Honors Program, and Phi Beta Kappa

Pints $25 NOW LEASING FOR FALL 2007

Founders Hill Apartments 1401 College Avenue (785) 539-4600

Iced Teas

STUDIOS, 1, 2, 3, 4 BEDROOM UNITS

Woodway Apartments 2420 Greenbriar Drive (785) 537-7007

www.firstmanagementinc.com

THE EDGE

Friday, March 9, 2007

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

MOVIE TIMES

■ Times for today through Sunday.

■ () denotes times playing Saturday and Sunday only.

* New movies at Seth Childs Cinema this

* "300," R, 117 min. (1), 4, 7, 9:45

Based on Frank Miller's graphic novel, "300" illustrates the 480 B.C. Battle of Thermopylae, in which the King of Sparta, Leonidas (Gerard Butler), led his army against the advancing Persians. The battle is said to have inspired all of Greece to band together against the Persians and helped usher in the world's first democracy.

* "Amazing Grace," PG, 111 min. (1:30), 4:25, 7:25, 9:50

The idealist William Wilberforce (loan Gruffudd) maneuvers his way through Parliament in 18thcentury England, endeavoring to end slavery in

"Wild Hogs," PG-13, 120 min. (1, 3:15), 5:30, 7:45, 10

"Zodiac," R, 158 min. (1:05), 4:15, 7:40

* "Black Snake Moan," R, 118 min. 4:15, 9:55

Samuel L. Jackson's second movie in six months with the word snake in the title fails to entertain the audience. Christina Ricci overacts, Justin Timberlake doesn't act, but Jackson's blues performance provides the only worthwhile part of the movie.

- Brendan Praeger

"Hannibal Rising" R, 121 min. (1:05), 4:05, 7:20, 9:55

"The Number 23," PG, 96 min. (1:10), 4:30, 7:30, 9:45

"Reno 911!: Miami," R, 81 min.

(12:55, 3), 5, 7:10, 9:20

"Bridge to Terabithia," PG, 96 min.

(1:20), 4:35, 7:05, 9:35 "Ghost Rider," PG-13, 110 min.

(1:15), 4, 7:15, 9:40

"Music and Lyrics," R, 104 min. (1:15), 4:10, 7:05, 9:25

"Norbit," PG-13, 102 min.

4:20, 7:25, 9:50

"Because I Said So," PG-13, 102 min. (1:25), 7:35

- www.carmike.com. Call (785) 776-9886

MOST POPULAR MOVIE RENTALS

These are the most popular rented DVDs sent to Manhattan through Netflix.com.

Top movie rentals this week

- 1. "Stephen King: Nightmares
- & Dreamscapes"
- 2. "The Fox and the Hound 2"
- 3. "Miracle"
- 4. "Open Season"
- 5. "The Ringer" 6. "Invincible"
- 7. "Stealth"
- 8. "Barnyard"
- 9. "Undisputed 2: Last Man Standing" 10. "Broken Bridges"

Page 9

One-track mind

Joslyn Brown | COLLEGIAN

Surrounded by memorabilia, Madonna connoisseur Evan Tuttle, assistant technical director of McCain Auditorium, listens to his iPod as he reads an article fabout Madonna. Tuttle's love for the performer began in 1989 when he first heard "Like a Prayer," and has since developed into a collection of items which reaches into the triple digits.

K-State employee tells of near-lifelong obsession with the 'Material Girl'

By Mark Sibilla KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The world was first introduced to Madonna with her eponymous debut album released in 1983. The album produced the hits "Holiday," and "Borderline," and began a string of It consecutive Top-10 hits. Madonna entranced the world with her music, videos, public persona and sexuality.

These same virtues drew Evan luttle, assistant technical director at McCain Auditorium, to Madonna in 1989 when he first heard her in her controversial song, "Like a Prayer."

"I first heard the song on the radio, and it really caught my attention," Tut-He said. "The controversy surrounding the video and her deal with promoting Pepsi was the first major event that introduced me to Madonna and her persona."

Tuttle said as Madonna's star began to shine brighter in the early '90s, his admiration for her grew exponentially.

"Right after 'Like a Prayer,' Madonna released 'Breathless' and 'The Immaculate Collection' - her greatest hits album - in '90," Tuttle said. "Around that same time, she also was in the movie 'Dick Tracy' and traveled the world on the Blonde Ambition tour. Everyone seemed to have Madonna fever."

Tuttle said his admiration of Madonna is based on her tenacity, courage to persevere, work ethic and in-

"Madonna constantly strives for the best. She never settles for mediocrity," Tuttle said. "Her live shows are always amazing, her fashion is trendsetting, and she is always finding the best up-and-coming producers. She's always a step ahead of pop culture, and we end up catching up three years later."

In 1992, Madonna began to stir controversy again with the release of "Sex," a book featuring her and other celebrities in various soft-core pornographic situations accompanied by the overtly sexual album, "Erotica."

"Around this time, I had to keep my love for Madonna private, because it wasn't really acceptable - publicly or in my household - to say that you liked Madonna," Tuttle said.

Tuttle said his continued love for Madonna is due to the fact that, amazingly, she still is raising the bar for pop culture.

"Madonna's performance level, use of innovative technology and integration of difficult choreography in her live shows constantly amazes me," Tuttle said.

Tuttle said he owns all of Madonna's albums on cassette and compact disc and is working on acquiring all of her albums on vinyl.

"I have all the movies in which Madonna has starred. I have singles, posters, imports and even an autograph from a friend who met Madonna," Tuttle said. "I consider Madonna a motif of décor."

Leah Cunnick, co-owner of Sisters of Sound and one of Tuttle's personal friends, said when Sisters of Sound was host to a CD release party for Madonna's latest album, "Confessions on a Dance Floor," Tuttle created a trivia contest with questions about Madonna he pulled from his own personal knowledge.

"Whenever we get anything Madonna into (Sisters of Sound), we always make sure to let Evan have access to it first," Cunnick said.

Tuttle said there is rarely a piece Madonna merchandise he has seen that he hasn't bought.

He said most of the questions he fields when he shows off his Madonna collection have to deal with his collecting habits.

"I have three copies of 'True Blue' on vinyl, and a friend of mine asked me why I would want to own that many copies of the same album," Tuttle said. "I told her that if there is a Madonna product on sale in this town, I will

"I can't stand to see it just sitting on

'Zodiac' begins start of great movies to come

"Zodiac" ****

Movie review by Brendan Praeger

While waiting for "Zodiac" to begin, I couldn't help but worry about a film with a run time of almost three hours that didn't feature hobbits and

It helped that the film is directed by David Fincher, the genius behind "Se7en," "Fight Club" and "The game." Unfortunately, his last film, "Panic Room," was less than impres-

It also was troubling because of another famous murder mystery reenacted on the big screen. Last year's "The Black Dahlia," a film Fincher originally was supposed to direct, was surprisingly difficult to sit through, despite beautiful cinematography and a seemingly interesting premise.

Luckily, despite my skepticism, the film does more than enough to justify its 158-minute length. It brings the viewer back to the 1970s by introducing the paranoia caused by an unsolved string of murders.

The script follows the investigative book published by former San Francisco Chronicle cartoonist Robert Graysmith. After the investigation of the so-called Zodiac Killer runs dry, Graysmith (Jake Gyllenhaal) begins poring over police files and personal testimonies that uncover the murderer's true identity. The film also follows the police detectives leading the investigation (Mark Ruffalo, Anthony Edwards).

Starting with the blurry Warner Brothers logo at the film's outset, the entire movie looks intentionally dated. Small technological details support the setting throughout the film. Unlike Fincher's highly stylized previous efforts, "Zodiac" looks like a film that could have been made while the killings actually were taking place.

Fincher's previous films also are notable for their unflinching depiction of violence. The murder scenes in "Zodiac" are creepy because of their simplicity. The film opens with the shooting of two California lovers in a car on a secluded dirt road.

The killer barely stays out of focus while the victims ponder his identity. Suddenly, he walks up to the car and shoots them both.

The ruthless depiction of the murders help the audience tap into . the paranoia the general public experienced during the time of the real Zodiac Killer. His targets were chosen randomly, meaning everyone was a potential victim.

Unlike most murder mysteries, "Zodiac" doesn't play out like a "Law and Order" episode.

The police never are glamorized as heroes searching for truth and justice. They are working-class citizens frustrated in their unsuccessful search for a serial killer.

Mark Ruffalo, best known for his roles in romantic comedies, plays his role of a police inspector with increasing frustration and anger at the lack of communication between various police departments and the journalists who are receiving clues from the killer.

The best performance comes from Robert Downey Jr. as San Francisco crime reporter Paul Avery. His constant skepticism brings a subtle comic relief to the film.

The variety of quality supporting performances keeps the film from dragging on, despite the fact the investigation seems to be going nowhere for much of the film.

Fincher's return provides a muchwelcome shot in the arm for Hollywood. It signals the end of the traditionally bland crop of movies that hit theaters in the period between the New Year and the Academy Awards ceremony. The quality of "Zodiac" signals a return to form for one of Hollywoods most interesting direc-It's the first great film of 2007 and a great way to spend three hours of your Friday evening.

Daniel Myers-Bowman, 16, of Manhattan, and Suzy Dotson, Manhattan resident, rehearse a part in the play "You Belong to Us' during the dress rehearsal at the Manhattan Arts Center Wednesday evening.

Lyndsey Born

Featured play at Manhattan Arts Center to deliver message of unconditional love

By Andrew LeValley KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Actors will perform a play about families and homosexuality this weekend at the Manhattan Arts Center.

The Flint Hills Parents, Families, and Friends of Lesbians and Gays will present the nonfiction play "You Belong to Us" at the arts center, 1520 Poyntz Ave, at 7 p.m. Friday, 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday.

"You Belong to Us" is a series of plays started by the Family Ties Project and funded by the Caroline Peine Charitable Foundation.

Jemmie Godwin, graduate student in speech, wrote the play being featured this weekend.

"We interviewed about 30 different people, and all of the dialogue, with the exception of a few scenes, is taken from these interviews," Godwin said. "Basically, it's just a bunch of compiled interviews that I pieced together."

Godwin said the play's overall theme is unconditional love.

"There is a line in the play that I took from one of the interviews: 'We all have the ability to plant seeds. It's what we harvest that matters." she said. "This pretty much sums it (the play) up."

Emma Denner, freshman in education, is one of the play's 10 cast members. She said she met Godwinand asked if there were any younger roles available and

"We've all (the cast and crew) developed a sense of family, and I think it helps" to spread our message of unconditional love," Dennersaid. "I think it's going to be

GARAGE | 600 stalls to be reserved for student, faculty permit use

continued from page 1

"Costs might rise as inflation occurs, but not to fund the garage. We fully think this will do Leitnaker said an additional fee would be necessary.

"To park in the Union, you will have to pay an additional fee," Leitnaker said. "Our pro forma anticipated that that might be another $200 per year on top of a permit for students."

Leitnaker noted the faculty fee for garage parking could cost up to $300.

The parking council must approve the rates before they are put into effect.

The parking lot south of the Union can accommodate approximately 400 vehicles. Leitnaker said when the garage is finished, the amount of spaces available will at least triple.

"Depending on how bids are received, we will have between 1,322 and 1,385 spaces," Leitnaker said.

Three hundred spots will be sold to faculty and staff for daily parking, and another three hundred annual passes will be sold to students.

"That's going to leave approximately 600 hourly stalls," Leitnaker said

Daily parking will cost $1.50 per hour and conference day passes will cost $4, according to traffic and parking regulations. Leitnaker said credit and debit cards and potentially Cat Cash will be accepted.

Before designing the garage, architects performed a contextual concept to make sure the architecture would meet adjacent architecture on campus.

"Ken Ebert, the architect, has taken a lot of pictures to develop a pattern of the campus architecture," Fattaey said. "He looked at Calvin Hall, Old Stadium and the new alumni center for contextual reference."

Ebert retained the campus' stone pattern as well as key architectural concepts. Having designed the Union enhancement project in 1999 and the K-State-Salina student life building, which is under construction, Ebert is a veteran of K-State architecture.

The five-tier garage's main entrance will be on the ground level off 17th Street next to Anderson Avenue. An auxiliary entrance to the garage's second level will be on Mid Campus

One addition to the garage design that has excited students and faculty alike is an elevated skywalk connecting the third deck of the parking garage and the first floor of the Union.

"Students can walk from the garage and come in by the bank and the food court," Leitnaker

The elevated walk also will cover a ground walk from the parking garage to the Union's current entrance.

Other interesting aspects of the garage include a new, suction-tube style information kiosk and a student plaza in between the south of the Union and the parking garage.

"The plaza features will match the north side plaza as far as the grids go," Leitnaker

ONLINE

For the complete story, visit

EARLY | Parade a 'family event'

continued from page 1

in Kansas for St. Patrick's Day," said Atchity, senior in advertising. "It's going to be huge!

Jensen said celebrations in the past have had strong student participation, and having them during spring break would hurt business.

"A lot of students look forward to it," she said.

Jake Fisher, promotions director at 91.9, said disc jockeys will be at most bars' patios in Aggieville.

He said 91.9 will be giving out "Fake Patrick's Day" T-shirts at bars sponsoring the event every hour from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The station will start its broadcast at O'Malley's, then move to Porters, Rusty's Last Chance, Pat's Blue Ribbon, Tubby's, Kite's and Fat's.

"We're going to have a little over 400 to give away," Fisher, senior in public relations, said. "Everyone I talked to is really " excited."

Kale Becker, vice president of the Aggieville Business Association board, said the event is not sponsored by ABA.

Becker, who also is the managing owner of Texas Star and Hibachi Hut, said in years! past the celebration did not conflict with spring break because the holiday did not fall on Saturday, so they celebrated the weekend before.

"It's a great family event," he said. "It's definitely a chance to bring people down to Aggieville."

Jensen said she hopes a strong showing will show ABA to schedule celebrations that will include K-State students in the future.

CLASSIFIEDS

Classifieds continue on the next page

Bulletin Board

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five air-planes and lowest rates. Call 785-776-1744, www. ksu.edu/ksfc

PROFESSIONAL EDItheses, disserta tions, term papers, journal tion. vondiether@hotmail.-

THE SECRET Free showing Saturday March 10, 7p.m. ECM Center 1021 Denison. Use the law of attraction to manifest success, happiness, abun-dance. Sponsor: Unity

020Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three

FOUND: PAIR of eye glasses on sidewalk out of Fairchild Hall Come to 104 Fairchild

Housing/Real Estate

Rent-Apt. Furnished

Manhattan CITY Ordi nance 4814 assures ev ery person equal opportu-nity inhousing without distinction on account of military status, disability, religion, age, color, ne tional origin or ancestry. ported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

Apartments Availabl All-New for Fall 2007

Apply At: 532-3790

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished MANHATTAN CITY Ordi

nance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, na-tional origin or ancestry. ported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

1117 VATTIER. New all electric. Two-bedrooms appliances furnished, no Close to campus

1219 KEARNEY. One lease. Water/ trash paid. Next to campus, off street parking. No pets. $340. 785-539-5136

1219 KEARNEY. bedroom basement. June year lease. Water/ trash paid. Next to campus, offstreet parking. No pets, moking. 785-539-5136.

ALLIANCE PROPERTY MANAGEMENT. One-bed-785-539-4357. www.rent-

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

$365. two-bedrooms $420- $485, threebedroom $825, four-bedrooms $650. All close to KSU, 785-587-0399.

room apartments/ house for June and August

Close to campus and aggieville. Parking and laun dry. 785-539-5800. ONE, TWO, three, four plus bedroom apartments and houses to rent. See our website for more info www.apskansas.com or call 785-370-4044 ONE, TWO, three, four, ment/ houses next to campus. Washer/ dryer, cen No Pets

ONE-BEDROOM TO five bedrooms. Apartments, duplexes and homes. Most close to campus. Some farther away. June or August leases. Check out our website www. emeraldpropertymanage Property Management 785-587-9000 for more information.

ONE-BEDROOM VERY nice, close to campus $550 a month. 785-341-0686.

PARK PLACE Apart ments. One-bedrooms Summer/ fall leasing. Pets welcome. One-half from KSU at Seth Child and Claffin, 785-539-2951

Pets welcome. Summer from KSU at Seth Child SPACIOUS THREE-BED Ave. Close to campus and dry, pool, small pets accepted $800/ month, nego-

785-317-1740. THREE AND four-bedable in August. Close to mpus. Water and trash paid. Coin operated laun 785-537-2255.

516-343-3770

THREE-BEDROOM, ONE bath plus vanity. $1050/ month. Trash/ water paid. 1510 College Ave. Pool access. Washer/ dryer in

TWO-BEDROOM APART-MENT, $560/ month, 718

ments. $495 rent plus free through July '07. 785-539-2951.

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

TWO-BEDROOM, many August. 785-341-0686. TWO-BEDROOM, TWO

VERY NICE three-bed-

ONE, TWO, three, and Three blocks to Aggieville 822 Fremont. Affordable utilities. August 785-313-1807.

WHY RENT WHEN YOU sale. Two and three-bed-room starting at $112,650. collegiatevilla.com 785-537-2096.

WILDCAT VILLAGE, Available June or August four bedroom, bath, dryer, washer/ room, $1400. Cable paid. 785-776-2425 or 785-565-3760. www.village-rentals.com.

Spacious Duplexes

Custom built with the K-State student in mind

Each duplex features walk-in closets, all kitchen appliances, washer/dryer, off street parking, phone and room, security lighting, trash as one month's rent. The lease period begins August 1 for one year.

4 Bedrooms, 2 Baths ONLY $1,150/mo

Sorry, No Pets! Quiet Neighborhood, Convenient and Close to Campus. Day: 313-0751 Night: 537-4682

Preleasing! Spacious 1 & 2 Bedroom Apt

 Upper Classmen Amenities

Quiet Park Like Setting On-Site Laundry • Enormous Closets Private Fitness Center Abundant Parking/Garages

Sustomer Service
Three-Time winner of the National
Multifamily CE. Award for the #1 in Customer Service in Americal

On-Site Management Office
Full-time Maintenance Personni 24 hour Emergency Staff

WESTCHESTER PARK 776-1118

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

arge 2 Bedroom Apts

Close to Campus! Open Saturday 10-3 537-9064

2000 College Hts •519 Osage •

Pre-lease Today for Spring! Only A few homes remain Amenities:

•Washer/Dryers or hookups available On-Site Managemer Garages Available Private Fitness Center Storm Center Peaceful Garden Setting Enormous Closets

> GEORGETOWN 776-8080

www.GeorgetownApts.net

1420 Beechwood Terrace Newer Apartment Lg. 2 & 3 Bedrooms 11/2 Baths Washer/Drver

On a Wooded

Energy Efficient

Secluded 2 Acre Lot with Creek $740 & $885 341-4024

Rent-Duplexes FIVE-BEDROOM BRIT. TNAY Ridge town home

Washer/ dryer, $1025 per month. Available August 1. 785-250-0388. FOUR-BEDROOM gust, $1280, nice, washer/ parking, great location, no pets. $290/ bedroom, 785-532-8256.

smoking.

SIX AND five-bedro house/ duplex, next to Personal washer/ dryer, central air, off-street parking, no pets. 785-537-7050.

THREE-BEDROOM North 5th, No pets, $975/ available June 1. 785-564-0372. WALK TO class. One.

two, three, four-bedroom. No smoking, no drinking, no pets. 785-539-1554.

Rent-Houses

1310 N. 11th. Two-bed June lease. close to campus. 785-539-1975 785-313-8292 1417 NICHOLS, four-bed rooms, family room. 1909 Kenmar, three-bedro Both two bathrooms, washer/ dryer, garage game room, fenced yard/ patio. 785-539-1177. 502 FREMONT, three-bed-

room, one bath, no pets

Available June 785-539-1975 10 785-313-8292 bedroom. June year lease. Water/ trash paid.

smoking. $635. 785-539-5136. AVAILABLE AUGUST Two, three, four, five, six houses. Washer/ dryer, close to No pets. 785-317-5026.

AVAILABLE JUNE 1. Twobedroom. Air conditi washer/ dryer, garage. Half block from ca year lease. $800. 785-537-8055. CLEAN, QUIET basement apartment. Two-bedroom, two bath, full kitchen, patio. $385 per month per person. All utilities

FIVE-BEDROOM, TWO bath house for rent. 931 June lease. Washer/ dryer, window airconditioning. Fenced back-yard, pets allowed. Offstreet parking. $1 month. 785-539-4949. $1500/

FIVE-BEDROOM. June July, August. Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rent-Management.

FOR RENT. Newer fourbedroom duplex. Good tocation with dishwasher, pets. $1100. 785-537-7597 FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE, 2030 College Heights. Central heat and

785-944-3491

washer/ dryer. No

lease.

FOUR-BEDROOM, ONE bath house for rent. 900 June lease. conditioning. Fenced backmonth. Party shack and

785-539-4949 FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO and one-half bath. August 1. $975 per month. Knight Real Es-tate. Call 785-539-5394

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, two kitchens. to campus. 785-341-9459 FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath. washer/ June

785-532-9564. FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath. Central heat and air. Between campus and ath-$1300/ month

FOUR-BEDROOM

JUNE, July, August. Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rent-apm.com JUNE LEASE. New three Washer/ dryer hookups pets, no smoking $1.025/ month. Kevin. 785-488-7722. NEWER ROOM, two bath half duplex. Close to campus.

Washer/ dryer included. No pets. $1200. Call

785-539-2356 NICE HOUSE at 1010 baths, all kitchen appliances including washer/ dryer. Upstairs has own heat and air, and has just been remodeled. Plenty of parking off alley, no pets, June lease. Call Dave, 785-292-4320, evenings, 785-292-4342

NICE THREE-BEDROOM houses. Appliances fur-nished. Available June 1, 1505 Hillcrest. Available August 1, 2039 College View. Call 785-234-9500 or 785-608-2873.

Close to campus. able 785-712-7257. ONE TO five-bedroom apartments and houses campus. 785-539-1975

NICE TWO-BEDROOM.

ONE-BEDROOM TO fivebedrooms. Apartments, duplexes and homes. Most close to campus. Some farther away. June or August leases. Check out our website www emeraldpropertymanagement.com or call Emerald Management 785-587-9000 for more in-

SEVEN TO eight-bed-

bedroom houses and apartments for rent. June bedroom, website. www.apour 785-370-4044 room (two kitchen). June, July, August. Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rentapm.com SIX-BEDROOM (TWO kitchen). June, July, August. Alliance Property M a n a g e m e n t . 785-539-4357. www.rentapm.com STUNNING HOUSE. Fourbedrooms, three bathrooms, big family room, plus office, fenced yard, in ter and garbage included. call 785-317-4937. THREE OR four-bedroom house for rent. No pets. Close to campus. June a nice quiet west neighbor-

Available now $1350, wa-

hood. Close to city

THREE, FOUR, FIVE, SIX PLUS BEDROOMS. Look ing for that perfect home rent? Great selection and prices. Capstone anagement

785-341-0686.

THREE-BEDROOM NICE house three blocks west of KSU. Large rooms, ceil ing fans, washer/ dryer. No smoking, pets, or par-June lease. $855 785-776-6318.

CLOSE to campus. No pets, washer and dryer provided. $900 per month. 785-313-7473 THREE-BEDROOM, June lease, close to west side of campus. Central air-conditioning. Full kitchen two bathrooms, single

THREE-BEDROOM

garage. N 785-539-4641. THREE-BEDROOM, ONE full bath. $810, 917 Bluemont, year lease, June 2007 - May 2008. Close to campus. Pets allowe Mrs. Kim, 913-681-9959. THREE-BEDROOM JUNE, July, August. Al-llance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.-

TWO-BEDROOM, ONE bath, updated, newer car and dryer included. $695 quired. 785-494-8686

rent-apm.com

TWO-BEDROOMS JUNE, July, August. Alliance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.rent-apm.com

785-313-0455

one bath house. Three blocks from campus. 2038 College View. Fenced June 785-313-1807

VERY NICE four-bedroom

VERY NICE four-bed-Close to campus Available

'til Spring Break on 3 Bedrooms and Above Available June/July/August Call Alliance

Property

Specials

Management @ 785-539-4357 vww.rent-apm.com Check web for available listings (Changes Daily)

WILDCAT

PROPERTY MANAGEMENT 537-2332 2BR - $850

3BR - $1,300 4BR - $1,700 14" & Fremont 4BR - 21/2 Bath

Anderson Village 1BR- $525 2BR - $700-725

$1,650

1501 Poyntz House - $750 3BR - 2 Bath

1509 Poyntz

House - $600 1BR - 1Bath 315 Poyntz

Fall Leasing

1BR - $650

WORKSHOP FACILITA-

Poyntz, Suite 102, hattan, KS 66502

Open Market

Items for Sale

ready, $800 or best offer.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

and box springs set $129.

$199. Ashley five drawer chest $195, microfiber sofa $229, wing recliner $199, cocktail table and two end tables $99. Room Group Express Furniture, 445

COLO for sale! All silver body with gold lip, recent tune up, good condition, rarely used. $500 or best

Transportation

530 offer. 785-532-9195

HITACHI 57-inch

785-548-5120.

FURNITURE

hattan, KS.

TV.

LET'S RENT

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

to K-State and Aggieville two-bedroom apartments. ing. No smoking, no pets. $580. June and August leases. 785-539-5508 or 785-564-0857

350 N. 16th. Two blocks to K-State and Aggieville Two-bedroom apartments. ing. No smoking, no pets. 785-539-5508

FOUR-BEDROOM, close to campus. central air, dishwasher. No pets. Available June or August. 85-539-0866

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM

TWO-BED-LARGE ROOM, available June fireplace dishwasher. Very close to 785-317-3780. Leave

PRE-LEASING JUNE and August. Some units brand close to KSU, washer/ dryer included. details 785-776-2102. youngwilksapts.com

STUDIO, ONE, two, and three-bedroom. June/ August lease. No pets. Cen-785-587-9460.

TWO AND three-bedroom. Close to campus. Central air, dishwasher, coin operated laundry facility. Available June August.* Mo 785-537-1746 785-539-1545.

TWO, THREE and fourbedrooms, close to cam-pus, central air, dishwasher, laundry facilities No pets. 785-539-0866.

TWO-BEDROOM APART-MENT at 1010 Leavenworth. Just finished, every thing is new. Washer Parking off alley No pets. Available immedi ately or June lease. Call 785-292-4320.

> 111/ Rent-Duplexes

nights 785-292-4342.

THREE AND four-bed room duplex. Neutral col ors, lots of space, washer dryer furnished, central air, off-street parking. No pets. June lease. $275/ 785-313-4812

1022 HUMBOLT, 824 dryer, dish-$1300. Doug. $1160

Pomeroy, $1100 - $1200. Four-bedroom, two bath, washer/ dryer, dish-washer, central air. August lease. 785-313-5573, Doug.

820 OSAGE, 1524 Pipher 3100 James, all four-bedms, two bath. June 1, 785-317-7713. BRITTNAY RIDGE town house four/ five-bedroom, cludes appliances, washer/ dryer. No pets. August 316-393-9628.

campus. Personal washer and dryer, central air, offstreet parking. No pets. 785-537-7050.

FIVE-BEDROOM TWO dryer, dishwasher, central $1400/ month. 785-313-5573 Doug

FOUR TO five-bedroo August lease. No pets. Central heat/ air-condition ing. Washe 785-587-9460. Washer/

ADVERTISE. Kansas State Collegian Classifieds • 785,532,656

120

Diamond K

313-5573

June Leases 8" & Vattier 5 BR - $1400

1205 Pomeroy 1207 Pomeroy

3 BR - $1050

1022 Humbolt 4 BR - $1200

824 Fremont 4 BR -$1100

August Lease

1305 Pierre 4 BR - $1100

313-5573

1245 Sale-Houses

CONDOS FOR SALE. Two and three-bedroom starting at $112,650. colle-(atevilla.com 785-537-2096.

Need a Subleaser

Advertise 785-532-6555

DECEMBER lease. Male roommate wanted. Studious, nonsmoking. Four blocks from campus. Off-street parking. Free washers dryer. 785-341-7171.

CHRISTIAN FEMALE dents starting fall 2007. August to May lease. New three-bedroom, two bath house with washer/ dryer. $350 plus one-third u ties. Call 847-975-1484.

FEMALE HOUSEMATE. No drinking/ smoking. $295/ month. One-third utilities, washer/ dryer, Auca313@ksu.edu, 785-537-1464

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted through July, Twobedroom duplex. Washer/ dryer, and storage. Rent and utilities negotiable. Amanda at, 913-216-4838.

FEMALE ROOMMATE Four-bedroom wanted! 800 Bluemont. $265/ month plus utilities. 316-619-9524.

OUTGOING feseeking female roommate. No pets. June ease. 913-907-9789.

ROOMMATES NEEDED two bedrooms in six-bed-room house two blocks to campus, three Kylie

913-775-0465. LOOKING FOR female roommates for a four-bedroom house. $300/ month plus electricity, gas and

785-587-9207 or 785-230-3008. LOOKING FOR three roommates for duplex. Two bathrooms, washer dryer, dishwasher, 500 Laramie, Manhattan, KS. Call 785-410-2916. MALE, WALK to class, all furnished, lower level, washer dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, pets, 785-539-1554.

STUDENT pre-MALE: ferred. $260/ month plus

ROOMMATE NEEDED until May 31. Rent $275/ month plus one-fourth utilities. Washer/ dryer/ dish 785-537-3737.

NEEDED FOR SUMMER One bedroom in a threehalf bath, ground floor apartment. New complex, 1420 Beechwood Terr. dryer, apartment. washer Sublease May 13- July 31. Only pay for June and July; May already paid for. $287/ month plus utilities. Contact at 620-218-1114 Abby (leave message) or abby-diane32@yahoo.com.

SUBLEASER FEMALE Summer 2007. Great apartment two blocks from campus. For more information contact Janelle at jkbeck@ksu.edu or 316-650-1738. FEMALE SUBLEASER

wanted. $290 per month rent plus utilities, Ex-tremely close to campus. Call 316-706-7667.

ROOMMATES NEEDED immediately. $275 a month plus utilities. Washer/ dryer, dish-washer, garage space. Right by campus. Leave message at 785-537-0891.

SUMMER SUBLEASER bath apartment. Washer/ dryer, remodeled, nice yard and deck! Female roommate option also available now. Call

FOUR-BEDROOM BRICK Neutral colors with new and outside facelift in progress. Washer/ dryer furnished with garage and central air. June lease. No pets. Call 785-313-4812.

NEXT TO campus, one through houses, and apartments. Washer/ dryer, central air. now or fall. No rooms, fireplace, two car central Washer/ dryer furnished. June lease. No pets. Call 785-313-4812.

THREE-BEDROOM TWO 515 $825 plus utilities. August lease. Call Monday day, 785-776-4805.

THREE-BEDROOM TWO 1205-1207 washer dryer, dishcentral $1050/ month 785-313-5573 Doug.

TWO-BEDROOM ment apartment. Washer/ No pets. month. Cheap utilities Available August 1. 1211 month. Thurston. 785-868-3471

MENT. needed. One block from Aggieville. Two years old, dryer, large kitchen, $800/ month. April 1 to August 1, or

WE ARE looking for two subleasers for a nice four close to campus and Ag-Full backyard, and sunporch lease until the end of Please call 785-313-3600 if interested!

Employment/Careers

B10 Help Wanted

THE COLLEGIAN cannot verify the financial poten-tial of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opporwith

tion. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190.

cau-

(785)232-0454.

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSIS TANT- Networks Plus, the leader in providing business computer services, has a full-time position available in Manhattan, KS. This challenging position requires the ability to priorities while maintain ing a positive and ener getic attitude. $12/ hour, full-time only, opportunities for advancement. Email resume in Microsoft Word or text format to: jobs@networksplus.com clerical support duties for the marriage for keeps project. Must have good communication, multitasking and computer skills. ences by March 9 to Catholic Charities, 323 Poyntz, Suite 102, Man-hattan, KS 66502, fedraz@sbcglobal.net, 785-323-0643.

day potential. No experi-ence necessary. Training -800-965-6520 ext. 144.

COME SPEND an awe-

some summer with us in the beautiful Rocky Mou-tains! Working at camp is rewarding. We offer com salaries, room board and travel Mile Hi Council owns two resident camps and several day camps. We are looking to fill the following ions for these camps RN/ LPN's, counselors crafts farm/ small animal special ist, kitchen assistant, west riding counselors, dance/ drama specialists business managers. For more information 303-607-4846 www.girlscoutsmilehi.org, CAMPUS reps DELL needed. Promote a top company to real world business and marketing http://www.RepNation. com/Dell to apply.

campjobs@gsmhc.org

FAMILY SUPPORT specialist/ recruiter: full-time. Case management and recruitment services for marriage project. Must have communication skills. Degree in social sciences preferred. Spanish speaking and marketing have own transportation. ences by March 9 to Catholic Charities, 323 Poyntz, Suite 102, Man-hattan, KS 66502, fe-785-323-0643. Equal opportunity employer.

sitions available Downey Lawn.com looking for two that want a career in the two part time workers. ring well rounded individudrive, and ability to work hard. Apply in person or Call Nathan Downey toll free 1-866-794-LAWN(5296).

DowneyLawn.com for Downey Lawn & Landscape, PO Box 1, 303 E. Soule, Ingalls, KS 67853

FULL-TIME SUMMER Internship. Join 20 other K-State students. Learn how to run a business. Open to all majors. Average 785-317-0455.

HARVEST HELP Wanted. Late May through August. Pays well. 785-587-1956, evenings.

HAY COMPANY in search of summer workers, farm experience needed. Excellent wages. 785-564-2590.

HELP WANTED: truck drivers/ yard help. Competitive wages, benefits paid. Apply in person at Howell Lumber Company at 601 Lincoln in Wamego. dertise in the Classifi provides a fun yet chalprovides or a variety of imquarters office for a fullproject manager.

This challenging position challenging position dates managing multiple website redesign projects from start to finish. Posirected, able to work at the provides at the position. Working with web chalthat values its students provided. Benefits include health, dental, paid provides a fun yet chalprovides a fun yet provides a fun yet challenging work environment. Starting wages begin at $7.00. For more informajobs@civicplus.com. tion email us at omeof-

KITCHEN HELP wanted. Starting pay, $6.50/ hour. Apply at 608 North 12th

LUNCH WAIT wanted. Good pay. Apply at 608 North 12th St., Manhattan, KS.

GROUND SUPERVI-SORS. Immediate open-Elementary Schools. $6.50 per hour one and a half- two hours per day. 11:00 a.m.- 1:00 p.m. Application available at www.-usd383.org/District/HumanResources/ or apply at Human Resources Department, 2031 Poyntz Av-Applications acfilled. Apply to Manhattan-Ogden USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Avenue, Manhat-785-587-2000. Equal Opportunity Employer. NEEDED: PART-TIME leasing agent. Immediate essary. Some Saturdays required. Call Park Place Apartments.

PART-TIME local real estate com-Send resumes to: ERA The Conderman Group, 1430 Poyntz Av-10-15

PART-TIME HOUSE/ delivery person at Faith Furniture. Needs to be able to work after and weekends. 302 E. HWY 24 in Manhatlooking for a positive work job lack lenge? Do you need a learning environment? We have the answers!! Come join our Pharmacy Team pital. We are looking for a full-time flexible independent pharmacist that is willing to grow with us. Some weekends will be required. Apply to Geary Community Hospital, 1102 St. Mary's Rd, PO Box 490, Junction City, KS, 66441; email to cwitt@gchks.org or fax to 785-238-1700. Equal opportunity employer. PINNACLE ELECTRIC has an immediate open-ing for 30-40 hours a week. Electrical experience a plus, but will train right person. 785-456-1351. Call

PLAY SPORTS! Have fun! Save money! Maine camp needs fun loving counselors to teach. All land, adventure and water sports. Great summer! Call 888-844-8080, apply:

PLUS is the nations leading provider of City, County, and School web-sites. Full-time position in Manhattan. Microsoft ASP sume in Microsoft Word or text format to jobs@civicplus.com.

PROJECT in our Manhattan head-quarters office for a fullis provided. Benefits in-clude health, dental, paid holidays, paid vacation s, paid vacation 401(k) matching Email resume in text PROJECT in our Manhattan head quarters office for a full-time Project Manager. This Challenging position entails managing multiple website redesign projects from start to finish. Position requires attention to age multiple task, priori-ties and deadlines and a cheerful attitude. Training clude Health, Dental, Paid and 401(k) matching. Email resume in text of Word format to jobs@civicplus.com.

REGISTERED Geary Community Hospital is looking for a Kansas licensed Registered Nurse without restrictions and reliable transportation to work part-time with the possibility of full-time in our certified hospice proresponsible for planning, and providing care to terminally ill patients and families in the community. The hours will be on a flex ible Monday through Fri-day 0800- 1700 schedule quired. Please apply to: Community Hospital, PO Box 490, Junction 785-238-1700 or email to cwitt@gchks.org.. Equal RILEY COUNTY has thirpositions for seasonal laborers. Forty hour work week at $8.66 per hour. Valid driver's license and the ability to lift 70 cants must be at least 18 construction. concrete work, asphalt tree and turf maintenance Applications are available at the Riley County Clerk's Office, 110 Court-house Plaza, Manhattan, KS or online at www.riley countyks.gov/jobs. Appl cations will be accepted until all positions are filled Riley County is an equal opportunity employer.

LONG Kitchen help wanted. All shifts available. Apply in person. 1130 Moro, Manhattan, KS.

TECHNICAL SUPPORT

position available for K-State undergraduate student with a variety of skills. Must have good interpersonal and problem solving skills. Experience with PCs and popular software applications such as campcedar.com Word Perfect, MS Word Perfect, MS Word MS Excel, MS Internet Explorer, internet applications, basic web page editing and Windows applications desired. Must have a technical understading of and SQL experience re-quired. $15.50/ hour plus mer availability neces-time and a half for over-sary. Computer network Health, Dental, Paid Holi-plications available/ ac-days, Paid Vacation, and 401K matching. Email re-sume in Microsoft Wood Service, 2610 Claffin Rd. 785-532-3300. Please at CALL 785-532-6555

THE CITY of Westmore and WIS training pre-ferred but not required. Salary based on experi-ence and is negotiable. for applications is March 16th. Equal Opportunity

UNIQUE OPPORTUNITY:

Every two years MGM Marketing, Inc. accepts applications to fill a Marketing & Logistics position within our small group in Kansas City. MGM is in a ers and re-sells all types volved in derailments. for a creative, motivated, detail-oriented person that has common sense, good judgment, and the ability new and existing cus is not necessary. This is a very good opportunity with a highly respected com-pany. Our group members are paid very well. Posi-tion includes most benefits and requires very little travel. If you are interested please forward a resume as soon as possi ble. Our contact information more details

WILDCATSNEEDJOBS .-COM. PAID survey takers needed in 100% free to join. Click on

about MGM may be found

on our website at www.-

mgmbusinesspartners.

scheduling appointments

to conduct interviews.

MGM is now

WINTER/ SPRING Positions Available. Earn up to $150 per day. Experience not required. Undercover retail and dining esta ments. Call 800-722-4791.

Found something

You can place an ad FREE for three days! 2004 YAMAHA 600R Excellent condition. Beautiful blue and white with kit, cover. $5500 or best offer. 620-408-6442.

NOW HIRING - TWO LOCATIONS

ALL SHIFTS, DAYS, NIGHTS & WEEKENDS

ABOVE AVERAGE COMPENSATION

 Discounted Meals Flexible Schedule

 Crew Incentive Programs Medical Insurance

• Retirement Plan APPLY TODAY • WORK TODAY 421 N. 3rd Street 3006 Anderson Ave.

EOE/Drug Free Workplace

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

su do ku

Fill in the grid so that every row, every column, and every 3 x 3 box contains the digits 1 through 9 with no repeats.

6 2 4 8 7 8 4 1 3 5 3 8 2 9 6 1 1 3 8 2 5 9 6 8 7 2 4 6

> Solution and tips at www.sudoku.com

Free pregnancy testing Totally confidential service Same day results . Call for appointment 539-3338

Bulletin Board

040-Meetings/Events 050-Parties-n-More 060-Greek Affairs

030-Post Its

Housing/Real Estate

105-Rent-Apt. Furnished 110-Rent-Apt. Unfurnished 115-Rooms Available 117-Rent-Duplexes 120-Rent-Houses 120-Sale-Houses 130-Rent-Mobile Homes 135-Sale-Mobile Homes 140-Rent-Garages 145-Roommate Wanted 150-Sublease 155-Stable/Pasture

Office Space

165-Storage Space

320-Volunteers Needed 330-Business Opportunities 340-Fundraisers/Scholarships

Service Directory

205-Tutor
215-Desktop Publishing
220-Weight Loss & Nutrition
225-Pregnancy Testing
230-Lawn Care
235-Child Care
240-Musicians/DJs
245-Perf, Livestock Services
250-Automotive Repair
255-Other Services

Employment/Careers

Open Market

405-Wanted to Buy
410-Items for Sale
415-Furniture to Buy/Sell
420-Garage/Yard Sales
430-Antiques
435-Computers
445-Music Instruments
450-Pets/Livestock & Supplies
455-Sporting Equipment
460-Electronic Equipment
465-Tickets to Buy/Sell

Transportation

S20-Bicycles S30-Motorcycles

Travel/Trips 610-Tour Packages 630-Spring Break

To help you find what you are looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number designation.

E-mail classifieds@spub.ksu.edu Deadlines

To Place An Ad Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union.) Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Classified Rates 1 DAY 20 words or less $10.50 each word over 20 20¢ per word 4 DAYS
20 words or less $17,90
each word over 20
35¢ per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less $12.95 each word over 20 25¢ per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less (consecutive day rate)
each word over 20
30¢ per word

Real Hope, Real Help, Real Options

Mon. Fri. 9 a.m. 5 p.m

F

Mock hearing shows students honor code trial process

By Eric Davis KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Integrity week, sponsored by the campus group Honesty and Integrity Peer Educators, ended yesterday with a mock hearing.

It was modeled after an investigation, which usually would take place when a student challenged a report that he or she was cheating.

The trial began, like all honor code trials, with the introduction of the people involved. Molly Coleman, the president of HIPE, served as a mentor to the two alleged violators, also were members of HIPE

Coleman said she acted as a HIPE adviser, an aid for students going through the honor system, for the hearing.

The hearing progressed as a small crowd began to fill the room. The people performing in the hearing read from a prewritten script.

Before the trial began, Helene Marcoux, HIPE adviser, explained the hearing was being taped for use in later demonstrations. As she continued speaking she touched on the fact that in the honor system, educational words are used rather than accusatory terms.

"For example, we will use 'information' rather than 'evidence' and 'hearing' rather than 'trial," Marcoux said.

Marcoux also made sure everyone present was familiar with the terminology. She stressed the event was not a representation of trial, but a hearing.

Marcoux also touched on just what HIPE does. She told those in the audience the main goal of HIPE is to educate the student body, as well as the faculty, about what exactly goes on in the honor system process.

Lyndsey Born | COLLEGIA

Helene Marcoux, associate director honor council, explains how the Honor and Integrity System hearing will proceed during the mock Honor Council Hearing Panel in the K-State Student Union Thursday afternoon.

PEOPLE IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD

Student leads group back to New Orleans for alternative spring break

By Mike Kelly
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

For most students, spring break is a relaxing diversion from one's normal routine, offering time to relax and a chance to make lifelong memories.

However, some students choose an alternative.

For the second consecutive year, K-State will send a group of students to New Orleans as a part of the alternative spring break program. Danielle Wong, along with six alternativespring-break veterans, will return to the "Big Easy" to lead 50 volunteers in the rebuilding process after the devastation of Hurricane Katrina.

A Blue Valley High School graduate, Wong recently switched her major from public relations to human ecology, hoping to work in the non-profit sector. She said her experience in New Orleans was a life-changing one that she hopes others will experience

Q: What made you want to go back?

A: I was just amazed. I've been back eight months and 16 months post-Katrina and seen the slow recovery. Even though Katrina is much out of the media focus, it's still an ongoing problem for the people who are still struggling to get their city back. If New Orleans is going to even come back as a city, it's going to take five to 10 years, and really the heart of bringing back all of the families are the volunteers. That seems to be making the biggest dent.

Q: Will there be any differences between this year's trip and last years?

A: Organization-wise, it's a lot different.

There's about 50 students going, and we're staying at a place called Camp Restore, which is a volunteer camp in New Orleans Parrish. We are dividing into four different groups, each with a group coordinator and a group leader. We'll each go to different sites during the day, gutting houses, and then at night, we will get into reflection groups.

Q: What kind of work will you perform while in New Orleans?

A: A lot of families are still in need. We'll be focusing on helping the elderly and the disabled ... a lot of people can't afford to have their houses gutted.

Q: Why is "gutting" houses important in New Orleans?

A: It takes a lot of money to stay, and it takes a lot of money to leave. Without money, it's hard to do anything. That's what they try to stress to us. You can't do anything insurance-wise without gutting the house for insurance purposes, so we try to take away some of that expense.

Q: How much volunteer work did you do before New Orleans?

A: I did a little of this, a little of that, but really this is the first project I've gotten really involved with.

Q: Do you feel you will continue to help the city in the future?

A: I do. I've gotten really attached to these people and these projects. It's just a wonderful city, and it's a shame to see it in the state it's in. I think I'm going to be back as much as I can possibly go. I never really anticipated how much this would affect me. After going down last March and seeing the real need, I think that's what keeps me going back.

Q: Tell me about the citizens of New Orleans.

A: Hospitality is huge down in the south. We will be out onsite, and people will just come up and wave to us and thank us. They're real eager to tell us their story about how Katrina affected their lives. That's a real neat part of the trip.

Q: Tell me about the camaraderie a group has when volunteering in New Orleans. A: That's something that was a pleasant surprise. You think you're packing up and heading down just to volunteer, but what I found is that spending 24-7 with these people, I made a lot of long-term friendships and was also introduced to people that I would never have met. That's been just awesome. I've met wonderful, wonderful people on this project.

Q: How do you feel about the culture of the city?

A: I love it. The food down there is awesome – Cajun, creole, anything you could possibly imagine.

We actually got the opportunity to go to Preservation Hall, which is a historic place to listen to jazz music in the French quarter, and that is when the spirit of the city really comes alive – when you're in there with the local people listening to their music.

Q: Tell me about Camp Restore, the volunteer camp where you will be staying.

A: It actually houses 200 volunteers, and since it's during spring break, we'll be down there with a lot of other college students, so that will be an opportunity to meet other volunteers from around the country. It provides three meals a day, all of the construction tools we need, so that's really great.

Lyndsey Born | COLLEGIAN

Danielle Wong, junior in human ecology, will be going to New Orleans over spring break to help with the rebuilding process with 50 other volunteers.

Annual Biscuits & Gravy Feed
Or Waffle & Fruit

(And Silent Talent Auction)

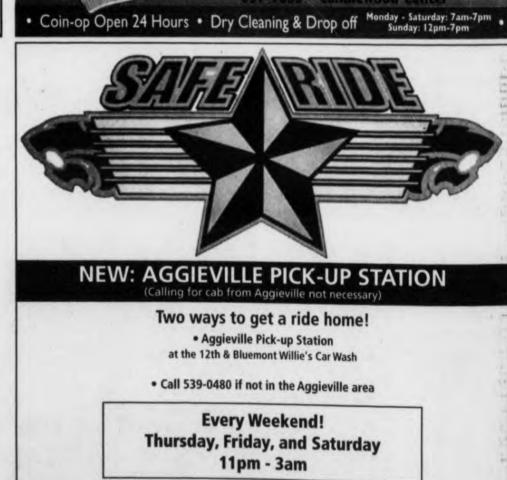

Hosted by College Avenue United Methodist Church 1609 College Avenue

Saturday, March 10th From 7:30 am to 1:00 pm Donations: adults - $5; children 12 and under - $3

Biscuits & Gravy proceeds benefit Ogden Friend House's Food program, Tutoring, and After School Program. Silent Talent Auction proceeds benefit missions.

A free service provided by the K-State SGA.

N S A S S T A T E Kansas State University's independent, student-run newspaper since 1896

INSIDE

K-State men's basketball fails to make NCAA Tournament

See Sports Page 6

www.kstatecollegian.com

Friday, March 12, 2007

Vol. 111, No. 120

K-State makes do with NIT after being snubbed by NCAA

By Eric Brown KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

As other men's college basketball teams were receiving their invitations to the 2007 NCAA tournament on Sunday afternoon, Chris Barr, a 1984 graduate from K-State who was watching the NCAA tournament selections at Rusty's Outback, refused to give up hope for the Wildcats.

'We're in, without a doubt," Barr said midway through the selections. "We're probably a nine or 10 seed. But we'll just have to watch the rest of the selections and wait and see. The suspense is killing me though."

However, at the conclusion of the NCAA tournament committee's selections, Barr's hopes for K-State were shattered. The K-State men's basketball team did not make the NCAA tournament.

"I am totally shocked," Barr said after the selections concluded. "We finished fourth in the Big 12, had 10 conference wins, 22 wins overall. I don't get it. And how do you choose Texas Tech over us. I am cursing inside right now."

With 31 teams earning automatic spots in the NCAA tournament by winning their conference tournaments, K-State was in the hunt for one of the 34 at-large bids available. But for the eleventh-straight year, K-State was left out of the "Big Dance."

While Barr and many others watching the selections from the Aggieville bars were left in disbelief and disgust, many others said they were not surprised by the committee's decision to leave out K-State.

"K-State just didn't have enough significant wins during the season," said Kevin Lawrence, a Manhattan resident who watched the selections at Buffalo Wild Wings. "I'm not at all

See TOURNAMENT Page 12

Top o' the mornin' after

Volunteers pick up trash outside of Rusty's Last Chance Restaurant and Saloon Sunday morning. Following the "Fake Patty's Day" celebration Saturday, volunteers were left to clean up Aggieville

Early St. Patrick's Day festivities leave next-day mess for bar owners

By Logan C. Adams

Aggieville saw large crowds and was left with a mess this weekend after a group of bars organized an early St. Patrick's Day celebration.

The managements of several bars organized the event because the real St. Patrick's Day, March 17, falls on the first Saturday of spring break when many students already will have left town, and they wanted more students to be able celebrate.

ng its celebration - which Day, there will include a breakfast, a parade and a race - this coming Saturday.

The early holiday gave many students an additional chance to celebrate it. Jake DeSelmes, junior in agriculture, said he spent much of Saturday in Aggieville celebrating in what he called the true Irish fashion: imbibing large amounts of

"I'm very much Irish on both sides of my family," DeSelmes said.

The Aggieville Business Association "Even though it's not St. Patty's ebrate it."

> Scott Sieben, manager at Kite's Bar & Grill, said Saturday saw more business than football games usually bring to the bar.

> "It was the busiest we've been since we opened - it was packed," said Sieben, senior in hotel and restaurant management.

> Brian Kelly, senior in criminology, said he had never seen Aggieville with so busy.

"Everybody was happy, everywas extremely crowded," Kelly said.

Brett Allred, owner of Tanks Tavern, said people were lined up outside his bar when it opened at 9 a.m. Saturday. He said it was the busiest night the bar has had since it opened earlier this year.

As with many big parties, there was a mess left behind in the morn-

See CLEANUP Page 12

Shop owners not concerned by Starbucks

By Timothy A. Schuler KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Starbucks has power as the world's largest coffee company, but Manhattan's coffeehouse owners say they are not intimidated.

Manhattan's first full Starbucks will open by mid-April, said Teresa Shewman, one of the company's regional marketing specialists. The chain, replacing Gambino's Pizza at 1219 Bluemont Ave., has brought concern to the community.

"No one cares about the Starbucks going in - big whoop," said Wade Radina, owner of Radina's Coffeehouse and Roastery. "I don't care if it's a McDonald's. It's just not the right place for a drive-thru."

Starbucks has a limited presence in Manhattan, with its coffee available through third-party vendors.

Kevin Peirce, managing partner of Bluestem Bistro, said he and his crew are not concerned about Starbucks' effect on their business.

"We make things from scratch," he said. "They can't even touch us when it comes to food."

Peirce said offering a wide variety of fresh-roasted coffee is another advantage Radina's has over Starbucks.

John Hayes, Radina's manager, said the coffeehouse roasts its coffee in 20- to 22-pound batches, while Starbucks, because of its size, has to roast in 100-pound batches.

"We're able to put more love into our coffee," he said.

Starbucks' nickname in the industry is "charbucks," because it roasts its coffee so dark. Radina said. Roasting beans that dark destroys the oils

See STARBUCKS Page 12

Association members learn from international students at friendship banquet

Haruki Sato, junior in preprofessional business administration and originally from Japan, plays a song on a shamisen. Sato was part of the entertainment for the evening, which also included a fashion show and a speaker.

> Photos by Joslyn Brown COLLEGIAN

By Scott Girard KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Cico Park's Pottorf Hall was packed with international students, mentors and their families Saturday evening for the International Friendship Banquet, sponsored by the community group Helping International Students. Workers had to bring in extra chairs and tables to accommodate the large crowd. Some people even had to stand as they ate, conversed and watched the entertainment.

More than 400 people attended the event. International students from across the world displayed food, music, fashions and cultures from their respective cultures.

Haruki Sato, junior in business, came to K-State from Japan and played a native Japanese instrument called the shamisen. He said the shamisen is a three-stringed instrument common in Japanese music.

"I'm very glad to play here," he said. "Many people don't know about Japanese culture, and I'm very glad to show them our culture."

From colorful yellow and red African dresses to traditional Chinese outfits, students and families from different parts of the world displayed their respective cultural attire at the annual international fashion show. Chow Yong Juan, native Malaysian and campus minister at Southern Illinois University, gave the keynote speech about acceptance.

Dave Stuckenschmidt, organizer of the event, said more than 45 countries were represented at the banquet. Stuckenschmidt said HIS is an association of churches and Christian student groups that provides assistance to and acceptance of international students, regardless of religious affiliation.

"We hope it was a celebration of the friendships of different cultures here at K-State," he said.

He said about 150 international students are involved with HIS this year. The students are paired with either a K-State student or a Manhattan resident or

"It's helped me a lot," said Evraam Gorgy, native of Egypt and graduate student in mechanical engineering. "I went out with them for treats and hang out with them a lot. It helped me understand a lot about American culture."

See BANQUET Page 12

Today's forecast Partly Cloudy High: 76 Low: 52

INSIDE

As the first race in 40 years with no presidential or vice-presidential incumbent, the 2008 race looks to be one of the most fierce in the nation's history. Read one columnist's take on the candidates.

See Opinion Page 4

CAMPUS NEWS HIGHLIGHTS

Virtuoso violinist to perform, give lecture

Violin soloist Charles Castleman will give a virtuoso performance at 7:30 p.m. today in All Faiths Chapel. Music instructor William Wingfield will accompany him on piano. Castleman will talk about the tradition of virtuoso performance and the rise of musical divas in Western culture.

Visiting artist's work displayed in Union

Artwork by visiting New York City artist Christine Hiebert is on show case in Kemper Gallery in the K-State Student Union. Hiebert spent three days last week in the gallery creating her art with painter's tape The gallery is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays, and Hiebert's work will be on display until April 2.

Attorney to address immigration law

Immigration attorney Mira Mdivani will present "Brown is the New Black and Green Cards are Pink: Immigration Law for Normal People' at 7:30 p.m. today in Forum Hall. The lecture is part of K-State's Dorothy L. Thompson Lecture Series on Civil Rights. It is free and open to the public

Viewer income gap

A recent study by Magna Global ad agency revealed wealthier television viewers preferred different shows than other viewers. Here's the median viewer's income of the top networks.

$64,000

$60,000

$59,000

$53,000

Claflin Books and Copies

Fax: (785) 776-1009 www.claflinbooks.com

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

								70
	ACI	ROS	Ś	35	Ker	nnel		57 -	- out		19	Cler	cal
	1	Thick	(		cry			(5	suppl	e-		gam	nents
		slice		37	Iter	n in		п	ente	d)	22	Sop	ranos
	5 Easter-				a cedar					1	compan-ppg			clos	set	-	VOC	VN			ions
		ador	n-	39	Wo	rk		1 5	lend	er	24	Islet
	1	ment			unit	1		20	ld		25	Raw	rock
	8 /	Adva	m-	41	Ho	rse-		It	alian				free
	tage				drawn			money			27 With inter
	12 Stead			carriage				3 A billion			to kill
	13 /	Auth	or	42	Bib	lical		y	ears		29	D.C.
	-	Flem	ing		pro	phet		(1	/ar.)			figur	e, for
	141	Mone	ey	45	Exp	erts		4 T	oe w	oe		shor	t
	(	of		49	Sor	ne-		5 M	lake	a	30	Slith	ery
	1	ran			time	es it		d	enial			fish
	15 Pressing				hits the			6 Shrill bark			33	Prov	ider
	need?				fan			7 Okla-
	16 Class-			- 51	51 Bill			homa city				cross room			52 Enrages			8	8 Metallic			36	non-missile			53 Zero				element				izer.	often
	18	200	.,			foot	8		ligrat		38	"See song			cousin			*	of a sort					p the
		rom		55		eage	. 4		ia wi			phor
		Flas	h-	-		ybe			ight		42	Foot dance"			(Abbr.)			,	angles			70	abbr
		Rais		56	Cru		-		pigo		43	Gan
		olatto		30 Ciuciai				17 opigot			wear	a 21		,,,,,	Solution tim				: 27	min	S.	44 William podrida			DAMESEC				Vacable Control of				or S
		Your			RE		NE		LIII		46	Che
		seal	9	5	EII	NF	EL	O	AV	EA	-		and-
	1000	Hack	-	C		EE		UP				seek	,
		neye		rar		AS	S V	CO	8 1		47	Long
		Sulk			M A A G	8	TE		00		-	galle
		Exist		E	90	В	O X	n	UNI	ES		nam
	32 Loca-			8	1 6	N U	0 -	CA	м		40	Late	7
	tions					UM	P	O R	PH	A N		brak
	34 Caviar,				AMID			ANGSYNE			develop-esse					E D					men
		ially	11-	F	ON	_	SE	_	_	ND	50		pper
	,	lally			Fric	lay	an	swe	r 3-	,	30	AAIIC	ppei
	1	2	13	4		5	16	7		8	9	10	11
								1
	12					13	1			14	Т
	-	-	-	-			-	-			-	+	$\vdash$
	15					16			17
	18				19			20
				21	-	-	22	-	23	+	+	-
				21			66		23
	24	25	26					27		28		29	30
		1	1	1	1	1	1	1		100

3-12 CRYPTOQUIP

ARYADTC - JIEXREY IQQLBEC QADQXDJ RE CAD

LK IBWRCLJ RE QARDK.
Friday's Cryptoquip: WHEN A DONKEY ISIS
CARRYING A PET DOG UPON ITS BACK, IC IBWRCLJ WOULD HAVE TO CALL IT ROVER-BEARING.

R.J.T. TALBYW YDC CAD CRCVD

Today's Cryptoquip Clue: C equals T

WEIRD NEWS

Bizarre, funny and unusual stories from around the world

GIRL'S HICCUPS STOP SUDDENLY AFTER 5 WEEKS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. -She sipped pickle juice, held her breath, breathed into a bag and visited a neurologist, but for more than five weeks nothing would stop a 15-year-old girl's rapid hiccups - until they finally just stopped on their own:

After trying countless remedies and attracting national media attention, Jennifer Mee said her hiccups suddenly stopped around 5 p.m. Wednesday. No one is certain why.

Mee started hiccupping Jan. 23 close to 50 times a minute and said it only stopped when she was sleeping.

She saw an infectious disease specialist, a neurologist, a chiropractor, a hypnotist and an acupuncturist. She tried a patented device designed to stop hiccups, plus all the old remedies.

Her mother called the media two weeks ago to try to find more help for her daughter, who ended up on NBC's "The Today Show."

CELL PHONE USER WON'T GO TO JAIL AFTER ALL

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa - A South African sentenced to a month in jail for allowing his cell phone to ring in a courtroom had the sentence overturned on appeal Friday.

Keri Gwyn Lewis was convicted after his cell phone rang in the public gallery of the Johannesburg High Court, and he answered it while leaving the room.

South African Press Association said the irritated judge sent bailiffs after Lewis, who "was ordered into the witness stand, questioned about his conduct, convicted of contempt of court on the spot and sentenced to a month in jail."

The Supreme Court of Appeal voted unanimously on Friday to overturn the conviction, saying it violated Lewis' constitutional right to a fair trial with legal representation, SAPA said.

"A rebuke or some other indication of disapproval should in most cases be an adequate measure to discourage cell-phone transgressions in court," the judgment read.

SOUIRREL BIRTH CONTROL AIMS TO CURB BREEDING

SANTA MONICA, Calif. Officials have tried poison, gassing and euthanasia to control a breeding frenzy among squirrels in a California city park. Now they plan to try birth control.

Under a new program to start this summer, squirrels in Palisades Park will be injected with an immuno-contraceptive vaccine to stunt their sexual development.

Health officials say the squirrels, which number about 1,000 in the park, pose a public-health risk. They warn that the rodents are aggressive and might carry rabies or host fleas that can spread diseases like bubonic plague.

The vaccine, developed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, stops ovulation and lactation in female squirrels and testicular development in males. The shots run between $2 and $10 and have no side effects, said James Gionfriddo, USDA wildlife biologist.

CAR CARRYING DRUGS CRASHES INTO CRUISER

ORANGEBURG, S.C. - It might have been one of the easiest drug busts in the history of the South Carolina Highway Patrol - a car with 43 pounds of marijuana crashed into a trooper's cruiser Sunday, authorities said.

The bust happened after two patrolmen parked their cars in each lane of northbound Interstate 95 early Sunday morning, following a series of wrecks that had tied up traffic, said Highway Patrol Capt. Chris Williamson.

A Chevrolet Malibu going about 70 mph hit one of the cruisers, causing minor injuries to the trooper behind the wheel, Williamson said.

Officers found two large duffel bags in the trunk holding 43 pounds of marijuana in plastic bags, worth more than $150,000, as well as a few marijuana cigarettes and cocaine, said Orangeburg County deputy Warren Pendry.

The 54-year-old driver from Daytona Beach Shores, Fla., was charged with driving under the influence, possession of cocaine and trafficking marijuana, authorities said.

INDIAN COW EATS MORE CHICKEN

KOLKATA, India dozens of chickens went-missing from a remote West Bengal village, everyone blamed the neighborhood dogs

But Aiit Ghosh, the owner of the missing chickens, eventually solved the puzzle when he caught his cow - a sacred animal for the Hindu family - gobbling up several of them at night.

The family decided to stand guard at night on Monday at the cow shed, which also served as a hen coop, after 48 chickens went missing in a month.

"We think lack of vital minerals in the body is causing this behavior," said Mihir Satpathy, a district veterinary officer, in a telephone interview. "We have taken a look and have asked doctors to look into the case immediately. This strange behavior is possible in some exceptional cases."

MAN RELIVES COLLEGE WITH FRIDGE REMOTE

RALEIGH, N.C. - An engineering graduate has built a contraption to help remind him of campus life - a refrigerator that can toss a can of beer to his couch with the click of a remote.

When John Cornwell graduated from Duke University last year, he landed a job as software engineer in Atlanta but soon found himself longing for his college lifestyle.

It took Cornwell, 22, about 150 hours and $400 in parts to modify a mini-fridge common to many college dorm rooms into the beer-tossing machine, which can launch 10 cans of beer from its magazine before needing a re-

With a click of the remote, fashioned from a car's keyless-entry device, a small elevator inside the refrigerator lifts a beer can through a hole and loads it into the fridge's catapult arm. A second click fires the device, tossing the beer up to 20 feet.

For now, the machine throws only cans, although Cornwell has thought about making a version that can throw a bottle.

The planner Campus bulletin board

To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or email the news editor at collegian@spub.ksu. edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

The blotter Arrests in Riley County

Reports are taken directly from the Riley County-Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Thursday, March 8

- Anne Marie Bowen, Fort Riley, at 10:21 a.m. for 10 counts of passing worthless checks and one count of failure to appear. Bond was
- Gilberto Lopez, Grandview Plaza, Kan., at 1:09 p.m. for driving with a suspended or canceled license. Bond was $1,000.
- Angelina Figeuroa Manalo, 730 Allen Road, Lot 13, at 7:16 p.m. for worthless check. Bond was $248.41.

Friday, March 9

- Samantha L. Zeiler, 806 Ewing Road, at 12:05 a.m. for failure to appear. Bond was
- Bridget Hadley Fleming, 927 Moro St., at 2:19 a.m. for failure to appear. Bond was $100
- Jared Kenneth Nemec, 3103 Heritage Court, Apt. 70, at 2:43 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $1,500.
- David Brian Waida Jr., Cedar Park, Texas, at 3:23 a.m. for criminal damage to property. Bond was $500.

Corrections and clarifications

There was an error in Friday's Collegian. The Manhattan Fire Department responded to the accident at Jardine Apartments. The Collegian regrets the error. If you see something that should be corrected, call news editor Alex Peak at (785) 532-6556 or e-mail collegian@spub.ksu.edu.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291 020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian. circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167.

© Kansas State Collegian, 2007

CHARLES CASTLEMAN.

UNIVERSITY SERIES

> Lecture-Recital: "The Virtuoso"

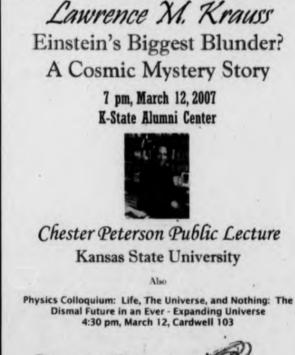

Monday, March 12, 2007 7:30 p.m., All Faiths Chapel

> Assisted by William Wingfield, piano

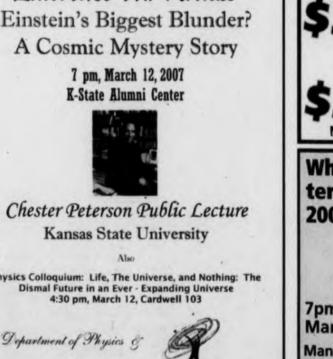

Professor, Eastman School of Music www.charlescastleman.com Veracini Enesco Hubay Chausson Kreisler Ysaye Quiroga

Gift Certificates

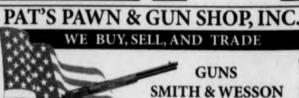

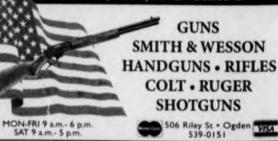

This lecture is supported by an endowment from Chester Peterson, Jr. additional support is provided by the KSU Physics Department, the Center for Understandin of Origins, The KSU Honors Program, and Phi Beta Kappa

YOU are always #1 with us! Claflin Books and Copie

3 Big Boy Bud Light Shots & Wells Bud & Bud Light Pitchers 50 Tubby Yee-Haw & Basket of

Manhattan

785-539-5311

Local artists share talents with middle school students

By Natasha Meyers KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

WAMEGO - Students at Wamego Middle School received some special education last week from some unconventional teachers.

The school had its secondannual Fine Arts Festival on Friday. Teachers invited presenters from K-State and nearby towns to teach the students about different cultures and jobs.

Alton Miller, country sing-

Alton Miller, country music artist, talks with students Friday morning at Wamego Middle School about pursuing a career in music.

er and Manhattan resident, opened the show. He said he does not consume alcohol and told the students several other things about himself in an effort to set a good example. He said grammar skills are needed to write music, and proper English has helped him when writing music.

"I sound like I'm from the sticks, but you have to take English, which was my favorite subject," Miller said. "I use slang, and I have a lot of people that get on me about that, but you really have to know syntax."

Miller also said students should work toward their goals, no matter how difficult they might seem.

"When I was your age, I carried around a guitar," Miller said. "Now, I'm getting on stage, and they're buying tickets to see Lorinda Sultzer, assistant director of the K-State Alumni Association, taught about graphic design. She said she has been involved with the school district in the past.

"It's such an easy way to give back to the community and a great way to let kids know you care," Sultzer said. "That's why it's important to me."

During the presentation, Sultzer said she created the initial design for K-Stater magazine as well as the class rings the alumni association sells.

"My job for the association is as interesting as it is rewarding," Sultzer said. "I appreciate the opportunity to go out and share what I've learned."

Though this is her first year working with the festival, she already plans on attending next year's event.

"I was very impressed with the numbers of presenters, the variety of arts represented, and the quality of creativity that each person brought to the festival," Sultzer said.

K-State's Japanese Yosakoi Dance Club performed and taught one of its dances to the children.

Austin Jones, senior in chemistry, has been in the dance group for six months and said he enjoys it because of how he feels when dancing.

"We taught them how to

Photos by Matt Castro I COLLEGIA

Whitney Doebele, left, freshman in family studies & human services; Kisha McAlexander, sophomore in animal sciences & industry; and Autumn Scoggan, sophomore in pre-professional elementary education, teach some of the basics of tap dance during the fine arts festival Friday morning at Wamego Middle School.

dance one of the songs, and you see the smiles on their faces and know that it's making them happy," Jones said. "It's a very good feeling." The club will go to Japan to perform soon and has had all-day practices to prepare, he

"I've met new friends that I enjoy spending time with, and it's very fun to do a different style of dancing than normal," Jones said. "Also, it helps keep me in shape. It's very intense."

We've got the stories you've got to read.

The Royal Purple yearbook is available in Kedzie 103. Stop by or call 532-6555.

Chinese Restaurant and Mongolian BBQ Best New Asian Style and Mongolian BBQ
In Town

100
All You Can Eat Buffet
&
Mongolian
BBQ
writtysallel KSLi student (B

Only at the Manhattan Location with coupon • Expires 3-31-07

What's better than just sitting in lecture?

Sitting in lecture thinking about what to eat for lunch!

Check out Menu Mania for some good inspiration.

EUNAN EXPRESS Chinese Restaurar
1116 Moro Street

Receive one of the following
F-R-E-E
For delivery order of 515 or more
- One will pres Q lars:
- Two Log kills
- One Fred Dance
- Purchase of 515 or more
- Add 1 Surflet for Free
Expires 3-12-07

Free Delivery: 537-0886
Fax: 539-9111
Hours:
Sun. - Thurs. 1 a.m. - Midnight;
Frt. - Sat. 11 a.m. - 2:30 a.m.

Buy | Scoop of Ice Cream, Get Second Scoop Free
Only At Call Hall

Man. Fr. Open 7 s.m. - 6 p.m. 532-1292

Watch for the Ice Cream Cart on Campus!

HIT OR MISS | The editorial board selects Hit or Miss topics and writes them after a majority vote. This is the Collegian's official opinion.

Miss | Christine Hiebert's modern art

It would be fair to call us uncultured in response to our lack of enthusiasm for the modern art on display in the K-State Student Union, but we know what we like, and this isn't it. Sometimes tape on a wall, even if it took two days, is still just tape on a wall. That said, we appreciate the opportunity to see original art on campus, and we remain hopeful we'll enjoy it more next time.

Hit | Fake Patrick's Day

It's always a special occasion when a large portion of the student body is intoxicated at 10 a.m. It's even better when everyone wears funny hats, drinks green beer and parades around Aggieville like the college version of a Lucky Charms commercial. With spring break approaching, the real St. Patrick's Day celebration probably will be less crowded, but the only thing better than celebrating the Irish is doing it

Miss | Daylight-saving time

The only thing worse than dragging yourself to work on Sunday is doing it an hour earlier than usual. We welcome the extra hour of sleep in the fall, but springing forward always poses a challenge, especially when it comes a few weeks earlier than usual. The lucky citizens of Arizona and Hawaii don't have to deal with the clock-changing.

Miss | NCAA tournament selection

The tournament committee snubbed the Wildcats, anishing them to the National Invitation Tournament. The selections of teams like Arkansas (21-13, 7-9 Southeastern Conference) and Old Dominion (24-8, 15-3 Colonial Athletic Association) make the committee's brushoff even more puzzling. However, watching Selection Sunday with even a glimmer of hope was a new experience for many K-State fans.

Miss | Mess in Aggleville

Beer specials are fun. So is acting Irish. But mountains of used beer cups in the streets are not fun and do not reflect well on our beloved bar district. Next time, even amid the St. Paddy's Day revelry, bargoers should lend a hand and put their trash in an appropriate container.

Hit | Countdown until spring break

As the added stress of midterms, papers and projects compounds, spring break isn't coming a moment too soon. For some of us, a week without school means cruises or extravagant road trips. But even the financially challenged students who have to stay within the "Girls Gone Wild"-free constraints of Manhattan's city limits can appreciate a week off before the daily grind of schoolwork starts all over again.

Battle royale

Presidential candidates in fierce competition for donations, supporters

Right now, the 2008 presidential race looks to be the largest ever. This is the first race without a presidential or vicepresidential incumbent in 40 years, and the resultant scramble for support on both sides has led to predictions of the most expensive presidential campaigns ever.

It's hard to make BROWN predictions 10 months from any primary, but the Intrade online trading prediction market has been running since last year, and its betters have ample financial incentive to get it right. On the Republican side, for mer New York City mayor Rudy Giuliani has the most preliminary support with 41 percent. Sen. John McCain, R-Ariz., comes in second place at 24 percent, and former Massachusetts Gov. Mitt Romney is third with 17 percent.

On the Democratic side, Sen. Hillary Clinton, D-N.Y., rests at 44 percent, and Sen. Barack Obama, D-Ill., is in second place with 30 percent. Former vice-presidential candidate John Edwards is roughly tied with former vice president Al Gore (who isn't even in the race) at about 10 percent each.

Clinton already has built a national campaign infrastructure through her "exploratory committee" and is working with her husband to lock down donors and supporters. Though Obama doesn't have the same money reserves as Clinton, he also is rapidly amassing donations and volunteers.

The New York Times recently reported that Edwards was putting all his hopes into winning the Iowa Caucus, the first of the nomination primaries in early 2008. He also counts on the two leading candidates tarring each other with negative campaigning, although that circumstance might tempt Gore to enter the race.

The Republicans also are in a fierce fight for support, with all three leading candidates courting the religious right. McCain has the most conservative record of the three, but he lashed out at this rather large voting block in the 2000 primaries.

Giuliani and Romney both were elected on a social moderate platform in otherwise liberal states. This makes them unpalatable to the religious right, although Romney has since made an abrupt right-turn on most social issues, even repeatedly repudiating the state he formerly governed at the recent Conservative Political Action Conference.

With the competition fierce, serious candidates not in the top few places will drop out early as the fundraising figures come out. Former Iowa Gov. Tom Vilsack already dropped out in February, citing insufficient fundraising to compete with the other candidates.

Though official figures won't come out until the end of March, The National Journal released estimates up to the first of March indicating Obama already has raised $12 million, with predictions of more than $18 million total by the end of the month. Clinton is set to accomplish about the same, although she'll have the benefit of millions left over from her recent campaign for re-elec-

With that kind of money already flying around 20 months before the election, prepare for a flood of political ads. The Kansas primaries are relatively late in the season, so we'll escape the opening fray.

But after that, there's always the general election, with hundreds of millions of dollars spent to buy advertising and raise support. There might be light at the end of the tunnel, however.

Thanks to a recent Federal Election Commission draft opinion, Obama announced that he will go with purely federal funding for the general election if the opposing candidate agrees to do so as well.

McCain already has matched this promise on the Republican side, which would limit both sides to about $150 million dollars

Though that still might sound like a lot of money, The New York Times reports that private donations probably will net both nominees $500 million each if they refuse public funding. If things work out right, we might see the Pandora's Box of modern politics closed once again.

That is, until we get our first presidential candidates for 2012.

Greg Brown is a junior in philosophy. Please send your comments to opinion@spub.ksu.edu.

Faculty join students in res halls

Imagine the following scenario: you live in a residence hall on campus. You're waking up bright and early at 10:45 a.m., you wander out into the hallway to take your morning shower to get rid of whatever that smell is, and you bump right into .. your college algebra teacher, leaving for class. Completely unfazed, you say, "Hey,

SPENCER

Mr. Wright," and continue on to the bathroom.

Why? Because you're living in one of the newest on-campus communities in the country right now, residential colleges. The newest thing affecting residence life is the growing trend of "faculty-in-residence programs," through which your professors would actually live right alongside you.

The program isn't new. According to CNN.com, the tradition dates back to the early colleges of England and was adopted by American universities like Harvard and Yale in the 1930s. College officials ignored the idea during the 1960s, when the baby boomers all started to attend college at the same time and housing skyrocketed.

Now it's coming back. Students, faculty and parents all think this is a great attempt to get those relationships back. The stories coming out of these programs speak of a more "family" atmosphere. These professors cook elaborate meals for their new friends, help them with family and relationship problems and even hand out candy during fire alarms. There are stories of parents asking professors to break the news of a family death to their children and having themed food nights. The idea of the atmosphere is to create a "Cheers" locale where everyone knows your name, including professors who aren't even yours.

As I read this article, I couldn't help but wonder: would I want my professors living down the hall from me, stopping by on Friday nights for a visit, eating with me in the dining center? K-State Housing and Dining Services is always looking for ways to help residents academically, and what better way than to have those professors move in with us? That kind of program here would be just the thing we need to bridge the gap between academic life and campus life.

Obviously, this kind of lifestyle isn't for all our educators. Many professors have families or are dedicated to their research. But I believe K-State could find enough teachers willing to make a trial run of the program. There were fewer than a dozen of these systems in the 1990s, and already that number is more than 25.

It is clear this is a special trend in college life that is starting to take hold across the country. I invite K-State professors and teachers to be part of that trend and move into the residence halls. I promise to keep the music down after midnight.

Ryan Spencer is a senior in hotel and restaurant management. Please send comments to opinion@ spub.ksu.edu.

Collegian

Megan Moser | EDITOR IN CHIEF

Heidi Paulson | MANAGING EDITOR Alex Peak | NEWS EDITOR lacque Haag | CO-COPY CHIEF Jessi Hernandez | CO-COPY CHIEF Scott Girard | CAMPUS EDITOR Logan C. Adams | METRO EDITOR Lacey D. Mackey | FEATURES EDITOR Jonathan Garten | SPORTS EDITOR edrique Flemming | TIPOFF EDITOR Elleen Laux | THE EDGE EDITOR Jonas Hogg | OPINION EDITOR
Christopher Hanewinckel | PHOTO CHIEF ndan Praeger | PRESENTATION EDITOR Royce Haynes | ONLINE EDITOR Courtney Sleypen | AD MANAGER Eddle Rogers | ASST. AD MANAGER

WRITE TO US

Letters can be submitted by e-mail to letters@spub. ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters should be limited to 250 words. All submitted letters may be edited for length and clarity.

CONTACT US Kansas State Collegian Kedzie 103 Manhattan, KS 66502

Display ads.....(785) 532-6560 Classified ads....(785) 532-6555 ..(785) 532-6555 Newsroom.....(785) 532-6556 news@spub.ksu.edu

STRONG IDEAS WILL TAP MORE LOTTERY FUNDS

THE WICHITA EAGLE

It's a complaint almost as old as the Kansas Lottery itself - that Sedgwick County doesn't get its fair share of lottery-funded grants from the Economic Development Initiatives Fund.

According to an Eagle analysis, in fiscal year 2006, Sedgwick County sold about $49 million in lottery tickets, compared to $26 million in Johnson County. Yet Johnson County received $1,177,207 in economic development grants, compared to $537,190 in Sedgwick County

If that strikes people as unfair, it's not surprising. Most Kansans would expect the flow of the state's economic dollars to have some correlation to where the lottery tickets were sold. But county-to-county comparisons can be misleading, because the disbursements depend on which counties apply for which projects.

"This is not money that you just give back to the county on a proportionate basis. It is driven by projects that qualify for state incentives," former Lt. Gov. John Moore, also the former secretary of commerce, told The Eagle editorial board Thursday.

As a Wichitan and former Cessna Aircraft Co. executive, Moore took interest in seeing whether the development data supported the locally held theory that there is a bias against Sedgwick County. His conclusion was "that Sedgwick County was being treated very fairly."

PRESIDENT MAKES TRIP AT LONG LAST THE MIAMI HERALD

Some statements go down in history with such a painful belly flop that one can never again quote them without thoroughly soaking them in the deceptively soothing balm of irony. Consider the words of President Bush on Sept. 5, 2001. That day, Bush stood next to Mexican President Vicente Fox on the South Lawn and earnestly declared, "The United States has no more important relationship in the world than the one we have with Mexico."

Six days later, the World Trade Center smoldered in ruins and Washington's best-laid plans for Latin America lay asunder, thoroughly torn. Mexico, and the rest of Latin America, had tumbled from the top spot in the priority rankings to practically off the list.

Now in 2007, with just two years left in the Bush administration, the White House suddenly has rediscovered Latin America. Did you know that 2007 is officially, "The Year of Engagement with Latin America"? We can credit Washington's U-turn to Venezuelan President Hugo Chavez, the standard-bearer of international leftist anti-Americanism. Also, Iran's Mahmoud Ahmadinejad was the man who truly awakened the White House from its continental slumber. And so, only a few days after the very right-wing Ahmadinejad cemented his strange-bedfellows friendship with Chavez and other Latin American leftists, the White House announced that the American president, too, would make

OPINION EXCERPTS | Columns from newspapers around the world

WORLD NEWS

SUICIDE ATTACK KILLS 32 SHIITES IN BAGHDAD

BAGHDAD, Iraq - The Mahdi Army did not guard Shiite pilgrims on the roads to and from the holy city of Karbala this year.

The Shiite militia waited in the wings under a deal that eased the way for U.S.-Iraqi security sweeps through Baghdad. But its absence had many pilgrims and other Shiites feeling like easier targets.

That sense of vulnerability was driven home Sunday when some 70 pilgrims came under attack after passing through the most dangerous stretch of Sunni-dominated territory on the way back from Karbala.

The men and boys were celebrating their good fortune when one noticed a car racing far too fast, coming toward them from behind. The bomber barreled into their flatbed truck, setting off an explosion that killed at least 32 and wounded at least 24.

The attack shook a neighborhood that is largely under tight Shiite control. It came a day after a bombing that killed 20 people in the Sadr City neighborhood where the Mahdi militia is based.

"I blame the government," said Mustafa Moussawi, the pilgrim who saw the bomber. "They didn't provide a safe route for us, even though they knew we were targets for attack."

During the last two years, the Mahdi Army provided security - although they were unable to halt some deadly bombings and shootings - for the pilgrimage, which marks the end of 40 days mourning for the 7th-century battlefield death of the Prophet Muhammad's grandson.

Shiites consider him the rightful heir of Islam's leader-

Sunni Muslims do not.

FRENCH PRESIDENT WILL NOT SEEK 3RD TERM

PARIS - Jacques Chirac, admired and scorned during 12 years as France's president, announced Sunday he will not seek a third term in elections this spring. It was a widely expected move given his low popularity, his age and a conservative rival who has siphoned off his political base.

In a televised address, Chirac said he would find new ways to serve his country after leaving office.

"Serving France and serving peace is what I have committed my whole life to," he said.

Most on the French right and in the party founded for Chirac's re-election in 2002 have swung behind Interior Minister Nicolas Sarkozy, leaving Chirac with no political base for another run in the April-May two-round presidential vote.

But Chirac, 74, has pulled surprises in the past, and he kept France guessing as long as possible about whether he will run again, seemingly to avoid becoming a lame duck too

Chirac leaves a legacy as mixed and ambiguous as the man himself.

He made less of a mark on France than Gen. Charles de Gaulle, his role model, or his immediate predecessor, Socialist Francois Mitterrand.

But internationally, the repercussions of Chirac's defiant "Non!" to the war on Iraq, which forced President Bush to invade in 2003 without United Nations backing, still echo.

So, too, does another "Non!" of the Chirac era - that of French voters who rejected Europe's drive toward greater integration in 2005.

Chirac's acknowledgment of the French state's guilt in the Nazi extermination of Jews in World War II was historic.

1026 Osage #22

1419 Leavenworth #2

BEDROOMS

1611 Laramle #2 Wed, Fri 8:00-11:00an

BEDROOMS

1125 Laramie

Reserved Parking! Call 320-6300 for showing

3:30-6:00 2:00-5:00

Wed, Fri

4:30-6:30 3:30-5:30

12:30-2:30

12:00-2:00

Coupons

MAURITANIANS VOTE IN 1ST PRES. POLL SINCE COUP

NOUAKCHOTT, Mauritania - The junta that took control of Mauritania two years ago had promised elections Sunday, but some residents were not hopeful for lasting democracy with a former dictator and a failed coup leader on the ballot.

"Things have clearly changed, but you still have that fear that the old regime might come back," said Internet cafe owner Yacoub Abdallahi.

Col. Ely Ould Mohamed Vall, who led a bloodless coup that ousted ex-president Maaoya Sid'Ahmed Ould Taya and ended a 21-year dictatorship, has ruled Mauritania since August 2005.

Power in Mauritania never has changed hands at the ballot box, although past elections have been held by dictators amid widespread allegations of fraud. The country has experienced 10 coups or attempted coups since gaining independence from France in 1960.

Pastel-clad men and veiled women holding cell phones in their hennaed hands lined up at polling stations before dawn Sunday, eager to be among the first to vote. Once inside, they chose their candidates by writing the Arabic letter "b" for "bismillah," or "in the name of God," beside the picture of their choice. Voters emerged with their little fingers stained in indelible purple ink.

A record 1.1 million of the mostly Muslim Arab-dominated nation's 3.2 million people are registered to vote.

The first-place finisher must win at least 50 percent of the vote to avoid a runoff with the second-place finisher. Results are not expected to be announced for days.

- The Associated Press

TO THE EDITOR

Trading security for convenience not wise

Editor.

In reference to Ben Hedges' Feb. 26 article about the possible implementation of a new e-mail system, I find the rationale and arguments presented to be poorly developed, conceived with little technical knowledge of e-mail systems and a sacrifice of security for convenience of information availability.

The origination of this proposal from Faculty Senate without involvement from IT experts within the university is rather disturbing. In addition, the lack of technical understanding of the student representative for Faculty Senate's Committee on Technology is utterly appalling, especially for an undergraduate senior in computing and information systems. The mistakes concerning the technical aspects are covered quite well by Daniel Lang of Computing and Telecommunication Services in his Feb. 26 online comment to the article.

This university employs a number of experts who manage and maintain the equipment that allows communication via electronic means. Taking these services out of their capable hands and placing them into the hands of a large, private corporation with a questionable track record in freedom of information does not sit well with me in the slightest. This would open the private and professional correspondence of about 50,000 people to indexing by a public search engine, thus likely breaching many privacy policies of K-State and the State of Kansas. In essence, exchanging security for convenience is not in the best interests of K-State by far.

Ryan Russell Frederick SENIOR IN COMPUTER SYSTEMS TECHNOLOGY

K-STATE-SALINA

PETA's aims to protect chickens misplaced

Editor.

I have read the article in the Collegian about the chicken-tossing investigation. Words cannot describe the rage welling up inside me.

First, People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals is looking for a connection between animal cruelty and human cruelty. Here's what they're saying: most serial killers have tortured or killed animals in their youth before they started killing people. They're overlooking the facts that this happens in childhood. Most murders are not committed by serial killers, the majority of people who kill animals are not serial killers, and serial killers are emotionally unstable.

They will overlook these facts to fuel their witch hunt for the hapless K-State fan keeping a tradition alive. They'll probably even try comparing the "suffering" the chicken experienced to the hours of humiliating and cruel torture those serial killers did to their pets and other

They're even going so far as to offer a $2,500 reward and wasting our tax dollars by getting the police involved.

Second, you don't need statistics to figure out that the majority of animal deaths caused by humans are not committed by serial killers; they're committed by hunters, farmers and the meat industry. PETA isn't trying to protect a chicken. It's trying to destroy American agriculture by attacking it at the heart of this country.

I will not stand for this, because as a Kansan, K-State student and American, I eat chicken. I live off of them and I respect them, and PETA can eat my chicken.

Carlos Morales SENIOR IN MANAGEMENT INFORMATION SYSTEMS

Disabled people in sports make it look easy

I'm a disabled student on campus who has worked with Disability Support Services and the Division of Facilities about issues we face. We've long been an overlooked group. When I saw the "Disability Awareness" advertisement, I was excited someone took interest in us.

To me, awareness should open eyes to what disabled students face. People in wheelchairs who can play basketball or rugby are terrific but unrealistic. People are watching those events and think it's easy being disabled. They're not going to realize just how trained those people are.

This isn't going to bring awareness - it could even harm perceptions of the disabled students on campus. I rarely have found people who will offer me a hand. People will hold doors, but more than that and you are on your own.

I think it's admirable that (volleyball coach Susie Fritz) is going to spend "some time" in a wheelchair. However, there are several problems

GIVE PLASM

Donate plasma and earn

CASH

GET CASH

with it; she's an athlete, so she's already got an advantage. She might go into main buildings, but what about the problem areas? Try navigating campus with a backpack and stopping in a restroom in less than 10 minutes.

These are the challenges we face each day.

URGENT

to help save burn, trauma and shock victims

ZLB Plasma Services

1130 Gardenway

Manhattan, KS 66502 785-776-9177

Margaret Neyer K-STATE STUDENT

NOW LEASING FOR FALL 2007 Check out our model showings now!

78% of our

With 900 apartments in the Manhattan area, we can find a place for you! BEDROOMS

BEDROOMS 1119 Laramie #5 Mon.Wed,Thurs 5:30-7:00 4:00-7:00

1941 College Heights #4 Mon-Thurs 3:00-5:00

Mon,Wed,Fri 4:00-6:00 Tues, Thurs Wareham - 418 Poyntz #603 3:00-5:30 1:30 - 5:00

Aggie Village - 1215 Laramie 1:00-5:00

10:00-2:00

Fri

Sun

925 Denison #4 1803-1807 College Heights View at 925 Denison #4 Mon, Wed, Fri 5:00-7:00 Tues, Thurs 12:00-2:00

Royal Towers 1700 N. Manhattan #203 Mon,Wed,Fri 4:00-6:00 1:00-3:00 Tues, Thurs 12:00-2:00 STUDIOS Wareham 418 Poyntz #316 1:00-3:00

785.776.3804 mdiproperties.com

Saturday Office Hours: 10am-2pm ACCULLOUGH DEVELOPMENT experience is your ticket to success.

Monday, March 12 4 p.m. • Union 212 Stay after for a focus group discussion and FREE PIZZA!

785-532-6506

Guiding You from College to Career

Mira Mdivani

Immigration Attorney

"Brown is the New Black and Green Cards are Pink: Immigration Law for Normal People"

Monday March 12, 2007 7:30 p.m. Forum Hall K-State Student Union

Free and Open to the Public

Sponsored by The Dorothy L. Thompson Civil Rights Lecture Series

TODAY! www.zlbplasma.com NOW LEASING FOR FALL 2007 Founders Hill Apartments 1401 College Avenue (785) 539-4600

Chase Manhattan Apartments 1409 Chase Place (785) 776-3663

STUDIOS, 1, 2, 3, 4 BEDROOM UNITS

Woodway Apartments 2420 Greenbriar Drive (785) 537-7007

1422 McCain Lane (785) 539-5911

www.firstmanagementinc.com

1-MINUTE

DRILL

Staff reports

Despite a singles rally by K-State after dropping all of its doubles matches, the Wildcat tennis team could not get enough mornentum Saturday to upend the University of Tulsa, who

K-State (2-6, 0-1 Big 12 Conference) reverted to its normal lineup, placing junior Fernanda Da Valle at the No. 2 singles spot and junior Tamar Kvaratskhelia at the No. 3 spot. Da Valle was sidelined last weekend with a neck injury, and Kvaratskhelia has battled an injury for the past

Kvaratskhelia made waves at the No. 3 spot, beating Tulsa's Carla Zabaleta (4-6, 6-3, 6-4).

Kvaratskhelia said help from assistant coach

Marcos Mendez was important to her win. "I'm really thankful to my assistant coach, motivator," she said. "I want to thank him a lot for motivation and how he was there for me.

It's not the reason why I won, but it helped me.

I lost the first set, and it was hard to come back,

K-State also got a victory at No. 6 singles from freshman Natasha Vieira, who beat Jenna

Webster (3-6, 6-3, 7-5). Vieira, who fought back from a one-set deficit to win her singles match, said she has been working hard before practice

"I lost the first set, so in the second one, I concentrated on my strokes and just trying to put the ball in," she said. "I wanted to make my game to mirror her game. I started getting more confidence in my strokes. Lately, I haven't been more confident in my strokes, so this

All but one of the singles matches were played in three sets. With the win, Tulsa

- Wendy Haun

definitely made my game better.

improved its record to 13-2 overall because he was a great supporter and but he was a great support."

TEN | Tulsa overpowers Wildcats in 5-2 decision

No go

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State's tournament

bubble bursts Selection Sunday in Manhattan.

It's a date on the calendar that usually passes with little fanfare, like National Poultry Day (March 19) or Name Your Car Day (Oct. 2). This year, however, was different.

K-State fans crowded around their TV sets, gripping remote controls with sweaty palms. They hung on Dick Vitale's every word, like he was some kind of basketball shaman. They sought answers for questions ONLINE Meek's Selection Sunday diary, go to kstatecollegian.com.

MEEK

that had been bubbling for weeks. Would a win over Texas Tech be enough? Would Bob Huggins' formula (20 overall wins, 10 conference wins) hold true? Would marquee wins over Texas and Southern California be enough to earn K-State a trip to the "Big Dance?" Would ESPN reveal that Joe Lundari is not a human being, but instead a robot programmed to spew out tournament scenarios?

The answers came. Well, most of them, anyway.

And once the answers came, and K-State's bubble popped with a resounding splat, the temptation was to grab some ammunition and take aim.

The temptation was to accuse the selection committee of favoring the Atlantic Coast Conference, the darling of the major conferences. The ACC sent seven teams to the Dance, including four teams with fewer wins than K-State.

Boston College (20-11, 10-6 ACC) finished 2-5 in its last seven

Georgia Tech (20-11, 8-8 ACC) finished .500 in league play and lost to a lousy Wake Forest team in the conference tournament.

The temptation was to cry foul hen the committee selected Texas Tech over K-State, using logic fuzzier than month-old meatloaf. After all, Texas Tech finished a game behind K-State in the Big 12 Conference standings and clearly looked like the lesser team when the two met Friday.

The temptation was to wonder if K-State was penalized for games it didn't play.

We understand the issue with unbalanced scheduling, but we also understand that earning a first-round bye in the conference tournament is significant, no matter what division you play in.

The temptation was to scratch your head when Stanford earned an at-large selection with an 18-12 record, a 10-8 conference mark and a 4-7 record in its last 11 games.

The temptation was to accuse the committee of falling in love with mid-majors, like an Old Dominion squad that made the tournament despite losses to Marist and Hofstra or a Butler team that lost to Indiana State and Illinois-Chicago.

The temptation was to rip the ratings percentage index, the cold, computer-generated formula that seemed to play such a major role in determining the tournament field. This is the formula that says the Big 12 is down, even though the league boasts three legitimate Final Four contenders.

Yeah, all of that was pretty tempting. And, ultimately, pretty

At this point, the only thing that matters is how the Wildcats plan to observe Selection Sunday next

"In the future," Huggins said, "we plan on doing a whole lot more."

Austin Meek is a senior in journalism. Please send comments to sports@spub.ksu.edu.

Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN

Coach Bob Huggins talks to Cartier Martin during the second half against Kansas Saturday. Martin and the Wildcats came up short against the Jayhawks, losing their third game against the instate rivals this season.

Big 12 qualifies just 4 teams to NCAA Tournament

By Jeffrey Rake KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Texas A&M coach Billy Gillispie fired the first shot last Monday, calling out the Big 12 Conference office during a weekly conference call for not doing enough to promote the

"I'm really disappointed in the way that people are perceiving our league, and I think our league doesn't do as good a job as our competitors as far as marketing," Gillispie said. "I think the members are taking care of the league better than the league is taking care of its members."

If that's the case, his fellow coaches certainly picked up the slack over the weekend during the Big 12 Championship.

Several Big 12 coaches took it upon themselves to discuss the quality of the league and went out of their way to lobby for bubble teams such as Texas Tech and K-State to Kansas' Brandon

Rush pokes the ball away from

K-State's Cartier

Martin Saturday.

Kansas received a

NCAA tournament, were left out of the field of 65 teams.

No. 1 seed in the

and the Wildcats

gain inclusion in the 65-team NCAA Tournament field.

However, it wasn't enough as only four Big 12 teams advanced to the NCAA Tournament. K-State, considered to be one of the teams on the bubble, was left out. The Wildcats instead will compete in the National Invitation Tournament, where they will take on Vermont in the first round.

Given the opportunity to speak out against the Big 12 office's job of promoting its teams, K-State coach Bob Huggins took the high road.

"I learned a long time ago, you don't depend on other people to do your job," Huggins said. "We set forth to do our job, and we fell a little bit short."

Still, the NCAA Tournament committee's decision ruined an unusual three-day effort by league coaches who were hoping to see the conference gain more exposure. A lot of breath turned out to be wasted, some of which even came from Kansas coach Bill Self.

Following Kansas' 67-61 win Saturday over K-State in the Big 12 Tournament, Self spent more than three minutes pleading the Wildcats'

"To have the team that finishes fourth in your league to be considered a bubble team I think is ridiculous," Self said. "Because you look across America, the other leagues aren't considered that way at all. I think they deserve to be in."

Other coaches, including Texas' Rick Barnes and Oklahoma's Jeff Capel, have spent time discussing the strength of the conference.

Even Texas Tech coach Bob Knight, who often prefers to stay out of politicking and campaigning as it pertains to the NCAA Tournament, spoke about the quality of teams in the Big 12. He called the conference's top three teams - Kansas, Texas A&M and Texas - "damn good" and adamantly stuck by his conviction that no other conference is as strong at the top.

Then, in an unusual sequence, he backed K-State's tournament résumé despite the fact that his team was believed to be competing for one of a few remaining spots with the Wildcats.

"Kansas State finished 10-6 in a tough conference, and I think that, to me, they're a lock," Knight said. "If you finish in the upper division, in the first division in this league or certainly in the upper five spots, and you have a winning record, then you unless you have just screwed up unbelievably in your pre-conference season, you're a team that should be in the NCAA tournament."

Of the six major conferences, the Big 12 was the only conference not to qualify five teams. Three conferences had six teams receive bids, and the Atlantic Coast Conference, considered by many experts to have had a down year, qualified seven teams.

The only member of the K-State men's track and field team who competed at the NCAA Indoor Championships in Fayetteville, Ark., returned as an All-American. Sophomore Scott Sellers placed third in the men's high jump with a mark of 7-3 1/4. This is his second time to earn All-America status. The only other Wildcat high-jumper to do so was Kyle Lancaster.

RUN 3 track team members

earn All-America honors

The winner of the event was Auburn senior Donald Thomas, who had a jump of Sellers is one of 10 Wildcat high-jumpers to receive the All-America designation.

Sophomore weight-thrower Loren Groves placed sixth and earned her first career indoor All-America honor. Her best throw of the meet was 67-6 3/4. The other Wildcat to earn All-America honors was senior high-jumper Kaylene Wagner. Her jump was marked at 6-0, which was good enough to place eighth. Junior 800-meter runner Morgan Bonds and junior triple-jumper Marianne Schlachter also participated in the meet.

Bonds finished 19th in the preliminaries for the 800 with a time of 2:10.29, and she did not qualify for the finals. Her best 800 time of the year was at the lowa State Classic, where she ran 2:06.20. If she had run her best time at the meet in Fayetteville, she would have qualified for the finals. Junior Marianne Schlachter made her first appearance at the NCAA meet and finished 13th. Her best jump was 41-7 3/4.

This marked the end of the indoor season and the start of the outdoor season for the track team. The team is scheduled to participate in the Emporia Spring Twilight on Thursday.

WEQ | K-State wins 5th straight, knocks off Georgia

The K-State equestrian team knocked off one of the best programs in the nation by beating Georgia 1350.5-1338.5, Sunday at Fox Creek Stables. It was Georgia's second loss of the season.

Junior Whitney Snyder took home the equitation on the Flat MVP award, an award she has now received seven times this year.

Georgia won the other three MVP awards, including Sarah Dunsmore in Varsity Horsemanship, Sarah Locker in Reining and Logan Fiorentino in Equitation

Junior Lindsey Salsbury picked up her ninth win of the season, winning both of her head-to-head matches.

GLF | K-State to tee off at Fresno State Golf Classic

The K-State men's golf team will travel to Fresno, Calif., today to play in the Fresno State

The Wildcats finished ninth last week in the Braveheart Classic in Beaumont, Calif., shooting

The field for the event will not include nyone from the Golfweek Top 25, a first for the Wildcats this season.

Coach Tim Norris golfed in college at Fresno State, where he was a two-time All-American. Freshman Joe Ida had his career-best finish at the Braveheart Classic, tying for 11th while shooting 13 over par.

BASEBALL

Wildcats sweep North Dakota State at home

By Dayne Logan KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Courtesy of a walk-off home run by junior Brett Scott, the K-State baseball team knocked off North Dakota State, 6-3, in an 11-inning thriller at Tointon Family Stadium on Sunday.

The win completed a three-game sweep for the Wildcats and improved their record to 14-2 this season. The Bison, losers of five of their last six, dropped to 2-5 overall.

Trailing by a score of 3-1 in the bottom of the seventh inning, coach Brad Hill inserted sophomore Jordan Cruz to pinch hit for sophomore Rob

The move paid immediate dividends when Cruz crushed the 3-1 pitch over the right-centerfield wall to narrow the gap to one run.

"It was time to make some moves and get some different people in there," Hill said. "Jordan Cruz obviously helped us. That was big getting it down to at least one run."

Cruz said the closeness of the game helped bring out the competitiveness in himself and his teammates.

"Once you start realizing that you're running out of time, you really have to put up or shut up," Cruz said. "There are a lot of competitors on this team, so we're going to get the job done."

Still trailing by one heading into the bottom of the ninth, Hill once again went to the bench by inserting freshman Adam Muenster. Just as before, the move proved to be a good one when Muenster beat out a bunt and gave the Wildcats a much-needed base runner.

Three batters later, Brett Scott, another pinch hitter, stepped into the box with runners on first and second. Scott delivered a single, scoring Muenster and sending the game into extra innings.

Scott wasn't done yet, however, and in the bottom of the eleventh, he came to the plate with two on and one out. The junior got ahead in the count, 3-1, and when Bison pitcher Seth Foley left a fastball out over the plate, Scott took advantage by belting a walk-off home run just over the leftfield wall

The home run, a career first for Scott, brought the final score to 6-3 and extended the Wildcat's winning streak to five games.

"The first (at-bat), he got ahead of

See BASEBALL Page 12

Ah, spring – deaning, that is

Flowers, flip-flops, fun and let's not forget the warm sunshine – sunshine so bright it is possible to see all the possible to see all the dust bunnies under the bed, snow slush residue in the entryway and the random clutter collected through winter.

Spring is known as the time of year when people spend countless hours scrubbing, dusting and cleaning their homes. Some dread it w homes. Some dread it, while others couldn't be more excited to get started. Here are a few tips to make the deed a little easier to handle and speed up the process.

Start by making a list, mental or written, including everything you want to accomplish. Once you have a list, it will be easier to see a light at the end of the tunnel.

Now that you have a starting point, make sure you won't have any problems accomplishing your goals. Verify you have all the cleaning supplies and tools needed for your tasks.

> Sometimes we can become unmotivated to finish what we are doing if we have to stop and go to the store. Also, mark your calendar for the cleaning adventure on a designated weekend. That way you can spend the most time on it in order to finish without leaving it half done for another day.

NICOLE

JOHNSTON

Once you have everything you need, turn up the tunes and jump in.

Start with one task at a time. If you decide to clean your bedroom first, do not leave the room until you are finished. It is easy to become sidetracked from what you are cleaning if you leave what you are doing to start another thing. If you work on one thing at a time, it will be easier to get the job finished. Otherwise, you might be left with a bigger mess than when you started. It can be helpful to bring boxes labeled with "give away," "trash" and "goes to another room" to help you stay in place until you're

After you are finished cleaning, sort out your give-away box and decide what you want to donate and sell. Another plus about spring cleaning is the opportunity to make some quick cash. Organize a garage sale, and rake in the money. This is a great way to get rid of clutter and meet your neighbors at the same time.

In just one weekend, you can prepare your house for the warm seasons to come and feel great about what you have accomplished.

Nicole Johnston is a junion in mass com munications. Please send comments to collegian@spub.ksu.edu.

Spring break calls for safety measures

By Haley Davis
DAILY TOREADOR (TEXASTECH)

LUBBOCK, Texas - For many Texas Tech University students, spring break is a time to forget about classes, hang out with friends and enjoy an alcoholic drink or two. Yet, just because students leave behind their daily responsibilities, simple safety precautions are still important to bear in mind.

According to a University of Wisconsin study, 75 percent of college males and more than 43 percent of college females reported being drunk on a daily basis during spring break. Yet, over-indulging with alcohol is only one of many risks students, should be aware of during their vacation.

Students traveling to classic spring-break destinations packed with fellow vacationers may want to follow a few safety measures to make sure their property doesn't get stolen.

According to the Web www.collegesafe.com, cars, houses and apartments all should be secured before students hit the road. Removing all valuables from automobiles and closing blinds and locking all doors in homes are among the safety measures suggested on the Web site. Setting automatic timers for lights and radios to come on periodically is an easy way to make a potential burglar believe someone is occupying the residence.

While a vacation presents students with the opportune time to relax and enjoy themselves, safety should not be overlooked, especially during road trips.

According to the Web site, before embarking on a vacation, students should make sure their automobiles are in tune. Travelers should check all belts, hoses and tires on their automobiles. If something appears to not work correctly, students immediately should take their problems to a carservice center to get everything service center to get everything checked out.

Once students get to their actual spring-break destinations, a new series of cautions apply.

Warren Durfee, a general manager at the Sheraton Hotel on South Padre Island, said one big mistake students make is leaving their doors open. Durfee said students should keep their doors closed to limit how many people have access to their hotel rooms.

Durfee said students usually do not think about securing valuables until something has been stolen. He said he advises students not to bring valuables with them, but he knows in this day and time, that is an unrealistic option. Durfee said another issue to avoid on spring break is drinking too much.

Spring Break Deals pages 7 & 8

Spring Break SAVINGS
AT SALON 1

*50 Haircut & Hillite

*6 Eyebrow Wax

*10 Men's Haircuts

*25 Massage w/ KSU ID

*10 Pedicure w/ Any Service

3110 ANDERSON AVE. 785.539.3626 MANHATTAN, KS 66503 EXPIRES 3.31.07

Advice for world travelers.

If you're planning a trip overseas, contact your credit card company and let them know. That way, when foreign charges begin showing up on your card, they won't hesitate to process the transactions quickly. Visit our Web site for additional tips.

INTRUST has the currencies you need to travel anywhere!

- Major and most minor currencies available daily other currencies available upon request
- Rates set daily
- Non-customer transactions welcome
- Travel Tip Pack provided with purchase
- Traveler's Checks denominated in foreign currencies
   Currency packets in Euros or British pounds available at select INTRUST locations
- ($100 minimum trade required)

  No transaction fee
- Buy-back guarantee

Aember FDIC

yes you can-

For questions

Internationa

about our foreign

currency and other

Banking services.

call the experts at

316-383-1287

- · Drive-up Window & Door
- Jumbo Computerized Dryers
   & Large Capacity Washers
- · Big Screen TV & Pool Table
- · Wash, Dry, & Fold Service
- · Professional Dry Cleaning
- "Largest & Cleanest Facility in Manhattan"

Dry Cleaning & Drop off
Monday Saturday 7mm 7mm
Sunday 12mm 7mm
Sunday 12mm 7mm
Slacks
Dry Clean
for every $10 worth of Dry Cleaning

Jeans-Laundered & Starched
(Monday Only)

3216 Kimball Candlewood Center

537-9833

The waiting room

Students anticipate foal's birth for class assignment

By Lacey D. Mackey KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Two figures walk silently to a stable bathed in moonlight.

Megan Walter, senior in animal sciences and industry, stops at the stable's entrance. Rachel Lawn, senior in biology, whispers, "We need to be quiet."

The two are listening, waiting to hear the first signs indicating their mare is about to give birth.

Lawn and Walter are enrolled in Equine Reproduction Management, a Department of Animal Sciences and Industry course that teaches students the process horses go through to reproduce.

Walter said the course teaches all aspects of reproduction, from basic anatomy to watching the mare give birth.

"I like the hands-on stuff - checking on the babies, being out and about with the horses," she said.

Walter, Lawn and group partner Mallory Pirie, senior in biology, spent their weekend watching over a 5-year-old quarter horse named Sheza Peppy Kay Tee. They call her "Katy."

The trio was assigned to the mare on Feb. 15, about 25 days before her due date.

"That's so you get to know the mare and look really for any signs that she's about to foal," Lawn said. "Some take a short time, and some are long. You get to know your mare because when she's foaling, she doesn't want to be surrounded by a lot of strangers."

As Katy gets closer to foaling, Lawn said the group will spend nights at the horse unit where she is stabled, waiting for the mare to go into labor. Most mares go into labor in the shadow of darkness, the trio said, because of their instinct to birth at a time when predators are less likely to see. Therefore, 11 p.m. to 4 a.m. is the most common time period for the mare to foal.

While waiting for the mare to give birth, the group spends time checking Katy's vitals and recording information about the mare's progress.

The group collects a sample of the mare's milk, testing the calcium content. They also test a sample of the milk to find the likelihood the mare will foal within 72 hours.

The group takes turns checking on Katy, waiting to hear restless activity, grunting, pawing at the ground, and especially, water breaking. When the mare goes into labor, the group will call Joann Kouba, assistant professor of animal sciences and industry, for assistance. Kouba will ensure everything goes well, Walter said.

Walter and Pirie, who have been a part of the foaling process before, said it happens quickly. When Pirie previously saw a mare give birth, she said the time between the water breaking to the foal's birth was about five minutes.

When the mare goes into labor, the group will stand nearby, trying to keep the mare as calm as possible, Pirie said.

Lawn, who plans to become veterinarian, said learning about the foaling process has been an exciting journey.

"For me, because I'm heading for vet school, I really enjoy learning about the physiology of the animal," Lawn said. "I've enjoyed it because it's all new to me. It's fascinating to me."

and always has been interested in the animal's reproduction process. "They have such different

Pirie said she loves horses personalities," she said. "They're just like humans."

Lawn said she agreed. 'There's an unseen and unspoken connection between a horse and a human."

Lawmakers question deal tied to Sebelius

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA, Kan. - Some lawmakers are questioning the cost of a lease-purchase agreement between the state and developers with ties to Gov. Kathleen Sebelius.

An audit of the transaction found that it could end up costing the state more than $1 million for property developers bought for $275,000 three years ago, The Wichita Eagle reported Sunday.

According to state records, the developers, their spouses and their companies have donated more than $40,000 to the governor's political campaigns since 1994.

The governor's office said in a statement that Sebelius had no influence on the deal, which involves land for a new state park and a building used as the Topeka regional headquarters for the state Department of Wildlife and Parks.

The developers include or have included the chairman of the Kansas Real Estate Commission, who was appointed by Sebelius, and two lawyers who have represented the governor, one of whom is married to a staff attorney in the governor's of-

Rep. Peggy Mast, R-Emporia, chairwoman of the joint House-Senate Legislative Post Audit Committee, which had ordered the audit, said the committee may need to order a second study of the transactions.

"I just think we need to know everything that happened if we're ever going to make government accountable and efficient," she said.

Suit up for

Take a Break with Impressions We'll make you look & feel refreshed!

- Hilite w/ free Hair Cut · Color w/ free Hair Cut
- · Hair Cut w/ free Brow Wax Massage w/ free Facial
- Pedicure w/ free Manicure

1140 Westloop Pl. • 537-1332 • exp. 3.31.07

MANHATTAN SHOE REPAIR Reg. 49.99 Now $37.50

REPAIRING SHOES . BOOTS . PURSES · LUGGAGE · HARNESS BACK PACKS · LEATHERCOATS BIRKENSTOCKS

Hours: M-F 8-5:30 • Saturday 8-12 216 S. 4th St. (4th & Pierre) • 776-1193

Break The hottest swimwear available exclusively 110 S. 4th St. Manhattan

MEN'S HAIRCUT

Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m.-5 p.m. 2333 Sky-Vue Ln.

HAVE A SAFE SPRING BREAK Concerned about your , car? liter and Fluid We Specialize in Automatic FREE Transmissions and Clutches Domestic & Most Foreign Cars
 Certified Technicians
 ERVINGTHE MANHATTAN AREA FOR OVER 22 YEARS!

Prepare your Pooch for Spring Break!

Spring Break Tanning S30 Month Unlimited (Reg. Beds)

3232 Kimball • 776-8060 Exp. April 1, 2007 · Next to Bobby T's 114/2 (1) (1) 12/2 12/2 14 More 785-539-2900 come get your Sunglasses for Serine Greek!

Alorica INC.

FLEXIBLE SCHEDULES FUN ENVIRONMENT FANTASTIC WAGES

GAIN WORK EXPERIENCE BUILD YOUR RESUME START YOUR CAREER

NOW HIRING

www.aloricajobs.com

5970 SYKES BLVD MANHATTAN, KS 66502

PH: (785) 564-4413

Students share experiences, ways to cope with ADHD

By Ben Hedges KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Concentration and focus are concepts that are important in the college setting.

Whether it is taking the time to study, do homework or take an exam, being able to keep the mind on track is what can make or break students' success.

But some students' concentration easily can be broken by a random thought, sudden noise or nearby conversation.

This is what Dawn Mills. graduate student in special education, has to contend with on a daily basis.

Mills, along with other students on campus, has been diagnosed with attention deficit hyperactivity disorder, a disorder that can inhibit the ability to concentrate and cause sudden changes in mood and behavior.

"When you try so hard and you don't feel like you are getting anywhere, you really begin to feel stupid," Mills said.

Being diagnosed with ADHD was a blessing in Mills' opinion; she said she no longer had to worry about feeling unintelligent because she had an answer to the problems she was having.

Andrea Blair, director of K-State's Disability Support Services, said she works with about 80 students diagnosed with the disorder.

"Adapting, employing strategies and making accommodations are typically successful for our students," Blair said.

ADHD information

To learn more about resources for students at K-State, visit University Counseling Services in the English/ Counseling Services building. For more on ADHD medication, go to www.fda.gov.

Some of the accommodations given to students diagnosed with ADHD include hard copies of lecture notes, more time to take exams and private rooms in the DSS office for exams if a student becomes too distracted.

"Students can come here. because it's much quieter and is a much smaller environment compared to the large lecture room," Blair said.

Despite offering these accommodations to students, Blair said many still take medications to help them concentrate.

Dr. Fred Newton, director of University Counseling Services, said there is a point at which students need medica-

"It's clinical when it becomes a problem and you realize that you are not succeeding," Newton said.

"It's quite relieving for people with learning disabilities to know that there is something they can do about

Though medications have proven successful in helping patients concentrate, there still are side effects that can have adverse effects on the body and mind.

Recently, the Food and Drug Administration directed the manufacturers of ADHD medications, like Ritalin and Adderall, to develop guides notifying patients about the potential risks that come with taking the drugs, according to the FDA Web site.

Some of the side effects include cardiovascular and psychiatric problems and even sudden death in patients with additional health issues.

Mills said she takes medication now and that it is all a matter of how disciplined students are with taking them.

"It's very situational. With school and homework, I absolutely need my medication." Mills said. "But with my job, I don't need it."

Mills said she has experienced some minor side effects like insomnia and loss

She said it is easier for students and adults to know when something is wrong as compared to a child with ADHD who may not know how he or she is feeling.

Mills said she credits the DSS for helping her succeed in college and said students with ADHD should not be afraid to use the extra help if needed.

"If your eyes are bad, then you need glasses," Mills said. "So if you need accommodations, then get your accomo-

Blair said the role of the DSS is to help students with special needs in any way pos-

"I want to help the campus see students with disabilities are positive, capable and intellegent," Blair said. "I want to portray these students as a part of K-State's diverse population.

High school students' GPAs contradict scores received on standardized tests

By Brian Tosh KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A recent report indicates high-school students are doing worse on standardized tests while earning better grades in school.

Students are performing poorly on national math and reading tests despite completing more difficult coursework and earning higher grades, according to a National Assessment Governing Board report released Feb. 22.

The report cites two studies: "The Nation's Report Card: 12th-Grade Reading and Mathematics 2005" and "The Nation's Report Card: America's High School Graduates."

The studies present different sides of student performance but reach the same conclusion: performance on national tests is in direct contradiction with grades.

Since 2000, the number of students completing standard coursework has increased from 59 percent to 68 percent, and average high-school grade point average has risen from a 2.7 in 1990 to a 3.0 in 2005, according to the re-

The board, which oversees all national standardized testing, reported that even with higher GPAs, 25 percent of high-school seniors performed below the basic national reading level, and 40 percent demonstrated belowaverage math scores.

"On the surface, these results provide little comfort and seem to confirm the general concern about the performance of America's high school students," Darvin M. Winick, chairman of the NAGB, said in a news re-

"The findings also suggest that we need to know much more about the level of rigor associated with the courses that high school students are taking."

The study suggests the increase in GPAs might stem from grade inflation, a term for relaxing educational standards that produce higher grades, or other factors.

"The problem is that many teachers don't care enough about properly educating their students," said Ryan Foster, senior in secondary education. "And students have become very good at cheating the system to earn higher grades. National testing results show that."

Justin Raybern, senior in secondary education, said much of the problem is a shortage of properly trained teachers.

"There simply aren't enough people going into teaching, especially for math and science," said Raybern, a student teacher at a Kansas high school. "There could be a very intelligent college student with the potential to be a great teacher, but they choose to become an engineer to make more money."

Foster also said the teaching profession does not have as much appeal for college students as other majors.

"Being a teacher isn't as desirable as it used to be, and many people quickly leave the profession to seek other careers," he said. "When they realize how much work is involved, a lot of them decide that it's not worth the money." Another problem contributing to low national testing scores is insufficient funding, Raybern said.

"Current government initiatives, like the No Child Left Behind Act, are great in theory, but never actually receive the funding they need," he said. "Just as teachers need to be accountable to their students, the federal government needs to be accountable to funding education."

Many classrooms across the country lack money to buy materials such as textbooks and updated computers, Raybern said.

"For things to get better, funding needs to improve for classroom materials," Raybern said. "Students can't be expected to be excited about learning when they are forced to use substandard materials."

Without an increase in the number of teachers committed to education, putting more money into classroom materials will not necessarily improve the quality of education, Foster said.

"Students don't have the means to improve themselves," Foster said. "Without the right instruction, we won't see an improvement in their education."

Even with more students taking advanced coursework, Raybern said he believes individual needs still are not being met.

"If we really want no child left behind, then it's up to all of us to step up to the plate and address problems with education," Raybern said.

Campus Phone Books

you can finally Buy A Book WORTH ITS PRICE  MON in Kedzie 103 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri.

The Collegian and the Royal Purple Present:

Free March NADNeSS Tournament Brackets

HOW TO ENTER

Go to royalpurple.ksu.edu and download the tournament bracket (Starting Monday, March 12th) Fill out the bracket, and turn Co it into Kedzie 103 or the Royal Purple booth in the Union (2nd floor) by noon on Thursday, March 15th.

Copy your selections into the Collegian's Tournament Bracket published on Wednesday, March 14th (must present completed copy of Collegian's bracket to claim prizes)

Check your progress on the Royal Purple's website, starting on March 19th.

AMERICAN CASH EXCHANGE

Contest open to KSU Students Only
Check royalpurple.ksu.edu for complete details

Finding the perfect pet

Manhattan stores offer wide range of animals, prices

By Monica Castro KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Finding the perfect pet is like trying to find a soul mate; it takes time and effort.

Several businesses in Manhattan can help customers find the perfect pet. Pets 'n' Stuff has a selection of animals including dogs, cats and fish. Employee Jacque Hernandez said though some people think buying a pet is a long process, it usually only takes about 10 minutes.

When buying a pet, owners must fill out some paperwork for state records. Hernandez said. Dogs come with a sevenday warranty and must be taken to the veterinarian within four business days.

Owners must complete paperwork for birds or hamsters so if there is an outbreak, investigators can pinpoint where it started, Hernandez said.

Pets 'n' Stuff buys cats and dogs from local breeders, and Hernandez said there are always new types of dogs and cats, because the store has a two-week turnover.

She said the dogs the store purchases and sells most quickly are Miniature Dachshunds, Shih Tzus and Yorkies.

If a dog bought from a local breeder is expensive and does not sell, the store gives it back to the owner, Hernandez said.

At Pets 'n' Stuff, dog prices range from $150 to $1,000, depending on the breed.

Guinea pigs, ferrets, chinchillas and rabbits also are for Hernandez said pets at Pets 'n' Stuff often are marked down if they have been in the store for a while.

Manhattan residents also can buy pets at the T. Russell Reitz Animal Shelter.

The animals at the shelter have been reported at large, were abused or were found roaming around the city.

Rebecca Erickson, shelter employee, said in order to adopt a pet, buyers must provide two forms of identification and cash or check for fees.

Owners adopting pets that have not been spayed or neutered are required to sign a contract stating they will have the animal spayed or neutered by a specific date, Erickson said. According to Kansas law, all pets bought from an animal shelter must be spayed or neu-

Adopting a pet might be more time consuming because of the adoption process and necessary vaccinations for the

The pets at the animal shelter stay until they are adopted. One cat was at the shelter for 128 days until it finally was adopted, Erickson said.

The prices at the animal shelter are lower than at many

The prices for dogs at the

Ogden, Kan., residents Megan Sellers, 7, and Mikaela Sellers, 9, pet a leopard gecko Saturday at Scaly Dave's Herp Shack. The store is at 1111 shelter range from $25 and $124, while the prices for cats range from $25 to $91. The prices vary based on how much medical attention the animal requires, Erickson said.

Scaly Dave's Herp Shack, 1126 Laramie St., offers more exotic pet choices.

Scaly Dave's owner Dave Karnowski breeds some of the reptiles himself and buys others from distributors. Some of the most popular animals purchased are corn snakes, pythons, bearded dragons, leopard geckos, crested geckos and field chameleons, he said.

Prices at Scaly Dave's range from $4 to $13,000 for pets in Several animals at the back of the store were rescued, but they are not for sale, Karnowski said. One of the creatures there is Kenny, a caiman. Karnowski said he is trying to raise money to find a proper habitat for the creature. Karnowski said he believes people should have a license to keep certain pets.

He also said he would never support pet stores selling igua-

"They are not a good pet

National Nutrition

- only to the right person," he

Karnowski said the store wants each pet to be properly treated, and he said he believes he has the right to be selective of customers.

Potential owners should understand the responsibilities of having a pet include not only the purchase price but also the cost of caring for the animal,

Once in a Lifetime

engagements and weddings

And then I said, "yes."

Once in a Lifetime, in the Collegian the first Friday of the month.

To announce your milestone, visit Kedzie 103. To advertise, call 532-6560.

Vern's Wedding Cake Shop 408 S. 6th St., 785-776-7637

Largest selection of cake decorating

supplies in Manhattan.

- Food Colors
- Special Candles · Icing Tips
- Wedding Cake Toppers
- Cake Boards
- Cake Boxes
- Toppers for all your cake occasions is the Tank.

Needed for Summer or Fall '07

Consider working for the:

Kansas State Collegian

We're looking for people who are outgoing, reliable, show initiative, and are creatively enthusiastic. If this description fits you, please apply. Applications and job descriptions available in Kedzie 103 or email adsales@ksu.edu

Advertising Manager Assistant Advertising Managers

Ad Manager apps due: Noon Fri., Mar. 30 Other Staff apps due: 3pm Fri., Apr. 6

or visit kstatecollegian.com

Positions to Consider:

Account Representatives

Pick-up applications in Kedzie 103

and click Student Publications under Links.

See a photo opportunity? COLLEGIAN

532-6556

Month March 2007

· Avoid fad diets - - make healthy eating a way of life. · Fill up with fruits and vegetables

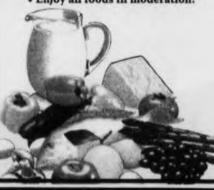

- end your meal with a sweet fruit for a low-calorie, high flavor dessert.

· You don't have to eat healthy at every meal-balance your food intake over an entire day.

• Check out www.mypyramid.gov for personalized nutrition information.

Enjoy all foods in moderation!

"Focusing on the importance of making informed food choices, and developing sound eating and physical activity habits."

Now Leasing for Spring 2007 ALSO LEASING FOR THE 2007-2008 ACADEMIC YEAR

University Crossing

FICTION

Earbud Evil | Three's company

By Logan C. Adams KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Editor's note: This is the 11th segment of "Earbud Evil," a fic-Monal story the Collegian is publishing daily until spring break. follows Alex, a fictional K-State student, as he deals with a Adden threat to the university.

Though the names of real people will accompany made-up characters, all events are fictional. This is intended for entertainment and is not factually based.

If you missed the first 10 segments, they can be found online mday at www.kstatecollegian.com.

A terrible sight was waiting for me in the Collegian news-

The newspaper's staff lived in squalor. Tiny desk after tiny desk was covered in papers, used food wrappers and half-empw soda cans. The ceiling was covered in graffiti, and the floor was covered in smashed bits of popcorn.

I would later learn that a representative of the governor Tkened the place to a "Chinese sweat shop" during a visit a month before.

Three of the staff members were lounging on the decrepit teather couch by the wall.

They stared off into space, their free will surrendered to the white cables connected to their ears. I wouldn't get much help from them.

A handful of journalists stood around an office in a corner across the room and conversed about President Wefald's speech that morning. This sort of a policy change must have been a shocker.

"Excuse me," I interrupted, "but I was wondering if I could find someone here who knew about working with Macintosh

A short, sharp-tongued woman I'll call the ringleader told me to take a look around the room. You couldn't swing a dead cat in there without hitting three Apple logos.

"We all know about working with these, although sometimes we'd rather not," she said. "Have you tried the computer store?"

I made up a lie about the store being closed due to food poisoning. The ringleader led me outside the newsroom to the closet where they kept their computer technicians.

"Tom? Jerry?" she called into the open door, then stepped in. I followed and discovered two men I can only assume were Tom and Jerry. They were staring through their computer screens and listening to you-know-whats. I wouldn't get much help from them, either.

We went back into the newsroom, and the ringleader called everyone over.

"The Mac techs have gone catatonic, too," she said. Everyone started looking at me.

"Spill it, kid," one of the taller reporters said.

I started listing the bizarre events of the last three days and explaining my conclusions. They were skeptical, so it took a good 20 minutes before they stopped asking questions. Most of them still didn't believe me, so I gave up and said I'd leave.

"Wait," one of them said from the back of the crowd. "Let me tag along. This could be worth it."

A photographer emerged and introduced himself as Steven. At least with three cameras hanging off his two arms, I guessed he was a photographer. He could have just been overly creative with his accessorizing.

Steven followed me out of the room and said he'd seen Wefald riding around the day before with a brand-new iPod, so he figured I could be right.

"You know, this reminds me of a game. What's it called? Oh, yeah, 'Dead Rising," he said. "You play a photojournalist trapped in a mall with, like, a thousand zombies." I told him these zombies weren't eating people. Yet. Mattie was waiting outside by the big metal turd, a twisted steel sculpture between Kedzie and Fairchild halls. I opened my mouth to say hello, but she closed it with a solid slap to my left

"Keep me waiting half an hour, why don't you," she screamed.

Steven kept his distance.

"Sorry bout that. I was held up by resistant reporters," I explained, rubbing the left wall of my mouth with my tongue. "Mattie, Steven. Steven, Mattie."

They exchanged confused looks.

"Welcome to our conspiracy," she said. Steven didn't miss a beat.

"Do I get a decoder ring?"

Texas governor commutes death sentence for man who killed 9-year-old Shoemaker

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WICHITA - The man who raped and murdered 9-year-old Nancy Shoemaker in Wichita in 1990 will not be executed in Texas for another girl's murder.

On Friday, Texas Gov. Rick Perry commuted the sentence for Doil Lane to life in prison, after courts in that state found that Lane was mentally retarded. The U.S. Supreme Court ruled in 2002 that executing mentally retarded inmates was unconstitutional.

However, because Lane was not found to be retarded in Kansas, he could be returned to the state to serve a 62 1/2-year sentence for killing Nancy.

Kansas did not have the death penalty when Lane was convicted of kidnapping Nancy on July 30, 1990, as she walked to a convenience store in south Wichita to buy soda for her sick brother. Her remains were found in February 1991 in Sumner County.

Lane was later convicted of killing 8-year-old Bertha Martinez, who was raped, stabbed and strangled after being kidnapped March 20, 1980, in San Marcos, Texas.

Lane, 45, was convicted of murder in both states in the 1990s. A co-defendant is serving 15 years to life for helping to kidnap Nancy.

During a court hearing last fall in Texas, prosecutors did not contest arguments by Lane's lawyers that he was mentally retarded - prompting Perry's action on Friday.

That action disappointed Bo Shoemaker, Nancy's father, and Sedgwick County District Attorney Nola Foulston, who prosecuted Lane.

"I've been waiting for years and years to look at him in that room being strapped down and getting ready to die," said Shoe-

Foulston said after the Supreme Court ruling, she tried to get Texas prosecutors to argue that Lane was not retarded.

"We knew this was coming," she said. "We were vociferous in our arguments against it, but the governor has made that determination."

Lane was prosecuted in Kansas under a law that allowed juries to impose 40-year minimum sentences for those convicted of certain murders. The law did not apply to defendants deemed mentally retarded.

"He was low-functioning. He held a job. He had a car. He had his own place. He interacted with people. While he was low-functioning, that doesn't mean he was mentally retarded," Foulston said.

The rape and aggravated kidnapping convictions added 22 1/2 years to Lane's hard-40 Kansas sentence. If he had been found to be mentally retarded, his sentence would have been cut by almost 25 years.

Foulston said if Lane ever is paroled in Texas before spending 62 1/2 years in prison, he will be returned immediately to

"He isn't going to be on any street in any community if we have anything to say about it," she said. "He is a significantly dangerous offender that I consider to be a serial killer of the worst kind."

Bill Allison, a defense attorney and clinical professor of law at the University of Texas who helped represent Lane, said he thought Perry made the right decision.

Allison told the Austin American-statesman a death row warden who talked to Lane about the commutation reported that Lane didn't understand what had happened.

"This is a grown man, in his 40s, who likes coloring books,"

Is the Collegian perfect?

No? How about you come help make a good thing better...

(and get paid for it)

Work for us during the 11mmer '07 fall '07 and possess writing skills and want the real story of campus life to be told. If you fit this description, you should probably work one of these eleven positions:

Managing Editors Designers News Editors Photojournalists Graphic Journalists Desk Editors Reporters Graphic Artists Copy Editors Online Journalists & Editor in Chief Collegian Pick up an application in Kedzie 103, or visit kstatecollegian.com and click on Student Publications under Links. Editor in Chief apps due by Noon, March 30 Staff position apps due by 3 p.m., April 13

provost's lecture series 2006-2007

10:30 am - 12:00 pm Tuesday, March 13 Fiedler Auditorium Fiedler Hall

The Journey Towards the Middle for the Oppressed and the Intolerant

Dr. Vasti Torres

Associate Professor of Higher Education and Student Affairs Administration W.W. Wright School of Education, Indiana University

> Hosted by Provost M. Duane Nellis

Presentations followed by Q & A

For more information, visit the Provost's web site: http://www.ksu.edu/provost/academic/lecture/index.htm Students Welcome

1125 Laramie Suite C Manhattan, KS 66502

785-537-0205

4 Bedrooms 4 Baths

1120 & 1122 Pierre

4 Bedrooms 2 Baths

923 Bluemont "A" 1215 Bertrand

3 Bedrooms 2 Baths

927 Fremont 1539 Campus

3 Bedrooms 1 Bath

2461 Hobbs 2 Bedrooms 1 Bath

1010 Thurston

1212 Bluemont

Plus numerous other 2 bedroom and 1 bedroom apartments View our properties at www.moorepropertymanagement.com

Leaders needed Decide your destiny by

mmm

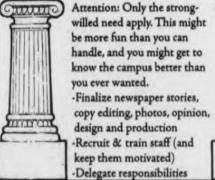

It is time for new, influential leaders to take command of student publications. Will you answer the call?

Come then. Lead the odyssey.

yearbook for your college experiences? Come take command and lead this 16member staff in producing the award-winning book. -Hire & fire staff members -Lead sales efforts -Conduct meetings Oversee yearbook content Enforce deadlines Keep morale high

Collegian Editor in Chief

Noon, March 30

Pick-up your application in Kedzie 103 or visit kstatecollegian.com and click on Student Publications under

Ad Sales Manager

Ready to rock the advertising world at K-State? Good. The businesses and organizations of Manhattan need you. -Interview & hire staff

-Direct weekly meetings -Lay out ads in the paper -Coordinate sales and promotions

Assign sales territories -Handle staff payroll Set a leading example

TOURNAMENT | K-State men will play in NIT at Bramlage Coliseum

continued from Page 1

shocked. K-State has been a bubble team all season and just didn't do enough down the stretch to earn a spot in the NCAA tournament."

Whether they were shocked or not, K-State fans now can support the Wildcats in the National Invitation Tournament. K-State was chosen as the two seed in the West region bracket and will play the University of Vermont at 7 p.m. on Wednesday at Bramlage Coliseum.

Gabe Ney, who also viewed the selection show at Buffalo Wild Wings, said he too was upset that K-State was left out but noted he still will support the Wildcats for the remainder of their season.

"Even though I'm disappointed, I'm going to remain positive about this," said Ney, a senior in social science. "I really think K-State is a team that will shine in the NIT and possibly win it all. And I think that's still something we can use to build on for next year."

TICKETS

Tickets for K-State's first-round game against Vermont go on sale at 9 a.m. today at Bramlage Coliseum. Ticket prices are as follows:

- Reserved chairback seating (sections 3-9) $20
- Reserved bench seating (sections 1-2, 10-18, 26-27) $15
- Adult general admission seating (sections 19-25) $12
- K-State students and children ages 18 and under $5

Tickets also are available for order oline at www.k-statesports.com.

CLEANUP | Bar owners, employees restore Aggieville after celebration

continued from Page 1

"There was a lot of cups all the way down the street," Allred said, pointing to Moro Street, half a block away. "It was pretty dirty."

Nate Moon, general manager of O'Malley's Inc., said employees at the establishments he manages did cleanup at closing but had to do more cleaning in the morn-

He said the rain overnight helped things.

Moon was one of the organizers of the early celebration.

busy as a regular night but we're expecting even more next week," he said.

"We were about twice as Rusty Wilson, owner of Kite's, said the cleaners hired by the business association did not show up after the bars closed to take care of the trash in the street. He said a group of bar owners and employees, including himself, assembled to clean off the streets Sunday morn-

"The problem was that after we all closed everybody went home and it was kind of hard to wake everyone up in the morning," Wilson

A parking sign was on the ground in front of Rusty's Next Door Sunday afternoon, its post broken off at the base. Wilson said it wasn't necessarily linked to the weekend's business.

That stuff happens all the time down there," he said. "Cars run into them, students hang off of them."

Sarah Manuel, Manhattan resident, said she did not see any more inappropriate behavior than usual in Aggieville when she visited the

Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN

Kite's employee Curt Theobald scoops a shovel full of trash Sunday morning. Volunteers were left to clean the streets of Aggieville after Saturday's Fake Patrick's Day celebration.

area with friends Saturday

"I thought many people wouldn't get the Fake Patrick's idea ... but it was really fun," Manuel said.

Kale Becker, vice president of the ABA, said he could not say if cleaning services were scheduled for after the weekend's events but complimented the bar owners and employees who went out Sunday and took care of it themselves.

"They did a great job getting out there and cleaning everything up," Becker said.

BANQUET |

Group softens culture shock

continued from Page 1

Zac Williams, senior in electrical engineering, said he was pleased with the large crowd and the variety of people who came to the event.

"There were so many people from different cultures and different areas of life," he said. "The variety of people at the event was just amazing."

Williams said he originally got involved with HIS not only to help international students adjust to American culture but also to learn about different cultures throughout the world.

"I think it's done a lot to help me understand them and how their cultures are different." Williams said. "It has also helped me to understand that what may seem normal here, doesn't mean it's normal for them."

Williams said the goal of the group is to soften the culture shock many international students at K-State experience. He said many can feel discouraged because they have no one to relate to in the United States.

"I think what it does is provide them with friends that know the culture and can help them understand America and how it is different," he said.

STARBUCKS | Local coffee shop owners say they're not threatened by incoming business

continued from Page 1

inside - the very thing that gives coffee distinct flavors and allows Starbucks a longer shelf life, he said.

"They're going to out-market me," Radina said. "They're going to out-resource me. But they're not going to out-quality me. They just can't."

Coffee quality was not the main concern for most community members but rather the drive-thru location, he said-

A drive-thru in that location, near the congested intersection of Bluemont and Manhattan avenues, has been denied by the city in the past, said Radina, management instructor at K-State. He said Gambino's applied for one but was restricted to a pick-up window.

When Starbucks made an offer with a drive-thru as part of it, the board of zoning appeals approved the permit unanimously, despite a written objection from the Aggieville Business Association. Jeremy Frazzell, city planner who recommended approval of the permit, said everything was in order, including a visual site plan and a traffic report. He offered no explanation as to why businesses had been denied in the past.

When asked for information, Starbucks officials only sent an e-mail from a separate public relations firm that included dimensions of the store and the opening date.

Some baristas in Lawrence, a city that installed a Starbucks three years ago, provided an idea for what Manhattan might Catarina Benalcazar has been barista at La Prima Tazza - literally across the street from the Starbucks in Lawrence - for six years. She said not a single coffeehouse on Massachusetts Street, where La Prima Tazza is, went out of business when Starbucks moved in. In fact, she said two more coffeehouses have opened in the area.

Massachusetts Street has a relationship to Lawrence similar to Aggieville's relationship to Manhattan.

Casey Thornburgh, a University of Kansas alumna and barista at Z's Downtown Espresso in Lawrence, said business people tend to choose Starbucks because they recognize the brand, whereas students wholly support the local places. Because of this, she said Starbucks did not do a lot of damage to the coffee scene.

Sam Mwangi, professor of journalism at K-State and a coffee farmer before he came to the United States, said the president of Starbucks recently traveled to Kenya, Mwangi's home country. He said Starbucks dealt directly with farmers and helped set up a milling plant in Mathira, a village in the Nyeri region of Kenya.

Mwangi said he is pro-Starbucks but doesn't completely trust such a huge corporation in dealing with small, sometimes uneducated farmers.

"Social responsibility is good for business," he said. "I hope they do what they say they are going to do."

Starbucks' Corporate Social Responsibility 2005 Annual Report, published on its Web site, promised just that.

"Starbucks strives to understand what farmers need to sustain their livelihoods, just as we appreciate how vital they, as our suppliers, are to the sustainability of our business," according to the document.

Radina said Starbucks has helped poverty-level coffee farmers, perhaps even more than the Fair Trade campaign has. He said the debate in Ethiopia, where Starbucks is pushing for cheaper prices, was an unusual incident for them.

Peirce said Starbucks will benefit Manhattan residents because their marketing campaigns have introduced people to different espresso drinks.

BASEBALL | Hutt strikes out 10 Friday; team scores 13 runs in first 2 innings Saturday

continued from Page 6

me, and I was just looking to put a good swing on something."

HUTT PITCHES SHUTOUT FRIDAY . Junior pitcher Brad Hutt dominated North Dakota State Friday, throwing a complete-game shutout and leading the Wildcats to a 7-0 win.

Hutt (4-0) struck out 10 and only faced 29 batters. Hutt, who gave up. just four hits, is the first Wildcat to shutout since Chase Mitchell in 2005.

bats were cold for the Wildcats until the fifth inning, when sophomore Nate Tenbrink drove in sophomore Byron Wiley with a double.

The Wildcats scored a run in every inning after the fifth. Tenbrink finished the game 2-for-3 with three

throw a complete-game, nine-inning EARLY START LEADS TO WIN

The K-State baseball team domi-Though the pitching was hot, the nated the first two innings at Tointon Family Stadium on Saturday afternoon, leading to a 14-2 win against North Dakota State.

In the first two innings, the Wildcats had 23 at-bats and scored 13 runs. The Bisons' junior pitcher Jeff Hille had control issues. He walked two batters, threw two wild pitches and hit a batter, all within the first eight batters. During the first two innings, Wildcat first baseman freshman Justin Bloxom had a single, a double and four RBI.

Starting pitcher sophomore Ben Hornbeck struck out the first two batters of the game and 10 total in his five innings pitched. He gave up two runs and four hits.

Sophomore Byron Wiley finished 2-for-3 with two RBI. Sophomore Nate Tenbrink went 2-for-4 and three

- Ryne Witt

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

NOW LEASING

Close to Campus!

om Saturday 103

37-9064

TNAY Ridge town home. Two and one-half bath.

Washer/ dryer, $1025 per month. Available August

FOUR-BEDROOM

THREE baths, June or Au-

CLASSIFIEDS

Classifieds continue on the next page

Bulletin Board

010 Announcements

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes and lowest rates Call 785-776-1744, www.-

in the

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Announcements

PROFESSIONAL EDItheses, dissertaions, term papers, journal articles. Local consulta-

020Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three

FOUND: PAIR of eyeside of Fairchild Hall. to 104 Fairchild Hall to claim.

Housing/Real Estate

105 Rent-Apt. Furnished

Manhattan CITY Ordi-nance 4814 assures every person equal opportu-nity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, na-tional origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

105 Rent-Apt. Furnished

Apply At: 532-3790

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

MANHATTAN CITY Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability religion, age, color, na-tional origin or ancestry. ported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

1117 VATTIER. New all Two-bedrooms, appliances furnished, no pets. Close to campus. pets. Close to 785-539-1975

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

ALLIANCE PROPERTY MANAGEMENT, One-bedroom. June, July, August. 785-539-4357. www.rent-

ROOM, two bath in Ag-gieville. Great view, reserved parking. Available for August. 785-320-6300. ONE, TWO, four, five-bedroom apartments/ houses for June and August leases. 785-539-8295.

ONE, TWO, three, and lour-bedroom apartments Close to campus and aggieville. Parking and laundry. 785-539-5800.

ONE, TWO, three, four plus bedroom apartments and houses to rent. See our website for more infowww.apskansas.com call 785-370-4044.

ONE, TWO, three, four, six-bedroom ment/ houses next to campus. Washer/ dryer, cen-tral air. No Pets. 785-537-7050.

ONE-BEDROOM TO five bedrooms. Apartments, and homes Most close to campus Some farther away. June or August leases. Check out our website www. emeraldpropertymanagement.com or call Emerald Management 785-587-9000 for more in ONE-BEDROOM VERY nice, close to campus, $550 a 785-341-0686.

110 Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

PLACE Apart-One-bedrooms ments. Summer/ fall leasing. Pets welcome. One-half mile and Claffin. 785-539-2951.

PARK PLACE Apart-Two-bedrooms ments. Pets welcome. Summer/ fall leasing. One-half mile from KSU at Seth Child and Claffin. 785-539-2951. SPACIOUS THREE-BED-ROOM located on Kimbali Ave. Close to campus and rec. center, on-site laundry, pool, small pets ac-cepted $800/ month, nego-516-343-3770, 785-317-1740.

room apartments available in August. Close to campus. Water and trash paid. Coin operated laun-dry. 785-537-7810, 785-537-2255. THREE-BEDROOM, ONE

THREE AND four-bed-

bath plus vanity, $1050/ month. Trash/ water paid. 1510 College Ave. Pool access. Washer/ dryer in unit. 314-805-0674. TWO-BEDROOM APART-MENT, $560/ month, 718

Thurston, 816-734-9355 TWO-BEDROOM SPE-CIAL at Park Place Apart-ments. $495 rent plus free cable through July '07. 785-539-2951. TWO-BEDROOM, many sizes and prices. June August. 785-341-0686. TWO-BEDROOM, TWO bath. June lease. No pets. $500/ month 785-539-8580

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

VERY NICE three-bed room, two bath apartment Three blocks to Aggleville. 822 Fremont. Affordable August 785-313-1807.

WHY RENT WHEN YOU CAN BUY? Condos for Two and three-bed room starting at $112,650. collegiatevilla.com 785-537-2096.

WILDCAT VILLAGE, Avail able Jun-bedroom, two bear/ dryer, able June or August four room, $1400. Cable paid. 785-776-2425 785-565-3760. age-rentals.com.

Spacious Duplexes Custom built with the K-State student in mind Each duplex features walk-in closets, all kitchen appliances, washer/dryer, off street parking, phone and room, security lighting, trash

Security deposit is the same as one month's rent. The lease period begins August 1

4 Bedrooms, 2 Baths 1,300 Sq. Ft. ONLY $1,150/mo. Sorry, No Pets!

Quiet Neighborhood, Convenient and Close to Campus. Day: 313-0751 ht: 537-4682

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

Pre-lease Today for Spring! Only A few homes remain

menities: Washer/Dryers or hookups available On-Site Management •Garages Available Private Fitness Center Storm Center Peaceful Garden Setting

GEORGETOWN 776-8080

Enormous Closets

Lg. 2 & 3 Bedrooms 110 Baths Washer/Dryer

Advertise in the Classifieds

Preleasing!

Spacious 1 & 2 Bedroom Few Spaces Remain for • Graduate Students • Upper Classmen

net Park Like Setting Ouer Park Life Setting
On Site Laundry & Enormous Closets
Private Fitness Center
Abundant Parking/Garages
Storm Center
Customer Service
Three-Time winner of the National Multifamily CE. Award for the #1 in Customer Service.

 24-hour Emergency Staff feet us Today for Summer and WESTCHESTER PARK 776-1118

•2000 College Hts• •1114 Fremont• •519 Osage• Rent-Duplexes 1420 Beechwood Terrace Newer Apartment FIVE-BEDROOM BRIT-

Energy Efficient On a Wooded Secluded 2 Acre Lot with Creek

$740 & $885 341-4024

gust, $1280, nice, washer/ dryer hookups, off-street parking, great location, no smoking. 785-532-8256.

1. 785-250-0388.

CLASSIFIED ADS LET THEM WORK FOR YOU KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

a highly respected com

ET'S REN'

350 N. 16th. Two blocks two-bedroom apartments. Clean, quiet, private parking. No smoking, no pets

K-State and Aggieville Two-bedroom apartments quiet, private parking. No smoking, no pets. $580. August 785-539-5508

785-564-0857 FOUR-BEDROOM, close No pets.

Available June or August. 785-539-0866. LARGE TWO-BEDROOM

TWO-BEDand

ROOM, available fireplace Balcony. dishwasher. Very close to 785-317-3780. message. KSU. close

117

washer/ dryer, central air,

off-street parking, no pets. 785-537-7050.

THREE-BEDROOM

No smoking, no drinking,

120

Rent-Houses

1310 N. 11th. Two-bed-

dryer,

502 FREMONT, three-bed-

June

June

close to campus.

June

785-313-8292

game room,

785-313-8292

pets. no

785-317-5026.

One year le 785-537-8055.

cluded, emilyf@ksu.edu.

street parking. $1 month. 785-539-4949.

apm.com

FIVE-BEDROOM. June

bedroom duplex. Good location with dishwasher,

2030

June

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO

Washer/ dryer, central air-

$1100.

lease

study.

washer and dryer.

$290/

785-537-7597

785-944-3491.

785-539-4949.

June

patio. 785-539-1177.

814 THURSTON.

houses Washer/

no pets. 785-539-1554.

UNIT, located at 8/

785-564-0372.

s@yahoo.com,

campus.

Call Rent-Duplexes August. Some units brand room duplex. Neutral colwasher/ dryer included dryer furnished, central person.

785-313-4812.

www.wilk-

STUDIO, ONE, two, and gust lease. No pets. Cen-

TWO AND three-bedroom. Close to campus. Central air, coin operated laundry fa-

785-539-1545. TWO. THREE and four bedrooms, close to campus, central air, dish-washer, laundry facilities.

1010 Leavenworth. Just finished, everything is new. Washer/ dryer. Parking off alley. No pets. Available immediately or June lease. Call ors, lots of space, washer/ details air, off-street parking.

820 OSAGE, 1524 Pipher

SIX-BEDROOM

June lease. No. 785-313-4812.

785-341-6295.

day, 785-776-4805.

tioning, laundry hook-ups,

no pets. June and August

TWO-BEDROOM base-

ment apartment. Washer/

pets.

785-868-3471

onth. Cheap utilities. vailable August 1. 1211

TWO-BEDROOMS

CLOSE to campus. No pets, laundry hook-ups.

June lease. $295 per bed-

120

313-5573

June Leases

8th & Vattier

5 BR - $1400

1205 Pomerov

1207 Pomeroy

3 BR - $1050

1022 Humbolt

4 BR - $1200

824 Fremont

4 BR -$1100

1305 Pierre

4 BR - $1100

313-55*7*3

Sale-Houses

CONDOS FOR SALE.

starting at $112,650. colle-

giatevilla.com 785-537-2096.

HOMES CLOSE to cam-

785-317-7713. Reece and

HOUSE FOR sale four bedroom, one and one-half bath, central heat/ air

Nichols.

Larry

Diamond K

leases. 785-336-1124.

month.

Thurston.

THREE-BEDROOM

rooms, fireplace, two car

BRITTNAY RIDGE town house four/ five-bedroom two and one-half baths, in cludes appliances washer/ dryer. No pets.

and dryer, central air, off-street parking. No pets. 785-537-7050 FOUR TO five-bedroom.

August lease. No pets. Central heat/ air-condition-Washer/ dryer 785-587-9460.

FOUR-REDROOM BRICK home with two bathrooms outside kitchen and facelift in progress. Washer/ dryer furnished with garage and central air. June lease. No pets. Call 785-313-4812. NEXT TO campus, one

DECEMBER AUGUSTroomma Studious, ing. Four blocks campus. Off-street ng. Free washer smoking. parking. washer/dryer. 785-341-7171. CHRISTIAN FEMALE seeks two female gradstu-dents starting fall 2007 August to May lease. New three-bedroom, two bath house with washer/ dryer. $350 plus one-third utilities. Call 847-975-1484 drinking/ smoking.

month. One-third garage, central air. Washer/ dryer furnished. utilities, washer/ dryer, Au-No pets. Call gust ca313@ksu.edu 785-537-1464 one bath, washer/ dryer in-FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted through July. Twoluded. June 1- May 31. 1505 Pipher, garage, ca-ble and celling fans in evbedroom duplex. Washer dryer, and storage. Rent ery bedroom, remodeled hout. $990/ month. utilities negotiable Amanda 913-216-4838. THREE-BEDROOM TWO FOUR FEMALE bath, washer/ dryer, no wanted. $825 plus utilities. August lease. Call Monday - Fri-$300 plus utilities. Offstreet parking, free laun-THREE-BEDROOMS CLOSE to campus. Dish-

Call 316-200-8444 FUN, OUTGOING seeking roommate. No pets. June lease. 913-907-9789. LOOKING FOR female room house. $300/ month plus electricity, gas and SBC 785-587-9207 or

LOOKING FOR roommates for duplex Two bathrooms, washer, dryer, dishwasher, Manhattan, KS. Call 785-410-2916.

MALE, WALK to class, all furnished, lower level, washer dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, pets, 785-539-1554.

ferred. $260/ month plus 785-640-7042.

NEAT FEMALE looking roommate. Well apartment August Close to campus $310/ month plus utilities. Contact Moore Property Management 785-532-0205.

ONE- TWO female room mates, one block from campus, washer/ dryer, new carpet, large closets, bathrooms. $300. 620-544-3754. ROOMMATE NEEDED until May 31. Rent $275/month plus one-fourth utilities. Washer/ dryer/ dishin house. Call campus, three blocks 913-775-0465.

August Lease Sublease

> SUBLEASER FEMALE NEEDED FOR SUMMER One bedroom in a threebedroom, one and one half bath, ground floor apartment. New complex, 1420 Beechwood dish-Washer/ dryer, 31 washer in apartment. Sublease May 13- July Only pay for June July: May already and paid for. $287/ month utilities. Abby at 620-218-1114 (leave message) or abbydiane32@yahoo.com.

SUBLEASER FEMALE Summer 2007. Great apartment two blocks from campus. For more information contact Janelle jkbeck@ksu.edu 316-650-1738.

FEMALE SUBLEASER wanted. $290 per month rent plus utilities. close to campus Call 316-706-7667.

ROOMMATES NEEDED immediately. $275 month plus util utilities month Washer/ dryer, dishwasher, garage space. Right by campus. Leave message at 785-537-0891.

SUMMER SUBLEASER needed for two-bedroom bath apartment Washer/ dryer, eled, nice yard and deck Female roommate option also available now. Call 620-791-8692

TWO-BEDROOM APARTneeded. One block from Aggieville. Two years old, washer/ dryer, large kitchen, $800/ month. April 1 to August 1, or sooner. 785-313-1327.

WE ARE looking for two bedroom home, located gieville. Full backyard, $250 a month, with a Please 785-313-3600 if interested!

Service Directory team at the Office of Mediated Education, and contribute to a variety of im-2440 Weight Loss & Nutrition and applications. Candicapable of learning new skills quickly, self-di-rected, able to work at LOSSMALL.COM, proven least 15 hours a week, and willing to devote at fice@ksu.edu.

GROUND

enue.

Applications

portunity Employer.

NEEDED:

local

LUNCHROOM/

natural plan and business

Employment/Careers

THE COLLEGIAN cannot tial of advertisements in classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business oppor cauour readers to contact the Better Business Bureau,

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSIS

501 SE (785)232-0454.

TANT- Networks Plus, the leader in providing business computer services. has a full-time position available in Manhattan, KS. This challenging posi tion requires the ability to handle multiple tasks and priorities while maintaingetic attitude. $12/ hour, full-time only, opportunities for advancement. E-Word or text format to: jobs@networksplus.com

BARTENDINGI $300 day potential. No experience necessary. Training provided. 1-800-965-6520 ext. 144.

COME SPEND an awe some summer with us in the beautiful Rocky Mountains! Working at camp is fun, adventurous and very rewarding. We offer comsalaries, room/ board and travel lowances. Girl Scouts Mile Hi Council owns two resident camps and several day camps. We are looking to fill the following positions for these camps: RN/ LPN's, counselors, crafts arts/ farm/ small animal specialist, kitchen assistant, western riding counselors, ROOMMATES NEEDED dance/ drama specialists. two bedrooms in six-bed-room house two blocks to more information call; Shorty campjobs@gsmhc.org

> DELL CAMPUS reps needed. Promote a top real world business and marketing http://www.RepNation.-com/Dell to apply.

> sitions available Downey Lawn.com looking for two college summer interns that want a career in the horticulture industry and two part time workers. Housing Included. Preferring well rounded individuals with an imagination, drive, and ability to work hard. Apply in person or Call Nathan Downey toll 1-866-794-LAWN(5296).

> DowneyLawn.com details Downey more Lawn & Landscape, PO 303 E. Soule, In-Box 1 galls, KS 67853 .

Late May through August Pays well. 785-587-1956, evenings.

HAY COMPANY in search of summer workers, farm experience needed. Excellent wages. 785-564-2590.

drivers/ yard help. Comwages, benefits paid. Apply in person at Howell Lumber Company at 601 Lincoln in Wamego.

in our Manhattan head quarters office for a fulltime Project Manager. This Challenging position entails managing multiple website redesign projects from start to finish. Position requires attention to detail. the ability to man-age multiple tasks, priorileast a year to the posi-tion. Working with web ties and deadlines and a cheerful attitude. Training technologies in an office that values its students is provided. Benefits in-clude Health, Dental, Paid Holidays, Paid Vacation and 401(k) matching. provides a fun yet chaland 401(k) matching. Email resume in text of lenging work environment. Starting wages begin at $7.00. For more informa-Word format to ion email us at omeofjobs@civicplus.com.

Geary Community Hospital is looking for a Kansas SORS. Immediate open-ings- Manhattan- Ogden licensed Registered Nurse without restrictions Elementary Schools. $6.50 per hour one and a half- two hours per day 11:00 a.m.- 1:00 p.m. Ap and reliable transportation to work part-time with the possibility of full-time in our certified hospice prousd383.org/District/Hugram. This position will be manResources/ or apply at Human Resources Deresponsible for planning, coordination. partment, 2031 Poyntz Av and providing care to tercepted until positions are filled. Apply to Manhattan-The hours will be on a flex-ible Monday through Fri-Ogden USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Avenue, Manhatday 0800- 1700 schedule and "on-call" will be retan, KS 66502. 785-587-2000. Equal Opquired. Please apply to Geary Community Hospi tal, PO Box 490, Junction easing agent. Immediate 785-238-1700 or email to cwitt@gchks.org. Equal start, no experience necessary. Some Saturdays required. Call Park Place opportunity employer.

partments 785-539-2951. RILEY COUNTY has thir PART-TIME RECEP teen positions for sea TION/Clerk Position with real estate com-Send resumes to ERA The Conderman Group, 1430 Poyntz Av-Conderman pounds is required. Appli-10-15 hours per nance.

KS or online at www.riley countyks.gov/jobs. * Appli cations will be accepted until all positions are filled

Riley County is an equal

SO LONG Saloon

Kitchen help wanted. All shifts available. Apply in person. 1130 Moro, Man-

TECHNICAL SUPPORT

position available for K-

State undergraduate stu-skills. Must have good interpersonal and problem solving skills. Experience with PCs and popular soft-

MS Excel, MS Internet Ex-

tions, basic web page editing and Windows applica tions desired. Must have a Microsoft Windows. Summer availability neces-sary. Computer network experience preferred. Ap-

2007 at Kansas Forest

Service, 2610 Claffin Rd.

785-532-3300. Please at-

DUERIUE

722-532-6555

plications available/ cepted until March

tach a resume.

with a variety opportunity employer.

hattan, KS.

PART-TIME HOUSE/ delivery person Faith Furniture. Needs tree and turf maintenance, or mowing is preferred. Applications are available to be able to work afternoons and weekends. Please apply in person at 302 E. HWY 24 in Manhatat the Riley County Clerk's Office, 110 Court-house Plaza, Manhattan. tan.

PHARMACIST - ARE you looking for a positive work environment? Does your current job lack challenge? Do you need a competitive wage in a learning environment? We have the answers!! Come join our Pharmacy at Geary Community Hospital. We are looking for a full-time flexible independent pharmacist that willing to grow with Some weekends will be required. Apply to Geary Community Hos 1102 St. Mary's Rd, Box 490, Junction City KS, 66441; email to cwit t@gchks.org or fax to 785-238-1700. Equal opportunity employer.

ELECTRIC PINNACLE has an immediate openfor 30-40 hours ing week. Electrical experience a plus, but will train right person. 785-456-1351. Call

PLAY SPORTS! fun! Save money! Maine camp needs fun loving counselors to teach. land, adventure and water Call 888-844-8080, apply: campcedar.com PROGRAMMER- CIVIC-

PLUS is the nations lea ing provider of City, County, and School web-sites. Full-time position in Manhattan. Microsoft ASP and SQL experience required. $15.50/ hour plus time and a half for over-Benefits Health, Dental, Paid Holidays, Paid Vacation, and 401K matching. Email re-sume in Microsoft Word or text format to jobs@civicplus.com

PROJECT MANAGER CivicPlus has an opening our Manhattan head quarters office for a full time project manager. This challenging position HARVEST HELP Wanted. entails managing multiple website redesign projects from start to finish. Position requires attention to detail, the ability to manage multiple tasks, priorities and deadlines and a cheerful attitude. Training provided. Benefits in clude health, dental, paid HELP WANTED: truck holidays, paid vacation and 401(k) matching. and Email resume in text of Word format to Word jobs@civicplus.com.

NOW HIRING - TWO LOCATIONS ALL SHIFTS, DAYS, NIGHTS & WEEKENDS

ABOVE AVERAGE COMPENSATION

Discounted Meals

Flexible Schedule

Crew Incentive Programs

 Medical Insurance • Retirement Plan

APPLY TODAY • WORK TODAY 421 N. 3rd Street 3006 Anderson Ave EOE/Drug Free Workplace

MANAGER. UNIQUE OPPORTUNITY PROJECT Marketing, keting & Logistics position within our small group in Kansas City, MGM is in a ers and re-sells all types volved in derailments. for a creative, motivated has common sense, good judgment, and the ability to communicate well with new and existing cus tomers. Prior experience very good opportunity with pany. Our group members are paid very well. Posi tion includes most bene fits and requires very little travel. If you are interresume as soon as possi ble. Our contact informa tion and more details about MGM may be found on our website at www. mgmbusinesspartners. com. MGM is now scheduling appointments education minally ill patients and families in the community. to conduct interviews. WALSON INC. now hiring collegiate sales representative. 610 S. Delaware Manhattan 785-539-1820. WILDCATSNEEDJOBS. City, KS, 66441; fax to COM. PAID survey takers needed in Manhattan.

100% free to join. Click on surveys. WINTER/ SPRING Post tions Available. Earn up to sonal laborers. Forty hour $150 per day. Experience work week at $8.66 per not required. Undercover hour. Valid driver's license shoppers needed to judge and the ability to lift 70 retail and dining establis ments. Call 800-722-4791 cants must be at least 18 years old. Experience in construction, concrete asphalt mainte-traffic flagging.

Open Market

410 Items for Sale HITACHI 57-inch

TV. 1080i. ready, $800 or best offer. Derik 785-548-5120.

Music Instruments

GEMEINHARDT COLO for sale! All silver body with gold lip, recent tune up, good condition, rarely used. $500 or best ware applications such as offer 785-532-9195.
Word Perfect, MS Word,

Transportation

580 Motorcycles

2004 YAMAHA 600R Excellent condition Beau tiful blue and white with matching helmet Low miles, Yoshi Pipe, fender kit, cover. $5500 or best offer. 620-408-6442.

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

su do ku

Fill in the grid so that every row, every column, and every 3 x 3 box contains the digits 1 through 9 with no repeats.

		7					1
	2		3				9
		1	4		6	3
4	6			1				2
	5						8
7				5			4	9
		6	5		2	4
	1				8		6
	7					2

Solution and tips at www.sudoku.com

Real Hope, Real Help, Real Options Free pregnancy testing Totally confidential service Same day results • Call for appointment 539-3338

1.10 Rent-Apt. Unfurnished Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

tral heat/ air-conditioning. 785-587-9460. $580. June and August leases. 785-539-5508 or cility. Available June or No pets. 785-537-1746

TWO-BEDROOM APART

785-292-4320 nights 785-292-4342.

North 5th, No pets, $975/ 785-537-0973. available June 1. two, three, four-bedroom.

> rent-apm.com Leavenworth Two heat and air, and has just been remodeled. Plenty of parking off alley, no pets, June lease. Call Dave, or 785-292-4320, evenings, 785-292-4342 1417 NICHOLS, four-bedrooms, family room. 1909 houses. Kenmar, three-bedrooms. Both two bathrooms. garage

August 1, 2039 College View. Call 785-234-9500 fenced yard/ or 785-608-2873. apartments and houses

785-313-8292 bedrooms. ease. Water/ trash paid. and smoking. AVAILABLE AUGUST. bedroom dryer, close to campus. No pets.

AVAILABLE JUNE 1. Twobedroom. Air conditioning. washer/ dryer, garage. Half block from campus. ONE-BEDROOM to fivebedroom houses lease $800. CLEAN, QUIET basement

Two-bedroom. two bath, full kitchen, patio. $385 per month per person. All utilities inroom (two kitchen). FIVE-BEDROOM, TWO bath house for rent. 931

SIX-BEDROOM Washer/ dryer, window airconditioning. Fenced backyard, pets allowed, Off-street parking, $1500/ $1500/

THREE OR four-bedroom Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rent-FOR RENT. Newer four-

PLUS BEDROOMS. Looking for that perfect home and FOUR-BEDROOM

Heights. Central heat and washer/ dryer. No bedroom. lease. No smoking, pets, or par-June FOUR-BEDROOM. ONE bath house for rent. 900 conditioning. Fenced back-yard, pets allowed. $1200/ 785-313-7473. THREE-BEDROOM, June month. Party shack and lease, close to west side included. of campus. Central air-and one-half bath, August 1. $975 August 1. $975 per month. Knight Real Estate. Call 785-539-5394 FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, two kitchens, close to campus. 785-341-9459. to campus. Pets allow Mrs. Kim. 913-681-9959.

Rent-Houses

SIX AND five-bedroom FOUR-BEDROOM. TWO duplex, next to bath, washer/ dryer, Personal garage. J entral air, 785-532-9564. June

> Between campus and ath-$1300/ month. FOUR-BEDROOM JUNE, July, August. Al liance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.-

bath. Central heat and air full baths, all kitchen appliances including washer/ dryer. Upstairs has own

NICE THREE-BEDROOM Appliances furnished. Available June 1,

campus 785-539-1975

ONE-REDROOM TO five Apartments Most close to campus Some farther away. June or August leases. Check our website www. emeraldpropertymanage ment.com or call Emerald Property Management

785-587-9000 for more inapartments for rent. June and August leases. See

SEVEN TO eight-bed-July, August Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rent-

August. Alliance

Close to campus. June

785-341-0686 THREE-BEDROOM NICE house three blocks west of KSU. Large rooms, ceiling fans, washer/ dryer

CLOSE to campus. No pets, washer and dryer ovided. $900 per month.

conditioning. Full kitchen, single bathrooms. 785-539-4641 THREE-BEDROOM, ONE full bath. $810, 917 Blue-rooms, two bath. June 1, 785-317-7713.

August 316-393-9628. house/ duplex - next to campus. Personal washer through houses, and apartments. 785-776-2102. youngwilk- pets. June lease. $275/ Washer/ dryer, central air. Available now or fall. No pets. 785-537-7050.

THREE-BEDROOM

and dryer included. $695 per month. Deposit required. 785-494-8686 TWO-BEDROOMS bath, updated, newer car-

new stove, washer

rent-apm.com VERY CHARMING brick ranch. 2505 Winny. Threebedroom, quiet neighborgarage.

VERY NICE four-bedroom one bath house. Three blocks from campus. 2038 College View.

and Above. Available Call Alliance

skansas.com Check web for available listings (Changes Daily) gust. Alliance Property M a n a g e m e n t . 785-539-4357. www.rent-

THREE, FOUR, FIVE, SIX rent? Great selection prices. Capstone gement

lease. $855. 785-776-6318.

mont, year lease, June 2007 - May 2008. Close 120 pet.

JUNE, July, August. Al-liance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357 www.rent-apm.com TWO-BEDROOM.

ONE

July, August. Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.-

hood. No pets, $950. June 1 lease. Ryan Rentals 785-313-0455 785-776-7706.

785-313-1807 Management

'til Spring Break on 3 Bedrooms

June/July/August Property Management @ 785-539-4357 vww.rent-apm.com

> WILDCAT PROPERTY MANAGEMENT

537-2332 8* & Moro 2BR - $850 3BR - $1,300 4BR - $1,700

14" & Fremont 4BR - 21/2 Bath $1,650

Anderson Village

1BR- $525

2BR - $700-725

1501 Poyntz House - $750 3BR - 2 Bath

1509 Poyntz House - $600 1BR - 1Bath

315 Poyntz

1BR - $650

Fall Leasing

campus. $165,000.316-772-3171 Sale-Mobile Homes FOR SALE: 1985 mobile 14x56. #175. 316-721-8652.

condition central heat and air. Great for students, $7500. 730 Allen Road Need

> Advertise 537-6555

close to campus and Agand sunporch. lease until the end of

Photos by Lyndsey Born | COLLEGIAN

Left: Karen Myers-Bowman, associate professor of family studies and human services, and Emma Denner, freshman in pre-professional elementary education, rehearse a part in the play "You Belong to Us" during the dress rehearsal at Manhattan Arts Center on Wednesday evening. Top right: "You Belong to Us" cast members rehearse part of the play during the dress rehearsal Wednesday evening. Bottom right: Clay Myers-Bowman, Manhattan resident, rehearses a part during the dress rehearsal of "You Belong to Us" with Karen and Camron Myers-Bowman Wednesday evening at the Manhattan Arts Center.

Play tells stories of parents, gay children

By Megan Molitor KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Homosexuality is a sensitive subject in society, and even more so if the person in question is a child.

The play "You Belong to Us" addressed homosexuality among youth this weekend at the Manhattan Arts

The play, written by Jemmie Godwin, graduate student in speech, tells the story of eight parents who each had a homosexual child.

The play is composed of firsthand dialogue taken from interviews with heterosexual parents who have lesbian or gay children, according to a press release.

The play focuses on unconditional love and was the second original play in the Family Ties Project, sponsored by Flint Hills Parents,

Families and Friends of Lesbians

Two young adults played the gay children of each set of parents. They also acted as narrators, asking questions for the parents to answer, such as "When did you know your child was gay?" and "What advice would you give to other parents?"

One set of parents said they found out their son was gay when they saw it in the newspaper.

He wrote an anonymous article for the school paper about what it was like to be a high school student that was gay," the father said. "He never actually came out to us. He just assumed we knew."

Another couple said they found out their daughter was lesbian when the father confronted her because he was worried about his son. "I asked her to keep an eye on her brother because I was worried about him, and she said she had problems too," he said. "Then she asked me, 'Dad, you know I'm a lesbian, right?'

Another mother realized her son was gay when she read a letter he had written for her. She said she had suspicions he was gay, but the letter solidified it.

"Mom, I'm gay," he wrote in the letter. "But you'll be happy to know that I'm not a drag queen, and I'm not a Republican."

Many of the comments were met by occasional applause from the audience, such as the parents' comments about how they would always love their children.

Would you love your daughter if she was blind?" a father asked. "Would you love your son if he couldn't hear you? You cannot pick and choose why you love some-

The play ended with a letter a mother had written to her gay son and was followed by a discussion

Before exiting the stage, one mother shared a common gay and lesbian saying, "When you finally come out of the closet, you usually pass your parents on the way in."

Some audience members disagreed with the play's message but said they still learned something.

"I couldn't relate very well with the play because I'm not a parent," said Kasey Campbell, Manhattan resident. "I disagreed with the fact that they presented being gay or lesbian as entirely genetic and that that was the only option. Overall, I didn't agree with much of it, but it was very informative."

CELEB NEWS

Comedian Richard Jeni dies at 45

WEST HOLLYWOOD, Calif. - Richard Jeni, a standup comedian who played to sold-out crowds, was a regular on the "Tonight Show" and appeared in movies, died of a gunshot wound in an apparent suicide, police said Police found the 45-year-old comedian alive but gravely injured when they responded to a call Saturday morning from Jeni's

Jeni

Angeles Police Officer Norma Eisenman. Eisenman said suicide had not officially been confirmed, and the investigation was continuing. Jeni toured the country with a standup act and had starred in several HBO comedy specials, most recently "A Big Steaming Pile

Jeni's movie credits included "The Mask," "The Aristocrats," "National Lampoon's Dad's Week Off," and "An Alan Smithee Film: Burn, Hollywood, Burn."

He also wrote comic material for the 2005 Academy Awards, which were hosted by his friend Chris Rock.

— The Associated Press

Salma Hayek engaged and expecting

NEW YORK - Next up for Salma Hayek is a wedding - and a baby carriage.

The 40-year-old actress is engaged to businessman Francois-Henri Pinault and is pregnant with their first child, her spokeswoman, Cari Ross, said Friday in a statement. No further details were provided.

The Mexico-born Hayek has starred in films such as "Frida," "Spy Kids 3-D: Game Over" and "After the Sunset." She is one of the executive producers of ABC's "Ugly Betty," in which she recently guest starred as a two-faced magazine

Pinault is chairman and chief executive officer of the luxury goods company PPR SA, which owns high-end labels such as Gucci, Yves Saint Laurent, Balenciaga and Stella McCartney.

Hayek received an Oscar nomination for her role in 2002's "Frida."

— The Associated Press

Albums represent multitude of styles, moods

Album reviews by Mark Sibilla

Bloc Party "A Weekend in the City"

****

London's Bloc Party recently released "A Weekend in the City," the highly anticipated follow-up to the band's critically acclaimed debut, "Silent Alarm."

Though critics met "Silent Alarm" with widespread praise, they seem to be split down the middle in their reception of Bloc Party's sophomore effort. Some critics bash the band for overextending itself, while others applaud the band for keeping its identity while still managing to expand its sound.

I fall into the latter camp, commending Bloc Party. The band created an album that, while not as consistently brilliant as its debut, explores the paranoia of the times and contains plenty of moments, like in the first single, "The Prayer," that are as fist-pumpingly, heart-racingly excellent as anything from the band's debut.

Ellen Allien & Apparat "Orchestra of Bubbles" ****

This is the first full-length effort between the extremely talented European disc jockeys Ellen Allien and Sascha Ring (aka Apparat).

Turbo dreams" is the first single of Allien and Apparat's album "Orchestra Of Bubbles." Both artists come from different schools of electronic music.

Allien focuses more on beat-making and club-ready tracks, while Apparat creates a smoother, more ambient approach to his

A collaboration involving the two could have been a disastrous tug-of-war between the two varying production styles.

However, the methods of Allien and Apparat mesh perfectly to create a beautifully immersive album of progressive house music that pushes the genre of electronic music into novel and exciting directions.

Junior Boys "So This is Goodbye" ****

Forget Justin Timberlake - the group that truly brought sexy back in 2006, although in a much more subtle manner, was the Canadian electronica duo Junior Boys, led by Jeremy

This sophomore album continues the use of tranquil synthesizer lines and mellow drummachine beats accompanied by Greenspan's whispery yet extremely vers file vocals to create an album much warmer and more intimate than the band's excellent debut, "Last Exit."

Except for first single, "In the Morning," the album hardly breaks a sweat as it ebbs and flows between superb synth-pop ecstasies. Its sensuality is maintained in its lyrical content and smooth production.

It is an album that can easily be danced to, cuddled along to or used as the perfect accompaniment to rest tired eyes.

WEEKEND BOX OFFICE ■ The weekend totals listed are measured in millions of dollars.

top movies	lotal
1. "300" Warner Bros.	70.0
2. "Wild Hogs" Buena Vista	28.0
3. "Bridge to Terabithia"  Buena Vista	6.9
4. "Ghost Rider"	6.8

5. "Zodiac" Paramount Pictures	6.7
6. "The Number 23" New Line Cinema	4.3
7. "Norbit" Paramount/DreamWorks	4.3
8. "Music and Lyrics" Warner Bros.	3.8
9. "Breach" Universal	2.6
10. "Amazing Grace" Samuel Goldwyn Films	2.5

- www.movies.yahoo.com

THIS WEEK... A look at events, bizarre holidays, happenings that occurred during this week in history

TODAY

1983: 1st movie with sound recorded

Inventor Lee de Forest demonstrates Phono-film, the first film capable of taping sound. Music was recorded on a narrow strip at the edge of the film. The demonstration showed a man and woman dancing, four musicians playing instru-ments, and an Egyptian dancer, all accompanied by music but no dialogue. Several studios, including MGM, Paramount, and Universal, agreed to wait to make talkies until they agreed on a single audio standard, but Warner Bros., not part of the agreement, re-leased the earliest sound films. For Warner Bros., then in difficult financial straits, sound was a Inventor Lee de Forest demonstrates Phonothen in difficult financial straits, sound was a matter of survival: the struggling company had staked everything on acquiring the Vitaphone system and publicizing its early sound movies.

TUESDAY 1942: U.S. Army launches K-9 Corps

The Quartermaster Corps of the United States Army began training dogs for the newly established War Dog Program of "K-9 Corps." The K-9 Corps initially accepted over 30 breeds of dogs, but the list was narrowed to seven: German shepherds, Belgian sheep dogs, Doberman Pinschers, collies, Siberian Huskies, Malumutes and Eskimo dogs.

WEDNESDAY 1879: Albert Einstein is born

Albert Einstein is born the son of a Jewish electrical engineer in Ulm, Germany. Einstein's theories of special and general relativity drastically altered man's view of the universe, and his work in particle and energy theory helped make possible quantum mechanics, and

THURSDAY

44 BC, the Ides of March: Julius Caesar is murdered

Julius Caesar is murdered by his own senators at a meeting in a hall next to Pompey's Theatre. The conspiracy against Caesar encompassed as many as 60 noblemen including Caesar's protégé, Reportedly, Caesar was handed a warning note that day but did not read it. Marcus Brutus wounded Caesar in the groin, and Caesar is said to have remarked in Greek, "You, too, my child."

FRIDAY

1850: 'The Scarlet Letter' is published

Nathaniel Hawthorne's story of adultery and betrayal in colonial America, "The Scarlet Letter," was published. Plagued by financial difficulties as his family grew, he took a job in 1845 at Salem's custom house, where he worked for three years.

In 1853, Hawthome's old college friend, President Franklin Pierce, appointed him American consul to England, and the family moved to England, where they lived for three years. Hawthorne died in Plymouth, N.H., in 1864.

- History Channel

ANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN

Kansas State University's independent, student-run newspaper since 1896

INSIDE

Check out this week's health page for tips on how to stay in shape over spring break See Sports Page 6

www.kstatecollegian.com

Tuesday, March 13, 2007

Vol. 111, No. 121

Spring-break car trips provide students with 'fun, affordable' adventures

By Mike Kelly KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

As students work through the perennial midterm week at K-State, many thoughts, hopes and dreams turn toward next week's five-day vacation from class and responsibility - also known as spring break. Despite popular belief, a spring-break trip can be both affordable and adventurous.

To save money, former spring breakers suggest cashing in plane tickets to the typical hot spots and hitting the open road.

"Nothing beats a road trip," said Casey Walker, sophomore in hotel and restaurant management. "Not only is it less expensive, but it keeps your agenda flexible.'

Last year, Walker and three friends drove from Manhattan to the beaches of Galveston, Texas. Although their travel time would have been cut in half had they flown, Walker and friends said driving was integral to the success of their adventure.

"Like they say, life is in the journey, not the destination," Walker said. "Flying would have taken away half of the fun."

Overall, Walker estimated his entourage saved more than $1,000 by choosing the pavement over the skies. If driving was not a possibility, Walker said the number of destinations available to him would have been shortened significantly.

"We couldn't have afforded to fly," Walker said. "Plus, you can always have pit stops on a road trip, and that's always a good time."

Being near the center of the country, road-trip specialists suggest starting an excursion from Manhattan opens many possibilities.

"The central states have a lot of opportunity," said Mark Larrison, customer-service representative for AAA. "It just depends on what kind of people and budget you are working with."

Larrison said before departing on a road trip, it is important to have a few essentials to make the trip a success.

"Make sure you have a map and a cell phone," Larrison said. "Also, spending $20 to have your car inspected can never hurt."

Many services like AAA provide planning help, complete with road maps, hotel suggestions and entertainment ideas to its members. However, Walker said Internet sources like www.mapquest.com provide the same service without the cost.

"We just printed the maps out online, and the directions were fine," he

Known as the gateway to the Midwest, St. Louis is home to both a national monument and a wealth of cultural opportunity.

For an inexpensive treat, Alisha Kirby, student at St. Louis University, said Forest Park is a visitor's best bet.

"Being outside in the acres of beautiful scenery is good enough, but Forest Park offers a lot more," Kirby said.

The park, which held the 1904 World's Fair, is home to one of the nation's top-rated zoos, the St. Louis Art Museum and the Museum of Science and Natural History free of cost.

"For students on a budget, there's not much better," Kirby said.

For nightlife, Kirby suggested visiting Laclede's Landing, the city's most active club-and-bar scene. Located adjacent to the Arch downtown, it includes bars like Trainwreck, Banana Joe's and Mississippi Nights.

See BREAK Page 12

Kansas City attorney addresses immigration law

By Scott Girard KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

"Eleven million to 20 million immigrants are in this country. What should we do?" said a Kansas City attorney who specializes in immigration law Monday night.

Mira Mdivani, a former Russian immigrant, spoke in Forum Hall about the faults and improprieties of the current immigration law.

She said there are several aspects of the law that are unfair for immigrant workers, academia and families and need to be changed.

Mdivani said the small number of immigrants allowed in the United States, called quotas, is a large problem. She said the number of H-1B visas, reserved for the most talented and intelligent international students, is limited to 65,000, and the number of H-2B, reserved for seasonal immigrant workers, is limited

We have very strict quotas on a number of immigrants," she said. "We don't have nearly enough."

She said there are almost no visas set aside for people who work in the lowerclass American job industries like meatpacking and house cleaning.

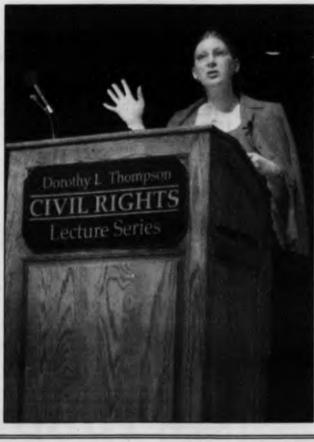

"We have zero allocation for the people that we need most," she said.

Because of these laws and quotas, the United States is losing many potentially important workers and citizens, she said. These jobs and intellectuals are either going to other countries like Germany or going back to their homes and finding jobs and improving the economies

Another group of immigrants affected by U.S. immigration laws are foreign spouses and other family members of U.S. residents. Mdivani said U.S. citizens must wait approximately five to seven years for foreign spouses and children to gain citizenship. She said immigrant families cannot even visit family members in the United States during this time.

She said many of her clients are in a state of shock when she tells them what

See LECTURE Page 12

Mdivani, immigration attorney from Kansas City, presents the Dorothy L. Thompson Civil Rights

Lecture Series Tuesday evening in Forum Hall. Mira spoke about our current immigration law and the problems associated with the system.

Matt Castro COLLEGIAN

WNIT selects K-State

By Jonathan Garten KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The K-State women's basketball team will get its shot at a repeat. Despite losing 10 of its last 11 games and finishing in last place of the Big 12 Conference, the Wildcats (16-14, 4-12 Big 12) were selected to play in the Women's National Invitation Tournament.

This will be the second year in a row that the Wildcats will be in the WNIT. They won the tournament last season.

K-State will receive a firstround bye and will play the winner of Southern Illinois and Stephen F. Austin. The site of the game will be determined after the first round on Thursday.

Manhattan woman files rape

By Lola Shrimplin KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A 19-year-old woman reported she was raped early Sunday morning, said Lt. Michael Quintanar of the Riley County Police Department.

The woman allegedly was raped in the north central part of Manhattan between 12 and 1 a.m., Quintanar said.

"It was by a person she was in acquaintance with," he

The RCPD still is investigating.

Vehicles damaged by arson

By Lola Shrimplin KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Two vehicles allegedly were damaged by arson early Sunday morning, said Lt. Michael Quintanar of the Riley County Police Department.

"There was a bus fire at the Lutheran Church, then a second fire about a block away," Quintanar said.

An older blue Chevrolet Blazer and a bus were damaged.

The bus was parked at the First Lutheran Church, 930 Poyntz Ave., and sustained $4,000 damage.

The Blazer sustained $1,000 damage.

The Manhattan Fire Department arson investigators are looking into the incident, Quintanar said.

Today's forecast Mostly cloudy High: 79 Low: 53

INSIDE

Prize-winning violinist Charles Castleman performed a lecture recital last night in All Faiths Chapel as part of the three-day University Distinguished Lecturer Series.

CAMPUS NEWS HIGHLIGHTS

Trade documentary to show in Union

"Black Gold," a documentary which takes an in-depth look at the world of coffee and global trade, will show at 7 p.m. today in room 206 in the K-State Student Union. The fair-trade documentary will be the last film shown as part of K-State's A Season for Nonviolence: 64 Days 64 Ways to Practice Nonviolence

Intramural entries due Thursday

Recreational Services is accepting entries for intramural softball, 3-wall handball doubles, 3-wall racquetball doubles, horseshoes doubles, tennis doubles, badminton doubles, 3-on-3 basketball, triples volleyball, and around the world. Take entries to the main office from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays through March 15.

Student political groups to debate today

The College Republicans and the Young Democrats will debate at 7 p.m. today in Forum Hall in the K-State Student Union. The debate will focus on the topics of minimum wage, the troop surge to Iraq and the DREAM act, which addresses the issue of illegal immigrant students gaining legal status.

Claflin Books and Copies

1814 Claflin Rd. www.claflinbooks.com Fax: (785) 776-1009

(785) 776-3771

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

		agene shem
ACROSS	40 On top of	2 Reed	22 Gender
1 Bread	the	instru-	23 Shoveler
unit	world?	ment	24 Historic
5 Venusian	43 Tee-	3 -	time
vessel	green	Romeo	25 Raggedy
8 "Casa-	connector	4 Re lords	one blanca"	47 Piano	and	26 Lad
role	name	vassals	27 Peruke
12 Skilled	49 Relaxa-	5 Open the	28 Expert
13 Sister	tion	door, in	29 "Of 14 Leak	50 Ollie's	a way	course"
slowly	partner	6 Rage	31 Spoiled
15 Bean	51 Eggs	7 Lennon's	34 Like curd	52 Read bar	lady	some old
16 Theater-	codes	8 Gerbil, for	photos goers'	53 16-	one	35 Frayed
mecca	Across	9 "The	36 Main-
18 Progress	award	Music	lander's
20 Sports	54 "A	Man"	souvenir
21 Melody	mouse!"	locale	37 Turmoil
22 Trinity	55 A-	10 Despot	39 One-member	number-1	11 Singer	person
23 Handed		Alicia	boat
out hands	DOWN	17 MPs'	40 "Hey,
26 Politicos'	1 Wooden	quarry	you!"
world	strip	19 Humor	41 Sgt.
30 Coffee			Snorkel's
dispenser	Solution tim	e: 21 mins.	dog
31 Carton	SLABDY		42 Slender
32 Rink	LIEUIA	NRIAL	43 Most surface	I RON SP	ITBALL	liked, for 33 "Every-	OLLA	PUP	short
one ,	CORNBAL	LMOPE	44 Texas cit
step	ARESIT	ESROE	45 Pronto,
aside!"	YELPMO	THBALL	in a
36 Olympic	ISAIAH		memo
sleds	BASEBAL	LBEAK	46 Longings
38 Scepter	IRES NI		48 Reason
39 Barbie's	DIST		to say
ex-beau	Yesterday	's answer 3-13	"Alas"
1 2 3	4 5 6	7 8	9 10 11
12	13	14
	97.1
15	16	17
18	19	20
	21	22
00 104 105			07 00 00
23 24 25	26		27 28 29

3-13

CRYPTOQUIP

XGUJP VTWEYZPN

FNWEYZMKCPN RYZR'P XTUU

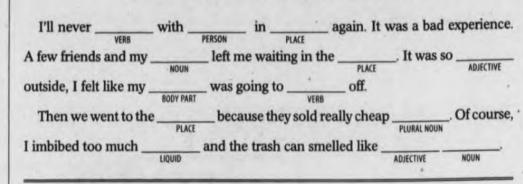

GX FZMA RCMA EWZEJP, KG

RYNA VZA Z XCPPTWN VWCEN?

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THE HIGHESTRANKING ACCOUNT CHECKER IN THE I.R.S.
SHOULD GET THE TITLE OF AUDITOR IN CHIEF. Today's Cryptoquip Clue: X equals F

FILL IN THE BLANK

Your take on your lowest spring break moment

The blotter | Arrests in Riley County

Reports are taken directly from the Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Friday, March 9

■ Kenneth James Hutchinson, Ogden, at 10:50 a.m. for probation violation. Bond was $2,500.

■ Bradley Shawn Ducat, Junction City, at 2:15 p.m. for probation violation. Bond was $500.

■ Earnest Terrance Johnson, 418 S. Manhattan Ave., at 4:20 p.m. for probation violation. No bond was set. ■ Bradley George Hoppe, Leonardville, Kan., at 11:30 p.m. for battery or domestic violence. Bond was $500.

William Joe Head, Ogden, at 11:48 p.m. for disorderly conduct. Bond was $500.

Saturday, March 10

Clifford Robert Lepak, Ogden, at 1:35 a.m. for disorderly conduct. Bond was $500.

■ Bradley Scott Teague, Shepherdsville, Ky., at 1:50 a.m. for disorderly conduct. Bond was $750.

■ Matthew Stephen Dukeman, St. Charles, Mo., at 2:01 a.m. for unlawful use of a license. Bond was $750.

■ Christopher Brett Smoot, Wakefield, Kan., at 3:20 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $750.

■ Cody James Pacha, Lincoln, Neb., at 3:35 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $1,500.

■ Curtis Dean Finkbiner, Clifton, Kan., at 2:20 p.m. for driving with a suspended or cancelled license. Bond was

■ Jacquelyn Mae Winkelman, 618 Yuma St., at 6:45 p.m.

for driving under the influence. Bond was $750. ■ Alexander Joseph Soldano, 3000 Tuttle Creek Blvd., no. 303, at 7:40 p.m. for driving under the influence. Bond ■ Matthew Direk Bailey, Fort Riley, at 9:09 p.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $750.

■ Stephanie Jeanine Holden, 724 Poyntz Ave., Apt. 5, at 10:50 p.m. for obstruction of the legal process and aiding a felon. Bond was $8,000.

■ Spencer Michael Tournade, 1017 College Ave., at 11:44 p.m. for aggravated battery. Bond was $10,000.

Sunday, March 11

■ David Lee Gechter, 1618 Pierre St., at 12:04 a.m. for criminal damage to property. Bond was $1,000. ■ Brent Alan Bowman, 107 N. 14th St., at 12:36 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $750.

■ Allen Guy Brannan, Fort Leavenworth, Kan., at 1:10 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $500. ■ Marquis Donniell Johnson, Junction City, at 1:13 a.m. for disorderly conduct. Bond was $750.

Lucas Lynn Meade, Centralia, Kan., at 1:55 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $750.

■ Jeremy Aaron Pukach, 513 Sunset Ave., at 3 a.m. for disorderly conduct. Bond was $750.

■ John Edward Keller, Wichita, at 3:04 a.m. for disorderly conduct. Bond was $750

■ Cole Anthony Longstaff, Topeka, at 3:08 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $500. ■ Christopher Allen Wroblewski, Ogden, at 3:15 a.m. for driving under the influence. Bond was $750. ■ Andrew Allen Shorten, 1919 Hunting Ave., at 4 a.m. for disorderly conduct. Bond was $750. Cynthia Marie Perez, 1108 Garden Way, Apt. B, at 6:10 a.m. for battery, battery against a law enforcement officer and obstruction of the legal process. Bond was $2,000. ■ Justin Christopher McKinney, 2215 College Ave., Apt. R371, at 6:30 a.m. for worthless check. Bond was $1968.26. ■ Caleb Andrew Ray Peak, 1030 Garden Way, Apt. B, at 12:15 p.m. for failure to appear. Bond was $170. Troy Wayne Grant, Junction City, at 6:45 p.m. for unlawfully arranging a drug sale via the telephone, possession of cocaine with intent to distribute and no Kansas drug tax stamp. Bond was $50,000.

Richard Brian Jackson, Junction City, at 7:10 p.m. for failure to appear. Bond was $1,500.

■ Marcus Eugene Miles, 920 Garden Way, at 2:30 a.m. for criminal trespass. Bond was $750.

The planner

Campus bulletin board

■ The National Endowment for the Art Jazz Masters on Tour will present Dr. Billy Taylor, Grammy Award-winning jazz pianist and former arts correspondent for "CBS Sunday Morning," at 7:30 p.m. Friday at All Faiths Chapel. Admission is free and there are no reserved

Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at collegian@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

Corrections and clarifications

Corrections and clarifications run in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call news editor Alex Peak at (785) 532-6556 or e-mail collegian@ spub.ksu.edu.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291 020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan. KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167.

© Kansas State Collegian, 2007

BE RESPONSIBLE

Once in a Lifetime

engagements and weddings

in the Collegian, the first friday of the month

√ We can print from your Zip Disk, CD-Rom, or USB flash drive. Claflin Books and Copies

Colbert Hi

Is seeking outgoing, personable individuals for employment in the 2007 season. Positions available:

- Cart Staff - Maintenance Staff Snack Bar/ Beverage Cart

Applications available in Pro Shop 5200 Colbert Hills Drive 776-6475 ext 1 www.colberthills.com

NOW LEASING FOR FALL

Check out our model showings now!

With 900 apartments in the Manhattan area, we can find a place for you!

BEDROOMS 1119 Laramie #5 Mon, Wed, Thurs 5:30-7:00 4:00-7:00

5:00-7:00 1941 College Heights #4 Mon-Thurs 3:00-5:00

1854 Claflin #14 Mon, Wed, Fri Tues, Thurs 4:00-6:00 2:00-4:00

Wareham - 418 Poyntz #603 Fri 1:30 - 5:00 Sun 10:00-2:00

Aggie Village - 1215 Laramie 10:00-2:00

925 Denison #4 1803-1807 College Heights View at 925 Denison #4 6:00-8:00pm Tues, Thurs 12:00-2:00

Royal Towers 1700 N. Manhattan #203 Mon, Wed, Fri Tues, Thurs

4:00-6:00 1:00-3:00 12:00-2:00

BEDROOMS 1125 Laramie Reserved Parking! Call 320-6300 for showing

BEDROOMS

4:30-6:30

3:30-5:30

12:30-2:30

2:00-4:00

5:30-7:30

12:00-2:00

1026 Osage #22

1419 Leavenworth #2

BEDROOMS

3:30-6:00

2:00-5:00

1611 Laramie #2 Mon, Wed, Fri 8:00-11:00a

Thurs

STUDIOS

Wareham 418 Poyntz #316 Mon,Wed,Frl 1:00-3:00

Violinist Charles Castleman plays to a crowd gathered in All Faiths Chapel for the University Distinguished Lecturer Series on Monday evening Castleman played seven select pieces during the performance, titled "The Virtuoso."

Christopher Hanewinckel COLLEGIAN

Prize-winning violinist performs in lecture series

By Kristin Hodges KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Music lovers congregated in All Faiths Chapel and sat in silence Monday night while listening to prize-winning violinist Charles Castleman perform his lecture-recital "The Virtusoso."

Castleman and his piano accompanist, William Wingfield, instructor of music, performed music from Veracini, Quiroga and Hubay as part of the University Distinguished Lecture Series.

"The subject of the lecture is virtuosity," Castleman said.

Castleman said people may think of the word virtuous as someone being able to do something very difficult very well, but he said it is more of something that the audience cannot imagine themselves being able to do.

A part of that virtuosity in music is trying to make the effect and wanting to optimize it, he said.

Between his performances, Castleman described the pieces and their composers.

He said most of the pieces he played were pieces the composers wrote for themselves, so they chose the virtuous effects carefully.

Castleman also told the audience to listen for the sounds made by using a different bow.

"As you may notice, the different pieces thrive from the different bows," he said.

Shannon Connolly, sophomore anthropology and French, said she attended the performance as a class requirement.

"I was just really excited to be able to see someone like Castleman perform," she said.

Connolly said she had heard of Castleman's talent but had never heard his music prior to the performance.

Castleman's University Distinguished Lecturer Series that lasts from March 11-13 also was sponsored by the Department of Music and the K-State student chapter of the American String Teachers Association.

On Sunday, he listened to four high-school students perform solos, and he will do the same for four college students today, said Cody Toll, sophomore in music education.

Connolly said she went to the high-school master class on Sunday and enjoyed seeing Castleman interact with the students and show his personality and style.

Laura Beth Cochran, sophomore in environmental design, said the two-hour class for the high-school students included a critique lecture for the students to hear along with members of the audience who were faculty and people interested in music.

Cochran, member of the chapter, is performing in the college master class with three other members of the American String Teachers Association.

Union deficit likely to spur fee increase

By Andy Heintz KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The K-State Student Union is in trouble thanks to a financial deficit, and student privilege fees could be increased to solve it.

The Student Privilege Fee Committee approved a motion for a 5-percent increase in student privilege fees for 2008 on Monday.

This increase means students will pay an extra $2.65 in 2008 through their student privilege fees.

cent increases for 2009 and 2010.
"The committee felt the 5-

It also includes 4-per-

"The committee felt the 5percent increase was enough for the union to operate well for another year," said Lydia Peele, committee member and junior in secondary edu-

The proposed 5-percent increase in student privilege fees will be introduced to the student senate at their meeting Thursday. They will vote on it at their meeting March 29, their first meeting after spring break.

Seventeen percent of the Union's budget comes from this fee and goes toward a $12 million service, said Bernard Pitts, assistant vice president of the Union.

He said the only operation running a deficit in the Union is the food services, which is budgeted for a $260,000 deficit.

The deficit is mostly due to the hours the food service is open Monday through Friday, Pitts said. The services are profitable from 7 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., but are not profitable from 1:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m., he said.

The food services is trying to eliminate the deficit by catering to some of the greek houses off campus, said Tina Griffin of food services. This allows the food service to serve more food because they are able to serve people both on and off campus, she said.

The food services cater for Delta Sigma Phi, Delta Tau Delta, Pi Kappa Phi, Beta Sigma Psi, Sigma Chi and Kappa Sigma, Griffin said.

There is concern the new parking garage south of the Union might have an effect on Union revenues, but it is too early to tell if it will be positive or negative. The construction of the garage will begin in May and last for 15 to 18 months.

The parking lots in front of the Union are being torn up to make room for the parking garage, meaning there will be fewer spots available for students during this period. This could lead to an increase or decrease in the number of students visiting the Union on a daily basis.

Privilege Fee Committee Chair Matt Wagner, senior in management information systems, said he believes the construction of the parking garage will be good for the Union.

"Foot traffic will increase because students will not want to leave campus as often," he said.

African Studies Center creates Swahili class

By Allison Voris
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Students will have a new language class from which to choose when enrolling in classes for the fall semester.

The Department of Modern Languages at K-State will offer Swahili classes beginning next semester. Emizet Kisangani, associate professor and director of the African Studies Center, said the classes should benefit students greatly.

"It will benefit students in all majors," Kisangani said. "Africa is a priority for American foreign policy."

Swahili is one of the most spoken languages in Africa, used by more than 20 million people, said Sam Mwangi, assistant professor in journalism and mass communications.

"It's a good language for area studies, like for anthropology," Mwangi said. "Swahili gives you a boost, so it is a good idea to take advantage of this class."

The classes will be similar to the courses for other language requirements on campus. The plans for the course currently include classes starting with Swahili I and ending at Swahili IV, said Robert Corum, the department head of modern languages.

"This is a language that is very important for African studies and the African studies center," Corum said. "We are thinking that the African studies minor should have a language component."

The African Studies minor should be an option by 2009, Kisangani said. These options are coming to K-State because of a recently received grant.

"We received $253,725 to establish an African Studies Center that will help to link K-State with many African universities," Kisangani said. "We're planning to have a certificate in African studies and a minor in African studies to give students enough background to go and work in Africa."

There also are plans for other African language courses to be offered at K-State within the next two to three years, Kisangani said. These languages would include Tsona, which is spoken in southern Africa, and Wolof, which is common to western Africa.

"We're trying to find those languages most spoken in African countries," Kisangani said.

Kisangani said he is seeing interest from the students in biology and agriculture majors.

"The big problem in Africa is food security, so I think that's of interest to those students," Kisangani said.

Taking courses in Swahili also will benefit students culturally and will make learning other Bantu languages easier, Kisangani said. Learning a second language is becoming more important in the world, Mwangi said.

"Our world is becoming more and more interconnected," Mwangi said. "So learning a foreign language enhances your position as a global citizen."

Swahili is not a difficult language to learn either, he said. He taught Swahili at the University of Iowa as a teaching assistant before coming to K-State.

Many people on the K-State campus already are showing interest in African studies, Kisangani said.

"We are really confident in this program," Kisangani said. "It will really help students."

Take Willie to the World!

Study Abroad Applications

Due: March 16th!

Study Abroad offers a world of experience for life in an increasingly global society. Opportunities range in cost, length, program of study, region of the world, language, and more. Financial aid may be available. There is still time to find a program that is right for you!

Summer and Fall Applications due in 304 Fairchild Hall by Friday, March 16th

We Can Help!
KSU Study Abroad
Office of International Programs
304 Fairchild Hall
785-532-5990
www.ksu.edu/oip/students

Positions to Consider:

Advertising Manager

Assistant Advertising Managers
Account Representatives

Ad Manager apps due: Noon Fri., Mar. 30

Pick-up applications in Kedzie 103 or visit kstatecollegian.com

and click Student Publications under Links.

Other Staff apps due: 3pm Fri., Apr. 6

TO THE POINT

Unusual classes enrich education for students

The addition of Swahili language classes to the course schedule for next semester has brought with it an excellent opportunity for students to broaden their educational horizons - literally.

TO THE POINT is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. This is the Collegian's official opinion.

Though for many students, learning Swahili will not contribute directly to their course of study for their majors, stepping outside one's proverbial educational "box" and attempting to study a seemingly obscure subject is an admirable pursuit - one we feel is essential to the collegiate experience.

Though the principal point of attending a university is to earn a degree that will help one enter the workforce and find a good job, there is another reason we spend upwards of four years here, which unfortunately goes unnoticed these days.

In addition to filling those general education and myriad other requirements for our various degrees, we also are here to learn - and by that we mean learning for learning's sake.

At what other time in our lives will we have the opportunity to explore new languages or sciences we might not be able to dabble in once we have settled into our prospective occupational niches?

The time is now, and we encourage everyone to search for that one class or area of study in which they've always been somewhat curious, but did not enroll in because it wouldn't apply toward their degree.

We think many students will find the extra time they take to study something they truly find interesting to be utterly refreshing and ultimately beneficial.

Collegian

Megan Moser | EDITOR IN CHIEF Heidi Paulson | MANAGING EDITOR Alex Peak | NEWS EDITOR acque Haag | CO-COPY CHIEF Jessi Hernandez | CO-COPY CHIEF Scott Girard | CAMPUS EDITOR Logan C. Adams | METRO EDITOR Lacey D. Mackey | FEATURES EDITOR nathan Garten | SPORTS EDITOR Cedrique Flamming | TIPOFF EDITOR Eileen Laux | THE EDGE EDITOR

Jonas Hogg | OPINION EDITOR Christopher Hanewinckel | PHOTO EDITOR endan Praeger | PRESENTATION EDITOR Royce Haynes | ONLINE EDITOR Eddle Rogers | ASST. AD MANAGER

WRITE TO US

Letters can be submitted by e-mail to letters@spub.ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name year in school and major. Letters should be limited to 250 words. All submitted letters may be edited for length and

> CONTACT US Kansas State Collegia Kedzie 103 Manhattan, KS 66502

Display ads.....(785) 532-6560 Classified ads....(785) 532-6555 .....(785) 532-6555 Newsroom......(785) 532-6556 news@spub.ksu.edu

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

From the classroom to the newsroom

Journalists need to consider personal ethics, not tabloid shock value

In my years at K-State, I have learned a lot, both inside the classroom and out.

My time at the Collegian has been well spent and has resulted in a position as a reporter at the Lyons (Kan.) News. I have learned

SHRIMPLIN

Most people love to tell others exciting news, and I am no excep-

I love covering police reports, and sometimes I laugh with the other reporters at some of the crimes people commit.

That's when I lose sight of the people behind the pages.

This is not something I am proud of, and it was brought home to me when I met one person being cited. This is especially true because I couldn't cover the story the way journalists theoretically are supposed to.

Some journalists I have met remind me of the editor in the movie "The Paper" who was so gung-ho to be the first to break a story she ran something she knew most likely was false, saying she would correct it later.

While I can understand the need to be the first with the news. caution must be foremost in a journalist's mind.

If the story sounds fishy or is going to do irreparable damage to someone who doesn't deserve it, then my thinking is, question the reason for the story.

I have access to information some people might find interesting, and I have to disseminate that information to find what is valuable to the readers of the Col-

Sometimes the crimes are humorous. But sometimes they're terribly sad.

Yet they all involve people, and as a journalist, I need to remember

Just because you can doesn't mean you should, and just because I have information on how someone died in a fire and what their last moments were like doesn't mean I should release it.

It has no value other than to bring a tabloid aspect to the story and would only serve to harm the survivors of the person who died.

Some would argue they might want to know, and it is a journalist's responsibility to release information and not to be a guardian of

However, when you release information that is potentially damaging, regardless of the intent, you need to think about the people behind the information.

Will it benefit anyone to have a person's name released to the public when that person commits a crime?

Or will it merely serve as a reminder of how our society has gone so far down that we have to get our excitement from watching the failings and sufferings of oth-

The answer to that question lies within the heart of every journalist ever to write a story.

Not every heart beats the same, and not every person will come up with the same answer.

I only have my instincts and my sense of right and wrong to go by.

And sometimes that probably won't be enough, but it's all I have.

Lola Shrimplin is a senior in pre-journalism. Please send comments to opinion@spub.ksu.edu.

People misplace indignation over chickens' death

Americans have a lack of respect for human life, so I was shocked to hear the outrage concerning the death of a chicken. The desire to bring these individuals to justice almost would be funny if it were not a waste of time and resources of our police department.

KING

The Collegian reported March 9 that the U.S. Humane Society and the Riley County Police Department are offering a $2,500 reward for information regarding those responsible for throwing a live chicken onto the court during the K-State vs. KU men's basketball game Feb. 19:

Throwing the chicken on the court was an inappropriate course of action, but we should look at the positives that occurred.

A student from our campus liberated a chicken from the clutches of an inhumane battery cage. Once freed from a battery cage, someone gave the chicken an opportunity for freedom. Unfortunately, the chicken crashed due to its lack of genetic gift of long-distance flight. The mistake of thinking chickens can fly long distances is no different than errors made by the People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals in its "lobster liberation" program, when PETA supporters made the blunder of releasing saltwater lobsters into fresh water, resulting in death for the lobsters.

According to the PETA Web site, animal rights are important because animals can suffer and feel pain. Yes, animals can feel pain. They have sensory nerves in their bodies similar to those in a human. This does not mean the value of a chicken's life is equivalent to a human's.

In my book, animals have two rights.

First is the right to be human companions, which mostly covers domesticated animals. When animal cruelty laws are passed, these are the type of animals on which humans focus.

Animal cruelty laws have been created to equalize the value of animal lives to human lives. The mental picture of a kitten playing in freshly cut grass or a Labrador retriever sleeping at an owner's feet are what tug at the heartstrings of those in favor of laws against animal cruelty.

Instead of thinking rationally, most animal owners allow gutlevel responses based on their love for their own pets to cloud their judgment when choosing to support laws against animal cruelty.

Our hearts cloud our priorities when it comes to animal cruelty laws. The Kansas Senate unanimously passed "Scruffy's Law," which made animal cruelty a felony. Meanwhile, we still have problems with our state budget. The second right of animals is the right to be amazingly delicious. The only crime committed was the wasting of a perfectly good meal. Humans are not at the top of the food chain to eat a salad.

Throwing live chickens is one of the few options available to someone who is claiming to keep a tradition alive.

Tossing a frozen chicken could hit someone in the stands and cause serious injury, or possibly hit the floor with enough force to crack it.

Heaving fried chicken also could be misinterpreted as being racially insensitive.

Processed chicken nuggets could get into the hands of those in attendance and cause instant heart conditions from the trans-fat

Inexpensive rubber or stuffed chickens are the only safe alternative for students to throw.

The person responsible for the throwing of the chicken has been through enough. Individuals make mistakes. Let's reevaluate our priorities and get over it.

Brett King is a junior in political science. Please send comments to opinion@spub.ksu.

STREET TALK

Where are you going for spring break, or where do you wish you could go for spring break?

"I'm going to Colorado - visit friends and go to the mountains."

Jamil Thomas MORE IN BUSINESS

"I'm going to New York. I wish I was going to Natasha Fuller

"I'm going to Panama City Beach in Florida." Paige Allton

SENIOR IN MARKETING

"I'm going home (Olathe, Kan.). I wish I was going somewhere in Mexico."

Cameron Addingto

JUNIOR IN FINANCE

WORLD NEWS

SYRIA SAYS IT WANTS 'SERIOUS' DIALOGUE WITH WASHINGTON

DAMASCUS, Syria - Syria told a visiting U.S. State Department official Monday it is willing to engage in "serious" dialogue with Washington on all Middle East issues, just days after both countries attended a conference in Baghdad on restoring security to Iraq.

U.S. officials rarely visit Syria, although Washington has said in recent months it wants to reach out to Damascus over the fate of the estimated 1.5 million Iraqi refugees who have sought sanctuary in Syria since the beginning of the war.

Syria frequently has called for dialogue with the U.S., but President Bush previously had rejected any direct talks with officials from Syria and Iran, accusing both of them of supporting an influx of foreign fighters into Iraq. Both countries have denied the charges.

PRESIDENT SHOWCASES U.S. EFFORTS TO FIGHT POVERTY IN GUATEMALA

GUATEMALA CITY, Gua-President Bush's message of goodwill in Latin America ran into a wall Monday, as his defense of U.S. immigration law met with disapproval from his hosts.

Bush's meetings with President Oscar Berger, a conservative leader who has become a strong U.S. ally, were dominated by trade and the difficult issue of immigration.

Bush pleased Guatemalans by promising to push hard, and quickly, for changes that would include a temporary-worker program for illegal workers in the United States. He said he thinks it is possible to wrest legislation out of the U.S. Congress, still deeply divided over the issue, by August. But he gave no ground in the face of questions over deportations of illegal workers.

INTERPOL ISSUES ALERT FOR IMMEDIATE ARREST OF POLITICIAN

BOGOTA, Colombia - Interpol launched an international call Monday for the arrest of a prominent Colombian politician who is believed to have fled to Venezuela after being accused of colluding with right-wing paramilitaries to kidnap a political rival.

The wanted politician, Alvaro Araujo Noguera, is the father of former Foreign Minister Maria Consuelo Araujo. She resigned over the scandal last month. Prosecutors say they believe he fled to a ranch he owns in Venezuela.

Prosecutors say Araujo Noguera was complicit in the abduction of a member of a rival political group as part of a campaign by paramilitary commanders to elect candidates they could control.

— The Associated Press

K-State students' levels of vanity lower than national average

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Narcissism and self-centeredness are at an all-time high among college students, according to a study conducted by researchers at San Diego State University.

Jean Twenge, professor of psychology at SDSU, conducted the research and had about 16,000 college students fill out a Narcissistic Personality Inventory survey between 1982 and 2006.

"Far from being civically oriented, young people born after 1982 are the most narcissistic generation in recent history," Twenge said in an SDSU press release.

K-State Counseling Services director and licensed psychologist Fred Newton said he agreed with the findings though he had not conducted much research on the subject himself.

Newton said despite advances in technology and other advantages, students often arrive at college with high hopes but lacking preparation.

"If you compare college students today with those of 20 years ago, students' expectations are higher, and they believe they'll do better," he said. "But as far as preparations go, they actually rate lower than they were back then."

accordance Twenge's research, Newton attributed Generation Y's narcissistic tendencies to the culture surrounding it.

"Generation Y is sometimes referred to as the 'trophy generation," Newton said. "So many times, kids are given trophies for basically nothing besides participating. Parents and the society around them have created the problem by overly recognizing people."

Terri Delimont, senior in public heath nutrition, said she agreed parents, and society in general, are to blame for the rise in vanity among young people.

"I think kids are spoiled rotten," she said. "When I was growing up, my parents didn't overdo it, but it seems like today kids get everything they want. The focus is on the kids instead of on the family."

However, Sheryl Benton, psychologist and assistant director of Counseling Services, said her experiences have shown narcissism is not typical of K-State students.

"What we do know is with K-State students, they're far more likely to be depressed, have thoughts about suicide, or have anxiety about failure than to be narcissistic," Benton

"They think they have to be the absolute best or else they're a failure. It's possible to be a perfectionist and have such high standards that you can never live up to them. That's more of the problem we see here."

Benton also said K-State students who have narcissistic tendencies usually are not extreme cases

Most of the time, students focus on being happy and successful, and they are not particularly self-centered.

"Usually it's within a normal range, and the narcissism doesn't seem like it's negative toward other people," Benton said. "It's just extreme selfconfidence!

Delimont said she did not think K-State students were as vain as typical college students across the country.

"I think the atmosphere here is very welcoming, and people are very caring," she said. "There are vain people everywhere, but at K-State, I think things are different."

Police arrest Manhattan woman for aiding felon

By Lola Shrimplin KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Police arrested a Manhattan woman Saturday, and a man in her apartment was returned to the Kansas Department of Corrections, said Lt. Michael Quintanar of the Riley County Police Department.

Stephanie Jeanine Holden was charged with aiding a felon and obstruction of the legal process after police went to her apartment and discovered Samuel L. Dartez II.

Police found Dartez, wanted by KDOC for aggravated escape from custody, under the bed, Quintanar said.

RCPD officers were notified by the KDOC that Dartez possibly was driving a white pickup, and officers spotted the vehicle in front of Holden's apartment.

When officers inquired as to Dartez's whereabouts, she denied any information, Quintanar said.

> was handcuffed Holden

but managed to slip out of the cuffs, Quintanar said. She then attempted to flee, leading to the additional charge of obstruction of the legal process.

Dartez was returned to the Norton Correctional Facility in Stockton, Kan.

Bond for Holden was $8,000.

We Kick Ads! 532.6560

The Collegian and the Royal Purple Present:

Free March NADNess Tournament Brackets

in CASH and PRIZES

HOW TO ENTER

Go to royalpurple.ksu.edu and download the tournament bracket (Starting Monday, March 12th)

Fill out the bracket, and turn Co it into Kedzie 103 or the Royal Purple booth in the Union (2nd floor) by noon on Thursday, March 15th.

Copy your selections into the Collegian's Tournament Bracket published on Wednesday, March 14th (must present completed copy of Collegian's bracket to claim prizes,

Check your progress on the Royal Purple's website, starting on March 19th.

AMERICAN CASH EXCHANGE

Contest open to KSU Students Only Check royalpurple.ksu.edu for complete details

Wildcats, fans fall victim to inherently flawed system

The NCAA Tournament selection committee undoubtedly will be forced to shoulder the blame for keeping hopefuls such as K-State, Syracuse and Drexel out of its 65-team field.

And though I don't agree with some of the decisions the committee made (Arkansas, are you serious?), I can empathize with them, knowing how difficult it is to choose from a handful of teams that seemingly have identical résumés.

RAKE

Depending on the criteria used, a legitimate argument could have been made for any bubble team that didn't receive an invite. But rather than attack the committee, let's instead take issue with a flawed process that's in desperate need of change.

The pesky automatic bid.

It feels like I say this every year, but how can a field consisting of teams such as Jackson State, Texas A&M Corpus Christi, Belmont and Eastern Kentucky be taken seriously? Are these teams really among the best 65 in the country?

Of course not — yet they're still in the tournament and are gearing up for another one-and-done trip to the "Big Dance." Allowing teams to advance to the tournament simply by virtue of winning a weak mid-major conference is an injustice to the teams that have tested themselves by playing against top-tier opponents.

K-State spent four months working toward an NCAA Tournament bid and didn't get in, despite solid credentials. Meanwhile, Jackson State advanced because it won three games in four days against Southern, Arkansas Pine-Bluff and Mississippi Valley State.

Jackson State did not win a single game all year against a team in the RPI top 150, but it sure did try. Before it got to its pushover portion of the schedule (in November), Jackson State played games against three teams that qualified for the NCAA Tournament — Georgia Tech, Illinois and Memphis.

All three were blowouts, as none of the games were closer than 20 points. Translation: Jackson State can't play with the big boys.

And I'm willing to guess that Florida A&M, Niagara, Miami (OH), Holy Cross, Wright State, Weber State, North Texas, Pennsylvania, Long Beach State, Central Connecticut State and Albany can't either. Not for six games, anyway.

Sure, you can bring up George Mason and the incredible run it made in last year's tournament. If that's how you want to justify putting in all of these mid-majors who qualify because they play in a hideous conference, that's fine.

But I want you to look into Cartier Martin's eyes as he explains how he and his teammates didn't do enough to earn a bid. I want you to look at David Hoskins as he apologizes for getting caught up in TV and Internet projections that had his team going to the tournament.

Then I want you to look at coach
Bob Huggins, who arrived in Manhattan nearly a year ago, with the expectations of bringing K-State back to the NCAA Tournament. I want you to see his deadpan face as he says, "We didn't get the job done."

In comparison to whom?

The bubble teams that didn't gain inclusion weren't left out because they aren't good enough. They were left out because the tournament does not recognize the top 65 teams in the country. Instead, the tournament passes around the glass slipper to lesser teams like it's a bottle of booze.

I know some of them – like George Mason – have come close. But not one of them has taken a drink yet, and you can't help but think that some of the teams on the outside looking in are just a bit more thirsty.

And a hell of a lot more deserving.

Jeffrey Rake is a junior in print journalism. Please send comments to spub@ksu.edu

Break it healthy

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Keeping in shape while on vacation a good idea

Money: check. Hotel: check.

Tickets: check.
A red-hot smoking body
that's sure to make the opposite sex do a double-take:

check.

Congratulations. After months of diligence and unquestioned dedication, all of your hard work finally has paid off. You're feeling good and looking great, and everyone knows it, including those two who can't seem to keep their eyes off you at the airport. But what are you going to do over your week away from the gym? Don't think taking nine days off from your routine won't erase some of the gains you've made.

"All of the progress you've seen in the last three weeks will likely be lost during spring break if you don't continue to exercise," said Craig Harms, associate professor of kinesiology.

However, there is an alternative. Just because you're away from home doesn't mean you have to leave your workout behind, too.

Here are some solutions.

In a perfect world, your hotel will have a gym that is free to use for all paying guests. If this is the case, take advantage of this wonderful service and devote about an hour to your fitness routine every day.

If you're not so lucky

TRENT to you, I have a couple of

First, pack a jump rope and a good pair of running shoes.
Then you'll be able to get a quick cardio workout in every morning to start off your day. You also can run stairs for a great endurance exercise.
Just make sure you're putting in every day.

For strength training, you'll have to get a little more creative. Pushups are always a great way to pump up your chest. You also can do dips at least 20 minutes of cardio work between the backs of two chairs.

To work your shoulders, do upside-down wall push-ups. Then use a heavy suitcase or bag to do frontal and lateral raises.

Use that same bag to blast your back by doing bent-over rows. Focus on your lower back with prone back extensions.

Hit your arms with suitcase curls and overhead triceps extensions.

Do jump squats and stationary lunges to finish off your legs.

These are just a few examples of exercises you can do inside your hotel room without any special equipment. Before leaving for your trip, one of the best investments you can make is purchasing a pair of dumbbells. They're portable and can be used in many of the aforementioned lifts.

However, if you decide to stay active this spring break, just remember, "If you don't use it, you lose it." Stick to your routine however possible. Then you won't be left playing catch-up when you return to Manhattan.

Trent Scott is a junior in nutritional sciences/ pre-med and American Council on Exercise certified personal trainer at Peters Recreation Complex. Please send comments to sports@ spub.ksu.edu.

Nutritious snacks an important part of packing

Have you made your spring break plans? That is, plans for healthy eating on the road?

Don't waste what you've worked so hard for. If you didn't already know it, spring break can wreak havoc on healthy eating habits.

Why not make up for your consumption of nonnutritive, empty calories (alcohol), with energypacked snacks on the side?

Trust me, it can be done.
Then you won't have to worry about a little extra jiggle while soaking up some sun.

Plan ahead, whether for a whole day of meals or for road trip snacks. Planning means healthier choices and better portion control.

Without it, there's a good chance you'll end up devouring fast food, candy bars, bags of chips and soda.

If you're like most "spring break dieters" those are the types of foods you've worked hard to avoid in the past few weeks. There's a good chance you'll load up and overdo it on these high-calorie, high-fat items to make up for the previous

"fun-food fast."
Who doesn't want to keep that luscious figure when sporting that new two piece?

Keep your waistline under control this break with some guilt-free goodies.

FRUITS & VEGGIES

MELISSA

HAUG

Pack fresh grapes, apples, oranges, cherries, pears or plums and keep them cool. Bananas are another choice that do not need to be chilled. Keep them on the top of your food bags to prevent squashing.

Celery, carrots sticks, cherry tomatoes and snap beans also travel well, and like the items listed above, they are loaded with vitamins, minerals, and fiber.

Store a pocket knife in the glove box for cutting, and remember your low-fat dressings for dipping. Gran Granola is a favorite travel snack. Whole-grain crackers and whole-bran cereals, in moderation, can refuel energy as well.

NUTS

Pairing nuts and dried fruits is much healthier than a bag of M&Ms. Try mixing almonds and dried cranberries, or walnuts and dried apricots. Prunes and dried banana chips can be a tasty treat too.

COOKIES

Bring cookies that contain oatmeal, fruit or nuts. Their fiber helps in satisfying dessert cravings.

This spring break, prevent spoilage – that is, don't spoil healthy eating habits when you don't have to.

Melissa Haug is a senior in public health nutrition and dietetics, a nutrition consultant and an American Council on Exercise certified personal trainer at Peters Recreation Complex. Please send comments to sports@spub.ksu.edu.

1-MINUTE DRILL

Staff reports

BBC| Wildcats to face tough competition against ASU

The K-State baseball team will get its first true test today when the Wildcats take on No. 18 Arizona State, their first ranked opponent of the season.

Arizona State is one of the top offensive teams in the country. The Sun Devils have a .361 team batting average and have hit 21 home runs on the year.

Sophomore Byron Wiley continues to lead the Wildcats, hitting a teambest .431. Wiley also has the Big 12 Conference's top on-base percentage at .554.

K-State will send right-handed sophomore Justin Murray to the mound today.

The Wildcats are coming off a threegame sweep of North Dakota State. K-State has won five straight and has a record of 14-2.

GLF | Women's golf team finishes 12th at Texas A&M

The K-State women's golf team faced tough competition at the Texas A&M Mo'Morial in Bryan, Texas, and finished 12th out of 16 teams last weekend.

The Wildcats improved their team score each day, penciling in a score of 326-322-318—966. Junior Michelle Regan led the team once again, shooting 79-77-76—232 (+16), and finishing in 22nd place.

Five Big 12 conference teams finished in front of the Wildcats, including Oklahoma State (+53), Texas A&M (+62), Missouri (+89), Oklahoma (+89), Texas (+96). K-State managed to sneak by Iowa State (+110), finishing just eight strokes ahead of the Cyclones.

No. 3 Arizona State captured the first place team title, finishing the weekend 29-over par. Southern California's Paola Moreno, who shot even par in the tournament, was the individual champion.

The Wildcats' next tournament will be the Mountain View Collegiate at Mountain View Golf Course in Tucson, Ariz., on March 24 and 25.

Associated Press

BKC | Big 12 coaches favor expanding tournament

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Syracuse coach Jim Boeheim has plenty of support from Big 12 coaches for expanding the NCAA tournament.

Boeheim, a longtime proponent of including more teams in the field, was flabbergasted Sunday when the Orange were snubbed by the selection committee. That brought another round of calls from coaches on Monday to expand the tournament to at least 68 teams, if not more.

"If the field is designed to get the best 64 teams in, then from that standpoint you'd think it needs to be modified," said Kansas coach Bill Self.

Expanding the tournament has become a hot-button conversation piece that regularly bridges the gap between selection Sunday and the start of the NCAA tournament Thursday. It's the rallying cry of every fan whose team was passed over and every coach whose job security is measured by postseason appearances.

The last major tournament expansion came in 1985, which increased the field from 53 to 64 tearns. The NCAA added a play-in game in 2001, when the number of automatic bids increased from 30 to 31.

Since 1985, the number of Division I programs has ballooned from 282 to 336. The swell has been most pronounced since 1993, when a reduction in the number of scholarships a program can award from 15 to 13 spread talent among more teams and created more parity than ever.

During the Big 12 coaches' weekly conference call Monday, Self said the number of mid-majors that reached the NCAA tournament last season, led by George Mason's improbable run to the Final Four and round of 16 berths by Bradley and Wichita State, demonstrated how level the playing field has become

But those berths came at the expense of conferences such as the ACC and Big 12, which had the same number of tournament participants as the Missouri Valley.

.

Standing alone

K-State band director's decision to stop playing 'Hey' song at games influenced by mentor's struggles with southern tradition at Georgia during civil rights movement

By Nick Dunn KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

When Frank Tracz first heard it, he said he was shocked. In his 14 years as band director at K-State, he had never heard such a thing.

At a home game during the 2006 football season, one of Tracz's drum majors asked him if he realized fans were using the "F-word" when the band played the popular "Rock and Roll Part 2," more commonly referred to as the "Hey" song. Because Tracz pays so much attention to the game, he said he hadn't, but he offered one response - disgust.

"You want the emotion at the games, no question," Tracz said. "But I don't think we should dip to the lows with the language and the attitudes we have."

Because of that, Tracz said he stopped having the band play the song, much to the dismay of many fans in attendance. However, just because that particular song isn't played does not mean the word can't be used.

"People tell us we can't play the 'Hey' song, but now I'm hearing it in other cheers," Tracz said. "What are we going to do? It's going to come to the point where they're doing it in the fight song, as well. I'm not suggesting that, but what do we do?"

Since he abolished the song, he attempted to reintegrate it, most recently during a basketball game. The result was not what he had hoped, he said.

After the crowd yelled the "Fword," Tracz said he looked at the crowd and threw up his hands in disappointment.

The use of the word, Tracz said, is just part of the negative cheering becoming more prevalent at K-State in recent years. That is something he would like to help change.

How much of an effect can one band director have on the behavior of an entire student body? It might be more than most think, especially when considering the story of another band director - a man in Georgia who, more than 30 years ago, took a stand for something in which he believed, no matter how much trouble it

In the South, traditions can die hard.

When Craig Parker, a music professor at K-State, was a trumpet player in the University of Georgia marching band during the 1970s, he experienced this firsthand. As a five-year member of the Redcoat Marching Band, Parker witnessed the slow death of one of the most popular songs in American history, "Dixie."

He said his band director, Roger Dancz, was an unsung hero of the civil rights era for refusing to play the High praise for a man who made his living directing music rather than making famous speeches, like some civil rights leaders.

"Here's a guy who basically put his career and his reputation on the line," Parker said. "He took lots of flak from lots of people, but he stuck to his guns and made the University of Georgia a better place and a more accepting place for people of all races."

To understand how a band director had such an effect on an entire university, one must take a look at the long history of the song.

****

Written in 1859 by Daniel Emmett, "Dixie," with its catchy tune, became a popular song in the North and South during the beginning of the Civil War. Troops from both armies marched to war to the tune. The song rose in popularity during a time when one race would write song lyrics making fun of another, and because it mocked the way black people spoke, "Dixie" soon became a fixture in the Confederate states.

By the time the civil rights movement was heating up in the '60s and racial tension was at its peak, "Dixie" evolved into a symbol for keeping racial oppression the way it was. In fact, Parker said, groups like the Ku Klux Klan even used the song as a rallying

So it came as no surprise that there was added controversy when Southeastern Conference schools played "Dixie" throughout football games.

When there was a first down, the band would play. Score a touchdown, strike up the music.

"This song took on even more enhanced meanings," Parker said. "To those who wanted to keep segregation alive, 'Dixie' became a way of symbolizing that they wanted the ways of the past to remain."

Given that the student body of every SEC school was composed mostly of white students at the time, there wasn't much of a problem. However, by the early '70s, when more black students were integrated into traditionally white schools, "Dixie" started to incite violence among the fans.

Seeing as most of the lyrics were offensive to a large percentage of the people in attendance, Dancz made a bold decision in 1974. "Dixie" would not be played at any more Bulldog sporting events.

The backlash was swift.

For two or three years, Dancz had to be escorted by state troopers from the band room to the field. Reporters called for his firing in editorials. He received all kinds of threats. One reactionary newspaper at the time hired airplanes to fly over football games with banners that read, "Fire Dancz. Play Dixie."

"He went through lots of turmoil just because of his fairness and his sense of right and wrong," Parker

Even supporters of Dancz's decision, including Parker, were subjected to late-night phone calls and threats.

Eventually, however, the hostility subsided. The threats went away. And by the late 1970s, most of the other SEC schools had cast "Dixie" aside. In fact, after a few years, Dancz brought soul singer James Brown, one of the greatest figures in the history of black musicians, to perform with the band at halftime.

After some initial stubbornness, minds finally were changed.

Dancz, the same man who thrust himself in the middle of a giant controversy, kept his job until he retired in 1991. He died in 1998, and was regarded as one of the most important figures at the University of Georgia.

****

Taking into account all of the racial implications in the 1970s, Tracz is not about to compare his situation to the struggles Dancz endured. But he faces a similar dilemma, albeit on a much smaller scale.

He could please the minority simply by playing the song, with crowd members adding the F-word, or he could stick with what he believes is

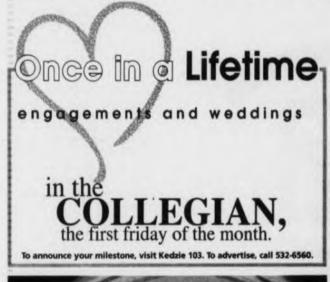

"It's just like anything else," he said. "The silent majority are overrun by the vocal minority in our world. It could be turned around if everybody would just stand up and boo or say the right words or something.

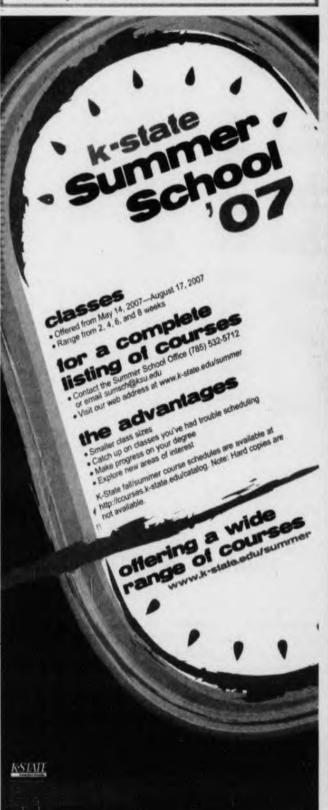

"I was a college student. I did all that stuff, but I knew when to do it and when not to do it."

So the questions remain. Will the "Hey" song ever be played again? Will the negativity subside?

It sometimes is hard for one man to make a difference. After all, traditions, no matter how long they have been around, tend to die hard. But Tracz said he is doing his best to try to have

"It's just concerning to me, because there's a chance that it could get worse," Tracz said, "There's a chance we won't be able to play some of the other things we want to play. It just takes more people to jump on the bandwagon and say, 'That's enough of this. Stop it."

MIMMY JOHN'S IN 1983 TO ADD TO STUDENTS GPA AND GENERAL DATING ARILITY 人对

SUB SANDWICHES

All of my tasty sub sandwiches are a full 8 inches of homemade French bread, fresh veggies and the finest meats & cheese I can buy! And if it matters to you. we slice everything fresh everyday in this store, right here where you can see it. (No mystery meat here!)

Real applewood smoked ham and provolone cheese garnished with lettuce, tomato, and mayo.

#2 BIG JOHN®

Medium rare choice roast beef, topped with yummy mayo, lettuce, and tomato. #3 TOTALLY TUNA™

Fresh housemade tuna, mixed with celery, onions, and our tasty sauce, then topped with alfalfa sprouts, cucumber, lettuce, and tomato. (My tuna rocks!)

#4 TURKEY TOM Fresh sliced turkey breast, topped with lettuce.

tomato, alfalfa sprouts, and mayo. (The original)

#5 VITO®

The original Italian sub with genoa salami, provolone, capicola, onion, lettuce, tomato. & a real tasty Italian vinaigrette. (Hot peppers by request)

#6 VEGETARIAN

Layers of provolone cheese separated by real avocado spread, alfalfa sprouts, sliced cucumber, lettuce, tomato, and mayo. (Truly a gourmet sub not for vegetarians only ...... peace dude!)

J.J.B.L.T.™

Bacon, lettuce, tomato, & mayo. (The only better BLT is mama's BLT)

* SIDE ITEMS *

$1.19/$1.39 * Soda Pop . * Giant chocolate chip or natmeal raisin cookie ... $1.50 * Real potato chips or jumbo kosher dill pickle . . . $0.99

* Extra cheese or extra avocado spread ......... $0.75 * Hot Peppers...... $0.25

FREEBIES (SUBS & CLUBS ONLY) Onion, lettuce, alfalfa sprouts, tomato, mayo, sliced cucumber. Dijon mustard, oil & vinegar, and oregano.

GOURMET SANDWICKES Corporate Headquarters Champaign, IL $3.25 PLAIN SLIMS TM Any Sub minus the veggies and sauce SLIM 1 Ham & cheese SLIM 2 Roast Beef SLIM 3 Tuna salad SLIM 4 Turkey breast SLIM 5 Salami, capicola, cheese

> Low Carb Lettuce Wrap M almeil

SLIM 6 Double prevolone

Same ingredients and price of the sub or club without the bread.

YOUR CATERING SOLUTION!!!

BOX LUNCHES. PLATTERS. PARTIES! DELIVERY ORDERS will include a delivery charge of 4p5c per item (+/-10c).

$7.75 THE J.J. GARGANTUAN™ This sandwich was invented by Jimmy John's brother Huey It's huge enough to feed the hungriest of all humans! Tons of genoa salami, sliced smoked ham, capicola, roast beet. turkey & provolone, jammed into one of nor homemade french buns then smathered with origins, mayo, lettuce tomato. & our homemade italian dressing

THINK EITHER OF US KNOWS WHA

GIANT CLUB SANDWICHES

My club sandwiches have twice the meat and cheese. try it on my fresh baked thick sliced 7-grain bread or my famous homemade french bread!

#7 GOURMET SMOKED HAM CLUB A full 1/4 pound of real applewood smoked ham, provolone cheese, lettuce, tomato, & real mayo!

#8 BILLY CLUB®

Choice roast beef, smoked ham, provolune cheese Dijon mustard, lettuce, tomato. & mayo.

#9 ITALIAN NIGHT CLUB® Real genoa salami, Italian capicola, smoked ham, and provolone cheese all topped with lettuce, tomato. onion, mayo, and our homemade Italian vinaigrette.

(You hav'ta order hot peppers, just ask!) #10 HUNTER'S CLUB® A full 1/4 pound of fresh sliced medium rare reast beef, provolone, lettuce, tomato. & mayo.

#11 COUNTRY CLUB® Fresh sliced turkey breast, applewood smoked ham. provolone, and tons of lettuce, tomato, and mayo!

(A very traditional, yet always exceptional classic!)

#12 BEACH CLUB® (2) Fresh baked turkey breast, provolone cheese, avocado spread, sliced cucumber, sprouts, lettuce, tomato, and

mayo! (It's the real deal, and it ain't even California.) #13 GOURMET VEGGIE CLUB®

Double provolone, real avecado spread, sliced cucumber, alfalfa sprouts, lettuce, tomato. & mayo, (Try it on my 7-grain whole wheat bread. This veggie sandwich is werld class!)

#14 BOOTLEGGER CLUB® Roast beef, turkey breast, lettuce, tomato, & mayo. An American classic, certainly not invented by J.J. but definitely tweaked and fine-tuned to perfection! #15 CLUB TUNA

#16 CLUB LULU™

The same as our #3 Totally Tuna except this one has a lot more. Fresh housemade tuna salad, provolone. sprouts, cucumber, lettuce. & tomato.

fresh sliced turkey breast, bacon, lettuce, tomato.

& mayo. (Jd's original turkey & bacon club)

LIVER! 7 DAYS A WEEK 🕾

1212 MORO ST. MANHATTAN

"YOUR MOM WANTS YOU TO EAT AT JIMMY JOHN'S!"

1985, 2002, 2003, 2004, 2007 JIMMY JOEN'S FRANCHISE LLC. ALL RIGHTS RESERVED. WE RESERVE THE RIGHT TO MINE AND MENU CHA

Property value in Manhattan increases

By Leann Sulzen KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Many property owners soon will see an increase in the value of their real estate.

All taxable properties in Riley County received a total valuation of $4.37 billion last week. As a 15-percent increase in valuation, this reflects property appreciation and $131.3 million in new construction, county appraiser Greg McHenry said.

Taxpayers have until April 2 to challenge the accuracy of the new values.

Roger Luthi, owner of Alliance Property Management, said he plans to appeal the valuations of about 10-15 properties for himself and other owners. Luthi's company manages about 350 rental units and about 150 properties.

"When I get the values I go, 'Well, can I sell it for that amount?' and if I can sell it for that amount then it must be reasonable." Luthi said.

Type of Apt.

1 Bedroom

3 Bedrooms

4 Bedrooms

He said his definition of a

Mean

$453

$624 $848

$1,090

reasonable price is based on rents the company receives, conditions of the property and its location.

McHenry said he tries to give the similar valuations to like properties.

However, Luthi said that is not always easy or possible for the County Appraiser's Office.

"They are basically limited in what they know, because all they really know is when it was built, the size, how many rooms it has and its location," Luthi said. "Take two houses that sit side by side that are the same. If one is in excellent condition and one is in poor condition, a willing buyer would factor that Luthi has been in the real estate business for 15 years and said he also uses the valuations to help him guess how much he will pay in property taxes based on increases in previous years.

"I'm estimating for every $10,000 increase in a value of a rental property that the actual taxes will probably go up $75 plus," he said.

$355

$425

$560

$795

However, McHenry said property taxes do not always increase when property valuations increase, because the mill levy must be included in the equation. A mill is $1 of property tax for each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

For example, an $86,956 home would have about $10,000 in assessed valuation. That means the homeowner will pay about $10 in property taxes for each mill levied by the city, county, school district and state. Manhattan property owners pay a total of 110.571 mills on their property to multiple government entities.

Although property valuations have increased in the past few years, the total mill rate decreased, McHenry said.

However, property taxes increased, because the mill rates were not decreased enough to offset the increase in property valuations.

The effect recent property valuations will have on property taxes will not be realized until this summer when city

Average sale price for homes in Riley County

Average price

66,927

and county commissioners set the mill levies, McHenry said.

Although property taxes do have some effect on how much his company charges for a rental unit, Luthi said it is more about what the rental market will bear.

"You can't raise the rents more than the tenants are willing to pay," he said.

Alliance Property Management's average cost of a twobedroom, one-bath apartment that is close to campus is about $600 to $650, Luthi said.

According to a survey by the County Appraiser's Office, the average rental rate of a twobedroom apartment in Manhattan is $624.

When Luthi decides rental rates for units, he said he tries to look at what his competitors are charging and what the market will support.

"If we show a place once, and it rents, we probably have it priced low or right," he said. "If we show a place 10 times and nobody wants to rent it, we've overpriced."

Average price

106,613

Riley County Appraiser's Office

U.N. agency says 7 staff members will leave N. Korea by week's end

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

UNITED NATIONS - The U.N. Development Program said Monday that seven of its nine international staff members in North Korea will leave the country by this weekend following the agency's decision to halt operations there.

The agency suspended its North Korea program last week because Pyongyang failed to meet certain conditions set by its board after the U.S. alleged that U.N. aid money was being diverted to Kim Jong Il's regime. In response to the allegations, Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon ordered an external audit of all U.N. operations in North Korea. The audit began Monday.

The UNDP said it would leave two foreign staff members, the deputy resident representative and the operations manager, in North Korea to help facilitate the audit.

Most of the 22 North Korean staff members will stop working by Thursday.

The UNDP's mission is to help developing nations shape economic development and good governance policies. The agency does not provide humanitarian assistance.

In January, the United States accused the agency of funneling millions of dollars in hard currency to North Korea with little assurance that Kim used the money to help his people instead of diverting it to "illicit purposes," including developing nuclear weapons.

The UNDP said the use of hard currency for its operations in North Korea "in difficult circumstances" was approved by its executive board, and it would welcome an external audit.

But the agency's executiveboard decided on Jan. 25 that it would only continue operau tions in North Korea if several' conditions could be met by March 1

Those included that the UNDP would no longer pay North Korean staff in hard currency, no longer employ-North Koreans loaned front government agencies, and refocus its programs to ben24 efit the North Korean people' rather than build the capacity of the government.

David Morrison, the agency's chief spokesman, saida North Korean delegationwanted to revisit the condist tions, but the agency consida ered them nonnegotiable and' suspended operations.

The suspension is the firsf' in memory for the U.N. agency and affects 20 projects with a budget of $4.4 million, Morri-

Super Duplexes $1,191 $1,200 $1,180 $1,200 - Riley County Appraiser's Office Moore Property Management

Average rental price for homes in Riley County

$433

$1,050

Since 1974

1125 Laramie Suite C Manhattan, KS 66502

785-537-0205

4 Bedrooms 4 Baths

1120 & 1122 Pierre

4 Bedrooms 2 Baths 923 Bluemont "A"

1215 Bertrand 3 Bedrooms 2 Baths

927 Fremont

1539 Campus 3 Bedrooms 1 Bath

2461 Hobbs

2 Bedrooms 1 Bath 1010 Thurston

1212 Bluemont

Plus numerous other 2 bedroom and 1 bedroom apartments View our properties at www.moorepropertymanagement.com

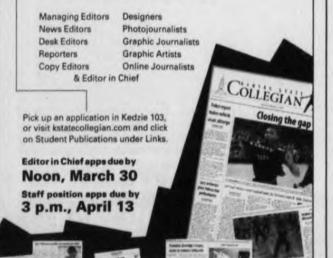

Is the Collegian erfect?

> No? How about you come help make a good thing better...

(and get paid for it)

Work for us during the summer '07 fall '07

We're looking for people who are reliable, show initiative, and possess writing skills and want the real story of campus life to be told. If you fit this description, you should probably work one of these eleven positions:

Get 300 free text messages a month for one year. Sign up for new service and show a valid college ID at the Sprint store. After 12 months, pay the regular monthly fee

RED MOTORAZR™ V3m Motorola and Sprint are collaborating with (PRODUCT)*** to help eliminate AIDS in Africa. ININRED COM

This feature-packed phone is the only RED MOTORAZR that lets you download music wirelessly from the Sprint Music Store."

$593

$109.99 2-year price Plus $50 mail-in rebate With new line activation and 2-year agree

Sprint POWER UP

Sprint stores

Hablamos Español

JUNCTION CITY 701 N. Washington St. 785-762-34344

MANHATTAN 100 Manhattan Tower Center Manhattan Mail 785-539-4919

"new extended hours 9a-9p M-Sat, 10a-6p Sun 785-537-3500

PREFERRED DEALERS EMPORIA Wireless Lifestyle - Sprint 620-340-0044

HUTCHINSON Wireless Lifestyle - Sprint 1511 E. 17th St

SALINA Modern Electronics 2146 Planet Ave. 785-825-5352

Coverage not available everywhere. Available leatures and services will vary by phone and network. The Nationwide Sprint PCS Network reaches over 250 million people. Voice calling area reaches over 165 million people in the U.S., Puerto Ricc, U.S. Virgin Islands and Guam. Offers not available in all markets. Additional terms and restrictions apply. Subject to credit approval. See store or sprint.com for details. Service Plan: Up to $36 activation and $200 early termination fees apply per line. Deposit may be required. Instant Savings. Activation at time of purchase required. No cash back. Mail-in Rebate: Requires purchase by 02/17/07 and activation by 03/03/07. Rebates cannot exceed purchase price. Taxes excluded. Line must be active 30 consecutive days. Allow 8 to 12 weeks for rebate. Free Rest Messaging. Text message overage is $0.10 per message. To avoid charges, you must contact us prior to the billing end date of the 12th plan months Bisk-Free Guaranties: Call us to disactivate and return (to place of purchase) complete, undamaged phone with receipt within 30 days of activation. You are responsible for all charges based on actual usage (partial monthly service charges, taxes, Sprint Fees, Cl., Project RED: Motorola and Sprint will collectively make a $17 contribution on the sale of each RED.

MOTORAZE phone to the Global Fund to Fight AloS, Tuberculosis and Maiaria in Africa. See www.motorola.com/red or www.theglobalfund.org/en for more details. KS Residents: In those areas in which Sprint Nextel is eligible to receive support from the federal universal service fund, Sprint Nextel must meet all reasonable requests for service. Unresolved questions concerning service availability can be directed to the Kansas Corporation Commission Office of Public Affairs and Consumer Protection at 800-662-0027. ©2007 Sprint Nextel. All third-party product or service names are property of their respective owners. All rights reserved.

THE EDGE

Tuesday, March 13, 2007

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Page 9

SEX ED

Sexual health advice from the experts at SHAPE

What's your 'Plan B?'

By Annisa Shockey
SEXUAL HEALTH AWARENESS PEER EDUCATORS

As college students, we sometimes make mistakes in life. In most cases this is a poor choice made on our part that could affect the rest of our lives, and sometimes we have to sweat it out for a few days before we know if we are in the clear. An common example of this is as follows.

A girl named Janice loves to go to Aggieville once a week with her friends. She and her friends engage in the many activities that are offered, one of their favorites being drinking. As we all know, drinking helps (or hurts) us with that momentary lack of judgment thing. So Janice is out with her friends and spots a hot guy she decides to take back to her apartment. There they fool around, and since they are both drunk decide to have sex but do not think to use protection.

The next afternoon, when a hung-over Janice awakes, she cannot remember if they had sex, let alone if they used a condom. She begins to panic, and after talking to a friend, decides to get checked out for pregnancy and sexually transmitted diseases.

After talking to the doctor, Janice discovers several things, the most important being that she has options. One that seems best suited for her is Plan B, or the morning-after pill. Janice learns there are many misconceptions about postcoital contraception.

First and foremost, Plan B is not an abortion pill. The morning-after pill is available over the counter to anyone 18 and older.

Basically, postcoital contraception is a very high dose of birth control. This doesn't mean taking a large amount of birth control pills will prevent pregnancy.

Plan B has become popular because it prevents fertilization of an egg, prevents or delays the release of an egg from the ovary, or causes changes to the lining of the uterus, preventing implantation of a fertilized egg. If a woman is already pregnant, the morning-after pill will not harm or abort the fetus.

Plan B can be taken immediately after unprotected sex and up to 120 hours later, according to a study published by Princeton University. However, the longer one waits, the less effective the pill becomes.

Even though emergency contraception is safe, it might cause nausea and vomiting. However, this can greatly be reduced if the pill is taken with food. If you happen to vomit within an hour of taking Plan B, many doctors recommend repeating the dosage.

If you are pregnant, make an appointment at the Women's Clinic at Lafene Health Center. The clinic can help pregnant women find other options or referrals and get additional support.

If you need a dosage of Plan B, you can purchase it at Lafene or other area pharmacies.

Additionally, for those who would like to help with sexual health education next semester, SHAPE (EDCEP 311) is a three-credit-hour course that counts toward a leadership minor or can be used for general elective credit. If interested, visit www.k-state. edu/lafene/SHAPE/index.htm to access an application. Applications are due March 30.

Sex Ed is a weekly column written by the members of Sexual Health Awareness Peer Educators and edited by Carol Kennedy, director of health promotions at Lafene Health Center. If you would like SHAPE to answer your sexual health question, please contact SHAPE at shape@ksu.edu.

He's the McMahon

FX star discusses latest cinematic role in "Premonition"

By Eileen Laux
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

"Nip/Tuck" star Julian McMahon said he once had a strong feeling about something that occurred a couple of days later.

This feeling, possibly classified as a premonition, transfers to the big screen with his new film, "Premonition," co-starring Sandra Bullock.

In the film, Bullock and McMahon play a married couple who have a normal, middle-American lifestyle until Linda (Bullock) receives the news that her husband, Jim (McMahon), died in a car accident. However, the next morning she wakes up to realize he is alive. The film flips back and forth between him being alive and dead.

McMahon said in a teleconference he was attracted to the role because of the script and emotional story.

"This is a psychological thriller, but what I think is a very important concept is the love story behind it," he said.

He said this role was particularly challenging because the time frames are skewed. He said he comes in and out consistently and sometimes had to make sure he was in the right outfit and frame of mind.

McMahon said he began preparing for the role first through wardrobe. "Once you've got the outfits and locations and look the part, you kind of start fitting it," he said.

The Australian native has acted in television and film, with roles in "Fantastic Four" and its upcoming sequel.

He stars as plastic surgery playboy Dr. Christian Troy on "Nip/Tuck" and was once the half-demon, halfhuman Cole on "Charmed."

He said he is very specific when choosing his roles.

"It has to be a character I really want to play, an actor that I would like to work with and have a director that you connect with and feel like you can make the best movie you can with," he said.

McMahon said he chose to return for the 100th episode of "Charmed" as a guest star because everyone was so good to him when he was there.

"The producer, Brad Kern, was such a great guy to work with and the girls (Holly Marie Combs, Alyssa Milano and Rose McGowan) were fantastic, and we had such a good time," he said. "I really had the opportunity to grow as an actor because they gave me the opportunity to do whatever I wanted. I was there for three years. It becomes part of your family. It really connected with me not just professionally, but personally. If the show was around now I would do the 200th episode if they asked me."

For now, McMahon said he is taking a short break, with "Fantastic Four: Rise of the Silver Surfer" coming out June 15 and "Nip/Tuck" returning to FX in June.

Jenna Purinton, junior in apparel and textile marketing, 'said she likes "Nip/Tuck" and is the creator of the Nip/Tuck Fanatics group on Facebook.com.

She said she likes the show because it is over the top and is a soap opera at night that is not like regular daytime soaps.

"I think he is a good actor," she said. "It was hard at first to see him as anything other than Dr. Troy, but he commits to his roles and makes it fun to watch him."

She said she is planning to see McMahon's new film because it will be something different, and she also is a fan of Sandra Bullock. "It seems like it will be a good change to see him in a different role," she said. "This role seems totally different, but I think he will do a good job."

"Premonition" premieres March 17, and McMahon said he hopes audiences will take different ideas and emotions from the film.

"It's an individual thing," he said.
"But if you could, walk away feeling like you appreciate what you have.
Just look at what's right in front of you and take a moment to appreciate it."

NEW RELEASES

Music

Amy Winehouse, "Back to Black"
Neil Young, "Live at Massey Hall"
Type O Negative, "Dead Again"
The Fratellis, "Costello Music"
Musiq Soulchild, "Luvanmusiq"
James Morrison, "Undiscovered"
Jorma Kaukonen, "Stars in My Crown"
Lloyd, "Street Love"
Corrs, "Dreams: The Ultimate Corrs Collections"

Aqualung, "Memory Man"

DVDs

"The Holiday"

Movie trailer editor Arnanda (Cameron Diaz) of Los Angeles, Calif., and journalist Iris (Kate Winslet) of Surrey, England, live 5,000 miles apart and have never met, but are dealing with the same problem: men. Arnanda has just broken up with her cheating boyfriend and Iris is pining for her ex. They come upon a Web site called home exchange and swap houses for two weeks with the goal of forgetting their troubled love lives. With newfound romance, however, both their lives change forever.

"Casino Royale"

In his first mission, James Bond (Daniel Craig) must stop Le Chiffre, a banker to the world's terrorist organizations, from winning a high-stakes poker tournament at Casino Royale in Montenegro.

"Harsh Times"

Jim Davis (Christian Bale) is an ex-Army Ranger who finds himself slipping back into his old life of petty crime after a job offer from the LAPD evaporates. His best friend is pressured by his girlfriend, Sylvia, to find a job, but Jim is more interested in hanging out and making cash from small heists while trying to get a law enforcement job so he can marry his Mexican girlfriend.

"Shortbus"

Numerous New York City-dwellers come to the exclusive club Shortbus to work out problems in their sexual relationships. Rob (Raphael Barker) and Sophia (Sook-Yin Lee) are a happily married couple, except that she never has experienced sexual climax. This irony follows her to work, because she is a couples counselor who frequently has to deal with the sexual issues other couples have. Two of her patients are Jamie (PJ DeBoy) and James (Paul Dawson), a gay couple who have been monogamous for five years and counting.

"Lovewrecked"

On a Caribbean cruise, Jenny (Amanda Bynes) is marooned on a beach with her rock and roll idol. Deliriously in love with the idea of time alone with him, she manages to hide the fact that they're a stone's throw away from their resort.

TV on DVD

"Without a Trace — The Complete Second Season"

"Bosom Buddies — The First Season"

"Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles — Original Series (Season 4)"

- www.amazon.com

Oregon band's 2nd album lives up to debut

Menomena

"Friend and Foe"

★★★★
Album review by Mark Sibilla

After looking at the release schedule for spring of this year, 2007 seems to be the year of the sophomore album. Portland, Ore., multi-instrumentalist trio Menomena released its second proper album, "Friend and Foe," and has deftly sidestepped the sophomore slump. In 2003, Menomena pricked up the ears of many indie rock fans with its debut, "I Am the Fun Blame Monster" (an anagram for "The First Menomena Album").

Deeler, looping software created by band member Brent Knopf, makes the band's sound stand out. The band tightened its song craft on "Friend and Foe," which has allowed Menomena to add even more layers to its already complex and exciting sound.

On "Friend and Foe," Menomena has unwittingly created a concept album about the dichotomies of life. This is apparent in the lyrical themes that appear throughout the album. This makes "Friend and Foe" an incredible album; each song has its own merits, but the recurring musical and lyrical themes in each song connects the album into a satisfying whole.

First song, "Muscle 'N Flow," constantly trades complex drum lines with smooth bass lines, clipped guitar patterns and twinkling piano chords. Multiple instrument layers are added over these instruments, but Menomena's songs never seem excessive.

The vocals on "Friend and Foe" are much more histrionic than on the debut. Justin Harris takes chances with his vocal duties and now sings melodiously, growls menacingly or coos sweetly when the song requires it.

At one point in "Muscle 'N Flow," only the piano and organ softly support the beautifully sung, gospel-like, "Now here I stand, a broken man ... If Jesus could only wash my feet, then I'd get up strong and muscle on." Self-doubt versus self-esteem is just one of many lyrical examples of the conflict of life's dualities on the album.

The theme of feeling worthy is explored in "Evil Bee." The track gathers steam around the halfway point until it breaks into a funky, post-punk breakdown that surrounds the morose lines, "Oh to be a machine/Oh, to be wanted, to be useful."

Menomena fiercely trashes on "The Pelican." The narrator spitefully tells another person to "take it from my hook, while it's still kicking/take it from my mouth while I'm still chewing." These sneering threats mixed with the tracks musical energy – death march-like pianos, angry percussion fills and crunching guitar chords – gives the idea of a more tangible foe and continues the album's "concept."

"Air Aid" is Led Zeppelin's "Kashmir" re-imagined through a more accessible Frank Zappa. The track is perhaps the darkest of the band's theme of good and evil. The chorus consists of Harris calmly telling us, "Cover your ears, cover your eyes, cover your mouth/Silence, blindness tasteless violence/Air raid."

There are countless examples of interesting ideas throughout "Friend and Foe." The album is a satisfying dip into experimental-yet-completely-accessible indie rock. Without a doubt, Menomena has followed up on its earlier promises and has created one of the best records of early 2007.

FICTION

Earbud Evil | From the woods to the limestone jungle

By Logan C. Adams KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Editor's note: This is the 12th segment of "Earbud Evil," a fictional story the Collegian will publish daily until spring break. It follows Alex, a fictional K-State student, as he deals with a hidden threat to the university.

Though the names of real people will accompany made-up characters, all events are fictional. This is intended for entertainment and is not factually based.

We needed a plan.

Steven, Mattie and I stole a page from guerilla warriors and sought cover in the trees east of Anderson Hall. We couldn't be noticed easily from the road or sidewalk, but we could see anyone coming our way.

"First, we need to get Wefald under control before he does any more damage," Mattie began, taking charge of our merry band. "Next he might try to turn K-State into the Manhattan campus of KU or sell off bits of campus to developers."

Steven and I nodded. We had our first objective, now we just had to figure out how to do it.

"Should we use rope or duct tape?" I pondered, getting funny looks from my co-conspirators. "Look, he's a spry old man. We're going to have to do something a bit more serious than ask him nicely."

Mattie laughed. She said she was thinking something more along the lines of tranquilizer guns or Tasers. There was a long, awkward pause.

'Oh, like you've never wanted to shoot someone important?" she said, breaking the silence. I just stared at her, and Steven wondered aloud if we should start calling her Mattie Harvey Oswald.

I said we needed Wefald to be awake so we could question him. There might be something useful left in his head, despite the puppet strings attached to his synapses.

"Duct tape it is," Mattie said. "Second, we need to figure out a way to snap these KU zombies out of it."

Steven thought it was too vague.

"How are we going to do that?" he demanded. "It'd be great if we had something up our sleeve that just solved it all in one fell swoop, but we don't. We know how to get Wefald. Let's do that, then figure out what to do."

I took Mattie's side.

"We may not know how to do it yet, but the fact remains that we need to get it done," I said. "We need to know what the next step will be after we get one done, or it'll be like a dog catching the car."

My comrades gave me a funny look. They didn't get the reference. This happens a lot for me.

"You ever seen a dog chase a car?" I asked, and they nodded. "If the dog caught the car, what would he do then? He'd probably just hold on and get dragged along because he hadn't planned on success."

Steven agreed. We had our second objective.

"What about after that, then, if we want to have this all planned out?" he asked. "How about finding the people behind this and making sure they don't do it again? Maybe we'll have Mattie shoot them, instead."

It was agreed. We would have three objectives: Get Wefald, bring K-State back to sanity, and then we would get even.

We made a short excursion off-campus to fetch some Duct tape and a couple baseball bats from Steven's house. We passed these amongst ourselves as we made the trip back up the hill to Anderson Hall and plotted our raid on the president's office

Eventually it was decided that I would go first with the Duct tape hidden in my pack and enter through Anderson's south doors. Steven would follow about 10 paces behind and watch my back. I would find Wefald and get him into a chair while Steven would pitch in if our quarry was too resistant and fend off anyone who tried to interfere.

Mattie would come in through the east door and cut off Wefald if he saw us coming and made a break for it. If we cornered him first, though, she would come and help.

I shoved the doors open and made long strides inside to find empty halls and quickly entered the office of the President's assistant.

"Hello there, is the president in?" I asked her. "I'd really like to speak with him."

The assistant looked up from her paperwork and pointed to an empty chair.

"He stepped out a moment ago, but you can wait for him there," she instructed, then returned to her papers.

Steven looked into the room through the window in the door and asked what to do. I motioned for him to stay out-

I sat in the chair and realized that the student body president was sitting beside me, also waiting for Wefald. "Hey Lucas, how's the job treating you?" I asked.

"Just lovely," he said, the sarcasm almost tangible. Maddy paused, as if he was considering his words, then started talking loudly so the assistant could hear.

"I've been campaigning for weeks with state legislators to give us this deferred maintenance money. I've practically been begging on the street for help, and then our president tells the whole freaking world we don't need a cent. Then, I come in here to talk to him about it and he's kept me waiting for hours while he walks in and out.

"And to top it all off, my sister stole my iPod yesterday, so I've had to sit here with nothing to pass the time these past hours."

Legislative hand in hospital deal 'mistake'; state still needs cancer center

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA, Kan. - Gov. Kathleen Sebelius doesn't want legislators to interfere in the state-funded medical school's plans to affiliate with a nonprofit, Missouri-based hospital

"It would be a mistake to have legislative interference in this process," she said in a statement Monday.

Sebelius was supportive when the University of Kansas medical school and Medical Center announced plans in February to affiliate with the St.

Luke's system based in Kansas City, Mo., which runs 11 hospi-

The medical school says the affiliation will help make the Kansas City area a center of biosciences work and allow the medical school to attract private research dollars. Medical school residents could work at St. Luke's institutions, and St. Luke's personnel could teach at the medical school.

But some legislators, led by House Speaker Melvin Neufeld, worry the affiliation could siphon doctors away from Kansas. Officials at the University of Kansas Hospital, which shares a Kansas City, Kan., campus with the medical school, also have misgivings about the St. Luke's affiliation.

Last week, the House Appropriations Committee added provision to the medical school's budget, denying the school $116 million in state funds if the affiliation occurs without the approval of the Kansas hospital's board. The medical school and the Kansas hospital currently are negotiat-

"If you wanted to take the governor's thing at face value, probably the governor shouldn't interfere, either," said Neufeld, R-Ingalls

The state separated the Kansas hospital from the medical school in 1998, but the hospital remains the medical school's primary teaching hospital and relies on the medical school for its doctors

Neufeld wants the Board of Regents, which oversees state universities, to hire an arbitrator to work out an agreement between the Kansas hospital and the medical school.

Some legislators fear the affiliation could divert medical students from the Kansas hospital and an affiliated program in Wichita, resulting in fewer doctors in Kansas, particularly in rural areas. The hospital also fears it could suffer financially, lessening its ability to care for needy patients who can't pay.

"I still have concerns about potential partnership," Neufeld said in letter Monday to regents Chairman Nelson Galle. "There are still substantial, unanswered questions."

Officials at the Kansas hospital were reviewing the governor's statement Monday evening and planned to respond.

Pre-lease

Today for Spring!

Only A few homes remain

•Washer/Dryers or

hookups available

· Garages Available

Peaceful Garden

Enormous Closets

GEORGETOWN

776-8080

www.GeorgetownApts.net Georgetown#CurtinPropertyCo.com

Preleasing!

Few Spaces Remain for

* Upper Classmen

Amenities

· Graduate Students

Quiet Park-Like Setting
 On-Site Laundry - Enormous Closets
 Private Fitness Center

Customer Service

• Three-Time winner of the National
Multifamily CEL. Award for the #1 in
Customer Service in Americal

On-Site Management Office

Full-time Maintenance Personnel

WESTCHESTER PARK

776-1118

Abundant Parking/Garages

Spacious 1 & 2 Bedroom

Storm Center

Setting

On-Site Management

Private Fitness Center

Sebelius said she is confident negotiations will result in an agreement strengthening both the hospital and the medical school. Affiliation "is directly tied" to efforts to persuade the National Cancer Institute for a research center in Kansas.

"A nationally designated cancer center at KU would give Kansans access to cutting-edge treatments and cures," Sebelius' said. "Ending the scourge of cancer will only be possible if. we support medical research, which is why bringing a cancer center to Kansas should be a top priority of the state."

Classifieds continue on the next page

pets/

campus.

785-532-8256.

Rent-Duplexes

FOUR-BEDROOM

THREE baths, June or Au

gust, $1280, nice, washer/

dryer hookups, off-street parking, great location, no

SIX AND five-bedroom house/ duplex, next to

washer/ dryer, central air,

off-street parking, no pets. 785-537-7050.

THREE-BEDROOM

UNIT, located at 8/ 802

North 5th, No pets, $975/

WALK TO class One.

two, three, four-bedroom.

No smoking, no drinking, no pets. 785-539-1554.

120

Rent-Houses

1310 N. 11th. Two-bedroom, June lease. No pets, close to campus.

1400 HARTFORD, Four-

just west of KSU campus,

Completely remodeled a year ago. $1300/ month. All appliances including 785-539-1975

785-313-8292.

785-564-0372.

smoking

Bulletin Board

010 Announcements LEARN TO FLY! K-State

Flying Club has five air planes and lowest rates Call 785-776-1744, www.ksu.edu/ksfc ONE-BEDROOM IN fur nished duplex. One block from campus. Off-street parking. $350.00 per month plus utilities. Call 785-447-0584 PROFESSIONAL EDItheses, dissertations, term papers, journal articles. Local consultation. vondiether@hotmail.-

Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can

LOST: BLUE notebook in Kedzie 105. if found

Rent-Apt, Furnished

Manhattan CITY Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity inhousing without dis-tinction on account of race, sex, familial status military status, disability, religion, age, color, na-tional origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

QUIET VERY nice twobedroom apartment. Very close to campus. Washer/ dryer. Utilities paid. Year lease starting June 1. $650/ month 785-537-1566

Apply At: 532-3790 Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

MANHATTAN CITY Ordiery person equal opportutinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, on, age, color, naional origin or ancestry. ported to the Director of sources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

1117 VATTIER. New all electric. Two-bedrooms appliances furnished, no Close to campus 785-313-8292

1213 POMEROY. bedroom, half block from KSU. $570/ month. June Trash and water paid. Emerald Property ement

1213B POMEROY, One bedroom basement apart Close to KSU, $475/ month plus electric. Offstreet parking. August. Emerald Property Ma agement. 785-587-9000.

1230 CLAFLIN. Can't get any closer than this. Across the street from KSU. Two-bedroom apartent. $620 plus electric. On-site laundry. August. Emerald Property Management, 785-587-9000.

1620 MCCAIN. Four-bedtwo room. bathroom vithin one block of campus. $1140 plus electric On-site laundry. June or August. Emerald Prope Management 785-587-9000

1620 MCCAIN, Three-bedbathroom within one block of campus. $970 plus electric On-site laundry. August. Emerald Property Ma agement. 785-587-9000.

1852 ANDERSON Twobedroom apartments just west of campus. On-site laundry. Some with balconies. $630-$650/ month. August. Emerald Management. Property 785-587-9000.

2055 1/2 TECUMSEH Really cute studio west of KSU. June possession. $425 plus electric. Emer-Management. 785-587-9000.

2514 STAGG Hill. Two bedroom apartment with even a fireplace. $625. agement. 785-587-9000.

405 N. Juliette. One-bedroom apartment close downtown. Only $450/ month plus electric. Big laundry. August lease. Emerald Property Management, 785-587-9000. 413 MORO. One-bedroom apartment close to Walgreens and Wal-Mart. $475/ month plus electric. On-site laundry. August. Emerald Property Management. 785-587-9000.

ALLIANCE PROPERTY MANAGEMENT. One-bedroom. June, July, August. 785-539-4357. www.rentapm.com

JUNE 1: one-bedrooms rooms $420- $485, threebedroom $825, four-bedrooms $650. All close to KSU. 785-587-0399.

FOUR-BED-ROOM, two bath in Aggieville. Great view, served parking. Available for August. 785-320-6300.

ONE, TWO, four, five-bedroom apartments/ houses for June and August leases. 785-539-8295.

ONE, TWO, three, and four-bedroom apartments. Close to campus and agdry. 785-539-5800.

ONE, TWO, three, four plus bedroom apartments and houses to rent. See our website for more infowww.apskansas.com or call 785-370-4044.

ONE, TWO, three, four five, six-bedroom apartment/ houses next to campus. Washer/ dryer, cen-785-537-7050. ONE-BEDROOM TO five bedrooms. Apartments, duplexes and homes. Most close to campus or August leases. Check our website www. emeraldpropertymanage-Property Management 785-587-9000 for more information.

ONE-BEDROOM VERY nice, close to campus, $475- $550 a month. 785-341-0686.

PARK PLACE Apartments. One-bedrooms. Summer/ fall leasing. Pets welcome. One-half from KSU at Seth Child and Claffin. 785-539-2951.

PARK PLACE Apartments. Two-bedrooms Pets welcome. Summer/ fall leasing. One-half mile from KSU at Seth Child and Claffin. 785-539-2951.

SPACIOUS THREE-BED-Ave. Close to campus and center, on-site la dry, pool, small pets accepted $800/ month, nego-tiable. 516-343-3770, 785-317-1740.

THREE AND four-bedroom apartments avail able in August. Close to campus. Water and trash paid. Coin operated laun-dry. 785-537-7810, 785-537-2255. THREE-BEDROOM, ONE bath plus vanity. $1050/ month. Trash/ water paid. 1510 College Ave. Pool access. Washer/ dryer in unit. 314-805-0674. TWO-BEDROOM APART-

Thurston, 816-734-9355. Close to Campus! TWO-BEDROOM, many August. 785-341-0686.

VERY NICE three-bedroom, two bath apartment. Three blocks to Aggieville. 822 Fremont. Affordable utilities, August 785-313-1807.

WHY RENT WHEN YOU CAN BUY? Condos for Two and three-b room starting at $112,650. 785-537-2096.

WILDCAT VILLAGE. Available June or August fourbedroom, two washer/ dryer, two bath, room, $1400. Cable paid. 785-776-2425 785-565-3760. www.vil-

Spacious Duplexes Custom built with the

K-State student

closets, all kitchen appliances, washer/dryer, off street parking, phone and cable connections in every room, security lighting, trash and lawn care

Security deposit is the same as one month's rent. The lease period begins August 1

4 Bedrooms, 2 Baths 1,300 Sq. Ft. ONLY $1,150/mo Sorry, No Pets!

Quiet Neighborhood, Convenient and Close to Campus. Day: 313-0751 Night: 537-4682

537-9064

•2000 College Hts •1114 Fremont• •519 Osage•

1420 Beechwood Terrace Newer Apartment Lg. 2 & 3 Bedrooms 110 Baths

> Energy Efficient On a Wooded ecluded 2 Acre Lot with Creek

Washer/Dryer

$740 & $885 341-4024

1000 B Thurston, Fourbedroom, two bathroom parking. East of campus only three blocks. June possession. $1300/ month. Emerald Property Management 785-587-9000.

1209 POMEROY. bedroom with full unfin ished basement street parking. Half block from campus. Washer/ dryer included. $600/ month. August. Emerald Property Management. 785-587-9000.

1219 Pomeroy Four-bedroom, two bath room, plus study room. Half duplex. Completely remodeled, everything new. All new appliances, even washer/ dryer. Be the first to live in the new unit. Half block from campus. Off-street parking.
June lease. $1400/ month. Emerald Property Management

432- 438 Butterfield. Only three years old, two story duplex. Four-bedroom, two bathroom, single car garage. Nice oak wood-$1300. August. Emerald Property Management. 785-587-9000.

785-587-9000

913 COLORADO. Fourbedroom, two bathroom duplex. Only five years old. Lots of space. $1100. Now or August. Emerald Property Management. 785-587-9000. FIVE-BEDROOM BRIT-

TNAY Ridge town home Two and one-half bath Washer/ dryer, $1025 per month. Available August

Need A New Place to Live? Look in the Classifieds

for a roommate

or a house

washer/ dryer. Off-stree parking. August. Emerald Property Management. 785-587-9000. 1403 HARTFORD. Fourbedroom, two bathroom Right on the corner west of campus. Walk to class. month. Completely remodeled a year ago. Emerald Property Management, 785-587-9000.

1417 NICHOLS, four-bedrooms, family room. 1909 Kenmar, three-bedrooms. Both two bathrooms, washer/ dryer, garage game room, fenced patio. 785-539-1177.

1436 LEGORE. Threebedroom, one and one-half bath, two story home less than half block from campus. June lease, $1050/ month. Emerald Property Management. 785-587-9000.

110 Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

350 N. 16th. Two blocks to K-State and Aggieville two-bedroom apartments. Clean, quiet, private parking. No smoking, no pets. $580. June and August leases. 785-539-5508 or 785-564-0857.

350 N. 16th. Two blocks Two-bedroom apartments. Clean, quiet, private parking. No smoking, no pets. $580. August lease. 785-539-5508 or FOUR-BEDROOM, close to campus. central dishwasher. No pets. Available June or August 785-539-0866.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM

TWO-BED-LARGE ROOM, available June. fireplace dishwasher. Very close to 785-317-3780.

PRE-LEASING JUNE and to close KSU, dryer included. details 785-776-2102. youngwilks@yahoo.com, www.wilk-

> 120 Rent-Houses

JARVIS. Two-bedroom home in really nice condition. Nice hardwood floors and single garage. All appliances. West of June lease. $700/ month. Emerald Property Management

785-587-9000. 1529 HILLCREST. Three bedroom, one bath brick with garage and fenced yard. Close KSU sports complex, just west of KSU. June possesion. Pets okay. $975/ month. Emerald Property Management

1725 CASSELL. Four-bedroom home in nice family neighborhood. Near Marlatt School. Completely red recently. $1300 month. Emerald Property Management 785-587-9000

785-587-9000.

2055 TECUMSEH, three bedroom, two bath, living Completely remodeled a the washer and dryer. $1050/ month. Emerald Property Management. 785-587-9000.

2079 COLLEGE View Four-bedroom, two bath th big front porch. West of campus a few blocks. $1300/ month. June possession. Emerald Prop-Management 785-587-9000.

2401 HIMES, right acros street from KSU sports complex. Four-bedroom two bath. All appli-ances. $1300/ month. Au-Emerald Property Management 785-587-9000.

2412 WILDWOOD Lane. Nice, quiet neighborhood Three-bedroom, one bath home with fenced yard. Move-in soon. $900. Emerald Property Management. 785-587-9000.

314 S. 17th. Beautiful. original woodwork in older home. Three-bedroom, home. one bath, full unfurnished basement. Great deck for entertaining. June posses-sion. $975/ month. Emer-Manage-ald Property Ma ment. 785-587-9000. 424 OAKDALE. Absolute wonderful family neighbor-hood. Close to elementary Four-bedroom, three bathroom home with full finished basement. Professionally scaped. $1400/ month. Emerald Property Management. 785-587-9000. 502 FREMONT, three-bedroom, one bath, no pets.

June 785-539-1975 785-313-8292.

620 THURSTON. Fourbedroom, two bath older home all stone exterior. Big backyard deck. All appliances included. $1100/ month. Emerald Property Management 785-587-9000. 723 BERTRAND. Fourbedroom, two bath, with bonus room. Older home east of KSU. August. $1300/ month. Emerald Property Management. Property M 785-587 9000.

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

STUDIO, ONE, two, and three-bedroom. June/ August lease. No pets. Central heat/ air-conditioning. 785-587-9460.

AND three-bedroom. Close to campus. Central air, dishwasher, coin operated laundry facility. Available June or No 785-539-1545.

TWO. THREE and fourbedrooms, close to campus, central air, dish-washer, laundry facilities. No pets. 785-539-0866.

TWO-BEDROOM APART-MENT at 1010 Leavenworth. Just finished, everything is new. Washer dryer. Parking off alley. No pets. Available immed Dave 785-292-4320. nights 785-292-4342

> 117 Rent-Duplexes

THREE AND four-bed room duplex. Neutral colors, lots of space, washer/ dryer furnished, central air, off-street parking. No 785-313-4812.

> 120 Rent-Houses

724 RATONE. Five-bedroom, two bath home four blocks from campus. kitchens plus a family room. Nice house with all appliances. August lease. Only $325 each for five of you. Emerald Property Management. 785-587-9000

748 TUTTLE. Three-bedroom, one bath with single garage and fenced yard. Beautiful hardwood floors $825/ month. July possession. Emerald Property Management 785-587-9000

765 FLLING Absolutely Four-bed huge rooms (the biggest you have seen), two bath with all appliances and garage. with family room too. Big $1300/ fenced yard. month, June possession. Emerald Property Man-agement. 785-587-9000.

905 BLUEMONT. Fivebedroom, three bath, two kitchens. Walk to class and Aggleville. Only $340 each for five of you. Nicely remodeled a couple years ago. June possession. Emerald Prop-erty Management.

AVAILABLE three bedroom Washer/ dryer, houses. close to campus. No pets. 785-317-5026.

785-587-9000.

AVAILABLE JUNE 1. Twobedroom. Air conditioning, washer/ dryer, garage. Half block from campus. lease. $800.

One year le 785-537-8055. CLEAN, QUIET basement apartment. Two-bedroom, two bath, full kitchen, pa tio. $385 per month per cluded, emilyf@ksu.edu. FIVE-BEDROOM. June,

July, August. Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rent-Management. apm.com

FOR RENT. Newer fourbedroom duplex. Good lo-cation with dishwasher, washer and dryer. No $1100. 785-537-7597.

FOUR-BEDROOM 2030 HOUSE. Heights. Central heat and air, washer/ dryer. No pets. $290/ bedroom, lease. June 785-944-3491

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO and one-half bath, study. August 1. $975 per month, Knight Real Es-tate. Call 785-539-5394

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath. Central heat and air. Between campus and ath-

$1300/ month. 785-537-0973. FOUR-BEDROOM. JUNE, July, August. Al-llance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.-

rent-apm.com Mrs. Kim, 913-681-9959. NICE HOUSE at 1010 Two full Leavenworth. Two full baths, all kitchen appliances including washer/ dryer. Upstairs has own heat and air, and has just been remodeled. Plenty of parking off alley, no pets, June lease. Call Dave, 785-292-4320, evenings, 820 OSAGE, 1524 Pipher 3100 James, all four-be rooms, two bath. June 1, two kitchens, three bath

SIX-BEDROOM

rooms, fireplace, two car garage, central Washer/ dryer furnished.

June lease. No pets. Call 785-313-4812.

one bath, washer/ dryer included. June 1- May 31.

1505 Pipher, garage, ca-

ole and ceiling fans in ev ery bedroom, remodeled

throughout. $990/ month 785-341-6295.

515 ease. Call Monday

June

leases. 785-336-1124.

June lease. $295 per bed-

is reserved just for you.

120

Rent-Houses

TWO AND Five-bedroom

air. 785-537-9644.

houses available August

TWO-BEDROOM. ONE

bath, updated, newer car-

TWO-BEDROOMS

JUNE, July, August. Al-liance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.-

VERY CHARMING brick ranch. 2505 Winne. Three-attached

quiet neighbor-

rent-apm.com

785-776-7706

one bath house

College View.

785-313-1807.

no.

blocks from campus. 2038

DELCHIO PROPERTY

Alliance

Property

Management

Specials

'til Spring Break

on 3 Bedrooms

and Above.

Available

June/July/August

Call Alliance

Property Management @ 785-539-4357

www.rent-apm.com

Check web for available listings

(Changes Daily)

Investments

313-5573

June Leases

Diamond K

bedroom,

garage,

new stove, washer

COLLEGIAN

day, 785-776-4805.

THREE-BEDROOM

BRITTNAY RIDGE town house four/ five-bedroom, two and one-half baths, includes appliances, washer/ dryer. No pets August 316-393-9628

FIVE AND Six-bedroom house/ duplex next campus. Personal washer and dryer, central air, off street parking. No pets. 785-537-7050.

FOUR TO five-bedroom. August lease. No pets. Central heat/ air-condition-Washer/ 785-587-9460.

FOUR-BEDROOM BRICK home with two bathrooms. utral colors with ne and outside facelift in progress. Washer/ dryer furnished with garage and central air. June lease. No pets. Call 785-313-4812.

NEXT TO campus, one six-bedroom through houses, and apartments. Washer/ dryer, central air. Available now or fall. No pets. 785-537-7050

120

NICE THREE-BEDROOM houses. Appliances furnished. Available June 1, 1505 Hillcrest. Available August 1, 2039 College View. Call 785-234-9500

Rent-Houses

and dryer included. $695 ONE TO five-bedroom per month, Deposit reapartments and houses. quired. 785-494-8686 campus. 785-539-1975 785-313-8292.

one-bedrooms. Ap-ONE-BEDROOM TO fivehomes Most close to campus. Some farther away. June or August leases. Check out our website www.emeraldpropertymanage-ment.com or call Emerald Management 785-587-9000 for more in-

ONE-BEDROOM to fivebedroom houses and and August leases. See website, www.ap-

SEVEN TO eight-bedroom (two kitchen). June, July, August. Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rent-

SIX-BEDROOM kitchen). June, July, August. Alliance Property

Management. 785-539-4357. www.rent-

THREE OR four-bedroom house for rent. No pets. Close to campus. June lease. 785-539-6096.

THREE OR Four-bedtwo bath, close to campus. 785-341-9459. THREE, FOUR, FIVE, SIX

PLUS BEDROOMS. Look ing for that perfect home rent? Great selection prices. Management 785-341-0686.

THREE-BEDROOM NICE house three blocks west of KSU. Large rooms, ceil-No smoking, pets, or par-ties. June lease. $855. ties. June le 785-776-6318.

THREE-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus. No pets, washer and dryer provided. $900 per month.

785-313-7473.

THREE-BEDROOM, June lease, close to west side of campus. Central air-conditioning. Full kitchen, two bathrooms, single garage. N 785-539-4641. No

THREE-BEDROOM. ONE full bath. $810, 917 Blue mont, year lease, June 2007 - May 2008. Close

THREE-BEDROOM. TWO bath, close to car pus. Ratone St. C. 785-292-4908.

THREE-BEDROOM. JUNE, July, August. Al-llance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.-rent-apm.com rent-apm.com

giatevilla.com

HOMES CLOSE to campus. Call Larry at 785-317-7713. Reece and

HOUSE FOR sale. half bath, central heat/ air $165,000. 316-772-3171

135 Sale-Mobile Homes

FOR SALE: 1985 mobile home, 14x56. Excellent condition central heat and air. Great for students, $7500. 730 Allen Road #175, 316-721-8652

Roommate Wanted

THREE-BEDROOM TWO lease. Male room wanted. Studious, bath, washer/ dryer, no Four $825 plus utilities. August from campus. Off-street parking. Free washer, dryer. 785-341-7171.

CHRISTIAN FEMALE seeks two female gradstu-THREE-BEDROOMS CLOSE to campus. Dishdents starting fall 2007. August to May lease. New tioning, laundry hook-ups, house with washer/ dryer.

ties. Call 847-975-1484. TWO-BEDROOMS FEMALE HOUSEMATE CLOSE to campus. No pets, laundry hook-ups. No drinking/ smoking. $295/ month. One-third utilities, washer/ dryer, Auca313@ksu.edu, 785-537-1464 FEMALE ROOMMATE needed immediately. Nice apartment, one block from campus, $270 a month plus one-third utilities April rent 785-317-9021. negotiable.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted through July. Two-bedroom duplex. Washer dryer, and storage. Rent utilities negotiable Call Amanda at, 913-216-4838.

FOUR FEMALE room wanted. mates Thurston. No smoking, $300 plus utilities. Off-$300 plus utilities. street parking, free laun-Call 316-200-8444 female roommate. No pets. June lease. 913-907-9789.

LOOKING FOR female roommates for a four-bedroom house, $300/ month plus electricity, gas and SBC. 785-587-9207 or 785-230-3008.

hood. No pets, $950. June 1 lease. Ryan Rentals, 785-313-0455, three roommates for duplex. Two bathrooms, washer dryer, dishwasher, 500 Laramie, Manhattan, KS. VERY NICE four-bedroom Call 785-410-2916.

MALE, WALK to class, all furnished, lower level, washer dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, pets, 785-539-1554.

MALE: STUDENT pre-ferred. $260/ month plus utilities. 785-640-7042.

NEAT FEMALE looking for roommate. Well kept apartment August Close to campus. $310/ tact Moore Property Management 785-532-0205.

ONE- TWO-BEDROOMfor female roommates, one block from campus, washer/ dryer, new carpet, large closets, multiple

620-544-3754 ROOMMATE NEEDED until May 31. Rent $275/ month plus one-fourth utili ties. Washer/ dryer/ dish-

house. Call

NEEDED FOR SUMMER. One bedroom in a threeroom, one and one-bath, ground floor apartment. New complex, 1420 Beechwood Terr. dishdryer, apartment. washer in Sublease May 13- July 31. Only pay for June and July; May already paid for. $287/ month utilities. Contact at 620-218-1114 Abby

0 Coffee The Collegian The perfect way to start your day!

Summer 2007. apartment two Great from campus. For more information contact Janelle at jkbeck@ksu.edu 316-650-1738.

FEMALE SUBLEASER wanted. $290 per month rent plus utilities. Extremely close to campus. Call 316-706-7667

ROOMMATES NEEDED utilit dryer, washer, garage space. Right by campus. Leave message at 785-537-0891. SUBLEASER(S) May or June. $550/ month plus utilities. Two spa-bath, huge pantry, two balpond. 785-640-1559. Call or text. two blocks to campus,

bedrooms.

close to Aggieville. Rent $300/ person. Call Call 785-221-6680. SUBLEASER bath apartment. eled, nice yard and deck! also available now. Call

TWO-BEDROOM APARTneeded. One block from Aggieville. Two years old, dryer, $800/ April 1 to August 1, or sooner. 785-313-1327.

Service Directory

Weight Loss & Nutrition

LOSSMALL.COM, proven natural plan and business

Employment/Careers

THE COLLEGIAN cannot tial of advertisements in classification Readers are advised to approach any such business oppor-

sonable cau-tion. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. ADMINISTRATIVE ASSIS-TANT- Networks Plus, the leader in providing business computer services. has a full-time position available in Manhattan, KS. This challenging position requires the ability to handle multiple tasks and priorities while maintaining a positive and energetic attitude. $12/ hour, full-time only, opportunities for advancement. Email resume in Microsoft Word or text format to: jobs@networksplus.com BARTENDINGI $300 a day potential. No experinecessary. Training

1-800-965-6520 ext. 144.

COME SPEND an awe-

some summer with us in the beautiful Rocky Mountains! Working at camp is fun, adventurous and very rewarding. We offer competitive salaries, room/ board and travel al-lowances. Girl Scouts Mile Hi Council owns two resident camps and sevlooking to fill the following RN/ LPN's, counselors, arts/ crafts specialist, farm/ small animal special ist, kitchen assistant, west ern riding counselors, dance/ drama specialists. business managers. For more information Shorty 303-607-4846. www.girlscoutsmilehi.org, campjobs@gsmhc.org DELL CAMPUS reps needed. Promote a top thirty company to gain world business and marketing experience http://www.RepNation.-

FOUR LANDSCAPING positions available Downey-Lawn.com looking for two college summer interns horticulture industry and als with an imagination, drive, and ability to work hard. Apply in person or Call Nathan Downey toll free 1-866-794-LAWN(5296). DowneyLawn.com for more details Downey Lawn & Landscape, PO Box 1, 303 E. Soule, In-galls, NS 67853.

GOLF COACH: ass gott coach needed for Ri-Contact bpultz@usd378.org or 785-485-4000. HARVEST HELP Wanted.

Late May through August. Pays well. 785-587-1956, HAY COMPANY in search summer workers, farm perience needed. Excel-HELP WANTED. Spring yard clean-up. Pick your hours. 785-539-1086, if drivers/ yard help. Com-petitive wages, benefits paid. Apply in person at Howell Lumber Company at 601 Lincoln in Wamego

JOIN THE K-State Online eam at the Office of Mediated Education, and contribute to a variety of important K-State web sites and applications. Candi dates must be motivated, capable of learning new quickly, self-di-able to work at least 15 hours a week willing to devote at least a year to the posi-tion. Working with web technologies in an office that values its students provides a fun yet challenging work environment. Starting wages begin at $7.00. For more information email us at omeoffice@ksu.edu.

LUNCHROOM SUPERVI-GROUND SORS. Immediate openngs- Manhattan- Ogden Schools. ementary $6.50 per hour one and a half- two hours per day. 11:00 a.m.- 1:00 p.m. Application available at www.usd383.org/District/HumanResources/ or apply partment, 2031 Poyntz Avenue. Applications ac-cepted until positions are Ogden USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Avenue, Manhat KS 66502. 785-587-2000. Equal Opportunity Employer.

NEEDED: leasing agent, Immediate start, no experience necessary. Some Saturdays required. Call Park Place Apartments, 785-539-2951.

NOW HIRING full-time summer internship. take five more students to help me run my business. Open to all majors. Aver- 16th. age earns $800/ week. Empl Call 785-317-0455.

(785)232-PART-TIME RECEP-TION/Clerk Position with local real estate com pany. Send resumes to ERA The Conderman Conderman Group, 1430 Poyntz Av enue. 10-15 hours per

PART-TIME WARE at Faith Furniture, Needs to be able to work after noons and weekends 302 E. HWY 24 in Manhat-

PINNACLE ELECTRIC ing for 30-40 hours a Electrical experi ence a plus, but will train right person. 785-456-1351.

PLAY SPORTS! fun! Save money! Maine camp needs fun loving counselors to teach. All land, adventure and water sports. Great summer! Call 888-844-8080, apply: ωπipcedar.com

PROGRAMMER- CIVIC-PLUS is the nations lead ing provider of City. County, and School websites. Full-time position in Manhattan. Microsoft ASP and SQL experience required. $15.50/ hour plus time and a half for over-Benefits Health, Dental, Paid Holidays, Paid Vacation, and 401K matching. Email re sume in Microsoft Word or

jobs@civicplus.com.

MANAGER PROJECT CivicPlus has an opening in our Manhattan head quarters office for a fulltime project manager. This challenging position entails managing multiple website redesign projects two part time workers. website redesign projects Housing Included. Prefer-ring well rounded individu-tion requires attention to detail, the ability to ma age multiple tasks, priori-ties and deadlines and a cheerful attitude. Training is provided. Benefits include health, dental, paid holidays, paid vacation and 401(k) matching. Email resume in text Word format

RILEY COUNTY has thirteen positions for sea-sonal laborers. Forty hour work week at $8.66 per hour. Valid driver's license and the ability to lift 70 pounds is required. Applicants must be at least 18 years old. Experience in construction, concrete work, asphalt mainte-nance, traffic flagging. or mowing is preferred. Applications are available at the Riley County Clerk's Office, 110 Court Clerk's Office, house Plaza, Manhattan, countyks.gov/jobs. until all positions are filled. opportunity employer.

Kitchen help wanted. All shifts available. Apply in person. 1130 Moro, Man-hattan, KS. SPEND YOUR summer traveling country as a combine/ dividuals for high volume harvesting operation. Op-erate new JD9760 STS anteed excellent monthly board. Sign on bonus for proximately mid-May to mid-August. Snell Harvest-ing 1-888-287-7053.

TECHNICAL SUPPORT position available for Kwith a variety of skills. Must have good interpersonal and problem with PCs and popular software applications such as Word Perfect, MS Word, plorer, internet applications, basic web page editing and Windows applicatechnical understading of Microsoft Windows. Summer availability necessary. Computer netwo experience preferred. Applications available/ acplications available/ ac-cepted until March 16, 2007 at Kansas Forest Service, 2610 Claffin Rd. 785-532-3300. Please attach a resume.

THE CITY of Westmore land is taking applications for a pool manag er for the season. Life guard 2007 and WIS training ferred but not required Salary based on experience and is negotial Job description and appli-Hall, P.O. Box 7, West-KS moreland, 785-457-3361. Deadline for applications is March 16th. Equal Opportunity kit, cover. $5500 or best TRUCK DRIVERS, CDL required. Valley Concrete, full or part-time, works great for summer employ-ment, will work around class schedule. Equal Opportunity 785-458-6499.

UNIQUE OPPORTUNITY: Every two years MGM Marketing, Inc. accepts applications to fill a Marketing & Logistics position within our small group in Kansas City. MGM is in a ers and re-sells all types of products that are in in derailments MGM is currently looking for a creative, motivated, detail-oriented person that has common sense, good judgment, and the a to communicate well with new and existing customers. Prior exp is not necessary. This is a very good opportunity with a highly respected com-pany. Our group members are paid very well. Posi-tion includes most bene-fits and requires very little travel. If you are ested please forward a resume as soon as possi ble. Our contact informa-

WALSON INK now hiring tative. 610 S. Delaware and more details

MGM is now

on our website at www.

mgmbusinesspartners.-

scheduling appointments

to conduct interviews.

tion

785-539-1820 WILDCATSNEEDJOBS .-COM. PAID survey takers needed in Manhattan.

surveys.

$150 per day. Experience shoppers needed to judge retail and dining est ments. Call 800-722-4791.

WINTER/ SPRING Posi-

Transportation

Motorcycles

2004 YAMAHA 600R Excellent condition, Beaumatching helmet. Low miles, Yoshi

NOW HIRING - TWO LOCATIONS

ALL SHIFTS, DAYS, NIGHTS & WEEKENDS

ABOVE AVERAGE COMPENSATION Discounted Meals

Flexible Schedule

 Crew Incentive Programs Medical Insurance

• Retirement Plan

APPLY TODAY • WORK TODAY 421 N. 3rd Street 3006 Anderson Ave

EOE/Drug Free Workplace Pregnancy Testing Center

539-3338 su do ku

Fill in the grid so that every row, every column, and every 3 x 3 box contains the digits 1 through 9 with no repeats.

Solution and tips at www.sudoku.com

Free pregnancy testing Same day results • Call for appointment 539-3338

8th & Vattier 5 BR - $1400 1205 Pomeroy 1207 Pomeroy diane32@yahoo.com. 3 BR - $1050

1022 Humbolt 4 BR - $1200 824 Fremont

August Lease 1305 Pierre 4 BR - $1100

4 BR -$1100

313-5573

785-537-3737. 150 Sublease

com/Dell to apply.

BREAK | Various destinations are close enough to drive yet interesting enough to warrant trip, natives say

continued from Page 1

"The scenery over the Mississippi River can't be matched, and it's an eclectic scene that offers both sophistication and sports bars," Kirby said.

DENVER

In recent years, Denver's population has grown exponentially. More than 350,000 people moved to the area in the past five years.

Known as a sports town, Denver is home to teams from all four major-league sports.

During K-State's spring break, students have the opportunity to see the NBA's Denver Nuggets play the Phoenix Suns on March 17.

"The Pepsi Center is a really cool place to see a game, plus the nightlife around it is fun once the game is done," said Kate Thompkins, Denver resident.

One of the brewing capitals of the Midwest, Denver has a number of major and microbreweries available for tours on a daily basis, many times providing free samples to pa-

"I would suggest visiting the Flying Dog Brewery, as well as Rock Bottom," Thompkins said. "Both are classic to Denver and give a real feel for the brewery scene."

Denver also is less than two hours from some of the most popular ski resorts in the country, including Vail, Copper Mountain and Keystone.

"For a weekend excursion, having the mountains so close is why I like Denver," Thompkins said. "Even if skiing isn't your thing, you can't put a price on the mountain scen-

CHICAGO

The Windy City, the largest city based on size and population in the Midwest, offers endless opportunities for a week's visit.

"You have everything here," said Michael Jasinski, former K-State student and resident of Chicago. "It just depends on what you want to do."

Chicago is home to some of the nation's finest sightseeing attractions, including the Sears Tower, the Frank Lloyd Wright house and Shedd Aquarium.

something wouldn't expect in such a large city, but it's amazing," Jasinski said. "You have dolphins, beluga whales - all of these species right in the middle of the

The nightlife in Chicago varies with parts of town, as the city houses more than 9,000 bars. However, Jasinski said with bars such as the Original Mother's and Pippins open past 4 a.m. and a number of annual festivals, the north side of Rush Street is a spring break traveler's best bet.

"It's not called Chicago's premiere party section for nothing," Jasinski said.

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND, TEXAS

As one of the classic springbreak destinations, South Padre Island provides an opportunity for students to experience the beach on a budget.

"Padre is a blast - plus, there's not a lot you have to pay for," said Anthony Blanchard, senior in business.

Public beaches line the island, and Blanchard said the first stop is a no-brainier. Many times, he said beach-side promotions can be an easy source of entertainment.

"All kinds of liquor companies and magazines have different events, so the entertainment is kind of brought to you," he said.

The nightlife in Padre is extensive with some of the most popular destinations being Club X/S, Coconuts and the Gulf Coast Oyster Bar. However, Blanchard said students should visit Mexico on a bus tour for added excitement.

"It wasn't very expensive, and it lets you say that you've traveled internationally for spring break," Blanchard said.

LECTURE | Mdivani delivers interactive speech

continued from Page 1

they have to go through to assure citizenship to immigrant family members.

"Sometimes they just storm out of my office and say, 'How can a government do this?""

Much of Mdivani's speech was interactive. She began the speech by asking for responses to four questions about illegal immigrants: why do they come to the United States, where do they come from, why do they come here illegally, and what should we do? She gave quizzes about immigration statistics and asked the audience for their opinions on the various topics. Although the crowd did not come close to filling Forum Hall, the questions and comments did not end until time was out.

"I think this was one of the very best speeches we have ever had," said Larry Weaver, chair of the Dorothy L. Thompson Lecture Series and professor of physics. "The way she involved the audience with getting people to respond to her questions. This was flatout fabulous."

Weaver also said the lecture was very pertinent to students to K-State.

"Students need to be concerned," he said. "Fifty years from now this is going to be your country, and immigration is going to be an important part of what your country

2 women accused of benefitting from murders of 2 transient men

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LOS ANGELES - Checks and life insurance forms show that two women made millions from the deaths of two transient men they are accused of killing, a prosecutor said in a preliminary hearing Monday.

Helen Golay, 76, and Olga Rutterschmidt, 74, are accused of befriending the men, convincing them to sign the women's names on to their life insurance policies before drugging and running them over in secluded alleys.

Authorities said the wom collected some $2.3 million after their deaths.

Both Rutterschmidt and Golay have pleaded not guilty to two counts of murder and two counts of conspiracy to commit murder for financial gain in the deaths of Paul Vados, 73, and Kenneth McDavid. 51. Vados died in 1999 and McDavid in 2005.

Prosecutors must convince Superior Court Judge David S. Wesley that there is enough evidence for the case to move

In Monday's hearing, prosecutor Shellie Samuels showed the judge several applications for life insurance in which the women were listed alternately as the victims' cousins, fiancees, business associates and aunts.

Former state Insurance Department investigator Robert Brockway testified that an accidental life insurance policy taken out on Vados would not have been paid if he had died of natural causes.

The federal government has filed a lawsuit seeking the forfeiture of more than $1.8 million seized from the women

Meanwhile, a judge has tossed out a lawsuit filed by Rutterschmidt seeking additional funds she claims were owed to her as McDavid's

GOP leaders can not break unemployment bill stalemate

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA - Republican leaders failed Monday to break a legislative impasse over a proposed tax break for businesses, keeping it tied for now to eliminating the week that jobless workers must wait before receiving their first unemployment

House and Senate negotiators must resolve their differences before a bill granting businesses at least $155 million in relief over two years can go to Gov. Kathleen Sebelius. The measure would reduce the payments employers make to the state to cover the cost of providing benefits to jobless work-

Sebelius and lawmakers agree the payments can be reduced because the state has surplus funds. But the governor, her fellow Democrats and some dissident Republicans want to eliminate the waiting week, as well.

GOP leaders object to eliminating the waiting week, because it would cost $26 million over two years, financed with funds employers already have contributed. The Senate voted to keep the waiting week before approving the tax break; the House voted to eliminate it.

Republican negotiators from both chambers wanted to move ahead with a version that kept the waiting week, but Democrats wouldn't sign such an agreement. GOP leaders then asked both chambers to permit Republican negotiators to go ahead without Democrats' consent.

The House voted 69-56 to do so, but the vote in the Senate was 18-19.

Senators still could accept the House's version of the bill, eliminating the waiting week, and supporters of the idea expected to try Tuesday.

SUDAN INVESTMENTS

The state pension fund couldn't invest in companies in the oil business in Sudan or providing revenues to the Sudanese government under a bill endorsed Monday by the Senate Ways and Means Committee.

The measure is designed to pressure Sudan into ending violence in its Darfur region. The Sudanese government has been blamed for atrocities in an ethnic conflict that has killed more than 200,000 people and displaced 2.5 million.

The committee's unanious vote sent the bill to the Senate for debate.

"That's great news," said Sonny Scroggins, a Topeka human rights activist who has been staging daily protests outside the Statehouse. "That's a blow to the genocide."

The Kansas Public Em-

NOW LEASING FOR FALL 2007

ployees Retirement System estimates that it has about $38 million of its $12 billion-plus in assets invested in companies with some ties to Sudan. The bill would make an exception to the investment ban for some dollars in "passively managed" funds in which money is mingled.

Chairman Dwayne Umbarger said the committee endorsed the bill because members "understand the implications of what's happening in Sudan."

"Killing of innocent people is not something they want to support," said Umbarger, R-Thayer.

TAX DEBATE STALLED

A lengthy discussion of an unrelated measure kept the House from debating a bill Monday to exempt Social Security benefits from the Kansas income tax.

The House expected to take up the measure Tuesday. It would save seniors $19 million a year and has widespread support from the chamber's GOP majority.

The measure inspiring the talk that ate up the House's time Monday was a bill reducing the payments businesses make to the state to finance unemployment benefits. The debate is over a provision eliminating the week that workers must wait to receive their first unemployment checks.

Founders Hill

Apartments

1401 College Avenue

(785) 539-4600

Oklahoma House approves faith-based bill

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

OKLAHOMA CITY - Preparing state inmates for life after prison and reducing the number of repeat offenders is the goal of legislation passed by the Oklahoma House Monday that encourages faith-based and volunteer groups to take a stronger role in rehabilitating Oklahoma inmates.

The measure by House Speaker Lance Cargill would encourage the state Department of Corrections to partner with faith-based, community

1/2 Price Dribks

Aggieville

Get it

Campus Phone Book

and volunteer organizations to help inmates rejoin society and reduce recidivism rates in Oklahoma prisons.

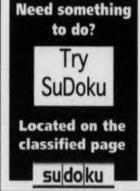

State prison officials have already launched faith- and character-based programs at two state prisons, the Mabel Bassett Correctional Center for women in McCloud and the mediumsecurity Oklahoma State Reformatory in Granite, said DOC spokesman Jerry Massie.

"A lot of the religious portion of it is provided by volunteers," Massie said. "The goal is to improve their behavior while they're in prison but also to reduce recidivism after they're released!

Cargill, R-Harrah, said faithbased and volunteer groups want more input in counseling and rehabilitation of state inmates. Under the measure, recidivism rates would be tied to state prisons' performance reviews.

The bill, House Bill 2101, passed 95-1 and now moves but was killed in the Senate.

Kansas State University's independent, student-run newspaper since 1896

in which he has played this season

www.kstatecollegian.com

Wednesday, March 14, 2007

· Vol. 111, No. 122

2 students beaten in hazing

By Lola Shrimplin KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Two K-State students were injured when they were beaten with a wooden object during what they believed was initiation into a fraternity, Lt. Michael Quintanar of the Riley County Police Department said.

Curtis J. Weathersby, freshman in apparel and textiles, and James H. Whitted III, freshman in open option, were struck with a wooden object by a man who they believed was part of the Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity, Quintanar said.

"They met with a person who battered them," he said.

Investigators were told the person who struck the two was not a member of the fraternity, Quintanar said.

"He is not a student at Kansas State University," Quintanar said investigators were informed.

Hazing is prohibited through the greek system at K-State and will not be tolerated, said Brandon Cutler, assistant director for Greek Affairs, said.

"K-State has a strict no-hazing policy," Cutler said.

Industry ups efforts to curb piracy of files

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The recording industry is increasing efforts to deter the illegal downloading of copyrighted music by targeting college students.

Recently, the Recording Industry Association of America sent 400 letters to 13 different universities across the nation, advising of potential legal action against students suspected of downloading copyrighted material.

The letters are part of a new initiative of the RIAA that allows students targeted by these letters to pay a settlement before a formal lawsuit is filed. The main benefit of the letters is students can pay damages at a much cheaper price and escape the court costs and judgment of a trial

Campuses that received the letters include the University of Nebraska, University of Texas and Ohio University, which received the most letters of

In an open online chat last week with the RIAA, Cary Sherman, president of the RIAA, said they still value education and the promotion of legal alternatives but wanted to focus more on enforcement to curb illegal downloading to a greater degree. "Frankly, we've found that students know downloading from unauthorized person-to-person systems is illegal, but the chance of getting caught isn't enough to discourage them from doing it," he said. "By increasing the number of lawsuits, we're letting them know the risk of getting caught is greater."

See DOWNLOAD Page 8

Going back to the Big Easy

Photos by Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN

Patrick Simpson, AmeriCorps VISTA in civic leadership at K-State, talks to members of a group he will lead to New Orleans. The group and other K-State organizations will volunteer during spring break.

Volunteers to lend time, efforts to help rebuild New Orleans next week

By Heather Hickerson KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Most people think of lying on a beach in Mexico or gliding down the slopes in Colorado as spring break activities; performing hard labor is probably not what springs to mind. However, some K-State students are doing just that.

Campus groups Christian Challenge, Campus Crusade for Christ and K-State's Community Service Program are sending teams of students to the hurricane-ravaged city of New Orleans to volunteer in rebuilding efforts during spring

This is an incredible opportunity for K-State students to see what an impact they have on people's lives," said Ali Johnson, senior in public relations and volunteer with the community service program.

Though it has been 19 months since Hurricane Katrina hit New Orleans, the city's residents need help to rebuild homes and busi-

"We will assist in residential rebuilding efforts among people who don't have the resources or ability to rebuild their own homes," said Dave Gevock, sponsor for Christian Challenge. "We will help with rewiring houses, insulating, hanging drywall, painting and roofing work. Along with the physical work, we will also take time to listen to the stories of the residents and do what we can to give them

For many of the volunteers, this will not be the first trip to the devastated area. Johnson said this will be her third trip as a volunteer. She spent spring break last year with the community service program gutting houses for the elderly and disabled. She also volunteered with St. Mary's University of Leavenworth, Kan., during winter break.

With many of the homes abandoned and rotting, people in New Orleans welcome the volunteers.

"The city and its people are still hurting, and they will continue to feel the effects of Katrina for years

Members of the group receive shirts at its meeting at Bluestem Bistro Tuesday evening. The group of K-State students will clear out houses in an area of New Orleans that was severely damaged by Hurricane Katrina.

to come," said Megan Prothe, senior in social work and volunteer with Campus Crusade for Christ. "The people there are some of the most amazing people I have ever

This will be Prothe's fourth trip leading a group of volunteers. She spent last spring break, part of last summer and part of winter break gutting houses, hanging drywall, roofing, painting, cleaning and remodeling. She also spent time with Toys for Tots helping to pass out presents to children, she said.

"Something inside your heart

See NEW ORLEANS Page 8

Students to serve around country in alternative spring break programs

By Heather Hickerson KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Spring break is approaching and many K-State students can't wait to take a break from studying and get away for awhile. But some students will spend their breaks helping oth-

"Students come to K-State to learn, and spring break is a time to get away from the textbooks, but they shouldn't stop learning," said Patrick Simpson with AmeriCorps VISTA at K-State.

Simpson works with students to organize volunteer service projects through alternative spring break, a sub-group of K-State's Community Service Program.

"My job is to combat poverty by engaging students to volunteer," he Alternative spring break is a completely student-led organization, he

"I only help them find places to stay and guide them to agencies they might work with," he said.

This year, alternative spring break will send about 72 students to four cities in the United States. A team of seven students will go to Omaha, Neb., 10 students will go to Chicago, and 13 students will go to Dallas. The largest group, 49 students, will go to New Orleans to help with the rebuilding efforts in the city since Hurricane Katrina hit in August 2005.

CHICAGO

Maria Mai, sophomore in prenursing, is coordinating the students for the Chicago trip. Mai said they will volunteer at a women's shelter, the food depository, Deborah's Kitchen and the park districts.

Mai said she feels it is beneficial for all K-State students to volunteer.

"It is important for K-State students to volunteer because it shows them the meaning of accomplishment," she said. "You feel good after you volunteer, and it also makes you realize how privileged you are to get to attend college. I think everyone should volunteer and give their time to people who need their help."

See ALTERNATIVE Page 8

Today's forecast Sunny

High: 78 Low: 45

INSIDE

While being strapped for cash is not a foreign concept for college students, some resort to more drastic measures than others. One woman recently resorted to prostitution to cover her rent

See story Page 3

CAMPUS NEWS HIGHLIGHTS

Scientist to speak about environment

Environmental soil scientist Andrew Sharpley will present a seminar titled, "Agricultural Phosphorus and the Environment: Challenges to Science, Practice and Policy," at 4 p.m. today in Room 1018 in Throckmorton Hall. Sharpley is a renowned scientist in the area of phosphorus management for water quality.

Visiting artist's work displayed in Union

Artwork by visiting New York City artist Christine Hiebert is on showcase in Kemper Gallery in the K-State Student Union. Hiebert spent three days last week creating a piece of her modern art in the gallery with painter's tape. It will be on display until April 2 and is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

TechBytes presents Camtasia Studio

Gerry Snyder will lead "TechBytes: Record, Edit, and Share with Camtasia Studio," at 1:15 p.m. today in Union 213. The goal of TechBytes is to share technology innovations with the campus community, like capturing a PowerPoint presentation and then sharing it on an iPod.

Claflin Books and Copies

1814 Claflin Rd. www.claflinbooks.com

(785) 776-3771 Fax: (785) 776-1009

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

		agene silen
ACROSS 1 Third	27. Mole, maybe	2 Sword handle	19	Clear degree? 4 Discover-	28 Chopping tool	3 "Lakmé" composer	20	tables "Monty er's call	30 Moreover	4 Island		Python"
7 Soft	33 "Hook"	farewell		intro cheese	star	5 Rundown	21	- New
8 In accompa-	36 Punish with a	6 From the		New Guinea
niment	fine	start	22	They're
10 Fringe	37 Scent	7 Very		the pits
benefit	38 Long	dry	23	Bread
11 Book-	stories	8 Anxious	~	spread Ticket
store section	39 Myste- rious	9 Software problem	24	price,
13 1978	character	10 Food		perhaps
Kansas	40 Docu-	safety	25	Halluci-
hit	mentarian	org.		nogen
16 $	Burns	12 Uppity	-	letters
dispenser 17 —	41 Early bird?	ones 14 Church	26	Analgesic targets
metabo-	bildr	area	28	Mournful
lism	DOWN	15 Come-		music
18 As well	1 Spectrum	dian	29	Ancient
19 Group of	creator	DeLuise		Peruvian quail 20 Cold War	Solution tim	a 21 mins	30	Sur- rounded weapon	LOAF			by
(Abbr.)	ABLENU	NOOZE	31	Appel-
21 Obey a	T O F U B F	WEARS	_	lation
23 Four-	AIR	SON	32	Geneti- cist's letter	DEALT B	ELTWAY		abbr.
words	GANGWAY	LUGES	34	Ship-
25 Some are	POLARF	KEN		building
chocolate	STEINWA	YEASE		wood

26 Baba and STAN OVA SCAN

CRYPTOQUIP

PNRK NV

BRNGVD BCCGKICGH CM DGRR WGBR GDCBCG

"RMCD NV DIBQG. YMWRHD: Yesterday's Cryptoquip: IF FOLKS PURCHASE MERCHANDISE THAT'S FULL OF MANY TINY CRACKS, DO THEY PAY A FISSURE PRICE? Today's Cryptoquip Clue: N equals I

DIVERSIONS

A waste of time — but you might learn something

The way we wipe: A history of toilet tissue

Items people used before invention of toilet paper

- Newsprint, paper catalog pages early U.S. citizens
   Hayballs, scraper/gompf stick kept in container by the privy Middle Ages Discarded sheep's wool the Viking age, England
- Frayed end of an old anchor cable used by sailing crews Spain
- Straw, hay, grass, gompf stick medieval Europe Corn cobs, Sears Roebuck catalog, mussel shell, newspaper, leaves,
- sand United States
- Water and the left hand India ■ Pages from a book - British lords
- Coconut shells early Hawaiian citizens
- Lace, hemp French royalty ■ A sponge soaked in salt water on the end of a stick — public
- restrooms in ancient Rome
- Wool and rosewater wealthy in ancient Rome ■ Hemp and wool — elite citizens of the world
- Defecating in the river was very common internationally ■ Bidet - France
- Snow and tundra moss early Eskimos

Invention of toilet paper

■ In 1391, The Bureau of Imperial Supplies began producing 720,000 sheets of toilet paper a year for use by the Emperors. Each sheet measured 2 feet by 3 feet.

Size of an average sheet of toilet paper

■ The size of a sheet of toilet paper may vary from one manufacturer to another. The standard size is 4.5 inches by 4.5 inches. However, in the last 10 years, manufacturers have come out with "cheater sheets." These can run as small as 4 inches by 3.8 inches. This means about 15 percent less paper. So don't be confused by the advertisement that says "our roll of toilet paper is the cheapest." It may be that theirs has fewer smaller sheets.

Christopher COLLEGIAN

Difference between 1-ply and 2-ply

■ As it states, 1-ply is a single layer of tissue where 2-ply is two layers. That does not mean, however, that 2-ply is twice the thickness. 1-ply is made of a 13# thickness paper versus 2-ply is made of 2 layers of 10# thickness paper. Manufacturers do not simply double up the 1-ply in order to make 2-ply.

Number of sheets per roll

■ Standard industrial rolls have 500 2-ply or 1,000 1-ply sheets per roll. However, some rolls have only 200 sheets. Plus, check the size of the sheets. They can vary by up to 15 percent.

- www.toiletpaperworld.com

Renova black toilet paper $22 per six-pack

This neutral color will coordinate with any welldesigned bathroom

Michael Moore toilet paper $7 per roll, on sale

For the politically charged, this lovely face is guaranteed to make cleaning up a true joy.

Barbed wire toilet paper $8.95 per roll

Everyone likes to poke a little fun, but this particular poke should render quite a few hearty

By Donnie Lee

- www.urbanpeel.com, www.toiletpaperart.com

TABLERINALLE WOODS

Come Watch the Game HERE!

20¢ Wings 4-9

$150 Wells Martinis

Go Cats!

Now Hiring

The Office of Student Activities and Services offers:

FREE LEGAL SERVICES FOR STUDENTS

http://www.ksu.edu/osas/legal.htm

Student Legal Services Attorney:

SARAH BARR 785-532-6541

Call now for an appointment

office hours

Monday - Friday 9:00 - 11:00 am & 1:00 - 4:00 pm

Why would a hardcore terrorist who killed 200+ give it up?

Colbert Hills

- Cart Staff - Maintenance Staff - Snack Bar/ Beverage Cart

Applications available in Pro Shop

5200 Colbert Hills Drive 776-6475 ext 1 www.colberthills.com

Problems with your Mac? Warranty work always FREE!

Not under warranty? Mention this ad and get 10% off of parts and labor!

Network Computer Solutions

Manhattan's only Authorized Apple Service Provider 411 Poyntz Lower Level 785-776-9088

offer expires 3/25/2007

537-7701

1109 Hylton Heights Manhattan, KS 66502

Two Bedrooms

One Bedrooms 1022 - 1026 Sunset $395 - $425

1950 - 1960 Hunting $510 - $540 1212 Thurston $525 - $545

1837 College Heights

Houses

1508 Hillcrest

722-B Osage 2005 College View

by Appointment

Showings

Conversion Apts 1866 College Heights

2-bedroom - $530 1010 Sunset studio - $340 1 bedroom - $385

3&4 Bedrooms 1841 College Heights $920 - $1250

McCollum Townhouses $920

1825 College Heights $750 - Single Level

$800 - Two Story

$875 - Three Story

Aggieville Penthouse Apts 617 N. 12th Street

All Apartments within Walking Distance to Campus

The blotter Arrests in Riley County

Reports are taken directly from the Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of spaceconstraints.

Monday, March 5

- Jake Scott Black, 730 Allen Road, Lot 148, at 12:15 p.m. for failure to register as a sex offender. Bond was $1,500.
- Terrence Joseph Mason, Little Rock Ark., at 6:50 p.m. for failure to appear. Bond was $10,000.

The planner Campus bulletin board

■ The National Endowment for the Art Jazz Masters on Tour will present Dr. Billy Taylor, Grammy award-winning jazz pianist and former arts correspondent for "CBS Sunday Morning," at 7:30 p.m. Friday at All Faiths Chapel. Admission is free, and there are no reserved

■ Intramural entries are due by 5 p.m. March 15 at the Rec Complex for the following activities: softball, three-wallhandball doubles, three-wall racquetball doubles, horseshoes doubles, tennis doubles, badminton doubles, three-onthree basketball, triples volleyball and around the world.

Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at collegian@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

Corrections and clarifications

Corrections and clarifications run in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call news editor Alex Peak at (785) 532-6556 or e-mail collegian@spub.ksu.edu.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291 020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167.

© Kansas State Collegian, 2007

Talk it out

Lyndsey Born | COLLEGIAN

Members of College Republicans and Young Democrats discuss state and national issues in Forum Hall in the K-State Student Union Tuesday evening.

Campus political groups participate in forum

By Eric Davis KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The Young Democrats and College Republicans were host to a forum to discuss topics affecting college students.

Each campus group was represented by three of its members who sat onstage and spoke Wednesday in Forum Hall. Aaron Apel, Adam White and Nicholas Birdsong represented the Young Democrats and Alex Ingle, Ben Davis and Leanne Thompson comprised the team from College Republicans.

"We are not arguing against the College Republicans, we are just trying to get our side's ideologies out there," said Aaron Apel, senior in political science for more information visit the website a

http://www.ksu.edu/osas/cta.htm

The Office of Student Activities and Services offers:

Free Consumer & Tenant Advice

and philosophy. Apel also maintained the event was not a debate but rather a forum.

Three specific topics were presented, and members of both sides offered their views on each subject. The issues discussed were the DREAM Act, which would allow illegal immigrants in-state tuition, minimum wage increases and the Iraq War.

The talk began with the DREAM act. Nicholas Birdsong, sophomore in political science, was the first to respond.

"The DREAM act gives people an opportunity to get an education and improve their lives," Birdsong said.

Ben Davis, senior in political science and history and the president of the College Repub-

The Consumer and Tenant Affairs Office provides information on landlord/tenant rights and responsibilities and aids in the resolution of consumer complaints regarding products and/or services.

Brochures regarding landlord/tenant and

Consumer and Tenant Affairs Office Appointments Available Daily

Call 532-6541 to make an appointment.

consumer issues are also available.

licans, was quick to take the lead on the rebuttal with his statements on the DREAM act.

The DREAM act is flat-out illegal," Davis said, "If states are unwilling to totally abolish outof-state tuition, then they are breaking federal law."

The two topics that followed the DREAM act found little common ground between the two sides. The Republicans often told the Democrats their arguments were "emotional" and "not bound by logic."

There was a question-andanswer period after the forum so the audience members could ask questions they had formulated during the discussion.

Female student turns to prostitution

By Lola Shrimplin KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Editor's note: The name of the student in this story has been withheld to protect her identity.

College students are known for being short on money. Selling possessions is one way they can make ends meet.

Some students sell compact discs, some sell their video games. One K-State student tried selling her body.

"I couldn't pay my rent," the student said.

Thursday afternoon, she was cited by the Riley County Police Department for prostitution, when she inadvertently solicited an officer, said Lt. Michael Quintanar of the RCPD.

"We got information that this young lady was offering sex for money, so we pursued it," Quintanar said.

The student said she was in a Kansas chat room and was complaining she couldn't pay her rent. A person she met online said he had someone who could help her, and she made contact through a third party to exchange sex for money.

"I wasn't thinking it could be bad for me - I was just thinking I couldn't pay my rent," she said.

The student said she convinced herself it was simply a transaction, and she didn't want to be evicted from her apartment.

When she arrived at the location, the man she was supposed to meet identified himself as a police officer, and she was cited for prostitution, Quintanar said.

Technically, Quintanar said, she was arrested, although she only received a ticket. Otherwise known as a notice to appear, the ticket carries an "own recognizance" bond, he said.

The student said she doesn't vet know the amount of the ticket. She has a court date, but she is trying to get a diversion.

"I just got it in my mind everything was gonna be OK,"

Prostitution is a class-B misdemeanor, said Sarah Barr, attorney for student legal services in the Office of Student Activities and Services.

Prostitution is punishable by a sum not to exceed $1,000 and/or a jail term up to six months, Barr said.

In comparison, patronizing a prostitute is a class-C misdemeanor, which is punishable with a fine of $500 and is not to exceed one month in jail.

Prostitution is a midrange misdemeanor, Barr said.

"But which would you rather stand in court and have read aloud?" she said.

Prostitution is a crime of desperation, Barr said, and students with financial problems sometimes cannot see light at the end of the tunnel.

Services are available to students with financial problems, Barr said. If students are unable to pay rent, the landlord cannot kick them out of the apartment immediately, she said.

"If you can't pay your bills, you know, talk to someone about short-term, mid-term and long-term consequences," she said.

Options are available to students who need financial assistance, including part-time jobs, both on-campus and off.

Students can access job listings at www.k-state.edu/employment, as well as ask for help for food from the Flint Hills Breadbasket.

Barr said she often encounters students with financial problems. She has not dealt with any prostitution cases, however, and she said it apparently is a sign of the economic times.

"Are students becoming so desperate?" she said. "It breaks my heart. It just breaks my heart."

Questions? Need help with your résumé? Stop by Holtz Hall between noon - 4 p.m.

Guiding You from College to Career

should get a Campus Phone Book

- Only Phone Book with Students' Cell Phone Numbers
- Coupons with the Greatest Deals
- · A Menu Guide with local restaurants' menus

Purchase Yours in Kedzie 103

Leadership Studies is Turning

All students and members of the K-State community are invited to join us for cake and a must-see surprise performance by the faculty and staff of Leadership Studies and Programs at our anniversary celebration.

> Noon-1 p.m., Thursday, March 15 K-State Student Union Courtyard

Come Grow With Us!

Expect a higher standard

The industry leader in processing boneless lean beef trimmings has the following opportunities in Garden City, KS:

Quality Assurance Inspectors/ Supervisor Trainee

· Must be detail oriented and have basic math aptitude · Must have strong written & oral communication skills

· Educational background in a technical discipline such as

Biology, Chemistry, or Animal Science preferred Production Supervisors

Supervise plant production & assure plant procedures are followed

· Monitor equipment to ensure efficiency

· Ability to develop leadership & management skills to direct daily workforce activities

· Applicants must be mechanically inclined, and able to work any shift, including weekends

· Must have strong communication skills Interested applicants should mail/fax resume to:

Human Resources at Beef Products, Inc.

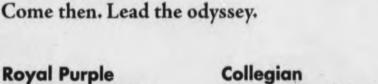

E-mail: hr@beefproducts.com Or Visit www.beefproducts.com

PO Box 1005, West Highway 50, Holcomb, KS 67851 phone: 620-272-5500 fax: 620-272-5503

Leaders needea

It is time for new, influential leaders to take command of student publications. Will you answer the call?

Come then. Lead the odyssey.

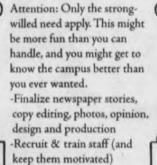

mmm

yearbook for your college experiences? Come take command and lead this 16member staff in producing the award-winning book. -Hire & fire staff members -Lead sales efforts -Conduct meetings Oversee yearbook content Enforce deadlines Keep morale high

Collegian Editor in Chief

-Delegate responsibilities

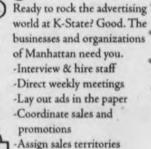

Decide your destiny by Noon, March 30

Pick-up your application in Kedzie 103 or visit kstatecollegian.com and click on Student Publications under

Post offer physical & substance testing required. EOE

Ad Sales Manager

mmm

-Handle staff payroll Set a leading example

Practice before profession

Students should gain internship experience before moving to careers

After a day of running around fetching copies of essays and transcripts, I found myself frazzled.

My recommendation letters weren't all in, and I was still trying to chip off the pizza goo smeared on the top of my application.

I thought I was doomed with another dry semester of biology, expository writing and other floggingof-the-dead-horse college experi-

LAWLESS

But through one simple phone call, my life would soon be forever changed, as I was offered an opportunity to join 13 students from around the world with an internship experience of a lifetime. I was asked to intern with Presidential Classroom staff during spring 2005 in Washington, D.C.

At Presidential Classroom, I was within the top four interns on staff, serving as the communications assistant. Work consisted of writing press releases, taking pictures at events and herding 4,000 students through the political fabulousness of our nation's

However, the glory of the job wasn't limited to travel and fun. Like any other run-of-the-mill internship, my days consisted of the occasional coffee fetch and excessive hours wasted by the nearest copy machine.

While some parts of my job lacked the glitz and glam of working in the stiletto-stomping, power-suit city of Washington, the job gave me deep insight into the profession. I learned I enjoy working with people from international backgrounds and the power of effective communication skills will take you far in life.

I also learned you need to be able to think on your feet no matter how well you plan things out. You never know what life will throw at you.

Although the lessons learned with my D.C. internship weren't ground breaking, they were practical. I was glad to learn the realities of the workforce as a sophomore in college as opposed to a senior in a company.

Nobody wants to discover the dissatisfaction of their profession later in life, especially after shelling out our luscious beer money toward college essentials like tuition and housing.

If I hadn't discovered my passion for communication, I would have ended up in a profession as mind-numbing as politics or health care - traditional for anyone in the Lawless clan.

Taking a semester off and moving to the big city was perhaps the best decision I've made, even as ill-planned as my application process was. I took myself out of my element and learned my true potential in life.

As the semester comes to a close, I encourage you to find your potential as well. Become a volunteer here in Manhattan or find an internship in a field that interests you. Just think, after the few weeks you commit to that experience, you can walk away from the job and pursue opportunities you know will fit your interest most.

You might have to give up some time or money to get there, but believe me, it's an experience well worth the investment.

It's best to have the practice before the profession so you can find your career potential.

Annette Lawless is a senior in electronic journalism, political science, print journalism and public relations. Please send comments to opinion@spub.ksu.edu.

TO THE POINT An editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. This is the Collegian's official opinion.

Volunteers remember victims by returning

Of the thousands who lent a hand to Hurricane Katrina victims in the wake of the storm, many were college students who gave up their spring breaks last year to trek down to Louisiana.

While their contributions certainly were appreciated, perhaps even more important are those who have made a point of going back this year, even as the media attention dies down and the rest of the world forgets about New Orleans.

One year after the epic storm, less than half of the Crescent City's 484,000 residents were back home, according to a report by National Public Radio. Of the schools in operation before the hurricane, only 29 percent were open.

In addition, 33 percent of the city's restaurants, 17 percent of public transportation and just half of all hospitals were up and running again.

Most estimates are that New Orleans and the surrounding areas will need 5-10 years to get back on its feet, and it will need much longer to be restored to its former

Yes, the city successfully has celebrated Mardi Gras twice now since the storm - a point the media is happy to emphasize - but that doesn't mean all is well in the Big

It's often the squeaky wheel that gets the grease, and the public long ago has moved on to squeakier wheels.

We should take a lesson from those who are willing to go back when the victims aren't in the public eye, those who gut houses all day and stay in volunteer camps all

And for that matter, we should applaud all volunteers who are going on any alternative spring break trip to help people who don't make headlines. If we're not spending our week off in the same way, at least we can tip our hats to those who choose to serve.

OLLEGIAN

Megan Moser | EDITOR IN CHIEF Heldi Paulson | MANAGING EDITOR Alex Peak | NEWS EDITOR Jacque Haag | CO-COPY CHIEF Jessi Hernandez | CO-COPY CHIEF Scott Girard | CAMPUS EDITOR Logan C. Adams | METRO EDITOR Lacey D. Mackey | FEATURES EDITOR Jonathan Garten | SPORTS EDITOR Cedrique Flemming | TIPOFF EDITOR Elleen Laux | THE EDGE EDITOR Jonas Hogg | OPINION EDITOR Christopher Hanewinckel | PHOTO CHIEF Brendan Praeger | PRESENTATION EDITOR Royce Haynes | ONLINE EDITOR Courtney Sleypen | AD MANAGER Eddle Rogers | ASST. AD MANAGER

WRITE TO US

Letters can be submitted by e-mail to letters@spub. ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters should be limited to 250 words. All submitted letters may be edited for length and clarity.

CONTACT US Kansas State Collegian Kedzie 103 Manhattan, KS 66502

Display ads.....(785) 532-6560 Classified ads....(785) 532-6555 .(785) 532-6555 Newsroom......(785) 532-6556 news@spub.ksu.edu

City Park in need of lighting

Last summer, Manhattan installed a few crosswalk signals on Manhattan and Denison avenues.

These signals allow pedestrians to push a button that automatically creates a flashing signal visible to cars indicating people are about to cross the street. An article by

KELSEY CHILDRESS

Jeff Wright in the Manhattan Mercury on Sunday reported an "informal survey" showed many students don't use the buttons on the crosswalks because they have found drivers already stop their cars when the walker is about to cross the street.

This might come as bad news to the city that spent about $30,000 on the crosswalk signals, according to the Mercury article. Yet the article also mentioned a lot of students said the signals are helpful-

These signals are a great step forward in the area of improving safety on campus and in Manhat-

If these signals are placed in other poorly lit areas of Manhattan, it would allow pedestrians to feel safer when crossing the streets

However, there are other safety measures that should be taken to make Manhattan a safer place to live, especially after living with the distant fear of a serial rapist.

Better lighting around City Park has been suggested several times throughout the years in city councilmeetings, especially after a couple of women were attacked while walking around the park at dusk and at night.

Some light posts have been added, but these are nowhere near sufficient to making City Park a safe place to walk, especially in the City Park is a popular place around the clock, primarily because many people park there to walk their dogs, to exercise or to walk to-Aggieville where parking is somewhat limited.

If there were better lighting, more people would feel safer walking through or around the park to get home or to their cars.

In the case of people thinking the light posts and crosswalk signals should serve more of a purpose, perhaps other things can be added to them.

If an attack or crime were to take place around one of these light posts or crosswalk signals, perhaps. they could be reprogrammed to include a panic button a person could press to signal police, just like those placed around campus.

Some could even have trash cans or doggy bag dispensers attached to them to help keep the park and city, streets cleaner.

Of course, improvements can be; made in any city to make it safer, cleaner or overall improved.

It is great the people of Manhattan are trying new ideas and products to make pedestrians feel safer crossing the street.

Placing these first crosswalk signals on streets that thousands of K-State students cross to get to school every day was a good idea.

It provided a great place to verify if the signals could be suc-

Even though some might not think activating the signals is important every time they cross the street, it has no doubt saved a few from becoming victims of car accidents, and it certainly has made drivers more aware of where exactly the crosswalks were in the first place, even without the signals:

being used.

Kelsey Childress is a junior in English literature, women's studies and American ethnic studies. Please send comments to opinion@spub.ksu.edu.

WORLD NEWS

POLICE RELEASE ACTIVISTS TO CUSTODY OF LAWYERS

HARARE, Zimbabwe - Police released dozens of bruised and bloodied opposition activists to the custody of their attorneys late Tuesday, while the country's main opposition leader was treated at a hospital for injuries his lawyer said were the result of savage police beatings.

The activists were ordered to return to court Wednesday morning after police took them from a hospital to the magistrates court in the capital, Harare, on Tuesday night for an unscheduled appearance, said Beatrice Mtetwa, a lawyer for the group. She said no state prosecutor or magistrate was at the court.

"The fact that there was no prosecutor, no magistrate, no court officials — only police — says a lot," she said. "It says that we are in a police state."

Mtetwa said about 12 of the 50 activists who had been arrested Sunday remained at a hospital, including main opposition leader Morgan Tsvangirai

Tsvangirai, 54, and the other opposition figures were arrested at a prayer meeting in the latest crackdown on dissent by President Robert Mugabe's security forces and political supporters.

Mtetwa said police forced Tsvangirai and many of her other clients to lay face down and then beat them savagely and repeatedly with truncheons both at the scene of the arrests and at police stations.

MEXICAN PRES. TELLS BUSH U.S. NEEDS TO DO MORE

MERIDA, Mexico - President Bush sought to soothe strained ties with Mexico on Tuesday by promising to prod Congress to overhaul tough U.S. immigration policies. But Mexican President Felipe Calderon criticized U.S. plans for a 700-mile border fence and said Bush must do more to curb American drug appetites.

Mexico was the last stop on Bush's five-nation Latin American tour and the one where the political stakes seemed the highest.

Bush walked a high wire: he wants to improve frayed ties over immigration and drug trafficking and the Iraq war, but without alienating supporters back home, particularly Republican lawmakers advocating stiff penalties against undocumented workers.

The president also was distracted by problems at home.

Attorney General Alberto Gonzales acknowledged mistakes were made in the firing of eight federal prosecutors, and that the White House was involved in discussions of who would be dismissed and when.

This was Bush's first meeting with Calderon since the Harvard-educated Mexican conservative took office Dec. 1 after a razor-thin victory.

They clashed, though gently.

Bush and Calderon – both pro-business conservatives – acknowledged their differences and vowed to work together.

5 KIDNAPPED TOURISTS RELEASED IN ERITREA

LONDON - Five Europeans abducted almost two weeks ago in one of Ethiopia's most remote and inhospitable regions were released Tuesday in neighboring Eritrea after the government there pressured tribal leaders to intervene, officials said.

British officials would not say whether a ransom had been paid.

Foreign Secretary Margaret Beckett said the three British men, an Anglo-Italian and a French woman – all British diplomats or their relatives – were released in Eritrea and taken to the British Embassy in Asmara, the Eritrean capital.

"The five are being fed and given fresh clean clothes," Beckett said in London. "They are seeing a doctor and medical checks are continuing, but I understand they are broadly in good health."

Yemani Gebremeskel, the Eritrean president's spokesman, declined to give details on the role Eritrea played other than to say they helped influence local traditional elders in the desert region where the hostages were being held.

The Ethiopian government, in a statement read on stateowned Ethiopian Television's evening news, welcomed the release of the Europeans and called for the release of the Ethiopians.

— The Associated Press

TO THE EDITOR

E-mail outsourcing letter proves inaccurate

Editor.

This letter is in response to Ryan Russell Frederick's March 12 letter regarding email outsourcing at K-State.

First, the idea for email outsourcing did not originate in Faculty Senate, nor is it a Faculty Senate decision. The idea for outsourcing K-State's e-mail service is being discussed by a group of IT personnel in Computing and Telecommunications Services due to the ever-increasing demands made on the e-mail servers.

Second, information about a possible change in e-mail provider service was shared by CTS with the Faculty Senate Committee on Technology. Because no proposal has been drafted by CTS for review by FSCOT and Faculty Senate, we have no official position on the matter.

Finally, the decision to outsource e-mail at K-State is ultimately not the Faculty Senate's, although the membership will have a voice on any proposal.

Roger C. Adams
PRESIDENT OF THE K-STATE FACULTY SENATE

Wildcats across nation feel pain, show support

Editor.

Words can't describe the hurt and pain I feel about our deserving Wildcats being systematically dumped on by the NCAA for years. I obviously don't need words because I know you are feeling the pain in Manhattan. Be assured the Wildcat Nation is feeling it everywhere.

Many of you remember the snubbing of '98 when our football team finished third in BCS rankings, only to be left out of all BCS games and banished to the Alamo Bowl. Whatever set of circumstances led to this year's basketball decision was equally void of logic and facts.

What kind of world is the NCAA living in when four of the top five teams from a major conference make the tournament and the one left out is ranked fourth? Add to this atrocity the fact that K-State destroyed the fifthranked team (Texas Tech) by 21 points before losing by only six to the No. 2 team in the nation.

No major conference team has ever posted 20-plus regular season wins with 10 conference wins and not been invited to the "Dance."

Alas, I am one alumnus who will not take this snubbing sitting down. This alumnus happens to live and work in downtown Indianapolis, less than one mile from the NCAA headquarters.

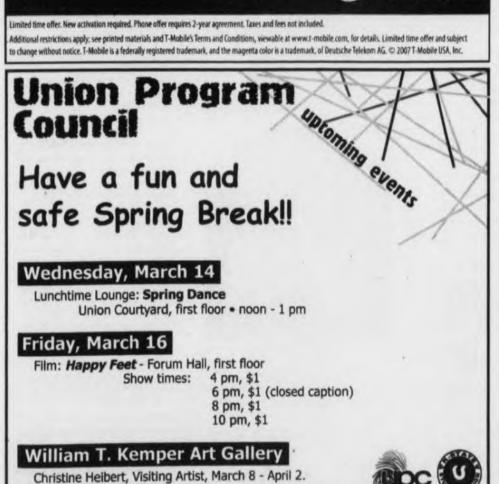

It will be my great honor to sacrifice lunch and wave my giant K-State flag at the NCAA offices this week. I will proudly and peacefully explain to any interested parties why the Cats deserve to be in this tournament.

Feel free to e-mail me at wal8686@yahoo.com with messages supporting our cause.

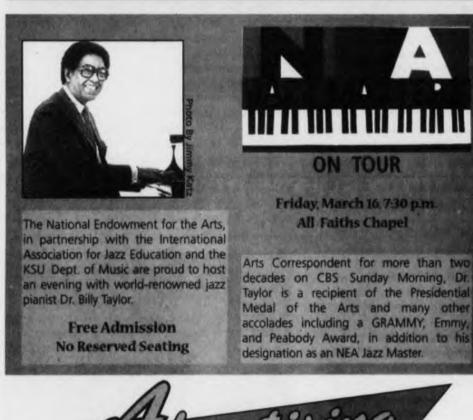

Jonathan Wales CLASS OF 2005

you can finally buy a book
WORTH ITS PRICE
CAMPUS PHONE BOOK
On sale in Kedzie 103
8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri.

301 K State Student Union ' UPC phone - 532-6571 ' www.k-state.edu/upo

Consider working for the:

Kansas State Collegian

We're looking for people who are outgoing, reliable, show initiative, and are creatively enthusiastic. If this description fits you, please apply. Applications and job descriptions available in Kedzie 103 or email adsales@ksu.edu

Positions to Consider:

Advertising Manager Assistant Advertising Managers Account Representatives

Ad Manager apps due: Noon Fri., Mar. 30 Other Staff apps due: 3pm Fri., Apr. 6

Pick-up applications in Kedzie 103 or visit kstatecollegian.com and click Student Publications under Links.

Snub puts Wildcats on the map

The depressing news of K-State's NCAA Tournament snub still lingers around Manhattan and the state of Kansas.

For the first time in more than a decade, Wildcat fans had a reason to tune in for Selection Sunday. They were by no means a lock, but after Bob Huggins drilled his "formula" – 20 wins overall plus 10 conference wins equals an NCAA Tournament selection – into their heads, K-State fans were more than a little hopeful they would be awarded a spot in the "Big Dance."

GARTEN

Wildcat nation held its breath in anticipation as CBS revealed region after region filled with teams not named K-State. Finally, CBS affirmed the Wildcats would not be dancing this year, naming Stanford the last team in the field of 65.

K-State fans felt jipped. The Wildcats went above and beyond the "formula."

But all the disappointment of being snubbed has brought up an interesting point. It's nice to be part of "March Madness" conversation.

When K-State was coached by a jacket-tossing, neck-brace wearing, thumb-waving nice guy, the Wildcats' postseason hopes usually vanished long before the Big 12 Conference Tournament.

But not this year. As long as Huggins is on the sidelines, ranting and raving until he turns a shade of purple, the Wildcats always will have a shot at the tournament.

The turnaround has been so sudden that it's easy to forget all those embarrassing moments of the last 20 years. Here are just a few.

- 1997: K-State forward Manny Dies pleaded guilty to damaging property of a Collegian columnist who was critical of his play. The student journalist called Dies the worst college basketball player ever. In a world full of sports figures who insist they don't read anything reporters write, Dies' actions were surprising. Not only did he read the column, but he also took the time to look up the writer's address to confront him.
- 2003: The name Pervis Pasco unfortunately will live in K-State lore forever. During the first round of a Big 12 Tournament game against Colorado, Pasco stole an inbound pass with only seconds remaining, seeming to seal a 76-74 win for the Wildcats. All he had to do was stop or dribble. But Pasco, believing the game was over, took off running with his index finger waving above his head. The officials whistled Pasco for traveling, and Colorado banked in a 3-pointer at the buzzer to win.
- 2005: The stage was set for K-State to end a five-game losing streak with the Wildcats leading Oklahoma, 68-67. All they had to do was hold on for four more seconds. But K-State had no answer for Drew Lavender, who had scored 27 points up to that point. The 5-foot-7 guard drove the length of the court to sink an improbable layup. While the loss was hard to swallow, it was Jim Wooldridge's postgame rant about Big 12 officiating that really made it a moment Wildcat fans would want to forget.

As you can see, although getting the cold shoulder is infuriating, it's good to know the selection committee knows K-State exists. The National Invitation Tournament might not be a desired destination, but it's a step in the right direction.

Jonathan Garten is a junior in print journalism. Please send comments to sports@spub.ksu.edu.

First class seating

COURTESY ILLUSTRATION BY HOK SPORT

Plans will boost luxury section at Bramlage Coliseum

By Parker Rome
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Many basketball fans would enjoy watching their team play while they're sitting on a rolling leather chair in front of a flat-screen television with the luxuries of a refrigerator and catering service. But few people would expect these amenities while they're actually at the game.

Before next season, K-State's Department of Intercollegiate Athletics plans to add more premium seating at Bramlage Coliseum.

"There's a demand for a premium kind of seating like our suite and club seating that we have for football," said associate athletics director Casey Scott. "That kind of seating is in major demand. We have a waiting list."

One or two additional rows of court-side seats will be added, as well as loge seating, which is similar to box seats but open. The loge seating will replace a few top rows of the student section on the east side. Between 60 and 70 fans will be able to take advantage of the loge seating, which will include rolling leather chairs, flat screen TVs, refrigerators and catering service for an additional $3,000 to the ticket price.

The loge seats were designed by Kansas City, Mo., architecture firm HOK Sport, which has designed Major League Baseball stadiums across the country. The project has an estimated cost of $1 million. Scott said they have not yet hired a contractor.

"People that just like to sit around and visit and have a cocktail during the game, that's going to be great for them," said Garth Gardiner, a 1989 K-State alumnus. "I have no doubt that they'll sell those out."

While many fans might take advantage of the loge seating, it will force students to less desirable seats and knock down the capacity from 13,340 to around 13,000. Scott said they will honor the agreement with Student Governing Association and keep 5,900 seats allotted for students.

With the success of K-State's basketball team this season and a 2007 recruiting class ranked No. 1 in the country by Rivals.com, Gardiner said he isn't surprised adjustments at Bramlage Coliseum will be made before next season.

"You've got to make hay when there is hay to make," Gardiner said. "(K-State) has the top recruiting class in the country, and they've got to take advantage."

He was one of 25 fans who purchased court-side season tickets that were available for the first time this season.

"The day they hired Huggs (men's basketball coach Bob Huggins), I called the athletic department and told them I want five season tickets next year, and I want them as good as I can get," Gardiner said. "I was just thrilled with the (head coach) choice and having them make the statement of bringing K-State basketball back."

When Gardiner called, he learned there were plans to put in court-side seats for an additional $4,400 to the ticket price.

He purchased five tickets for his family and said he doesn't plan on giving the seats up.

"If you're going to yell at somebody on the court, it's better if they can hear you," Gardiner said. "I've gotten to know quite a few of the guys on the team and have become friends with them."

Other renovations planned for Bramlage during the next few years are additional sports offices, a new ticket office, a common area for donors, improved locker rooms and an alternate practice facility.

1-MINUTE DRILL

Staff reports

FBC | K-State football staff adds defensive backs coach

K-State head football coach Ron Prince finalized his 2007 coaching staff Tuesday with the addition of Greg Burns as defensive backs coach.

A 10-year coaching veteran who starred as a defensive back at Washington State in the early '90s, Burns was most recently a member of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers' organization, where he served the 2006 season as the NFL team's defensive backs coach.

"We are very excited about the addition of Greg Burns to our coaching staff," Prince said. "He has coached at the highest levels of the game, and I am very impressed with both his experience and the places he's coached. He knows what it takes to be successful in an environment like Kansas State, and we believe he is a great fit for our organization."

In his only season at Tampa Bay, Burns coached Pro Bowl cornerback Ronde Barber. Prior to Tampa Bay, he spent the 2002-05 seasons at the University of Southern California as the Trojans' secondary coach. While at USC, Burns helped coach the Trojans to a four-year record of 48-4 (.923) that included four straight BCS bowl berths, three outright Pacific 10 Conference championships, one co-Pac 10 title and two national championships. USC was named national champions by The Associated Press in 2003 after going 12-1 and BCS national champions in 2004 after completing the season with a perfect 13-0 record. The Trojans also were the national runner-up in 2005 after falling to Texas in the BCS

Burns, 34, joined Pete Carroll's staff at USC on the heels of a successful run at Louisville, where he helped build the Cardinals into a national power as the program's cornerbacks coach from 1998-2001. During his time at Louisville, the Cardinals earned four-straight bowl berths and posted a combined 34-15 (.694) record.

In his final season with the Cardinals in 2001, Louisville ranked 18th nationally in pass efficiency defense and had 20 interceptions during an 11-2 campaign that featured a victory over BYU in the Liberty Bowl. In 2000, Louisville led the nation in interceptions with 27 and was 20th in pass efficiency defense.

Associated Press

HKN | Penguins, officials strike arena deal to keep team

PITTSBURGH – The Penguins have reached a deal with government officials to finance a new arena, ensuring the team will remain in Pittsburgh despite offers from other cities.

Local residents expressed relief that the team – one of the NHL's most attractive franchises – would stay in the city where it has played since 1967 and continue fueling the region's economy.

The Penguins had threatened to leave Pittsburgh if they could not secure a new rink. Their lease at the 46-year-old Mellon Arena, the oldest facility in the league, expires June 30, and the team is free to leave after that.

Team officials weighing a move recently visited Kansas City, Mo., and Las Vegas, and also were contacted by representatives from Houston. The Penguins were offered free rent and half of all revenues if they agreed to play in Kansas City's soon-to-becompleted $262 million Sprint Center.

Gov. Ed Rendell said Tuesday that money from the state's new slot machine parlors would help fund the arena. The Penguins scheduled a 5 p.m. news conference, before a home game against the Buffalo Sabres, to discuss the details of the arrangement.

The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette reported that the new arena would be completed by the start of the 2009-10 season. The Penguins would share construction costs and spend $400,000 a year on capital improvements, the newspaper reported, citing unidentified sources.

Mayor Luke Ravenstahl said government officials and their staffs were instrumental in closing the deal.

"We worked hard all along, and sometimes it's hard for the general public and some folks to understand really the dynamics and everything that's involved," he told WTAE-TV. "It's just so exciting. It's a hockey night in Pittsburgh for the next 30 years."

Pitcher has 4-0 start this season

By Dayne Logan KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

There are several players who can take credit for the hot 14-2 start the K-State baseball team has had this Sophomore centerfielder Byron Wiley, for example, is hitting .431 with two home runs and 14 RBI. Sophomore Tyler Link is playing well, too, with a .429 average.

However, the real story this season might not be from the batter's box, but from what junior Brad Hutt has done on the pitcher's mound.

Hutt is off to a 4-0 start and has won every game he has appeared in this season. In 29 2/3 innings pitched, Hutt surrendered just five earned runs, giving him an ERA of 1.52.

"The main thing's just locating pitches, throwing strikes and just going after hitters," Hutt said.

Hutt showed how to do just that Friday against North Dakota State.

He pitched a complete game shutout en route to a 7-0 K-State victory. In his nine innings pitched, he struck out 10 Bison batters and surrendered just four hits and one walk.

Despite his impressive numbers, Hutt gave a lot of the credit to his teammates.

"(Catcher) Rob Vaughn has done a great job calling pitches, and the defense has just been incredible behind me," Hutt said.

Regardless of who is responsible for Hutt's success, it is vital for him to go late into games so the K-State bullpen can remain fresh.

"I take pride in my conditioning and being able to go deep into games," Hutt said. "Being the Friday guy, it really sets up the bullpen for the rest of the weekend, so I take a lot of pride in that."

As a member of last year's team that started off by winning 17 of its first 18 games, then went on to lose 19 of its last 34, Hutt also understands the importance of consistency.

"The big thing is just staying consistent," Hutt said. "Last year, we started off so great, and then we just started to decline. The thing is to just remain consistent, continue to improve every day and not take a game off."

Hutt said consistency tends to come as a result of good long-term conditioning.

Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN

"Coach (Scott) Bird is one of the best in the business, so he's going to get our bodies and our arms in tiptop shape," Hutt said.

Hutt will get a chance to show what kind of shape his arm is in Friday when the Wildcats return to Manhattan for a three-game home stand against Central Michigan.

McCain to feature memorial honoring WWII veterans

By Hannah Blick KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Don Richards graduated from K-State in 1943, during the middle of the deadliest and most widespread war of the 20th century. Many of his college classmates and friends served overseas, and several of them died in the war.

When Richards realized in 2003 that K-State's campus did not have a memorial for World War II veterans, he decided to organize a committee to create one.

summer, the K-State World War II veterans committee will reveal its final plan and design for a World War II memorial and driveway by McCain Auditorium. The memorial has been in the works for the past two years, and received approval from K-State in fall 2005. The project will be funded with university and private funds.

The university will pay for the driveway portion, and the committee is responsible for the memorial portion of the project. Each section is an estimated $1.5 million, said Dick Jepsen, a 1950 graduate of K-State and chairman of the fundraising committee.

"Raising the money for the memorial will be no problem," Jepsen said. "We just need to get everyone organized. We've already raised 25 percent of the $1.5 million."

The project will consist of a circular driveway north of McCain, convenient for picking up tickets and dropping off visitors. The drive also will include 15 parking meter stalls for temporary parking use, Jepsen said.

The actual memorial will be in the center of the circular drive, based around a flat granite globe, 30 feet in diameter set in the paving of a plaza 80 feet in diameter. Four pathways will lead to the center of the globe and a slightly larger-than-lifesized statue of the only U.S. president from Kansas, Dwight D. Eisenhower, brother of former K-State president Milton Eisenhower.

Several other honoring famous figures related to World War II will be positioned strategically around the edge of the plaza, along with flags, visitor benches and commemorative walls.

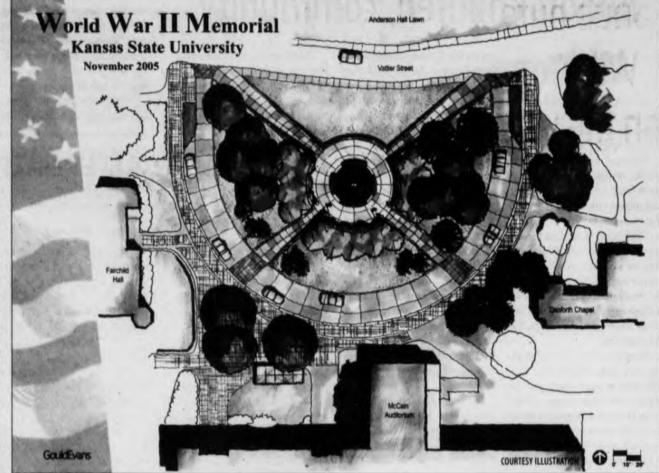

Generous financial contributors will have the opportunity to name these items, Jepsen said. The memorial also could feature a computer database responsible for pinpointing names located within the memorial and providing information on World War II veterans, including survivors.

Mark Taussig, interim associate director for the K-State planning office, is involved in master planning for the campus and overseeing construction. He said the committee was happy to see a memorial finally in the works.

"The driveway will be a great asset to that part of campus in terms of the parking and convenience," Taussig said. "But it's wonderful to remember and honor all of the veterans who served for our country during World War II."

The committee's goal is to have the memorial project completed by Memorial Day of 2008, Taussig said.

The committee will present its concept for legislative approval this spring and then begin the process of planning. designing, contracting and constructing this summer, said Tom Rawson, vice president for K-State Administration and Finance.

While committee the already has raised a portion of the funding needed for the memorial, they still are searching for more donations. Committee members are contacting K-State alumni and asking for financial assistance, said Betty Johnson, financial consultant hired by the K-State Foundation to help with the People can contact committee member Dick Jepsen for more information about contributing to the K-State World War II memorial fund.

K-State's World War II veterans committee will reveal final plans and designs for a World War II memorial and driveway by McCain Auditorium this summer.

SPONSORS AVALON BALLARD'S SPORTING GOODS CARLOS O' KELLY'S FOX BUSINESS SYSTEMS GOLF USA K-STATE UNION BOOKSTORE Purchase Q-BUCKS for 69' PIZZA HUT VARNEY'S Spend them for $1.00 WATER'S TRUE VALUE at sponsor locations. WENDY'S ANIMAL HOUSE PETS Q-Bucks brought to you by KQLA/Q103.5 FM AND KANSAS STATE BANK PITA PIT DOMINOS PIZZA PURCHASE Q-BUCKS AT: PLANET SUB BOWINKLE'S PETS N STUFF VALENTINO'S MARCH 17, 10 AM - NOON KAUP FURNITURE WATERS TRUE VALUE HARDWARE MARCH 24, 10 AM - 12 NOON HB STEREO MARCH 31, 11 AM - 1 PM GOLF USA

APRIL 7 10 AM - 12 NOON

Is the Collegian rect? No? How about you come help make a good thing better ... (and get paid for it) Work for us during the summer '07 fal We're looking for people who are reliable, show initiative, and possess writing skills and want the real story of campus life to be told. If you fit this description, you should probably work one of these eleven positions: Managing Editors Designers Photojournalists News Editors Graphic Journalists Desk Editors Graphic Artists Reporters Online Journalists Copy Editors & Editor in Chief OLLEGIAN Pick up an application in Kedzie 103, or visit kstatecollegian.com and click on Student Publications under Links. Editor in Chief apps due by Noon, March 30 Staff position apps due by 3 p.m., April 13

Buy Tickets before friday june 8 per & the innocent criminals mountain string band Spring Break and Savel nd many more! saturday june 9 wakarusa sunday june 10 ski martin and wood MUSIC & CAMPING FESTIVAL citizen cope nichael franti & spearhead A-DAY AND SINGLE-DAY TICKETS ON SALE NOW and many more! Dozens more bands! Check www.wakarusa.com for Single-Day Lineups USE OUR FRIENDLY LOCAL BOX OFFICES AND SAVE EXTRA ON SERVICE CHARGES AUNTIE MAE'S CD TRADEPOST www.wakarusa.com

Treat yourself to the ultimate music experience!

Single-Day Tickets on Sale Now

4 Bedrooms 2 Baths 923 Bluemont "A" 1215 Bertrand

3 Bedrooms 2 Baths 927 Fremont 1539 Campus

3 Bedrooms 1 Bath 2461 Hobbs

2 Bedrooms 1 Bath 1010 Thurston

1212 Bluemont

Plus numerous other 2 bedroom and 1 bedroom apartments View our properties at www.moorepropertymanagement.com

Amber Tyler Jacinda Mein Erin Wetta Allie Moore Iim Mosimann Eryn Wood Vice President Bob Krause, Honorary Member

COURTESY ILLUSTRATION

NOW LEASING FOR FALL

Check out our model showings now! With 900 apartments in the Manhattan area, we can find a place for you!

BEDROOMS 1119 Laramie #5 Mon,Wed,Thurs 5:30-7:00 4:00-7:00

5:00-7:00

1941 College Heights #4

1854 Claflin #14 Tues, Thurs 4:00-6:00 2:00-4:00

Wareham - 418 Poyntz #603 1:30 - 5:00 Sun 10:00-2:00

Aggie Village - 1215 Laramie 1:00-5:00 Mon-Fri 10:00-2:00

925 Denison #4 1803-1807 College Heights View at 925 Denison #4 Mon,Wed,Fri 6:00-8:00pm Tues, Thurs 12:00-2:00

Royal Towers 1700 N. Manhattan #203 Mon, Wed, Frl 4:00-6:00 1:00-3:00 Tues, Thurs 12:00-2:00

3:30-5:30 Fri 12:30-2:30 2:00-4:00 1419 Leavenworth #2 5:30-7:30

1026 Osage #22

BEDROOMS

12:00-2:00

BEDROOMS 1611 Laramie #2 Wed, Fri 8:00-11:00a 3:30-6:00

BEDROOMS

1125 Laramie

2:00-5:00

Reserved Parkingi Call 320-6300 for showing

STUDIOS

Wareham 418 Poyntz #316 12:00-4:00

785.776.3804 mdiproperties.com Saturday Office Hours: 10am-2pm ACCULLOUGH DEVELOPMENT

Boys & Girls Club Week honors children, community

By Salena Strate
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A zoo trip and field games are just some of the planned activities for the Boys & Girls Club of Manhattan next week.

National Boys & Girls Club Week, March 26 to 30, is a week-long celebration of the importance of the club within the community.

"Our club brings everyone together," said Cody Ziegler, intern for the Boys and Girls Club. "The week celebrates what we do for the kids and also helps to incorporate the community, K-State and to raise awareness for what we do."

Ziegler, senior in family studies and human services, also said it is an opportunity for the community to be a part of the club. He said he expected more than 175 children between the ages of 6 and 15 to participate.

The week will begin with a speech from Shalee Lehning and Carolyn McCullough, players on the K-State women's basketball team. Ziegler said they will discuss the importance of good character and leadership.

"I think these women are great role models for the kids to see and listen to," he said.

Shawn Remfry, senior in graphic design, will paint on a bed sheet that is stretched out like a canvas Tuesday, while Kyle South, a student at Manhattan Christian College, will provide music. Remfry said he wanted to open the world of art for the children.

"The imagery I'm actually painting is basically going to be a man holding two objects," Remfry said. "It's about how to live a balanced life and multitasking – that's part of the real world."

Parents will be invited at no cost to attend Parent Day from 4 to 5:30 p.m. on Wednesday at the Sunset Zoological Park. Ziegler said parents and children will be walking around and enjoying the zoo.

On Thursday, the Manhattan Fire Department and the Riley County Police Department will demonstrate safety tips in the Manhattan Town Center parking lot.

Also, firefighters and police officers will give attending children tours of a fire engine and a patrol car.

A day of field games including capture the flag, wiffle ball and four-way kick ball will conclude the week's events.

Catie Carpenter, site coordinator for the Boys & Girls Club, said she wants the community to be more aware of the programs they offer.

"The main reason we have the week is to get the word out and recruit more members, because each member is allowed to bring a friend," said Carpenter, junior in interior design.

BONUS POINTS

Student volunteers still can sign up by Friday at the Boys & Girls Club, 305 S. Fourth St.

NEW ORLEANS | Volunteers aid Katrina victims

continued from Page 1

changes when you walk among the people, even for just a few days," Gevock said. "The most challenging part has been feeling like our labor is so little and the task is so large."

With government agencies and insurance companies slow to respond, New Orleans citizens look for volunteers'

"New Orleans will be rebuilt, not by government agencies but by caring individuals," Gevock said.

Students interested in helping still can contact any of these groups. Prothe said she encourages students to get involved.

"I feel like this is the best time in our lives to make an impact," she said. "There is nothing like the feeling that you get when you know that you are helping someone get their life back. It's unforgettable."

ALTERNATIVE | Students forgo break for service

continued from Page 1

DALLAS

Matt Combes, junior in social work, will lead the group of students to Dallas. Combes' group will work at the AIDS Services of Dallas. They will interact with AIDS patients and their families and help with other projects, he said.

"We will be working on landscaping, painting apartments and building projects," he said.

"Last year we built a table and started a mural. If the weather holds, we can finish that mural this year. Also, one night we have a game/pizza night planned with the kids."

ОМАНА

Jennifer Kinkade, sophomore in animal sciences and industry, is organizing and leading the group to Omaha where they will build houses with Habitat for Humanity.

Kinkade said she felt students should give back to their communities.

"Volunteering is the best way to give back to the community," she said. "Spring break is a great time to volunteer because we don't have classes or regular school activities, so you have the time."

Kinkade said students should get involved in their communities, if they cannot give much time.

"If you can't dedicate the whole week," she said, "find some place to volunteer in your hometown or Manhattan."

The alternative spring break program always is looking for students and project ideas for the breaks, Simpson said

"The program has grown immensely," he said. "We welcome any student to participate and bring an idea to us. If anyone out there wants to get involved, all they need to do is ask."

DOWNLOAD | RIAA enforces piracy laws by sending letters to violators

continued from Page 1

The RIAA is targeting college students because studies show more than half of college students download illegally.

"The industry is already facing devastating losses," Sherman said. "We need to do something now."

Todd Simon, professor in journalism and mass communication, said this new method seemed like a scare tactic.

"The strategy of the music industry seems to be to scare the snot out of people," he said. Simon assured it would be much smarter for the average college student to pay the settlement, but he also said he believes the pre-litigation letters are a sign the recording industry is as reluctant to go to court as the student.

"The fact that they are sending pre-litigation notices instead of filing lawsuits says that they probably don't want to go to court," he said. "A big billion dollar industry filing suit against a college student with $500 in his bank account doesn't look real good to a jury."

Despite what he believes about how an actual trial would look to a jury, Simon said he also knew that defending the legality of downloading copyrighted material would be a tough case to present.

"It pretty hard to argue that downloading is fair use," Simon said. "Odds are that people downloading music know what they have is economically vi-

Zachary Lawn, sophomore in physics, said the public should be able to download music.

"As long as they aren't turning around and selling it, it should be OK," Lawn said. Harvard Townsend, Information Technology Security Officer, said K-State employs stringent policies to curb the downloading of copyrighted material on campus.

It is currently against K-State policy to download copyrighted material on campus for purposes of legality and because it can slow the campus network

The RIAA is planning to send 400 pre-litigation letters every month to universities across the nation and will continue to pursue legal action as a means of deterring illegal downloading.

DOCUMENTARY | K-State organization promotes free trade

continued from Page 12

Trade Advocates and helped set up the showing. During the discussion, Mitts called for action, like creating a demand for Fair Trade products to help farmers. She said students need to let retailers know they prefer fairly traded products.

Some students who agreed with the film pushed the discussion further.

Samantha Brake, sophomore in anthropology and political science, said there should be a clear distinction between fair trade as a concept and as an organization.

Wade Radina, owner of Radina's Coffeehouse and Roastery in Aggieville, agreed. "This film is about two

"This film is about two inches in, and the cauldron's about 10 feet deep," he said."

Students who would like to see the film can check it out at Hale Library. For additional information and ways to get involved, visit www. blackgoldmovie.com.

DID YOU WANT ANTIBIOTICS WITH YOUR PORK? WE DIDN'T THINK SO.

That's why we're serving naturally raised pork.

The pork we serve in Manhattan is free of antibiotics and added growth hormones, fed a vegetarian diet and raised humanely. We think meat raised this way, naturally, tastes better.

Serving naturally raised pork is another step in our ongoing Food With Integrity journey – bringing you the best ingredients from the best sources.

- SERVING NATURALLY RAISED PORK IN MANHATTAN -

IN AGGIEVILLE

Worth the wait?

Carolyn Hoard, resident of Randolph, Kan., leans over her husband Dennis as the couple and their dog Koko look at the menu at Sonic Drive-In Tuesday night.

When getting fast food, few consider gas emissions, nutritional value

By Salena Strate KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Between the hours of 11 a.m. and 1 p.m., there is a lunch rush at Wendy's. At the restaurant, the average time between ordering food and getting that cheeseburger is between 70 and 80 seconds. This is the fast-paced world known as the drive-thru.

"I think a lot more people use fast food for a reason; most people want to-go (food) to be prepared right after they order," said Michael Holt, crew leader at Wendy's. "Nobody wants to wait five to 10 minutes for food. This is why the drive-thru has become so popular."

But is the drive-thru really faster? At Sonic Drive-In, customers choose between a car-hop and the drive-thru. Malo Eteuini, partner of Sonic, said the perception is the drive-thru is faster, but the car-hop is more timely.

"A lot of the times people take a lot of time deciding on what they want in the drive-thru," he said. "We have a preview menu before the screen where you actually place your order. Customers will make changes at the window, and at the stall it only takes within two to three minutes to place an order."

minutes, 44 seconds from placing an

Chelsea Good, junior in agricultural communications and journalism, said she prefers to go inside to eat.

"When I eat out for fun, I want to catch up with friends instead of go through the drive-thru for convenience," Good said.

Not only are wait times a concern for drive-thru customers, healthier menu choices are becoming more Good said if she were to eat out a lot, healthy menu choices are something for which she would look. Daryl Bussen, owner of ProFitness, said he suggests dining inside because customers will eat slower. "The brain registers the time it takes you to eat," he said. "If you are eating food fast, you will still be hungry when you are done. Chatting tends to slow down the eating process."

Bussen said for healthy options at fast-food restaurants, students should eat with someone else and go for the chicken and fish sandwiches.

If ordering a hamburger, don't order cheese, and get used to drinking

"Almost nothing is bad for us; it's the average time at the car-hop is 2 or twice a week, it's OK. It's how you live your lifestyle with a variety

Kyle Unruh, fifth-year student in political science, said when he uses the drive-thru, he is eating by himself Although Unruh said the drive-thru is perfect for convenience, emissions from idling cars are not beneficial to the environment.

According to the Environmental Protection Agency, for each minute a car idles, it releases 0.352 grams of hydrocarbon compounds into the air.

Anthony Fox, senior in landscape architecture, said most fast-food, chains hire architects who find the cheapest way to design drive-thrus.

"They are really looking at designing what the company needs and are not concerned with the environment," he said. "It's all about in and out. If you go through most drive-thrus, you will see no green

Fox said there should be more of a push to be user-friendly and eliminate how people perceive fastfood restaurants.

Jon Striker, Manhattan resident, rolls out an order to a customer at Sonic Drive-In on Tuesday evening. Striker was one of four servers who delivered orders to cars as #### Eteuini said Sonic tracks the rates how much we eat," he said. "If you had a McDonald's hamburger once of customers placing orders. He said customers waited.

5 finalists selected for soap opera competition

By Sarah Rasmussen

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The end is in sight for the five finalists of the student soap opera

In January, Soapnet.com started contest for student producers to creat their own soap operas in hopes of winning the grand prize -$20,000 budget for production of their soap to air on the broadband thannel Soapnetic, after a pitch meeting with executives.

The contest started with entries from across the country, was narrowed down to 10, and recently five finalists have been hand-picked by voters, via an online poll, on Soannet.com

According to the Soapnet.com press release, the finalists are David Barillari, Columbia University; Eric Kahn Gale, University of Michigan-Ann Arbor; Tiffany Jackman, New York University; Gladys Silvera and Emma Mankey Hidem, New York University; and Stacy Ann Strang, University of Southern Maine.

Jori Peterson, spokesperson for Soapnet.com, said now that the five finalists have been selected, their next task is to create a brand new five-minute clip, which is centered around pop culture and celebrities, due April 3. A committee will select a winner from those clips later this

The finalists' clips will be available for viewing on Soapnet. com and will be judged again on these three components: originality, "soapiness" and overall quality. A camera crew has been sent to the finalists' schools to capture some behind-the-scenes footage of the students filming.

Peterson also said he hopes the contest will be held again in the future.

"It was so successful this year that we hope to do it again," she said. "It's great to see the passion that college students have for creating their own

Jenna Rader, sophomore in preprofessional business administration, had not heard about the contest, but she said she thought it was a good idea for those who are really into soap operas and production.

"I probably wouldn't enter the contest," she said. "Soaps aren't really my thing now, but I used to make soap operas with my friends when we were in middle school, so maybe if I had more time to

HOROSCOPES

Your weekly digest for March 14 - 20

Aquarius

our emotional state could leave you vulnerable and confused. The key to feeling good about ourself will be to do something about it. Sunday will be your lucky day.

Aries

Try to keep your cool; you may be a tad frazzled by all the rushing around. Lighten up your serious attitude. Property purchases should be on your mind. Sunday will be your lucky day.

Cancer

False information is likely if you listen to idle chatter or gossip. Do not let any small misunderstandings get in the way. Saturday will be your

Capricorn

Involvement in groups of interest will bring you in touch with important individuals. Take a break. Do not sign your life away. Wednesday will be your lucky day.

Gemini Try to include friends and relatives in your activities. You will enjoy the interaction and take great pride in the projects you have completed. Tuesday will be your lucky day.

You will want to complain about the injustice going on. You

Leo

Your need to put great detail into everything may cause you to miss the overall picture. You are exceptional at presenting your ideas. Friday will be your lucky day.

must take care not to over exert

Pisces

You will not get the reaction you want this week. Confusion could result when communicating with others. Try not to get backed into corners.

Monday will be your lucky day.

Scorpio

Secret affairs will eventually backfire. Do not push your luck with authority. You will need to finalize important deals this week. Thursday will be your lucky day.

Sagittarius

Deception is apparent. It is a great day to attend social functions. You will be on a rampage this week. You will be accident prone if you are not careful this week. Wednesday will be your lucky day.

Taurus

A better diet, exercise, or a change to a relaxed atmosphere could be ways to soothe your nerves. For now just do the best you can. Your energetic nature and ability to initiate projects add to popularity. Friday will be your lucky day.

Virgo

You can make money if you concentrate on producing services that will make domestic chores easier. A little volleyball or other outdoor sports should be on your agenda. You will tend to overeat this week. Monday will be your lucky day.

- www.astrology-online.com

BUTTERED I saw the movie and now I want a spear ...

y Jess Boatwright

FICTION

Earbud Evil | Cutting the puppet strings

By Logan C. Adams KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Editor's note: This is the 13th segment of "Earbud Evil," a fictional story the Collegian is publishing daily until spring break. It follows Alex, a fictional K-State student, as he deals with a hidden threat to the university.

Though the names of real people will accompany made-up characters, all events are fictional. This is intended for entertainment and is not factually based.

Perhaps I had an enemy sitting next to me, perhaps a new ally

I pondered that for a brief moment before Wefald stepped in with a gaggle of men in suits.

They walked like they were important, and their faces looked like they were mad, so I guessed they were in the administration. A vice president of finance here, the assistant vice president for community relations there, and so on.

I motioned for Steven and Mattie to hold back and wait on my signal while the bigwigs did whatever they came to do. At least we knew where Wefald was.

The administrators howled at each other from Wefald's office, but I never could make out the president's voice. I guessed he wasn't interested in responding to what they had to say or wasn't able to.

I passed the time by trying to think about happy things. Home football games. Cold beer after a hard day's work. A large, heavy object falling from the sky and crushing Fred Phelps. Happy things

Twenty minutes passed before Wefald's entourage ran out of steam and left in a huff. The president strutted out to the assistant's desk and told her to send in the student body president. Lucas got up and followed him in, and I went to the door and waved my hands at Mattie and Steven. Our chance had

I pulled the duct tape from my pack and prepared a length for Wefald's mouth. Mattie went in with me to keep Lucas from interfering and told Steven to guard the door.

The student body president was giving his best argument when we entered the room but Wefald paid him little mind. I cupped the length of tape in my hand and gently slapped it to his face without even introducing myself and shoved him toward one of his lovely guest chairs. He put up much less of a fight than I expected - I suppose the zombies lose their incredible hostility once they're disconnected from the iPods

Lucas was yelling all sorts of things as I wrapped tape around Wefald's chest and shoulders, but Mattie kept him at bay with a baseball bat held high and ready to strike. I bent down and secured the legs, which had been making rapid-fire kicks at my shins.

There was a violent smashing sound from the assistant's office and a loud scream from the assistant. She'd tried to call for help, but Steven was faster and used his bat on her phone. He escorted the assistant into the room and we put her in the second guest chair.

Lucas calmed down and sat at the chair behind the desk. Mattie disconnected the phone and threw the handset into the hall. We covered most of the windows and Steven went back to being our lookout.

Objective one was complete with zero casualties. We were tempted to break out the beers and celebrate, but we had more work to do.

"President Wefald, I'm sorry to have done this but we had no choice," I said, trying to get him to stop fighting his bonds. "We just want to help you."

My words did not comfort him as much as I would have liked. I told him I'd let him talk if he agreed not to scream. He nodded. I reached to un-gag him but Lucas told me to wait.

"Hey, before you do that, how about you tell us what's going on?" he said. "I think we're entitled."

Mattie and I exchanged looks. We agreed to bring him in on Lucas was easier to convince - perhaps because of the baseball bats - and we were ready to work with Wefald again, who had a rather cross look on his face. I couldn't blame him.

A glint of movement caught my eye through one of the shutters. I peeked through a slot and froze with terror.

There were about 50 students in blue and red gathered around the outside of the office and staring at us. It was evening now so they were locked out of Anderson Hall, but they would have us if we tried to leave or if they decided to break their way in.

I told Lucas, Mattie and the assistant to have a look and told Steven to come join us. Lucas lamented that he didn't have a gun, and Mattie asked how good he was at shooting.

"I get plenty of quail and deer," he said. "Coyotes, too." Wefald started convulsing after that last sentence, then calmed down and looked around the room with very confused

I pulled the tape off his mouth as gently as I could. "Where am I?" he demanded. "Why am I stuck in this chair? What is the meaning of this? Who are you people?" Mattie offered him a test: she asked him if K-State needed help with deferred maintenance. "Of course we do! Half our buildings are falling apart and we need money now!" Wefald snapped. "But what does that have to do with me being bound to my own chair?" One miracle: Check.

ot memories?

royal purple yearbook • 103 kedzie hall • 532-6555 • royalpurple.ksu.edu

CLASSIFIE

Classifieds continue on the next page

Bulletin Board

Announcements

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five air planes and lowest rates. Call 785-776-1744, www ksu.edu/ksfc

ONE-BEDROOM IN furnished duplex. One block Off-street parking. $350.00 plus utilities. Call 785-447-0584.

PROFESSIONAL EDItheses, disserta tions, term papers, journal tion, vondiether@hotmail.-

> 020Lost and Found

be placed free for three

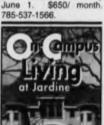

LOST: BLUE notebook in found please call 913-424-2804

Housing/Real Estate

105 Rent-Apt. Furnished

Manhattan CITY Ordinance 4814 assures ev ery person equal opportunityinhousingwithoutdis-tinction on account of race, sex. familial status, military status, disability, eligion, age, color, na-ional origin or ancestry. ported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

QUIET VERY nice paid. Year lease starting 785-537-1566.

2, 3, 4 Bedroom, Studio, and Loft Apartments Available All-New for Fall 2007

Apply At:

532-3790

1-10 Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

MANHATTAN CITY Ordinance 4814 assures evnity inhousing without disrace, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, na Violations should be re ported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

1117 VATTIER. New all electric. Two-bedrooms appliances furnished, no pets. Close to campus 10 785-313-8292.

1213 POMEROY. Twobedroom, half block from KSU. $570/ month. June paid. Emerald Property 785-587-9000

Talk with one of our advertising sales representatives by calling...

785-532-6560

Collegian

1213B POMEROY Oneapartment. Very bedroom basement apartment with study room. Close to KSU. $475/ campus. Utilities month plus electric. Off-$650/ month. street parking. August. Emerald Property Management. 785-587-9000.

1230 CLAFLIN. Can't get closer than Across the street from KSU. Two-bedroom apart-ment. $620 plus electric. Emerald Property Management. 785-587-9000. 1620 MCCAIN. Four-bed-bathroom two within one block of campus. $1140 plus electric On-site laundry. June or August. Emerald Property Management 1620 MCCAIN. Three-bedtwo within one block of campus. $970 plus electric On-site laundry. August. Emerald Property Ma agement. 785-587-9000.

1852 ANDERSON bedroom apartments just west of campus. On-site aundry. Some with balconies $630month. August. Emerald Management. Property

2055 1/2 TECUMSEH Recute studio west of June possession $425 plus electric. Emerald Property Manage-

2514 STAGG Hill. bedroom apartment with its own washer/ dryer and fireplace. Emerald Property Man-

405 N. Juliette. One-bedroom apartment close to month plus electric. Big eat-in kitchen On-site laundry. August lease Emerald Property Ma agement. 785-587-9000.

413 MORO, One-bedroom apartment close to Walgreens and Wal-Mart $475/ month plus electric On-site laundry. August. agement. 785-587-9000.

MANAGEMENT, One-bedoom. June, July, August. 785-539-4357. www.rentapm.com

JUNE 1: one-bedrooms rooms $420- $485, threerooms $650. All close to NEWER FOUR-BED-ROOM, two bath in Aggieville. Great view, re erved parking. Available for August. 785-320-6300. ONE, TWO, four, five-bedroom apartments/ houses August leases. 785-539-8295.

ONE, TWO, three, and four-bedroom apartments.

Close to campus and ag-

gleville. Parking and laun-

ONE TWO three fou plus bedroom apartments and houses to rent. See our website for more infowww.apskansas.com or call 785-370-4044.

> ONE, TWO, three, four six-bedroom apartment/ houses next to campus. Washer/ dryer, central air. 785-537-7050.

bedrooms. duplexes and homes Most close to campus. Some farther away. June August leases. Check out our website www. emeraldpropertymanage ment.com or call Emerald Management 785-587-9000 for more in-

ONE-BEDROOM VERY nice, close to campus 785-341-0686.

PARK PLACE Apart-One-bedrooms ments welcome. One-half from KSU at Seth Child and Claffin. 785-539-2951.

PARK PLACE Apart Two-bedrooms ments. Pets welcome. Summer/ fall leasing. One-half mile from KSU at Seth Child and Claffin, 785-539-2951

SPACIOUS THREE-BED ROOM located on Kimball Ave. Close to campus and dry, pool, small pets accepted $800/ month, negotiable. 516-343-3770.

THREE AND four-bedroom apartments available in August. Close to campus. Water and trash paid Coin operated laun-dry. 785-537-7810, 785-537-2255

bath plus vanity. $1050/ month. Trash/ water paid. 1510 College Ave. Pool Washer/ dryer in unit. 314-805-0674.

TWO-BEDROOM APART MENT, $560/ month, 718 Thurston, 816-734-9355 TWO-BEDROOM, many sizes and prices. June or August. 785-341-0686

VERY NICE three-bedroom, two bath apartm Three blocks to Aggieville 822 Fremont. Affordable August

WHY RENT WHEN YOU CAN BUY? Condos for Two and three-b room starting at $112,650. 785-537-2096.

WILDCAT VILLAGE. Avail able June or August four bedroom, two room, $1400. Cable paid. 785-776-2425 785-565-3760. www.village-rentals.com.

Spacious Duplexes ustom built with the K-State student

Each duplex features walk-in closets, all kitchen appliances, washer/dryer, off street parking, phone and cable connections in every and lawn care.

Security deposit is the same as one month's rent. The lease period begins August 1 for one year.

4 Bedrooms, 2 Baths

ONLY $1.150/mo. Sorry, No Pets! Quiet Neighborhood, Convenient and Close to Campus

Day: 313-0751 Night: 537-4682 Pre-lease Today for Spring!

Only A few homes remain Amenities:

 Washer/Dryers or hookups available On-Site Management ·Garages Available Private Fitness Cente •Storm Center *Peaceful Garden Setting Enormous Closets

GEORGETOWN 776-8080 w.GeorgetownApts.net

WILDCAT PROPERTY MANAGEMENT 537-2332

8th & Moro 2BR - $850 4BR - $1,700

14th & Fremont 4BR - 21/2 Bath $1,650

Anderson Village 1BR- $525 2BR - $700-725

House - $750 3BR + 2 Bath

Fall Leasing

1501 Poyntz

NOW LEASING

arge 2 Bedroom Apts. Cambridge Square Sandstone Pebblebrook

Close to Campus! Open Saturday 10-3 537-9064

2000 College Hts •1114 Fremont •519 Osage•

Preleasing! Spacious 1 & 2 Bedroom

Few Spaces Remain for Graduate Students • Upper Classmen

Amenities Quet Park Like Setting 3h-Site Laundry • Enormous Cosets

Abundant Parking/Garages Customer Service On-Site Management Office
 Full-time Maintenance Fers
 24-hour Emergency Staff

WESTCHESTER PARK 776-1118

1420

Beechwood Terrace

Newer Apartment Lg. 2 & 3 Bedrooms 110 Baths Washer/Drver Energy Efficient

On a Wooded Secluded 2 Acre Lot with Creek $740 & $885

341-4024 Need A New

for a roommate

or a house

Classifieds

dryer hookups, off-street parking, great location, no 785-532-8256. SIX AND five-bedroom house/ duplex, next campus. asher/ dryer, central air, off-street parking, no pets. 785-537-7050. THREE-BEDROOM

North 5th. No pets, $975/

available June 1.

WALK TO class. One, two, three, four-bedro No smoking, no drinking, no pets. 785-539-1554.

> 120 Rent-Houses

1310 N. 11th. Two-bed June lease. No pets. 785-313-8292 agement. 785-587-9000.

Rent-Duplexes

1000 B Thurston. Four-bedroom, two bathroom.

Management 785-587-9000.

bedroom with full unfin

included.

new. All new appliances

$1400/

ement

Four-bedroom

$1300. August. Emerald Property Management.

old. Lots of space. $1100.

FIVE-BEDROOM BRIT-

TNAY Ridge town home.

Two and one-half bath

Washer/ dryer, $1025 per month. Available August 1. 785-250-0388.

FOUR-BEDROOM

gust, $1280, nice, washer

even washer/ dryer.

1209 POMEROY.

ished basement

785-587-9000

remodeled.

785-587-9000.

785-587-9000.

785-587-9000.

bedroom, two bat duplex. Only five

dryer

street parking. Half possession.

1400 HARTFORD. Four-Big patio and off-street parking. East of campus only three blocks. June $1300/ month. Emerald Property parking. August. Emerald ald Property Management. ment 785-587-9000.

1403 HARTFORD. Fourbedroom, two bathroom. Offcampus. Walk to class. from campus. Washer $1300/ month. Completely $600 month. August. Emerald Property Management. remodeled a year ago agement. 785-587-9000.

1219 Pomeroy Kenmar, three-bedrooms Four-bedroom, two bathplus study room bathrooms washer/ dryer, garage Half duplex. Completely game room, fenced patio. 785-539-1177. 1436 LEGORE. Threethe first to live in the new bedroom, one and one unit. Half block from cam half bath, two story home pus. Off-street parking

June lease. campus. month. Emerald Property $1050/ month. Emerald Management. 785-587-9000. 432- 438 Butterfield. Only room home in really nice three years old, two story condition. Nice hardwood two bathroom, single car floors and single garage garage. Nice oak woodappliances. West KSU. June lease. $700/ month. Emerald Property Lots of storage.

1529 HILLCREST. Three 913 COLORADO. Fourbedroom, one bath brick house with garage and fenced yard. Close to KSU sports complex, just Now or August. Emerald Property Management. west of KSU. June posse sion. Pets okay. $975/ month. Emerald Property Management 785-587-9000.

Management

785-587-9000

1725 CASSELL Four-bedroom home in nice family neighborhood. Near Mar latt School. Completely remodeled recently. $1300/ month. Emerald Property Management 785-587-9000.

2055 TECUMSEH, threebedroom, two bath, living Completely remodeled a year ago. All appliances even the washer and $1050/ Emerald Property Management. 785-587-9000.

2079 COLLEGE View Four-bedroom, two bath with big front porch. West campus a few blocks. $1300/ month. June possession. Emerald Prop-Management.

785-587-9000. 2401 HIMES, right across street from sports complex. Four-bedroom two bath. All appliances. $1300/ month. August. Emerald Propert Management 785-587-9000. Emerald Property

2412 WILDWOOD Lane quiet neighborhood. Three-bedroom, home with fenced yard. Move-in soon. $900. Emerald Property Man-

314 S. 17th. Beautifu bedroom, two bathroom original woodwork in older just west of KSU campus. home. Three-bedroom. Completely remodeled a one bath, full unfurnished year ago. $1300/ month. basement. Great deck for All appliances including entertaining June posses-washer/ dryer. Off-street sion. $975/ month. Emerald Property Ma ment. 785-587-9000.

424 OAKDALE. Absolute wonderful family neighborhood. Close to ele school. Four-bedroom full finished basement scaped. $1400/ month

Emerald Property Ma agement. 785-587-9000. 502 FREMONT, three-bed room, one bath, no pets June 785-539-1975

620 THURSTON Four bedroom, two bath older home all stone exterior Big backyard deck. All appliances included. less than half block from possession. month. Emerald Property Management 785-587-9000

723 BERTRAND FOUR bonus room. Older home $1300/ month. Emerald Management. 785-587-9000.

724 RATONE. Five-bed room, two bath home four blocks from campus. Two kitchens plus a family room. Nice house with all appliances. August lease. Only $325 each for five of Emerald Property you. M a anagement 785-587-9000 748 TUTTLE. Three-bedroom, one bath with single garage and fenced yard. Beautiful hardwood floors. $825/ month. July posses-sion. Emerald Property Management 785-587-9000. 765 ELLING. Absolutely huge house. Four-bed rooms (the biggest you have seen), two bath with all appliances and garage Full finished basement with family room too. Big fenced yard. $1300/ month. June possession. Emerald Property agement. 785-587-9000. 905 BLUEMONT. Five kitchens. Walk to class each for five of ple years ago. June possession. Emerald Prop-Management 785-587-9000 AVAILABLE three houses. Washer/ 785-317-5026.

AVAILABLE JUNE 1. Twobedroom. Air conditioning, washer/ dryer, garage Half block from campus One year lease, $800. FEMALE Summer 2007.

316-650-1738.

Call 316-706-7667.

lay or June. $550/ month

plus utilities. Two spa-bath, huge pantry, two bal-conies, overlooks duck pond. 785-640-1559. Call three-bedroom apartment two blocks to campus, close to Aggleville. Rent

SUMMER SUBLEASER

needed for two-bedroom

Service Directory

220

Weight Loss & Nutrition

WWW.CJLAWSWEIGHT-

LOSSMALL.COM, proven

opportunity.

bath

Washer/ dryer,

person.

SUBLEASE

apartment

SUBLEASER(S)

SUMMER

785-221-6680.

two

Deadlines

placed by noon the day refore you want your a o run. Classified displa ads must be placed by prior to the date you want your ad to run.

CALL 785-532-6555

Classified Rates

1 DAY

20 words or less $10.50

each word over 20

20€ per word

20 words or less $15.65

LET'S RENT

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

POYNTZ acros city park with street parking, central air, washer/ dryer, neutral colors with total remodel. Walease. No pets. Call 785-313-4812.

350 N. 16th. Two blocks to K-State and Aggieville. Clean, quiet, private parking. No smoking, no pets. $580. June and August 785-539-5508 or 785-564-0857.

to K-State and Aggleville. Two-bedroom apartments Clean, quiet, private parking. No smoking, no pets. $580. August 785-539-5508

PRE-LEASING JUNE and August. Some units brand KSU close to washer/ dryer included. details 785-776-2102. youngwilkperson. All utilities i cluded. emilyl@ksu.edu.

FOR RENT. Newer four-bedroom duplex. Good lo-cation with dishwasher,

FOUR-BEDROOM

2030

Heights, Central heat and

FOUR-BEDROOM

HOUSE, one block from campus. Two nice rooms, available June 1st. All appliances, no pets. Lease

FOUR-BEDROOM

NICE HOUSE at 1010

Leavenworth. Two full baths, all kitchen appliances including washer/ dryer. Upstairs has own heat and air, and has just been remodeled. Plenty of parking off alley, no pets, June lease. Call Dave,

785-292-4320, evenings

apartments and houses. Close to campus.

ONE-BEDROOM TO fivebedrooms. Apartime deplexes and homes campus emeraldpropertymanage-

ONE-BEDROOM to five-apartments for rent. June skansas.com

SEVEN TO eight-bedroom (two kitchen). June, July, August. Alliance Property Management.

Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.rent-kitchen). June, July, August. Alliance Property M a n a g e m e n t . 785-539-4357. www.rent-

(TWO

website, www.ap-

and August leases.

785-370-4044.

SIX-BEDROOM

apm.com

washer/ dryer. No $290/ bedroom,

785-537-7597.

785-944-3491.

913-426-2448.

rent-apm.com

785-539-2356.

785-292-4342.

785-539-1975

785-313-8292.

NEWER

pets.

June

FIVE-BEDROOM.

Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

three-bedroom. June/ August lease. No pets. Central heat/ air-conditioning 785-587-9460 room. Close to campus. Central air, dishwasher, coin operated laundry fa-cility. Available June or August. N 785-537-1746 No 785-539-1545.

TWO. THREE and fourbedrooms, close to campus, central air, dish-washer, laundry facilities. No pets. 785-539-0866.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTat 1010 Leavenworth. Just finished, every-thing is new. Washer/ dryer. Parking off alley. No pets. Available immed ately or June lease. Call days 785-292-4320, or nights 785-292-4342

THREE-BEDROOM DU-

Rent-Houses

820 OSAGE, 1524 Pipher, 3100 James, all four-bed-

BRITTNAY RIDGE town house four/ five-bedroom, two and one-half baths, includes washer/ dryer. No pets. August 785-293-5197.

FIVE AND Six-bedroom house/ duplex next campus. Personal washer and dryer, central air, offstreet parking. No pets. 785-537-7050.

FIVE-BEDROOM, TWO bath house for rent. 931 June lease Washer/ dryer, window airconditioning. Fericed back-yard, pets allowed. Offstreet parking. $1500/ month. 785-539-4949.

FOUR TO five-bedroom. August lease. No pets. Central heat/ air-condition-785-587-9460.

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE, close to campus Available July 1. Washer/ dryer, garage $1000, 725 913-710-4730.

pets. June lease. Call 785-313-4812. TWO-BEDROOMS CLOSE to campus. No pets, laundry hook-ups. June lease. $295 per bed-room. 785-336-1124.

FOUR-BEDROOM,

bath house for rent, 900

Washer/ dryer, central air-

yard, pets allowed. $1100/

NEXT TO campus, one

houses, and apartments.

Available now or fall. No

THREE-BEDROOM and

one bath, washer/ dryer included. June 1- May 31.

1505 Pipher, garage, cable and ceiling fans in every bedroom, remodeled

throughout. $990/ month. 785-341-6295.

THREE-BEDROOM TWO

bath, washer/ dryer, no

$825 plus utilities. August

THREE-BEDROOMS

CLOSE to campus. Dish-washer, central air conditioning, laundry hook-ups, no pets. June and August

TWO-BEDROOM

HOUSE, washer/ dryer hook-ups. Central air. No

ses. 785-336-1124.

smokers. 515

lease. Call Monday day, 785-776-4805.

Washer/ dryer, central

through

included.

conditioning. Fenced b

Employment/Careers

Help Wanted

THE COLLEGIAN canno verify the financial poten-tial of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business oppor-

tion. The Collegian urg our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232- 0454.

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISleader in providing busihas a full-time position available in Manhattan, KS. This challenging posi-tion requires the ability to handle multiple tasks and priorities while maintaining a positive and enertic attitude. $12/ hour, full-time only, opportunimail resume in Microsoft jobs@networksplus.com. BARTENDING! $300 a day potential. No experience necessary. Training 1-800-965-6520 ext. 144.

COME SPEND an awesome summer with us in the beautiful Rocky Mountains! Working at camp is fun, adventurous and very rewarding. We offer competitive salaries, re board and travel salaries, room/ al-Girl Scouts Mile Hi Council owns two resident camps and several day camps. We are looking to fill the following positions for these camps: LPN's, counselors, arts/ crafts specialist farm/ small animal special specialist. ist, kitchen assistant, westriding counselors, ern dance/ drama specialists, business managers. For information

Shorty

start, no experience necessary. Some Saturdays required. Call Park Place A p a r t m e n t s , 785-539-2951. NOW HIRING full-time summer internship. take five more students to Call 785-317-0455.

PART-TIME

PINNACLE ELECTRIC has an immediate open-ing for 30-40 hours a Electrical experience a plus, but will train right person. 785-456-1351.

SPORTS! Have fun! Save money! Maine camp needs fun loving counselors to teach. All land, adventure and water

785-532-6560 COLLEGIA

ALL SHIFTS, DAYS, NIGHTS & WEEKENDS

• Retirement Plan

421 N. 3rd Street

SUBLEASER FOUR LANDSCAPING positions available Downey-Lawn.com looking for two blocks college summer interns that want a career in the horticulture industry and from campus. For more information contact Janelle jkbeck@ksu.edu or two part time workers. Housing Included. Prefer-ring well rounded individu-FEMALE SUBLEASER wanted. $290 per month rent plus utilities. Ex-tremely close to campus. with an imagination, drive, and ability to work hard. Apply in person or Call Nathan Downey toll free 1-866-794-

LAWN(5296). DowneyLawn.com for more details Downey Lawn & Landscape, PO Box 1, 303 E. Soule, Ingalls, KS 67853.

Contact bpultz@usd378.-org or 785-485-4000. HARVEST HELP Wanted.

of summer workers, farm experience needed. Exceleled, nice yard and deck! Female roommate option also available now. Call

> HELP WANTED: truck drivers/ yard help. Compaid. Apply in person at Howell Lumber Company at 601 Lincoln in Wamego.

dates must be motivated, capable of learning new skills quickly, self-di-rected, able to work at least 15 hours a week and willing to devote at least a year to the posi-tion. Working with web technologies in an office that values its students provides a fun yet chal-

email us at omeoffice@ksu.edu. SUPERVI-Schools half- two hours per day. plication available at www.manResources/ or apply at Human Resources Department, 2031 Poyntz Avenue. Applications ac-cepted until positions are filled. Apply to Manhattan-Ogden USD 383, 2031 portunity Employer. NEEDED: PART-TIME leasing agent. Imme help me run my business. Open to all majors. Average earns $800/ week.

local real estate company. Send resumes to: ERA The Conderman Group, 1430 Poyntz Avenue. 10-15 hours per

www.girlscoutsmilehi.org,

ABOVE AVERAGE COMPENSATION

Discounted Meals

Flexible Schedule

Medical Insurance

APPLY TODAY • WORK TODAY

PROGRAMMER- CIVIC-PLUS is the nations leading provider of. City, City, County, and School web-sites. Full-time position in Manhattan. Microsoft ASP and SQL time and a half for overtime. Benefits include Health, Dental, Paid Holidáys, Paid Vacation, and 401K matching. Email resume in Microsoft Word or > MANAGER CivicPlus has an opening in our Manhattan head-quarters office for a fulltime project manager.

> This challenging position entails managing multiple website redesign projects from start to finish. Position requires attention to tion requires attention to detail, the ability to man age multiple tasks, prioricheerful attitude. Training is provided. Benefits in-clude health, dental, paid holidays, paid vacation and 401(k) matching. and Email resume in text Word format to

RILEY COUNTY has thir positions for seawork week at $8.66 per hour. Valid driver's license and the ability to lift 70 pounds is required. Appli cants must be at least 18 years old. Experience in construction, asphalt nance. traffic flagging, concrete tree and turf maintenance or mowing is preferred. Applications are available at the Riley County Clerk's Office, 110 Court-house Plaza, Manhattan, KS or online at www.rileycountyks.gov/jobs. Appli cations will be accepted until all positions are filled. Riley County is an equal opportunity employer.

Kitchen help wanted. All shifts available. Apply person. 1130 Moro, Man-

SPEND YOUR summer traveling country as a combine/ truck driver. Ambitious in-dividuals for high volume harvesting operation. Operate new JD9760 STS and Peterbilt Semis. Guar-anteed excellent monthly and room board. Sign on bonus for experienced workers. Approximately mid-May to ing 1-888-287-7053.

TECHNICAL SUPPORT position available for K-State undergraduate stuwith a variety of dent terpersonal and problem solving skills. Experience with PCs and popular software applications such as Word Perfect, MS Word; MS Excel, MS Internet Explorer, internet applicaions, basic web page editing and Windows applications desired. Must have a technical understading of Microsoft Windows. Su availability mer necessary. Computer network experience preferred. Applications available/ cepted until March 16, 2007 at Kansas Forest Service, 2610 Claffin Rd.

785-532-3300. Please at-

su do ku

tach a resume

THE CITY of Westmon land is taking applications for a pool manager 2007 season. Life guard and WIS training preferred but not required Salary based on experi ence and is negotiable Job description and application available at City moreland, KS 66549 785-457-3361. Deadline 66549 for applications is March Equal Opportunity Employer.

TRUCK DRIVERS, CDL

a highly respected com-pany. Our group members are paid very well. Posi-tion includes most benefits and requires very little travel. If you are inter

resume as soon as possi

ble. Our contact informa tion and more details

about MGM may be found

on our website at www.

mgmbusinesspartners.

scheduling appointments to conduct interviews.

WAL-MART OVERNIGHT

Shifts. Hiring for Mainte nance, Stockers and bonus with benefits. Apply

WALSON INK now hiring collegiate sales represen-tative. 610 S. Delaware

WILDCATSNEEDJOBS.

COM. PAID survey takers needed in Manhattan.

100% free to join. Click on

WINTER/ SPRING Positions Available. Earn up to $150 per day. Experience

shoppers needed to judge

retail and dining establish

2004 YAMAHA 600R.

tiful blue and white

Pregnancy Testing Center

539-3338

Fill in the grid so that every row,

every column, and every 3 x 3 box

contains the digits 1 through 9

with no repeats.

5

4

Solution and tips

at www.sudoku.com

Real Hope, Real Help, Real Options

Free pregnancy testing

Totally confidential service

Same day results • Call for appointment

539-3338

4

2 5

9

4

3

8 6

> 8 3

8 2

3

7

9

1

6

9

3

Excellent condition. Beau

matching helmet. Low miles, Yoshi Pipe, fende

kit, cover. $5500 or best 785-539-1820.

surveys.

Cashiers. Overnight

at Manhattan Wal-Mart.

com.

ested please forward a

Valley Concrete full or part-time, works great for summer employ-2 DAYS 20 words or less $12.95 ment, will work around class schedule. Equal Opeach word over 20 portunity 785-458-6499. Employer 25¢ per word 3 DAYS UNIQUE OPPORTUNITY

Every two years MGM Marketing, Inc. accepts each word over 20 applications to fill a Mar-30¢ per word keting & Logistics position within our small group in Kansas City. MGM is in a 4 DAYS 20 words or less $17.90 niche market that recov ers and re-sells all types of products that are in-volved in derailments. each word over 20 35∉ per word MGM is currently looking for a creative, motivated 5 DAYS detail-oriented person that 20 words or less $20.00 has common sense, good judgment, and the ability each word over 20 to communicate well with 40¢ per word new and existing customers. Prior experience (consecutive day rate) is not necessary. This is a very good opportunity with

To Place An Ad

So to Kedzie 103 (acro from the K-State Student Union.) Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

How To Pay

All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $25 service charge on all returned right to edit, reject or properly classify any ac

Free Found Ads

As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

Corrections

If you find an error in We accept responsibility only for the first wrong

Cancellations

f you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining. days. You must call us before noon the day. before the ad is to be published. .

For an extra charge.

Categories

Bulletin Board

Housing/Real Estate

Service Directory

Open Market

Transportation

Travel/Trips

THREE OR four-bedroom Check web for house for rent. No pets. Close to campus. June lease, 785-539-6096.

785-564-0857. FOUR-BEDROOM, close to campus. central air, dishwasher. No pets. Available June or August. 785-539-0866. 1117 LARGE TWO-BEDROOM Bills paid. 785-762-7191.

PLEX with lots of light, washer/ dryer hook-ups, central air. Off-street parking $295. No pets, June lease. Call 785-313-4812.

CLEAN, QUIET basement THREE OR Four-bedroom, two bath, apartment. Two-bedroom, two bath, full kitchen, paclose to camtio. $385 per month per pus. 785-341-9459.

THREE FOUR, FIVE, SIX PLUS BEDROOMS. Looking for that perfect home to rent? Great selection July, August. Alliance Property Management. •785-539-4357. www.rentand prices. Capstone M a n a g e m e n t 785-341-0686.

THREE-BEDROOM NICE house three blocks west of KSU. Large rooms, ceil ing fans, washer/ dryer. No smoking, pets, or parwasher and dryer. No ties. June lea 785-776-6318.

THREE-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus. No pets, washer and dryer provided. $900 per month.

THREE-BEDROOM, June se, close to west side of campus. Central airconditioning. Full kitchen two bathrooms; single now for $275 each, plus utilities shared four ways. full bath. $810, 917 Blue mont, year lease, June 2007 - May 2008. Close FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO and one-half bath, study. August 1. $975 per month. Knight Real Es-tate. Call 785-539-5394 to campus. Pets allowed Mrs. Kim, 913-681-9959.

TWO bath, close to cam-pus, Ratone St. Call JUNE, July, August. Alliance Property Management. 785-539-4357. www.-785-292-4908. THREE-BEDROOM.

FOUR-BED-ROOM, two bath half durent-apm.com plex. Close to campus. Washer/ dryer included. No pets. $1200. Call TWO AND Five-bedroom houses available August

> TWO-BEDROOM, ONE bath, updated, newer carnew stove, washer and dryer included, $695 per month, Deposit re-quired. 785-494-8686

TWO-BEDROOMS. JUNE, July, August. Al-liance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.rent-apm.com

ONE TO five-bedroom VERY CHARMING brick ranch. 2505 Winne. Three bedroom, attached quiet neighbor hood. No pets, $950. June 1 lease. Ryan Rentals, 785-313-0455, Rentals. 785-776-7706. Most close to campus. Some farther away. June or August leases. Check out our website www.-College View. Fenced yard, June 1 lease. ment.com or call Emerald 785-313-1807. Property Management 785-587-9000 for more in-

> Alliance Property Specials on 3 Bedrooms and Above

Call Alliance Management @ 785-539-4357 ww.rent-apm.com

DO DECOMP Management til Spring Break

DECEMBER AUGUSTlease. Male roommate wanted. Studious, smoking. Four from campus. Off-street parking. Free w dryer. 785-341-7171. washer/

Find a job under the help wanted section.

120 Rent-Houses

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

103 Kedzie

Diamond K Investments 313-5573

June Leases 8th & Vattier 5 BR - $1400

1205 Pomeroy lease. $855. 1207 Pomeroy 3 BR - $1050

1022 Humbolt 785-313-7473. 4 BR - $1200

August Lease

1305 Pierre

4 BR - $1100

313-5573

Sale-Houses

CONDOS FOR SALE.

Two and three-bedroom starting at $112,650. colle-

HOMES CLOSE to campus. Call Larry at 785-317-7713. Reece and

HOUSE FOR sale. four-

bedroom, one and one-

half bath, central heat/ air

$165,000. 316-772-3171

185 Sale-Mobile Homes

FOR SALE: 1985 mobile

condition central heat and air. Great for students, $7500. 730 Allen Road

145 Roommate Wanted

#175. 316-721-8652.

14x56. Excellent

785-537-2096.

824 Fremont garage. N 785-539-4641. 4 BR -$1100 THREE-BEDROOM, ONE

THREE-BEDROOM,

JUNE, July, August. Al-liance Property Manage-ment. 785-539-4357. www.-

Washer/ dryer, central air. 785-537-9644.

VERY NICE four-bedroom one bath house. Three blocks from campus. 2038

BROKE?

Roommate Wanted

CHRISTIAN FEMALE seeks two female gradstudents starting fall 2007. August to May lease. New three-bedroom, two bath house with washer/ dryer. $350 plus one-third utilities. Call 847-975-1484.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed immediately. Nice apartment, one block from campus, $270 a month one-third utilities rent negotiable negotiable. 785-317-9021

FEMALE room Thurston. $300 plus utilities. Offstreet parking, free laun-316-200-8444 LOOKING FOR female roommates for a four-bedroom house, $300/ month

plus electricity, gas and SBC. 785-587-9207 or 785-230-3008 LOOKING FOR three for duplex Two bathrooms, washer, dryer, dishwasher, 500

Laramie, Manhattan, KS Call 785-410-2916. MALE ROOMMATE wanted in a four-bedroom house with two girls and one guy. One block from Aggieville. Rent is $325/ month plus utilities. Call or 620-338-1272 MALE, WALK to class, all washer dryer without me-ter. No smoking, drinking, pets, 785-539-1554. NEAT FEMALE looking for roommate. Well kept apartment August Close to campus. $310/ month plus utilities. Contact Moore Property Management 785-532-0205. ONE FUN, outgoing fepets. June lease, 913-907-9789.

ROOMMATE

ONE-TWO-BEDROOMfemale roommates, for one block from campus, washer/ dryer, new car-pet, large closets, multiple bathrooms. $300. 620-544-3754.

785-537-3737. 150

house. Call

ties. Washer/ dryer/ dish-

FEMALE SUBLEASER NEEDED FOR SUMMER. bedroom, one and one half bath, ground floor apartment. New complex 1420 Beechwood Washer/ dryer, washer in apartment.
Sublease May 13- July 31. Only pay for June and July; May already paid for. $287/ month plus utilities. Contact at 620-218-1114 (leave message) or abbyguired. $15.50/ hour plus jobs@civicplus.com. PROJECT GOLF COACH: assistant golf coach needed for Ri-ley County High School.

Late May through August. Pays well. 785-587-1956, HAY COMPANY in search lent wages, 785-564-2590. HELP WANTED. Spring yard clean-up. Pick your hours. 785-539-1086, if no answer leave message.

JOIN THE K-State Online team at the Office of Mediated Education, and contribute to a variety of important K-State web sites and applications. Candi-lenging work environment Starting wages begin at $7.00. For more informa-

LUNCHROOM GROUND SORS. ings- Manhattan-Elementary $6.50 per hour one and a 11:00 a.m.- 1:00 p.m. Apusd383.org/District/Hu-Poyntz Avenue, Manhat-tan, KS 66502. 66502.

785-587-2000. Equal Op-

TION/Clerk Position with

week.

call: sports. Great summer! Call 888-844-8080, apply: 303-607-4846, campjobs@gsmhc.org NEEDED until May 31. Rent $275/ month plus one-fourth utili-

Crew Incentive Programs

3006 Anderson Ave. EOE/D ug Free Workplace

Transportation 550 Motorcycles

Headlines

above your ad to catchi the reader's attentions

imployment/Careers

Students should be aware of renter's rights

By Mandy Stark KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Rachel Allen thought she had the perfect rental: a big, clean house that was close to campus with cheap rent and seemingly responsible landlords.

Then, things changed. Allen's landlords announced their son would be moving into the property and gave Allen and her roommates an option: move into another of their properties or start looking for a new place.

"After we were told we couldn't renew our lease, we looked at the other property our landlords offered," said Allen, senior in interior architecture. "It was totally unacceptable. There was mold on the ceiling, so we started looking for a new place."

Problems like this are common in off-campus housing, said Samantha Oliver, senior in personal financial planning. Employed by K-State's Office of Consumer and Tenant Affairs, she assists students with issues in off-campus housing.

"Most of the time, the questions people bring to us come up after they're in the situation," Oliver said. "It's better to be proactive to avoid the situations we deal with, rather than reactive once there's a problem."

Oliver recommended students check housing codes before looking for a place.

GIVE PLASMA

Donate plasma and earn

CASH

TODAY!

Lyndsey Born | COLLEGIAN

An apartment building on 1010 Thurston St. displays a sign that apartments are available for rent. Throughout Manhattan, signs are posted leasing off-campus housing for the next school year.

The housing codes are a set of statutes that rental properties are supposed to abide by for health and safety reasons," Oliver said.

"Most students don't know to look for these things. They're unknowingly putting themselves at risk."

Asking many questions and reading the entire lease are other good steps to take before signing a lease, Oliver said.

Discovering likes and dislikes is a good first step to take, said Brice Ebert, Alliance Property Management property manager. He said he tries to help students find what they want and need.

ZLB Plasma Services

1130 Gardenway

Manhattan, KS 66502

785-776-9177

www.zlbplasma.com

"We need to know what students are looking for before we can help them," he said.

Allen and her roommates, though not allowed to renew their original lease, found another house recently.

"We actually are in a much better situation," Allen said. "We made a list of what we want in a house, and the one we found met almost everything we asked for."

Since her previous landlords waited to tell Allen and her roommates they could not renew the lease, she said they were concerned about finding another house at this time.

"It's getting kind of late to sign leases," Allen said. "Our previous landlords were being inconsiderate, but they really didn't do anything wrong. We got pretty lucky, though."

Questions to ask during the search for a rental

- Do you allow pets? Are there extra parking spaces for
- Is laundry included?
- What utilities am I responsible for? - How much does that add to rental
- · What date can I move in? · How do I reach you if there is a
- · What are your expectations for

Alliance Property Management, Inc Available

Documentary touches on fair trade issues

By Timothy A. Schuler KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State students discussed capitalism, consumerism and the dehumanization of Third World trade Tuesday night after a showing in the K-State Student Union of "Black Gold," a documentary on the Ethiopian coffee industry.

The film, just over an hour long and released in 2006, was shown by K-State's Fair Trade Advocates.

According to the film, the low quality of life the farmers experience is due to vast inequalities within the international coffee market, an industry second only to oil in the international market. The film explained retailers pay up to 2,000 birr, or $230, for a kilo of coffee, but after trickling through as many as six middlemen, the farmers receive 2-3 birr, or 23 cents.

James Arba, one of the coffee farmers, said in the film even a small increase in the price could change the entire situation.

"We would fly high in the sky if we could get 5 birr for a kilo of our coffee," he said.

"Forget 20 birr, or 10 birr. Five birr would change our lives beyond recognition."

According to the film, Ethic opia is experiencing a famine like never before, largely because of the unexpected drop in coffee prices, which the International Coffee Agreement regulated before 1989. Now, prices are at a 30-year low.

This is monumental for Ethiopia's economy because coffee makes up 67 percent of the country's exports. Almost 15 million people in Ethiopia are dependent on coffee for their income. Some farmers, like Arba, have switched some plots of land from coffee to chat, a narcotic plant that is still legal in Africa but banned in the U.S. and Europe. Arba said chat is selling for more than coffee.

"We are not planting the chat trees out of choice, but out of desperation," he said. "We want to avoid death."

Sarah Mitts, senior in management, and Kendra Kobiskie, graduate student in business administration; are both members of Fair

See DOCUMENTARY Page 8

DAS 333

Offered by the Center for the Understanding of Origins @ K-State

Origins: Humanity, Life, and the Universe

Fall Semester 2007 Monday, Wednesday, Friday @ 1:30pm

This course can provide 3/6 UGE credits that undergraduates need to take at a 300 or higher evel to fulfill their program's UGE requirements.

For more information, contact Iris Totten (Geology, 532-2251, itotten@ksu.edu)

Take Willie to the World!

Study Abroad Applications Due: March 16th!

Study Abroad offers a world of experience for life in an increasingly global society. Opportunities range in cost, length, program of study, region of the world, language, and more. Financial aid may be available. There is still time to find a program that is right for you!

Summer and Rall Applications due in 304 Fairchild Hall by Briday, March 16th

We Can Help! KSU Study Abroad Office of International Programs 304 Fairchild Hall 785-532-5990 www.ksu.edu/oip/students

LUXURY CONDOMINIUMS

If your grades haven't reached home yet or if you have great grades, now would be the time to mention grad school, and tell your parents about FIELDHOUSE Condominiums! The most awesome place to live in Manhattan located across the street from the football stadium. Secluded and quiet except on game days, and they look fabulous! Tell your parents they can visit at least one home game a year!

Why Rent When You can Own?

2 bdrm/2 bath: $199,900 - $208,900 3 bdrm/2.5 bath: $249,900 - $259,900

> CONTACT BUDDY WITH CAPSTONE DEVELOPMENT

205.586.5240

bcausey@capstone-dev.com

www.capstonecompanies.com/manhattan

TIPOFF collegian.com We K-State was the first team in the Big 12 Conference not to be invited to the "Big Dance" after meeting the "20-10-4 formula." The NCAA Tournament selection committee rejected them due to a lack of big wins and a weak nonconference schedule, set up by former coach Jim Woolridge. See story Page 3

Here are the Vermont Catamounts Page 3 | NCAA Tournament brackets pages 4 and 5 | Senior profiles pages 6 and 7

Player to watch

Because of Wildcats' NCAA Tournament snub, senior Cartier Martin will never get his shot at the "Big Dance." Look for him to take out his frustrations on the NIT competition.

K-State men vs. Vermont 7 tonight

National Invitation Tournament | Bramlage Coliseum K-State women vs. the winner of Southern Illinois and Stephen F. Austin

Player to watch

Last year in the WNIT, Wildcat floor general Shalee Lehning averaged 7.4 points, 7.2 assists and 10.2 rebounds per game. K-State will need her to repeat that performance this season.

the Court

Top 10 of 2006-07 season

By Jonathan Potter KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

10. (Ashley Sweat) Q. Who is the most eligible guy on the men's basketball team? A. I would go with Ryan Patzwald. We're pretty good friends, so he is probably my favorite. I am partial to Bill Walker though, because he's Bill Walker, and I love

9. (Lance Harris) Q. Has anyone ever told you that you look like Usher? A. No, I've never heard that. I'm just joking. I've definitely heard that before. My mom has been telling me that ever since I was about 10.

8. (Clent Stewart) Q. Why are David Hoskins' shoulders so much bigger than everyone else's?

A. He doesn't lift hard, so I don't know how he got that big. He tries to lift hard every now and then. I wish I had shoulders like that, honestly.

7. (Shalee Lehning) Q. Did you accept my Facebook.com friend re-

A. I don't know. What's your name? I think I add everyone from K-State, so yeah, why not?

6. (Luis Colon) Q. How many headbands do you have? A. I can't even tell you. I throw one away after every game, on the court or off the court. It depends on my mood.

5. (Cartier Martin) Q. Do you know any of the KU play-

A. I don't know any of them personally, and I don't really want

4. (Shalee Lehning) Q. Have you ever made fun of certain players on the team for shooting the ball really high?

A. (Junior) Kimberly Dietz. She has a lot of arch on her ball. Sometimes we say if she shoots any higher the ball is going to go through the roof.

3. (Ashley Sweat) Q. Do you get discounts at McDonald's for being a McDonald's All-American?

A. No, but I wish I did though because I go there all the time. I would only ask for free food there if I knew someone that worked there.

2. (Bill Walker) Q. Who do you think is more excited about next year's basketball season, me or you?

A. Probably you. I'd say you. I know what to expect. How Bramlage (Coliseum) is going to look next year. The fan base is going to get bigger. The fans are already excited about it, so I just can't wait for that.

(Shalee Lehning) Q. What is your description of the perfect guy?

A. A guy with personality and cares about other people. Also, a guy who is honest and responsible.

Q. Based on first impressions, do you see me as that guy?

A. Maybe. I don't know. You seem like a nice guy.

GUARDS

Lance Harris and Blake Young came to play against Texas Tech, and K-State rolled the Red Raiders by 21 points. Coincidence? No way. We've said it all year long, but there's no getting around it: for K-State to be a good team, the Wildcats cannot rely on Cartier Martin and David Hoskins to do all the scoring. It doesn't have to be the same guy every game, but K-State needs somebody to step up in the backcourt.

Sophomore guard Mike Trimboli leads the way, averaging 16 points and nearly five assists per game. Junior Kyle Cieplicki, Vermont's other backcourt starter, shoots 40.6 percent from 3-point range and scores 7.4 points per game. The Catamounts are pretty thin in the backcourt, however, with Trimboli and Cieplicki both averaging more than 30 minutes per game. Freshman Nick Vier averages 10 minutes and two points.

FORWARDS

Putting Martin in the starting lineup gives K-State more offensive fire power early in games, but the Wildcats are in trouble if Martin and Hoskins pick up a couple of early fouls. K-State got a boost from sophomore Darren Kent in Friday's 66-45 win over Texas Tech.

Freshman Joe Trapani is the Catamounts' secondleading scorer, averaging nearly 12 points and shooting 45 percent from the field. However, his production hasn't been the same after he missed seven games with a stress fracture in his foot midway through conference play.

Vermont outrebounds its opponents by nearly 10 boards per game - the top rebounding margin in the nation. The Wildcats, meanwhile, are 15-3 when they outrebound their opponent and 7-8 when they don't. In other words, K-State's big men need to find a way to keep the Catamounts off the boards.

Senior Chris Holm is a load in the paint at 6-feet-11, 270 pounds. He averages a double-double with 10.6 points and 12.1 rebounds, but was slowed by an ankle injury in Vermont's loss to Albany in the America East Conference final. Holm is comparable to Nebraska's Aleks Maric, but lacks some of the offensive polish.

ACHING/X FACTOR

Bob Huggins' NCAA Tournament streak is over, and he can't be happy about it. While an NIT title might not make up for missing the NCAA Tournament, it could at least ease the sting a bit. If K-State comes ready to play, it's Brennan, who retired in 2005 after 19 years at Vermont. Lonergan led the Catamounts to the America East championship game in his first two seasons. This is tough to see anyone keeping the Wilda solid team that went 15-1 in league cats from Madison Square Garden and play, but the Catamounts will have their hands full playing in Manhattan.

Mike Lonergan replaced long-time coach Tom

Prediction: K-State 73, Vermont 61

Drinks & Shots OPints & Bottles

Customized coverage. Quick claims response.

Call today for a free, no-obligation quote.

FINANCIAL SERVICES

Photo by Joslyn Brown | COLLEGIAN

2630 Farm Bureau Rd Manhattan (785)537-0339 chan.stowell@fbfs.com

Auto Home Life College Retirement

Bottles-

Sally McCay | VERMONT SPORTS INFORMATION
Senior Chris Holm plays in a 72-63 victory over Boston Feb. 5. The big man for the Catamounts is averaging 10.6 points and 12.1 rebounds per game this season. Vermont plays K-State at 7 tonight in the first round of the NIT.

Vermont could pose threat

By Nick Dunn KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Two years ago, Vermont was responsible for one of the most memorable upsets in recent NCAA Tournament history – a dramatic 60-57 overtime victory over No. 4-seeded Syracuse. The replay of Catamount guard T.J. Sorrentine nailing a contested 30-footer made countless highlight reels throughout the month.

It was the type of small-school success story that makes March Madness so popular. Everyone loves to root for the little guy, and this university with an enrollment of about 9,000 instantly became a fan favorite.

Tom Brennan, Vermont's legendary coach-turned-ESPN-analyst, retired about as high as a coach can in the America East Conference – giving his school its first NCAA Tournament win.

Now, 24 months later, the Catamounts arrive in Manhattan in search of another first – their first-ever NIT victory.

It's not exactly the match-up every K-State fan was dream-

Collegian hoops picks

K-State men vs.

DePaul vs.

Bradley at Providence

Ole Miss at

Appalachian State

Hofstra

ing of three days ago when the Wildcats were hoping for an NCAA Tournament berth, but the reality is it could be the first of many games for the Wildcats if they can make a run through the NIT.

"We just have to keep our heads up and keep fighting," senior Cartier Martin said. "We've still got something to play for. We're going to put all we can into this tournament and come out on top."

In a press conference Sunday night in Bramlage Coliseum, coach Bob Huggins, Martin and junior David Hoskins all said the NCAA snub was disappointing, but they would be ready for the NIT.

"We lost 11 times and we came back and played," Huggins said. "I'm happy for these guys that they get to keep playing. That's what it's about this time of year. There are a whole lot of folks that aren't playing."

Vermont certainly isn't the type of big-name opponent K-State probably would have seen in the first round of the NCAA Tournament, but there is no reason to take the Catamounts lightly.

5 games to watch in the NIT

Bradley

80-62

App. State 62-55

> Georgia 67-60

Sure, the school is tucked away in Burlington, Vt., and the Catamounts play in the less-than-impressive America East. They lost to teams like Maine, Harvard and Towson this season, and couldn't get past Albany at home in the conference championship to get to the NCAA Tournament.

After the first glance, though, there is more to this small school than meets the eye. The Catamounts knocked off Boston College by 14 points back in November. They've won 11 straight road games and had won 20 out of 21 before the 60-59 loss to Albany.

Mike Tromboli, a 6-foot1 sophomore, leads Vermont with 16.1 points and 4.8 assists per game. Chris Holm, a 6foot-11, 270-pound mammoth inside would be tough for just about any team to handle.
And Joe Trapani averages 11.7 points, mostly because of 40percent shooting from beyond

If, like Martin said, K-State hopes to win the 32-team tournament, it all starts tonight against Vermont – the former giant-killer.

Bradley

71-70

Ole Miss

63-59

Fresno St.

83-69

Nick Dunn (17-13)

K-State

79-53

03-00

Bradley 78-71

Ole Miss

68-50

Fresno St.

Weak nonconference schedule might have kept Cats from NCAA

By Jeffrey Rake KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Upon arriving in Manhattan to take over the K-State basketball program last March, many experts believed coach Bob Huggins would have a difficult time molding the left-behind talent into an NCAA Tournament-caliber team.

As it turned out, the roster ended up being the least of Huggins' worries. He guided K-State to 22 overall wins, 10 conference wins and a fourth-place finish in the Big 12 Conference, despite preseason rankings that projected the Wildcats to finish lower.

Instead, the problem had more to do with scheduling. Former coach Jim Wooldridge pieced together a nonconference schedule that put Huggins in a difficult position.

Huggins, who often tries to avoid playing against weak teams from small conferences, inherited a schedule that consisted of seven home games against teams from mid-major conferenc-

None of the seven teams

- William & Mary, Tennessee Tech, Coppin State,
Cleveland State, Kennesaw
State, Maryland EasternShore and Chicago State — figured to be of much benefit to K-State.

Huggins knew that at the time, and also knew road games against lowly teams like North Dakota State, Rutgers and New Mexico also would hurt his team's overall profile.

That's why he moved quickly to add quality non-conference opponents such as California and Xavier, and also entered K-State into the Las Vegas Classic, where it took on Southern California. Both Xavier and USC earned bids into the NCAA Tournament on Sunday.

Still, with an opportunity to back out of contracts he didn't sign, Huggins decided it would be best if K-State kept the remainder of its class that's considered schedule intact.

Catrina Rawson | COLLEGIAN Former K-State coach Jim Wooldridge could not get the Wildcats

I by several recruit

"I just don't believe that you don't honor contracts," Huggins said. "Now, I could have went in and said, 'Let's buy them out,' but I don't think that's very honorable. So we went and played."

Ultimately, it might have been the schedule that kept K-State out of the NCAA Tournament for the 11th straight season. Of the 10 nonconference teams Wooldridge scheduled, none of them finished in the top 100 in the Ratings Percentage Index, and none of them qualified for a postseason tournament.

That hurt K-State's RPI (No. 55) and strength of schedule (88), both of which are important criteria for gaining inclusion into the 65-team NCAA Tournament field.

It also limited K-State's opportunities to pick up quality wins outside of the Big 12.

With a 2007 recruiting

Little Caesars

class that's considered No. 1 by several recruiting ranking services, Huggins will be looking to play a more challenging nonconference slate in the future.

K-State already announced that it will play in the Old Spice Classic, a tournament consisting of teams such as Villanova, North Carolina State, South Carolina and George Mason. The tournament will be played Nov. 22-25.

Also likely to make next year's schedule more competitive is a four-year agreement made between the Big 12 and the Pac-10 Conference. The Wildcats will play Oregon Nov. 29 at Bramlage Coliseum, and will continue to play other Pac-10 teams each year until 2010.

Suffice it to say, fans shouldn't expect to see a schedule similar to last season's anytime soon.

"We played some people ... that we are not going to play anymore," Huggins said.

- Campus Phone Books

On sale in Kedzie 103 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri

Bradley 78-72

App. State 68-60

> Georgia 69-67

you expect.

discover

gopowercat.com

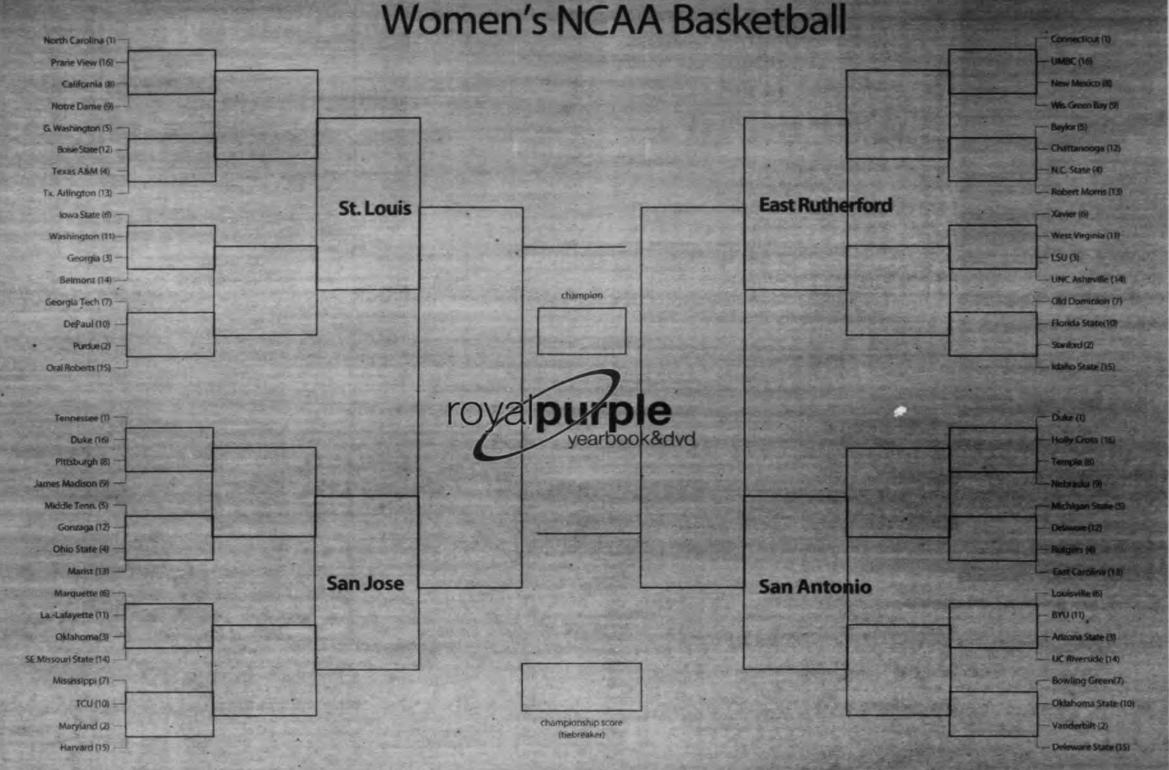

and Best Rural Coverage!

Great Atmosphere Big Screen TV Live Music

And the BEST DRINKS in town! What more could you ask for?

616 N. 12th www.auntiemaes.com

The Royal Purple yearbook, Kansas State Collegian and Campus Phone Book present:

Free March Madness Brackets

1st place wins a 2007 Royal Purple yearbook and $300 in cash & prizes

Wednesday, March 14,

Aggieville Westloop 1121 Moro 2931 Claflin 539-7666 539-7447

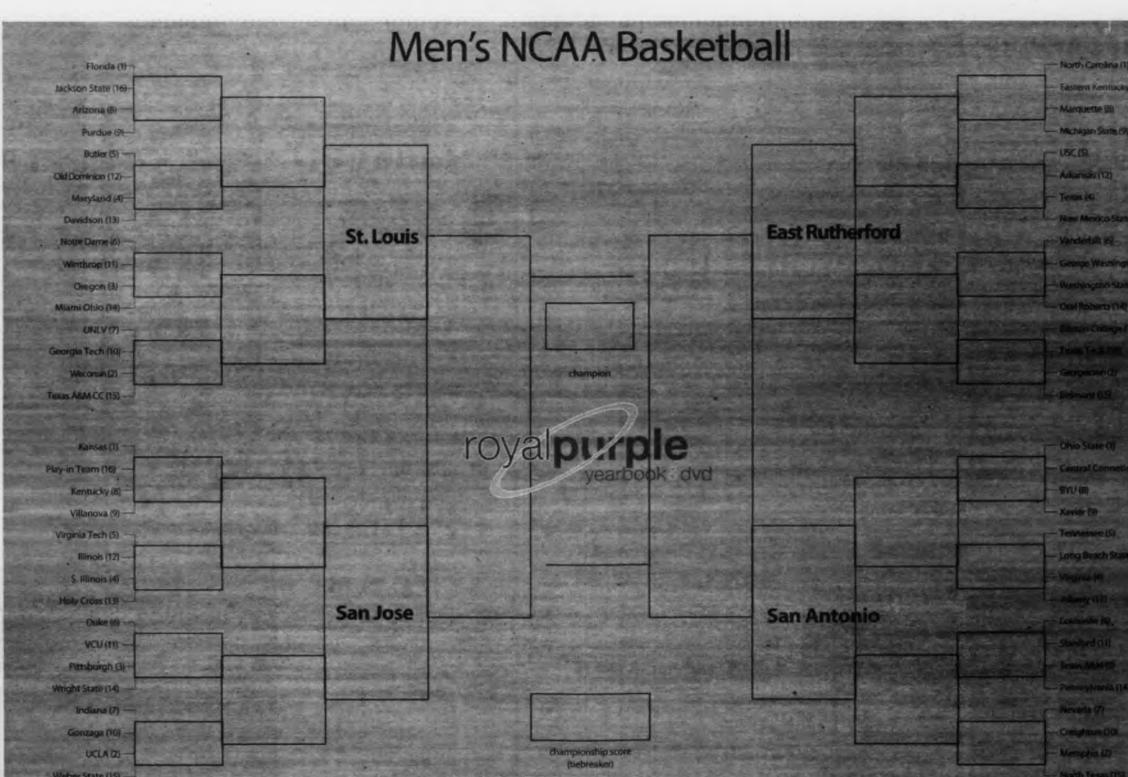

NCAA Basketball & Pizza

.....give us a call!

The Royal Purple yearbook, Kansas State Collegian and Campus Phone Book present:

Free March Madness Brackets

1st place wins a 2007 Royal Purple yearbook and $300 in cash & prizes

March Madness

MERICAN CASH

T··Mobile·

my Faves

unlimited any-network calling to your 5 favorite people starting at $39.99.

Senior spotlight

Martin returns from suspension, enjoys successful 4th season

By Austin Meek KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

It took Denisa Martin-Ball a few tries, but she finally found the right words.

"Oh, I can't ... I don't have any ... I am so proud of him," she said, beaming with a mother's delight.

Martin-Ball was sitting in the stands at Bramlage Coliseum for just the second time in her life, watching her son, senior Cartier Martin, play his final regularseason game in Manhattan.

She watched him drain 3pointers, grab rebounds and slash through the defense on his way to a career-high 30 points. Afterward, as the crowd chanted Martin's name, his mother was all but speechless.

"It's a breathtaking moment," she said.

It's a moment she hoped and prayed for since summer, when she was on the receiving end of so many of Cartier's late-night phone calls. It's a moment she always knew would come, even when her son was at his lowest

"No doubt," she said. "Not a doubt in my mind."

March is supposed to be the highlight of basketball season, a time for hope and anticipation. Instead, March 2006 was a month of uncertainty for Cartier Martin

Jim Wooldridge, the coach who brought Martin to K-State from Houston's Nimitz High School, was fired just minutes after a season-ending loss to Texas Tech in the Big 12 Conference tournament.

Martin never talked much about what happened in the weeks following Wooldridge's firing. Neither did the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. However, something happened in that time that earned Martin a stiff punishment: an indefinite suspension for violating the athletic department's student-athlete code of con-

"We have high expectations for our student athletes on and off the court," athletic director Tim Weiser said in a statement. "When they fail to meet those expectations, there are conse-

No official explanation was given for Martin's suspension. However, reserve guard Mario Taybron was dismissed from the team on the same day for violating the athletic department's substance-abuse policy.

Whatever his trangression, Martin's punishment was clear. He was cut off from the K-State basketball program, even as the excitement surrounding the program grew to record levels. The addition of coach Bob Huggins left fans buzzing, but Martin was on the outside looking in.

"I wasn't a part of the team," Martin said. "I couldn't participate in any of the team events. That was definitely the low point of my career."

Martin said he spent a lot of time thinking - there wasn't much else to do. He thought about his legacy at K-State, how he would be remembered. He wondered if he'd ever have a senior day.

"It was difficult, man, especially when you've been here for three years," Martin said. "You're going into your last year, your senior year, when you're about to graduate. You're trying to leave a legacy here, and you realize it could all be taken away with a stupid mistake."

To pass the time, Martin spent hours at the Peters Recreation Complex, shooting jump shots and trying to keep his

"I had to go to the Rec - I wasn't able to come up here (to Bramlage) and participate,"

Christopher Hanewinckel | COLLEGIAN

Forward Cartier Martin shoots over Texas Techs' Martin Zeno during the Wildcat's 66-45 victory in the Big 12 Championship March 9.

When he wasn't working out, Martin would call his mother, Denisa, back home in Texas. She listened, offering advice when she could.

"I told him to stay focused and pray," Martin-Ball said. "God answers all prayers."

Martin, who sports a tattoo of Jesus with the words "God's Child" on his arm, needed forgiveness. He needed a second Oddly enough, the answer to Martin's prayers might have been Huggins, a man seldom described as angelic. Martin said K-State's new coach worked diligently behind the scenes to get him reinstated.

"Coach Huggins was a big part of me getting back here," Martin said. "Coach Huggins went to bat for me the most. He definitely wanted me to be a part of the team.

"He had a lot to do with me coming back."

See CARTIER Page 8

Maybank spends final year of eligibility at K-State playing for Huggins, pursuing master's

By Cedrique Flemming KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Jermaine Maybank graduated from St. John's University in 2006, but had one year of eligibility remaining after playing only three years of collegiate basketball.

K-State coach Bob Huggins said he didn't know about Maybank until one of his assistant coaches informed him of the player originally from the Bronx, N.Y. Huggins liked what he saw from the player and offered Maybank a scholarship.

Maybank accepted and is enrolled in the graduate degree program in the College of Education where he is working toward obtaining a master's degree in college student personnel.

He played in only 17 games during his two years at St. John's after transferring from Independence (Kan.) Community College. In his one season at K-State, he played in 32 of the 33 games prior to the NIT, and set virtually every single-game record for himself. He set new single game career highs in points scored (26), minutes played (33), field goals made (7), attempted (11), three-point field goals made (1), attempted (2), free throws made (12), attempted (15), rebounds (8), assists (4), blocks (2) and steals (3).

Huggins has said Maybank is the hardest-working player on the team.

"Iermaine competes. Jermaine's a great guy who wants to play," Huggins said. "I'm really glad we got him."

Coming into the season Maybank had only scored 21

See MAYBANK Page 8

Guard Jermaine Maybank attempts a layup during K-State's 66-45 victory over Texas Tech in the Big 12 Championship. He is one of the first players off the bench in most games for K-State coach Bob Huggins.

> Christopher COLLEGIAN

Wildcat senior class attains various notable career statistics

Serge Afeli

- 47 points
- 45 games played ■ 1 start
- 22-47 field goals
- 0-0 3-pointers
- 3-14 free throws ■ 76 rebounds
- 9 assists
- 9 blocks ■ 8 steals
- 157 minutes

Lance Harris

- 1,018 points (18th all-time)
- 117 games played (tied for 5th all-time) ■ 49 starts
- 378-885 field goals
- 154-436 3-pointers (4th and 3rd all-time) ■ 108-164 free throws
- 266 rebounds ■ 195 assists
- 31 blocks ■ 56 steals
- 2,587 minutes (6th all-time)

Cartier Martin

- 1,506 career points (6th all-time)
- 110 games played
- 75 starts (tied for 8th all-time) ■ 505-1,101 field goals (7th all-time)
- 171-423 3-pointers (3rd and 4th all-time) ■ 325-413 free throws (8th all-time)
- 530 rebounds
- 167 assists ■ 17 blocks
- 76 steals (10th all-time)
- 3,019 minutes (3rd all-time)

Jermaine Maybank

- 133 points
- 49 games played2 starts
- 38-86 field goals ■ 5-20 3-pointers
- 52-68 free throws ■ 90 rebounds
- 49 assists
- 5 blocks
- 19 steals
- 547 minutes

Akeem Wright

- 385 points
- 61 games played ■ 43 starts
- 148-400 field goals ■ 12-51 3-pointers
- 77-125 free throws
- 358 rebounds
- 174 assists 29 blocks
- 45 steals ■ 1,690 minutes

Senior spotlight

Coggins' role grew gradually during time in Manhattan, now K-State's 15th all-time scorer

By Dayne Logan KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The announcement that the K-State women have been invited back to defend last season's Women's National Invitational Tournament title not only means that the Wildcats will be playing in their sixth consecutive postseason, but it also means that senior Claire Coggins' career as a Wildcat will last at least one more game.

When Coggins finally does leave the team, she will do so after four years of service and

Forward

Smith

Naytanda

shoots over a defender

this season.

She will be playing in her final

Women's

National

Invitation

Tournament next week.

Christopher ...

newinckel

COLLEGIAN

will have to wait to see if she is given the opportunity to join the likes of Nicole Ohlde, Kendra Wecker, Megan Mahoney and Laurie Koehn in the WNBA.

In her time at K-State, Coggins has established herself as one of the best ever to wear the purple and white.

As a freshman, Coggins played 25 games, starting seven and finished with 33 steals, good enough for third on the

In her sophomore season, Coggins took on a larger role and played in all 32 games, starting 24. She took advantage of the additional playing time and scored in double-digits in 13 games.

That year the Wildcats advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament where they fell to Wyoming. Against Wyoming, Coggins saw the most action she had all year and played 38 minutes. She ended the season averaging 9.8 points per game and recorded 40 steals.

Coggins stepped into the role of leader on the team her junior year after Mahoney, Wecker and Koehn graduated. She broke out with an average of 13.5 points per game, and at one point scored in doubledigits in nine straight games.

Her performances earned her a selection to the 2006 All-Big 12 Second Team and helped the Wildcats reach the postseason WNIT. The Wildcats went on to win the tournament, and Coggins came away with the Most Valuable

Naytanda Smith

career statistics

■ 28-76 field goals

■ 15 steals

Player award.

This season, Coggins' performances declined slightly, but her leadership qualities grew. As one of only two seniors, Coggins was forced to step up and lead and she did so by playing passionate, hardnosed basketball.

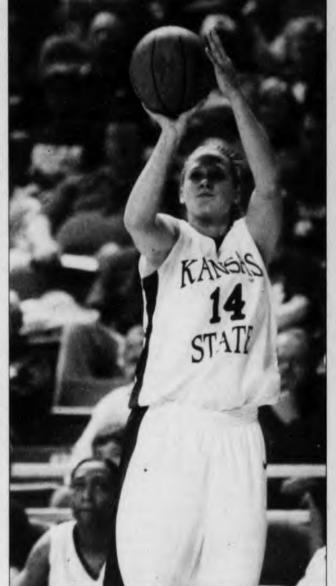

The same can be said for fellow senior Naytanda Smith, who despite receiving limited playing time, so far has set career highs this season in rebounds (34), steals (8) and blocks (5).

So far this season, Coggins leads the team with 150 field goals made and is averaging 12.7 points per game. She also has a career-high 57 steals.

Although the season has been less fruitful than any senior would like, Coggins and Smith have been given a lifeline on their K-State careers. The WNIT gives them each one more chance to show what they can do before they leave Manhattan.

- career statistics ■ 1,211 points (15th all-time)
- 120 games played with 92 starts 463-1,231 field goals
- 184-526 3-pointers
- 101-164 free throw's
- - 177 steals (tied for 7th all-time)

Catrina Rawson | COLLEGIAN Guard Claire Coggins attempts attempts a 3-point shot during the season. She is the 15th all-time scorer in K-State history.

Patterson just not enough to lead K-State to anything significant combination of bad prepara-

I received some disturbing news Monday night that momentarily rendered me speechless - news of an event I once considered more unlikely than the Royals winning the World Series.

Well, almost as unlikely.

Somehow - every scenario I envision includes some kind of HERNANDEZ magical trickery - the K-State women's basketball team "earned" a bid to the Women's National Invitation Tournament. The same team that finished with a mediocre 16-14 overall record and a paltry 4-12 record in the Big 12

Conference - this team made it into the postseason.

The Wildcats' record was good for dead last in the conference. I suppose technially they tied with a formidable KU squad (12-20 overall), but seeing as the Jayhawks actually made it past the first round of the Big 12 Tournament, I'll give them the edge. It doesn't look fike that edge is good for much, hough, as the Jayhawks will be sitting at home next week while K-State, however undeserving, will be in the running for another WNIT title.

Some might wonder as to my near anger toward the Wildcats' good fortune. It's good that K-State was able to sneak its way into the postseason, right? Wrong. And there > are two reasons why. First of all, anyone who has spouted similar indignation regarding the NCAA Tournament selection committee's inclusion of such powerhouses as Arkansas and Illinois over the K-State men's basketball team should be equally miffed at the women's WNIT bid, simply as a matter of consistency. Should they ever care to comment on the issue of women's basketball.

But most importantly, the reason this development is so disheartening is because it makes athletics director Tim Weiser's decision to extend coach Deb Patterson's contract another five years seem like a solid one, when in fact it was quite the opposite.

Despite being the winningest coach in the history of the program, Patterson is, quite honestly, the team's biggest handicap. Other than managing to sign some excellent recruits over the years, I've not been able to see what else she has accomplished.

My dad always told me what separated a good coach from a bad one was how well they could improve bad players, and what separated a good coach from a great one was how well they could improve good players. A case in point would be the men's team's performance under coach Bob Huggins as opposed to former coach Jim Wooldridge. Patterson has had plenty of good, even great, players to work with, but she doesn't have a lot to show for it. Yes, since she began her K-State career in 1996, the Wildcats have appeared in five NCAA Tournaments and earned one WNIT championship - but it could have been much better.

Nicole Ohlde, Kendra Wecker and Laurie Koehn were arguably the best players in the history of the program. Each amassed a ridiculous list of accolades during her time at K-State, and each now plays in the WNBA, along with former Wildcat Megan Mahoney. During the 2001-02 season, Ohlde, Wecker, Koehn and Mahoney all were members of a team that made it to the Sweet 16 in the "Big Dance" - a notable finish, to be sure, and one that made the prospects for the following season that much more exciting.

As it turned out, there wasn't much to be excited about. In 2003, K-State, which had earned a No. 3 seed in the tournament, was bounced in the second round.

The next year was even worse. The regular-season Big 12 champions earned a No. 2 seed in the tournament and looked poised to do some damage in Ohlde's final season. Instead, seventh-seeded Minnesota handed the Wildcats another second-round loss.

The following year it was the same song, third verse for Wecker, Koehn and Mahoney's senior season. K-State, this time a fourth seed, lost to fifthseeded Vanderbilt 63-60.

What was it exactly that kept these teams, which were so loaded with talent, from making a decent run in the postseason? Were the players afflicted with mental instability? Had they, like Bobby Knight and his Red Raiders, eaten the wrong cereal for breakfast?

Or were they simply saddled with a coach who lacked the ability to take them to the next

K-State has another group of unbelievably talented young players in sophomores Shalee Lehning, Marlies Gipson and Danielle Zanotti and freshman Ashley Sweat. All it took for essentially the same team that won the 2006 WNIT to be reduced to conference bottomdwellers was the injury of one of those players. Some might call that bad luck. I call it a tion and a lack of clear focus areas most dependant upon a good coach.

I wish the Wildcats the best of luck in the WNIT - despite their struggles this season, I'm confident in the talent of the players. I'm afraid what K-State fans will come to see, however, is the dire need for another of its basketball teams to make the leap from a good coach to a great one.

Jessi Hernandez is a junior in English. Please send comments to sports@spub.

Over 850 rentals in the Manhattan & Junction City area McCullough
Development mdiproperties.com • 785.776.3804

CARTIER | Leading senior returns from suspension with support from mom

continued from Page 6

And so, on the eve of K-State's "Madness in Manhattan" event on Oct. 13, Weiser reinstated Martin, ending a suspension that stretched 4 1/2 months.

"It was a joyful moment," Martin said. "All my teammates were happy for me, my family and friends were happy for me.

"Mostly, I was happy." Still, it took the senior swingman awhile to get back in the swing of things. His production dipped early in the season, which Huggins attributed to his long layoff.

"He struggled early because he wasn't in great shape, and I'm sure a lot of that had to do with his suspension," Huggins said.

However, Martin seemed to find his stride midway through the season and reached double figures in his final 15 regular-season games. It all culminated with his senior day performance, when Martin established a new career high with 30

"I thought today was far and away the best game I've ever seen him play," Huggins said of Martin's perfor-

Watching her son, the forgiven one, Martin-Ball could come up with just one word.

"He was awesome," she said. "Awesome."

MAYBANK | Wildcat sets new career highs in most categories during final year of basketball

continued from Page 6

total points in Division I play, with an average of 1.2 per game. He has 112 points this season and is averaging 3.5 per game.

"The humble one," as he is known by his teammates, also has converted 44-of-60 free throw attempts and is averaging 2.2 rebounds per game. He has 44 assists, 18 steals and four

He had by far the best game of his career in a 97-70 loss at Kansas Feb. 7. K-State's top five leading scorers this season -

Cartier Martin, David Hoskins, Lance Harris, Akeem Wright and Clent Stewart - combined for 31 points in the loss to the Jayhawks. Maybank scored a game-high 26 by himself.

"I try to be the spark and get my team live and do the things that I'm asked to do as a person coming off the bench," Maybank said. "I just try to provide what I can. I know what I can do and I just try to do it when the time is needed."

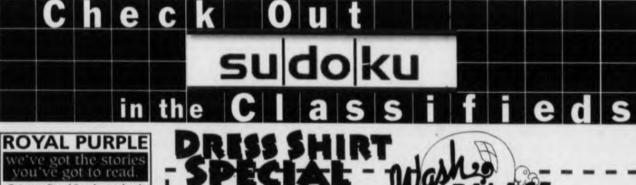

He was the only Wildcat who seemed to have a clue as to how to score against a tough Kansas squad, and went 7-for-10 from the field and 12-for-15 from the free throw line in 33 minutes a action. For his efforts against Kansas, Maybank earned a spet in the starting rotation (the only starts of his career) for the next two games.

Maybank has said the proudest accomplishment of his life was becoming a college graduate, and he wants to one day become a basketball coach.

After the NIT, he will end his collegiate basketball career, but he will always have that master's degree to fall back on.

2007 NIT TOURNAMENT BRACKET

Get your Royal Purple yearbook in Kedzie 103.

SPORTS MASSAGE BODY FIRST 587-8300 www.bodyfirst.com

Call for an appointment with Allysa, Connie, Kelly, Tina, or Verna Lee

Wednesdays Only of LARGEST AND CLEANEST FACILITY IN MANHATTAN" · Coin Laundry Jumbo Computerized Dryers & Large Capacity Washers · Wash, Dry & Fold Service 537-9833 • Candlewood Center Coin-op Open 24 Hours • Dry Cleaning & Drop off Sunday - Saturday: 7am-7pm •

ith Purchase of Any Large or Medium Pizza at Menu Price

COLLEGIAN

Kansas State University's independent, student-run newspaper since 1896

INSIDE See the Collegian's NCAA picks and take a crack at bracketology

See story Page 7

www.kstatecollegian.com

Thursday, March 15, 2007

Vol. 111, No. 123

Puppy love

Therapeutic dog helps teachers manage classrooms, provides students incentive for good behavior

> By Eric Davis KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

For the past six years, the faculty of Woodrow Wilson Elementary School have had an unconventional staff member.

Riley, a therapy dog, is an 8-year-old Labrador who serves the children of the school, offering his services to any student who needs him.

Katha Hurt, the school's principal, was responsible for bringing Riley to the school. Hurt said she heard about the role of a therapy dog in school systems and took the initiative to get one

Hurt said most of the time, Riley is used as a reward for students. If a student completes his or her assignments on time, stays out of trouble or does something special, the reward is five to 10 minutes of time with the dog. Riley also can be used to help with troubled students

Hurt said her most memorable experience with Riley involved a misbehaving student.

"It was a few years ago, and we had a first grader who was frequently being sent to the office," she said. "One time when this student was throwing a tantrum, he was sent down to my office. I put him in my office and let him pet and talk to Riley in hopes that he would calm him down.

"When I checked on him 10 minutes later, he was laying on the floor with his head on Riley's stomach, and they were both asleep."

Though stories like that do not happen every day, the children interact with the dog in many different ways.

Devon Harper, second grader at Wilson, said he has many fond memories of playing with Ri-

"My favorite game to play with him is tag," Harper said as he walked Riley around the playground. When asked what the dog does to help children who are upset, Harper said Riley is

"I think that the thing that helps the kids is that they can concentrate when he is near, because he is so cute," he said.

Sidney La Bell, second grader at Wilson, said she enjoys Riley's company for a different rea-

"I like to walk him around the playground,"

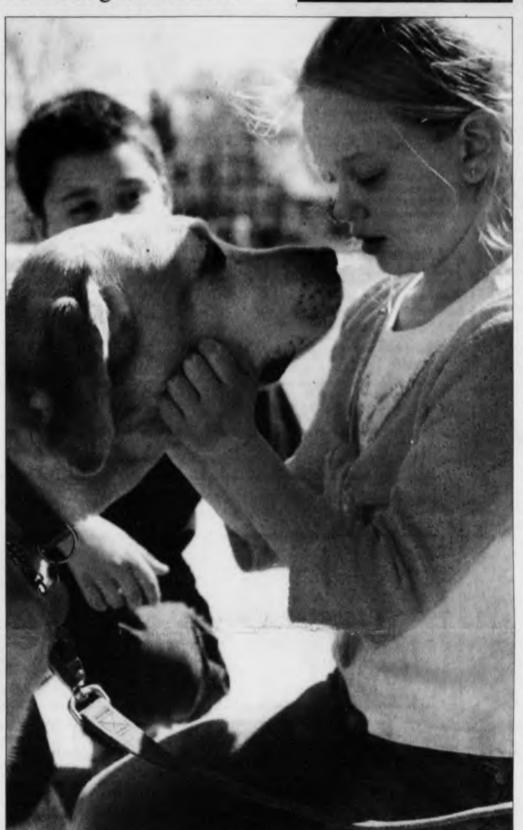

La Bell said. "I also like to teach him new tricks, but he doesn't learn them very fast." Another way Riley interacts with students is through his general care.

Hurt said she has two student employees who come into her office, where Riley stays, to change his water and fill his food bowl.

"When it is the season when Riley sheds, the students will take him for a walk and brush him until all his hair is out," Hurt said.

Riley came from Cares Inc., a company in Concordia, Kan., that trains dogs for various jobs. The training for Riley came in several steps. A 4-H group from Colorado volunteered to look after him and complete his "puppy training," or house training. To have Riley become a permanent member of Woodrow Wilson, Hurt paid $100, plus food and veterinarian bills.

Photos by Steven Doll | COLLEGIAN

Top: Sidney La Bell, second grader at Woodrow Wilson Elementary School, plays with Riley, the therapy dog, on the playground Wednesday afternoon. Riley, an 8-year-old Labrador, is used to reward students and help diffuse troubled students. Above: Riley relaxes on the floor of Hurt's office where he has a bed and food and water dishes.

When Riley is not at school interacting with students, he lives at the home of Helen Hayes, a friend of Hurt. Hurt makes arrangements each night to take Riley home to Hayes.

'TechBytes' program provides technical assistance

By George West KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Technology is changing all the time, and many college students and professors do not have time to learn about it. But Cathy Rodriguez, technology trainer at the Information Technology Assistance Center, said TechBytes, a series of presentations created to inform the community about technology, is here to help.

"TechBytes is designed to educate the campus community about existing information technology tools and services and to share future technology innovations," Rodriguez said.

"The series features software tutorials, hardware and software tools and demonstrations by vendors."

Over the years, the programs have included free tools and services for a variety of issues including digital cameras, using K-State Online for Intranet, exploring copyright and new technology and effective Web

TechBytes will have a program at 1:15 p.m. today on how to use Camtasia Studio, a video-editing program, featuring Gerry Snyder, multimedia specialist for Information and Educational Technology.

The program will show how to , formal, with opportunities for hands-

For more information on the Techbytes series visit their Web site at www.k-state.

develop a PowerPoint presentation, edit it, add pop-up notes and annotations, and then share it on the Web, compact disc or iPod. It will be in K-State Student Union 213.

"This easy-to-use program also allows you to record screenshots, add video of a lecturer, insert interactive quizzes, and then edit the presentation for delivery in most common media formats," Snyder said.

Rodriguez said the sessions are inon learning and question-and-answer sessions with the experts. She said she hopes the series will provide the campus faculty, students and staff with insight on ways technology can be used to enhance the teaching, learning, research and outreach environment.

She also said the programs are not necessarily directed toward K-State personnel. Manhattan residents have attended events in the past.

TechBytes is sponsored by the Catalyst, which provides technology services for the College of Education, iTAC, K-State Information Systems in the Division of Continuing Education and IET.

Zerr, Torrey take Salina presidency

By Logan C. Adams KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Doug Zerr and Matt Torrey were not surprised when they won the election for student body president and vice president of K-State-Salina.

"We were uncontested this year, so it would be a pretty big fluke if we didn't," said Torrey, senior in computer science and network administra-

Results released Wednesday evening indicated the pair received 63 votes in this week's election.

Zerr, junior in technology management, said he and Torrey had campaigned, not for their ticket, but to get students to vote in general.

"Obviously, I'm happy we won," he said. "Unfortunately, I'm unhappy it wasn't contested."

Zerr said he and Torrey will have to work to get the campus more interested in student government during their term.

This is Zerr's second term as student body president of K-State-Salina. He previously was elected to the position in 2004, when he was a junior in mechanical engineering technology.

He said he has since graduated and is back at K-State earning another degree.

Commission to discuss downtown

By Willow Williamson KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The city commission will decide the course for the south downtown redevelopment project at a special meeting tonight.

The commission's agenda will focus on a second hearing to consider and approve the plan for the south redevelopment area, approve the Final Development Agreement with Dial Realty and begin condemnation proceedings on properties involved in the project.

The south redevelopment project is an area bounded by Fort Riley Boulevard to the south and east, Fourth Street to the west, and Pierre Street to the north. Plans for the area include a movie theater, a 120-room hotel and conference center, a 400stall parking garage, restaurants, retail, and the Flint Hills Discovery Center, according to city staff.

The south end redevelopment project plan outlines several sources of funding for the project, according to city staff.

Dial Realty will invest $37 million in the south project. Dial will be responsible for the construction of the hotel, conference center, retail businesses, theater, restaurants and residential districts.

The city received $50 million in STAR bonds, which are bonds paid

See COMMISSION Page 11

Today's forecast Few showers High: 56 Low: 32

INSIDE

College brings with it rites of passage like voting and consuming alcoholic beverages. Yet, with Kansas' legal blood alcohol limit at .08 percent, just one beer could land you with a DUI charge.

See the Edge Page 9

CAMPUS NEWS HIGHLIGHTS

British pianist to play at McCain

Pianist Steven Osborne will perform at 7:30 p.m. today in McCain Auditorium. Osborne embraces a wide range of styles from the mainstream works of Beethoven, Mozart and Brahms to more uncommon pieces of Messiaen, Tippett and Alkan. Robert Edwards will give a pre-performance lecture at 6:30 p.m. in McCain 204.

Cultural night to highlight India

The India Cultural Night will take place from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. today in the Alumni Center Ballroom. The event will celebrate Indian culture with exhibitions about India, a presentation about modern India, dinner catered by Korma Sutra of Overland Park, Kan., and a fashion show showcasing India's diversity.

Graduate students to display research

Ten graduate students from K-State will display their research at the annual Capitol Graduate Research Summit today at the Kansas Statehouse in Topeka. The summit also features work by graduate students from the University of Kansas, KU Medical Center and Wichita State University.

Spring break destinations These are the top spring-break destination according to hotel bookings at travelweb.co. 1. Miami Beach, Florida 2. Orlando, Florida 3. Las Vegas, Nevada 4. New York, New York 5. Tampa, Florida 7. San Diego, Californ

Honolulu, Hawaii 10. Phoenix, Arizona

8. Daytona Beach, Florida

Claflin Books and Copies

(785) 776-3771 www.claflinbooks.com Fax: (785) 776-1009

35 "Eureka!"

letters

48 Prot. or

36 Mel-

P	uzzles	Eugene Sheff	er
ACROSS	35 Squeak	DOWN	21 "Big Blue"
1 Harmoni- zation	remover 36 Mound	1 Over- confident	23 Tex-Mex recipe
5 Sound of disgust	37 Tuning needs	2 Days gone by	24 Honey- comb
8 Tater	40 United	3 Unless	chamber
12 Drudgery	nations	(Lat.)	25 Dispatch
13 Feathery accessory	41 Turn 45 Deuce	4 Embraced 5 Sub of	26 Get ready
14 Facility	topper	WWII	27 Boo-
15 Bear in the air?	47 Man- mouse	6 Bush league?	Boo's mentor
16 Make a decision	link 49 Donate	7 Small axe	28 Sarsa- parilla
17 Blueprint	50 Eventual	8 Calyx	kin
18 Japanese enter-	plant 51 First St.	compo- nent	32 Address ender
tainer	52 Wastes	9 San	33 Discern-
20 Florentine	no	Francisco	ment

time

53 Skin

farewell

22 Devoid of illumina

tion

tible

33

34 ld

counter

heaps opening bourne signatory Shade 11 Lair suburb 26 Combus-19 That 38 Bonnie's source 55 Shade guy's partner 39 Song of Solution time: 25 mins. 29 Height of 42 II cubed

Bay city

10 NAFTA

fashion? 30 Floral 43 Squared 44 For fear adomment that 45 Kitchen 31 Cross 32 Pimple meas 46 Speed-"— have to do' wagon

CRYPTOQUIP

KJZ ROZRYO COK JODW HLLOIOAK

FERRZFO KMON FRODW QHLLOIOAK Yesterday's Cryptoquip: SCI-FI FILM IN WHICH ALIENS ATTEMPTED TO SELL REAL ESTATE ON

OTHER WORLDS: "LOTS IN SPACE. Today's Cryptoquip Clue: R equals P

QUIZZES

Test your knowledge of trivia, entertainment and yourself

What's your ideal destination for break?

By Stephanie Gorges KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

You've probably already made plans for this year's spring break, but are you going to the right

Discover your perfect spring-break destination, and start planning for next year.

1. Your idea of a fulfilling day includes:

a. Working on your tan b. Learning at least one bit of information you didn't know before

c. Physical activity

e. Watching an entire season of "The Office" without leaving the

2. Your ideal climate is:

a. Warm b. Moderate c. Cold

d. In disrepair e. In front of a television

3. You'd most like to see:

b. Famous art piece or architecture

c. The mountains d. How much of a difference you can make

e. The first round of the NCAA Tournament (even if K-State isn't #### 4. You'd most like to spend your break with:

a. A gorgeous member of the opposite sex b. A tour guide

c. Someone you can cuddle with

d. Someone who needs your help e. My parents

5. What does your spring-break budget best

a. Enough for a road trip, but not much more.

b. You've been saving for three years.

c. You've got enough to travel and actually do something once

